Amateur Radio enthusiasts gather for Field Day

SUBMITTED BY BILL ARTELT

Amateur Radio ("ham") operators across the country will leave the comfort of their home-based radio "shacks" for a weekend of public demonstration and emergency preparedness activity called "Field Day." The event is designed to test operators' skills in setting up and operating radio communication equipment in situations where electrical power is limited or unavailable. The idea is to simulate the conditions that can occur during man-made or natural disasters, such as a hurricane, earthquake, or flood. The event is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League (ARRL), the national association for Amateur Radio. The first Field Day took place in 1933.

During Field Day, operators set up radio transmitting and receiving equipment in local parks, at shopping malls, on hilltops and in backyards, and get on the Jyoti Kala Mandir (JKM) presents "Omkaar," a festival of Indian classical dance, on Sunday, June 26 at Ohlone College's Smith Center. Omkaar is an annual celebration that showcases the beauty and grace of different classical dance styles. Gurus and musicians from across the globe are invited to present their new compositions and choreographies through mature solo performances, as well as through their performing students and companies. This festival is not only an entertaining event but also an

Passieo do Vinho brings the Wine Country to you

BY JULIE GESIN

RUSSELL FOOTE PHOTOGRAPHY

This month, there is no need to drive 100 miles to enjoy wine tasting. Hayward's "Passieo do Vinho" offers an exciting opportunity to discover Hayward's historic downtown while enjoying wine from several wineries along with hors d'oeuvres, live entertainment, and the work of numerous artists and artisans.

Passieo do Vinho unites the community while sponsoring a different local non-profit each year. This year's proceeds will support the Hayward Area Historical Society, whose mission is to preserve and interpret Hayward's diverse heritage. This festive event fosters community pride and brings together public and private organizations, staff, volunteers, neighborhood groups, and elected officials with an ultimate goal of boosting Hayward's local economy.

Hayward's unique wine walk is not only limited to local restaurants. Starting from the City Hall Rotunda, this stroll presents an eclectic assortment of businesses including Vintage Alley Clothing, Ristorante di Palermo, Atomic Living, and many more. Fenestra Winery, Oak Ridge Winery, Rosenblum Cellars Winery, Heritage Oak Winery, Wood Family Vineyards, and Weibel Family Vineyards will be pouring their varietals, while wine distributors and shops will offer more tasting locations. Entertainment will feature Tablues, One Mile, Patron, Kalimba King Band and Joey T. & Friends, as well as creations by more than two-dozen artists.

This year's Passeio de Vinho will be bigger and better. For the first time, the route will be blocked from traffic to allow the guests access to the entire street and to give artisans an opportunity to set up their wares in dedicated locations. Because of the previous years' success, the walk will include two additional blocks, with more wine and

Reducing Food Waste—A ‘win’ for a healthier lifestyle and a healthier planet

Today, the U.S. faces major challenges to the health of our population and the health of our planet. For example, about half of all adults in the U.S. have one or more preventable, chronic diseases, such as obesity, heart disease or diabetes. Medical experts say a healthy lifestyle, including eating a variety of healthful foods with plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, can help prevent or slow down the progression of chronic disease.

And yet, every year in the U.S., we waste nearly one-third of the overall food supply, according to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Such a huge amount of wasted food has a major impact on food security and resource conservation. It is also the source of 18 percent of all environmentally harmful methane emissions coming from U.S. landfills.

A large percentage of the food waste stream in the U.S. is fruits and vegetables – just what we should be eating more of to prevent chronic disease. For example, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports more than one-third of all the vegetables and fruits purchased by Americans in 2010 were wasted.

This is the third in a series of articles on recent advances in U.S. efforts to take a more proactive, preventive approach to improving and protecting the health of our citizens and our environment. We'll also talk about what you can do at home, and how Washington Hospital works every day to support a healthier community and contribute to a cleaner, greener planet.

A triple win

“You can’t separate healthy eating from reducing waste and protecting the environment,” said Kimberlee Alvari, registered dietitian and director of Food and Nutrition Clinical Services at Washington Hospital. “Reducing wasted food is a triple win. It’s good for our health, our economy and our planet.”

Recently, the U.S. government announced a new initiative designed to increase the sustainability of our food stream and protect the environment by reducing food waste across the country. Sponsored by the EPA and USDA, it is the first-ever National Food Reduction Goal calling for a 50 percent decline in food waste by the year 2030. Reaching this goal will help conserve natural resources and protect our planet from climate change.

The EPA’s Net Zero Initiative works with local communities to evaluate ways of reducing the amount of food waste being sent to landfills. The program uses the EPA’s Food Recovery Hierarchy to guide and prioritize actions that divert food waste from landfills.

Manage Stress for a Healthier, Happier Life

You hear it all the time: “Just eliminate the stress in your life and you’ll feel much better and be much happier.”

Easier said than done! But stress can be managed and reduced and you will feel better as a result, says Dr. Victoria Leiphart, a Washington Hospital gynecologist and Lifestyle Medicine physician.

“Stress management is key to a healthy life,” Dr. Leiphart adds. “We all live crazy lives and we seldom take the downtime we need to recharge our batteries — an essential step to staying well over the long term.”

“You can learn to fit stress management into your daily life using successful techniques such as mindfulness and meditation,” Dr. Leiphart explains.

Dr. Leiphart will discuss stress management techniques at a June 23 seminar at the Washington Women’s Center conference room, 2500 Mowry Ave., suite 145, in Fremont. The program will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and the participation fee is $10.

The class size is limited to 25 persons; call (510) 608-1301 to register for the program, or for more information.

Lifestyle Medicine physician and gynecologist,Victoria Leiphart, MD, tells her patients that stress management is critical to a healthy life. The topic of stress management and techniques to help with stress will be covered at the June 23 Women Empowering Women seminar. The program takes place from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Washington Women’s Center conference room, 2500 Mowry Ave., suite 145, in Fremont. The fee is $10 for the session, which requires pre-registration by calling (510) 608-1301.

Titled Women Empowering Women, the seminar will include a 30-minute presentation by Dr. Leiphart, followed by a one-hour discussion with those attending the program. Dr. Leiphart will share successful strategies for meditation and mindfulness, and a brief discussion of the science that supports these practices.

Along with meditation and mindfulness, Dr. Leiphart recommends a variety of activities for stress management which can include prayer, knitting, yoga and/or spending time with women friends on a regular basis.

“I see many mature women in my practice,” Dr. Leiphart says. “What the ones who are energetic, vital and engaged have in common, is that they exercise, watch their weight and manage the stress in their lives.

“Our lives are filled with stress from having too many balls in the air: ageing parents, work, children, civic engagement, household responsibilities,” she adds. “Taking care of ourselves goes to the bottom of the “to-do” list, just after cleaning out the cat litter box.

“If women made themselves a higher priority on that list, if we took care of ourselves, we could manage everything else much more efficiently and with much less stress. Women are programmed to be caretakers of others in our lives, but not of ourselves.”

Women Empowering Women is held on the third Thursday of each month from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Washington Women’s Center. Future programs will focus on a range of subjects:

- July 21: Osteoporosis, including an informative discussion of treatment options
- August 18: Sleep
- September 15: Vitamins and Supplements
- October 20: Mindful Eating
- November 17: Brain Health, including cognitive exercises and health food
- December 15: Holiday Blues

Preservatives to Avoid

Dear Doctor,
How particular do I need to be about eating preservatives? They are present in so many foods and often impossible to avoid. Any suggestions?

Dear Reader,
Preservatives are added to foods to slow down decay. Some naturally occurring preservatives include citric acid (found in lemons and other citrus fruit) and bicarbonate (baking soda), both of which can offer the benefits of a preservative without the harmful effects other types may have. Many preservatives have been linked to behavior disorders in children as well as health issues like asthma and cancer. In fact, synthetic food preservatives such as nitrates, nitrites and nitrosamines are known to disturb stomach acid balance and can lead to cancer in the stomach and esophagus. Avoiding preservatives completely is difficult, but being aware of how much you consume may be a good way to keep it to a minimum.

Reducing Food Waste—A ‘win’ for a healthier lifestyle and a healthier planet healing and providing exceptional care,” explained Alvari. “And, as one of the largest businesses in this community and a health care leader, we follow our conscience in providing healthy, sustainable food to our patients, visitors and staff. At the same time, we consider how our actions are affecting the environment.”

The Hospital uses various strategies to procure the healthiest, tastiest produce from vendors at the best possible price. It develops relationships with local food sources, keeping tabs on all aspects of the supply chain from the farm to the plate. Using its own and the purchasing power of other collaborating Bay Area hospitals, Washington Hospital works with growers to create a supply chain that is sustainable and controls costs.

“We use technology to create a flexible menu plan that can be easily adjusted based on the season and other factors that influence the cost and availability of the foods we need,” Alvari added.

The Hospital also has a Green Team made up of employees from various departments. The group spearheads a wide range of projects that conserve resources, reduce waste, and encourage reuse and recycling in its own facility and throughout the community.

Washington Hospital is a member of the Med-Ed Collaborative of Healthcare Without Harm, an international coalition of hospitals and health care systems that promote the health of people and the environment. In recognition for its mission of sustainability, the Hospital recently won the Practice Greenhealth “Partner for Change” award for the fifth consecutive year.

What you can do

The EPA reports that in 2013, Americans disposed of more than 35 million tons of food waste, with about 95 percent ending up in landfills or combustion facilities. You and your family can do things at home to help support a greener, cleaner environment while also contributing to your own healthy lifestyle:

- Become more mindful of how your actions support or detract from a healthy lifestyle and a healthy environment.
- Before shopping, check the refrigerator and cupboards so you won't buy food you already have. Every week, make a list of what should be used up and base your upcoming meal plan on these items.
- To avoid having to throw out over-ripe fruit, store bananas, apples and tomatoes by themselves, as they give off natural gases that make other produce spoil faster. Store fruits and vegetables in different bins.
- Use your freezer! Freeze foods like bread, sliced fruit or meat that you know won't get eaten quickly.
- Participate in some of the environmentally friendly community programs offered by Washington Hospital: Unused Medication Drop-off, Bike to Work Day, Earth Day celebration, and more. See www.whhs.com/about/community/greenteam/ for information.

THEATRE

New radio plays coming to Chanticleers Theatre

SUBMITTED BY FLOYD WAYNE

The award-winning Four-Eyed Jacks Productions troop returns to Chanticleers Theatre June 24th through 26th to perform a pair of new audio dramas/radio plays before a live audience complete with live sound effects.

The shows are recorded live, then edited for the best performance and submitted by author/director Bill Chessman to various radio play venues. Three of the recordings produced at Chanticleers have been selected for inclusion in the Atlanta Fringe Festival and the HEAR Now Festival held in Kansas City, and broadcast on the radio over the last two years.

The plays being showcased are:
“People Just Disappear”

While research scientists work on a project to connect our universe to alternate universes, people start mysteriously disappearing.

“Hyperboles and the Naughty People”

Hyperboles, greatest hero of the ancient (or any other) world, travels to the land of Gymnasium, home of the fearsome Naughty People, to rescue the beautiful Princess Lavernicus.

The show runs Friday, June 24 and Saturday, June 25 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, June 26 at 6 p.m. Tickets are $10 and are available online at www.chanticleers.org or by calling (510) 733-5483.

air using generators, battery or solar power to run their equipment. This type of exercise, along with the operators' dedication to public service, allows them to step in and help emergency officials and relief organizations when disaster strikes. Cell phones, the Internet and other communications technologies have yet to replace what Amateur Radio operators can do. They have a long track record of getting the message through when all other systems fail! Children and youth are encouraged to attend with their parents or guardians to see this pastime in operation!

This year, the South Bay Amateur Radio Association (SBARA) will be holding its preparedness exercise at Central Park in Fremont on Saturday, June 25 and Sunday, June 26. SBARA will be using the newest capabilities for voice and digital communications as well as historical Morse code. We also plan on communicating with and through orbiting Amateur Radio Satellites including the International Space Station (ISS).

As of April 15, 2016 there are 737,135 Amateur Radio operators in the U.S., and more than 2.7 million around the world. Through the ARRL, ham volunteers provide emergency communications for the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Citizen Corps, Salvation Army, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and hundreds of state and local agencies, all for free.

To learn more about Amateur Radio, go to <http://www.WeDoThatRadio.org>. The public is most cordially invited to come to Field Day to meet and talk with the hams. See what modern Amateur Radio can do. SBARA can even help you get on the air!

Students earn recognition at DECA conference

SUBMITTED BY KEVIN MAO

Irvington DECA chapter members earned the organization's highest honors at DECA's annual International Career Development Conference (ICDC) in Nashville, Tennessee, April 23-26, 2016. Over 17,500 students and advisors from all around the world attended this conference, and nearly 13,000 students competed for international recognition.

Throughout the school year, Irvington DECA members trained and developed skills in business administration, finance, hospitality and tourism, marketing, and entrepreneurship through workshops, guest speakers, and experience in the business industry. Members then utilized these skills at the Northern California Career Development Conference (CDC) in January and California CDC conference in March. Top placers at the California CDC conference were invited to the ICDC, the ultimate conference of the school year. Thirty Irvington DECA members were given the opportunity to attend the conference this year, more than ever before in Irvington DECA's history.

ICDC is the highlight of the year for many DECA students. At the conference, students are offered the chance to develop leadership and entrepreneurship skills through networking with more than 60 widely recognized businesses and various leadership academies. Competing students vie for the prestigious title of international champion, pushing themselves to the best of their abilities. In competition, students are faced with scenarios applicable in the real business world. There are two main categories of competitive events: roleplays and written reports. Judges assess competitors for their expertise and proficiency in various business topics in these events.

Irvington DECA was supported by advisor Alberto Ballado and assistant advisor/leadership coach Greg Chi, as well as Irvington High School principal Sarah Smoot; and James Maxwell, director of secondary education at Fremont Unified School District.

Students who received recognition at the international level were:

- Jessica Lee: 1st place, Business Growth Plan
- Kevin Mao: 2nd place, Franchise Business Plan
- Michael Nguyen, Emily Pi, and Angelica Shao: 4th place, Business Services Operations Research
- Elisheba Dhillpe: 5th place, Business Services Marketing
- Tejas Harith and Vishaank Ghai: 6th place, Hospitality Services Team Decision Making
- Manya Bali: 8th place, Sports and Entertainment Promotion Plan
- Cathy Liu: 8th place, Automotive Services Marketing
- Reetam Ganguli and Rishik Lad: Finalists, Marketing Communications Team Decision Making
- Steven Li and Hamza Qadeer: Finalists, Business Services Operations Research

Apple makes Siri smarter, rolls out software improvements

BY BRANDON BAILEY
AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP), Apple kicked off its annual software developer conference with an artificial intelligence upgrade for Siri, its digital assistant, as well as new software features for other devices and an overhaul of its music service.

CEO Tim Cook opened the event with a moment of reflection for the Sunday mass shooting in Orlando, Florida. He called the shooting a "senseless, unconscionable act of terrorism and hate aimed at dividing and destroying," and noted that Apple makes a point of celebrating its diversity before asking the crowd to rise and take part in a moment of silence.

Making Siri Smarter

Artificial intelligence, personified by the wisecracking Siri, is starting to play a larger role in Apple's future plans.

On Monday, Apple announced that the voice-controlled assistant will work on Mac desktop and laptop computers, where it can locate files and perform other feats. Siri will also gain new capabilities with Apple TV, where it will let you launch live TV viewing with voice command and search YouTube and the iTunes store for videos.

Perhaps more important, Apple is letting Siri work with applications made by other companies. The change will open up new ways for Siri to help iPhone owners get things done more quickly.

Such AI features are emerging as a major new tech battleground, one where Apple is racing to catch up with other virtual assistants from Google and Amazon. Amazon's assistant, Alexa, is enjoying a surge in popularity, partly because it works well with a variety of other applications.

Getting To Know You

Experts say the changes could make Siri more useful to consumers and help Apple learn more about its users. But it could diminish use of Apple's homegrown apps, such as Apple Music or Maps. Now, users might ask Siri to open a competitor like Spotify.

With AI, "systems get much better the more they know about the user," said Alan Black, an expert in voice-enabled technology at Carnegie Mellon University.

