Diwali celebrates goodness and light

SUBMITTED BY RITU MAHESHWARI

Federation of Indo Americans of Northern California (FIA) in association with Fremont Hindu Temple announces its "Festival of Globe (FOG) Diwali and Fireworks 2015." Building on previous huge successes, this year's Diwali will be held at the Alameda County Fair Grounds in Pleasanton on Saturday, October 24.

Diwali, also referred to as the Festival of Lights, is a national holiday in India, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Guyana, and many other countries. It is one of the most important festivals of the year and is celebrated by families performing traditional activities together in their homes. Diwali involves the lighting of small clay lamps filled with oil to signify the triumph of good over evil. Celebrants wear new clothes and share sweets and snacks with family members and friends. People pray for continued prosperity, wealth, and health on this day.

FOG Diwali will begin by lighting the lamp at the Alameda County Fairgrounds. Thousands of people will celebrate the only Diwali festival with spectacular fireworks and an amazing laser show.

Cultural programs, Ramelela, a dazzling parade, fancy costumes, fashion show, yoga lessons, kids masti corner, a petting zoo, and animal rides will available all day. A devotional worship of the Lakshmi, the Indian Goddess of wealth and prosperity, will be followed by Jhankis and Parade. Jewelry, clothes, and food will be offered at more than 100 booths.

Fremont Run 4 Education

SUBMITTED BY JESSE SCHAA

The Fremont Education Foundation is holding their 11th annual "Fremont Run 4 Education 5K, 10K and Kids' Runs" on Sunday, October 25. The run is returning to Niles Elementary School and will take runners down the Alameda Creek Trail. Runners and walkers of all ages are welcome to attend the race hosted to raise funds to benefit the Guy Emanuele Sports Fund (GESF).

Since 2003, the GESF is dedicated to enabling greater participation in school-sponsored sports programs by granting individual students with scholarships to help offset costs of equipment, sportswear, transportation costs, fees, shoes, sports bags, tournament fees, and other related items required for participation. Currently, the focus is scholarships to enable Fremont Unified School District high school students to participate in after-school sports and cheerleading.

Lam Research is once again the presenting sponsor of the run along with returning gold sponsors: Fremont Family & Sports Chiropractic, Fremont Bank Foundation, Art of Living Foundation, Suju's Coffee, and Learning Bee.

Partial Knee Replacement

'Why Do Surgery on Parts That Don't Need To Be Replaced?'

Vijai Manilal believes the start of trouble with his left knee probably dates back to a motorcycle accident he had in 1970 when he was age 18.

"A car hit me head-on, and my left thigh bone (the femur) literally exploded," he recalls. "As a result of that accident, my left leg is shorter than the right leg by 1-1/2 inches."

After recovering from the accident, Mr. Manilal resumed his athletic, outdoorsy lifestyle while wearing a "lift" in his left shoe.

"I played tennis and golf, and went swimming and hiking," he says. "But over the years, especially starting about five years ago, things started deteriorating. There was some bone necrosis – meaning death of the bone tissue – in the femur where it attaches to the knee. I also developed arthritis in the knee. I kept exercising through the pain, but about 2-1/2 years ago, I had to stop playing golf."

Because he runs his own business, running a hair salon and importing hair care and styling products from Japan, Mr. Manilal travels extensively. His busy travel schedule caused him to delay doing anything about the pain in his knee. Finally, he realized he needed to see a doctor to find a way to ease the pain.

"I was living in Orinda at the time – I now live in Mill Valley – so I went to see an orthopedist who worked near Orinda," he says. "He treated me with injections of cortisone to reduce inflammation and hyaluronic acid, which is supposed to lubricate the joint. He also had me wear a knee brace. When those treatments didn't work anymore, he told me I would probably need to have my knee replaced."

Mr. Manilal's best friend already had both of his knees replaced, and the friend raved about the results. His orthopedic surgeon was Dr. John Dearborn, who serves as co-medical director with Dr. Alexander Sah at the Institute for Joint Restoration and Research (IJRR) at Washington Hospital.

"My buddy kept telling me to go see Dr. Dearborn and Dr. Sah," Mr. Manilal explains. "He said, 'These guys are so good! At least go talk to them!' I also read good things about both doctors in the newspaper. By that time, I could barely hobble because it was so painful. I called for an appointment and met with Dr. Sah. He was such a nice man; he has a wonderful way about him. I told him I thought I would need a total knee replacement. Right away, he took x-rays of my entire left leg. Then he explained that I only needed a partial knee replacement because only the inside part of the knee was really damaged."

One of the most experienced joint replacement surgeons in the Bay Area, Dr. Sah has performed more than 200 partial Vijai Manilal suffered from knee pain for years before seeing orthopedic surgeon Alexander Sah, MD, co-medical director of the Institute for Joint Restoration and Research at Washington Hospital. Instead of having a total knee replacement, Mr. Manilal followed Dr. Sah's recommendation and had a partial knee replacement, which only addressed the damaged part of the knee. The 45-minute surgery was successful and hours after the surgery, Mr. Manilal was up and walking.

knee replacement surgeries. Few surgeons in the Bay Area perform partial knee replacements.

"When you are deciding between total knee replacement and partial knee replacement, there are three areas that need to be evaluated – both sides of the knee and under the kneecap," Dr. Sah explains. "Partial replacement would be an option for patients who have arthritis or damaged cartilage on only one part of the knee. The advantages of partial knee replacement can be substantial. Partial knee replacement is less invasive, and the ligaments in the center of the knee are not removed. Because the ligaments are left intact, the joint feels more like a natural knee. It is a good option especially for younger patients in their 40s, 50s and 60s who are like Mr. Manilal, with damage to only one part of the knee."

Mr. Manilal notes, "Dr. Sah said to me, 'Why do surgery on parts that don't need to be replaced?' I realized Dr. Sah is not one of those guys who are 'cut-happy,' and I knew from what I had read in the paper that he was very experienced in partial knee replacement. I'd rather have someone who really knows what he is doing, so I decided to go along with his recommendation."

The surgery was performed on February 26 of this year. Prior to the surgery, the staff at the IJRR provided Mr. Manilal with an instruction binder and video to prepare him for what to expect before, during and after surgery.

"The instructions were very precise," he notes. "I knew exactly what to expect and how to prepare for surgery. They also scheduled a consultation with the anesthesiologist – who offered to use local anesthesia so I could watch the surgery, but I preferred to be under total anesthesia. I also got a handwritten letter from Dr. Sah before the surgery, thanking me for choosing him to be my surgeon and offering to answer any questions I had."

The 45-minute surgery started around 9:30 a.m. After a couple of hours in the recovery room, Mr. Manilal was transferred to his private room, where his wife and his friend (who had recommended Dr. Sah and Dr. Dearborn) stayed with him. By 5 p.m., the IJRR staff had him up and walking.

Could You Have an Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm?

Free Screenings Offered at Washington Hospital on November 7

Abdominal aortic aneurysm.

The term is certainly a mouthful. It also describes a potentially deadly health condition that generally doesn't cause any symptoms. But how do you know if you have an abdominal aortic aneurysm – an AAA – if you don't have any symptoms? A simple, painless ultrasound screening that takes only about 15 minutes could answer that question and possibly save your life or the life of a loved one.

For more than a decade, Washington Hospital – with the generous support of Fremont Bank – has provided annual free screenings to encourage early diagnosis and treatment of AAA. This year's screening event, which is co-sponsored by the imaging services company Mint Medical, is scheduled for Saturday, November 7, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The screenings will be conducted in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium in the Washington West Building located at 2500 Mowry Avenue in Fremont.

What is an abdominal aortic aneurysm?

An AAA is a "silent killer" that affects the aorta, the largest and most important artery in the body. The aorta runs from the heart through the center of the chest and abdomen before dividing into two branches called the iliac arteries, which carry blood into each leg. As blood flows through the abdominal aorta, it can push and expand the artery wall.

"If the abdominal aorta weakens, the artery will begin to expand over time," explains board-certified cardiologist Dr. Ash Jain. "An AAA is created when a bulge develops in the abdominal aorta, between the breast bone and the belly button. If the weakening and expansion of the abdominal aorta goes beyond a certain point, there's a high risk of rupturing the aorta. Because the aorta is the main source of blood supply to the body, a ruptured AAA can cause life-threatening bleeding, and it frequently is impossible to save the patient once a rupture has occurred."

Dr. Jain and vascular surgeon Dr. John Thomas Mehigan serve as co-medical directors of Washington Hospital's Vascular Services Program. Dr. Jain also serves as medical director of the Washington Hospital Stroke Program, and Dr. Mehigan is the chief of Vascular Surgery at Washington Hospital. Both physicians will conduct AAA screenings at the event on November 7. The screenings use ultrasound technology that detects and accurately measures the size of an aneurysm to determine if treatment is needed. After the ultrasound testing is performed, patients have the opportunity to speak with one of the doctors, who will explain the screening results.

"An AAA is difficult to feel by routine examination because the aorta is in a hard-to-reach position," says Dr. Mehigan. "Consequently, a majority of these potentially fatal aneurysms are found by accident. Obviously, the best time to find an AAA is before it ruptures, rather than by accident, and that's why we conduct these screenings every year. If we can find these aneurysms when they are small, we can work to control the patients' risk factors for having the aneurysms increase in size or rupture."

Risk Factors for AAA

The Society for Vascular Surgery estimates that as many as 1 million Americans

Washington Hospital Healthcare System is offering free screenings to encourage early diagnosis and treatment of abdominal aortic aneurysms (AAA). The screening event is scheduled for Saturday, November 7 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium in the Washington West building located at 2500 Mowry Avenue in Fremont. The event is for individuals with a family history of AAA or any of the risk factors for AAA. To schedule a free AAA screening on November 7 call (800) 963-7070. Pre-registration is required and walk-in patients cannot be accepted.

are living with an undiagnosed AAA. Each year, nearly 200,000 AAAs are diagnosed, and 15,000 people die from one. Although the exact cause of AAAs is unknown, a number of risk factors may play a role, including:

- Family history of AAA
- High blood pressure
- Obesity
- Diabetes
- High cholesterol
- Smoking and other forms of tobacco use
- Hardening of the arteries (atherosclerosis)
- Heart disease

The Society for Vascular surgery notes that AAAs occur most often in people age 60 and older. Men develop AAAs more often than women do, but women who have an AAA have a higher risk of rupture than men.

"If an AAA is diagnosed before it is larger than 5 cm, it often can be treated effectively with lifestyle changes and medications, along with monitoring the aneurysm with an ultrasound test every year," Dr. Jain says. "For aneurysms larger than 5 cm, we would follow up with a CT scan to obtain more detailed images and then aggressively treat the AAA by implanting stents to reinforce the weakened wall of the aorta. Technology has improved tremendously over the past several years. Even if a stent is required, the patient usually can go home the day after the procedure."

Dr. Mehigan encourages anyone with risk factors for an AAA to register for a free screening on November 7. "The only downside to the screening is that screening participants must fast overnight and not have breakfast until after they are screened," he notes. "Then, after the screening, you get a little snack and you're out of there."

If you have a family history of AAA or any of the risk factors for AAA mentioned above – or if you have a family member who does – call (800) 963-7070 to schedule a free abdominal aortic aneurysm screening on November 7.

To ensure adequate staffing for this free screening event, pre-registration is required; walk-in patients cannot be accepted. If you are unable to be screened on November 7 and need help finding a physician who can discuss your risks for AAA, visit www.whhs.com and click on "Find Your Physician." Medicare now pays for a one-time screening for patients over the age of 65.

Rx Eyeglasses and Eyesight Progression and Children's Vision

Dear Doctor,

I've never had problems with my eyesight but after turning 45, I've found it difficult to read fine print and now use ready-to-wear drugstore glasses. Is it true that going up to a higher prescription progresses vision deterioration at a faster pace?

Dear Reader,

Progressive loss of near vision is common as you get older. The progression is going to depend more on the progress in your eye than with the type of glasses you wear. It is true that once you progress to the next level of correction you will have a harder time at making out text if you are not wearing your glasses. This is because you get used to seeing clearly with them on. The actual progression of your vision, however, will not be changed by the strength of your prescription.

Dear Doctor,

My 7-year-old daughter has been diagnosed with myopia. She now has to wear eyeglasses. Do I have to worry about her vision declining rapidly since she is so young?

Dear Reader,

Myopia, or nearsightedness, is the most common vision problem and prescription eyeglasses are necessary to correct it. For most children with vision problems, eyesight progresses slowly through life and will require a change to his or her prescription every couple of years. Other children, however, may experience a more rapid eyesight progression and will require more frequent changes to their prescription. Only in the most severe cases does the rapid progression cause any permanent changes in vision. I recommend that you take your daughter to a pediatric ophthalmologist to be sure her vision is properly monitored.

Creepy fun with Pumpkins in the Park

BY LINDA-ROBIN CRAIG

Last year, at just about this time, Milpitas Recreation Services Manager Renee Lorentzen saw some friends going to the park to carve pumpkins for Halloween. Always on the lookout for ways that her community can have some fun, Lorentzen noticed more than a few people gathering to tear out messy jack-o-lantern guts and maybe save some pumpkin seeds to toast.

That bright idea was the beginning of the newest, fastest growing, community event in Milpitas – "Pumpkins in the Park." Only one year later, nearly 2,000 friends and families are expected to bring their pumpkins to the Milpitas Sports Center football field for a massive carve and decorate your pumpkin day; even the dog is welcome.

Youngsters of all ages will be able to work on Halloween crafts while more serious carvers are creating their pumpkins, hoping to win one of the prizes offered. Whether you bring your own big orange gourd or show up empty handed, no worries – carving kits and a variety of pumpkins will be available for sale, begging for your creepy, artistic touch.

Naturally, folks will get hungry. Doesn't everybody find pumpkin innards appetizing? The Food Truck Mafia will be there with two trucks serving delicious, savory dishes and even one with sweet stuff that will quell every groaning, empty tummy.

Bring the folks, your friends, your dog, and your imaginations to the park where "the silly, spooky sounds of Halloween" will fill you with fright and delight.

Partial Knee Replacement

'Why Do Surgery on Parts That Don't Need To Be Replaced?'

"Dr. Sah had told me ahead of time he wanted me to walk the same day as the surgery," says Mr. Manilal. "Even so, my wife was in shock that I was up and about so quickly."

Since December 2014, total knee replacement and partial knee replacement patients at the IJRR are taken off epidural medication right after surgery and are given a new injectable, long-lasting local pain medication instead. With the injectable pain medication, patients can feel their legs, so they have better motor control and can safely be mobilized faster.

"Getting certain patients to walk the same day as surgery helps speed their recovery and provides equal – if not better – knee range of motion," Dr. Sah explains.

In 2015, nearly all of Dr. Sah's partial knee replacement patients have been able to go home the same day. Not every patient is a candidate for same-day discharge, however. Mr. Manilal, for example, did stay overnight because he required a catheter.

