Hayward celebrates Black community, freedom, and Blues!

By Stephanie Gertsch

Juneteenth and West Coast Blues feel like a match made in heaven. (Or maybe a match made in Texas?) Both are a way of celebrating freedom, expression, and the Bay Area's vibrant Black community. That's why Hayward is holding not one but two Juneteenth celebrations the middle week of June: a kickoff party on Thursday, June 15, and a music festival on Saturday, June 17.

June 19, called Juneteenth, observes the effective end of slavery in the United States. On June 19, 1865, almost two and a half years after President Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation, Union Army Major Gordon Granger arrived in Galveston, Texas, to announce the end of both the Civil War and slavery.

Ronnie Stewart of West Coast Blues Society says, "For 24 months, people in Texas didn't Oakland Zoo is celebrating the arrival of its newest resident, a white-handed gibbon baby, born the last weekend in May to parents Mei (female, age 12) and Rainier (male, age 11). Animal care staff observed, via live cam, as Mei began laboring at 3 p.m. on Sunday in the gibbon's nighthouse. Six hours later, she successfully gave birth and immediately began demonstrating excellent maternal care by cradling and nursing her newborn baby.

The delivery comes after a four-year-long courtship between Mei and Rainier, both as first-time parents who were introduced at Oakland Zoo after coming from other Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA)-accredited zoos in 2019. Gibbons mate for life, and pairs become closely bonded, vocalizing duets in the mornings.

Mei and Rainer were "matched" as a good breeding pair by the gibbon Species Survival Plan (SSP). The Association of Zoos and Aquariums developed a SSP to help ensure the sustainability of a healthy, genetically diverse, and demographically varied AZA species population throughout AZA-accredited zoos in the U.S.

Mei is demonstrating to be an attentive and protective mother, thus far mostly concealing her baby from public view, nursing constantly, and

CITY OF FREMONT SUMMER CONCERT SERIES BEGINS JUNE 29

Thanks to the support of local sponsors, including Washington Hospital Healthcare System and Niles Rotary, the City of Fremont Summer Concert Series returns this month. Beginning June 29, from 6 to 8 p.m., Fremont community members are welcomed to the Central Park Performance Pavilion to enjoy music, food and community engagement in a scenic location. Concerts will be held on Thursdays.

Washington Hospital will provide health care information, games and giveaway items. Most weeks blood pressure checks will be available. Each sponsor typically participates with games and information. Adults and children alike enjoy interacting with other community members. Attendees often include local city officials and at least one member of the Washington Hospital Healthcare District Board of Directors.

Back again this year are food trucks, offering a variety of tempting choices. Each week there may be four or five options for dinner and at least one treat truck for dessert. While picnics are also encouraged, grilling or barbecuing is not allowed in the concert venue area.

The concert season begins Thursday, June 29, with the band, CC Segar (Bob Segar and CCR classic rock). After skipping the week of July 4, concerts resume on Thursday, July 13, and "It's great to be outdoors, meeting community members and providing health-related information." -Community Outreach Manager, Kayla Gupta continue each Thursday evening through August 10, when Flock of Seagirls (80s rock) will close out the season.

Washington Hospital Healthcare System recognizes the importance of this community event. Community Outreach Manager, Kayla Gupta says, "It's great to be outdoors, meeting community members and providing health-related information. We try to have staff from different areas of the Healthcare System each week. We often have community members come to the table to say they were patients at Washington Hospital, or comment on the wonderful care a physician provided. It's fun for everyone."

Park officials suggest arriving early, as parking can be a challenge. All concerts are held at the Central Park Performance Pavilion (next to 40204 Paseo Padre Parkway) on Thursday evenings and are free. For more details, see the City of Fremont website at www.fremont.gov.

Local Pediatrician Develops Trusting Relationships with Patients

A Milpitas Family Shares Their Inspirational Story

When LeAndra Nichols scheduled her three teenagers to see Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) pediatrician Patricia Tenold, MD, MPH, earlier this year, she had no idea what an impact their new doctor would have. This was especially true for her 15-year-old daughter Kaiya.