Apple, however, has long been reluctant to pry too deeply into your personal information. And some experts say that has put it at a disadvantage compared to Google, which has compiled vast quantities of data – about both individual users and consumer trends – from its search engine, Gmail, maps and other well-liked online services.

Apple's AI improvements aren't restricted to Siri. An update to the iMessage app, for instance, will rely on machine learning to automatically suggest appropriate emoji to place alongside texts. It will also show graphics and thumbnails of the information contained in a web link and automatically play online videos when they're opened by a recipient.

New Coats of Paint

Apple, however, is eager to keep users engaged with its own apps and services, and announced several redesigns aimed at making them more useful and less complicated.

Its iMessage app, for instance, will let you change the size of the bubbles surrounding the text to help convey the feelings underlying the words. For instance, an expression of love might be displayed in a large bubble while a message of condolence might be shown in a very small bubble.

The feature is similar to an upcoming Google messaging app called Allo. Both are expected in a few months.

Apple Music, which now has 15 million paying subscribers, is getting a new interface that's intended to be simpler and that will make it easier to find music you store on your phone, and not just tunes you can stream from the internet.

The company also opened its once-maligned Maps app to developers, with the goal of enabling a range of easy-to-use features. Senior vice president Eddy Cue says the new app will let you find a restaurant, book a reservation, request a car from Uber or Lyft and pay for it using Apple Pay, all without leaving the Maps app.

Apple is also making it possible to subscribe to various publications like The Wall Street Journal and read the stories inside the News app. News alerts from your favorite outlets will also pop up on your device's lock screen.

What to Watch

Apple's watch, the company's first new product since Cook replaced co-founder Steve Jobs in 2011, is getting an upgrade in September that will bring fitness tracking to wheelchair-bound users. The retooled watch software will include an "SOS" feature that will automatically call for help in emergencies and the ability to share exercise activities with other people. It will also launch software apps faster than before.

Apple is making it easier to use its Apple TV set-top box as the new hub of a digital home. The new version of its tvOS system software will let you sign in once to access channels from several different TV network providers. It's also adding services like Dish's Sling TV and Fox Sports Go.

Pay As You Go

The company's digital payment system, Apple Pay, is coming to the web. The service already lets people pay in stores without opening a separate app, by holding their phone or watch near a reader.

Apple says users can now use their phone's fingerprint sensor to pay and check out when they are shopping online using a web browser. Google brought a similar feature to Android Pay last month. Apple says it will soon expand the service to Switzerland, France and Hong Kong. It's already available in the U.S., the U.K., China and a few other markets.

Symantec buying internet security firm Blue Coat

AP WIRE SERVICE

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP), Software security company Symantec Corp. said Monday it is acquiring internet security firm Blue Coat Inc. for $4.65 billion, bolstering its mobile and cloud security portfolio.

Blue Coat CEO Greg Clark will take over as CEO of Symantec after the deal is closed, which is expected in the third calendar quarter. Symantec announced in April that its CEO, Michael Brown, was stepping down as president and CEO amid falling revenue and trimmed forecasts.

Investors backing the deal included private equity firm Silver Lake, which said it would double the $500 million investment in convertible notes in Symantec it announced in February.

Private equity firm Bain Capital, which is the majority shareholder in Blue Coat, said it will invest $750 million in convertible notes. A Bain managing director will join the Symantec board.

The deal comes after Blue Coat, which is based in Sunnyvale, California, earlier this month filed for an initial public offering of stock.

Shares of Mountain View, California-based Symantec rose about 6 percent to $18.31 in afternoon trading, but are down almost 13 percent in 2016 and about 23 percent during the past year.

Duck brand Stuck at Prom

SUBMITTED BY ERICA TAN

A student from Fremont, Nina Chang, 18, has been selected as a top finalist in the "2016 Duck brand Stuck at Prom Scholarship Contest." Chang is among other top finalists, from across the country that created prom wear out of Duck Tape® and are now in the running as the contest's Top 5 single entrants. The Grand Prize single winner receives a $1,000 scholarship. Top couples awards are also determined.

Every year, a panel of judges carefully reviews and evaluates each submission for workmanship, originality, use of colors, accessories and use of Duck Tape®. Though narrowing the field of entries down to the top finalists is no doubt a difficult task, the intricate designs and artistry of each of the outfits set them apart from the rest and blew the judges away.

In order to win, students need as many votes as they can get. Voting is now open on stuckatprom.com through July 6. Winners will be announced July 13 on the website.

Microsoft touts smaller, faster Xbox One game consoles at E3

By DERRIK J. LANG
AP ENTERTAINMENT WRITER

LOS ANGELES (AP), – Xbox One is shrinking in size and growing in power.

Microsoft unveiled during its Monday media briefing at the Electronic Entertainment Expo a new, slimmer version of the video game console coming later this year and a more powerful one that's due in 2017.

The company says the white Xbox One S is 40 percent smaller than the original black Xbox One and will feature support for 4K high-definition video.

Other changes include moving the USB ports to the front of the console, adding a built-in infrared blaster and eliminating the port for the motion-detecting Kinect camera system.

Microsoft says the console will go on sale in August for $299 to $399 depending on the hard drive size.

The company also detailed Project Scorpio, a more powerful Xbox One that will feature 4K gaming and support for virtual reality. The new console will feature six teraflops of power.

"Our vision for the future of gaming is beyond generations," said Xbox head Phil Spencer. "When it ships next year, we believe it will be the most powerful console every built."

Spencer promised that all Xbox One games would work across the three systems: Xbox One, Xbox One S and Project Scorpio.

While they have comparable specs, Sony's PlayStation 4 is slightly more powerful than the current version of the Xbox One. Both companies released the systems in 2013.

Hayward Public Library kicks off Summer Reading Challenge

SUBMITTED BY MICHELLE NOGALES

Kids who don't read over the summer can lose up to two full grade levels of reading comprehension. This summer, the Hayward Public Library is helping local kids fight this "summer slide" with their Summer Reading Challenge (SRC).

Hayward area residents of all ages can sign up for the Summer Reading Challenge now. Called "Read for the Win," the SRC offers prizes and events to library users who sign up and log their time spent reading or summer events attended, or who post book reviews to the Summer Reading Challenge website.

The library's summer events and programs for all ages include storytimes, a live reptile event, a Nerf battle for teens, and numerous events for adults including a talk and live music show by the Bay Area Blues Society. The summer reading season will be capped off with a Family Fun Fest at the Weekes Branch Library; this will be a huge free event with a climbing wall, petting zoo, bounce houses, and more.

The Summer Reading Challenge is sponsored by the Friends of the Hayward Public Library. Bounce houses and activities at Family Fun Fest are provided by the Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (H.A.R.D.).

To participate in the Summer Reading Challenge, area residents can go to either the Main Library (835 C St.) or the Weekes Branch Library (27300 Patrick Ave.) or they can sign up online at: <http://hayward-ca.gov/public-library/kids-teens-families/SRC>

Troubled by someone's drinking?

SUBMITTED BY DISTRICT 17 AFG

Do you worry about how much someone drinks? Do you feel like a failure because you can't control the drinking? Do you think that if the drinker stopped drinking, your other problems would be solved? Do you feel angry, confused, or depressed most of the time? Do you believe that if they really loved you, they'd stop drinking?

If you answered "Yes" to any of the above questions, you are not alone. Come check out the Al-Anon/Alateen Family Group of Fremont-Union City-Newark (F.U.N.). Please join us at the "Day in Al-Anon" event on Saturday, July 9, in Fremont.

There will be workshops and panels throughout the day on such topics as "Intimacy (Into-Me-I-See)," "Hope for Parents," "Freedom from Your Childhood," "Detachment," "Living with Sobriety" and speakers from Alateen, Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon.

The suggested donation of $20 in advance (or $25 at the door) includes breakfast, lunch and snacks, but no one will be turned away.

Join us for a day of fellowship, recovery, workshops, food, fun, and raffle baskets! The doors open at 9 a.m. for registration and yoga. Workshops are from 10 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. with speakers from 2:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. close.

Old Glory comes to life at Acacia Creek

SUBMITTED BY PENNY VITTORIA

On June 14, three men in the uniforms of the Continental Army, worn during the American Revolution, shared their love of our country and its flag. They are Masons who served as commissioned Officers in the Armed Forces and are both residents at Acacia Creek Retirement Community in Union City.

They presented this program at the Masonic Homes to honor our flag and the evolution of our country through the different modifications of our flag. The program began with the two of them carrying in a large flag. The audience participated in giving the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by an explanation of the significance of folding the flag 13 times into a triangle – to represent the 13 original colonies.

While one soldier explained how and when each of the original 13 colonies came into the union, the other two soldiers assembled a replica of our flag. Carefully, they placed the alternating red and white stripes and the field of blue on which a star is placed, to represent each state. The significance of each color was explained, "Red stands for hardiness and courage, white symbolizes purity and innocence, blue stand for vigilance, perseverance and justice."

After the flag was assembled to its current configuration, a narration of the events involving modifications to the flag was presented, including Fort McHenry and the Star Spangle Banner, Custer's Last Stand and the U.S. Marine Corps at Tripoli. The presentation concluded with "A Toast to the Flag" written by the poet John Daily. Finally, accompanied by stirring music, a monologue entitled, "I am the flag of the United States of America," explained what the flag is, where it has been, and what it represents to all of us.

The presenters share this program with local schools and senior centers. For more information, contact Penny Vittoria at (510) 476-6379.

Learn about Milpitas on Historical Tour

SUBMITTED BY
HARRIETT MCGUIRE

The Milpitas Historical Society will be conducting its annual community tour for all who are interested in learning about the city's history on Saturday, June 25. The tour will begin at the Great Mall just inside Entrance 4 (Food Court) where the Society has an exhibit of historical items, which will be explained by a docent.

This year we will have a tour bus that will pick everyone up at the Mall at 10 a.m. and travel north on Main Street to the Milpitas Library. Here a docent will talk about various old buildings along Main Street, as well as give the background of the library and the DeVries house across the street. The bus will continue up to the Jose Alviso Adobe Park where a docent will talk about the history of the earliest rancho in Milpitas and the changes made over the years. From there the bus will continue down Piedmont Road to the Silva Apricot Ranch. This is the last working apricot ranch in Milpitas, where Kelly Silva and his family have cared for this vintage farm for almost 60 years.

The bus will then return to the Mall. The last location is Big Dog Vineyards, Milpitas's sole winery, for a bring-your-own picnic lunch and wine tasting ($10 for five samples). The bus will not be going up the hill, so everyone wishing to participate will need to drive to the last stop.

There will be a list of the tour stops available and a map if people prefer to drive themselves. There is no charge for the bus tour ride.

Congressional Award to local student

SUBMITTED BY CARMEN RUSSELL

U.S. Rep. Mike Honda (D-Silicon Valley, CA.) had the honor of awarding the Congressional Award Gold Medal to Fremont resident Meghan Leong on June 16. Awardees must complete more than 400 hours of voluntary public service which Leong accomplished by teaching cello and playing for retirement home residents. She also competed in ballroom dancing and planned a six-night trip to study the architecture and history of London, England.

"I had an amazing experience earning my Congressional Award Gold Medal, and learned that I can do anything I set my mind to," Leong, who just graduated high school, wrote to the awards committee.

Rep. Honda said Leong iconified what the Congressional Award is all about. "Meghan makes me proud to represent the 17th District," Honda said. "She represents the talent and drive of our youth and it was my privilege to meet her and award her the Congressional Award."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Where's the water?

The East Bay Regional Park District recently opened Vargas Plateau Regional Park after 22 years of planning. Thousands of dollars were spent in building parking lots, improving trails and ensuring trail easements exist. However, there is no clean drinking water for park visitors. Water for cattle that graze in the park is provided and horses stabled near the new staging area have water. But park visitors have to carry in water since EBRPD does not provide water for park visitors.

The lack of water at Vargas Plateau is not unique since Mission Peak Regional Preserve has a single potable water source located at the Stanford Avenue entrance. Cattle are provided with water at multiple troughs throughout the park yet the more than 250,000 annual visitors are told to carry in water. Recently, while hiking with 20 other Sierra Club members, we encountered a park ranger near the peak whose truck bed was equipped with a five gallon container of drinking water. A passerby asked the ranger for water, only to be told that this water was restricted to medical emergencies and/or dogs in distress. The park visitor persisted, and was reluctantly provided water. A moment later, two more visitors made the same request. The park ranger clearly understood the need for water existed but persisted in chastising the visitors over not carrying the recommended 4 bottles of water (2 liters or 8lbs of water) per person.

We are graced with magnificent open spaces with thousands of acres available for our pleasure. EBRPD goes to great lengths to ensure that cattle on over 70,000 acres have plenty of water. But unfortunately, EBRPD finds it difficult to provide clean drinking water for park visitors who pay taxes for these open spaces and contribute funds for park operations. Access to clean drinking water is not an amenity but a necessity.

Neither Vargas Plateau nor the Ohlone College entrance to Mission Peak Regional Preserve have water. The park district needs to understand that providing park visitors with clean drinking water is mandatory and should be provided at entrances and wherever toilets are installed. If water can be sourced for cattle then EBRPD should have no issue providing clean water for park visitors.

ChamberFest LIVE!

SUBMITTED BY
VICKILYN HUSSEY

The Music at the Mission Chamber Players concerts concluded a few weeks ago with the world premiere of Mark Fish's scores for film classics "The Champion" and "The Tramp," but there is one more special treat from Music at the Mission! The second annual "Student ChamberFest LIVE!" on June 25 officially ends the year with a lighthearted classical concert that's perfect for a young family or the young at heart.

Each year in early summer, gifted young musicians collaborate with their peers from around the San Francisco Bay Area in small chamber ensembles coached by Music at the Mission's faculty of professional and critically acclaimed musicians, led by Dr. Katherine Lee.

"It's exciting to be able to offer such a distinguished faculty," said Dr. Lee, ChamberFest Director, "Steve Huber, violin; Adelle Akiko Kearns, cello; Ron McKean, Baroque improvisation; with the addition this year of Mark Fish for theory and composition." Dr. Lee will mentor students on piano. Prior to auditioning for ChamberFest, students studied privately for approximately four to seven years.

This year's ChamberFest LIVE! 2016 artists are Crystal

Hsu, piano; Cleo Lin, piano; Enrica Waugh, piano; Severin Michael, cello; Sarah Aihara, violin; Trinity Lee, piano and violin; Kristen Fu, piano and cello; Fiona Huang, piano and cello; Tiffanie Huang, piano and cello; Peter Rosario, piano and violin; Richard Zhang, piano; Teddy Scholz, piano; Jeston Lu, piano; and Daniel Huang, piano.

They will be grouped into ensembles according to their level of playing and experience to create a delightful concert program with Mozart Piano Trio, K. 564; Blanc Piano Petit Trio, Op. 56 No.1; All About That Bass, arr. Steve Huber; Ravel's Pavane of the Sleeping Beauty from the Mother Goose Suite; Mozart's Rondo Sonata, K.19d; and Saint-Saëns Carnival of the Animals, arr. Lucien Garban for 4 Hands, 1 Piano.

ChamberFest LIVE! 2016 on Saturday, June 25 at Old Mission San Jose will begin at 7 p.m., followed by a complimentary reception. No tickets or reservations are required. All you need to do is show up and enjoy yourself!

Essanay’s Chicago director Thomas Ricketts made some literary adaptations early on, and two of those in this rediscovery are “Old Heidelberg” (1909) and “Annie Laurie” (1909). Other Essanay films in the collection include “A Maid of the Mountains” (1909) and “The Price of Fame” (1910), plus outtakes from the Charles Chaplin film “A Night Out” (1915).

Essanay wasn’t exclusively represented in this collection. Several films from Vitagraph as early as 1905 are included; there are also clips from the Selig, Biograph, American, Keystone and Edison studios, plus actuality footage from the 1890s and early 1900s. In all, it’s a treasure of silent film footage, all of it in good shape. Who knows what I’ll find in the 26 episodes I still need to track

One hundred years ago Gilbert M. “Broncho Billy” Anderson, the first cowboy movie star, was making westerns for the Chicago-based Essanay Film Manufacturing Company in Niles Canyon. From 1912 to 1916, films were shot in the studio (where the fire station is now located) as well as the streets of downtown, at a western film set that had been constructed in Iron Horse Lane and in the picturesque canyon. In those four short years, more than 350 one and two reels were made, and they were screened all around the world.

