ARDENWOOD FARM WELCOMES YOU BACK!

BY DHOHA BARECHE

George Patterson was hoping to strike gold in California's mines when he first moved here from the Midwest in 1849. After a year of unsuccessful mining coupled with poor health, he decided to take up farming. In 1850, he acquired a 3,000-acre estate known today as Ardenwood Farm, and with the help of his wife Clara, cultivated it for 100 years. While the farm today has been reduced to 200 acres, it's one of the last, open cultivated areas in the Bay Area, preserved by East Bay Regional Park District since 1985.

Ardenwood Farm represents Fremont's local history and introduces guests to farming's significance by engaging them in agricultural-themed activities.

Chabot Space relaunches with NASA Experience

SUBMITTED BY MARY CATHERINE FRANTZ

Chabot Space & Science Center will reopen November 12 with a new visitor center, following more than 18 months of closure to complete construction on the largest center-wide refresh since 2000. As part of a partnership with NASA's Ames Research Center, Chabot will debut a new exhibit titled The NASA Experience. Visitors will come face-to-face with artifacts and hands-on learning opportunities that have never before been on display.

"We are thrilled to share with you all the new experiences Chabot has to offer," said Executive Director, Adam Tobin, "Chabot is kicking off an exciting next chapter to re-envision science education in partnership with NASA's Ames Research Center in Silicon Valley, making visible the extraordinary people and legacy of discovery at NASA. We look forward to welcoming back our community with new opportunities to experience wonder, joy and learning together."

The NASA Experience will feature some of the most fascinating items in space research and exploration, including spacesuits from the Mercury and Gemini missions, experimental heat shield technology, and a fan blade from the world's largest wind tunnel. Visitors step into the role of a

WASHINGTON HOSPITAL HEALTHCARE FOUNDATION EXCEEDS TOP HAT GALA FUNDRAISING GOALS

We Thank You!

Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation announced that more than $460,000 was raised in support of Washington Hospital's new Inpatient Acute Rehabilitation Center. With the generous support of the community, they exceeded their philanthropic fundraising goals.

The 35th Annual Top Hat Gala, originally scheduled for October 9, was canceled as an in-person celebration, due to the safety of the community amid continuing COVID-19 concerns. Top Hat's beneficiary, Washington Hospital's new Inpatient Acute Rehabilitation Center, remained a top philanthropic priority.

This unit, scheduled to open in 2022, will fill a critical gap in rehabilitation care in the local health care district and surrounding communities. It will provide intensive, specialized treatment for patients with stroke, limb amputation and other major medical conditions. Currently, patients have to travel outside the area for this important specialty care. Through clinical collaboration and advanced technology, patients will receive daily therapy from Washington Hospital's team of certified rehabilitation nurses and therapists.

Gary Charland, President of the Foundation, said, "I am thrilled that proceeds from this year's Top Hat Gala will help support Washington Hospital's new Inpatient Acute Rehabilitation Center and that we can bring this specialized level of care to our community. I want to sincerely thank all our generous supporters, especially the Fremont Bank Foundation, who are helping us make this center a reality."

The Foundation notes that donations can still be made to this important project. Community members can visit www.whhs.com/tophat or call 510.818.7350 to learn how to get involved.

Washington Hospital Welcomes Orthopaedic Surgeon

Dr. Bryant Bonner looks forward to bringing robotic knee surgery to Fremont

Dr. Bryant Bonner was initially drawn to surgery because he likes to work with his hands, but it was the ability to help patients relieve pain and return to their quality of life that inspired him to specialize in orthopaedics. That—combined with his interest in technology—led the orthopaedic surgeon to focus on some of the most advanced joint replacement procedures available today – including robotic joint replacement surgery.

He recently joined Washington Hospital's Institute for Joint Restoration and Research, (IJRR), where he specializes in minimally invasive hip and knee replacements, including muscle-sparing anterior hip replacements, complex hip and knee revision surgeries, partial knee replacements, knee arthroscopy, and reverse total shoulder replacements. Dr. Bonner is enthusiastic about joining Dr. Alexander Sah, Medical Co-Director of the IJRR, in performing these advanced procedures.

"I'm excited to be working with Dr. Sah and to provide the community the personalized and compassionate joint replacement care that he is known for," he said. "The collaboration between Sah Orthopaedic Associates and every member of the Institute for Joint Restoration and Research, from the dedicated surgical teams, nursing staff, physical and occupational therapists, case managers and everyone in between, will allow me to provide the best outcomes for my patients. It is a remarkable program."

Dr. Bonner is also excited to bring his expertise performing robotic-assisted joint replacement surgeries to Washington Hospital. His experience in the treatment of shoulder disorders brings an added dimension to the Sah Orthopaedic Associates group.

"I was fortunate to have access to robotic systems in both my residency and fellowship," Dr. Bonner added. "I have extensive training in robotic procedures, and I'm interested in using technology to improve surgical outcomes. Every little bit of improvement can make a huge difference."

He earned his medical degree at Harvard University in 2015 and then completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery at the Harvard Combined Orthopaedic Residency Program in Boston in 2020. During his residency, he worked at Massachusetts General Hospital, Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center and Brigham and Women's Hospital, where he was selected as chief resident. Dr. Bonner completed his fellowship in 2021 at the Hofmann Arthroplasty Adult Reconstruction/Arthroplasty Fellowship Program in Salt Lake City.

Back to California

Dr. Bonner was born and raised in Sacramento, and his fiancée is from the Bay Area, so the couple was determined to get back to California. Right now they are living in San Francisco, but plan to move to the East Bay after they get married later this month.

"I went to Boston for what I thought would be a brief period of time for college and ended up staying for 15 years," he added. "I always knew I wanted to be back in California, so while I was still finishing my residency, I started reaching out to alumni of the Harvard Orthopaedic Surgery residency for any guidance or leads. It just so happened that Dr. Sah, who is also a Harvard Orthopaedic Residency graduate, was looking for a partner to add to his growing practice."

In September, Dr. Bonner joined Dr. Sah at Sah Orthopaedic Associates in Fremont. The surgeons see patients at the Institute for Joint Restoration and Research at Washington Hospital as well as in their Fremont office and in an office in Menlo Park.

Dr. Bonner jumped at the opportunity to work with Dr. Sah and Washington Hospital because of their commitment to the best quality care possible.

"Washington Hospital is highly invested in joint replacement," Dr. Bonner said. "The Institute for Joint Restoration and Research is a beautiful facility with the some of the most advanced equipment and experienced staff, and now they are investing in robotic technology to stay at the forefront of orthopaedic care."

He said he is also impressed that everyone who operates at the Institute is fellowship-trained, meaning they've received additional specialized training perfecting these techniques and procedures.

"I'm happy to be where I can provide the best care possible to my patients," he added. "Orthopaedic surgery can hugely impact quality of life because it can relieve pain and restore function."

Consumer Couture: Wrapped in Conversation

Genuinely purchased, meticulously unwrapped, consumed, and conscientiously collated, each wrapper is carefully stitched side by side to create new textiles, which beg to be evaluated and scrutinized. These wearable sculptures are designed to “sly wink” at a culture that often compares women, particularly well-dressed women, to decorations, consumables... “eye candy.” Initiating a dialogue on packaging, brand association, and power structure, these sculptures also direct a commentary on the glutony and wastefulness of a disposable, packaged society.

The virtual and in-person exhibit will be up until December 19, 2021. Come to the opening reception on Friday, November 5 to see some of Kruk's work in action with models crinkling the dresses to life!

The human side of homelessness

SUBMITTED BY VEENA KOMMU

This article is a continuation to the series by Veena Kommu, a local high schooler who decided to talk to the homeless people in the Bay Area, and get their stories out to the public. Her goal is to separate their character from their circumstances.

Jojo, a retired gentleman, is having his breakfast in a church. Born in Hayward, he has seen the Bay Area go through radical changes. He has been married for forty-two years, but six years ago, was caught in an affair by his wife and asked to leave the house. Since then, he has been homeless and living in his car. He doesn't want to go to shelters due to safety concerns. He hopes that he will get back together with his estranged wife who has forgiven him, but has not been able to forget his affair.

Since retirement, Jojo has been living on social security, which he asserts was earned by working all his life after finishing high school. However, that money is not sufficient to find an apartment even on a temporary basis, while he waits for his wife to accept him back. When asked if he could move out of the Bay Area to find affordable housing, he emphatically shakes his head. He wants to continue to live where he has lived all his life.

Jojo blames himself for his current circumstances. However, he also thinks that society looks down on him without knowing the actual reason for being on the road. He again emphasizes that he earned his social security income and is not living off other people's hard work. Jojo has medical insurance through his wife who works at a local hospital, and therefore, unlike many other homeless people, has less stress related to health. His biggest stress is emotional: to be separated from his wife, and also the guilt associated with his actions that led to the separation.

Every homeless person like Jojo has a story that explains how they became homeless. There are bad elements in every section of society, and the homeless section of the population is no different. However, it is necessary to separate character from circumstances. Otherwise, we can fall into a psychological tendency called fundamental attribution error (FAE)—leaping to judge someone's character instead of first understanding their situation.

For example, consider the attribution process for the question: "Why are people homeless?" Situational attribution may show that the homeless person tried to find a job, but no one was hiring. Or perhaps the person has a disability that prevents them from working. Or, they find a job that pays such low wages that they cannot afford to rent a place. On the other hand, considering dispositional attributes may lead to thoughts like, "These homeless people don't have money because they are lazy; instead of loitering all day, they should work hard, make money and get off the streets." This thought pattern leads to FAE, prejudice and hostility against the homeless.

When people become aware of such thought patterns, they will have more empathy toward the homeless population and strive to be part of the solution. The story of Jojo and others will hopefully make the community look at them with an educated lens and develop empathy for their situation.