When LeAndra started to notice signs that Kaiya was struggling with school, she reached out to Dr. Tenold for help. Through their conversations, the doctor learned that Kaiya was feeling depressed and experiencing anxiety about going to school. Feelings of extreme sadness and distress were starting to affect her ability to succeed in classes and maintain her extracurricular activities. Dr. Tenold understood the pressures she was under, which helped them develop a very special relationship.

"From the first appointment, Dr. Tenold developed a good rapport with Kaiya, so she was comfortable talking to her," said LeAndra. "When her depression and anxiety surfaced, Dr. Tenold became a key part of her support system, guiding her on the right path and giving her tools to deal with her emotions. She even called Kaiya at home to check in and see how she was doing."

Patricia Tenold, MD

Milpitas resident, Kaiya Smith courageously shares her story.

The rate of depression in adolescents (ages 12-17) has risen 63% since 2013 – 47% for boys and 65% for girls – according to the BlueCross BlueShield Health of America Report. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention also reported that more than a third of high school students experienced poor mental health during the pandemic and 44% said they persistently felt sad or hopeless in 2022. While it is normal for teenagers to have bouts of irritability, sleepiness, and sadness, symptoms that last for two weeks or more can signal depression.

Kaiya says she is not alone and many of her peers deal with anxiety and depression. She pointed out there is always a waiting list for her high school's Mental Health and Wellness Center. "I was in middle school when COVID-19 happened and it was hard being stuck at home away from everybody," Kaiya explains. "Now it's really stressful going to a large high school, surrounded by so many kids. There's a lot of pressure on this generation including politics, attending online school during the pandemic, and relying on the internet for everything, which I think is really unhealthy."

Knowing that finding a therapist and scheduling an appointment would take time, Dr. Tenold held weekly appointments with Kaiya to offer support and monitor how she was reacting to medications. "Dr. Tenold is pretty young, has children herself, grew up in this area, and really seems to know how the quarantine affected my mental health," added Kaiya. "Plus she is just a very kind and understanding person."

Dr. Tenold is a board-certified pediatrician who comes from a long line of acclaimed local doctors. Her mother, Susan Dugoni was a Fremont pediatrician for 36 years and her father, Ramsey Araj, was a WTMF surgeon. Her siblings are also enjoying or pursuing medical careers.

Kaiya reports that she is doing much better now and that Dr. Tenold has, "lifted a lot of stress off my shoulders so I feel better about going to school." In addition to Kaiya, Dr. Tenold also sees two of her four siblings, brothers who are 16 and 17 years old. LeAndra appreciates that her boys are comfortable having a female doctor and they trust her. She noted that her 17-year-old son has chosen to continue seeing Dr. Tenold after he turns 18.

"Dr. Tenold treats each patient as an individual and has a personal relationship with each and every one of them which I think is really special," said LeAndra.

"Thanks to her help, Kaiya is thriving now. Dr. Tenold is one of the best doctors I've come across in a long time and I just wish we would have met her sooner."

If you or someone you know is experiencing a mental health emergency, go to your local emergency department or dial 988 for the Suicide and Crisis Lifeline available 24/7/365. If you would like to schedule a pediatric well-care appointment with Dr. Tenold, call WTMF Pediatrics at 510.248.1800.

Chase Suite Hotel, a rich history of giving 'suite' deals

BY MARC VICENTE PHOTOS PROVIDED BY JD COVARRUBIAS

Chase Suite Hotel is a family-run, long-stay hotel in Newark. The first Chase Suite Hotel opened in 1996, and the one in Newark has been owned by the same family since 2013, surviving both the pandemic and competition with Airbnb.

According to General Manager JD Covarrubias, his story with the hotel dates back to when his family moved from their hometown in Zacatecas, Mexico to California in 1985. Their work experience in Mexico mostly came from farming and livestock, and that transferred over when they migrated to the United States, since the climate and abundance of farmland in California's Central Valley shared many similarities to their hometown. Though most of his family moved to northern Nevada and found work in the casino industry, JD decided to relocate to the San Francisco Bay Area in 2013 because of the beautiful landscape, weather, and hotel opportunities.

"I have been working in the hotel industry since 1999," Covarrubias says. "Growing up, my mother was very involved in the community serving others, so naturally I got my passion to serve others from someone special."