Niles, now part of the City of Fremont, still has the feel of that little town of 1,400 residents who were invaded by a small army of filmmakers. That era is celebrated by the Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum at the Edison Theater, built in 1913, the same year Essanay built their studio on the adjoining block. June 24 through 26, the Museum celebrates its long film history with the 19th annual “Broncho Billy Silent Film Festival.” We have several special film programs over the weekend and highlights include films made in Niles a century ago and previously thought to be lost films from the Chicago Essanay Studio, including Ben Turpin in “The Soul Kiss” (1908) and Francis X. Bushman’s earliest surviving screen appearance in 1911’s “Two Men and a Girl.”

I continue to be amazed by the reappearance of silent films thought long-lost, but I didn’t expect to find some Essanay films tucked away in our own museum collection that I’d considered lost for all time. Nor would I expect them to be safety prints of excellent quality. I came across them while making a word document of our Em Gee Film Library collection and noticing a film title in a compilation movie series called “Screen Souvenirs.” This particular film was listed as #22 in the series and the title of this clip was “The Soul Kiss.” I recognized it as an Essanay film I’d never seen. I identified Ben Turpin as a character watching a stage production of the famous play who gets inspired to kiss everyone he sees. On the same reel was a shot from another lost Essanay film, “The Havoc” (1915), with Bryant Washburn, Lewis Stone and Virginia Valli.

There were other Essanay films in our collection of 16 “Screen Souvenirs.” I found nine Essanay one-reeler cutdowns, six of which I had believed lost. They date from 1909 to 1911 and include Ethel Clayton’s earliest Essanay film, the only one surviving, called “Gratitude” (1909), later remade by Gilbert M. Anderson at down. In the meantime, Broncho Billy rides the trails in Niles Canyon once again at the Silent Film Festival!

Help a butterfly flutter by

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

The love for butterflies is universal. They have been depicted in stone reliefs from early Egypt, found in ancient Roman and Chinese paintings, woven into Aztec and Mayan mythology, and inspired one of the most famous operas, "Madame Butterfly." The late Mohammad Ali spoke one of the most famous contemporary quotes, "Float like a butterfly, sting like a bee." Butterflies' peaceful charms were appreciated, even by one of the world's toughest and boldest championship heavyweight boxers of all time.

Butterflies are insects that have six legs and four wings that are brightly colored from thousands of tiny scales. They, as well as moths, belong to the insect order Lepidoptera. They differ from moths in many ways. The most noticeable difference is that most butterflies are active in the day time and moths are nocturnal. This makes it extra rewarding when planting a garden to attract butterflies because you can literally see the results.

There are two reasons butterflies are attracted to a garden: one is as a food source for the adults, the other is a place to lay their eggs. An understanding of their life cycle is the key to choosing the right plants.

The vast majority of butterflies, including the 142 species found in the Bay Area, have a four stage life cycle. The first three stages of egg, larva (caterpillar), and pupa (chrysalis), require a host plant. Specific butterflies during the caterpillar stage can only eat certain plants, often-times only from the same family. Monarch caterpillars feed on plants from the milkweed family, making milkweed their host plant. Cabbage White caterpillars feed on plants from the mustard and cabbage families. California Sister caterpillars feed on canyon and coastal live oaks. Eggs are laid on host plants because the larvae cannot travel far. That is why the host plant is also the location of the pupa stage when a caterpillar will transform into a chrysalis and eventually into a butterfly.

A caterpillar is an eating machine. It can grow up to 27,000 times the size it was when it hatched. This can leave a host plant looking ravaged. It is important to plant more than just one. Female butterflies are more likely to find a cluster than a single plant. If aesthetics are important, host plants should be located in an area that is less visible. Host plants should also be located close to high nectar-bearing plants that are the primary food source for the fourth and final lifecycle stage, an adult butterfly.

A second category of plants that need to be added to a butterfly garden are plants with flowers high in nectar. Adult butterflies sip nectar as their primary food source from flowers with easy access. These are not the host plants that they ate in their former caterpillar lives. Butterflies are cold blooded and need to keep their temperature above 86 degrees in order to fly. Plant choices are best if they are native to California because they provide a familiar food source and tolerate the direct sunlight that butterflies love. Although to a butterfly, nectar is nectar; they don't care about the plants' origins.

Red, yellow, orange, pink, and purple are the best color flowers to have. Plants should also have flat clustering flower heads such as yarrow, short tubular flowers such as sticky monkey flower, or flat individual flowers such as Coreopsis. Taller shrubs, such as butterfly bush, are ideal to provide wind protection as well as a long bloom time.

Flat rock clusters placed in the sun will provide a spot to rest and stay warm. Butterflies drink water from puddles on the ground to hydrate and take in minerals. As it can be difficult to find a puddle in the middle of a dry California summer, place moistened coarse sand in a shallow pan and bury it at ground level in the garden amongst the nectar-bearing plants and keep the sand moist. A pesticide-free garden is the last component for a successful and rewarding butterfly garden.

To experience the joy and the potential of a butterfly garden, the Nectar Garden at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont (www.ebparks.org/parks/coyote_hills) has a wonderful array of butterfly-friendly plants, plenty of actual butterflies, and educational brochures. Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont (www.ebparks.org/parks/ardenwood) hosts thousands of monarch butterflies at the end of their long migration at their ancestral winter resting grounds. Both parks provide expert advice about choosing plants that are sold at regular plant sales from the East Bay Regional Park nurseries.

Butterflies have been admired throughout history and will continue to be cherished well into the future with our efforts to support them with butterfly gardens.

- ## Tri-City Stargazer JUNE 22 - JUNE 28, 2016
- For All Signs: Jupiter, our largest planet, will be in a favorable relationship to Pluto on June 26. The aspect is effective for about three weeks on either side of this date. It is symbolic of improvement in the economy and a more hopeful attitude in the public. The corporate world wins the prize, though most of us will not really be aware of how that occurs. It may represent a legislative agreement
- on the national budget, as well as forward motion on the appointment of a new Supreme Court Judge. Generally activity is beginning to resume after three months in a holding pattern.
- Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): You have a troubling relationship that needs some kind of a finale. You may have a skirmish now that causes you to decide you are done. However, it is just a bit soon to make an ultimate decision, and something inside you is aware of that. Give it about one more month. Things will improve in mid-July and your decision will be clearer.
- Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): The temperature of your relationship to a partner is a little coolish. You may want nothing to do with him/her right now. Don't nurse the anger. Your mind wants to wander in the world of fantasy, day-dreams, good books and music. It is not a great week for getting things done, but you will enjoy the journey.
- Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Think before you speak now. Words may drop out of your mouth that you could regret later. Listen carefully to the feelings behind the words that others are telling you. Perhaps your better self will speak wisdom you didn't know you had.
- Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): You continue to strug- gle with a conflict between what you feel and what you think. When we have this issue, we usually are unable to move forward in any significant way. Our minds see what is logical, rational and orderly. But our hearts are in the space of feelings, which have no rules. It is generally best to withhold judgment until a solution develops.
- Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): It's important that you be aware that your thinking is not as objective as you believe. Listen when others tell you their attitudes and opinions. You do not have to adopt them, but don't reject what they say out of hand. Try to think carefully before assuming you are the only one who knows the right answers.
- Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): You are experiencing an unusually creative period. Relationship(s) to lovers and children are upbeat and give you pleasure. You may be surprised when you hear yourself chatter like a magpie. Beware of an unusually strong impulse to spend now. If money is an issue, leave the credit cards at home.
- Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Events of this - week trigger your sense of compassion and draw you into the need to assist in the healing of another. As you live into this experience, you will discover that having compassion also heals you. Your spirit is lifted. Don't ignore the call.
- Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): There is some kind of relationship difficulty on your plate. You want to turn tail and run, but financial circumstances prevent your departure. Your ruling planet, Mars, will be clear of its retrograde motion in late June. Look for a way to turn a lemon to lemonade and rise above this situation for now. That makes it bearable for the present.
- Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You have been pummeled with challenging aspects for several weeks. An opportunity is coming any day now to increase your income via a work opportunity. It is possible that if you agree to do some small thing in good spirits, the work will become a project that grows to your benefit. If you are already employed, you likely will get approval for a job that has been pending.
- Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): In the larger scheme of things you have arrived at a point of accomplishment. You have communicated your philosophy in a way that the outlooks of others are changed. This is an important moment in time for you. It shows how useful your efforts have been. Give yourself a pat on the back and maybe a day off as a reward.
- Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Matters of health continue to vie for your attention. After July 3 your concerns will begin to ease, and you will recognize signs of improvement. Maintain an attitude of hope and expect a beneficial outcome. You certainly deserve it after all you have been through.
- Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): You are seen by others as a power for good. This week one or more will help you recognize that fact. The next couple of weeks are especially good for discussing important subjects with partners. You each are in a cooperative frame of mind and communications flow well. You can give and receive mutual help at this time and improve the overall energy in the relationship.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

In a recent newspaper article, Fremont Mayor Bill Harrison described Regan Nursery as an asset he'd like to see remain in town. "We would love to keep them in Fremont," he said.

Well then, MAKE IT HAPPEN! Mr Mayor..... YOU are the one who is supposed to be directing the City Manager, who works for you, and you Mr Mayor work for the people of Fremont who all seem to want less dense housing and to keep some semblance of the town we have grown up in. Keeping this business that has been around for close to 60 years should be an easy step.

Instead of building 40 town homes on a 3-acre piece of property, find a way that The City can "live" without that developer's revenue..... while building your massive City structures.... and do something FOR THE RESIDENTS. You, Mr Mayor, and some of your councilmembers keep "talking the talk" about an urban environment, but then you do not make decisions that allow for residents to do less driving. Your closing of business, or directing new business to the SW corner of our city limits make many drive to neighboring cities to spend our sales tax dollars.....

Check out posts online regarding Regan's Nursery. You will learn that people from all over the country order roses from Regan's. What better publicity for the City of Fremont could there be by having one of the BEST rose dealers in the U.S.A.

Mr Mayor, please direct your City Manager, and his Staff to find a reasonable place for this business. After spending many thousands of dollars to have PGA Design come up with "a plan" for the CA Nursery property in Niles, it is my understanding that you have no funds to go forward. Why is this not a "reasonable" site for Regan's, to continue to lease on a below market rate to preserve that property? The layout provided by PGA design for "retail space of 4 acres" in my opinion, was not the optimal space but it surely seems that since a nursery has operated there for at least the 30+ years I have lived in that area, Regan's could make something work.

Mayor Harrison, please do something for the current residents of Fremont, and the future residents of Fremont who may want to beautify whatever outdoor space they may have...

MSJE team wins Yes2Chess International Chess Challenge U.S.

SUBMITTED BY
HUI WANG AND JOE LONSDALE

On June 7, Fremont's Mission San Jose Elementary (MSJE) chess A team played one of New York City's strongest schools in the 2016 Yes2chess US Final.

Yes2Chess is an international chess competition for elementary school students, organized by the UK (United Kingdom) non-profit Organization Chess in School and Communities and sponsored by Barclay Cards. More than 30,000 kids from eight countries participated in this tournament last year and MSJE's chess team entered for the first time, emerging as International Champion after beating very strong teams from NYC in the U.S. Final and top teams from other countries in international final.

Now, these defending champions returned for Yes2Chess's 3rd season to once again fight for the title of international champion. This year, MSJE formed two teams, A and B. MSJE's B team consisted of Atul Thirumalai (5th grade rated 1543), Stephen He (4th grade rated 1572), Edwin Thomas (5th grade rated 1505), Jeffrey Liu (6th grade rated 1275), and Nivedha Maniv (4th grade girl rated 1066). They did great all the way and made it into the U.S. semi-finals, where they faced Columbia Grammar Preparatory School's A team, the 2014 Yes2Chess U.S. Champions, with a team average rating almost 300 points higher. MSJE -B team fought hard but could not overcome their huge rating deficit and lost the semifinal.

On the other hand, MSJE's A team had a near-perfect score only losing one game out of twenty five going into U.S. final. That meant that the two U.S. champions from the past two years would face off in 2016 Yes2Chess US Final! MSJE's A team consisted of board 1 Kevin Pan (4th grader rated 2011), board 2 Rishith Susarla (5th grader rated 1940), board 3 Annapoorni Meiyappan (5th grade girl rated 1774), board 4 Aghilan Nachiappan (3rd grade boy rated 1740), and board 5 Jaisuraj Kaleeswaran (6th grader rated 1601). The opposing team, however, was not to be underestimated; their board 1 is rated 2080, board 2, 3 and 4 are all within 100 points of ours.

Seven minutes into the match, Rishith won on board 2! His opponent fell to an opening trap! This is a typical lesson MSJE head coach Joe always teaches the kids to be careful about! Although MSJE team had taken an early lead, the other kids still had to control themselves and focus on their games. About forty minutes later, the extremely reliable board 5 Jaisuraj won another game. Jaisuraj is the newly crowned 2016 CA super state K6 champion! He is definitely the strongest board 5 in the entire tournament and he never fails to impress.

Next up came Annapoorni who drew a strong opponent on board 3 with forty seconds left on her clock. This guaranteed MSJE a tie in the match and left us a point away from victory. At that point Kevin was winning on board 1 but still needed to bring the game home. Aghilan on board 4 seemed to have a small advantage. Twenty minutes later, Kevin's advantage grew too large for his opponent to handle, and he resigned. MSJE successfully defended their U.S. championship. Aghilan drew his game; there was connection problem but the team already won hence a draw was enough! MSJE's A team won by a score of 4:1.

The kids are very happy with their performance. They are fired up and getting ready for the international final, which will happen on July 6. Can they defend their international title? Only time will tell.

The MSJE chess team coaches are: Head Coach Joe Lonsdale, Assistant Coach Hui Wang, Meiyappan Sathappan, and Chris Torres.

Reflections on Water

LEAKS - THE MYSTERIOUS WATER WASTER

SUBMITTED BY ALAMEDA COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

Have you ever noticed a pesky drip from the kitchen faucet, an unexplained pool of water in the garden or the subtle sound of water running from a toilet that is not in use? Those sights and sounds may be the sign of something considerably more than a minor annoyance.

Leaks in a home's plumbing system can lead to the waste of an astounding quantity of water - and to a water bill that reflects it.

While most leaks are relatively small, it is not uncommon in Alameda County Water District's (ACWD) service area for several homes each year to experience major leaks that result in the use of a shocking amount of water. It is not unheard of for an undetected leak in an irrigation system or even from a toilet with a stuck flap to account for tens of thousands - or even hundreds of thousands — of gallons of wasted water in a single billing period.

When this happens, the customers involved are left to contend with a water bill that can be staggering. And, because water districts must protect the interests of all their customers, there is a limited amount that can be done to give these customers relief from this sticker shock. As much as a water district may want to soften the blow for a customer who has experienced a serious leak, it isn't fair to ask other customers to bear the cost of the wasted water.

Even the more ordinary "minor" leaks, such as a dripping faucet, can waste up to 90 gallons of water per day. In a year's time, that totals more than 30,000 gallons of water — enough to wash 270 loads of laundry!

These simple leaks often are ignored, even though in most cases, only minimal effort is needed to make repairs. A leaky toilet may be caused by a worn toilet flapper - an inexpensive part that is easy to replace. A dripping faucet may need only a new washer and a broken sprinkler may need only a new head. Whatever the fix, leaks should not be ignored and prompt attention should be made to stop these elusive water wasters.

For some leaks, the first indication of a problem is a meter reading that reflects a sudden, unexplained spike in consumption. In nearly every case where usage spikes, a leak is the culprit. When our meter readers see a level of use that is far outside the norm, we notify the customer immediately, knocking on the door, leaving a door hanger or calling to alert them. Time is of the essence in dealing with a serious leak.

ACWD also tries to help customers before a leak gets out of control. For customers who suspect they may have a leak, we can start the sleuthing process so they or a licensed plumber can put things right.

For customers with homes built prior to 1994, ACWD offers free water-saver kits that contain a toilet flapper, leak detection dye tablets and low-flow devices: kitchen and bathroom aerators, and a showerhead. Newer homes are outfitted with low-flow devices, but leaks can still occur and owners of these homes still have to be on the lookout for "water bandits."

The Environmental Protection Agency also offers resources to learn more about finding and fixing leaks, calculating water savings, and buying tips for WaterSense labeled devices. To learn more, visit www3.epa.gov/watersense/our_water/fix_a_leak.html.