ZOO CAMPS

SUBMITTED BY OAKLAND ZOO

Calling all Junior Zoologists! Join us for three full days of ZooCamp fun as we play games, sing songs, and think like scientists as we do our own zoology field work at the zoo. Campers will practice their skills of making observations and predictions, finishing out the mini-session with an expedition to the California Trail.

November Break ZooCamp is Monday, November 22 to Wednesday, November 24, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. every day.

To minimize COVID-related risks and to promote social/emotional wellbeing of our campers, this mini-session will be all three days with consistent groups.

Campers can expect to start and end their days with an opening circle in their small group. Groups will have scheduled time each day for facilitated learning, group games, free play, animal interactions and observations, lunch, snacks/breaks, and whole-camp activities like song sessions and big games. On Wednesday, all of ZooCamp will do an expedition up to our California Trail to explore a California animal of their choosing.

Campers should bring a water bottle, lunch, snack, and sunscreen with them to camp in a bag that they can carry as groups move from place to place. Campers should also come to camp wearing a hat, closed-toed shoes, and a mask. Staff will do symptom check-ins each morning at drop-off. We'll send out an email with more information and reminders of these expectations before the session starts.

Tri-City History Queries No. 10

BY KELSEY CAMELLO, FOR THE
WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP MUSEUM OF LOCAL HISTORY

Q: Why is the high school in Union City named "James Logan"?

A: Just one city over from Union City, in nearby Newark, the local high school is named after the town; it's simply known as Newark Memorial. In neighboring Fremont, the high schools (there are five, plus a continuation school) are named American, Irvington, Kennedy, Mission San Jose, and Washington. Each high school in the Fremont Unified School District is named for a prominent United States political, historical figure, or geographic location. In contrast, Union City has just one high school, and it is named after one hyper-local person, Mr. James Logan. But who was he?

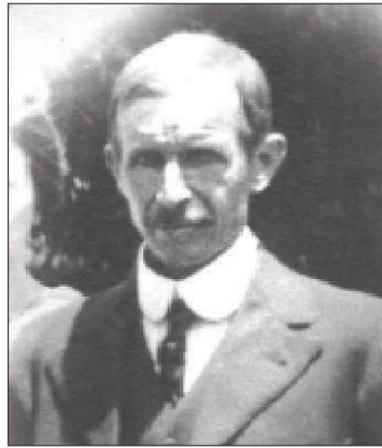

James Logan was an Irish immigrant who settled in Alvarado, which is now the western portion of Union City. The 1910 United States Census records James Logan as a farmer and a naturalized citizen, with his date of immigration noted as 1887. In 1891, Rebecca Kerr also immigrated to Alvarado (she too came from Ireland), and in 1894, the two married. From 1894 through 1915, James and Rebecca had twelve children, each born within two to three years of each other.

In 1865, Rebecca's uncle, Andrew Kerr, had settled in Alvarado and bought his ranch. By 1878, he owned 100 acres. Five years into his time in Alvarado (in 1870), Kerr built a new home on his property. When James and Rebecca married, they moved to the Kerr Farm and became farmers of beans, beets, onions, and potatoes. They later inherited the land from Kerr when he and his wife passed. In 1950, as a widow, Rebecca still dwelt in that 1870 home built by her uncle Andrew. The home likely stood near today's Alvarado Boulevard and Falcon Drive / Lake Arrowhead Avenue at the Fremont/Union City border, just across the road from Sylvester P. Harvey Park. The Logans later purchased additional land in Decoto where they grew cherries and apricots.

James Logan was not just a farmer, husband, and father. He was also a dynamic part of his community. He was active in the Alvarado Presbyterian Church, which was originally dedicated in 1861. In 1902, a new church structure was built. That year, Elders in the church were none other than James Logan and Andrew Kerr. The church building still stands today at 4214 Horner Street in Union City. It is now home to the Vietnamese Alliance Church. James Logan was also active in the local Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Freemasons, and he was known to share his food bounty and his farm equipment with others.

In 1931, Logan became an appointed trustee for the Washington Union School District (a pre-cursor to Fremont Unified). New Haven Unified School District (in Union City) was not yet formed. In fact, none of the three cities (Fremont, Newark, and Union City) were even incorporated yet! Students throughout the towns of Washington Township walked, drove, and rode bikes and horses to attend high school at Washington in Centerville. All twelve of the Logan children attended Washington High.

The same year that he was appointed trustee, 1931, James Logan perished tragically in a car crash. Twenty-eight years later, in 1959, James Logan High School opened on land in Decoto that had previously been owned by the Logan Family. The first class graduated in 1960. At the time, the school was still part of the Washington Union School District. Later, in 1965, the Alvarado and Decoto School Districts combined to form the New Haven Unified School District, and with it they claimed James Logan High School.

Over sixty years have passed since James Logan High School opened its doors. Ninety years ago, the school's namesake passed away. One-hundred thirty-four years ago, that same man first settled in Alvarado and began a new life there. He may have been just an ordinary man, or he may have been quite remarkable. Either way, there is pride to be had in the fact that James Logan High School is named for someone who truly lived, thrived, and worked as a part of that school's local community.

And, just for fun: Logan Court and Logan Avenue in Fremont are also named for James Logan.

TRIBUTE

James Logan and John C. Whipple, our departed trustees, will always be remembered as substantial and honored citizens, who, through many and varied interests, helped to make this community one of the best in Alameda County.

Every boy in high school holds an ideal of the kind of citizen he would like to be; Mr. Whipple and Mr. Logan were the measures for these ideals. As trustees of Washington Union High School they filled their positions capably and thoroughly, winning the respect of all about them.

The school, as well as their friends and families, suffered a deep loss with their passing.

Diwali: beyond lights and legends

BY JUI SADEKAR

Want to visit India? Here's your chance to experience the colors, sounds, rhythms, and flavors of India right here in the Bay Area. With Diwali, also known as Festival of Lights, around the corner, it's time to jazz up and spread a positive vibe in the community.

While there are many back stories to why Diwali is celebrated, victory of good over evil is the underlying theme. It is one of the most pious and joyous festivals among Indian celebrations. The word Diwali (or Deepavali as it's sometimes called) means "row of lights" in Sanskrit, an ancient language of India. During this festive season, people decorate their homes with lights and oil lamps, called "diyas." The festival lasts five days; the exact dates change each year and are determined by the position of the moon, but it usually falls between October and November.

Diwali also honors Hindu goddess of wealth, Lakshmi. The lights and lamps are said to help Lakshmi find her way into peoples' homes, bringing prosperity in the year to come. "Rangoli," beautiful patterns made using colorful powders and flowers, are a popular Diwali tradition. People draw rangoli on the floor by the entrance of their homes to welcome the gods and bring good luck.

However, Diwali is not just about lights and legends — it's a festival of new beginnings. It's a time to have fun with friends and relatives. It's a time to clean and decorate your home. It's a time to exchange gifts and sweets, to enjoy delicious feasts, to watch firework displays, and to wear new clothes. Finally, Diwali is a time to treat yourselves to some quality family time by showing gratitude for your loved ones and taking part in fun activities together.

The festive spirit can be enjoyed not only in India but also across the world, and the Bay Area is no exception to the extravaganza. India Community Center (ICC) in Milpitas is hosting "Diwali Dhamaka" on November 5, 2021. The event will feature live music by Krishnan and Dabandd Orchestra, and performances by California Nupur Dance Academy.

News and Notes FROM AROUND THE WORLD

SUBMITTED BY THE ASSOCIATION OF MATURE AMERICAN CITIZENS

Made it to the church on time

India can get pretty wet during monsoon season when five feet or more of rain can fall, reports the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. So, if rain is considered good luck for newlyweds, it's a good place to tie the knot. In fact, it was pretty lucky for Akash Kunjumon and his betrothed, Aishwarya. Their trip to the altar in the town of Thalavady was interrupted by a particularly heavy rainfall that caused flooding and, for a while there, it looked like they would have to postpone their ceremony for lack of suitable transport. They tried to find a proper boat to take them, but none was to be found. No problem. Their neighbors didn't let them down; they provided them with a cooking pot -- a very big cooking pot -- to "get them to the church on time," as the song goes.

An ancient find

A Knight Templar lost his sword in the Mediterranean Sea off of what is now Haifa, Israel during the Crusades 900 years ago. It was retrieved recently by a hapless diver who came across a treasure trove of ancient artifacts, including the sword, by mere chance, according to the AMAC. The Israel Antiquities Authority's Robbery Prevention Unit says, "The sword, which has been preserved in perfect condition, is a beautiful and rare find and evidently belonged to a Crusader knight."

No, it's not a houseboat

Daniele Penney her boyfriend, Kirk Lovell, had found their dream house on the shore of the Bay of Islands inlet in Newfoundland. The good news was that it was available; the bad news was that it was about to be torn down, reports AMAC. It appeared to be impossible to haul the structure over land to their own property in the coastal town of McIvers. The road had too many obstacles. So, they decided to float it to their parcel on a raft made of barrels and a metal frame loaded with old tires, using small boats for propulsion. It worked. They got the house to its new location, a bit wet but in one piece and now they are waiting for it to dry out. See the house afloat on YouTube at www.youtube.com/watch?v=IUmrnx7DVo.

TRASH TALK

BY THE PICKUP ARTIST

This is the tenth edition of Trash Talk, a column devoted to cleaning up our neighborhoods.

CA redemption value

Would you like to make your neighborhood trash collecting more profitable? You can redeem some "trash" for money. Tri-CED (Tri-CED.org) in Union City is paying $1.65 per pound for aluminum and $1.04 per pound for glass. Bottles need to be separated into clear, brown, and green. Some plastics also have value, one type over $5.00 per pound! There may be recycling centers that buy more or different material. Search the web with NEAR ME as a keyword.