"Once I got home, I recovered very quickly," Mr. Manilal remarks. "I took prescription pain medications for only about a week. One of the great things about the IJRR is that they set you up with physical therapists who work with you at home, three times a week for the first two weeks. After that, you go to outpatient physical therapy. Four weeks after my surgery, I was swinging a golf club, although not hitting any balls. After six weeks, I went to a golf shop and hit a few balls. I thought, 'This is amazing!' Now I have no pain, period. I could play golf every day if I had the time. I'm hoping to play tennis again by the end of the year, too."

Mr. Manilal credits Dr. Sah's skill and expertise for much of his quick recovery from surgery. He also appreciates the doctor's "amazing bedside manner."

"Dr. Sah called me at home the day after surgery to check on me and to give me his cell phone number," he marvels. "That doesn't happen very often these days. Then he called again two weeks later, and when he couldn't reach me, he called my wife. I call him 'Alexander the Great' because he is so responsive to any question or concern I might have."

Newark Renaissance Man honored

Citizens, family members and officials gathered on Friday, October 16 to rename Newark's Senior Center for Clark William Redeker, a resident that has left a huge legacy for the City and entire Tri-City Community. Active until his death in 2014, Redeker was a warm and compassionate individual whose passion for the community is in evidence throughout the Bay Area. A native of Rupert, Idaho, Redeker attended Stanford University, graduating with a degree in chemistry; he continued his close affiliation throughout his life, playing tuba in the band. His career blossomed as he worked with Westvaco (FMC) and, during WW II, was promoted to Chief Chemist.

Called a "Newark Icon," Redeker was on the Alameda County Fair Board, instrumental in the formation of the City, serving as the City's third Mayor and board member of Alameda County Water District. Age was never a deterrent for Redeker who remained an active volunteer in community affairs including Rotary Club, SIRs and religious affiliations until his passing. He was an avid proponent and volunteer at the Newark Senior Center.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Will the BART extension be beneficial?

Try as I might, I am having difficulty understanding the benefits of extending BART to San Jose for the City of Fremont.

Currently, the Fremont station and the Union City station have no parking. Neighborhood streets are inundated with BART riders parking. And, this is with BART only heading north. For the 30 plus years I have lived in Fremont, the worst traffic commute has been going south. The traffic backup starts two or three cities north of Fremont... What are the odds that by the time these trains arrive in Fremont, at either the current Civic Center Dr location or the new Warm Springs station, they will already be packed. Add to all of this, the City of Fremont's "master plan" is to build, build high density housing complexes with "1.5 cars per unit" in the area surrounding the BART stations. This is to allow easy access by residents who have not yet arrived here... who have not been "paying forward" for this BART extension.

Wouldn't it make more sense to focus on building commercial spaces, and encourage large businesses to locate/relocate to Fremont first, rather than last? In the Warm Springs projects planned by Lennar, commercial building spaces are planned last - after housing units are built. If we could have high tech, "Silicon Valley East", established as a viable "end of the line" for workers, then perhaps we could avoid a mess with BART commuting as we have with 880/680 routes. This concept may not have the "developer fee's" that the City is currently collecting; encouraging businesses to locate in Fremont may require tax, or other incentives. But if the plan is for the City of Fremont to become an "urbanized" area, it has to be able to support its residents with the type of jobs that will provide residents with an income required to afford housing units the City has "approved"... over 6,000 total housing units approved, under formal review or under preliminary review since Feb. 2013.

Clarification:

The article "When a dog bites... a curious case" published Tuesday, October 13, 2015, stated: "In an email [Tim] Wong received from City Manager Tom Williams on June 1, 2015, Williams stated: 'Spoke with Councilmember [Marsha] Grilli and both dogs are licensed under her husband Dennis Grilli. lic # are 091226 & 091431.' [Isaac] Hughes presented two copies of receipts from San Jose Animal Care and Services showing that the two license numbers provided by Williams were cat licenses."

Captain Jay Terrado, Field Services Supervisor of San Jose Animal Care & Services, clarified that the two numbers –

091226 and 091431 – are incomplete license numbers. Capt. Terrado stated via email, "When the numbers are entered into our system, which is incomplete, the results are from dog and cat licenses," further stating that, "Inputting 091226 actually pulls up three different license information from different years; 091431 pulls up two different license information."

The license numbers in the receipts provided by Hughes were L13-091226 and L13-091431. Capt. Terrado further explained that the "L" means "license" and the next two numbers indicate the year the license was issued. L13-091226 was issued for a cat and expired in April 2014; L13-091431 was issued for an adopted kitten in May 2013.

The event is sponsored by The Original Pancake House, Cloverleaf Family Bowl, The Saddle

As Halloween approaches, many community events emerge even before the spooky day itself. Children have plenty of opportunities to dress up, go trick or treating and participate in fun, Halloween activities. One of many events in the Tri-City area is the annual "Trick or Treat on Safety Street" previously held in Centerville Community Center. The 17-year-old event traditionally held indoors will now expand to an even bigger – and scarier – "Trick or Treat on Downtown Safety Street" on Friday, October 23 moves to Fremont City Hall parking lot to promote Downtown Fremont.

Visit a trick or treat wonderland, where children will walk through a street of 25 to 30 miniature houses with Halloween-themed décor to gather goodies. Kids may also participate in an inflatable obstacle course and carnival games, such as fish in a bowl, ring toss, hit the bucket, roller bowler, bowling and more. The event will coincide with the City's gourmet food truck event, Fremont Street Eats, produced by Fremont Chamber of Commerce and Food Truck Mafia. Participants are encouraged to wear a costume and bring a camera for great photo opportunities.

Tickets are required for children ages 2 and up. It is recommended to purchase tickets beforehand due to limited capacity. Purchase your tickets at www.regerec.com and use barcode 233279 for the 5 p.m. slot, Rack, Dale Hardware, Nothing Bundt Cakes, Sweet Orchid, and Mad Science of Bay Area, who will give away glow-in-the-dark slime made by kids.

Scary Resumes!

BY ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

Halloween is the time of the year when it's weirdly fun to be scared out of your mind. Of course, not everyone appreciates being scared. It would be mean to terrify a young child or a pet. It would also be a terrible idea to scare off a prospective employer. Did you know that it's possible to scare off an employer – not by ghouls and goblins – but by specific things in your resume? In this special Halloween career column, I wanted to highlight some common resumes scares – things that might scare off an employer. I've seen lots of resumes in my career and the following resume scares are unfortunately all too common. All of them can be corrected, or at least minimized, so that you can maximize your chances of being invited to an interview and getting the job.

Resume Scare: Low GPA (grade point average)

A low GPA could easily scare off an employer. What is low depends on the hiring manager – some might not even consider interviewing anyone with a GPA lower than a 3.5, while others might still be interested in interviewing people with a GPA of 3.0 or less. Some employers will take into consideration the prestige of the college you attended and might make allowances for an individual with a slightly lower GPA who attended a highly competitive school. That said, a low GPA on a resume could be an easy way for employers to dismiss your resume.

The fix: If you have a low GPA, I'd advise you to remove this information from your resume. Although it's commonplace to see a person's GPA in the resume, it would be safer to leave out a significantly low GPA. This would increase your chance of getting an interview and hopefully winning them over in person. However, you cannot fake your GPA; nor can you lie about it. If your employer asks about it, you'll have to tell the truth about your GPA. Be prepared to answer questions about your low GPA with an explanation that will hopefully assure the employer that you are hardworking, skilled, and committed to the job.

For those of you in college or high school, please strive for the best GPA possible. It's tempting to blow off a class and destroy your GPA in the process. But please remember this message from your friendly career counselor: your GPA stays with you for the rest of your working life.

Resume Scare: Bad Grammar

I spend a lot of time with my clients' resumes to ensure that they are well-written and are grammatically correct. Even a single grammar error could signal to the employer that you are careless, inept with details, and can't write well. Grammar errors are deadly, but so are poorly written sentences and paragraphs. I once witnessed an employer toss a candidate's resume into the recycling bin because every sentence in her cover letter began with "I."

The fix: Check, double-check, then triple-check your resume and cover letter. That's just the first step. Make sure you then ask at least three or four people to proof-read your resume. These reviewers should be people with excellent English.

Resume Scare: Job Hopping

Employers are scared off by candidates who are not likely to stay on the job for very long. This is understandable since it costs a lot of money and time to recruit and train new employees. If you have a consistent pattern of leaving a job every year or two, know that you run the risk of being flagged as a job hopper who is not likely to be a long term employee. Some industries are more forgiving of job hoppers than others; small companies tend to be especially wary of job hoppers.

There is no easy fix for this: If you are guilty of job hopping, I would encourage you to stay in your current job for longer than two years so you won't have a series of short-term jobs in your resume. Depending on the individual's job history, I have been able to help some people merge jobs in their resumes.

Resume Scare: Gaps

Any kind of unexplained long gap in your resume can be a scare. A gap in your resume might cause the employer to wonder if you are committed to working, or are rusty in your skills and knowledge. An employer might also be nervous that there's something wrong with you that prevents you from being employed.

The fix: Fix the gaps in your resume with information about what you were doing at the time. Volunteer work, for instance, can be highlighted in your resume. You might also want to address the gaps in your cover letter.

Resume Scare: Hobbies

How can your hobby be scary, you rightly wonder? Generally, listing a few hobbies can enrich your resume, especially if they are indirectly or directly related to the job. Let's say you love reading fashion magazines and are applying for a job in the fashion industry – your hobby is in perfect alignment with the position. However, your hobbies can become a red flag if they indicate that you are not wholly interested in the job. Say you are hoping to get a job with an employer who needs active, energetic salespeople and you list your hobbies as "reading, knitting, and playing solitaire." Your introverted, quiet hobbies might signal to the employer that you are poor fit for a sales job. Now these same hobbies of reading and knitting might be just the ticket if you were to apply for a position in a bookstore.

The fix: List your hobbies if you are sure that your hobbies are in line with the employer's needs. Leave them out if you are unsure. It's best to be safe than sorry! Have an appropriately scary Halloween! Hopefully, the only things that will scare people are your Halloween decorations and NOT your resume!

Milpitas City Manager cleared of allegations

SUBMITTED BY RACHELLE CURRIE

The Milpitas City Council recently announced that City Manager Tom Williams has been cleared of the allegations made against him by former Planning & Neighborhood Services Director, Steve McHarris. The Council expressed its continued confidence in Mr. Williams' and the other department heads' ability to manage the City and expressed thanks for their ongoing success in moving the City in the right direction.

"We are pleased and heartened to announce that, after a thorough investigation, Tom Williams has been cleared of all allegations made against him," said Mayor Jose Esteves. "Mr. Williams is an excellent leader and someone Milpitas is proud to call our city manager" continued Mayor Esteves.

An investigation was launched last April after McHarris lodged a complaint against Williams containing false and misleading allegations, none of which held up under scrutiny.

The City hired the outside law firm of Amy Oppenheimer to conduct a thorough investigation. Investigators spoke to department heads and several staff members and found no violation of any laws. The City Council also formed an ad hoc-subcommittee of Mayor Jose Esteves and Councilmember Marsha Grilli to further investigate the claims and interview all department heads and other staff members. The subcommittee interviews reassured the City Council that relationships between employees, department heads and Mr. Williams are strong and positive and found overwhelming support for Mr. Williams and City leaders.

"Not only does the investigation clear our city manager of all of the allegations lodged against him, equally important, it reaffirms our belief that Mr. Williams and our staff leadership is doing an excellent job at representing our citizens and taxpayers," Councilmember Marsha Grilli said.

Councilwoman Debbie Indihar-Giordano stated, "The City Council leadership and the strong management skills of Mr. Williams, our department heads and loyal staff, have been pivotal in providing our citizens the excellent quality of life and quality of government they deserve." Past reports pointed out that the City of Milpitas is one of only four cities in the state to achieve an AAA credit rating and one of the top cities in the state and country to do business and reside.

During his tenure as City Manager, Mr. Williams has spearheaded a comprehensive reorganization, strategic plan and financial management that closed a $12 million structural deficit and brought efficiencies into the organization.

"After reviewing the investigative report, the City Council has more confidence than ever in Mr. Williams and his management team and believes that his leadership is continuing to move our city in the right direction," Councilmember Giordano said.

Make a difference in the greater Tri-Cities

For the first time this year, Tri-CED Community Recycling, Great Exchange Church in Union City, Resonate Church in Fremont, and Union City Kids' Zone will unite to make a difference. The four organizations, joined by about 300 volunteers, will lend a helping hand on Saturday, October 24 at Cesar Chavez Middle School in Union City for "Make a Difference Day" (MADD). MADD is a USA TODAY initiative in an effort to promote community service and volunteerism nationwide.

Volunteers are invited to help with the upkeep of Cesar Chavez Middle School, particularly with multiple projects such as repairing bleachers, landscaping work, clean up, painting murals and various other small projects.

According to Stephen Bjorlin, Associate Pastor at Great Exchange Church, the church has been partnering with Kids' Zone for other community projects. The church is also connected with Resonate church, which has conducted MADD events with other schools before. "We were the glue that put people together," Bjorlin said.

In the past, Kids' Zone and Great Exchange Church have worked together to provide winter jackets for children, setting up aisles to let the kids choose what they want as opposed to just handing out the jackets. This year, both groups are getting ready to prepare holiday items to give away.

Bjorlin encourages people to get involved with local organizations and churches, and be proactive in the community. "An event like this is a perfect way to come and serve." To sign up, go to www.signupgenius.com/go/20f0b4ca5ac2ca3f49-make1. Visit the event's Facebook page at www.facebook.com/mddayccms?ref=ts and share it with your friends.

Many MADD events are scheduled throughout the area:

Fremont:

Volunteers are invited to help with activities such as sprucing up parks, planting at community gardens, removing graffiti, beautifying local schools, yard projects at mobile home parks, trail maintenance, feeding struggling families, gathering warm winter clothing for those in need and more. Activities will be available throughout Fremont on Saturday, October 24.

Last year's event drew more than 1,500 people who served on 100 projects. All of these projects were of great benefit to residents, schools and religious organizations within Fremont. USA TODAY and Newman's Own awarded the City of Fremont with the "National City Award" and $10,000 for their efforts. This year, more than 80 projects are planned.

If you are unable to volunteer, there are opportunities to drop off items such as shoes, socks, school supplies or one pound jars of peanut butter at local drives. For more information, contact Fremont's Project Manager Christine Beitsch at makeadifferenceday@fremont.gov or (510) 574-2099. ## The First Church of Rock & Roll Reunion

SUBMITTED BY
DENI CASTER

"The First Church of Rock 'n Roll began over a year ago with a charter membership of 25, in Niles a town located east of San Leandro on the fingertips of civilization as modern man has come to know it. Niles is essentially a rural town presently experiencing an identity crisis caused by suburban and industrial encroachment", reported the Berkeley Barb in its Feb 7, 1980 edition about Reverend Joel Agnew and his flock.