For more information on ACWD's water conservation program and rebate information, and to order water-saver kits or have your meter checked for a leak, visit www.acwd.org.

A PLACE TO HEAL

When it comes to short-stay, post-surgical rehabilitation, the right provider can make all the difference

When Nina's* doctor told her that both her hips would need to be replaced with just a few short months between surgeries, she was worried. "I live alone," she explains. "I had to find the right skilled nursing provider that could take care of me after each surgery."

Nina's surgeon recommended two local facilities – one in Palo Alto and Transitions at the Masonic Homes in Union City. At his suggestion, she visited both, and quickly chose Transitions for her first rehabilitation. "The skilled nursing facility has been recently renovated and it's a beautiful place to recover from any kind of surgery," she says. "First and foremost, it's a very clean place."

The focus, she explains, was centered on recovery. "All meals are prepared with advice from a dietitian so you can be sure that you are eating enough protein for faster recovery. All medications are given at specific times – you don't have to worry about remembering to take them. I had two excellent physical therapists helping me throughout my stay," she says. "And all employees of the Masonic Homes want to make sure that your stay is pleasant so that you recover faster."

When it was time for her second post-surgical stay, she chose to return to Transitions once again – and it's a decision she's extremely satisfied with. "From the administrator to social services manager, nurses, physical therapists, and maintenance workers, everybody works very hard for the facility to be as good as it is. Maintaining such a high level of service is difficult; however, in both instances the service and help provided was absolutely excellent."

SHORT-STAY REHAB: HOW TO CHOOSE

If you're planning for an upcoming orthopedic, cardiac, or neurological surgery, an important step is choosing where you'll recover. The goal of short-stay rehabilitation facilities is to help patients regain capacity in as little time as possible. Depending on the status of the patient, this can take anywhere from a few days to a month or more. Regardless of how long you'll stay though, the features offered by each facility matter. Be sure to visit the short-stay provider before your surgery if possible and ask about the following:

Quality of care

- Is the facility licensed by the state and country?
- Are Medicare ratings high? (medicare.gov/NHCompare)
- What is the staff-to-patient ratio?
- What credentials are required of staff?
- Are the types of therapy provided comprehensive for your needs?
- Is equipment current and in good working order?

Facilities and amenities

- Are the rooms clean and well maintained?
- Is the environment quiet and inviting?
- How much privacy does each patient have?
- What types of food are offered?
- Can visitors/caretakers find lodging and meals nearby?
- Are television, Wi-Fi, and private telephones available?

Word of mouth

- Ask friends, relatives, your doctor, and community members about the provider's reputation.
- Ask if the provider can share testimonials from former patients.

Remember: The purpose of short-stay rehab is to provide you with needed therapy and care so you can get back on your feet and back to your life as quickly as possible. Make sure you choose a provider that will make you feel respected, comfortable, and at ease.

Looking for a local provider? Transitions short-stay rehabilitation at the Masonic Homes in Union City offers accredited staff, comfortable rooms with hotel-style amenities, restaurant-style dining with table service, a low staff-to-patient ratio, and more. For further information, contact Navdeep Singh, skilled nursing facility administrator, at (510) 429-6487.

RECOGNIZING 56,000 HOURS OF SERVICE

The Masonic Homes hosted a special celebratory brunch to applaud the extraordinary efforts of Tri-City volunteers

On April 23, 2016, the Masonic Homes and Acacia Creek Retirement Community recognized more than 150 Tri-City community volunteers who donated more than 56,000 hours of their time to support campus residents throughout the past year. This special brunch featured enchanting, ocean-themed decorations, delicious food, and great company. The Masonic Homes and Acacia Creek are grateful for the efforts of these hardworking individuals and their gifts to our communities.

Want to get involved? If you are a Tri-City community member who would like to volunteer at the Masonic Homes, please contact Carlene Voss, volunteer and community resource program manager, at (510) 429-6469 for more information and an application. Individual and group opportunities are available for volunteers of all ages.

Limited Services for Development Services Center
Due to the installation of the new citywide financial management software, the City of Fremont’s Development Services Center, located at 39550 Liberty St., will have limited services available on Thursday, June 30 from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m. Services related to fee payment will not be available during this time, including submittal of applications, issuance of permits, and payment of outstanding balances. In addition, revenue counter services will not be available. Staff will still be available to assist with building, planning, zoning and engineering inquiries. Scheduling of building inspections will also be available.
The City apologizes for any inconvenience this service disruption may cause and plans for full services to be restored the following day, Friday, July 1, at 8 a.m. For more information contact the Development Services Center at (510) 494-4443.

Plan for the future of biking in Fremont
The City of Fremont wants to hear your thoughts on creating a bikeable Fremont. The City is preparing an update to the 2012 Fremont Bicycle Master Plan, which establishes the vision for a bikeable Fremont and serves as an implementation guide for the City. The Plan will analyze existing conditions for biking, recommend bicycle improvements, prioritize projects, and plan for funding and implementation. The updated Plan will focus on making Fremont a safe, comfortable, convenient and pleasant place to ride.
Please join us for the first of two workshops to discuss needs, opportunities and ideas for making Fremont a great place for people to bike. The workshop will take place at Fremont Main Library, located at 2400 Stevenson Blvd., from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on June 21 in the Fukaya A Room. Can’t make the workshop? Feel free to provide your comments online via our Bicycle Master Plan map at http://gis.fehrandpeers.com/FremontSurvey.

Niles Boulevard Bridge Construction Update Nighttime Construction Extended through August, New Friday Start Time
Work to replace the Niles Boulevard Bridge continues to progress. Weekend (night) work to install Cast-in-Drilled Hole (CIDH) piles began in late April and is nearly complete. Additional weekday and weekend (night) work will take place from early July to the end of August. The project is anticipated to be complete spring 2017.
Weekday and weekend (night) work to complete the new bridge support columns and install a protective shield over the BART and Union Pacific rail tracks is anticipated to begin July 1. No work is planned for the Fourth of July weekend. Night work will then continue each night from July 5 until the end of August. Weekday (night) work will take place from 11 p.m. – 7 a.m. (Monday – Friday). Weekend (night) work will begin Friday at 10:30 p.m. and end Saturday at 9 a.m., and then resume Saturday at 10:30 p.m. and end Sunday at 9 a.m. Once the protective shield is installed, work over the tracks can take place during the weekday (day) shift. Work activity will involve the use of noise-generating equipment each night as scheduled.

Weekend and weekday (night) work is necessary due to the support columns and protective shield being located over the BART and Union Pacific rail tracks. Changeable message boards near the project site (in each direction) notifying roadway users of upcoming night work dates and times are in place. Advance notice of future weekend, night and/or noisy activities will be provided to the local community as work is scheduled.
As with any major construction project, it is important to note that anticipated work dates and times are subject to change due to weather, unforeseen conditions, and/or the availability of on-site Union Pacific Railroad flaggers and BART safety monitors. Project information and construction updates are posted on the website at www.nilesblvdbridge.com. Community members are encouraged to sign up for regular updates on the website, by emailing nilsblvdbridge@fremont.gov, or by calling the project Construction Info Line at (510) 355-1502.

Weigh in on Movies to Show at Movies in the Park Series
Fremont’s annual Movies in the Park series is back for the 2016 summer season. This year the City’s Recreation Services Division wants the community’s input on which movies to feature for the July 22 and August 19 showings at the Central Park Performance Pavilion, as well as the September 23 Street Eats Date Night showing in Downtown. Visit www.Fremont.gov/OpenCityHallMovies now through July 1 to vote for your movie choices.
Volunteer for Weekend Docent Tours at Patterson House
Looking for a way to give back to your community? Do you like meeting people and dressing in costume? Consider volunteering at the Patterson House. The Patterson House at Ardenwood Historic Farm is recruiting new weekend staff and volunteers to join our community in offering house tours, gardening, helping out with events, cataloging our collections, and much more. For more information please call (510) 791-4196 or email azambrano@fremont.gov. To learn more about the Patterson House, visit www.Fremont.gov/PattersonHouse.

Students win at 2016 National History Day California

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

Several Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) high school and junior high school students earned recognition and awards at the 2016 National History Day California competition held May 6-7.
National History Day is a year-long educational program that encourages students to explore local, state, national, and world history. After selecting a historical topic that relates to an annual theme, students conduct extensive research by using libraries, archives, museums, and oral history interviews. They analyze and interpret their findings, draw conclusions about their topics’ significance in history, and create final projects that present their work.
Following the theme of ‘Exploration, Encounter, Exchange in History,’ students wrote papers, created websites and developed exhibits to investigate periods in history where individuals took risks to create change in the world. Two FUSD students were named ‘State Champions’ and will travel to College Park, Maryland, later this month to compete in the National Competition:
Senior Historical Paper
Vyoma Raman – American High School

There’s a full weekend of naturalist-led, kid-friendly activities coming up at the Environmental Education Center in Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley. It all starts with a “Trekking with Tots” excursion from 10:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, June 25. This is a short first nature hike for small children accompanied by their parents. Parents will learn some fun trail activities that will keep the youngsters interested in exploring the great outdoors.

Insects are the quarry of a safari from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 25 in a program for ages 6 and older. The group will turn over logs and use nets in ponds to catch (and release) some of the many insects that inhabit the Nature Area.

And there may still be space available in a tule basket-making program conducted by naturalist Anthony Fisher from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, June 26. The group will make berry-gathering baskets out of tule reeds and learn about the many uses to which Native Americans put the plant. The program is for ages 9 and up. Registration is required and there’s a fee of $5 per person ($7 for non-district residents). For registration and information, call 888-327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to program number 13098.

“The Butterfly Necessities” is the theme of a program from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 26 led by interpretive student aide Brianna Contaxis-Tucker. Caterpillars, butterflies and craft making are all on the agenda. From butterflies to dragonflies: in a program from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 26, Anthony Fisher will reveal the world of these beautiful airborne insect predators.

The center is located at the north end of Tilden’s Central Park Drive. For more information, call (510) 544-2233.

Elsewhere in the regional parks, seaweed is the subject of Family Nature Fun hour from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, June 25 and 26, at Crab Cove Visitor Center in Alameda. Learn about seaweed’s uses, then churn some ice cream. Crab Cove is at 1252 McKay Ave. off Alameda’s Central Avenue. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

Geology is the topic of Family Fun Hour from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 25 at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont. Cord-making and pine nut beads are the activities at the same time on Sunday, June 26. The Sunday program is for ages 5 and older; parent participation is required.

Also on Saturday, naturalist Kristina Parkison will lead a program from noon to 3 p.m. showing how to prepare wool and practice making yarn with drop spindles. The program is free for ages 10 and older, and registration is required. To register, call 888-327-2757, select option 2, and refer to program 13177.

Coyote Hills is at the end of Patterson Ranch road off Paseo Padre Parkway. The programs take place at the visitor center. For information, call (510) 544-3220.

Building a miniature solar oven will reveal the great orb’s power in a program from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, June 26 at Big Break Regional Shoreline in Oakley. The park is at 69 Big Break Rd. off Oakley’s Main Street. For information, call 888-327-2757, ext. 3050.

Tuesday Twilights are a series of naturalist-led walks to explore various regional parks. There’s a walk from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, June 28 at Las Trampas Regional Wilderness. Expect some steep hill climbing and beautiful evening scenery. Meet at the north end of Bollinger Canyon Road off Crow Canyon Road in San Ramon. For information, call (510) 544-3249.

Another occasional hiking series is the Wednesday Walks. There’s one from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Wednesday, June 29 at Dublin Hills Regional Park led by naturalist Susan Ramos. The objective is to complete one of the Trails Challenge hikes. It’s a moderate, 4-mile round trip on open grassland; bring a hat and water. Meet at the Donlon Point Staging Area on Dublin Road. For information, call (510) 544-3182.

Bontempo selected to umpire in Little League Region All-Star Tournament

Baseball

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY
MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

Little League Baseball's Western Region has selected Frank Bontempo to umpire at the 2016 Western Region Little League (Major Division) All-Star Tournament. The Tournament is held at the Western Region Headquarters in San Bernardino, California.

"This is a great honor, to be included with some of the best umpires in the Western Region", said Bontempo.

Frank started his adult umpiring career with Centerville National Little League, in Fremont, the same league he played in as a child and shared with his two sons, Nicholas and Mark. He coached and managed his son's teams from Tee-Ball through Majors and one season of Big League baseball, while serving as the League's Umpire-in-Chief for 10 years. Frank also served as the League's Information Officer and President.

In 2010, California District 14 Administrator, Reggie Torres, tapped Bontempo to join the District Staff as the Big League Coordinator, a position he still holds.

"There are so many people to thank. First, Reggie, for his continued support of the District 14 Umpire Program. Without that support, I wouldn't have had the opportunity to be involved with umpiring. I also have to thank my umpire mentor, Bruce Marcellus. His guidance, training, direction, and more importantly his friendship, put me in line to be the umpire I have become", continued Frank. "And thank you to all the umpires I have worked with over the last 15 years; especially my great friends, Bob Slyter and Rob McCarthy, with whom I have spent countless hours on the diamond".

In 2003, Bontempo joined the District Umpire Staff and soon after joined the District Umpire Instructor Staff. Along the way, Frank also attended the Western Region Weekend Mechanics Clinic and the Weeklong Adult Umpire School, each of them twice. Since 2012, Frank has also been a Western Region Umpire Instructor, instructing the Rules Clinic, Weekend Mechanics and the Adult Umpire Academy.

"You don't get to participate in these programs, or umpire, without the support of your family. I've been a volunteer umpire for 15 years and every step of the way, my wife, Katy, has been a very encouraging and supportive part of it. Along with Katy and our boys, my umpiring has really become a family experience. And I owe them the biggest thank you" Frank commented.

The Western Region Little League Tournament will be played from August 6 through August 13 in Al Houghton Stadium, in San Bernardino. From this Tournament, the Region will crown a Northwest Champion and West Champion. Each will head to Williamsport, Pennsylvania to play in the Little League World Series.

CA District 14 would like to congratulate Frank on his selection as an Umpire in the 2016 Little League Western Region Tournament!

CSUEB Swim earns Spring Scholar All-America Honors

SUBMITTED BY STEVE CONNOLLY

The Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) women's swim team has been named a College Swimming Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) Scholar All-America Team for winter and spring of 2015, as announced on June 15. The Pioneers have now captured Scholar All-America honors all six years under head coach Ben Loorz, who recently accepted the head coach position at UNLV.

East Bay is one of 388 colleges and universities across the nation to earn the award, which recognizes swim and dive teams that achieved at least a 3.0 grade point average for the 2016 spring semester. For institutions that use the quarter system like CUSEB, the award is based on grades from winter quarter.

The Pioneers accumulated a 3.14 GPA as a team this past winter, placing them among the top squads in the Region. CSUEB is one of just four Division II institutions in the West to claim Scholar All-America honors, joining UC San Diego, Fresno Pacific, and California Baptist.

Individually, six East Bay student-athletes earned Academic All-American Honorable Mention honors, which requires a 3.5 grade point average and an NCAA "B" cut in competition. Clarisse Aguilar (50 freestyle), Claire Beaty (100 and 200 breaststroke), Hannah Cutts (800 freestyle relay), Makila Schuck (100 breaststroke and 200 medley relay), and Rachel Shimizu (500 and 1650 freestyle) all earned the prestigious honor.

The Pioneers completed an impressive season in the pool in 2015-16, accumulating a 7-2 record in dual meets and taking runner-up at the Pacific Collegiate Swim Conference (PCSC) Championships. The team boasted 10 All-PCSC honorees and saw four school records fall over the course of the season.

CSUEB places 25 on CCAA Spring All-Academic Team

SUBMITTED BY STEVE CONNOLLY

Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) has placed 25 student-athletes on the 2016 California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) Spring All-Academic team, as announced on June 17 by the conference office. A total of 296 student-athletes representing the sports of baseball, softball, men's golf, and men's and women's track and field from the conference's 13 institutions captured the award for this season. 274 honorees were named in the Fall along with 61 in the Winter, bringing the 2015-16 total to 631 across the CCAA.

The Pioneers tallied the fifth-highest number of honorees among the 13 schools, trailing UC San Diego (42), Chico State (41), Cal State San Marcos (29), and Cal Poly Pomona (28). In order to qualify for All-Academic recognition, student-athletes must compete in a CCAA sport with sophomore academic standing or higher and maintain at least a 3.3 cumulative grade point average.