Water Conservation tip of the month

If you need to "jiggle the handle" of a toilet, or if you hear a whisper of a leak, you could be wasting water 24 hours a day. There is a quick and easy way to check your toilets for wasting water. Put a few drops of food coloring into the toilet tank just before you go to bed. When you get up, there should be no color in the bowl. If there is, the seal between the tank and the bowl is leaking. The water in the bowl is designed to maintain a fixed depth, so additional water there will automatically wash down the drain; you won't notice the water level rising. This can be a DIY job, or a plumber or handyman can replace the seal, maybe even the whole float assembly. There are videos on YouTube to show what to do. REMEMBER TO TURN OFF THE WATER AT THE TOILET'S SHUTOFF VALVE BEFORE STARTING.

The quote for today:

"You can't wait until life isn't hard anymore before you decide to be happy." -Nightbirde (Jane Marczewski, contestant on America's Got Talent)

Answer to the last Trash Talk Question:

Have you met anyone who changed your life while trash-walking? Yes! I met Barbara on one of my walks, and she told me about Tri-City Voice. I followed up on her lead, and now write this column for them. I never would have expected that, thinking I'm just a concerned neighbor trying to keep the place livable. Thank you, Barbara!

The Trash Talk Question for today: On your trash walks, have you come across any situations that required urgent attention?

CITY GOVERNMENT AND YOU! - A SERIES EXCLUSIVE

Gathering and engaging in civic discourse dates back to the founding of this country. It speaks to the democratic core of our society, and is the method by which laws are made to this day.

In this special series, we take a deeper look at city government and, in particular, we explore the many advisory boards, committees and commissions that exist at a local level. Who resides on these boards? How long are their terms? Where and when do they meet? What do they do? How do they feel about what they're doing?

If you've ever wondered how cities operate, then this is the series for you. Our goal is to help demystify the process and encourage active participation.

Join us as we pull back the curtain on democracy.

BY APRIL RAMOS

Fremont's Library Advisory Commission is a group of community members who study and review policies, programs and events related to the library's services. The commission communicates this information to library staff, city council and Alameda County Library Advisory Commission (ACLAC) to better develop and operate library facilities in a way that is functional to the library staff and community members. It is an integral part of the community.

Many programs are put in place due to communication between the library commissions and city councils. For example, Lawyer in the Library is a free legal information and referral program hosted by Hayward Public Library and staffed by a volunteer lawyer.

San Leandro Public Library hosts drum circles and History Readers Book Club. Fremont Library offers programs for kids such as practicing their reading skills with therapy dog, Bentley.

Fremont Library Advisory Commission has nine members and two staff members. There are currently two vacant positions on the commission board, including student commissioner.

Although every city's commission board is different, each has seven to nine members. Most terms are two to four years.

In Fremont, the City Clerk's office welcomes applications for all boards, commission and committees throughout the year. Applications may be submitted to the City Clerk at any time between January 1 and December 31. These applications may be considered for various vacancies throughout the year; however, on December 31, any remaining applications for persons not appointed will be void. In order to be considered for a new year, a new application must be submitted.

Each city's library commission meetings take place at a different time and may have a different title. The Fremont Library Advisory Commission meets at 7 p.m. on the fourth Monday of January and third Monday of March, May, September, and November currently via Zoom. Hayward's Library Commission meets monthly via Zoom on the third Monday at 6:30 p.m. San Leandro's Library-Historical Commission meets the third Tuesday of every month at 7:00 p.m. via Zoom. The Library and Education Commission of Milpitas holds their meetings the third Monday of every January, March, May, September, and November at 7:00 p.m. at the Milpitas Library Conference Room, or a designated area. ACLAC meets the first Wednesday of January, April, July, and October.

Alameda County Library Advisory Commission is made of 16 members because it covers all Alameda County's libraries. The commission includes a council member from each of the five cities in the Alameda County Library service area. These five cities are Fremont, Newark, Union City, Hayward, and San Leandro. Four members are appointed by either Alameda County Board of Supervisors or ACLAC members, five members are appointed by Board of Supervisors, and two high school or college students are appointed by the full commission. Student members are appointed for one-year terms. Commission members, other than City Council and student members, are appointed for two-year terms. City Council members serve in conjunction with their council terms or as appointed by their respective councils.

13-year-old wins $10,000 prize for research

SUBMITTED BY RACHEL MYERS

A 13-year-old from Fremont won $10,000 for her research geocoding the locations of fast-food restaurants to see if they are built near populations of obese people, perhaps contributing to the obesity cycle.

On October 28, Ryka Chopra won the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Award for Health Advancement in the Broadcom MASTERS, the nation's premier middle school STEM competition. Broadcom MASTERS is owned and produced by the nonprofit organization Society for Science.

For her project, Ryka geocoded locations of fast-food restaurants in her community to investigate if fast-food chains intentionally target existing obesity clusters when opening new branches. She found that if a certain location had a 1% increase in the rate of obesity, then more than two new fast-food branches would open near the location, contributing to the obesity cycle.

Ryka was selected from a pool of nearly 1,841 students from 48 states, Washington, D.C. and three US territories (Puerto Rico, Guam and Virgin Islands). She participated in a rigorous virtual competition that leveraged project-based learning to test and demonstrate their mastery of 21st Century skills of critical thinking, communication, creativity and collaboration in each of the STEM areas.

In her spare time, Ryka enjoys computer programming and music. She is currently working to develop a musical app that can aid people's mental health and help students focus. In the future, Ryka is interested in pursuing a career in computer science.

GEORGE ORWELL'S Animal Farm

SUBMITTED BY OHLONE COLLEGE

Ohlone College's award-winning Theatre & Dance Department presents Animal Farm, adapted by Ian Wooldridge from the book by George Orwell and directed by Michael Navarra.

The performance will be held at the Smith Center at Ohlone College's Fremont campus at 43600 Mission Boulevard on November 12, 13, 18, and 20 at 8 p.m. An ASL interpreted performance will be held on November 19.

George Orwell's Animal Farm has proven long-lived as a parable about totalitarianism

Director of Theatre Michael Navarra. "We're now living through our own polarizing time. What I admire about Orwell is that he was able to look at the pitfalls of both sides. Animal Farm is a warning that this has happened before and, if we're not watching closely, we may inadvertently contribute to it happening again. Hope lives in keeping these memories alive, seeing ourselves in them, and then making better choices in our time."

There will be no late seating for this show. Proof of COVID-19 vaccination required. No exemptions. Masks are required while indoors.

Together for Hayward e-gift cards

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF HAYWARD

The City of Hayward is starting a new electronic gift card program to support local businesses, and help residents get more for their shopping, dining, and gift-giving dollar.

Just in time for the holiday season, the new Together for Hayward e-gift cards can be purchased online in any denomination and used at local participating businesses. Additionally, the City will provide spending power boosts for each e-gift card purchased at certain levels, while City funding lasts. Customers who purchase a $40 gift card will receive a second e-gift card worth $10. A $75 e-gift card will come with an extra $20 bonus card, and a $100-plus card with an extra $30 bonus card – while City funding of the promotional bonus cards lasts.

Together for Hayward e-Gift Card program features a growing list of local retailers, restaurants, services and entertainment – truly something for everyone. The cards also are ideal for business bulk purchasing, and as employee rewards and incentives, customer appreciation rewards, and as holiday and welcome gifts.

City of Hayward Economic Development Division is carrying out the program through yiftee.com. To learn more, visit Together for Hayward e-Gift Card program page: <https://bit.ly/3vR2VQc>

The cost to purchase an e-gift card is $1 plus five percent of the total value of the gift amount. While funds last, City of Hayward will be covering this fee. E-gift card recipients pay nothing, and local merchants receive the full value of purchases made with the e-gift cards. Vaccine Video Contest

SUBMITTED BY SANTA CLARA COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT

The County of Santa Clara Public Health Department has launched an innovative contest to empower youth to educate their peers about COVID-19 vaccinations. The 2021 VaxUp Video Contest calls for 6 - to 12 - graders to create short videos with powerful messages.

Students in two categories – one for middle school and one for high school – will compete for cash prizes for their team and their school. Prizes range from $500 to $1,500. Deadline for entries is November 15.

"Our kids and teens have shown us many times over how this pandemic has affected them on a personal level. This contest gives them a creative outlet to show the community what vaccinations mean to them," said Dr. Monika Roy, Assistant Health Officer for the County of Santa Clara Public Health Department. "We cannot wait to see the entries and showcase the winners."

Youth aged 16 and 17 years old became eligible in April for COVID-19 shots, while 12- to 15-year-olds gained eligibility in May. However, in Santa Clara County youth lag behind other age groups in vaccination rates. Peer-to-peer messaging is a strong influencer among youth, and social media videos are a popular medium to showcase creativity for issues youth are passionate about.

All students currently attending 6th to 12th grade in Santa Clara County are eligible to enter the contest, as long as they have an adult sponsor affiliated with a school, such as a teacher or coach. Winners will be announced at an awards ceremony livestreamed on the Public Health Department's social media channels.

Here's how it works:

Teams of up to five students create videos 30 to 60 seconds long and post on Instagram and Tik Tok with hashtag #scVaxUpVideo. Many video styles are welcome, including acted scenes, performance art, and music videos.

1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners will be selected by a panel of volunteer judges for two categories: 6th to 8th graders and 9th to 12th graders.

Cash prizes will be awarded for both categories: $1,500, $1,000 and $500, plus $500 for the schools with a 1st place winner. Prizes are funded by a grant through the VMC Foundation.

For contest rules and how to enter, visit scVaxUpVideo.org.

Tree Planting Event

SUBMITTED BY COMMUNITY SERVICES, CITY OF FREMONT

On Saturday, November 6, the City of Fremont will be partnering with Tri-City Urban Forestry Alliance (TUFA), Microsoft, Greenkeepers USA, and the Arbor Day Foundation as a joint grant-funded community planting event to plant 80 trees at Sabercat Creek Trail in Fremont.