Fast forward to 2015. Scattered all over the country, members of the Church, and musicians affiliated with the church have scattered. Recognizing that an identity crisis has resurfaced in Niles and many Districts of Fremont, the Church has come together again "for spiritual enlightenment, or at least a good time." Gathering on Friday evening, October 23 in a former venue, Munoz Hall, now known as the Macau Cultural Center, Reverend Agnew will again preach to his choir.

Described as having a sound in the vein of "jugband meets Frank Zappa," The Bungholes are scheduled to perform at this Reunion of "the Church." Along with original members Randy and David, other attendees include Keith Underwood, the former Reverend of the Dallas TX chapter. Bob-a-lou, another devotee will be coming from Nebraska; others will make their pilgrimage from Florida, Washington, Nevada as well as many parts of California. Rev Joel Agnew is still involved in the music scene, hosting Maui's only entertainment talk show about Arts Music and Theater events on a local Maui radio show. Joel also performs on-stage at Maui Onstage.

Helping to provide the right atmosphere, The Collectives, well known in the area for their Beatles covers, as well as original tunes and Sandi and The Rockefellers – a great rock and blues band will keep the party jumping, along with Inside Out.

The First Church of Rock & Roll Reunion will be a great throwback Friday! As reported in that Berkeley Barb article in 1980, "Niles is ripe for some collective force to bring its many different people together."

Postal Service now hiring holiday workers

SUBMITTED BY
AUGUSTINE RUIZ, JR

This holiday season, the U.S. Postal Service (USPS) plans to hire between 25,000 to 30,000 seasonal workers nationwide. There are job openings at many locations in Northern California. Positions available include letter carriers, mail handlers, retail sales associates and automotive technicians.

USPS hiring is currently underway for peak season and will continue in the months ahead.

Postal Service seasonal employees have opportunities for permanent work and a path to becoming career employees.

The Postal Service is an equal opportunity employer offering a fast-paced, challenging, and rewarding work environment with competitive compensation packages, job training and opportunities for advancement.

The online application process is easy by going to usps.com and clicking on "USPS Jobs" at the bottom left of the home page.

(Or, go directly to www.usps.com/employment.)

Select "Search open jobs," then select "California" and hit "Start." Current job postings with location and requirements will appear. Job seekers should check back often for new job postings.

For help delivering this peak season, USPS is also looking to recent retirees, inviting letter carriers who have retired within the past two years to come back and give us a hand while earning some extra cash for the holidays.

Private firms question California high-speed rail funding

BY JULIET WILLIAMS AND JUSTIN PRITCHARD
ASSOCIATED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Businesses firms that might bid to build a high-speed rail network across California are questioning whether there will be enough government funding to complete the complex and ambitious project.

That picture emerged from documents the companies submitted to the state rail authority overseeing the project, which has solicited ideas for how it should approach building a first segment of 300 miles of track by 2022.

Critics have cited the lack of private investors as a major flaw in planning would be the nation's largest transportation infrastructure project, with a cost estimated at $68 billion. So the California High-Speed Rail Authority asked firms to suggest how to reduce costs, speed up construction and attract outside money.

In response it received 36 submissions from firms including global construction and engineering giants AECOM, Siemens and Parsons. The rail authority released the documents to The Associated Press under a Public Records Act request.

The authority has planned an "initial operating segment" from Merced to Burbank, with a scheduled opening date of 2022. On Friday, authority spokeswoman Lisa Marie Alley said the purpose of the proposals was to see whether it could be built sooner.

The target date to connect San Francisco with the Los Angeles area is 2029.

One common theme from the documents: Where will the money come from to make that happen?

"The total funding identified is still insufficient" to deliver an initial operating segment, Parsons wrote in its 17-page submission. "This shortfall, as well as the uncertainty around these sources, must be addressed."

The state Legislature agreed last year to provide the first ongoing source of financial support to the project: a quarter of all revenues from the state's greenhouse gas emissions program in which companies buy and sell pollution credits. That amounted to $750 million over the last two fiscal years, with a promise of 25 percent of "cap and trade" revenues into the future. Voters in 2008 also approved nearly $10 billion in bonds, and the federal government has committed $3.5 billion in matching funds.

Because ticket fees are not expected to generate nearly enough revenue to cover debt from construction, "there must be significant government funding,"

AECOM wrote in its 23-page submission.

One critic of the project doubts it can attract investments from outside government.

"No private investor will hand over the billions they are asking for and then allow the state to own and govern the use of that investment," said William Grindley, a retired international business consultant who has closely followed — and consistently raised doubts about — the project.

In the documents, many firms suggested breaking the project up into smaller contracts, typically in the $3 billion to $5 billion range. Anything much larger could scare off even the world's largest construction and financing firms, the respondents said.

"The market cannot absorb a single $20 billion contract," a group led by ACS Infrastructure Development, Inc. wrote, arguing that the risk to a construction firm would be too high and that "financial institutions would not invest into a project of such unprecedented scale and cost."

Officials with the rail authority called the receipt of 36 responses a sign that the private sector is very interested in the project.

"Two years ago, we were calling them — and now they're calling us," Alley said. "This project is real for a lot of people, more so than before."

The authority plans to interview respondents over the next few months and publicly discuss next steps in the new year, Alley said.

Fremont School Board approves residential development report card

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

With residential development outpacing its ability to sufficiently accommodate new students moving to the area, the Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) has approved a grading system to bring attention to the disparity between current developer fees and the actual cost of school construction.

FUSD's current enrollment stands at 34,563 — a 1.8 percent increase from 2014-15. Over the next seven years, the District is expected to continue growing at an annual rate of 1.7 percent, reaching 38,198 students by the year 2021-22.

Due to this significant increase in student population, combined with reductions in class size in grades TK-3 and 7-12, the District has filled nearly every classroom to its capacity. At this rate of growth, it is anticipated that for the 2016-17 school year, FUSD can expect to hire 30 additional teachers and will need 20 additional classrooms.

One reason for increasing enrollment is an increasing number of new housing developments. Based on a May 2014 study, it is estimated that over 15,000 new housing units will be built in Fremont over the next 25 years. These developments will generate approximately 7,200 new students, requiring five new elementary schools, two middle schools, and 1.2 senior high schools within FUSD to accommodate the projected enrollment growth.

To assist in meeting the needs of growing student populations, the California State Legislature passed Senate Bill 50, Chapter 407, in 1998; allowing school districts to levy a 'Developer Fee' to mitigate the cost of school expansion/new school construction needed. Unfortunately, the formulas used to calculate the fee are outdated and do not take into account the current absence of state matching funds school districts could count on in the past. Current Developer Fees do not generate sufficient revenue to build new classrooms or schools. Using the formula prescribed by law, FUSD is allowed to charge $5.70 per square foot of new residential development. The actual average cost of school construction to the District is estimated at $17.22 per square foot — three times the amount FUSD is collecting.

"Our District is well aware of what a special community Fremont is and we celebrate its growth into a world-class city," said FUSD Superintendent, Dr. Jim Morris. "However, with this growth come challenges that are affecting the education of our students. We are asking for more commitment and assistance from developers who stand to make tremendous profits from selling homes in such a desirable community - fueled in no small part by the strength of its schools."

To inform the community of residential development's level of assistance toward school construction, FUSD staff has approved a grading scale of A-F for all developments being constructed within the District's boundaries. The grading system applies to all residential projects consisting of five or more units in order to be consistent with the City of Fremont's Municipal Code provisions.

"This grading system will serve as a tool to show the public that the amount developers are contributing is simply not enough to provide adequate school space for a growing population," Morris explained. "While some developers have been tremendous partners with FUSD, others have been content to do only what is required. We want our community to know who is who."

Shape Our Fremont

Where Fremont residents can learn about shaping proposed housing developments

And They Keep Coming...

As we approach the end of 2015, several housing developments are moving forward towards approval. And even more new projects have been submitted.

Villas of Mission

A development of 15 three-story townhouses called Villas of Mission is proposed for 0.79 acres of vacant land at 36341 Mission Blvd. Previously submitted as Mission Townhomes PRP, this project is located between a townhouse complex off Potel Terrace and Dave's Auto at the corner of Nursery Ave. in the Niles Community Plan Area.

The townhouses would be grouped in 2 four-unit buildings, 2 two-unit "duets," and 3 standalone units. The architecture is flat-sided, square-cornered, and has an industrial look. All the units would have two-car garages and guest parking would be on the site. Access to the development would be a driveway off Mission Blvd, and a private road off Potel Terrace.

This proposal will require City Council approval of a General Plan Amendment to change the Land Use Designation of the parcel from Commercial to Residential. Because the 2011 General Plan designated the land as Commercial, neither the Alameda County Water District, nor the Fremont Unified School District would have made plans to provide services for a residential development on this site until 2014 when the project was submitted for a Preliminary Review Process.

Residents are encouraged to direct comments and concerns about this proposal to the assigned City Staff Project Planner David Wage at dwage@fremont.gov

Osgood HD Podium

Plans have been submitted for 31 condominiums in a five-level building on a half-acre lot at 41868 Osgood Road. Previously submitted as Osgood Road Homes PRP, this project is within the Irvington Transit Oriented Development (TOD) Overlay area and the Irvington BART Station Study Area.

The existing 1952 house would be torn down. Most of the trees would be removed. Access would be a right-in/right-out driveway off Osgood Rd. into a garage with a mechanical parking system.

On June 16, 2015, the City Council approved the Irvington BART Station Study Area General Plan Amendment to form a study area of the properties around the future Irvington BART station. This property is included in that study area and any development of it before the study is complete will require a General Plan Amendment to remove the study area designation from the site.

Centerville Condos

A mixed-use project with 8 condominiums and 2,000 square feet of commercial space called Centerville Condos has been proposed for 36800 Fremont Boulevard. The third-acre site is located between Thornton Ave. and Alder Ave. and is within the Centerville TOD. The land currently holds a vacant 1922 house, a few out-buildings, and several mature trees which would all be removed.

The developer plans to build a single four-story building with condominiums on the upper floors. Access would be from a driveway off Fremont Blvd. Parking for residents, guests, and commercial customers would be on the site.

Centerville Junction

There are 52 townhouses in twelve three-story buildings being proposed for a development called Centerville Junction. Ten old homes and a small commercial center are currently on the nine contiguous parcels from 3498 Peralta Blvd. to 3678 Parish Ave.

Previously submitted as Peralta Blvd Townhomes PRP, the 2.65-acre site is on the south side of Peralta Blvd. between Parish Ave. and Sequoia Rd. and lies within the Centerville TOD.

Twenty-four of the townhouses would line Peralta only six feet from the street, contrasting with Sequoia Crossings across the street. Each townhouse would have a two-car garage. There would be both on-site and on-street guest parking. Access would be off both Peralta Blvd. and Parish Ave. and there would be no connection to Chantry Common.

A historic evaluation determined the ten old homes were not historically significant and they could be removed. Only one of the 37 trees on the properties would be retained.

Four of the parcels would require City Council approval of a General Plan Amendment to change their Land Use Designation from Commercial to Residential.

New PRPs

Eleven new developments have been submitted for a Preliminary Review Procedure (PRP). The Planning Department reviews these early project plans and reports back to the developer with any issues it finds. Developers use this information to decide whether to go forward with the project and/or to help them shape their formal development application.

Residents may view the preliminary plans by contacting the Planning Department. Letting the city know your concerns regarding these early plans may help shape the result.

Zookeepers save critically endangered species

SUBMITTED BY NICKY MORA

Oakland Zoo's zookeepers collaborate with Buffalo Zoo, Queens Zoo and Omaha Zoo on a highly detailed fertility plan to produce, ship and release tadpoles into El Convento Natural Reserve, operated by Para la Naturaleza, located in the southern portion of Puerto Rico.

"We are so honored to be a part of this program," stated Margaret Rousser, Zoological Manager at Oakland Zoo. "Being able to contribute to the conservation of a species is what zoos are all about." If all goes as calculated, the four zoos will have had tadpoles hatch on the same day, timing a flight to Puerto Rico on week 10 of the fertility calendar. The precious cargo will be packed up and shipped to arrive in Puerto Rico on Thursday, October 22. On the same date of delivery, thousands of tadpoles will be released into their new habitat by partners in Puerto Rico.

CAPS to provide workshop for seniors

SUBMITTED BY CAPS

Join Community Ambassador Program for Seniors (CAPS) on Friday, October 23 at Bridges Community Church in Fremont to learn about programs and resources available in the Tri-City area. Presenters include Asha Chandra, CAPS Program Manager; Amy Schaible, Senior Center Without Walls Volunteer Coordinator; Mandy Zamanti of Senior HelpLine; Patricia Osage, LIFE ElderCare Executive Director; and Laura Moya, Home Sharing Coordinator of Human Investment Project (HIP) Housing. CAPS is a nationally recognized, locally implemented program of the City of Fremont Human Services Department and funded by a grant from Robert Wood Johnson Foundation in 2007. According to CAPS volunteer Betty Howd, "[CAPS] ambassadors make themselves visible within their own communities and act as a bridge between informal and formal services. Since Fremont is so diversified, it is important to reach our seniors in their own environment so we can assist them in receiving the care they are qualified."

Coffee and light refreshments will be served. Please direct questions to Betty Howd at (510) 651-2030 or 37bhowdy@gmail.com. For more information about CAPS, visit <http://capseniors.org>.

Live cam views classroom construction

SUBMITTED BY ROBIN MICHEL

Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) recently announced that a live cam was installed and is now ready for the public to access via the District Website at www.fremont.k12.ca.us (Click on Measure E/Construction Photos). "This is an exciting opportunity for community members to stay current on the progress at Irvington High School," said FUSD Facilities Director Therese Gain, "without adding to their carbon footprint."

In June 2014, Fremont voters passed Measure E, a $650 million school facilities bond that is addressing critical facilities needs throughout the District, including modernization and new construction projects to address current overcrowding and future growth, and creating 21st century learning environments designed to enhance student health and learning. In addition to the new building with eight classrooms and four science labs that are under construction at Irvington High School, new buildings were occupied last month at Azeveda Elementary School (four classrooms) and Mattos Elementary School (two classrooms and two science labs). Additionally, Warm Springs Elementary School has a 12-classroom building under design review.

According to Ms. Gain during the ceremonial groundbreaking of the Irvington High School new classroom building last May, the District requested that a live camera be installed in order to maximize community participation in the Measure E new construction project, as well as pique the interest of Irvington High School students, who are, as Ms. Gain added, "digital natives."

LIVING WELL: ENJOYING FALL'S BOUNTY

As the days grow shorter and harvest moons illuminate crisp autumn evenings, Northern California farmer's markets abound with delicious fall produce. Don't miss your chance to enjoy some of the fruits of the season – while boosting your health. Choose produce in a variety of colors to maximize your intake of essential vitamins and minerals.