The Pioneer baseball team led the way with nine All-Academic award winners, which topped all other CCAA baseball squads. Softball and women's track and field boasted five honorees each, while men's golf and men's track and field each placed three on the All-Academic team.

2015-16 marks the second year in which the CCAA has awarded student-athletes with All-Academic awards for their performance during their respective playing seasons. In the spring of 2014-15, the Pioneers totaled 19 honorees. 2016 CCAA Spring All-Academic Honorees:

McCarthy selected To umpire Junior World Series

Baseball

MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

Rob McCarthy, the CA District 14 Umpire Coordinator, has been selected to umpire in the 2016 Junior World Series. The Series will be held in Taylor, MI, this August. Teams from around the world will be competing in this tournament. The winner of this tournament will be crowned as the 2016 Junior League World Champion of Little League Baseball.

McCarthy started his Little League career with Centerville National Little League (CNLL), managing in multiple divisions for 10 years. He also umpired in CNLL for those 10 years, serving as the Player Agent and President for CNLL.

Rob was asked to join the CA District 14 in 2010, serving as the Major Coordinator and took over as District 14 Umpire Coordinator in 2012, a postion he still holds. He umpired in the 9/10 Sectional and Divisional (State) Tournament in 2005, Major Sectional and Divisional Tournaments in 2008, the Junior Sectional, Divisional and Regional Tournaments in 2009, Major Section in 2015, Junior and Senior Sections in 2013, Big League Sectional in 2014 and the Junior Divisional (State) in 2015.

Congratulations to Rob McCarthy on this outstanding achievement.

Mission San Jose captures Intermediate TOC Championship

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The Mission San Jose Little League (MSJLL) Intermediate (50/70) squad won the 2016 CA District 14 Intermediate Tournament of Champions. MSJLL faced a team from Fremont American LL that kept on battling back but fell short 7-10. FALL had run by Warm Springs LL 15-1 in their opener to advance to the championship round. Mission San Jose drew the bye in the tournament so the matchup on June 13th with FALL was their first game.

Congratulations to Mission San Jose Little League

Sawamura selected to umpire regional tournament

Baseball

MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

Steve Sawamura has been selected to umpire in the 2016 Western Region Intermediate Tournament in Nogales Az. Teams from the 11 Western States will be sending teams to compete in the tournament; the winner will be invited to participate in the 2016 Intermediate World Series, in Pleasanton CA.

Sawamura started his Little League career in 2002, when his sons Scott and Brian started playing in Newark National Little League (NNLL). Steve coached Brian from Tee Ball through the Minors. Steve joined the NNLL Board of Directors in 2007 serving as the Vice President, President, Treasurer and Player Agent. He has also coached the Challenger team for NNLL since 2010.

His umpire career began in 2007 in NNLL. In 2009, Steve attended the Western Region Week-Long Umpires School in San Bernardino, CA. He also attended the CA District 14 Outreach Clinic in 2011. In 2008 Steve was asked to join the CA District 14 Umpires Staff, both as an umpire and instructor. Sawamura has umpired in various Sectional and Divisional (State) Tournament games from the 9/10s to the Big League level.

Congratulations to Steve Sawamura on his selection!

The East Bay Regional Park District (EBRPD) Police Department donated 35 bicycles on June 14 to an East Oakland non-profit that recently lost several dozen bikes to theft. The Park District bikes are former evidence from criminal cases or unclaimed property from the lost-and-found. The District ordinarily keeps such bikes in storage until they're auctioned, destroyed or in some cases, donated.

"Our job is to serve the community, and this is the least we can do," said Park District Police Officer Ryland Macfadyen. "This group was a victim of crime, and we really felt it was important to help them out any way we could, especially since they serve young people."

Cycles of Change is a non-profit organization that started in Oakland's San Antonio neighborhood in 1998, taking young people on after school bicycle adventures. The group also provides after-school Bike Clubs, as well as programs for youth and adults across the East Bay in bike repair, bike safety, and environmental projects like creek restoration and community gardening. Cycles of Change also has a community bike shop, called The Bikery, located in the San Antonio neighborhood, working to make biking more accessible, especially for low income communities of color.

On Jan. 7, 2016, a rented U-Haul parked in front of the group's headquarters was stolen. It contained 52 bicycles and 350 helmets intended to teach bike safety to Oakland middle- and high-school students as part of the Alameda County Safe Routes to Schools program. Macfadyen, who oversees evidence for the Park District police department, read about the theft in the newspaper and wanted to help. He contacted Cycles of Change and arranged the donation.

Anyone wishing to donate to Cycles of Change, or learn more about their programs, can visit www.cyclesofchange.org or call (510) 842-1006. The Bikery is located at 1246 23rd Ave, Oakland.

Q&A with Tony Huang, General Manager of Wellex Corporation

BY TONY HUANG,
GENERAL MANAGER,
WELLEX CORPORATION

City of Fremont: Wellex has called Fremont home for over 30 years. Can you talk about why this location works for your business?

Tony Huang: Fremont works for Wellex for two main reasons, one being its ideal location. Fremont connects various parts of the San Francisco Bay Area, and the fact that about 70 percent of our corporate customers are in Silicon Valley makes it very convenient for product deliveries and pickups, as well as local meetings. In addition, we are now sandwiched between Highways 680 and 880 and minutes away from the brand new Warm Springs BART station, not to mention AC Transit bus stops.

The second reason is the affordability of living in the city of Fremont as compared to other cities in the East Bay, South Bay and North Bay. About 20-30 percent of our staff are longtime employees who have lived close to the current Wellex location, as well as the original Grimmer location that we opened over 30 years ago.

Fremont: As a full-service electronics manufacturer, what is Wellex doing to stay competitive in a quickly changing industry?

TH: We're staying competitive by emphasizing top-notch customer service. The key to this is the incredible amount of flexibility for customers. The company takes pride in learning with customers and following the latest technology. Also, Wellex provides design for manufacturability and test feedback for customers' product development, which has proved to be of great value to clients. This helps customers eliminate any unexpected manufacturing issues after a product launches. Additionally, we provide an extension of manufacturing services, which includes warehousing and reverse logistics. Last, but not least, by embracing Six Sigma and LEAN, Wellex's continuous improvement program brings out cost competitiveness, which is the catalyst of the company's competitive advantage over other full-service manufacturers in the fast-paced electronics industry.

Fremont: How does Wellex assure high quality for customers?

TH: Wellex has always been a quality oriented company given its ISO certification and compliance with IPC610 quality standards. We ensure high quality to customers by developing a robust quality control plan for each product or project. This usually requires the optimization of the manufacturing processes followed by multiple inspections, tests and QA audits. Wellex also considers the tracking of quality data very critical to error prevention. The corporation's quality team analyzes and shares the data with the customer-focused team members weekly so everyone is fully aware of the quality level for each customer and product. Of course, all of this is a direct result of Wellex's consistent upgrades in technology process equipment and software, as well as the company's effective cross-training program.

Fremont: What technologies will be growth drivers for companies like Wellex in the next 2-5 years?

TH: While Wellex may not be able to compete with other larger ODM/CM competitors when it comes to technology that requires large capital and major resources, we can certainly focus on several specific areas in technology that are suitable for our size. An example would be green energy technology, which includes solar, LED, and power management. Other significant drivers of growth in the next 2-5 years include IoT (Internet of Thing) and Automotive Smart Car/Car Connected Solutions. This year, Wellex has started to work with IBM and Intel to promote IoT service support.

Fremont: Wellex is an important and long-standing part of Fremont's manufacturing ecosystem. What has remained the same, and what has changed?

TH: Throughout the company's history, Wellex has made many changes to improve people's skills, manufacturing technologies, quality, IT, and productivity given the nature of technology advancements. Wellex initially offered only PCB assembly service; now its services cover mechanical box build, system integration, logistics/reverse logistics, and off-shore manufacturing.

What has been set in stone since the beginning is the corporation's exemplary customer service and on-time delivery. Because Wellex has succeeded in sustaining these main corporate pillars, other members of the Fremont manufacturing ecosystem have benefitted — especially the various startup companies that have drawn on our assembly and manufacturing services to help grow their businesses.

OPINION

WILLIAM MARSHAK

A fact of life in our midst for over a century, rail traffic moves through our cities with impunity. Important cargo and passenger lines crisscross an increasingly dense population in the Greater Tri-City area. Except for concerns when at-grade crossings impede traffic or loud horns blow to warn of an intersection crossing, most of us have allowed these mammoth locomotives and rail cars to recede into the background of our consciousness.

Every so often an incident or concern rises to the surface and reminds all of us of this plethora of commerce in our midst. Disasters such as the Dunsmuir derailment, Amtrak derailment in Philadelphia, explosion in lac-Megantic and others seem far away, but this concern became personal and upfront when an Altamont Corridor Express

Hear that whistle blow

(ACE) train derailed in March of this year. The attitude of 'it only happens elsewhere' quickly evaporated.

A proposal to build a new refinery in San Luis Obispo resulting in increased rail transport of oil through our cities also created consternation among citizens. As each year passes, the population of our area grows and no longer is there much possibility of a rail accident in our area confined to farmland or vacant space. Increased passenger traffic on the rails can offset some commuter congestion, but at what cost? Arguments of improved safety and efficiency are persuasive but only if fully vetted by the public. In the case of ACE, the San Joaquin Regional Rail Commission is focused primarily on frequency of rail traffic, expansion of service to additional cities in the Central Valley and adding stations in places like Tracy. Once again, Fremont and its environs are stuck in the middle of a commuter-driven scenario. Commuter automobiles crowd our streets and now rail traffic will increase as well. The ACEforward program anticipates increasing ACE from four weekday commuter trains to six daily round-trips by 2019 and 10 by 2023. Hear those whistles blow!

Which mode of transportation is preferable? Our area is inundated with automobile traffic and rail lines can be a mass transit alternative. It is more a question of safety and routing through our communities. How will railroads share corridors and what factors will minimize the probability of disasters? What critical resources such as water supply are at risk if a rail disaster occurs? How prepared are our first responders for such emergencies? In order to reduce travel times, how will ACE realign its track use with Union Pacific Railroad? Arguments for increased ACE traffic are based on a series of persuasive statistics, but our communities have the right to know what safeguards are in place and how these changes will affect the quality of our lives.

Proposed Alameda County budget presented

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY

Alameda County Administrator Susan S. Muranishi has proposed a $2.8 billion County Budget for FY 2016-17 that would include modest funding increases to community service providers, allow the County to continue building its financial reserves, and expand resources for affordable housing while supporting a workforce of more than 9,600 employees.

Muranishi said the proposed spending plan is balanced and would close a $72.2 million funding gap without significant program reductions or staff layoffs. While this year's funding gap is smaller than those recorded during and just after the great recession – when shortfalls routinely topped $100 million – its size is daunting, given the relatively positive conditions in which growth in the national and local economies is providing some boost to County revenues. County officials said the challenge of keeping County finances in balance is not likely to ease in the coming years – with a growing wage gap keeping a large number of residents reliant on government services and numerous forecasts suggesting the economy could fall back into recession in the near future.

Rising real estate values have fueled a 7.1 percent increase in the County's assessment roll, resulting in much-needed general purpose revenues for the County.

They also are helping the County to fund increases to many of the Community Based Organizations (CBOs) that receive County General Fund support. As proposed, annual spending by the County will grow to about $500 million to nearly 250 CBOs providing health and human services, as well as housing, community development, and public safety programs.

But even with boosted property tax revenue, this year's $72.2 million funding gap suggests that Alameda County has a structural deficit in which State and federal funding combined with County's limited discretionary revenues will continue to fall short of rising costs.

In Alameda County, demand for food assistance, subsidized health care, cash aid and other support remains high, despite an unemployment rate that has fallen to 4.3 percent – about half what it was just a few years ago. This fact suggests that Alameda County is home to growing numbers of working poor whose wages are failing to keep up with accelerating costs.

Soaring housing costs are one of the biggest factors squeezing residents with low incomes. While cuts to federal housing programs mean less funding available for the County to meet community needs, the Board of Supervisors has continued to invest over $100 million annually in housing programs across various agencies and departments. In addition, the Board has committed

$5 million to $7.5 million per year of limited discretionary funding toward affordable housing programs across the County. The Board also is considering placing a Housing Bond on the November ballot that would raise hundreds of millions dollars more for affordable housing programs.

Alameda County Supervisors and department heads will use the coming weeks to study the proposed budget and will participate in budget hearings held by the Board of Supervisors June 22-24. The Board is scheduled to adopt the final Alameda County budget for 2016-17 on Tuesday, June 28. All sessions will be in the Board of Supervisors Chambers, located at 1221 Oak St., 5th Floor, in Oakland.

New California tobacco laws

SUBMITTED BY ALI BAY

As of June 9, the minimum age of sale for tobacco products in California increased from 18 to 21, and for the first time e-cigarettes are added to the existing definition of tobacco products. California is the second state in the nation, following Hawaii, to raise the minimum age for tobacco sales to 21.

“... This is the first time the Golden State has raised the age of sale for tobacco since the law first took effect 144 years ago,” said Dr. Karen Smith, California Department of Public Health (CDPH) director and state health officer. “Our focus is on reaching more than 34,000 retailers with tobacco licenses and vape shops to provide them the information and resources needed to comply with the new tobacco 21 law.”

About 34,000 Californians die each year from tobacco use. In addition, tobacco-related diseases cost Californians $18.1 billion each year in both direct and indirect healthcare costs due to premature death and low productivity due to illness.

As part of the new law defining e-cigarettes as tobacco products, e-cigarettes, e-liquids including vaping devices and accessories can no longer be sold in self-service displays. E-cigarettes are also not allowed in locations where smoking has long been prohibited, including public transit, worksites, restaurants, schools and playgrounds. Approximately 217,000 California youth between the ages of 12 and 17 currently smoke traditional cigarettes or e-cigarettes.

Many e-cigarettes contain nicotine, a highly addictive neurotoxin. Research shows that the brain continues to develop until age 25 and nicotine exposure before that age may cause permanent brain damage and fuel a lifelong battle with addiction.

For those struggling with nicotine addiction, resources are available at www.nobutts.org and Californians who want help quitting can call the California Smokers' Helpline at 1-800-NO BUTTS.

Measure I Senior Citizen Waiver

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

The Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) has posted information for seniors wishing to apply for waivers to the Measure I parcel tax approved by Fremont voters June 7.

Approved by more than a 2-to-1 margin, the local funding continuation measure renews the previous Measure K (approved by voters in 2010) at an adjusted annual rate of $73 per parcel, for nine years to provide additional resources to help local schools continue attracting and retaining highly-qualified teachers, including science teachers, for 21st century education, maintaining math, reading and writing programs and protecting student safety and security.

FUSD provides an opportunity for senior citizens to apply for a Senior Exemption Waiver to the Measure I Parcel Tax. Fremont residents, 65 years of age or older on June 30, who own and live in a single-family home may apply for this exemption.

Residents receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI), regardless of age, who own and occupy said parcel as their principal residence may also apply for an exemption.

These two applications are available to the public at the Fremont Main Library, the Fremont Senior Center and are posted on the Fremont Unified School District web site: www.fremont.k12.ca.us

The application(s) can be filled out online, printed and then submitted with the required supporting documentation.

The application is only for First-Time Applicants. Persons who are owners of parcels used solely for owner-occupied, single-family residential purposes and are currently exempted from the District's expired Measure K parcel tax, are automatically exempted from Measure I and do not have to file a new application. Deadline for all applications is Sunday, July 10.

In order to provide access for any eligible citizen to obtain a form for the Waiver Exemption from the Measure I Parcel Tax, and Application for SSI recipients, copies will be available at all locations listed above. Please call (510) 979-7709 with any questions.

Getting Married Soon? Give Social Security Your New Name

By MARIAELENA LEMUS,
SOCIAL SECURITY PUBLIC AFFAIRS SPECIALIST IN SAN JOSE

Every year, June marks the beginning of two busy seasons: summer and “wedding season.” With joyful expectation, many of us have already marked our calendars and started wrapping up our plans for the vacations, ceremonies and honeymoons. While the betrothed work out the details, Social Security wants to remind them about one detail that's extremely important: the record Social Security keeps of your life's earnings.