Made possible by an Arbor Day Grant, funded by a Microsoft donation and a Proposition 68 funded CalFire Urban & Community Forestry Program Grant, 80 trees will be planted by approximately 80 volunteers to focus on preservation and growth of the City's Urban Forest.

Check in for event participants starts at 8:00 am and runs until 9:30 am. Anyone who wants to attend and observe should arrive at 9:30. There will be a brief introduction between 10:30 am and 11:00 am.

Urban trees reduce stormwater runoff and allows water to be captured before loss into the sea. Sediment, pollutants, and organic matter is restricted from entering sewer systems and streams, ultimately improving our water quality. Trees have been shown to reduce crime, lower stress levels, and develop community pride. Because trees provide all these benefits and more to take care of us, we choose to take care of them!

ARDENWOOD FARM WELCOMES YOU BACK!

While the farm had to pause its operations when the pandemic first hit, it was able to open its doors to the public in March 2021 and adopt new self-guided activities including an audio tour. As of June, reservations are no longer required for entrance and the farm is functioning like it did pre-pandemic.

For the last 35 years, Ardenwood Farm has provided an educational venue for children and adults alike to learn about farm life. Unlike other historic farmhouses, which typically only preserve the house and garden, Ardenwood has maintained its various agricultural elements, according to Christina Garcia, a Naturalist for East Bay Regional Parks. This includes a hay barn where equipment and tack are stored, farm animals; a tankhouse that powers water; working blacksmith shop; a milk house once used to store produce, meat and milk; tractor shed with the farm's antique tractor; walnut orchard; gazebo and more. Socially-distance train rides journey across acres of crops and groves. Due to limited capacity and high-demand, Garcia advises visitors to reserve tickets in advance since they tend to sell out before the end of the day.

Visitors can try their hand at harvesting crops, feeding animals, and old-fashioned laundry washing. Arts and crafts are a favorite amongst families and children, who can make mosaics out of flint corn, dolls out of corn husk, and felt out of wool. However, before the farm was able to re-open its doors to the public, it relied on virtual field trips to educate students on the farm's history and features. Although operations are back to normal, the farm continues to offer online tours to educators who don't feel comfortable coming in-person yet.

Ardenwood Farm has implemented several changes over the course of the pandemic, beginning with replacing pamphlets with the audio tour. In addition, it offered seasonal self-guided activities such as pick-your-own tomatoes, melons, mini pumpkins, and cucumbers. (Visitors can still water the vegetable garden.) The most significant change, however, is Ardenwood's cooperation with new farming partner Dig Deep Farms, a non-profit that provides food and job training for underserved communities. This collaboration came about in the summer of 2021 after the retirement of the site's long-standing farming partner Joe Perry and Sons. While Ardenwood wasn't able to host its annual harvest festival due to farming limitations, it was able to hold its Pumpkin Patch Festival with 5,000 pumpkins supplied by Dig Deep Farms.

Overall, the re-opening process has been a smooth and exciting one for the Ardenwood team who are happy to welcome back visitors during fall—it's busiest time of year. They've provided seasonal October activities such as apple-cider pressing, costume clothespin doll-making, Halloween farm games, felted pumpkins, and corn mosaics of freshly-harvested flint corn. Beginning in November, they will offer rope making, hay hoisting, yarn making, tree tours, and bird-watching. In December, the farm will be adorned with Christmas decorations and offer more programs, including information about pollination and how it helps plants grow.

Ardenwood farm is open Tuesday through Sunday with programs for adults, families and schools. Garcia is excited to see people come back and says, "Having an educational venue to teach people where their food comes from is unique and important. We invite everyone to come on by and look forward to welcoming them back!"

Home & Garden

Wild birds and the winter garden

BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

The ongoing shortages of many items is pointed out daily in newspaper headlines and on talk shows. Computer chips, lumber, and gasoline are just a few of the items that media are focusing on as potential problems for the US economy. Less newsworthy but still potentially problematic is a shortage of food, water, and nesting materials for wild birds during the winter. The shortage of these items will not affect the overall economy but can devastate wild bird populations. Taking some short and long-term measures in the garden can help get birds through winter and into spring when food, water, and nesting materials are more abundant.

Some bird species migrate seasonally and some stay local all year. It is important to provide habitat all year for birds that forage on the ground, ones that rummage a little higher up in shrubs, and ones that scour tree tops. Growing plants that have different canopy levels, are evergreen, and provide winter food is a long-term solution that will greatly benefit wild birds. Take a look at the garden this fall and see where any gaps in the canopy appear, and fill them with plants that will grow to the desired height. Although plants will take a couple of years to mature, even a little coverage can help.

Some plants provide winter food. Kinnikinnick or Red Bearberry is an evergreen ground cover that provides bright red berries in fall and into winter. Virginia Creeper is a vine that provides nutritious black berries in fall that persist into winter, along with year-round nesting coverage. Cotoneaster is a shrub that has colorful red winter berries that birds love. Spruce shrubs and trees produce seed bearing cones that are available in the winter for foraging. Dogwood trees produce high-fat berries into winter that are particularly good for migrating birds.

There are several plants that can be grown for their summer flowers which if not deadheaded can provide food in winter. Not cutting off dried flowers of some annuals such as sunflowers and cosmos will offer birds a high protein/fat winter food source. Zinnias have nectar-rich flowers that can feed hummingbirds into late fall. Dried flowers of other seed-bearing perennials such as tickseeds, coneflowers, sedums, and penstemons will provide valuable winter nutrition if left on the plant. Grasses are not grown for their flowers, but many produce large amounts of seeds that if left on the stalk will feed a variety of birds.

Areas with fallen leaves and twigs, and even access to a compost pile, will provide birds with winter nesting materials. In addition, nesting balls can be hung at various heights in dry locations. Nesting balls consist of nesting-safe materials in a recycled vegetable mesh bag, a small wire cage, or tied together with a grapevine or other natural cord. Dried grass, twigs, moss, different leaves, shredded paper, cotton, wool, yarn, and feathers make great fillers that give different birds many options.

Supplementing food will also attract birds in winter. Multiple feeders at varying heights with different types of seed blends will benefit both permanent resident and migratory birds without changing their migratory habits. Wild bird suet can be used to feed wild birds in the winter. It can be purchased or made, and provides valuable fat to replace the energy birds expend trying to stay warm in the winter.

The site inhabitat.com/diy-suet-winter-birdfeeders has a comprehensive list of ingredients and a great instructional video. Peanut butter is another optimal choice but can cost more over the course of entire winter.

Scarcity of food in winter means that more birds will be visiting available feeders. It is important to clean the feeders regularly in case an infectious disease breaks out. Hummingbird feeders should be cleaned every few days because the sugar solution needs to be free of mold which can be toxic. Using different styles of feeders with different seeds will accommodate birds with different eating habits. Feeders should also have a clear space around them so that predators cannot hide and catch an easy meal. They also need to be filled regularly. There is a lot of competition for food in the winter, and if the birds think there will be food at a feeder, they will waste valuable energy getting to or waiting for food there instead of foraging elsewhere.

There is no guarantee that there will be clean water for birds to drink even in the winter, especially in drought years. Providing water year-round is just as important as providing food and shelter. Cleaning the water source regularly and providing it at different levels will help many more birds.

With a little planning and effort, creating a bird-friendly winter garden can attract and aid wild birds, bringing enjoyment to the garden and making it come alive, even in the dead of winter.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: NOVEMBER 2, 2021

All Signs: Every month, we have a New Moon, which is when the Sun and the Moon are lined up in the same sign. It's the perfect time for beginnings and planting new seeds. This week, the New Moon peaks on Thursday, and is immediately followed by an electrifying zap from Uranus. (It will most strongly affect those born in the first week of May, Aug., Nov and Feb.) For all of us, this is an opportunity for a fresh start and a chance to set new goals and make resolutions.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 19)

For Aries, the New Moon this week takes place in the part of your chart that concerns how you share wealth with others. This includes shared property, jointly-held items, shared debt, inheritances. It includes shared responsibilities as well. The New Moon on Thursday is a great chance for you to think about how to reduce your debt and handle your financial agreements. Something unusual might suddenly occur. Hopefully, a solution or a better approach to something? Maybe something needs your attention?

Taurus the Bull (April 20-May 20)

The New Moon this week is the only one all year directly opposite your sign. This polarized position will give you an opportunity to improve your closest partnerships and relationships. (It will be strongest for those born April 27 – May 8.) Even though the New Moon opposite your sign occurs only once a year, this one is especially unusual because it will be energized by unpredictable Uranus. You might have a sudden idea about how to improve your relationship? Or something unexpected might prompt you to make a change? Be open and receptive.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20)

Something unexpected might jiggle your world this week, especially midweek when the New Moon occurs. As a result, you might suddenly decide to take a serious look at your health. You might get on a self-help kick and turn over a new leaf. Perhaps this same influence will cause you to look at your job? You might decide to work in a more efficient and productive way. Something unexpected could impact a pet. Whatever happens, you will resolve to make improvements in one of these areas this week.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 22)

Unexpected challenges and surprises from unpredictable Uranus will occur midweek. (Parents take note: This is an accident-prone influence for your kids. Be extra vigilant and make sure your kids are safe. Be aware of potential hazards for toddlers.) Social plans might suddenly change. Something might be cancelled or alternatively, something new might blossom. Sports will hold surprises and potential accidents. On the upside, you might get a fun invitation or an opportunity. Romance might surprise. This could mean love at first sight, an exciting new relationship, or a sudden breakup.

Leo the Lion (July 23-Aug. 22)

Expect a few curveballs to impact home and family this week. Something unexpected will surprise you or upset your routine. This could relate to a parent or a family member. Someone might suddenly move out or in. A domestic squabble might upset the family harmony. Nevertheless, this week something unexpected will occur. It could relate to real-estate deals suddenly changing, or surprise news about a family member. The upshot is that this week, you have a chance to make new beginnings and resolutions about your home and family.