A Rainbow of Fall Produce

1. Beets: Though red beets are most common, heirloom varieties may be orange, golden, indigo, or even striped. Rich in antioxidants and fiber, beets also help the liver with detoxification. Roast or steam the roots; then sauté the greens lightly for an extra boost of calcium and iron.
2. Brussels sprouts: Each serving of these tasty green gems provides more than 100% of the recommended daily allowances for both calcium and vitamin K. They can be prepared in a variety of ways to suit every palate: raw, roasted, or steamed.
3. Apples: Fall is primetime for California's apple orchards. Take a literal "farm to table" approach by gathering your family and friends for a trip to a local pick-your-own farm. Full of antioxidants, these healthy fruits also benefit oral health.
4. Leafy greens: From salad greens to kale, spinach, and chard, the fall is a great time to dive into iron and potassium-rich leafy greens. Enjoy a refreshing salad on a hot afternoon, brighten up a stir-fry, or give baked kale chips a try.
5. Squashes: Don't regulate pumpkin and squashes to Halloween and Thanksgiving; These tasty vegetables contain vitamins C, E, and B6, as well as magnesium, potassium, iron, and antioxidants. Try making them into a naturally creamy bisque, add them to a spicy curry, or mix up your favorite chili recipe

See some tempting produce you're not sure what to do with? Just ask! Talking to your local market vendor, grocer, or even a gardening neighbor is a great way to learn what's in season - and to walk away with a new recipe.

FIFTH ANNUAL TOMATO PALOOZA SUPPORTS THOSE IN NEED

In September, the Masonic Homes held its fifth annual Tomato Palooza. In addition to enjoying a bountiful harvest, it was a celebration of the important role of healthy eating in successful aging - and an opportunity to support community members in need. Residents and staff donated two large barrels of canned food to the Tri-City Volunteers, which will be distributed to local food banks. The ladies of the "Sewing for Charity Group" at nearby Acacia Creek Retirement Community also made and sold potholders to support the food bank, as well as donating $600.

At Tomato Palooza, residents enjoyed a variety of healthy, colorful treats with fresh ingredients from the Home's organic garden, which grows more than 100 tomato plants. The menu included salsas, fried green tomatoes, pizzettas, bloody marys, and more. The festivities culminated with the election of a five-person Royal Tomato Court, whose combined age was 587 years.

GIVING BACK – ONE STEP AT A TIME

The Masonic Homes thanks Tri-City community members who sponsored and/or walked with the Masonic Homes Team at the San Francisco Walk to End Alzheimer's on Sept. 19. This annual event, held nationwide, supports Alzheimer's care, support, and research. It is also an important tool for increased public awareness of Alzheimer's disease and other dementia-related illnesses.

The Masonic Homes was a Gold Level sponsor of the event, and hosted an on-site water station. The residents, staff, and community members who walked for the Masonic Homes team raised more than $2,700 in donations.

On Sept. 19, the Masonic Homes joined more than 3,000 Bay Area community members at the Walk to End Alzheimer's in San Francisco.

Recipe: Stuffed Bell Peppers

From the kitchen of Kathryn & LuLu Fisher. Recipe courtesy of the Gilbert family. Serves 6

Ingredients:

6 medium peppers
1 lb ground turkey
1/3 cup chopped onions
1 tbsp olive oil
1 16 oz can tomato sauce
2 cups stewed tomatoes
3/4 cup precooked brown rice
2 tbsp Worcestershire sauce
1 cup lowfat shredded cheese
1/2 cup breadcrumbs (optional)
Salt and pepper

Directions:

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In a large pot, bring salted water to a boil.

Cut off tops of peppers and remove seeds and casing from inside. Boil peppers for 5-8 minutes, until tender. Remove peppers from water and season insides with salt and pepper. Set aside.

In a separate pan, brown meat and onions. Then, add Worcestershire and tomato sauces, stewed tomatoes, and rice. Cover and simmer until rice is soft, about 5 minutes, then remove from heat and mix in cheese.

Stuff peppers with rice mixture and top with additional shredded cheese or bread crumbs (optional). Bake uncovered in a shallow baking dish for 20 minutes, or until hot. Serve immediately.

There's no place like home...for watching Movies

By DAVID R. NEWMAN
VALLEY HOME THEATER &
AUTOMATION

More and more people are staying home to watch movies on their own screens instead of going to the theater. You don't have to look for parking, there's room to stretch out, and the popcorn is free. Here is a look at the components that make up a custom home theater system and the cutting-edge technology that is changing the way we live.

Location, Location, Location

When setting up a home theater system, it all starts with location. Will you be watching from the comfort of your own bed? In the kitchen while you're cooking? Or perhaps you'll be out on the back patio entertaining guests. Analyzing your viewing habits will go a long way in establishing the perfect location.

The size of your space will dictate the type of system that will work best for you. And while projector and screen systems were once the ultimate in home theater viewing, they are now competing with TVs that are getting bigger and better, and are often more affordable.

Size Matters, but So Does Price

According to Tom's Guide, "The paramount factors for most shoppers will be screen size and price. The widest array of choices, from 30 inches to up to 110 inches, is available in LED (light-emitting diode) LCD models. Prices tend to start at $250 for 32-inch sets (which are great for the bedroom), but for bigger rooms the sweet spot is a 50- or 55-inch for less than $600."

Screen size also depends on how close you sit to the TV. "A good rule of thumb is that you should sit at a distance from the TV that is three times more than the height of the screen for HD and just 1.5 times the screen height for 4K Ultra HD."

There is also a new television display technology called OLED (Organic Light Emitting Diodes) that is brighter and more efficient. Many consider these screens to have the best picture quality ever, but sizes are limited and the cost is substantial ($2,000+).

in wireless capability for connecting Internet-based services like Netflix, Hulu, and iTunes.

"Video streaming and audio streaming are taking over the world right now. Less people are buying hard media, like CDs. Instead, they're subscribing to streaming services or they're downloading music," says Micah Brown of Avid Home Theater in Danville.

This is a concern for those considering 4K TV, as only a few services like Netflix and Amazon currently provide 4K content.

Get Smart

With streaming content so popular, an Internet connection is more important than ever. Says Brown, "For you to stream successfully you need bandwidth, so a home's networking and the quality of the service that you get from your Internet Service Provider become very important."

Smart home technology plays a major role in any modern home theater system. Tablet remotes and cell phone apps give you control over all your devices, and you also have easy access to playlists and your video library.

The Sound of Music

Speakers are also extremely important, and several standard configurations exist, including Dolby 5.1, Dolby 7.1, and the latest, Dolby Atmos. Says VanDerBrugge, "Those different numbers are a reference to how many speakers are in the room. So 5.1 is 5 speakers, and the .1 is the sub-woofer. Dolby Atmos is a nine or eleven speaker system that you can configure with 2 to 3 subs."

Another option is the soundbar. According to Tom's Guide, "Soundbars are popular because, for $300 or less, it can significantly improve the cinematic experience and yet be installed in minutes. Newer models are thin enough to fit under a TV stand without blocking the bottom of the picture. Most can also mount under a wall-hanging TV."

You Say You Want a Resolution

Resolution describes the sharpness of the screen. High-definition television (HDTV) has been the standard in flatscreen technology for the past 20 years, giving viewers a crisp, clean image that seems very real. That is changing, however, with the advent of ultra-high-definition television (UHDTV), or 4K. Says Glenn VanDerBrugge of Valley Home Theater & Automation in Dublin, "4K is four times the resolution of standard HDTV. It's so clear and so defined. People love it. They see those pictures and they're blown away."

Stream On

Almost all televisions these days are considered "Smart TVs," meaning they have built-

Media Rooms vs. Home Theaters

For those with money, building a room dedicated to simulating the theater experience is the ultimate dream – complete with screen, surround sound, lighting, media rack, and rows of comfy seats. But more people are opting for the versatility of a media room over a home theater. Says VanDerBrugge, “Many of our clients have kids who want to play video games and have sleepovers, and why not take advantage of this room with a beautiful large screen. We try to create a comfortable atmosphere with couches, etc. Not that a theater's not comfortable. But a theater's more of just sitting in a chair and going to the movies.”

Going to the movies can be a lot of fun, but recreating that experience inside your home may be the best blockbuster ever.

Capitol Avenue extension opens to Downtown Fremont

On Friday, October 16, a ribbon cutting ceremony was held to open the long awaited extension of Capitol Avenue to Fremont Boulevard. City Manager Fred Diaz told an audience of citizens, present/past councilmembers and officials, “If you like this, you haven't seen anything yet,” referring to extensive plans to construct a “vibrant downtown.” Mayor Bill Harrison, a lifelong Fremont resident, referred to the long wait for visible signs of progress but was enthusiastic about the perseverance and partnerships that brought this critical piece of the downtown plan to fruition.

At the corner of Fremont Boulevard and the newly completed Capitol Avenue extension, stands the sculpture “Heartfulness” created by artist Katy Boynton. Ms. Boynton spoke of her personal tribulations that inspired Heartfulness, a broken heart pieced back together, unveiled at the 2012 Burning Man festival in Nevada. Now, on loan to the City of Fremont, she said it can serve as the “social heartbeat” of Fremont's downtown vision. The steel sculpture reflects a red glow from its interior during the evening hours.

Streetscape along the newly opened thoroughfare includes a landscaped median including towering palm trees and a clear vista of the hills to the east of the City. The new part of the street features bike lanes, wide sidewalks, screen walls and solar powered electrical receptacles. Capitol Avenue in front of existing City Hall near Paseo Padre Parkway is undergoing an infrastructure facelift to match the amenities of the newly opened section.

Raisin' the roof for raised beds - A Girl Scout Gold Project

BY CHERYL BERGGREN

The year 2016 will mark the 100th year that the Girl Scout Gold Award has been in existence. Earning the Gold is definitely not an easy task; eighty hours is the suggested minimum to "Identify an issue, investigate it thoroughly, get help and build a team, create a plan, present your plan, gather feedback, take action, and educate and inspire others."

Cristen Berggren used all these traits to build two raised gardening beds at Temple Beth Torah in Fremont to grow more vegetables for Abode's homeless shelter. Fence and lumber companies donated the wood; friends and family donated money for other supplies and their time. After many days of designing, planning, preparing documents, and gathering materials, Cristen led and worked beside volunteers preparing the land and filling the beds with compost.

Only about five percent of all Girl Scouts fulfill the requirements of the Gold Award. It's a huge, achievement and we are proud of Cristen and other Girl Scouts who earn the honor. They worked hard, were persistent, determined, and had a huge heart... Just like Cristen... You go Gold Girl!

It is said that a 9th century Ethiopian goatherd named Kaldi first discovered the effects of coffee after he watched how his goats reacted when eating the seeds. However, the earliest credible evidence of anyone actually drinking coffee comes from the 15th century. Members of the Sufi Muslim Monastery in Yemen were the first to roast and brew coffee in the same way still used today. Within 200 years, the practice had reached the Middle trict of Fremont. Started by brothers-in-law Jon Fisher and Stevie Pape in a garage with a BBQ converted into a coffee roaster, they experimented to bring out their own wonderful flavors inspired by experiences in specialty shops around the Bay Area. Soon they began sharing their creations with friends and family only to find that they couldn't get enough of the brothers' brew. And it's that same brew, and more, that you can now find in their newly opened shop.

Devout Coffee celebrated their successful grand opening on August 29, featuring their lightly roasted seasonal selections, each made in a way to bring out the most natural sweetness. "We are a micro batch roastery that buys the best possible green

The vibe at Devout is young and hip, but the owners strive to create an environment attractive to families and people of all ages. There is plenty of room indoors to sit, read, chat, and just relax while sipping a hot cup of Devout joe, but the remodeled outdoor patio provides a comfortable setting sure to make it a memorable experience for any occasion. And with its location being right in the middle of a region known for its cinematic history and beauty, a visit to Devout Coffee can be the cherry on top of your Niles visit!

According to their website, they are devoted to three things:

1. Sourcing the finest quality coffee while striving for the most enjoyable coffee experience for their customers.

2. Perfecting the art of extraction.

"Whether it is extracted on our high end craft-built Slayer Espresso machine as a single origin espresso or a simple French press on your kitchen counter, we love introducing people to the real flavor of coffee."

3. Creating an environment to enjoy the coffee experience. In the near future Devout is planning to expand and utilize the entire expanse of their building by setting up a viewing section where patrons can see firsthand the entire roasting process.

Coffee is one of the most consumed beverages in the world, and Devout Coffee is obviously doing it right. Even if one is not sure what to try first, "Our baristas are very friendly and more than happy to offer suggestions from our list of offerings," says Naomi. Make your next cup of coffee a Devout Coffee!

Old Town Dia de los Muertos

Newark celebrates Dia de los Muertos with a colorful community event at Magnolia Plaza Sunday, October 25. Co-sponsored by Vice Mayor of Newark Sucus Collazo and Avanzando, a volunteer organization dedicated to the advancement and empowering of Latino youth and families, "Old Town Dia de los Muertos" will deliver entertainment from mariachis, Aztec dancers, and Ballet Folklorico of Newark's Musick Elementary School.

Alters will also be on display, made by Collazo, Avanzando, and Arteagas Food Center. Local schools have been invited to contribute their own alters, and anyone in the community interested in participating can contact Collazo for more information.

What once started as a few alters inside Mexico Tortilla Factory five years ago has now grown into an event complete with stage and sound system for performers, and fun elements such as face painting, sugar skulls, Day of the Dead bread, and special Tortilla Factory Day of the Dead T-shirts. This year's event will also welcome a harpist as well as free blood pressure and glucose testing from Tiburcio Vasquez Health Center. Plenty of restaurant options are available for hungry attendees.

The event is an opportunity to bring the community together, says Collazo, to get people involved in more cultural things. So, if you've never been quite sure what the Day of the Dead is all about, here's your chance to take part.

For more information, contact Sucus Collazo at (510) 209-6242.

Love's Labour's Lost the musical

SUBMITTED BY SUSAN E. EVANS / BOB MILLER

The Douglas Morrisson Theatre 2015-2016 Revelations season gallops apace with the first Northern California production of "Love's Labour's Lost" a musical based on the play by William Shakespeare, with music by Michael Friedman, and book adapted by Alex Timbers, creating a giddy mashup of the Bard and Boy Bands.

Love's Labour's Lost will have 15 performances, including one preview, November 5 through November 29, at the Douglas Morrisson Theatre in Hayward.

The production is directed by Lisa Tromovitch and features an outstanding ensemble of Bay Area actor/singers. Tromovitch is the founder of Shakespeare's Associates/Livermore Shakespeare Festival with over 50 professional directing credits in six states. She began her career at The Old Globe Theater where she assisted directors Jack O'Brien, Tom Moore and the late John Houseman. She is a Backstage West Garland Award and Indy Award winner for her direction of Amadeus at PCPA TheatreFest.

Love's Labour's Lost is a musical adaptation, of Shakespeare's loopy comedy by Alex Timbers and Michael Friedman that manages to be fresh and contemporary while faithfully adhering to the text. Romance and revelry abound in this tale of the King of Navarre and his college buddies at their five-year college reunion who take an oath to spend the next three years devoted to study and self-improvement, and remove themselves from worldly temptations ... most especially women. Enter onto the scene four girls from the boys' past and all bets are off.