For many people, a wedding often means a name change is in order. If you are legally changing your name, you need to apply for a replacement Social Security card reflecting your new name. If you're working, also tell your employer. That way, Social Security can keep track of your earnings history as you go about living your wonderful new life.

If you have reported income under your former or maiden name and didn't inform us of a change, we might not have received an accurate W-2, and your earnings may have been recorded incorrectly. This is easier to fix now — when you first change your name — than years from now when you retire, when it may cause delays in receiving your benefits. This is important because we base your future benefits on your earnings record. So visit our website at www.socialsecurity.gov/ssnumber, or call us at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778), to find out what specific documents you need to change your name and apply for a replacement card.

Last year, the Supreme Court issued a decision in Obergefell v. Hodges, holding that same-sex couples have a constitutional right to marry regardless of where they live within the U.S. As a result, Social Security recognizes more same-sex couples as married for purposes of determining entitlement to Social Security benefits or eligibility for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments. We recently updated instructions for employees to process claims and appeals when a determination of marital status is necessary.

With these changing rules, we encourage anyone who believes they may be eligible for benefits to apply now. You can learn more about our policies for same-sex couples at www.ssa.gov/people/same-sex-couples.

After the honeymoon, you can focus on your career or starting a family, moving to a new home, and securing a well-deserved retirement. Now, you're all set. Let the celebrations begin!

State Senate approves landmark bill to restrict tobacco sales to cigar shops

SUBMITTED BY JEFF BARBOSA

Seeking to end the heavy marketing of tobacco industry products in stores frequented by minors, the California State Senate today passed SB 1400 by Senator Bob Wieckowski (D-Fremont) restricting tobacco sales to cigar shops. The bill now heads to the state Assembly.

“This is a huge step forward in protecting California's children because 90 percent of smokers start before they are age 18,” said Wieckowski, chair of the Senate Environmental Quality Committee. “By prohibiting the industry from targeting our state's children with its pervasive marketing in stores frequented by our youth, we will make it harder for Big Tobacco to get another generation hooked on its addictive and deadly products.”

Currently, retailers selling tobacco products must obtain a license from the state Board of Equalization. Retail locations currently include convenience stores, grocery stores, gas stations, drug stores, airports, hookah lounges and tobacco shops. Children under 18 are not allowed in tobacco shops unless accompanied by a parent and are therefore not exposed to the barrage of advertising. SB 1400 changes the definition for tobacco retail locations to mean a store that generates more than 60 percent of its gross revenues annually from the sale of tobacco products and paraphernalia. If approved, the bill would take effect January 1, 2019.

Senator Wieckowski represents the 10th District, which includes southern Alameda County and northeast Santa Clara County.

All about new BART seats

SUBMITTED BY MELISSA JORDAN

I was on a mission. Sit in the seats of the first new train car in the Fleet of the Future, and report back to a waiting public. Granted, Car #3001, now being put through its paces on a test track in Hayward, is just the first of hundreds of new cars to come. But the car, and more specifically its seating, is of immense interest to BART riders, who helped shape its passenger-facing elements through extensive outreach and input from tens of thousands of people. And I am pleased to tell you: The seats feel great.

“They're very nice seats,” said Bob McKenney, BART's senior tester at Hayward, who has driven BART trains for more than three decades. He is most focused on things like acceleration and braking, making sure the train operates safely and reliably. Still, he knows seats are of high interest to many riders.

McKenney pointed out the wider handholds on top of each seat (more spots to grab hold of), the smooth new seat coverings (easier to keep clean) and the firm but cushioned feel (decided upon after extensive seat lab testing).

It's a Goldilocks-like sweet spot that varies by personal preference, but the best way I could describe it to you is: Not hard plastic like a Muni seat. Not spongy like the old fabric BART seats; somewhere in between that felt for this rider, just right.

When all the new train cars arrive there will be more seats overall in the BART system. There are a few less per car than now due to increased safety standards and more standee room to serve a growing ridership, but BART has a plan to increase the fleet size from 669 currently to 1,081 and modernize the train control system to run trains more frequently. The net effect will be 49 percent more seats in the BART system.

In addition, there will be 50 percent more seats per car designated for seniors and people with disabilities. And there will be more prominent signs to point out the federal law that requires these seats to be made available.

McKenney and Hubert LaViolette, a 22-year-veteran train operator, signed up to be the first two train-operator testers of the new cars. LaViolette sat in one of the central-facing priority seating areas. “I think the customers will like them,” he said.

Just then — what a stroke of luck! — a class of train operators undergoing recertification training fanned out throughout the car. Like the general public, they were all heights, shapes and sizes, and they were a tough, but ultimately admiring, crowd. Recertification happens every two years and now, part of the training includes visiting the test track to tour the new cars.

Most had never seen the new train in person — even at one of the lab demonstrations — and had only seen renderings or images before that day. “Not bad, not bad,” one man said, taking a seat and giving a little bounce. “The colors are more bright and modern,” a woman said. “I like it.”

Seats are, certainly, not the most important element of the new trains, which have literally reams of specifications for each component, and which must go through multiple rounds of extremely rigorous testing to ensure their safety and reliability. Seats are, nonetheless, an inarguably critical feature for many customers, particularly those with longer commutes.

BART Chief Marketing Officer Aaron Weinstein said: “We were fortunate to have over 35,000 customers give us feedback during the design phase. That really helped us refine the seat details and make the new seats comfortable and easier to keep clean.”

The next new cars are expected to arrive at the test track by midsummer, with the first cars to complete testing expected to go into passenger service by the end of 2016. For more information, visit www.bart.gov/cars

Major improvements to begin on Iron Horse Trail

SUBMITTED BY CAROLYN JONES

The East Bay Regional Park District is pleased to announce that it will be performing pavement maintenance and improvements along a 16-mile reach of the Iron Horse Trail between Alamo and Dublin this summer. These improvements will be between the Rudgear Staging Area in Alamo and the Dublin/Pleasanton BART Station. While the work is underway, segments of the trail will be closed at various times between June and August of 2016. The majority of the closures are scheduled to take place between June 20 and July 28.

The improvements include resurfacing, the removal and replacement of damaged asphalt, crack sealing, leveling, micro surfacing, slurry sealing and seal coating.

The work on Contra Costa portions of the trail will be funded by Measure J, and the Alameda County segments will be financed through the Park District's general fund. Overall, the project will cost $341,000.

Please watch for closure postings and plan your use of the trail accordingly.

We appreciate your patience and understanding while these trail improvements are underway. At the conclusion of this project, the trail will be much smoother and more enjoyable to the thousands of pedestrians and bicyclists who depend on the Iron Horse Trail for recreation and exercise, or as a transportation corridor to get to and from work, school or other important destinations.

For specific information regarding trail closures, please contact the Contra Costa Trails Park Supervisor at (510) 544-3027.

Special art exhibitions opening at Sun Gallery

SUBMITTED BY SUN GALLERY

In what Sun Gallery Director Dorsi Diaz is calling a "triple-header" line up of shows, three important topics are converging at the Sun Gallery that are sure to stir many important conversations among viewers. Social and humanitarian issues like homelessness and wealth disparity will be high-

The official unveiling to the public will be at a reception on Friday, June 24. During the reception, Knight will also present a lecture and lead a discussion, and rumor has it that his band, Angry Tired Teachers, may also play after the artist's talk, but that's yet to be confirmed.

(DISCLAIMER: The Sun Gallery does not endorse any particular Presidential candidate nor does it affiliate itself with any lighted alongside another hot topic: how the Internet has shaped and changed communication and social interaction in our world.

In the first exhibit, which is a special four-day show, a controversial piece of art from local well-known artist Andrew Kong Knight will be featured. The special exhibit "Trump Revealed: The Social Commentary Art of Andrew Kong Knight" will be on display from June 23 to 26.

The anti-Donald Trump artwork, which has gone viral online, is generating local and national news and will be on public display for the first time in the SF Bay Area. The piece will be included with other social commentary art by Knight, who has a long history of creating work around important social and humanitarian issues.

"This artwork continues to resonate with people, from all around the world while stirring hateful responses in others. The Sun Gallery and I believe it's important for people in the SF Bay Area to get a chance to see the work, and hope that it will create dialog about the issues that we are currently facing in United States," says Knight.

particular political party. The gallery is only interested in giving voice to artists within the community, which can include important social topics and humanitarian issues.)

Meanwhile, in the new mini-gallery, a second show highlights art by the homeless in the East Bay. "Eclectic Images by the Homeless, Art Around the Bay, 2016" is an exhibition that takes the East Bay Area and its Regional Parks as subject, site, and center for creative ingenuity in the 2010s. Drawing upon homeless artist and their friends, this exhibition features original artwork and documentation by twelve artists who live and work in Hayward.

Case Manager David Rivera talks candidly about this profound yet poignant show: "What started out as a vehicle to enhance the talents of the homeless turned into a labor of love which expresses the artist's connection with the world around them through these beautiful photographs. The cameras used were good old 'work horses' that captured some of the visions of the Bay Area and some of its inhabitants. The use of camera phones was also instrumental in the close-ups exhibited. Working with limited equipment, erratic attendance (due to the struggles of being homeless) and limited funds, they were able to meet the challenges and succeeded. Hours spent creating these unique images were helpful in creating a bond between the students that attended the workshops and who participated in our community field trips."

"Eclectic Images by the Homeless" will run from June 23 through August 6 with an Artists' Reception on Sunday, June 26.

In the main gallery is "People, Pets and Places," a social media interactive show featuring the work of local artists' favorite places, their pets, and people that they interact with. This show sprang from several conversations in the Gallery about how communication has changed over the years and how the Internet has affected relationships and re-shaped our culture. Drawing on the idea that people tend to share their favorite things on social media, there is a wide array of art in the show: huge paintings of dogs, beautiful landscapes of East Bay hills, funny photos of family members, selfies and even glamour photography.

Local participating artists are Hollie Adamic, Jeanne Bertolina, Susan Ashley, Christopher Wong, Renea Turner, Paul Jameson, Gregory Duggan, Christine Bender, Nina Starr, Mark Niblack, Julie Barrett Bilyeu, Dorsi Diaz, Joanne Ricketts, Tatiana Secu, Jaime Niblack, Tino Banuelos, and Maureen Langenbach.

Setting the theme for the show and inspired by the topic, artist Peter Langenbach created a series of people in various scenes with clever wording on miniature little crafted street signs. One of Peter's works "Re-Connect," features a man and woman back to back with their heads looking downwards engrossed in their cell phones while a street sign above them says ""re-connect with life."

People, Pets and Places runs June 23 through August 6 with the Artists' Reception on Saturday, July 23.

During the month of July the Gallery will also be running several contests to engage viewers with the art, using social media like Facebook, Twitter, and Snapchat. Viewers that post pictures of themselves with their favorite piece of art in the show and post it to Facebook will be eligible to win prizes like a free week of Summer Art Camp (value $255 and can be transferred), a free Art Party Social for Adults (value $255) plus prizes like the Book Bonanza, a large gift basket full of children's books from local illustrators and authors (value over $200). Three free memberships to the Sun Gallery will also be given away.

All flags at Santa Clara County Government to remain at half-staff

SUBMITTED BY JANICE ROMBECK

Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors President Dave Cortese has asked that all flags at the Santa Clara County Government Center remain at half-staff until Tuesday, June 21, in honor of San Jose Police Officer Michael J. Katherman.

Officer Katherman was killed in a traffic accident on Tuesday, June 14, while on duty in North San Jose. He was hit by a vehicle as he was while pursuing a speeding car. Officer Katherman was an 11-year veteran of the SJPd, and leaves behind a wife and two children.

On Monday, June 13, flags were lowered to half-staff in honor of the lives lost in a mass shooting in Orlando, Florida, including the Rainbow Flag and the Transgender Flag representing the LBGTQ community. For more information, contact the Office of Supervisor Dave Cortese at (408) 299-5030.

Fremont Police Log

BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

Friday, June 10

A strong arm robbery was reported on the 38700 block of Lexington Street at 11:00 a.m. The suspect knocked down a female victim in the parking lot and stole her purse. The suspect entered the passenger door of a vehicle, which fled the area. No witnesses or video surveillance was located. Case was investigated by Ofc. Meredith. Suspect: black male adult, 6'0", wearing black hoodie and black pants. Vehicle: black four-door vehicle, possibly a Honda Accord.

Saturday, June 11

At 6:43 p.m., Ofc. Kerner and Field Training Officer (FTO) Stillitano were detailed to Safeway at Fremont Hub regarding a male who fled the store with a cart full of groceries. The suspect ran to a truck parked behind the store, where a female was waiting. While they were loading the groceries into the truck, responding units came on scene and detained the couple before they could leave. They recovered seafood, steaks and liquor, totaling more than $1,200. The male suspect was identified by store employees, and both suspects were arrested. The 49-year-old adult male (Oakland resident) was arrested for grand theft, conspiracy to commit a crime, and a probation violation. The 62-year-old adult female (Oakland resident) was arrested for conspiracy to commit a crime. Both were booked at Santa Rita.

At approximately 8:15 p.m., Ofc. Carter and FTO Foster were detailed to Niles Boulevard and I Street regarding a large group of males in a fight, with one being unconscious. Eight Fremont PD units responded and found the incident had occurred during the Niles Cruise Nights event. They observed a large crowd of approximately 1,000 people, which was much larger than the special event permit allowed. The victim was located and eventually transported to a regional trauma center for treatment of his injuries. The suspects fled and were not located. Fremont PD units patrolled the area for over an hour with no further incidents occurring.

Sunday, June 12

At 7:50 p.m., Ofc. N. Johnson was detailed to Perkins Street regarding a robbery that occurred at about 7:45 p.m. The suspect was described as a black male approximately 30-35 years old, 6'0" tall, and wearing a black hoodie. The suspect fled in a light-colored Honda. The suspect was not located in the area.

At 9:10 p.m., Ofc. Fuellenbach was detailed to the area of Chapel Way and Irvington Avenue regarding a fight. Upon contact, the victim advised he was robbed at knifepoint. The victim suffered a laceration during the robbery and was disoriented. The losses were a cell phone and wallet. The suspect was described as a black male adult with a large build, wearing a black shirt and blue jeans. The suspect fled on foot.

Monday, June 13

A battery occurred on the 1800 block of Mowry Avenue at approximately 7:15 a.m. A female victim was walking east on Mowry Avenue when a man walking in the opposite direction punched her several times. The female fell to the ground. The male then focused his attention on another female and chased her while making threats to kill her. The male walked away and officers located the 20-year-old adult male, San Leandro resident, near Mowry Avenue and Hastings Street. The male was arrested for battery and for making criminal threats. The male was booked at Fremont PD jail. Case was investigated by Ofc. Francisco.

Tuesday, June 14

At 9:47 a.m., Ofc. Dubowy and FTO Ehling investigated a disturbance near Mowry Avenue and Fremont Boulevard, and learned that a suspect used a chain to attack a victim, following an argument. The suspect was described as a white male in his 50s, 5'8", heavy set, wearing a white t-shirt and blue jeans. The suspect was gone by the time officers arrived and was not located.

At 10:56 p.m., Ofc. Dennis and FTO Ferrara were dispatched to a reported stabbing in the area of Richmond Avenue. The male victim sustained multiple stab wounds (non-life threatening injuries) from a known suspect. Officers located the suspect, later identified as a 26-year-old adult male, Newark resident, near Central Avenue/Farwell Drive riding a bicycle. The suspect fled from officers who gave chase. Officers took custody of the suspect in the middle of the street of Central Avenue and Centralmont Place. The male was arrested for attempt homicide. The victim was transported to a trauma center.

At 12:36 a.m., a victim interrupted a suspect trying to make entry to his vehicle. The suspect used an unknown tool to damage the driver side door lock mechanism. Estimated damage was $300. The suspect was described as a light-skinned male with no facial hair, 5'5", and 160 lbs., and was last seen wearing a gray hoodie with the hood up. There was an unknown driver inside the vehicle. The suspect vehicle was described as a black mid-2000s Dodge Charger.

Union City Police Log

SUBMITTED BY LT. MATIAS PARDO,
UNION CITY PD

Monday, June 6

A commercial burglary occurred on the 31000 block of Union City Boulevard around 3:15 a.m. The front glass door was smashed with a rock by the pictured suspect. The loss included clothing items.