Virgo the Virgin (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

This week will hold some surprises for you. For starters, there's a strong accident-prone influence. Pay attention to everything you say and do. You can expect to meet new faces and see new places because almost certainly, your daily routine will change. Your everyday world will have surprising challenges, opportunities and detours. However, you have some clever, original ideas! You might have an unexpected chance to take a course or get further training. You might also have surprising news from a relative or neighbor.

Libra the Scales (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Everyone is encountering some surprises this week. For your sign, the surprise could impact your salary, cash flow, earnings or something that you own. For example, you might find money or lose money. Be smart and protect your belongings against theft, damage or loss. On the upside, you might get a financial windfall or make an unusual purchase that delights you? You might get a different job or figure out a new way to make money. This is a fortunate time for you so whatever happens is nothing you can't handle.

Scorpio the Scorpion (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

Expect a surprise this week because the Sun, New Moon and fiery Mars are all in your sign. Midweek, this bundle of energy receives a powerful electric charge from Uranus. Something surprising will almost certainly happen. This could relate to a close relationship. It might mean a sudden change in your environment. One possibility is an unexpected accident. Therefore, be careful. Guard against rash actions and knee-jerk reactions. On the upside, this could be when you finally have the courage to make a break for your own personal freedom.

Sagittarius the Archer (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

It's fortunate Venus is in your sign now because it makes you charming and diplomatic. Venus also promotes good times with friends, and it ranks pleasure above work. Meanwhile, a hidden, unexpected surprise will catch you off guard this week. Because it will take place in a hidden part of your chart, others might not know but you will. Caution against accident-prone behavior. Think twice before you react to surprising news. Stay cool.

Capricorn the Goat (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Stay on your toes this week because you will encounter a surprise from a friend or a member of a group. You might be asked to leave or join a group. Whatever happens, it will introduce a change in your life. This could be major, or it could be a minor tiff with a friend. People are a bit hotheaded now, and you might be in competition with someone. This could lead to an argument. Remember – you value your public reputation. Therefore, don't do anything that you will regret later.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

This is not a typical week. At the very top of your chart, sits the Sun, the New Moon and fiery Mars. Then midweek, this energy is challenged by your ruler, wild, wacky Uranus. This could mean that you will fight for your own independence. You might rebel against bosses, parents and authority figures. It could be as minor as an argument with a parent or a boss or as major as changing your life direction. Fortunately, Venus will help you be diplomatic with friends, who in turn, will be supportive.

Pisces Fish (Feb. 19-March 20)

Big changes are occurring; and the upshot is that you have a thrilling sense of freedom. This might bring a sudden opportunity to travel. It might also mean a chance to explore avenues in publishing, the media, the law, medicine or higher education. This could also indicate a quarrel about philosophical, political, racial or religious ideas. The good news is that Venus, at the top of your chart, guarantees warm support from authority figures in your life. Big changes are taking place – but you are protected.

Bret Harte Middle School teacher earns National Teacher Award

SUBMITTED BY HAYWARD UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Edgar Monroy, a teacher at Bret Harte Middle School in the Hayward Unified School District, has earned the 2021-22 Project Lead The Way (PLTW) National Gateway Teacher of the Year award. The recognition acknowledges educators who demonstrate a strong record of delivering an inspiring and empowering student experience, expanding access to PLTW programs, and transforming teaching. Mr. Monroy was chosen from nominations received from across the U.S. He was honored by the school district and PLTW in a safe, in-person celebration on November 1.

PLTW is honoring Edgar for his work in the PLTW engineering pathway. Mr. Monroy has been a teacher at Bret Harte Middle School for four years and teaches Gateway Engineering for students in 7th and 8th grade. His classes include coding, 3-D modeling, designing apps, automation, and robotics. "Bret Harte is proud of the dedication and passion Mr. Monroy brings to the classroom," said Seana Condit-Gordon, principal of Bret Harte Middle School. "Mr. Monroy is inspiring and we feel honored to have him as an educator and member of our school community."

Edgar Monroy has been a leader in growing the engineering program with outreach to elementary schools. He's guided Bret Harte students to teach STEAM to younger students as a way of developing the pathway program. In the summer, his students have the opportunity to build circuits and work alongside real engineers. Mr. Monroy provides professional development to his colleagues and is a member of the Instructional Leadership and the Subject Matter teams. He helped Bret Harte Science Department receive a grant to expand PLTW offerings across content areas and has connected with industry partners like Chevron to provide opportunities for students to engage in special events.

"Teachers and educational leaders perform one of the most critical functions in our society, and we are proud to work with these outstanding educators who are leaders in their classrooms and across the PLTW network," said Dr. Vince Bertram, PLTW President and CEO. "Congratulations and thank you for your partnership in a shared commitment to empower our students to thrive in our evolving world even amidst the most challenging and unprecedented of times."

Bret Harte offers the PLTW engineering pathway program to 7th and 8th graders. They have the opportunity to continue their immersive learning by continuing in the engineering pathway at Hayward High School. While Mr. Monroy's accomplishments are plenty, it seems that his greatest achievement is the impact he has on students. In a recent school board meeting where Mr. Monroy's PLTW recognition was celebrated, a former student described him as the "best teacher I've ever had."

Plethos premieres 'Chinglish'

SUBMITTED BY KARIN RICHEY

Plethos Productions proudly presents Chinglish by David Henry Hwang, which will be streaming on demand November 5-14 and will have a red carpet premiere at The Chabot Theatre on Saturday, November 6.

This Tony Award-winning romantic comedy centers around Daniel (played by Will Livingston), an American businessman trying to land the deal of a lifetime in China. The biggest lesson he learns right away - always bring your own translator. Linguistic and romantic hilarity ensues as Daniel finds himself romantically entangled with Xi Yan (played by Lan Zhong), the beautiful woman on the other side of the negotiation table.

This laugh-out-loud comedy shows what can happen when cultures collide in a hilarious way. It's also a touching look at the value of collaboration and appreciation for cultural and linguistic differences.

You won't want to miss the excellent performances by Tony Cardoza, who plays Peter, Daniel's unhinged consultant, Xun Zhang who plays the powerful Minister Cai along with Byron Guo, Bingcong Zhu and Skyler Riordan who play an assortment of terrible translators who add much mayhem to this lost-in-translation comedy of errors.

This show was professionally filmed live onstage at the Douglas Morrisson Theatre in Hayward. Streaming tickets are $15-$20 per device at plethos.org.

House burglar get new keys before she's locked up

ASSOCIATED PRESS

A woman pretended she owned a Southern California home so a locksmith would make her new keys. Then police locked her up.

Officers arrested a 43-year-old woman on suspicion of burglary Oct. 23 in Coronado, a resort city across the bay from San Diego. The brazen burglary was foiled when the real homeowner called Coronado police and said her neighbor noticed suspicious activity at the home. The homeowner was out of town, yet the neighbor saw the home's lights being turned on and off.

Officers arrived and the neighbor -- a relative of the homeowner's -- gave them a spare key. But it didn't fit the front door's lock, and metal shavings and pieces of an old lock were on the ground nearby. As police walked around the home, they saw back doors open and a fireplace turned on as music played inside. After calling for a helicopter and a K-9 unit, officers saw someone moving around on the second floor in what was supposed to be an empty house with only one spare key.

Police called out to the person inside, who came out a few minutes later and was arrested. The woman claimed there were two kids in the house, but a police search turned up empty. The woman told police the home was hers and said she'd called a locksmith earlier to change the front door's locks.

No word if the burglar gave anyone a spare key.

Plan would give Los Angeles Zoo a flashy transformation

ASSOCIATED PRESS

A controversial $650 million plan would give the Los Angeles Zoo a theme park-style transformation.

The zoo nestled in Griffith Park would have exhibit upgrades and new attractions such as a 60-foot-deep canyon for rock climbs and a hilltop California Center in the style of a Yosemite lodge with a sweeping view of a 25,000-square-foot (2,323-square-meter) vineyard, the Los Angeles Times reported Wednesday.

Advocates of the "20-year Vision Plan" say it would draw up to 3 million visitors annually by 2040, an increase of 72%.

Implementing the plan would consume 23 acres (9.3 hectares) of native woodlands, drawing opposition led by the historical preservation group Friends of Griffith Park and the California Native Plant Society.

The 2028 Los Angeles Olympic Games were in mind in the development of the plan, said Denise Verrett, the zoo director and chief executive. "What are we going to do to attract international travelers to the zoo as a place they should not miss?" Verrett said.

The next step for the proposal is consideration by the Los Angeles City Council's Arts, Parks, Health, Education, and Neighborhoods Committee. The city-owned zoo relies on $11.6 million from the city's general fund to meet its approximately $25 million fiscal budget for 2021-22.

Park It

BY NED MACKAY

In recognition of its leadership role in providing essential services during the pandemic, East Bay Regional Park District has received the United Nations Association's 2021 Global Citizen Award.

The award was conferred by the Association's East Bay and Silicon Valley Chapters. It also acknowledges the park district's commitment to the 17 Sustainable Development Goals, adopted by the United Nations in 2015 as a guide to creating a world more equitable, inclusive and sustainable for all peoples.

"We are honored to be recognized for our contribution to physical health, stress relief and mental well-being during the COVID-19 pandemic," said park district board President Dee Rosario. "Parks have provided an essential public service. We are proud that when the public needed us most, we answered the call and kept parks open and safe."

The award was presented to Rosario and park district General Manager Sabrina Landreth at a virtual ceremony on Sunday, October 24.

Live turkeys seem to be everywhere these days, except when Thanksgiving is near. You can find out more about these ubiquitous birds during a program from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Saturday, November 6 at Sunol Regional Wilderness in southern Alameda County with naturalist Kristina Parkison. Kristina will talk about the birds' natural history and cultural significance, then lead a walk-in search of turkeys in the wild. The program is free of charge and registration is not required.