Something that makes

Chase Suite Hotel unique compared to other hotels is the fact that they are not exactly tied to a particular brand, which generally gives them more flexibility to cater to their guests' individual needs. The hotel offers a variety of different room types, such as one-bedroom or two-bedroom suites that can either have king-sized or queen-sized beds alongside sofas that can convert into additional beds.

Their rooms are also said to be the largest in the Bay Area, each equipped with a log fireplace. Stays also include free parking, high-speed internet and come with a fully hot breakfast buffet.

"When COVID-19 hit our nation, the tech industry evolved into a business where most people can still work from home, ultimately not needing an office space or much traveling," Covarrubias says about how the pandemic affected them. "As an extended stay hotel, we [survived] better than most short term rentals because the people who stay with us are usually looking to stay weeks at a time. If it wasn't for our loyal long term guests, we would be in worse shape, so we appreciate their continued support very much."

Reviews on websites such as Reservation Counter, TripAdvisor and Booking.com have consistently cited the hotel's convenient location for accessing many parts of the Bay Area, and the exceptional service that each employee delivers. Both of these factors are only part of what allowed Chase Suite Hotel to both stay strong amidst a growing rise of newer hospitality resources like Airbnb and to help Hardage Hospitality develop and manage over 25 other hotels in 13 states across the country for so long. According to Covarrubias, the Newark branch is also expected to undergo renovations to public spaces by the end of this year.

Flash Fiction Winner #4

SUBMITTED BY FREMONT CULTURAL ARTS COUNCIL

If you didn't have a chance to stop by the Flash Fiction Contest at Half-Price Books back in April, we are running the highest-voted entries. Read Flash Fiction #5 next week!

Dear President Lincoln,

I've been reading that speech you gave at the Soldiers' National Cemetery, the "Gettysburg Address." The one about "all men are created equal," and "these dead shall not have died in vain." All those soldiers who gave their lives so the Union might live must be feeling pretty disappointed right now.

We've got this Congresswoman giving interviews and speeches to encourage a "National Divorce." She wants Red and Blue States to make their own laws: choose who votes, who's permitted inside secure borders, whose rights will be protected. If a Blue migrates to a Red State-well, that's ok, but he can't vote.

Looks like our union is once again coming apart at the seams. So, Mr. President, do you have any healing words for us today?

Of course, "government of the people, by the people, and for the people" has a built-in problem: people. Some think that anyone who doesn't agree with them is the enemy --

so they grab a gun and start shooting. I guess you know all about that attitude, since John Wilkes Booth shot and killed you.

Anyway, our nation is a war-zone again. We know you're honest, Mr. Lincoln. Do you think the United States will ever pull together? Or will we "perish from the earth?" Just asking.

Yours truly,

Concerned California Citizen

End Of The Civil War

On April 9, 1865, Robert E. Lee surrendered to Ulysses S. Grant at the Appomattox Court House, in Virginia, but that ceremony did not finish the Civil War. The strife ended on June 2 when "Confederate General Edmund Kirby Smith, commander of Confederate forces west of the Mississippi, signed the terms offered by Union negotiators," according to History.com.

A little more than a year later–August 20, 1866– Andrew Johnson, President Abraham Lincoln's vice president—and successorpeace, order, tranquility, and civil authority now exist in and throughout the whole United States of America."

Chief Cochise

The renowned Apache chief, Cochise, was-arguably-one of the greatest Native American leaders. Little is known about his early life, according to History.com, but in "the mid-19th century, he had become a prominent leader of the Chiricahua band of Apache Indians living in southern Arizona and northern Mexico. Like other Chiricahua Apache, Cochise resented the encroachment of Mexican and American settlers on their traditional lands. Cochise led numerous raids on the settlers living on both sides of the border. Mexicans and Americans began to call for military protection and retribution."

down the Apache raids, convinced Cochise to settle on a reservation in Arizona. He agreed—reportedly stating, "the white man and the Indian are to drink of the same water, eat of the same bread, and be at peace."

Not long after, the chief took ill, and died June 8, 1874. He was buried in the Dragoon Mountains of Arizona.