Timbers, who wrote the book for the musical with Friedman, says, "We had this idea that we wanted to set the show at a five-year college reunion, because I was thinking who are kings and princesses today and they're sort of privileged kids that go to Brown University or Wesleyan, or other schools like that, and to set the show at that moment in your mid-20's when you feel that urge to grow up but sort of feel that sense of you have no idea how to do that, that was something that I wanted to capture."

Tri-City Stargazer OCTOBER 21 - OCTOBER 27, 2015 BY VIVIAN CAROL

For All Signs: Mercury, now traveling through Libra, will be caught up in challenging relationship to both Uranus and Pluto. Negotiations around the world may break down during this period. Symbols suggest problems with electronic and communications equipment. Traffic may be snarled or jammed in numerous places. Misunderstanding each other will be prominent. Don't go into a tizz because you think you heard something. Check it out before taking action.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): This is a really challenging time for you and many others as well. You may be presented with a relationship issue that will cause you to distance from a negative bond. Perhaps it is time. But if this is someone you truly don't want to lose, then watch your temper and attempt to talk through problems.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): This should be a wonderful week for love life and creative activities. Venus, your avatar planet, is favoring Jupiter, Uranus and Pluto. Honor the artist in yourself. Broaden your definition of artist beyond painting. Activities involving your children go well. Aspects favor travel, education and love life.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Challenging news comes your way concerning children, a love affair or investments. It may be sudden so brace yourself. Stay calm so that you can have your wits about you to think issues through. Rise above the appearance of things so you can envision a larger picture. You need to access your ability to think outside the box.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Changes in your work or daily life are requiring that you bend to accommodate for new technology. You were getting things accomplished just fine, thank you very much. This one just won't go away. It is probably very good for you in the long run. However, just right now the learning curve interferes with your daily output.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): You may be tending to your own or another's healing on either the physical or emotional level. It is even possible there is a funeral you must attend where you are uncomfortable with other attendees. This is not the time to bring up old hurts and angers. The other will not be amenable to discussion right now. Find some way to let it go. There will be other opportunities.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): You are a giant magnet this week. You will attract supporters wherever you go. People will fall all over themselves for you. Try it. Dress well and move around in the public eye for an ego boost. On another level, there are concerns about the financial picture. Leave your credit cards at home.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Many who are upset will be seeking your solace and gift of listening. Do not overload your schedule because even you, the peaceful warrior, may feel short tempered. Drive carefully. Vehicles, tools or other things may suddenly break. Concentrate on staying with your center. Your intuition is uncommonly accurate now.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): The sun returns home to your sign this week. You likely will find it to be energizing. Now is the time to focus on new plans for this next year of your life. Take a fresh look at where you want to direct your energy. It is appropriate that your attention be directed toward yourself right now. But while you are doing this, stay aware of the needs of those around you as well.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You are struggling to gain a foothold on the new identity. Let the past go. Keep only what and who is truly important to you. Between now and the year 2018, the main trajectory is to blend what is at your core and unchangeable with what is nontraditional for you. This will be a test of confidence and creativity, but it is timely now.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): Once again, this week may bring sudden developments concerning your home, property or family. For a time things will feel out of control and maybe difficult to understand on any rational level. This struggle could be internal and of the ego. Take time enough to discern the truth before speaking or deciding impulsively.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): One side of you is devoted to maintaining the status quo and following the rules. Another side of you is the rebel deluxe - the one who always colors outside the lines. You probably feel much more comfortable in one mode or the other. Whichever way is your norm, you now encounter your opposite. Stay absolutely true to yourself in the midst of this storm.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): There is news to cheer over concerning your significant other (business or personal). The relationship is taking a turn for the better. Those with clientele will be super busy accommodating an increased public. You feel generous, almost to a fault. Don't give away the store.

Diwali celebrates goodness and light

At a free health fair medical checkups will be given to every visitor, with blood pressure check, Body Mass Index, and flu shots. There will be a first aid team to help throughout the day.

FOG Diwali also presents "Global Knowledge Quiz - It's a small world after all." This is a unique concept of showcasing rich culture, dances and costumes from a wide cross section of the world. Associations representing different states of India and other countries will share their heritage during the event. FOG Band presents different global groups performing live followed by spectacular fireworks and laser show.

Dr. Romesh Japra, FOG founder and convener, said, "FOG Diwali is one of the best ways for parents to keep their children in touch with the cultural roots and teach them key values that sustain us for life. It is a very special occasion for community to come together and keep the traditions alive. This year we are making this festival global to include wider community and spread the love. Only when we have strong roots can we grow and prosper in this land of opportunities."

Additional Diwali events will be held in Milpitas and Newark.

State of the City Luncheon

SUBMITTED BY LAUREN SUGAYAN

City leaders will commence for this year's State of the City at the Masonic Home of Union City on Wednesday, October 28. An audience of community members will convene to hear Mayor Carol Dutra-Veranci and City Manager Antonio E. Acosta discuss progress of the past year and the City's goals moving forward. Attendees will have an opportunity to discuss community interests with City officials while enjoying lunch.

City Manager Acosta is taking an optimistic and fresh approach in his role of steering the City, with a focus on four major themes:

First, the City will continue to improve its communications internally with City Council and City staff and externally with the general public, program partners, and public agencies.

Second, the City's greatest asset is its employees, and City Management is dedicated to providing the best available tools, training, and support for employees to maximize their productive efforts.

Third, the City remains steadfast in their path to smart transparency, which means more than providing access to all non-confidential City records and information to the general public.

Fourth, Union City continues the crucial work of improving its outreach to all communities in the City through a more diverse and multilingual staff, multi-lingual public messaging, and working with community leaders to craft culturally appropriate and relevant communications and engagement strategies and processes.

What independent retail and restaurants would you like to see in Downtown Fremont?

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

Downtown Fremont's first mixed use development, the State Street Project, will be breaking ground in 2016. It will include 157 multi-family residential units and approximately 21,000 square feet of ground floor retail and restaurant space directly along Capitol Avenue.

Plans are underway to identify independent retailers and restaurants that would be a good fit with the community. We want to hear from you! What independent retail and restaurants would you like to see in Downtown Fremont? Using Fremont Open City Hall, the City's online forum for civic engagement, the City is asking its residents what independent retail and restaurants they would like to see in the State Street Project.

The feedback on Fremont Open City Hall will be shared with a brokerage team directly working with TMG Partners and Sares Regis, the project development team. An interest list for potential restaurants and retail uses for these spaces is being formed. The goal is to ultimately create a unique and vibrant Downtown experience. To submit your suggestions, visit Fremont Open City Hall at: <http://tinyurl.com/obdd4sc>

Members Juried Show offers creative and imaginative artwork

This year's show promises to be an exhilarating exhibition of two- and three-dimensional art by 40 local artists. The 63 pieces chosen from 128 entries were judged on originality and quality by two well-known Bay Area experts.

Lisa Ellsworth, Creative Manager at Workshop Residence, has more than fifteen years' experience as a curator and designer of exhibitions, environments, and programs in museums. Ellsworth received a BA in Visual Arts from the University of California, San Diego, and prior to joining Workshop Residence was the curator at the Palo Alto Art Center.

Carolyn Lord, Signature Member of the California Art Club and National Watercolor Society, has exhibited and taught workshops throughout the United States. Watercolor has defined Lord's professional career while pursuing other aspects of art including oil painting, etching, poster designs, hand-painted ceramic tiles, designing and painting theater stage sets, and teaching art.

Both judges were impressed with the creativity and imagination reflected in the artwork presented for this year's show.

Recipients of Best of Show, 2nd Place, 3rd Place, and up to three Merit Awards will not be announced until the opening reception on October 23. A change this year from previous shows is the selection of these awards will be made by the two judges just prior to the opening reception, and a Peoples' Choice Award will be voted on by those attending the reception.

Also at the reception, an original watercolor by the late Ted Harpainter will be presented as a Silent Auction item. Harpainter passed away in 2011 and was a recognized Bay Area landscape architect and watercolor artist who in 1960 became the first Superintendent of Public Parks for the newly incorporated City of Fremont. The watercolor will be on display during the reception.

The public is invited to meet the artists and enjoy an evening of art, music provided by Flute Fantasia, and refreshments at the opening reception on Friday, October 23.

Artists exhibiting in this year's show include Vimal Advani, Judy Anglin, Ned Bagno, Nancy Benton, Scott Capen, David Casterson, Michele Lin Chung, Norma Coe, Thom Cory, Jaci Daskarolis, Adriane Dedic, Carla Erickson-Moss, Irina Esikova, George Garbarino, Linda Garbarino, Dmitry Grudsky, Seema Gupta,

Carnival fundraiser supports art programs

SUBMITTED BY WINDA SHIMIZU

"It's Carnival Time for the Arts" promises to be a fun-filled evening with dining, entertainment, and live and silent auctions, while raising funds to sponsor the Hayward Arts Council (HAC) programs, such as the Hayward Unified School District's "Art IS Education" exhibit, and scholarship awards to students at Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB), Chabot College, and high school seniors in theater and visual arts.

Carnival, on Friday, November 13 at the Hayward City Hall Rotunda, supports HAC galleries and programs for visual and performing arts. With its scholarship awards HAC continues to recognize student achievement in all the arts. "Through continued support Hayward Arts Council has inspired me to find confidence in my work and pursue my goals of using art to spread information and awareness," said CSUEB art student Brett Dotson. Last May, Dotson received the HAC Visual Arts Award for the second year in a row, this time for his piece "Seven Seconds." "Hayward Arts Council has been so supportive of my interests and inspired me to follow my dreams," added Dotson.

Community support provides a variety of exhibits in Hayward's five galleries—Foothill Gallery, John O'Lague Galleria, Hayward Chamber of Commerce, Alameda County Law Library-Hayward Branch, and Hayward Area Senior Center.

There is still time to donate, volunteer, or contribute new ideas. E-mail HACmail@haywardarts.org, call (510)

The Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) women's swim team opened the 2015-16 Season on October 9th with several strong performances during a victory over Mills College.

The Pioneers were impressive in all areas against Mills, notching victories in all 14 events. The upperclassmen led the way, with junior Madison Hauanio and senior Rachel Shimizu shining in the season-opening meet.

Hauanio captured the 200 backstroke with a time of 2:05.59, an outstanding pace for an early-season swim. She also won the 200 butterfly, posting a time of 2:16.33. Hauanio, Makila Schuck, Cassidy Humphrey, and Alyssa Littlefield claimed victory in 400 medley relay in 4:03.01.

Hauanio also combined with Hannah Cutts, Annalena Assaiante, and Jacqueline Whitehead for a victory in the 400 freestyle relay with a time of 3:43.40. That foursome edged out teammates Vivy Hua, Kameron Isaacs, Kayleigh Davidson, and Shimizu, who finished in 3:44.12.

Shimizu was outstanding individually in the distance races, far out-pacing the field in both the 500 freestyle (5:13.80) and the 1,000 freestyle (10:44.15).

Humphrey captured the 200 freestyle in 1:58.83, and she finished second in the 100 freestyle to Littlefield, who touched the wall in 54.46. Hua took the sprint title with a 50 freestyle time of 25.34.

Freshman Miranda McDonnell captured victories in both the 100 backstroke (1:02.16) and the 100 butterfly (1:00.41). Schuck led a group of four Pioneers in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:09.32, while Claire Beaty claimed the 200 breaststroke in 2:30.32.

Lancers pass test from Trojans

Football

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

Tennyson Lancers started their contest with the Castro Valley Trojans on October 16th with an impressive show of offensive power. Lancers Quarterback Christian Silva was given time in the pocket to assess the situation and throw to open receivers. The ground game was solid as well finishing the first quarter with 12 unanswered points and another 13 in the second. First half score: 26-0.

However, the Castro Valley Trojans entered the second half as a new team and began finding holes in the Lancer defense, scoring 14 points in the fourth quarter. The Lancers responded with a big score, making the count 32-20 with little time left for a Trojan comeback. Lancer defenses held with key stops and a forced fumble that sealed the score at a 32-20 win.

California School for the Deaf Eagles (Fremont) dominated the California School for the Deaf Riverside Cubs on October 17th. The Eagles put on an impressive performance from start to finish as they scored on their first possession and never looked back. The offensive line dominated, giving plenty of time for scoring opportunities and Eagle defense matched their offense control. By half-time, the Eagles had run up 31 points. The Cubs made adjustments in the second half, but to no avail as the final score of 65-0 was indicative of Eagle mastery of the day. The only bright spot of the day for the Cubs was a blocked an extra point attempt after the first Eagle score. The day just belonged to the Eagles.

Sergeant goes above and beyond to help

SUBMITTED BY LT. ROBERT MCMANUS, SAN LEANDRO PD

On September 8th, a 10-year old boy was struck by a SUV while crossing in a crosswalk on his way to school. The boy, who suffered major injuries, remains hospitalized at Children's Hospital in Oakland.

At 7:50 am, the boy, who police will only identify as a 3rd grade student at Washington Elementary School was riding his bicycle to school for the first time. He was wearing his helmet as he walked his bike across Dutton Ave. at Arbor Dr. in a marked crosswalk, just a few blocks from school, when he was struck by a Chevy Tahoe driving on Dutton Ave. towards Bancroft Ave. at an estimated 25-30 mph.

As witnesses stopped to tend to the boy, they discovered him unresponsive. They called 9-1-1 for help. The first officers on scene found people helping the boy, who shortly thereafter, regained consciousness and began to scream. Officers assisted paramedics in tending to the boy, who was transported by ambulance to Children's Hospital in Oakland.

Once police learned of the boy's identity from school administrators, they drove to his residence to inform his mother about the accident. However, before they arrived, the boy's mother arrived as the scene. Officer Tom Rogers, one of SLPD's School Resource Officers drove the mother to the hospital, so that she could be with her son.

The boy, who sustained several broken bones, including multiple fractures in his leg and ribs, also suffered a broken arm, broken collar bone and minor head trauma. His bicycle helmet saved him from severe head trauma. "We cannot stress enough the importance of wearing a bicycle helmet – and in this case, it proved to work as designed," stated Lt. Robert McManus. "We are relieved that doctors have reported that the boy will make a full recovery from this tragic accident," he said.

The driver of the Chevy is not yet being identified, as the investigation into the cause of the accident is continuing. He is described as a man in his 40s, who was driving the Chevy by himself, without a valid driver's license. Preliminarily, traffic investigators have concluded that the driver of the Chevy is at fault for the accident and that the boy in the crosswalk did everything right. After completing their investigation, police will determine whether or not criminal charges will be sought.

Sergeant Troy Young, was one of the officers who assisted the paramedics in tending to the boy. He knew that the boy's clothes had been cut off so that paramedics could provide proper medical care to the boy, so Sergeant Young, on his own, bought the boy a new outfit, and delivered it to him at Children's Hospital.