Sunol also plans a self-guided scavenger hunt the same day. Drop by the visitor center any time between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., pick up an activity sheet, and set out to discover the park. Naturalist Erica Stephens will preside.

Sunol Wilderness is located at the end of Geary Road off Calaveras Road about five miles south of I-680 and the town of Sunol. There's a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. For information, call (510) 544-3249.

From 3:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Saturday and Sunday (except Christmas Day), it's fish feeding time in the aquarium at Crab Cove Visitor Center in Alameda. You can watch while the staff feeds crabs, fish and other Bay water inhabitants. While you are there, check out the California Coast and Ocean Photography exhibit, and photos and artifacts from Alameda's past.

The visitor center is at 1252 McKay Avenue off Central Avenue. Parking costs $5 per vehicle when the kiosk is attended; entry to the visitor center is free. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

Saturday Strolls are a series of naturalist-led, moderate hikes exploring various regional parks. There's a two-mile stroll from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, November 6 at Huckleberry Botanic Regional Preserve in Oakland. It's free, and no registration is required.

The entrance to Huckleberry is on Skyline Boulevard about a mile south of the intersection with Grizzly Peak Boulevard. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

Little children will enjoy taking care of the little animals at the Little Farm in the Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley. The program is free of charge. Meet at the rabbit hutch from 10:30 to 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, November 7. Masks are required; no registration is necessary.

The Little Farm is at the north end of Tilden's Central Park Drive, reached via Canon Drive from Grizzly Peak Boulevard in Berkeley. For information, call (510) 544-2233.

You can see a tame local snake and learn about all the snakes that live in the regional parks in a program from 11 a.m. to 12 noon on Sunday, November 7 at Black Diamond Mines Regional Preserve in Antioch.

Meet naturalist Kevin Dixon in the park's upper parking lot at the end of Somersville Road, 3½ miles south of Highway 4. It's a drop-in program; no registration is required. Black Diamond Mines has a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. For information, call (510) 544-2750.

This is just a sample. For a complete program listing, visit the park district website, www.ebparks.org.

HISTORY MATTERS

BY JOHN GRIMALDI AND DAVID BRUCE SMITH

Presidential term limits

On November 7, 1944, Franklin Delano Roosevelt became the only president in history elected to a fourth term. There was no law against unlimited tenure, but after George Washington declined to run a third time in 1796, each succeeding Chief Executive abided by his example.

President Roosevelt might have rebuffed the "Rule" because of the dire worldwide conditions. America was lifting out of its Great Depression, but it still had to contend with the aggressive behaviors from Germany and Japan.

In 1945, the war ended. Two years later, Congress proposed the 22nd Amendment, which limited presidential service to two, four-year terms; the bill was ratified by the states on February 27, 1951.

For more information, the Grateful American Book Prize recommends "Franklin D. Roosevelt: The Four-Term President" by Michael A Schuman.

Evolution of American football

On November 4, 1869, Rutgers beat Princeton 6-4 in America's very first college football game. It was a grudge match precipitated by an 1866 baseball game in which Princeton prevailed in a 40-2 rout. But football was different tin those days; it was played with a soccer ball.

Rutgers' description of the football game virtually admits the players were engaged in a version of soccer: "The ball could be advanced only by kicking or batting it with the feet, hands, heads, or sides." (As adapted from the London Football Association).

The NCAA football record book recognized it as part of college football history until the 1880s; then, a great rugby player from Yale, Walter Camp, pioneered rule changes that slowly converted it to American Football.

The Hall of Fame provides another piece of American football history; John Brallier, a quarterback at Indiana College in Pennsylvania became the first "pro football player" when he accepted "$10 and 'cakes' (expenses) to play for the Latrobe, Pennsylvania, town team against neighboring Jeannette on September 3, 1895.

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends "How Football Became Football: 150 Years of the Game's Evolution" by Timothy P. Brown.

Never forget

On November 11, 2021, America will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier -- a ceremony over which President Warren Harding presided. Now, the annual commemoration has been absorbed into a part of Veterans Day.

According to History.com, the first "unknown soldier was buried with highest honors beside the Memorial Amphitheater [in Arlington National Cemetery]. As the soldier was lowered to his final resting place, a two-inch layer of soil brought from France was placed below his coffin so that he might rest forever atop the earth on which he died."

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends "The Unknowns: The Untold Story of America's Unknown Soldier and WWI's Most Decorated Heroes Who Brought Him Home" by Patrick K. O'Donnell.

Injured pelican recovering at Oakland Zoo

SUBMITTED BY OAKLAND ZOO

On the afternoon of October 28, Oakland Zoo received and responded to a call from distressed citizens visiting Lake Merritt, reporting a pelican suffering from a large fishhook lodged into its throat as well as fishing line encircling its neck and bill. The improperly disposed of fishing gear had been preventing the animal from being able to eat or drink for weeks.

Using two kayaks and a small motorboat to reach and then capture the pelican, Oakland Zoo's Vice President of Animal Care, Colleen Kinzley, and Zoological Manager Andrea Dougall, transported the bird to Oakland Zoo's Veterinary Hospital for treatment.

Upon arrival at the Zoo, veterinary staff examined the bird, administered fluids, conducted a blood draw, and examined the injured area on the neck. The veterinary staff determined the pelican suffered from dehydration, starvation, and based on the bloodwork appeared to have possible anemia.

After examinations, Dr. Alex Herman, Vice President of Veterinary Services at Oakland Zoo removed the one-inch barbed fishing hook from the pelican's neck. The pelican has now been aptly nicknamed 'Merritt' by Oakland Zoo staff.

Veterinary staff have successfully fed help by picking up any fishing items found in nature", says Amy Godliffe, Vice President of Conservation at Oakland Zoo.

These items are improperly disposed of on beaches or from fishing boats. Between 2002 and 2015, a study by Audubon Society reports that California-based International Bird Rescue treated at least 2,957 birds for injuries caused by fishing gear.

Oakland Zoo urges guests and the public to join them in Taking Action for Wildlife by changing fishing habits to help save birds and other marine life like 'Merritt' the pelican.

When fishing, never leave behind lures, hooks, fishing lines, or bait. Dispose of any Merritt smelt and capelin fish, which is a hopeful sign of recovery. For now, Merritt will remain at Oakland Zoo's Veterinary Hospital for ongoing wound treatment and recovery.

Many coastal birds and other marine life are injured or killed each year by cut and discarded fishing lines, associated hooks, and tackle. "Untold numbers of birds, turtles and other wildlife are affected by this solvable issue. Proper disposal of fishing line is crucial, and every citizen can gear properly in box or similar enclosed receptacle within designated disposal areas or at home.

THE ART OF THE BRICK

SUBMITTED BY JULIE RICHTER

"The Art of the Brick"—a captivating exhibition featuring intriguing works of art by renowned contemporary artist Nathan Sawaya—is set to make its San Francisco debut in December 2021, at the historic 1 Grant Avenue. The critically acclaimed collection features over 70 works of art made exclusively from one of the most recognizable toys in the world—the LEGO brick.

Located in the heart of the city, the landmark building at 1 Grant Avenue offers visitors a reimagined museum-like experience, with breathtaking contemporary art at every turn. The collection features original pieces as well as re-imagined versions of some of the world's most famous art masterpieces made exclusively from LEGO bricks like Van Gogh's Starry Night and Da Vinci's Mona Lisa as well as a gallery showcasing an innovative, multimedia collection of LEGO brick infused photography that Sawaya produced in collaboration with award-winning photographer Dean West.

In addition, visitors will be able to walk beside a 20-foot-long T-Rex dinosaur skeleton made out of bricks and come face-to-face with a giant LEGO skull. The Art of the Brick also includes fan favorite, Yellow, a sculpture of a man ripping his chest open with thousands of yellow LEGO bricks cascading from the cavity.

"The Art of the Brick takes LEGO somewhere you wouldn't expect and shows you things you have never seen before," said artist Sawaya. "The goal with this collection of art is to demonstrate the potential of imagination and the power of creativity."

Winter is coming

Winding up the year can also be an opportunity to examine the aspirations of New Year resolutions, measured by accomplishments. Such internal audits not only benefit individuals and families, but can be applied toward business and government organizations as well. An evaluation of structure, reliability and efficiency aids efforts to determine whether adequate attention has been paid to fiscal and organizational health. Balanced assessment of strengths and weaknesses can result in a realistic and actionable plan for the coming new year.

One area for our governmental agencies to examine is the role, viability and actions of its departments, committees and subcommittees. What are their roles? Do they meet on a regular basis? Do they perform a necessary and vital function? Do they allow citizens to engage with their elected representatives, offering input and suggestions? How do these groups influence subsequent policy decisions? If committees or boards constantly cancel meetings, do they have a genuine purpose?

Within cities, counties and other governmental organizations, does each department have a clear focus on its responsibilities? Should reorganization be explored? For instance, many communities give animal shelter and adoption responsibilities to humane organizations dedicated to the welfare of animals; why does Fremont assign this responsibility to the police department?

Tri-City Voice is publishing a series of articles describing the myriad of commissions, committees and boards that form a bridge between the community and policy decisions of elected leaders. These advisory bodies can, if organized and energized, create a strong bond with government mechanisms - or devolve into extraneous bodies that serve little purpose. Evaluation of their strength and vitality is a function of knowledge of and active participation by leadership, staff, board/commission members and the public.

We hope, through our exploration of advisory bodies as well as public entities that ensure vital services (i.e., water, sewer, electricity, etc.), our readers will not only understand these systems, but participate as well.

The last few months of the calendar year hold special significance as nights lengthen and days grow short. Thoughts turn inward, reflecting on past months and internal matters. Holidays, such as just-passed Halloween, echo this change as celebrations that traditionally signaled the end of harvest, heralded the beginning of winter.