Wednesday, June 8

At around 2:50 a.m., officers were dispatched to Marketplace shopping center (at the corner of Decoto and Alvarado-Niles roads) on a reported carjacking. The suspect, who was known to the victim, pulled her out of her vehicle and drove away in it. The vehicle was later recovered in Fremont, and the victim did not desire prosecution.

A residential burglary occurred on the 4400 block of Madrid Court between 5:00 a.m. and 5:30 a.m. A door to the detached garage was forced open, and a vehicle was stolen. The car keys were left inside the vehicle, with the doors unlocked. The vehicle was recovered in the area the following day.

A commercial burglary occurred on the 31000 block of Courthouse Drive between June 8, 2016 at 8:00 p.m. and June 9, 2016 at 8:30 a.m. A side glass door was smashed, but there was no loss.

Thursday, June 9

At around 7:40 p.m., Ofc. Cushman responded to an arson fire on the 33300 block of 8th Street. An unknown suspect set a portable bathroom on fire.

A residential burglary occurred on the 30600 block of Chimney Lane around 2:00 p.m. A window was smashed, and losses included electronics, jewelry and ammunition.

A commercial burglary occurred on the 2900 block of Faber Street between June 9, 2016 at 8:00 p.m. and June 10, 2016 at 7:00 a.m. A lock box was somehow removed from the door, and losses included equipment and tools.

Saturday, June 11

A residential burglary occurred on the 4300 block of Delores Drive between 10:50 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. A kitchen window was forced open, and losses included jewelry, a laptop and cash.

Sunday, June 12

At around 1:00 a.m., officers were dispatched to a Union Landing restaurant on the report of an assault. During an argument, the suspect struck a victim in the hand with a hammer. Omaldi Correa, a Hayward resident, was located in Hayward and arrested.

GOVERNMENT

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS POLICE DEPARTMENT PATROL ANNEX
UPGRADES AT CITY HALL
CITY OF NEWARK

The City of Newark invites sealed bids for the installation of public improvements for Police Department Patrol Annex Upgrades at Newark City Hall, City of Newark, Alameda County, California. Sealed bids must be delivered to the Finance Office of the City of Newark at 3710 Newark Boulevard, Newark, California 94587, 1st Floor, City Hall, before 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 5, 2016 and must be identified as bids on the envelope. At that time all bids will be publicly opened, examined, and declared. The improvements are generally described as follows: Police Department Patrol Annex Upgrades at Newark City Hall. The scope of work includes all materials, equipment, and labor (at prevailing wage) to provide: Eight (8) refurbished workstations of various sizes, ranging from three 6'x6' (approximate) individual cubicles to two larger shared cubicle spaces, with panels not to exceed 69" in height and approximately 139" linear feet of panel length; Eight (8) L-shaped refurbished workstation surfaces (various lengths); Eight (8) box/file (BFF) pedestals; Eight (8) file/file (FF) pedestals; Eight (8) double overhead storage cabinets (one double cabinet to provide a total of approximately 6-feet of overhead storage at each cubicle space); Eight (8) task boards; Eight (8) task lights; Thirteen (13) framed glass partitions; Removal and disposal of existing panels and partitions; Delivery and installation; and Tax. Note: Scribed (custom cut) surfaces are needed to accommodate angled walls. Bidders are strongly urged to visit the job site before submitting bids. Additionally, include the following information in the bid: Estimated lead time from order date to delivery and installation; and Anticipated time needed for installation (in days). A Bid Form/Proposal to the City of Newark is available as Attachment 1. Specifications are available as Attachment 2. A sample Public Works Contract is available as Attachment 3. Specifications may be obtained at the City of Newark Public Works Department, 37101 Newark Boulevard, Newark, California, or by contacting Administrative Analyst, Myvan Khuu-Seeman, at (510) 578-4290 or Myvan.Khuu-Seeman@newark.org. Additionally, for technical questions, a list of plan holders, or access to the job site, please contact Tonya Connolly, Maintenance Supervisor, at (510) 578-4802 or Tonya.Connolly@newark.org. No pre-bid meeting is scheduled for this project. However, Bidders are strongly urged to visit the job site before submitting bids. Access to the job site must be arranged in advance, per the contact person listed above (Tonya Connolly), and will take place during regular business hours. Submission of a bid shall be considered as an acknowledgement of site investigation. It is intended that the City of Newark, within a one year period of awarding the contract, shall have the option to procure identical equipment and/or services as set forth in this proposal (piggyback procurement). The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any minor informalities, irregularities, and/or bid non-responsiveness that does not influence the competitive nature of the bid. The City Manager will award the project, if it is awarded, to the lowest responsible bidder, as determined by the Total Bid. In addition, as of July 1, 2014, all contractors bidding on this project are required to register with the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) and to pay the required annual fee. Under California Labor Code section 1771.1, as amended by SB 954, unless registered with the DIR, a contractor may not bid, nor be listed as a subcontractor, for any bid proposal submitted for public work on or after March 1, 2015. The City of Newark hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, disadvantaged business and women owned business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit proposals in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic information, marital status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, age, sexual orientation, including a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics in consideration for an award. Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done has been determined by the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations of the State of California. These wages are set forth in the General Prevailing Wage Rates for this project. The Contractor and all subcontractors shall pay all their employees performing labor under this Contract, salaries or wages at least equal to the general prevailing wage rates for the particular crafts, classifications, or types of workers employed on this project. These wage rates appear in the latest Department of Industrial Relations publication. Future effective wage rates, which have been predetermined and are on file with the Department of Industrial Relations, are referenced but not printed in said publication, and are available on the internet at www.dir.ca.gov. The contractor will be required to submit certified payroll records during the course of this project. This project is subject to compliance enforcement and monitoring by the State of California Department of Industrial Relations. NOTICE OF PETITION TO

ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
LOUIS RAYMER THOMPSON
CASE NO. RP16819103

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Louis Raymer Thompson
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Kevin Thompson in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.

The Petition for Probate requests that Kevin Thompson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate.

The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on 07-27-16 at 9:30 a.m. in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
LILLIAN LORRAINE
HOENDERVOOGT AKA LILLIAN L.
HOENDERVOOGT
CASE NO. RP16817771

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Lillian Lorraine Hoendervoogt aka Lillian L. Hoendervoogt
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Mark Hoendervoogt in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.

The Petition for Probate requests that Mark Hoendervoogt be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on July 5, 2016 at 9:30 a.m. in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Attorney for Petitioner: Daniel P. Trump, Esq., Trump, Aiolo, Trump & Prescott, LLP, 2201 Walnut Avenue, Suite 200, Fremont, California 94538 , Telephone: 510-790-0900 6/14, 6/21, 6/28/16

First 2016 West Nile Virus Positive Mosquitoes Detected

SUBMITTED BY
DENISE BONILLAAND NOOR TIETZE

The Santa Clara County Vector Control District (SCCVCDD) has confirmed that adult mosquitoes collected from the 95125, 95124, 95008, and 95118 ZIP code areas of the cities of San Jose and Campbell have tested positive for West Nile virus (WNV). The detection of mosquitoes infected with WNV has prompted the scheduling of a mosquito fogging treatment in the surrounding areas.

“This initial detection of mosquitoes carrying WNV has occurred a month earlier this year than last year,” said Santa Clara County Vector Control District Manager Denise Bonilla. “This earlier detection doesn’t mean this season will be worse than last year. This just shows that county residents need to take precautions to avoid mosquito bites now.

“We want to get ahead of the spread of the virus,” Bonilla continued. “So far this year there have not yet been any WNV human cases reported in the county or the state, and our goal is to prevent infected mosquitoes from transmitting WNV to Santa Clara County residents.”

Health Effects of West Nile Virus
Since the arrival of WNV to California in 2003, 5,588 people across the State have contracted the disease; 229 of those cases were fatal. 2015 was a record year for fatalities in the state with 53 deaths.

WNV infection does not cause symptoms in most people, but in some individuals it can cause fever, headache, body aches, and in severe cases, significant neurological damage or death. Adults older than 50 years and individuals with certain chronic medical conditions such as diabetes, high blood pressure, cancer, and kidney disease are most at risk for serious complications.

Residents can play a strategic role in preventing the spread of West Nile Virus. It is important to remain vigilant by taking practical steps to eliminate standing water around the home.

Some practical measures against mosquito bites are:

At home:

Mosquitoes lay eggs in water. DRAIN or DUMP standing water weekly.

Drain, remove, or turn over anything that can hold water: flowerpots, planter bases, bird baths, toys, cans, rain gutters, pet dishes, buckets, and old tires. Fix leaky water faucets and sprinklers.

Screens on doors and windows should be tight-fitting and in good repair.

Do not let your swimming pool water fall below the pump circulation area. Free mosquito-fish placement can be requested through the SCCVCDD for neglected pools or ornamental ponds.

Outdoors:

Limit outdoor activities during DUSK & DAWN to prevent mosquito bites. Those are the times when the mosquitoes that transmit WNV are most active.

If you need to go outside in an area where mosquitoes are active:

Dress in long sleeve shirts and long pants, preferably in light colors. Apply insect repellent following label instructions.

Contact the Vector Control District if you are being bothered by mosquitoes or know of a potential mosquito-breeding source.

For free assistance with mosquito control, WNV, or other vectors, residents can contact the District office by calling (408) 918-4770 or fill out a service request online at SCCvector.org.

Obituary

Myrtice Wilkins

October 1, 1930 – June 4, 2016

Resident of Fremont

The frequent “board meetings” scheduled by Myrtice (Tice) Hurd Wilkins at Fremont Hills Retirement Home Memory Care will be suspended permanently at Tice’s request. Tice, an organizer; nurse; youth counselor; emergency foster care provider; loving daughter, sister, mother, wife, mother-in-law, grandma, great-mama, aunt, friend; and compassionate friend to the sick and homeless, spent the last 2 years as a resident in the Memory Care facility at Fremont Hills. However, Tice, the most steadfast of souls, recently left us for a much better position in heaven on June 4 at the age of 85. No doubt, Tice has already come up with big plans to continue her loving and caring reach.

Born October 1, 1930 in Mankato, Minnesota, childhood provided the foundation for a life of service. Her father, Dr. Loren Curtis Hurd, was an internationally known scientist, and her mother Eleanor Whiting Hurd, an artist, was deaf. As the oldest child, Tice became a second mother to her two sisters, Mary and Ann, and a dedicated helper to her family. It was no surprise (except perhaps to her father) that Tice chose to attend nursing school and became an RN before marrying Dr. Charles Norman Wilkins Jr in 1954. Tice and Charlie had a wonderful 62 year marriage that gave the world 4 great children, 10 grandchildren, and 6 great-grandchildren.

As the wife of a Navy Officer in the 1950’s, Tice broke with tradition (and rules) while living in Korea. She left the base, got to know the community, and volunteered in local orphanages. She had cribs built, taught staff how to care for sick children, and procured supplies and milk. After returning to California she continued to send aid packages and enlisted the assistance of her four children, Wendy, Charles, Robin and Mary, who donated the coins they raised by running backyard carnivals to cover the postage.

In 1964 Charlie’s medical practice was flourishing in Fremont and Tice saw a need in the area for children and youth counseling services. With the support of a Cal State University Hayward (East Bay) professor and student interns, she started the Washington Township Counseling Services – the first counseling service to open in Fremont and it was free.

Tice’s efforts to help others never stopped. She was a nurse in her husband’s practice and a host to foreign exchange students. She provided emergency foster care to children and teens who had run away or needed temporary care – often sharing her interest in photography and her dark room to engage and help calm anxious kids in transition. After joining the United Church of Christ in 1967, she served in many positions, including as the nurse for 25 years the church’s camp, Camp Cazadero. She was also a member of the PEO sorority for over 50 years. In 1990 when she saw the devastation of the AIDs epidemic, she reacted by starting Mission Aids to help local AIDs patients and their families. In recent years, Tice and Charlie brought food and clothing to the homeless and invited many in need into their home.

Tice and Charlie shared a love for service, family, travel, and their little rescue dog, Scruffy who lit up their lives for 19 years. Instead of letting Dementia stop her, Tice became friend and counselor to everyone she met and cheerfully planned frequent “board meetings” at Fremont Hills until the great offer from Heaven came through. Tice’s family is very grateful to the staff at Fremont Hills for their loving care.

Tice Wilkins has joined her daughter Robin, her sisters Mary and Ann, and beloved dog Scruffy. She is survived by her devoted husband Charlie; her daughters Wendy and Mary, son Charles; daughter-and sons-in-law Karen, George, BJ, and Jim, and ; her very loved grandchildren (and their spouses): Jessie Winsted, Jenny Wilson (husband Sean), Nancy Weaver (husband Jason), Cheech Patane (fiancé Kayla), Jason and Chris Sikkell, Charlie, Andrew, Sunni, and George Wilkins in addition to 6 great-grand children Olen and Arlo Blomberg, Georgia and Charlie Wilson, Lincoln Weaver, Addison Meints , cousins, John Hempel and Paul Richert, along with her extended family Vicki and Edward Winsted. She also had many nieces and a nephew that were very important to her life. She will be missed by all.

Join Tice’s family in celebrating her life at a memorial service on Saturday, June 25, 2pm at the United Church of Christ, 38255 Blacow Road, Fremont.

In lieu of flowers, Tice’s family requests help to carry on her work through donations to Sulphur Creek Nature Center, your local animal shelter in memory of Scruffy, your favorite educational group, or to an Alzheimer’s organization.

Steve Stearns memorial has been set for Friday, July 29th

Steve's memorial: Fri 7/29 11:30am @ Bayside Church, 8191 Sierra College Blvd, Roseville (this is where our niece Whitney works). Dress is Steve's favorite- casual; we're hoping to see favorite baseball team or Hawaiian shirts.

Anyone is welcome to share a memory or a few words. We've read many warm accolades that would be comforting to family & friends. And, what would a Stearns gathering be without music? Please encourage those who would like to perform to feel free to do so.

Nearby hotels in Roseville (zip 95678, near Hwy65) are Marriot Spring Hill Suites, Marriot Town Suites, Hyatt Place (by Galleria), Larkspur Landing, Hilton Garden Inn Roseville, Courtyard by Marriott & in Rocklin (off Hwy65), Staybridge Suites.

Please pass this along to family & friends waiting, so they can make travel arrangements. Again, thank you for all your help. It is deeply appreciated.

Smartwatches are getting smarter, though not quickly enough

automatically. Apple Watch will also let you challenge friends on fitness, something Fitbit and other fitness devices already offer.

New Features: With SOS, you can hold the side button for a few seconds to call 911 – or the equivalent when traveling abroad. The watch will also message your emergency contact and display key information such as your allergies on the screen. A new watch app will also guide you through breathing exercises to help reduce stress.

Bottom Line: Apple Watch has come a long way in just 14 months, and its starting price just dropped to $300. But it's still tough to explain to friends and family why they need one.

The SOS feature could be popular among those with known health issues. But it's not something many people will believe they'll need – at least not soon enough to buy a watch right away. Longer battery life and GPS tracking for workouts will require better hardware down the road. Even then, Apple Watch isn't likely to work with Android phones anytime soon; you'll need an iPhone.

Android Wear
Faster: The upcoming Android Wear 2.0 software will let apps run directly on the watch, so they can communicate directly with remote servers through the watch's Wi-Fi or cellular connection, if it has one. Information might arrive faster because it doesn't need to go through the phone first. Apps need to be updated to take advantage of this standalone capability.

Easier Navigation: Currently, you swipe up and down for notifications, but left and right for actions like replies. The update will eliminate the zig-zagging and present everything in one vertical feed. Message notifications will also turn into mini-chat apps. Currently, your chat notification disappears after you reply, even if you have more to say. With the update, the notification becomes an ongoing conversation stream until you dismiss it.

Beyond Voice: The watch will now have a full keyboard with predictive texting, similar to phones. It will also support handwriting similar to Apple's Scribble. More apps will get pre-configured replies that you can select, and choices will vary based on context. Voice dictation remains an option.

Catching Up: Android joins Apple Watch in getting complications on watch faces. These are little bits of customizable data, such as weather info or stock quotes. And Apple Watch already supports standalone apps. Android Watch apps will also have darker backgrounds, as Apple Watch apps do now, to make the watch less annoying in dark settings like movie theaters.