When The Wall Came Down

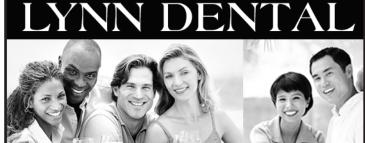

In a June 12, 1987, speech, President Ronald Reagan—dared the Soviet Union's president, Mikhail Gorbachev, to "tear down [the] wall" that had separated East and West Germany for more than a quarter of a century. Even with doubtful warnings from White House insiders, Reagan's lucky leap crushed Communism in Russia—and Europe.

History.com explains that "In 1945, following Germany's defeat in World War II, the nation's capital, Berlin, was divided into four sections, with the Americans, British and French controlling the western region and the Soviets gaining power in the eastern region. In May 1949, the three western sections came together as the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany), with the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) being established in October of that same year. In 1952, the border between the two countries was closed and by the following year East Germans were prosecuted if they left their country without permission. In August 1961, the Berlin Wall was erected by the East German government to prevent its citizens from escaping to the West."

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

A public hearing will be held at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, June 13, 2023 in the Central Meeting Room at the Fremont Unified School District, 4210 Technology Drive, Fremont, CA 94538.

The California Department of Education has directed all SELPAs in the state to conduct a public hearing on their 2023/2024 Annual Budget and Service Plans. Blood and platelet donors needed now SUBMITTED BY MARTIN GAGLIANO

The American Red Cross asks people to book a time to give blood or platelets now to address a recent drop in donation appointments that could lead to fewer transfusions for patients in the weeks ahead. Type O blood donors are especially needed to ensure a strong blood supply.

The start of summer can shake up normal routines, but it's important for donation appointments to stay on the calendar. More than 42 million Americans are expected to travel over the holiday, meaning fewer donors may be available to give.

Appointments are critical this week for people waiting for lifesaving care. Download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to schedule a time to give now.

In thanks for making and keeping appointments, the Red Cross will help donors prepare for beach days and backyard fun as the season begins: • All who come to give through May 31 will receive an exclusive Red Cross beach towel, while supplies last.

• Donors in May will also be automatically entered for a chance to win a trip for two to the 2023 MLB All-Star Game in Seattle, including two tickets to the 2023 MLB All-Star Game thanks to the support of Fanatics, round-trip airfare, four-night hotel accommodations, a $750 gift card and more.

• Those who come to give June 1-30 will receive a $10 gift card by email to a merchant of their choice. Plus, they'll also be automatically entered for a chance to win a backyard theater package including a projector and screen, projector tripod, smokeless firepit, Adirondack chair set and a movie night snack package.

Starting July 1, 2023, the City of Fremont's minimum wage will increase to $16.80 per hour. The rise in wages follows a 2022 increase of 80 cents. Employers are required to pay at least the minimum wage for all hours worked to hourly employees who perform work within the geographic boundaries of the City of Fremont.

To avoid a reduction in the valuable services they provide to the community, the minimum wage ordinance exemptsemployees of non-profit corporations. To prevent inflation from eroding its value, the minimum wage will be adjusted by the local consumer price index annually.

• At the time of hire, provide the employee with a written copy of the employer's name, address, and telephone number.

• Document all hours worked by employees and keep records for at least four years.

The Official Bulletins, including translated versions, are available for download on the City's Minimum Wage webpage.

The Minimum Wage Ordinance was shaped by feedback received from outreach to residents, the business community, non-profit organizations, and low-wage workers.

Park It: Annual Sandcastle and Sculpture Contest

BY NED MACKAY

One of the East Bay Regional Park District's most popular event is scheduled for Saturday, June 10, at Crown Beach in Alameda. It's the 55th Annual Sandcastle and Sculpture Contest, always a family-friendly crowd pleaser.

The contest is free and open to all ages. Entrants can choose to construct either a castle or sculpture, competing in youth, family or adult categories. Registration is from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the bathhouse, which is reached via the park entrance at the intersection of Otis Drive and Eighth Street/Westline Drive. Construction ends at noon and judging begins. Winners receive trophies and ribbons during an awards ceremony at 1 p.m. This isn't a high-stakes contest; bragging rights are the real reward.