One of the boy's family members has since commended Sergeant Young and the other officers that were involved in yesterday's tragic accident and wrote the following comments about them (the boy's identity has been deleted from the following to protect his identity):

My nephew was hit by a car on his way to school yesterday 9/8/2015...apparently your Sgt Young, after hearing my nephew upset that his new clothes grandma got him had to be cut off, left the hospital and bought him an entire new outfit to replace the ruined one...I cannot tell you the depth of gratitude our family feels about this...it truly was above and beyond the call of duty...at a time when it seems you only hear about police brutality, it is heart-warming to know that there are good people such as Sgt. Young who obviously care...so I wish to say thank you Sgt Young for your generous spirit. My sister also mentioned Ofc. Albert, Ofc. Rogers and Ofc. Mendenhall and said all of the above were outstanding and helped make a parent's worst nightmare survivable...Thank you all for your care of both my nephew and my sister.

In this role, Ghiara will work alongside fellow members to review Fulbright Grant applications, helping to select recipients of 8,000 grants awarded per year to scholars, teachers, students, artists, professionals and scientists to carry out proposed projects, often involving immersion in cultural exchange to share and educate others.

"I am honored to be a part of a prestigious program with a global impact," said Ghiara. "After a rewarding experience as a Fulbright Scholar, I look forward to assisting in the peer review process. I hope my work will serve as an example to my students and colleagues at DeVry University and inspire them to take an active role in their ongoing academic pursuits."

Ghiara joins the ranks of a distinguished group that includes heads of state, CEOs, university presidents and Nobel Prize recipients. Ghiara was selected to serve as a reviewer in the following categories for the 2016-2017 year:

- Visual Arts in Doctoral Research - (Study of India, Study of the U.S.)
- Postdoctoral Research
- Academic and Professional Excellence Fellowship

"We are honored to call Professor Ghiara a DeVry University faculty member," said Pamela Daly, president of the San Francisco Bay metro of DeVry University.

Blue Ribbon Commission proposed to evaluate custody operations

SUBMITTED BY JANICE ROMBECK

Santa Clara County Supervisors Dave Cortese and Cindy Chavez, along with Sheriff Laurie Smith and Corrections Chief, Undersheriff John Hirokawa announced a set of recommendations to rapidly and meaningfully evaluate conditions at the County's custodial facilities.

"We are recommending that a Blue Ribbon Commission be formed immediately to do a top-to-bottom evaluation of our custody operations," said Dave Cortese, President of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors. "This commission will have a broad mandate to look at every aspect of our custody operations and we're asking them to swiftly conduct their work."

In addition to the Blue Ribbon Commission, Cortese, Chavez, Smith and Hirokawa's proposal also included recommendations to rapidly expand and improve the camera surveillance system in custodial facilities; establish an anonymous hotline for the public, inmates and staff to lodge complaints; and to provide an open invitation for volunteer clergy and inmate advocates to interact with inmates and staff.

A key recommendation includes requesting assistance from the U.S. Justice Department's National Institute of Corrections (NIC) in evaluating the policies, procedures and training at the County's custody facilities. Cortese, Smith and Hirokawa sent a joint letter to the NIC seeking a thorough review of existing practices to help identify strengths and weaknesses in the County's operations. The NIC assists correctional systems at the federal, state and local levels on policy and training matters.

The Santa Clara County Department of Correction consists of two jail facilities currently housing over 3,600 inmates, representing the 5th largest inmate population in California.

ARDENT ARCHIVIST

LILA BRINGHURST

As a youngster in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Paul Mular found some 8-millimeter (mm) films of Abbott & Costello at the local K-Mart and was soon hooked on old movies. In high school he started running film shows and networking with other film buffs. At the University of Pittsburgh he studied film appreciation and television production. After graduation he worked at KOFY-TV 20 as their film editor for almost 30 years.

Mular studied film stock to learn more about their make-up and history. His love of old movies grew into an encyclopedic knowledge of the movie industry and particularly, the films themselves. Hand him an old canister with an unidentified 35 mm reel of film and within minutes he can tell you the year the film was made, the name of the movie and the actors who starred in it.

He formed a local film appreciation group and they connected with The International Animated Film Association (Association Internationale du Film d'Animation) or ASIFA, a worldwide non-profit organization of animators and animation buffs founded in 1960 in Annecy, France.

"France has one of the largest repositories of old movies in the world," said Mular recently as he took a group of local Rotarians through the Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum. He then related a recent experience: "I was working here in the museum one day. We were closed but suddenly I heard a loud pounding on the door. I went to investigate. There stood an older couple who had seen our website and driven all the way from Arizona with an antique projector and old movie films inherited from their grandfather.

"When I went with them to their car I saw a carefully preserved projector that still had an old Nitrate film wound through it. I thought to myself, 'Flammable film traveling in a car from hot Arizona!' We brought everything inside and I got their information."

The museum sent the reels of Nitrate film to Lobster Films in France, a repository for flammable film. Soon they received safety film duplicates. None of the films stored at the Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum are flammable.

"As a volunteer Paul donated hundreds of hours to archiving the reels of film at the museum. We are so lucky to have him as our archivist," said Dorothy Bradley, president of the film museum. "He knows so much about films and is connected to other people in the field. His ASIFA group even meets here! He was starting to catalog our collection of about 4,000 reels of film. Then recently, someone donated a collection of 5,000 reels! I knew we needed help."

Bradley got the Washington Township Museum of Local History involved.

"We became aware of the collection when an anonymous donor gifted a $25,000 grant, with a provision that we must match the donation," said Gil Garza, president of the history museum. With the grant, they hired Paul Mular to catalog the films.

"Not all of our films are silent movies. Recently I worked on some independently produced cartoons," wrote Mular. "I did 14 films in five hours; they required little research as some were foreign produced with American titles. Then there are the TV distributors who often change titles and give no clue to the original title. These can each take a whole hour to identify, inspect and process."

One of Mular's goals is to identify and preserve archival quality films, which are as close to the original camera negatives as possible and likely one-of-a-kind. Recently he started working on a film that was titled 'The Magician.'

"By identifying the actors in the film and story content I was able to determine that it was actually 'The Last Performance'. The title section had been replaced on the film which featured a magician and that may have led to the mistitling of the print," wrote Mular. "This is a vintage 1949 print and it was mastered from a 1929 print made from the camera negatives. Therefore the image on the old print is very good and worthy of fixing up. By making the necessary repairs and spending four hours to give the film some TLC that it deserved, we now have what I declare an Archival Quality print."

After Mular's presentation, members of the Rotary Club of Mission San Jose toured the museum and crowded into the tiny space where the archivist works.

"This is pretty amazing," exclaimed Rotarian Brian Moos. "We have a world class film museum right here in Fremont. I hope people will donate to match the grant for the evaluation and cataloging of these historic films."

Unity Day Newark unites against Bullying

STACEY KENISON,
CITY OF NEWARK

Bullying can affect anyone. From the most outgoing to the most quiet, the best or worst athlete, the most intelligent to the one who needs a bit of help; it does not discriminate. We hear statements like "kids will be kids" and pass it off as if being cruel and insensitive is a childhood rite of passage. That could not be farther from the truth. Bullying is a very real and very serious problem. Bullying comes in many forms from physical and psychological abuse to cyber-bullying and can be based on many things including weight, race, disabilities, religion, and sexual orientation. It is a devastating form of abuse that can have damaging, long-term effects on our children.

Statistics set the scene of how common bullying is and how tragic its effects are on children. Over 3.2 million students report being victims of bullying each year (Dosomeing.org, 11 Facts About Bullying, 2014). According to SAVE, Suicide Awareness Voices for Education (2014), 1 in 65,000 children ages 10-14 commit suicide each year as a direct result of bullying.

The City of Newark Recreation and Community Services Department is taking a stand against bullying. On Wednesday, October 21, Newark will unite against bullying by hosting "Unity Day," first introduced by the non-profit organization, Pacer's National Bullying Prevention Center in 2011 (www.pacer.org/bullying). Communities and schools all over the country, and now the City of Newark, will wear orange and send a message of hope and unity to stop bullying. All City of Newark employees will wear orange wristbands showing we are united against bullying in our facilities, programs, and our community.

Newark City Manager, John Becker stated, "It is critical that the City of Newark take a proactive approach to the issue of bullying and foster an atmosphere for our youth that is safe and supportive. We want to stand up for kindness, acceptance, and inclusion in our community."

Newark's City Council mirrors Becker's sentiment as Mayor, Al Nagy issued a proclamation at the October 8 City Council Meeting naming Wednesday, October 21 as Unity Day in Newark. They too, will be wearing the orange wristbands. Recreation Coordinators Stacey Kenison and Nick Cuevas will be in classrooms on Unity Day leading anti-bullying talks to over 125 preschool aged children, promoting a message of kindness, friendship and standing up for others.

Sr. Recreation Supervisor, Karen Moraida, who oversees Childcare and Preschool programs in Newark states, "This program is a wonderful opportunity to raise awareness of bullying to young children. The earlier we can share the harmful effects of bullying the better prepared our children will be to handle its negative consequences."

Newark Police Department

will not only be sporting orange on Unity Day, but has volunteered to wear orange wristbands the whole month of October to raise bullying awareness. Firefighters of Alameda County Fire Department Stations 27, 28 and 29 in Newark will also be wearing orange wristbands in support of the day.

What can you do in Newark or in your community? Wear Orange on Unity Day, Wednesday, October 21 and invite your friends and co-workers to do the same. Come to the Silliman Family Aquatic Center in Newark to take the Anti-Bullying Pledge that says, "The end of bullying begins with me." The first 150 people who come to take the pledge will receive an orange wristband to show that you will not tolerate bullying and that you stand up for kindness, inclusion, and acceptance. Taking the anti-bullying pledge in the lobby is free. However, regular entry fees apply if using the center for recreational activities.

Take photos of you, your children, family, and friends wearing orange and email them to recreation@newark.org to share your support to stop bullying. Photos will be posted to the Silliman Activity & Family Aquatic Center Facebook page for Unity Day.

For questions about Unity Day contact Stacey Kenison, Recreation Coordinator for the City of Newark at (510) 578-4409 or visit pacer.org/bullying for more information and ideas about "Unity Day."

Fremont is Creating Devices that Promote a Greener and Healthier Planet

CHRISTINA BRIGGS, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT MANAGER

The following article was originally printed on July 31, 2015 in Silicon Valley Business Journal's Advertising Supplement on page 11—Redefining What it Means to be a Silicon Valley City ([www.thinksiliconvalley.com/business-journal)]

Clean Tech

To date, nearly 40 clean tech firms have put down roots in Fremont, including the likes of Solar City, Imergy, and Soraa. And, of course, Tesla.

As the anchor tenant in the Warm Springs Innovation District, the all-electric vehicle maker is manufacturing its famed Model S sedan, with the new Model X rolling off the line later this year.

And it's no accident that Fremont is home to this flurry of clean tech activity. The broad array of locally grown technologies represents what experts refer to as the entire smart grid value chain, including communications, semiconductor, solar, LED, energy storage and electric vehicles—all of which have their roots in the semiconductor industry.

Biomedical

From imaging catheters to patches that deliver therapeutic treatment through the skin to anti-gravity treadmills, Fremont's 80+ biotech and medical device companies are researching, developing and manufacturing products that improve our lives.

But we are keenly aware of the specific business challenges that can threaten success – whether it's the shortage of experienced technicians or regulatory issues. Fremont is actively engaged with regional partners to support and grow this critical industry.

For example, Fremont's Ohlone College is one of four state Applied Biotechnology Centers focused on providing world-class training for a globally competitive biotech workforce.

The City of Fremont was also instrumental in securing a federal grant to build an East Bay Biomedical Manufacturing Network, a program designed to boost the region's strength in the biotech industry.

What's the Formula for Success?

- A wide range of available facilities for R&D and manufacturing
- Central Silicon Valley location drawing from the largest pool of educated, highly-skilled workers
- Growing clusters that foster interaction, collaboration and connections with local suppliers
- City expertise in facilitating expansion activities as companies scale
- Assistance with all City permits
- Coordination with local utility providers and other regional agencies
- Exemption of business taxes for clean tech and biotech manufacturers, recognizing their long lead time to market.

Hayward City Council

October 13, 2015

Consent:

- Council adopted ordinance amending Hayward Municipal Code Zoning Ordinance related to recycling facilities for redemption or donation of reusable materials to include regulations for unattended collection boxes; uses and activities definition related to unattended collection boxes; and public nuisances to reference new zoning regulations related to unattended collection boxes.
- Council approved resolution authorizing city manager to negotiate and execute a contract with Godbe Research, Inc. for the 2016 Community Input and Feedback Survey in an amount not to exceed $31,550.
- Council approved resolution to authorize city manager to negotiate and execute a Memorandum of Understanding between the City of Hayward and Tiburcio Vasquez Health Center for the operation of a Firehouse Clinic at the new Fire Station # 7.

Public Hearing:

State Model Water Efficient Landscape Ordinance revisions were presented by Alex Ameri, Director of Utilities and Environmental Services. Key revisions include: landscape area applicability thresholds reduced; dedicated irrigation meter requirements; limits potable irrigation water usage; landscape and irrigation design restrictions; professional submittal requirements; agency reporting requirements; prescriptive checklist allowance; and incentives for recycled, greywater and rainwater use.

A flawed cycle

Communities are defined by geography and political boundaries but, most important of all, people who interact with their surroundings. Although each component of a community has its own concerns and challenges, ultimately all key components strive to create a safe, healthy and comfortable environment. The cycle can be divided in many ways, but both public and private segments involve growth, safety, education, recreation and infrastructure. In order for these elements to operate and integrate smoothly, each needs to recognize and coordinate its activities with all other segments. If not, the process becomes dysfunctional and the community becomes dysfunctional as well.

Our cities are under tremendous pressure to build additional living spaces, especially affordable housing. In response, government and the building industry have surged to fill the demand with a variety of housing products. This is not unexpected; housing developments can be seen in planning and construction phases almost everywhere. Although sensible as an answer to growth demands, other components of the environmental cycle need to be integrated.

In the Fremont cycle of growth and community, housing and development have become disconnected with other components. For instance, pressure on school infrastructure is strained to the point of legal action between developers of the Patterson Ranch property and Fremont Unified School District. Student placement for hundreds of potential classroom seats is at stake. [see <http://www.fremont.k12.ca.us/cms/lib04/CA01000848/Centricity/Domain/1/Patterson%20Ranch%20Lawsuit.pdf> for a copy of the legal brief]

Other areas of contention have surfaced as well. Traffic and parking concerns now clash with the existing character of neighborhoods. Projects that fit a "strategically urban" city often appear to be out of synch with present circumstances, calling for a rapid and tumultuous transition to a future vision. In short, instead of a coordinated transition, leadership seems determined to forge a future without regard to present conditions.

While school boards operate separately to determine curriculum, student placement and facilities, they do not exist in a vacuum. Students do not magically appear; they are nurtured by families that live in neighborhoods and expect a safe, clean, environment from their city. City councils and planners should keep in mind that their activities impinge directly on all citizens including those with school age children. Development decisions are not separate from a community cycle and cannot be removed from council and planning considerations. When balance is impaired, the result is an unhappy and disruptive community that rebels; all parts of the cycle are affected.

Let's keep our balance throughout this cycle of growth and respect all parts of our community.