New Features: Fitness trackers tend to focus on motion activities rather than strength training. Android Wear will soon support weight lifting, squats and push-ups. And the watch's redesigned app launcher will make fuller use of circular screens.

Bottom Line: The 2-year-old Android Wear system has introduced significant improvements along the way, including the ability to work with iPhones, not just Android phones. But with iPhones, you're mostly limited to notifications and fitness – there's no turn-by-turn navigation on the watch, for instance. The standalone capability should change that, giving iPhone users a viable alternative to Apple Watch.

CMDR. MIKE CARROLL,
NEWARK PD

Thursday, June 9

At 7:33 p.m., officers responded to Ash Street Park on a report of a stabbing/attempted carjacking. A 33-year-old male from Newark was approached by 3-5 suspects who attempted to carjack his vehicle. The victim resisted and suffered multiple non-life threatening stab wounds, and was transported to a local trauma center for treatment.

At 2:30 a.m., officers responded to Campanella restaurant, located at 34903 Jarvis Ave., for an alarm call. The side window to the business was smashed, but there was no entry.

At 5:16 a.m., officers responded to Chuck E. Cheese's for an alarm call. One of the doors to the business was pried open; the loss was unknown at the time of this report.

Friday, June 10

At 7:15 p.m., Community Service Officer (CSO) Parks investigated a theft from a vehicle on the 36800 block of Port Tidewood. Loss was miscellaneous clothing.

Saturday, June 11

At 5:26 p.m., Ofc. Nobbe responded to Fremont Ford for a report of a stolen vehicle. Gilroy PD was investigating an identity theft case in which a suspect used their victim's identity to purchase a vehicle from Fremont Ford. The vehicle was described as follows: 2011 white BMW 535i (CA #: 7DMZ152). The only suspect description at the time was that it was purchased by a black female.

At 9:19 p.m., Ofc. Warren recovered an unoccupied 1997 Honda CRV (reported stolen in Fremont) on Bettencourt Street. The vehicle was towed from the scene, and the owner was notified.

Tuesday, June 14

At 11:30 p.m., Ofc. Mavrakis investigated the theft of a pressure washer from Aloft Hotel.

Wednesday, June 15

At 6:27 a.m., officers were dispatched to an in-progress auto burglary on the 37000 block of St. Edward Street. Ofc. Fredstrom located the suspect hiding in some bushes. The 32-year-old Newark male was arrested for possessing stolen property and violating the terms of his probation. The suspect was booked at Santa Rita Jail.

BART approves $3.5 billion
Capital Reinvestment
Bond Measure

SUBMITTED BY BART DISTRICT

On June 9, the BART Board of Directors voted 9-0 to approve an historical $3.5 billion general obligation bond measure that will fund BART's plan to improve safety, increase train reliability and reduce traffic. The bond will be on the November general election ballot.

The bond measure is a key funding component of BART's plan to rebuild and renew its aging system, which faces increasing problems as various physical parts of the 44-year-old railway reach the end of their useful lives. The plan replaces and repairs 90 miles of deteriorating tracks and other aging infrastructure in order to maintain BART's excellent safety record and protects our environment by keeping thousands of cars off the road.

Over the past year, BART's community outreach department has held over 230 community meetings with local stakeholders and civic groups to ensure widespread understanding of BART's needs, and to hear the public's thoughts about its capital reinvestment program.

Thanks to record-breaking ridership, BART has been able to find funding for many of the solutions needed to increase capacity, meet modern demand, relieve crowding, and upgrade the system. That includes the newly arriving Fleet of the Future, the Hayward Maintenance Complex, and some of the groundwork for a cutting-edge train control system.

However, the cost of the capital projects needed to repair, fix, and replace worn rail, leaking tunnels, unreliable track circuitry, and failing power transmission equipment outpaces revenue growth. BART's plan is to dedicate funds from the bond measure solely to fixing what we have first - without earmarks, pet projects, or frills. Estimates show the bond will cost Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco county homeowners less than a pack of gum a week - an investment that will show enormous returns in terms of improved safety, reliability, and decreased traffic.

If voters choose to pass the measure in November, great care will be taken to ensure the public's money is protected and spent wisely. An independent audit committee will be commissioned to publish regular, transparent reports on how the money is being spent, with open, frequent and public meetings.

Complete details of what is in the bond and how it relates to safety, reliability, and relief of traffic congestion can be found at bart.gov/betterbart

Mail thieves arrested

SUBMITTED BY LT. RAJ MAHARAJ, MILPITAS PD

On June 8, at approximately 4:15 a.m., a witness observed two people rummaging through mailboxes and removing mail from residences along Singley Drive. Within minutes, Milpitas Police Officers arrived on scene and located the couple, where officers found a large amount of discarded mail from residences in the area. Based on the investigation, both people were taken into custody for theft of mail.

During the course of the investigation, officers learned there was a vehicle parked in the area associated to the couple. Officers located a blue 1994 Dodge Caravan on the 400 block of Corinthia Drive, which was occupied by a female. A search of the Dodge Caravan revealed several identification cards, credit cards, checks, tools and electronic equipment that obviously did not belong to the group. As a result of this investigation, Milpitas Police Officers were able to identify nineteen (19) victims of mail theft or auto burglary.

The first couple was identified as Jessica Flores, a 30 year-old Antioch resident and Noah Kerran, a 34 year-old San Francisco resident. Both Flores and Kerran were booked into the Santa Clara County Jail for mail theft, identity theft and conspiracy.

The female located in the minivan was identified as Kathleen Russell, a 31 year-old Fremont resident who also had outstanding warrants for her arrest and was in possession of controlled substances. Russell was booked for possession of controlled substances, paraphernalia, and stolen property as well as her warrants.

Anyone with any additional information regarding this investigation is encouraged to call the Milpitas Police Department at (408) 586-2400. Information can be given anonymously by calling the Crime Tip Hotline at (408) 586-2500 or via the Milpitas Police Department website at: <https://forms.ci.milpitas.ca.gov/forms/view.php?id=47511>

Former homeless veteran among CSUEB graduates

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLY HAWKINS

When the housing market crashed in 2008, Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) graduating senior Earl Hargrove lost everything. Piece by piece, he sold his Washington D.C.-based construction business. The equipment went first, and eventually anything that didn't fit into two duffle bags. With nowhere to live and only his luggage, a camera, cell phone and laptop left, he bought a one-way ticket on a Greyhound bus headed for California.

"I heard a rumor that veterans were treated better out here," Hargrove said. "Winter was coming, and I didn't want to be stuck on the East Coast."

Now, after eight years of determination and hard work, Hargrove is graduating from CSUEB with his bachelor's degree in hospitality and tourism. He also has his own apartment after spending some time in a homeless veterans' reintegration program in Menlo Park, and he recently received a promotion at Esther's German Bakery in Mountain View. Life is good, finally.

Born in Washington D.C., and raised in Cambridge, Mass., Hargrove struggled in school, eventually dropping out and joining the Marine Corps to serve during the Vietnam War. When the war ended, he returned to Massachusetts and then moved to Vermont, where he worked in construction for 28 years. He eventually started his own company in D.C. while working in the high-end remodeling industry.

Through all of his experiences, his love of food and community were a mainstay. If someone in his town was getting married, Hargrove and a team of friends would come together to plan the event and prepare the food, whether that meant steeping 250 gallons of tea or grilling 300 pounds of salmon.

"My grandmother did a lot of cooking and that rubbed off on me," Hargrove said. "I had always worked in food service; it's been a constant no matter what happened."

That continued after he arrived in California, moved into a homeless shelter in South San Francisco and started working at the bakery in between classes at a community college, where he eventually earned his associate's degree in hospitality management.

When he heard through a counselor about an opening in the hospitality program at CSUEB, he jumped at the opportunity. "It was always something I'd wanted to do, but I never did think that I would ever get back into school," Hargrove said.

As a hospitality major, most of Hargrove's classes were taught online, but that didn't stop him from taking his studies seriously. Each day he rose early, had breakfast, and by 8 a.m. was sitting in front of his computer logging into class.

"I considered it my job; I arrived on time and took it very seriously," he said. "It was my duty, I had a regimen; I wanted to be serious and focused."

At 60, Hargrove is considerably older than the average CSUEB graduate, but he said he never let his age limit him, and most of the students he met on campus or in class didn't seem to care either.

"I don't think of myself as being old, I don't have time to worry about that," he said. "I made it to 60, I'm graduating from Cal State East Bay, and I'm thankful."

Forum to discuss residential electricity rates

SUBMITTED BY CHRISTOPHER CHOW

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) will hold a community forum on Tuesday, June 28 at Oakland City Hall to discuss and answer questions about the CPUC's July 2015 decision to significantly change residential electricity rates, including the requirement that starting in 2019 all residential customers will be offered time of use rates as a default.

At this public forum, the CPUC will discuss time of use rates, the transition from four to two rate tiers, the economic and environmental benefits of these new rates, and the CPUC's plans to work closely with utilities and communities throughout California to ensure that consumers are ready for these changes. For more information, please visit www.cpuc.ca.gov/RateDesignForums.

Music at the Grove Summer Concert Series

Big Bang Beat

SUBMITTED BY DAVID ZEHNDER

The City of Newark Recreation and Community Services Department is proud to announce the 29th season of free concerts at the Shirley Sisk Grove. All concerts will be held on Friday evenings beginning at 6:30 p.m. Concert goers can arrive early to picnic and relax with family and friends. Bring a blanket or low-back chair, as all seating is festival style. The concerts are made available through generous sponsorships including the Newark Betterment Corporation, Tri-City Voice, The Sign Zone, and Homewood Suites. Performances this summer will feature some of the best Bay Area party bands including the always-popular Big Bang Beat who will be making their 28th appearance at the Grove.

Friday, June 24: Big Bang Beat

San Francisco's very own legendary rock 'n soul review... and the most enduring and amazing party band of them all. From swing, Motown, disco, '80s, contemporary and beyond, Big Bang Beat is renowned for being the best and most versatile party band ever! Featuring an awesome variety and a phenomenal repertoire, this band has to be seen to be believed. But most of all, this band has SOUL. You can feel it in every song at every show. Only a band that has stayed together and performed together as Big Bang Beat has can bring you this much genuine warmth and entertainment. From "Respect" to "Love Shack" and Glen Miller to Adele, Big Bang Beat will take you on a musical journey you will never forget.

Friday, July 8: Refugees (Tom Petty Tribute)

The Refugees have been entertaining Bay Area crowds since 2007, bringing the music of Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers to local stages with a stunning level of realism. Voted the top tribute band in the S.F. Bay Area in 2009, their extensive song catalog includes all of Petty's hits with the Heartbreakers as well as his solo work and other side projects like The Traveling Wilburys and Mudcrutch. Recreating all the signature guitar solos and rich vocal harmonies down to the smallest detail, The Refugees can make even die-hard Petty fans feel like they are at another Tom Petty concert.

Friday, July 22: Houserockers

Recently named "Best Cover Band in the Bay Area" as winners of the KFOX Radio Last Band Standing contest, The Houserockers are one of the hardest working and in demand bands in Northern California. Known for their eclectic, high energy set lists that bring the music of The Rolling Stones, Earth Wind and Fire, Tower of Power, Stevie Wonder, Springsteen, Van Morrison and much more to life. Fusing elements of rock, blues, funk, '60s soul and R & B, the band turns every performance into a house party.

Friday, August 5: The Killer Queens

The world's only all-female tribute to Queen, The Killer Queens evoke all the glam, sparkle, power, and soaring melodies of Freddie, Brian, John, Roger, and Spike (Queen's unofficial 5th member) performing onstage in the '70s and '80s, while at the height of their musical and commercial dominance. The Killer Queens became a rocking, 5-part harmony singing reality with Nina Noir (Frederica Mercury), Lindy Day (Brianna May), Diana Rey (Joan Deacon), Nichole Boaz (Spike Edna), and Karla Downey (Regina Taylor).

The Killer Queens cover all of Queen's hit-making stylistic journeys from heavy rock to operettas and beyond. This all-female team of fantastic musicians also manages to cast the spell of Queen with a style, spirit, and beauty all their own. Prepare to be amazed!

Celebrating Indian classical dance educational event that allows viewers to experience several unique classical styles on one stage.

Omkaar is derived from "om," a sacred sound which is an invocation and invitation to all gods. "Omkaar" becomes the sound of the infinite "om." Among the performers are JKM Dance Company in a special dance drama, Guru Samidha Satyam and group dancing the Kuchipudi, Guru Kritika Rajgopalan dancing the Bharatanatyam, Guru Nirmala Madhava and Pampa Dance Company dancing the Kathak, and Guru Ratikant Mohapatra and Guru Jyoti Rout dancing the Odissi.

Jyoti Kala Mandir, established in 1993 by Guru Jyoti Rout, is a nonprofit organization which serves the international community. The organization is dedicated toward preserving and promoting India's vibrant classical music and dance. The institution not only trains students in music and dance but also conducts events like dance and music festivals, workshops, seminars, and dance recitals by eminent artists. Today, JKM is a thriving community of families, dancers, and second-generation teachers. JKM offers ongoing classes for students at all levels.

The JKM 2016 award recipient is Guru Srimati Mythili Kumar for her lifetime dedication and achievements to classical dance of India. An accomplished artist, Kumar performed extensively in India before moving to the U.S. in 1978 and founding Abhinaya Dance School in 1980. Her artistic ability and the high quality of her dance choreography have been recognized in the U.S. where she has been awarded several choreographer fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts. Kumar has taught at Stanford University and San Jose State University, and currently teaches a fall semester course at University of California, Santa Cruz.

Artist Myrna Wacknov coming to Fremont Art Association

SUBMITTED BY SUSAN HELMER

Talented portrait artist Myrna Wacknov will be teaching a 3 day workshop on using textured surfaces, at Fremont Art Association, July 9-11.

Wacknov has been included in and received awards in many national watercolor competitions. In 2011 she won the Gold Award in the California Watercolor Assoc. National Exhibition Watercolor Society Show. Additionally, among other awards are CFS Medal, 2008, American Watercolor Society International Exhibition and semifinalist in the 2009 Portrait Competition of the National Portrait Gallery of the Smithsonian.

This workshop is for artists who want to learn some new textured surface ideas. Each day, the participants will create a painting on a different textured surface. You will be using gesso, white tissue paper and Tyvek synthetic paper; it is not all collage.

Fees for members are $60/day or $175 for three day session. Non-members are $70/day or $200 for three days. Non-refundable deposit of $75 must be made at time of registration and the final payment must be made one week before workshop. Space is available for eight or more participants and a wait list is available. Materials list will be sent to registered participants.

A lesson in Cumbia!

Hayward Area Historical Society (HAHS) has been selected to receive a competitive Latino Americans: 500 Years of History grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) and the American Library Association (ALA). "Latino Americans are the country's largest minority group, with more than 50 million people, and still many people are unaware of their rich and varied history and culture," said Brenda Salguero, Acting Education Director. "I'm thrilled that Hayward Area Historical Society has this opportunity to explore this topic in our community."

Sponsored by NEH and ALA, one of the events scheduled at HAHS' Museum of History and Culture is a dance lesson featuring ¡Cumbia! on Thursday, June 30. Originating in Colombia, this fast-paced, fun and passionate music has taken Latin America and America by storm. Influenced by indigenous, African, and European music, it serves as a fantastic representation of the diversity that exists in Latin America and the Latino community. This event features Cumbia dance instructor Adriana Sánchez from Colombian Soul and DJ Ray Robelo from Jazz Caliente Entertainment.

"Since I was a child I have danced Cumbia; it is in my veins. In Colombia we learn to dance Cumbia at home and at the school. I became an instructor of the dance since I came to USA in 1999 to work with a nonprofit organization of the arts as an artist to represent the Colombian culture," stated Sánchez.

Founded by Sánchez, Colombian Soul has been representing Colombian music and folklore in numerous cultural events in San Francisco and the Bay Area since 2005. Sánchez has taken new visions and dreams that challenge her as a choreographer and human being, creating new dance pieces with contemporary choreography that include social, traditional, relational and spiritual situations.

"The Cumbia is recommended to practice because it gives you the technique of Latino rhythms. The Cumbia has the base step to dance salsa, merengue, vallenato and bachata. Also, Cumbia dance is a perfect way to approach others and socialize," she adds.