For your castle or sculpture, you have to use only items found at the beach. You can't bring in your own embellishments. That said, the variety and creativity of the entries is always amazing. It's as much fun to watch as to participate. Contest sponsors are the Alameda Recreation & Parks Department, East Bay Regional Park District, Alameda Youth Committee, and the Bay View Women's Club. For more information, call the City of Alameda at (510) 747-7529, or the Park District's Doug Siden Visitor Center at Crab Cove at (510) 544-3187.

Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont celebrates Historic Days from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. from Thursdays through Sundays. Activities include the narrow-gauge train, tours of the Patterson House Museum, and farm animal feeding at 3 p.m. On Sundays, the park staff dons historic costume for period-appropriate programs and activities. Entry fees apply; parking is free.

Ardenwood recreates life on a prosperous 19th century farming estate. The park is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard, just north of Highway 84. For information, call (510) 544-2797.

Bees, bats and butterflies might not seem to have much in common besides flight capability, but they are all pollinators. Naturalist Jessica Kauzer will talk about how their activities benefit us, while she leads a short walk from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 11, at Black Diamond Mines Regional Preserve in Antioch. Afterwards, participants can create their own pollinator craft.

The program is free and registration is not necessary. Meet Kauzer at Black Diamond Mines' uppermost parking lot, at the end of Somersville Road, 3¹/₂ miles south of Highway 4.

Black Diamond Mines has a parking fee of $5 per vehicle when the kiosk is attended. For information, call (510) 544-2750.

A bi-lingual Community Campfire program in English and Spanish is on the calendar from 6:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Sunday, June 11, at Big Break Regional Shoreline in Oakley. Visitors are welcome to bring a picnic dinner to enjoy before the show. The program will highlight the features of Big Break through a variety of activities. S'mores, those gooey campfire treats, will be served.

Big Break is at 69 Big Break Road off Oakley's Main Street. The event is free. For information, call (510) 544-3050. And in conclusion... after writing this column for more years than I can remember, I have decided that it's time to retire.

Many thanks to the Park District Public Affairs Department, and all the district staff, past and present, who have been generous with their time and information. Any errors that have showed up in my columns have been mine, not theirs.

Thanks also to the media for its continuing coverage of the District and its services to the public.

I would also like to thank the readers, who have occasionally suggested column topics, shared their own park experiences, or pointed out my factual lapses.

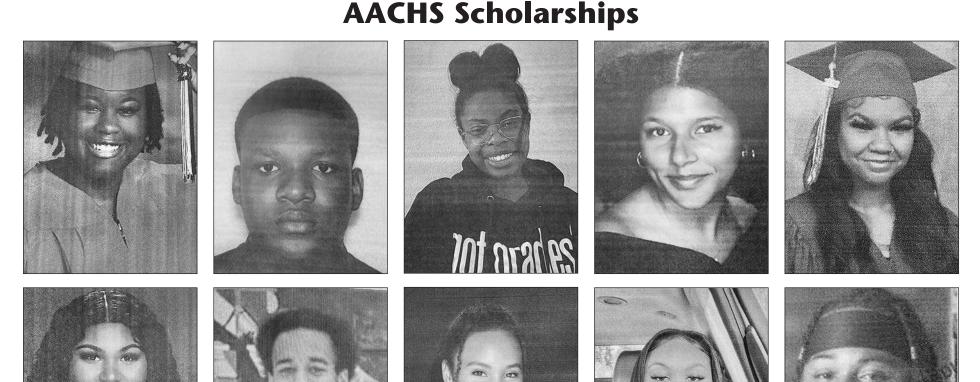

The real star of the show has always been the East Bay Regional Park District itself. And its story is a remarkable one. From its founding in 1934 through a grass-roots movement headed by community leaders with admirable foresight, the District has grown to become a two-county public agency with 73 parks totaling more than 125,000 acres. It is the largest regional park agency in the United States. Wherever you live in the East Bay, there is a regional park within 15 minutes of your home.

Their foresight notwithstanding, the Park District's founders would likely be amazed at the agency's size and variety today. The District's offerings include hiking, equestrian and cycling trails, picnicking, camping, swimming, fishing, and natural and cultural history programs. District parklands also preserve critical habitat for wildlife and protect some of the beautiful open spaces that make the East Bay such a desirable place to live.