Union Sanitary District and Alameda County Water District repair sinkhole

SUBMITTED BY MICHELLE POWELL AND SHARENE GONZALES

Repairs to a sinkhole in Union City continued through the weekend, as crews from both the Alameda County Water District and the Union Sanitary District worked to repair damaged pipes and restore normal service to customers of both agencies. Repair crews hope to complete work by Tuesday, Oct. 20. Until then, westbound lanes on Alvarado Boulevard will remain closed between Fair Ranch Road and Fredi Street.

The sinkhole was reported on Wednesday, October 14, and crews from both agencies have been on site since then. As the work progresses and the extent of damage is more clearly understood, it is possible that the timeline may be adjusted.

The cause of the sinkhole is undetermined at this time. The focus of both utilities remains on completing repairs as quickly as possible and on reopening the roadway to traffic. ACWD was able to bypass the line early Thursday and restore water service to all 20 customers that were impacted. Permanent repairs have been completed and water quality sampling analysis is being conducted. Sewer service continues without disruption.

After excavating the site, ACWD crews determined that the water line had more extensive damage than previously believed. The additional damage has required further excavation and more time-consuming repair.

"What initially appeared to be 40 feet of damage now is about 53 feet," said Marty Koller, ACWD Board President. "That additional damage changed the equation for removal and repair pretty significantly. Fortunately, our crews were able to restore service to affected customers very quickly, and now a more permanent repair can be made."

Excavation is underway to reach USD's main, which is 33 inches in diameter and 20 feet below street level. USD's main is located below ACWD's facilities in the affected area, and repairs to the water main had to be completed before USD could conduct its repair work.

"We appreciate the collaboration between all agencies as all of us work to complete repairs and open the roadway to the public," said Jennifer Toy, USD Board President. "We all have the same priority – to get things back to normal for our customers as quickly and safely as possible."

Are you covered by any form of health insurance?

SUBMITTED BY
ASSEMBLYMEMBER
KANSEN CHU

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. While a lot of people are aware of breast cancer, many forget to take steps to make a plan to detect the disease in its early stages. Those who have healthcare insurance may already have regular checkups, while for uninsured Californians, this may serve as a reminder of the importance of quality healthcare for your well-being. If affordability is preventing you from getting insured, Covered California can help make quality healthcare available to you.

Covered California is a state-run marketplace where eligible Californians can compare and shop for a wide variety of health insurance plans. It is also a marketplace where eligible recipients can receive federally-funded financial assistance to help pay their healthcare premiums. Those who opt out of health insurance may have to pay a penalty. If you are currently uninsured or will be uninsured at the beginning of 2016, I encourage you to sign up for Covered California. The Open Enrollment period of Covered California begins next month on November 1 and runs through January 31, 2016.

If you are interested in applying for health insurance through Covered California, you can complete the simple application process online at <http://www.coveredca.com/apply/>. You may also find a Certified Enrollment Counselor or Certified Insurance Agent on the Covered California website for help with the application process.

In terms of health coverage for children, the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) can be a viable option for families with incomes too high to qualify for Medi-Cal. Doctor's visits, immunizations, prescriptions, dental care, optic care, emergency services, and more are all included within the service, and may be offered for little to no cost.

Besides families and individuals, Covered California also provides aid to small businesses through the Small Business Health Options Program (SHOP). This program has several levels of coverage similar to those offered to families and individuals, and is designed for qualifying businesses to increase employee loyalty, tax advantages, and even productivity through easy and affordable healthcare.

If you have any questions regarding Covered California, or if I can be of any assistance, please feel free to contact my District Office at (408) 262-2501 or visit www.asm.ca.gov/chu.

Assemblymember Kansen Chu represents the 25th Assembly District, including Milpitas, Newark, Santa Clara, and portions of Fremont and San José.

Oriental Fruit Flies

found in Milpitas and San Jose

SUBMITTED BY
GWEN MITCHELL/ANNE CHANG

Another infestation of Oriental Fruit Fly was discovered in Milpitas and San Jose areas. Two flies were trapped in residential neighborhoods in the areas of Bliss Avenue in Milpitas, and Shadowvale Way, San Jose. The identification of these insects was confirmed by the California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA). According to State protocol, the trapping of two flies resulted in an emergency proclamation by the California Secretary of Agriculture authorizing immediate implementation of an eradication program.

The eradication program commenced on Saturday, Oct. 10 and involved the male attractant technique (MAT) using ground-based, spot applications of insecticide and pheromone lure. CDFA workers treated an area of approximately 14 square miles as part of this eradication effort. Each treatment takes three to five days to complete and will be repeated every two weeks for approximately eight weeks.

Oriental Fruit Fly is an exotic insect pest found throughout much of southern Asia. Distribution in the United States is restricted to the Hawaiian Islands. Oriental Fruit Fly is known to attack over 230 kinds of fruits and vegetables including citrus, stone fruits, apple, pear fruits, avocado and tomato. Female flies lay egg inside fruits and vegetables. Once maggots develop and feed on the pulp, the fruit will decay and fall to the ground. Infestations of Oriental Fruit Fly likely result from the introduction of contraband fruit.

Fremont 10th Greenest City in America by WalletHub

The City of Fremont was recently ranked the 10th greenest city in America! It's no secret that clean energy and other "green" practices – such as recycling and urban agriculture – benefit the environment and public health. Fremont is a semifinalist in the Georgetown University Energy Prize and working toward dramatically reducing energy consumption over the next two years. WalletHub conducted a study based on data from 100 U.S. cities and ranked them according to 13 different key metrics, ranging from greenhouse-gas emissions per capita to number of smart-energy policies and initiatives. For more information, visit www.fremont.gov/WalletHubGreenCity.

Home Sharing Offers Solutions

In an effort to create more affordable housing options for its residents, the City of Fremont reached out to HIP Housing, a San Mateo based nonprofit that runs one of the nation's largest Home Sharing programs and has been around for more than 40 years. As of August 1, 2015, the organization now serves those seeking housing that live or work in the City of Fremont and persons with a room to rent who live in Fremont, Newark and Union City.

The Home Sharing Program matches people who have spare bedrooms with those looking for a place to live. When matches are made, both parties sit down with one of the organization's experienced counselors to perform a "Living Together Agreement", wherein they outline the rules, details, musts, and deal-breakers for cohabitating. For more information about HIP Housing's Home Sharing Program, please contact HIP Housing Coordinator Laura Moya at 510-574-2173 or visit Fremont's Human Services Department at 3300 Capitol Ave., Building B in Fremont.

We Need Volunteers

Looking for a different kind of volunteer work? Interested in helping your community? Consider volunteering to help low- to moderate-income families and individuals file their income taxes for the 2016 tax season.

The Fremont Family Resource Center's (FRC) Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program is recruiting volunteers for the 2016 tax season. FRC VITA prepares income tax returns and e-files them for low- to moderate-income individuals and families at no cost. In many cases, tax refunds are their lifeline. Not only does the VITA Program provide tax preparation services, VITA volunteers also connect families to important services such as Cal-Fresh benefits, financial coaching, asset building programs, financial education workshops, and referrals to other valuable programs available at the FRC.

Participating in VITA means being an active part of rejuvenating your local economy. VITA volunteer hours are extremely flexible; we offer day and evening hours, weekdays, and Saturdays. VITA sites are available at multiple locations around Alameda County making it easy to get involved. Put your language skills to use; VITA is looking for bilingual Spanish, Farsi, Punjabi, and American Sign Language volunteers to serve as interpreters within our diverse and varied community. Build your resume. VITA volunteers learn valuable skills and work with a wide variety of organizations. In addition, studies show that volunteering increases important employable skill sets, including time management, teamwork, and professional job skills. There are many different volunteering opportunities, depending on your interests.

If interested in becoming a VITA volunteer, attend a VITA Volunteer Information Meeting on Wednesday, October 28 from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Pacific Conference Room at the Fremont Family Resource Center, 39155 Liberty Street – Building EFGH in Fremont.

Let's Go Solar Together

In celebration of October as Energy Awareness month, the City of Fremont invites residents to explore opportunities to purchase or lease solar panels for their homes and save on energy bills for years to come. East Bay SunShares, offered in partnership with the Vote Solar Initiative, provides local residents a discount of approximately 15 percent for the purchase or lease of rooftop solar systems. With pricing as low as $3.50/watt, now is a great time to consider solar. Residents can not only take advantage of discounted pricing, but there is also a federal tax credit to cover 30 percent of the installed system cost. This incentive is set to expire at the end of 2016. This innovative and exciting offering is time-sensitive, with the enrollment window coming to a close on October 31. Visit the East Bay SunShares website at www.mygroupenergy.com/east-baysunshares.

Robert Jay Inerbickler

Born April 18, 1952

Do you remember Bob? Maybe you went to Alviso, Patterson, Thornton, Washington, Chabot or Cal-State Hayward Schools. Was Bob your ice-cream man when you were a kid? Did you work with him at a technology company? Do you have a "scratchy" on your key-chain, his invention to scrape over lottery cards for a lucky win? You may have been a fellow actor in a play at Chabot College. Where you there when he played a bass guitar in a local band? Did you camp or hike with him in Yosemite and other out-of-the-way destinations? Bob was a genius with a quick wit and sense of gentleness. The simple life he lived amazed those who knew him well, because it is rare in our culture.

Bob passed away quietly and without fuss or drama. He was sweet and humble to the end.

He leaves behind his Mother, Teresa Inerbickler, sisters Jane Vegas, Carol Churma (Mike Senior) and Susan Aro-Schiller (Bruce); and, nieces and nephews, Joe (Miruna), Mark (Laura) and Anne Williams, Melissa and Michael Mastin, Sarah Vegas, Michael Churma III (Heather) and Lorrie McNaught (Sergio); and, grand-nieces and nephews, Boston, Sierra, Emily and Cheyenne Williams, Hunter and Cayden McNaught, and Attison Thornquist. Most importantly, he leaves behind his best and life-long friends Bill and Shar and their children.

A memorial service will be held at Chapel of the Chimes, 32992 Mission Blvd. in Hayward, California, on Sunday, October 25, at 1pm. No flowers please. Lend a hand, give a smile, speak kind words and contributions may be donated to your favorite charity in Bob's honor.

Prevent Diabetes

SUBMITTED BY JANICE ROMBECK

County officials, community-based organizations and community members at risk for diabetes recently gathered to launch the Together We Can Prevent Diabetes awareness campaign.

Together We Can Prevent Diabetes is a locally developed campaign designed to raise awareness among Santa Clara County (SCC) residents that preventing type 2 diabetes is not just possible, but is actually "in our hands" through healthy choices like eating more fruits and vegetables, and doing light to moderate physical activity, such as walking or yoga.

People can learn their risks for diabetes by taking a free online test at SCCPreventDiabetes.org. In addition to the risk test, the campaign website is designed to support at-risk community members and connect them with resources in Santa Clara County.

For more information, contact the Santa Clara County Public Health Department at (408) 792-5155, the Office of Supervisor Ken Yeager at (408) 299-5040 or the Office of Supervisor Dave Cortese at (408) 299-5030.

Getting dyslexia legislation signed into law

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLY HAWKINS

California Gov. Jerry Brown recently signed Assembly Bill 1369, which is aimed at helping dyslexic children in California public schools. This is the first time in more than 20 years that dyslexia legislation has been enacted in the state of California.

"One of the key problems facing public education today in California is the need for early and accurate identification, assessment and remediation of students with dyslexia," said Kathy Futterman, CSU East Bay (CSUEB) lecturer and supervisor for both the Department of Educational Psychology and the Department of Teacher Education.

Futterman is part of the leadership team for Decoding Dyslexia California, a grassroots organization that sponsored AB 1369, as one of several dyslexia experts and consultants. AB 1369 was introduced by Assemblyman Jim Frazier, D-Oakley.

Dyslexia, which is neurobiological in origin, specifically impairs a person's ability to read words accurately and fluently. Individuals with dyslexia typically read at levels significantly lower than their non-dyslexic counterparts. According to Decoding Dyslexia, the learning disorder impacts approximately 20 percent of the overall population.

The new laws will require California to update the state's Education Code for identifying dyslexic children and getting them access to special education services by adding "phonological processing" to the eligibility criterion.

Spooktacular Fun at Oakland Zoo

BY SARA GIUSTI

Lions, tigers, bears...and zombies, oh my! Oakland Zoo is ready to celebrate Halloween with their annual "Boo at the Zoo" weekend and a new overnight event, the "Family Sundown SPOOKfari." Both events will prove to be spooktacular for the whole family!

Located in the Oakland Hills' Knowland Park, the 100-acre Oakland Zoo is home to over 660 native and exotic animals. The zoo was founded by naturalist Henry Snow in 1922, and was originally located in downtown Oakland. In 1982, the Oakland Zoo became a nonprofit and began flourishing; a standout is the zoo's free-roaming elephant exhibit, one of the best in the nation.

Oakland Zoo hosts many educational programs and kids' activities, and their Halloween events will be both educational and fun for parents and kids alike.

The Family Sundown SPOOKfari is a night of Halloween camping fun and spooky delight. Guests will take a trick-or-treat night tour of the zoo, make and eat "Ghost S'mores," listen to scary stories by award-winning professional storyteller Michael Katz, and make Jack-o-Lantern snacks for the zoo's animals. These pumpkin treats, enriched with special nutrients for the animals, will be given to Oakland Zoo's residents in the morning, allowing participants to watch the animals enjoy their pumpkin treats up close.

Don't miss out on meeting creepy and crawly animals during the SPOOKfari. Bugs, spiders, millipedes, snakes, lizards, and possibly a ferret will be attending the campout and will be ready to meet those who dare to get close.

Guests are required to bring their own tents to the SPOOKfari, but won't have to pack much more than that: the campout includes a pizza and salad dinner and hot breakfast the next morning.

Boo at the Zoo, which has been happening for over fifteen years, is partnering with the Bay Area Science Festival (BASF) for the third year in a row to bring a full weekend of Halloween and science-themed entertainment. BASF is a celebration of all things science, engineering, and tech. Produced by UC San Francisco and other Bay Area scientific institutions including ThermoFisher Scientific, Genetech, and Agilent Technologies, the festival hosts activities, such as lectures, debates, exhibitions, concerts, and workshops throughout the Bay Area. BASF runs October 22 through November 7, and Oakland Zoo is excited to be a part of the fest's educational programs again.

During Boo at the Zoo, kids can take part in a scavenger hunt, interactive stations, face painting, animal encounters, and a "Wildlife Theater" presentation of scary animals. Get your ghoully groove on as well: instead of a parade like in previous years, there is a new "Monster Mash" dance party; participants will get to dance with the zoo's mascot, Roosevelt.

More activities will be found throughout the zoo, such as treat tables for guests to make snacks for the animals and science stations to learn about monster myths, and meet "Zoombie" animals. Guests will also get the chance to meet the Oakland Police Department and Fire Department, and check out a firetruck up close.