Halloween origins are thought to lie with the ancient Celts who believed boundaries between the living and dead blurred during this period. As spirits roam the physical, living world, bonfires and costumes were thought to protect the living. The approach of winter and dark days sparked recognition of a spiritual, unseen world. Dia de los Muertos honors those who have departed for an afterlife, while Diwali illustrates the triumph of good (light, knowledge) over evil (darkness, ignorance). To mitigate the cold, darkness and despair of winter, humanitarian gestures and camaraderie are accentuated by observance of additional holidays such as Thanksgiving, Hannukah and Christmas.

Fries with that exam? College professors asked to help with food

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hey, professor, hold the mayo!

Short of help, Michigan State University is making an urgent plea to staff to volunteer in campus dining halls, including faculty. MSU's residential services department has already asked 132 full-time employees to work eight hours a week, the Lansing State Journal reported, but it's apparently not enough.

"Faculty and staff from around campus are invited to sign up to assist in the dining halls! We have specific needs during evenings and weekends," Vennie Gore, a senior vice president, said in an email to deans. Gore provided a link to a criminal background check and tips on how to prepare for the first shift.

Devin Silvia, director of undergraduate studies in MSU's computational math department, said the request was "astounding."

"I am all about supporting the MSU student community and making sure they have a positive experience," said Silvia, who was paid at least $100,000 in 2020-21. "But at the end of the day, I'm doing that in my own career and questioning whether I'm being sufficiently compensated."

About 4,000 students typically work in dining halls, but only 1,200 were employed at the end of September, the State Journal reported. Starting pay was recently raised from $12 to $15 an hour. Gore said MSU is competing with local businesses for workers.

November in the regional parks

By AYN WIESKAMP, BOARD OF DIRECTORS, EAST BAY REGIONAL PARK DISTRICT

Besides the beauties of autumn, November brings a cornucopia of enjoyable programs in the East Bay Regional Park District.

Always a good bet for outdoor fun is Sunol Regional Wilderness, located at the end of Geary Road off Calaveras Road, about five miles south of I-680 and the town of Sunol. The park will host a fall scavenger hunt between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 6, with naturalist Erica Stephens presiding. Drop by the visitor center, pick up an activity sheet, and begin a self-guided hunt for nature-themed items.

Or you can join naturalist Kristina Parkison from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. the same day for a turkey talk. Turkeys seem to be everywhere, so Kristina will provide some facts, then lead a walk-in search of the actual birds.

Both programs are free of charge, and no registration is required. Sunol has a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. For information, call (510) 544-3249.

Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont gives visitors a glimpse of what life was like on a prosperous 19th century estate. Before becoming a park, the farm was operated by the Patterson family for more than 100 years, beginning in the 1850s. The patriarch, George Patterson, was a '49er who made his fortune in agriculture instead of gold.

Take a one-mile walk through Ardenwood's walnut orchard with naturalist Christina Garcia from 10:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, November 6 while learning about the history of nut growing in California. You may even be able to harvest a few walnuts.

Ardenwood also offers tours of the beautifully restored Patterson House, centerpiece of the farm. Tours are led by docents in 19th century attire. Check for availability at the train station upon your arrival. Among other times there are house tours between 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 13.

Honey was another Ardenwood product. Christina will host a program about bees and honey from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on November 13. Have a look at a demonstration beehive (no bees) and see how honey is made.

You can create a woolly, felted pumpkin in a program from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, November 21. Or help to feed the farmyard animals from 3:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. the same day. Ardenwood has a narrow-gauge railroad that runs around the farm. Among other times, the railroad will run between 10:20 a.m. and 2:50 p.m. on Sunday, November 21.

Ardenwood is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard, just north of Highway 84. Admission fees apply; once inside the programs are free. Parking is free. No dogs are allowed in the park. For information, call (510) 544-2797.

At Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont, the visitor center always has something going on. Lots of hands-on activities, investigations and crafts are on the program from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 27. Drop by any time during those hours. Masks are required, social distancing is maintained, and parent participation is required. Entry is free.

Coyote Hills is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There's a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. For information, call (510) 544-3220.

November also brings Thanksgiving with its traditional holiday meal. You can work off the excess calories during a post-Thanksgiving five-mile hike from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Friday, November 26 at Reinhardt Redwood Regional Park in Oakland, led by a park district naturalist.

The hike is free of charge and registration is not necessary. Meet at the Trudeau Training Center parking lot at 11500 Skyline Boulevard near Joaquin Miller Road. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

The Lucy Mission - First to The Trojan Asteroids

KAILASH KALIDOSS, AEROSPACE ENTHUSIAST

Our quest to know the finer details of the solar system is the driving factor for many niche autonomous space missions. One such mission that has recently kicked off in mid-October is the promising "Lucy" mission.

Lucy takes on a 12-year scientific mission that involves close encounters with our outer solar system. Of specific interest is the in-proximity fly-by of half a dozen ancient "Trojan" asteroids that orbit in the same path as the planet Jupiter. The Trojans orbit the Sun in two loose groups, with one group leading ahead of Jupiter in its path, and the other trailing behind. Clustered around the two "Lagrange points" equidistant from the Sun and Jupiter, the Trojans are stabilized by the Sun and its largest planet in a gravitational balancing act. NASA believes these primitive bodies hold vital clues to deciphering the history of the solar system.

Planet formation and evolution models suggest that the Trojan asteroids are likely to be remnants of the same primordial material that formed the outer planets, and thus serve as time capsules from the birth of our Solar System over four billion years ago. These primitive bodies hold vital clues to deciphering the history of our Solar System and may even tell us about the kinds of organic materials that may have been supplied to the early Earth. Lucy will perform science tasks involving Surface Geology, Color and Composition analysis, Bulk properties, and analysis of Satellites and Rings.

Lucy launched from the Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral, Florida on an Atlas

V 401 rocket on October 16, 2021. It will use earth's gravity assist – a maneuver that involves flying by the Earth twice to use the Earth's gravitational field to assist it on its journey to the Trojan asteroids. Initially, it will fly by the main asteroid belt; the spacecraft's orbit will then bring Lucy back to the vicinity of Earth for another gravity assist, and will take it again out to the distance of Jupiter.

This is one of NASA's first attempts in using earth's gravity assist. No other space mission in history has been launched to as many different destinations in independent orbits around our sun. Lucy will show us, for the first time, the diversity of the primordial bodies that built the planets.

Kailash Kalidoss is an aerospace enthusiast and educator serving the Bay Area. Kailash first fell in love with aerospace as a teenager when he learned about aviation from his father's role as a Ground Operations Manager. Kailash has since spent his efforts sharing knowledge about aerospace, astronautics, aviation, science and technology, and of course, the night sky. Kailash also represents the Civil Air Patrol and NASA as a volunteer.

Google Funds 20K Free BART Rides

SUBMITTED BY BART

In partnership with the local non-profit, The Youth Transportation Organization ("Yoots"), BART is working to launch a special Free BART Rides for School Field Trips program that will provide local students, teachers, and chaperones the opportunity to take transit to BARTable field trip destinations. Google.org has stepped up to support this program by providing $100,000 that will provide 20,000 students access to these field trips.

"We can't thank Google.org enough for supporting transit trips for youth in the Bay Area during this critical time in pandemic recovery," said BART Board member Lateefah Simon. "Many of our youth are coming out of a long period of isolation from the pandemic. Offering an opportunity to schools and parents to cover the cost of field trip rides will provide new educational experiences as many venues are reopening for field trips later this year."

"We're incredibly proud to work with Yoots and BART to help provide more in-person learning opportunities for students," shared Rebecca Prozan, Google's West Coast Government Affairs Lead. "Increasing access to education and experiences, like these BARTable field trip destinations, is especially important for youth in the Bay Area after a year of distance learning."

Free Field Trip Eligibility: BART and Yoots will work with Title 1 schools – schools in which children from low-income families make up at least 40 percent of enrollment – directly to arrange trips. However, BART and Yoots will also provide on a first-come, first-served basis, trips for enrolled students of elementary, middle, and high schools located in Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, Santa Clara, and San Mateo counties on school-sponsored field trips for educational purposes. Students must be chaperoned by adults at a ratio of at least 1 adult per 15 students, and all must enter, travel, and exit stations as a group – no exceptions.

In addition to the Google.org donation, The Packard Foundation has donated $40,000 and the Golden State Warriors $5,000 to fund free BART rides for field trips that will further expand the program.

BART is launching a pilot program with a small number of schools this fall with the hopes of expanding the program in 2022.

BART Seeking Additional Donors

Other organizations, companies and foundations who are interested in supporting BART and Yoots in sustaining free educational field trip opportunities to local youth should contact Jill Buschini, Field Trip Program Manager in BART Marketing at jbuschi@bart.gov and Craig Flax, Yoots Founder and CEO at craig@yoots.org.

Police Department awarded $60,000 grant

SUBMITTED BY UNION CITY POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Union City Police Department will roll out a police traffic services program to deter dangerous and illegal driving behaviors that increase the risk of crashes in the community. Funding for this program was provided by a grant from California Office of Traffic Safety, through National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

"Impairment, speeding and other dangerous driving behaviors jeopardize the safety of other people on the road," Union City Police Department, Traffic Sergeant, Stan Rodrigues said. "This funding allows us to provide necessary traffic enforcement measures with the goal of reducing serious injury and fatal crashes on our roads." Our goal for these interventions is both a short- and long-term reduction in fatal, serious, and overall number of collisions in Union City said Chief Jared Rinetti.

The grant will pay for additional enforcement measures, including:

- DUI checkpoints and patrols specifically focused on suspected impaired drivers.
- Enforcement operations focused on suspected distracted drivers in violation of California's hands-free cell phone law.
- Bicycle and pedestrian safety enforcement operations focused on driver behaviors that put vulnerable road users at risk.
- Enforcement operations focused on top violations that cause crashes: speeding, failure to yield, stop sign and/or red-light running, and improper turning or lane changes.
- Community education presentations on traffic safety issues such as distracted driving, DUI, speeding, and bicycle and pedestrian safety.
- Collaborative enforcement efforts with neighboring agencies.
- Officer training and/or recertification: Standard Field Sobriety Test (SFST), Advanced Roadside Impaired Driving Enforcement (ARIDE) and Drug Recognition Expert (DRE).