Trick-or-treat for yummy treats from Clif Bar, GoGo squeeZ, Ghirardelli, LARABAR, Jammy Sammy, Yowie, Jelly Belly, and Noosa Yogurt. Children (ages 2-14) in costume will receive a free ride ticket.

Boo at the Zoo is included in the zoo's regular admission price. For those that camp out during the SPOOKfari, Sunday's Boo at the Zoo is included with a SPOOKfari ticket.

Celebrate the best of Halloween with the Oakland Zoo this year – you won't want to miss such wild hocus pocus!

Fremont Police Log

SUBMITTED BY GENEVA
BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

Friday, October 9

At 10:36 p.m. officers investigated two residential burglaries occurred on the 5400 block of Quebec Common. Both burglaries appeared to happen within minutes of each other. Both residents stated they had only been gone from their residence for approximately 30-45 minutes. In both cases, the rear sliding door was broken. Both residences were ransacked. There was no video surveillance in the area and no witnesses.

Saturday, October 10

A resident on Ridgewood Drive returned home around midnight to find their home ransacked. Entry was made via an unlocked and slightly opened rear window. The loss reported was jewelry. This home coincidentally backs up to the home that was burglarized on Alberta Terrace. A neighborhood check was conducted, but no neighbors witnessed anything suspicious or had private video surveillance. Case was investigated by Ofc. L. Kennedy.

Sunday, October 11

An armed robbery occurred at Quik Stop on Farwell Drive. The suspect was described as a black male adult in his 40s, short hair, medium height, skinny and bald. The suspect was wearing a black hat with white lettering, a black long sleeve shirt, black pants and had a small handgun. The suspect was last seen northbound Farwell Drive from the store. Loss reported was cash.

A 76-year-old male with a medical condition was reported missing from the 3600 block of Mill Creek Road at approximately 9:35 p.m. The male was last seen on the property at 6:00 p.m. by his family. The property is 600 acres in size with an adjoining 200-acre property the family has access to and uses. A search of the property included search teams, a California Highway Patrol (CHP) aircraft, Fremont Fire vehicles and tracking dogs brought in by Alameda County Search and Rescue. At approximately 2:20 a.m., Ofc. Malcomson's team, which included an off leash area search dog, located the male who was disoriented and dehydrated. The male was rescued, received medical attention and reunited with family. Special thanks to Alameda County Search and Rescue, Fremont Fire and Retired Fremont Ofc. Williamson for their assistance. Scene managed by Sgt. Tarango.

Officers were dispatched to the area of Niles and Mission on a report of a fight involving 10 subjects. All subjects left prior to police arrival. Ofc. Hartman located an involved vehicle driving toward Washington Hospital. Investigation revealed that a group of intoxicated subjects were trying to start fights and instigated the situation. One of the subjects injured himself trying to jump on a vehicle. Case was investigated by Ofc. Hartman.

Monday, October 12

At 12:26 p.m., Ofc. Foster attempted a traffic stop in the area of Argonaut Way and Mowry Avenue, and the vehicle fled at a high rate of speed (no pursuit was initiated). Minutes later the vehicle was found unoccupied on Roanoke Way. The vehicle was unoccupied, but still running with no key in the ignition. Officers contacted the registered owner who stated the vehicle should have been parked at Fremont BART station and no one had permission to take it. Officers conducted an extensive search of the area, but the suspect was not located.

Tuesday, October 13

At 8:06 p.m., officers investigated an arson that occurred at the rear of a business on the 40800 block of Fremont Boulevard in Irvington. When officers arrived Fremont Fire was on scene extinguishing a fire that was burning ivy on a concrete wall and several large trees. The 19-year-old adult male suspect stuck around to speak with officers, and he was arrested on charges of maliciously setting fire to property.

Ofc. L. Kennedy took a residential burglary report on the 4500 block of Ariel Avenue. The burglary occurred at approximately 8:10 p.m. Unknown suspect(s) entered the residence by shattering the rear sliding glass door using an unknown object. The alarm system was activated and the suspect(s) pulled it out of the wall to silence the bell. They left through the front door, leaving it open. Loss reported was jewelry. One neighbor said he had witnessed three males loitering near a vehicle approximately an hour after the burglary, but there were no witnesses to the crime. Officers are following up to try and locate video surveillance in the area. This is similar to other recent burglaries that have occurred in Ardenwood over the last month.

Wednesday, October 14

At 12:09 a.m., Ofc. Roberts was dispatched to take a residential burglary report on the 4300 block of Calypso Terrace. Unknown suspect(s) entered the home by shattering the rear sliding glass door with an unknown object. The incident occurred between 10:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m. Losses reported were computers, tablets, gift cards and cash. Officers will conduct follow up on possible video surveillance in the area.

Fatal collision update

SUBMITTED BY
GENEVA BOSQUES,
FREMONT PD

Fremont Police Officers were dispatched to a major injury traffic collision on October 9, 2015, at 7:14 p.m. The collision occurred at the intersection of Fremont Blvd and Sundale Dr in the City of Fremont. The initial investigation revealed the following:

A 43 year old male driver was operating a bus and traveling southbound on Fremont Blvd. The driver was stopped for a red light at Sundale Dr. at which time a 77 year old female pedestrian was crossing Fremont Blvd in the north crosswalk at the intersection. The signal light turned green for southbound Fremont Blvd and the driver of the bus accelerated into the intersection, fatally striking the pedestrian.

Responding officers and emergency paramedic personnel found the female pedestrian in the roadway unresponsive and suffering from major life threatening injuries. Fremont Fire Department Paramedics pronounced the female deceased at 7:21 p.m.

The bus driver was located a short time later by officers and has been cooperating with the ongoing investigation. Alcohol and drugs are not believed to be a factor in this collision and the driver was released after speaking with investigating officers. There were no passengers on the bus at the time of the collision.

Anyone with information about the collision is asked to please contact Fremont Police Traffic Officer Lan Tran at LTran@fremont.gov or at (510) 790-6800.

Fremont receives Merit Award

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

The City of Fremont has received the 2015 Merit Award from the International Downtown Association (IDA) for its Downtown Fremont - On the Rise! Project. The IDA strives to inform, influence, and inspire downtown leaders and advocates, and serve as a guiding force for vital and livable urban centers. The Downtown project was among six qualified entries in the Planning category, which recognizes planning efforts that establish a strategic position for a downtown.

Transportation projects support carpooling and transit

SUBMITTED BY TESS LENGYEL

Three transportation projects funded by voter-approved measures will open in the next several months - all aimed at improving commutes in and through Alameda County by making roads more efficient. Opening first is the new Measure B- and Prop 1B-funded I-880 Southbound High Occupancy Vehicle Lane extending the existing carpool lane south three miles from Hegenberger Road in Oakland to Marina Boulevard in San Leandro.

The I-580 Express Lanes, opening in early 2016, will provide the first westbound carpool/express lane in the heavily congested Tri-Valley corridor between Livermore and Dublin, and add one new carpool/express lane in the eastbound direction. All I-580 Express Lane users are required to have a FasTrak toll tag to use the lanes, and carpoolers will need FasTrak Flex tag to use the lanes toll-free. It only takes two to carpool on the I-580!

These lanes will improve travel time reliability for corridor users and are complemented by the region's carpool-matching programs, which provide support, matching assistance and incentives for vanpooling and carpooling at www.rideshare.511.org.

A third project coming online shortly is the I-80 SMART Corridor Project, between the Carquinez and Bay Bridges. Integrating a network of electronic signs, ramp meters and other state-of-the-art elements, this project will enhance safety and improve travel time reliability in two of the top 10 most-congested locations in the San Francisco Bay Area. Transit and carpooling will be especially supported with carpool- and bus-only lanes on on-ramps throughout the corridor.

Carpooling is also made easier by Alameda County's Guaranteed Ride Home Program, which provides insurance for those who carpool or take transit - giving a free ride home in an emergency for those who have made the effort to avoid commuting alone in a car. Visit www.alamedactc.org to learn more.

If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property. NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE Note: Because the Beneficiary reserves the right to bid less than the total debt owed, it is possible that at the time of the sale the opening bid may be less than the total debt. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. ## Fremont's Safe Routes to School Initiative

From education to capital improvement projects to efforts with the Fremont Police Department, the City of Fremont is involved on all fronts.

Walk audits began three years ago with help from local school officials, parents, City staff, and consultants to determine the safest routes to school for students. The program also makes recommendations for crosswalk, sidewalk, and roadway improvements to encourage students to walk and bike to class in a safe environment. So far, the City has conducted walk audits at Niles Elementary School, Parkmont Elementary School, and Irvington High School, and aims to conduct at least 25 walk audits in the few years that will conform to Pedestrian Master Plan updates. It's clear that these walk audits are proving successful, as they have resulted in a recent Caltrans Active Transportation Program (ATP) grant application project proposal for Niles Elementary School improvements.

In terms of education, the City of Fremont has established a contract with Safe Mooves to conduct 32 traffic safety workshops, 16 school rodeos, and three community rodeos annually.

The City of Fremont has also collaborated with Transform, a nonprofit community organization to implement County Safe Routes to School Program funded by Alameda County Transportation Commission (ACTC) Measure B funds. Transform has worked with Fremont schools to encourage participation in a Bike to School Day, Walk to School Day event, and the recent walk audits.

The majority of the City's Capital Improvement Program (CIP) projects within the past five to six years that use the Transportation Development Act (TDA), Highway Safety Improvement Program (HSIP), Measure B, and Safe Routes to School (SR2S) grant funds are all considered safe routes to school related projects. These projects include the following:

- Emilia Lane Sidewalk Improvements – under construction, TDA, Measure B (Ardenwood Elementary)
- Frobisher Drive Sidewalk Improvements – under construction, Measure B (Cabrillo Elementary)
- Blacow/Grimmer Intersection Improvements – under construction, SR2S funds (Irvington High School)

- Fremont/Alder Intersection Improvements – completed 2015, HSIP (American High School)
- Fremont/Eggers Intersection Improvement – completed 2015, HSIP (Washington High School)
- Warren Avenue Sidewalk Improvements – completed 2013, Measure B (Leitch Elementary)
- Alder-Nicolet Sidewalk Improvements – completed 2013, TDA (American High School, Brookvale Elementary)
- Deep Creek Road Intersection Improvements – completed 2013, TDA, Measure B (Ardenwood Elementary)

THEATRE REVIEW

Delightful stay on the pond

By JULIE GRABOWSKI

Reading, strawberry picking, fishing, and listening to the call of the loons. These are the halcyon days of summer on Golden Pond. And then there's the fixation on death, the difficulties of age, and strained family ties.

Returning to their Maine summer home for the 48th year, retired English professor Norman and his wife Ethel are looking at life a little differently this time. While Ethel optimistically declares them to be "just on the far edge of middle age," the cantankerous Norman counters, "you're old and I'm ancient." Ethel embraces the delights of nature and news of their neighbors, but Norman only broods on his death and searches the paper for jobs, telling his wife he's "in the market for a last hurrah."

A letter from their daughter Chelsea arrives, announcing her intended visit for Norman's 80th birthday and the news that she'll be bringing new boyfriend Bill and his 13-year-old son, Billy. Their arrival stirs old conflicts as well as unexpected new connections. When Chelsea and Bill go to Europe and leave Billy with her parents, Norman experiences a renewal of life as he teaches Billy about fishing and literature.

Kai Aikawa directs a warm and tender production of Chanticleers Theatre's "On Golden Pond" with the sharp-edged subjects of age and death sanded down to a smooth and humorous observation of an aging life and relationship, and the small ordinary moments that make it sweet.

The term "star of the show" was invented for performances like Kip Wixson's. Armed with the best lines, Wixson is completely at home in Norman's skin, delivering sharp and easy humor with a natural hand that carries the show. While a prickly character, tenderness and honesty shine through and you can't help but love him. Wixson's contemplations of mantle diving into the fire like Ethel's doll Elmer as not a bad way to go is one of many great spots of the evening.

While Catherine Cecil Bucher is a little shaky at times, her Ethel is warm and inviting, and a compliment to Wixson. She embodies the good humor and grace needed for a wife dealing with a frustrating husband who has heart and memory problems.

Nitsa Dimitrakos (Chelsea) is a little too gentle and passive for a daughter who's been walking around with the open wound of believing herself to be a disappointment to her father (whom she calls Norman). The conflict that has always lived between the two is understated, played so lightly that it doesn't have much believability or impact.

Youth and age collide in a fun rapport between Zach Bell (Billy) and Wixson, whose development of a bond is a bright and heartwarming line of the story.

The set is a homey design created by Chris AdamsHart and Loren Hoselton, Taylor denBroeder, Georgia Lee, Floyd Wayne, Suzan Lorraine and Chris Ciabattini. The lovely backdrop of the lake and distant hills create an instant sense of place, and the comfortable furniture, games, books, and stone fireplace put you right in the lap of a cozy vacation.

Full of charm and humor, "On Golden Pond" is a wonderful close to Chanticleers' season, reminding us that though there be shadows, there is still plenty of light to live in.

Sunol's Old-Timey Hootenanny is back!

BY ROBBIE FINLEY

Saddle up, East Bay residents! It's time once again to throw on boots, big hats, and denim for the 3rd annual "Old-Timey Hootenanny," which returns to the Sunol Regional Wilderness on Saturday, October 24.

Taking to the main stage this year will be Dance Caller Andy Wilson joined by his band Haywire as they lead attendees in two square dancing sessions. Even those who have never square danced can join the excitement and learn at the event.

Famed Banjo-ologist Gordy Ohliger will take over in-between square dancing fun to give a fascinating presentation on the history of the banjo, along with a live musical demonstration. Ohliger uses vintage instruments in his performances, which feature popular banjo-centric tunes from the 19th and 20th centuries.

Since its inception, the Hootenanny has sought to expand and offer East Bay residents something new each year. "Last year, we had live animals," explained Rebekah Novak, the East Bay Regional Park District's senior office assistant, adding, "This year, it's going to be more music-centered."

Festivalgoers will be treated to a number of dynamic exhibits and activities at this year's Hootenanny, Novak said. Ever want to try your hand at making lemonade? There will be a stand where people can squeeze their own fresh lemonade. Other exhibits will encourage visitors to make cornhusk dolls, rope, and design their own multi-functional "brandana" headwear.

Hootenanny's Settler Games will feature a variety of games for younger attendees, such as tug-of-war, sack races, stilts, stick and hoop, and more. Awards for participation in the games will be presented on the main stage.

All the dancing and fun is sure to build up an appetite. Food trucks will be on hand offering a delicious assortment of snacks and barbecue dishes available for purchase, including vegetarian options.

Sunol has a long history deeply rooted in the farming and cowboy heritage. The site of the Hootenanny was farmland of the Geary family and their descendants who first settled in Sunol in 1865. Over time, the land changed hands and opened to the public in its current state in 1962. Sunol itself was named for Antonio Suñol, part owner of the historic Rancho Valle de San Jose land grant in the 19th century. With such an extensive history in ranching and farming, the park is a perfect fit for Hootenanny's festivities.

Rain or shine, the festivities will go on! For more information, please visit www.ebparcs.org.