Beware of unsolicited text messages

SUBMITTED BY FREMONT FIRE DEPARTMENT

Officials from Fremont Fire Department are warning the public to be wary of an unsolicited text message they may receive, purportedly from the fire department.

On Tuesday, October 26 fire department officials learned about a text being sent out under the department's name that included a link to purchase a limited-edition t-shirt. In postings on its social media pages, the fire department emphasized that the text T-shirt and campaign are not affiliated with Fremont Fire Department.

In a Facebook post, fire department officials offered tips to avoid becoming a victim of an online scam:

"October is Cybersecurity Awareness Month -- Be aware that texts, social media messages or emails may come with links or attachments that are tempting to click on or open. These are tactics used by cybercriminals to get you to provide details or install malicious software on your devices. Don't click on links or open attachments that you weren't expecting. Check with the legitimate sender first to see if it is really from them. Report the message if it is suspicious."

Suspect charged in armed robbery

SUBMITTED BY FREMONT POLICE DEPARTMENT

A 24-year-old San Leandro man was arrested in Foster City on October 7 in connection with an armed robbery in Fremont that occurred in late September. The suspect, identified by police as Thomas Tomasello, was taken into custody by Foster City Police after witnesses reported seeing him casing parked cars and entering a stolen vehicle.

According to Fremont Police Department (FPD) officials, the Fremont incident started at about 6:40 p.m. on Tuesday, September 28 when a victim was robbed at gunpoint in the 34000 block of Tempest Terrace. The suspect pointed a handgun at the victim and stole personal property before fleeing in a vehicle. Before the robbery, the suspect stole several Audi license plates from other cars in the neighborhood. The suspect was last seen fleeing the area in a black Audi SUV.

The following day, FPD dispatchers received a call from Audi saying that they were tracking a stolen Audi in the Niles area of Fremont. Patrol officers and detectives flooded the area and located the stolen Audi. Patrol units quickly realized that the Audi was the same vehicle used in the robbery on Tempest Terrace. The suspect immediately fled the area with patrol units in pursuit. During the pursuit the suspect rammed two patrol vehicles and eventually escaped.

Detectives then began working to track the Audi's location. However, during this incident, detectives were also diverted to another pursuit and perimeter search when San Leandro Police Department (SLPD) detectives attempted to arrest an unrelated robbery suspect in Fremont. While assisting SLPD, Fremont detectives obtained the location of the Audi, which was shown to be in San Mateo. Detectives split their resources, and part of the team went to San Mateo to search for the Audi while the rest stayed to assist SLPD.

Detectives arrived in San Mateo and began surveillance on the Audi, which appeared to be unoccupied. Eventually, the vehicle was recovered and towed back to the police department to process evidence. Inside, detectives found handgun ammunition and a loaded rifle magazine.

Robbery detectives took over the investigation and worked with the FPD Crime Lab to process the vehicle. An FPD Forensic Examiner lifted a fingerprint from inside the car which matched Tomasello and police started to search for him. But soon, they learned officers in Foster City had already arrested Tomasello inside a stolen vehicle. Inside the vehicle, they recovered a stolen handgun and several of the stolen Audi license plates from the Fremont incidents.

Tomasello was booked into San Mateo County Jail on various charges associated with the Foster City arrest and will be transferred to Alameda County when his court proceedings in San Mateo County are cleared.

Meanwhile, a record check showed that Tomasello had an active warrant from Alameda County Sheriff's Office for felony evading in a vehicle. FPD officials also said Tomasello is on probation for felony domestic violence and has prior arrests on various charges. Tomasello faces various new charges from Alameda County District Attorney's Office including robbery with a firearm, auto burglary and assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer.

An investigation is continuing in Fremont. Anyone with information about Tomasello is asked to contact Robbery Detective Jared Madsen at (510)-790-6900 or send an email to jmadsen@fremont.gov. Anonymous tips can be texted to TIP FREMONT PD followed by a message to 888-777, or shared via the web at <https://local.nixle.com/tip/alert/6216337>.

Capone's belongings go for at least $3 million at auction

AP WIRE SERVICE

Al Capone may have died nearly 75 years ago but it's clear interest in the infamous Chicago gangster is very much alive after some of his prized possessions were auctioned off over the weekend for at least $3 million.

The Chicago Tribune reports that Capone's family sold several of his belongings, including what was billed as his favorite gun, at auction in California, where his three surviving granddaughters live.

The event, called "A Century of Notoriety: The Estate of Al Capone," was held at a private club in Sacramento and attracted nearly 1,000 registered bidders, including 150 who attended the nearly four-hour-long event in person.

Among the items up for auction was a bear-shaped humidior as well as diamond jewelry and some family photographs. The most popular item proved to be Capone's favorite Colt .45-caliber semi-automatic pistol, which went for $860,000.

Most of the buyers' identities were kept private. But one whose name has been made public is Kevin Nagle, a Sacramento investor and business owner. Among the items that once belonged to "Scarface" Capone that he picked up was a decorative humidior for $120,000 and an 18-karat yellow gold and platinum belt buckle for $22,500.

Capone's story is a familiar one, thanks in large part to a host of movies, television shows and books about the mobster. Called Public Enemy No. 1 after the 1929 "Valentine's Day Massacre" in which seven members of a rival bootlegger gang were gunned down in a parking garage, Capone was convicted of income tax evasion in 1934. He spent 11 years locked up in Alcatraz, a federal prison in the middle of the San Francisco Bay, and died of a heart attack in 1947 in the Florida home where he and his associates were believed to have plotted the massacre years earlier.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off. Before you can receive clear title to the property, you are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of the resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS: The sale date shown on this notice may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916) 939-0772 (Nationwide Posting and Publication) for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case TS# 2021-4140. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916) 939-0772 (Nationwide Posting and Publication), or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case TS# 2021-4140 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than fifteen (15) days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than forty-five (45) days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. Measure the Night Sky

BY DAVID PROSPER

Fall and winter months bring longer nights, and with these earlier evenings, even the youngest astronomers can get stargazing. One of the handiest things you can teach a new astronomer is how to measure the sky – and if you haven't yet learned yourself, it's easier than you think.

Astronomers measure the sky using degrees, minutes, and seconds as units. These may sound more like terms for measuring time - and that's a good catch – but today we are focused on measuring angular distance. Degrees are largest, and are each made up of 60 minutes, and each minute is made up of 60 seconds.

To start, go outside and imagine yourself in the center of a massive sphere, with yourself at the center, extending out to the stars: Appropriately enough, this is called the celestial sphere. A circle contains 360 degrees, so if you have a good view of the horizon all around you, you can slowly spin around exactly once to see what 360 degrees looks like. You are in effect drawing a circle from inside out, with yourself at the center. Now break up that circle into quarters, starting from due North; each quarter measures 90 degrees, equal to the distance between each cardinal direction. It measures 90 degrees between due North and due East, and a full 180 degrees along the horizon between due North and due South.

Now, switch from a horizontal circle to a vertical one, extending above and below your head. Look straight above your head: This point is called the zenith, the highest point in the sky. Now look down toward the horizon; it measures 90 degrees from the zenith to the horizon. You now have some basic measurements for your sky.

Use a combination of your fingers held at arm's length, along with notable objects in the night sky, to make smaller measurements. A full Moon measures about half a degree in width - or 1/2 of your pinky finger, since each pinky measures one degree. The three stars of Orion's Belt create a line about three degrees long. The famed "Dig Dipper" asterism is a great reference for Northern Hemisphere observers, since it's circumpolar and often visible all night. The Dipper's "Pointer Stars," Dubhe and Merak, have 5.5 degrees between them - roughly three middle fingers wide. The entire asterism stretches 25 degrees from Dubhe to Alkaid - roughly the space between your outstretched thumb and pinky. On the other end of the scale, can you split Mizar and Alcor? They are separated by 12 arc minutes - about 1/5 the width of your pinky.

Keep practicing to build advanced star-hopping skills. How far away is Polaris from the pointer stars of the Big Dipper? Between Spica and Arcturus? Missions like Gaia and Hipparcos measure tiny differences in the angular distance between stars, at an extremely fine level. Precise measurement of the heavens is known as astrometry. Discover more about how we measure the universe, and the missions that do so, at nasa.gov.

DOG COSTUME CONTEST A HOWLING GOOD TIME

Best Dog Costume

Best Duo Costume Winner

SUBMITTED BY NEWARK RECREATION

On Saturday, October 23, Newark Recreation hosted a Halloween costume contest in the City's first dog park, NewBark Dog Park. Furry residents (and their human companions) lined up to compete for best dog costume and best duo costume.

Newark Police Department came out with their K9 Unit, Tio, to do a demonstration, including an article search for hidden items, and obstacle course. Office Smith, Tio's handler, gave tips on how to keep your dogs safe at the dog park, break up a dog fight safely, as well as information on K9 Units and their jobs within the department.

Local pet-centric vendors Bogies Pet Supply, Club K9, and Original Grooming attended the event to provide information on their services. Capricorn Foto took pictures of guests in front of a Halloween backdrop, and Motivat Coffee poured hot chocolate and coffee for human attendees. Newark Recreation provided the prizes for the costume contest, puppuccinos (cups of whipped cream) for dogs, and fun dog giveaways.

About 200 people attended. "It was so fun seeing all the dogs, and humans, in costume and going all out!" says Katie Dennis, one of the organizers from Newark Recreation. "This Howl-o-ween event was long overdue and served as our Grand Opening [after we had to cancel in 2020]. We had a dog and his owners come as far as Stockton to join in the festivities."

Newark hopes to make Howl-o-Ween an annual occurrence and to hold more events at NewBark Dog Park in the coming spring.