I urge everyone to take advantage of the programs and activities for all ages that are available in the Regional Parks. The parks are an extraordinary resource for recreation, nature study, and outdoor exercise. We are fortunate to be the beneficiaries of the founders' vision, and the agency they created needs and deserves our support.

My columns could only mention a few of the District's programs each week. For the full story, visit www.ebparks.org/things-to-do and also look for the District's bi-monthly Regional in Nature Activity Guide, available at visitor centers, as a newspaper insert, and online at www.ebparks.org/RIN.

As for me, although I will no longer be writing the column, I will continue involvement with the District through the Volunteer Trail Safety Patrol and other activities, exploring and enjoying our regional parks. I hope to see you on the trails.

Look up in the sky - It's a bird

SUBMITTED BY THERESA SUMMER

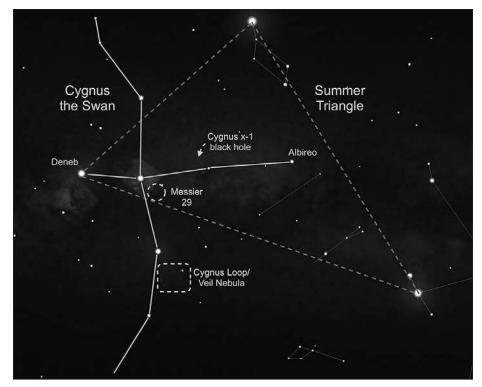

Bird constellations abound in the night sky, including Cygnus, the majestic swan. Easy to find with its dazzling stars, it is one of the few constellations that looks like its namesake, and it is full of treasures. Visible in the Northern Hemisphere all summer long, it has much to see, and even some elements that can't be seen. To locate Cygnus, start with the brightest star, Deneb, also the northeastern and dimmest star of the Summer Triangle. (The Summer Triangle is made up of three bright stars from three different constellations - read more about it in the September 2022 issue of Night Sky Notes.) "Deneb" is an Arabic word meaning "tail." Then travel into the triangle until you see Albireo, sometimes called the "beak star" in the center of the summer triangle. Stretching out perpendicular from this line are two stars that mark the crossbar, or the wings, and there are also faint stars that extend the swan's wings.

From light-polluted skies, you may only see the brightest stars, sometimes called the Northern Cross. In a darker sky, the line of stars marking the neck of the swan travels along the band of the Milky Way. A pair of binoculars will resolve many stars along that path, including a sparkling open cluster of stars designated Messier 29, found just south of the swan's torso star. This grouping of young stars may appear to have a reddish hue due to nearby excited gas.

Let's go deeper. While the bright beak star Albireo is easy to pick out, a telescope will let its true beauty shine! Like a jewel in the sky, magnification shows a beautiful visual double star, with a vivid gold star and a brilliant blue star in the same field of view. There's another marvel to be seen with a telescope or strong binoculars – the Cygnus Loop. Sometimes known as the Veil Nebula, you can find this supernova remnant (the gassy leftovers blown off of a large dying star) directly above the final two stars of the swan's eastern wing. It will look like a faint ring of illuminated gas

While the black hole Cygnus x-1 is invisible with even the most powerful Optical telescope, in X-ray, it shines brightly. Left is the optical view of that region, with Cygnus x-1 in the red box, taken by the Digitized Sky Survey. about three degrees across (six times the diameter of the Moon).

Speaking of long-dead stars, astronomers have detected a high-energy X-ray source in Cygnus that we can't see with our eyes or backyard telescopes, but that is detectable by NASA's Chandra X-ray Observatory. Discovered in 1971 during a rocket flight, Cygnus x-1 is the first X-ray source to be widely accepted as a black hole. This black hole is the final stage of a giant star's life, with a mass of about 20 Suns. Cygnus x-1 is spinning at a phenomenal rate – more than 800 times a second - while devouring a nearby star. Astronomically speaking, this black hole is in our neighborhood: 6,070 light years away. But it poses no threat to us, just offers a new way to study the universe.

Check out the beautiful bird in your sky this evening, and you will be delighted to add Cygnus to your go-to summer viewing list. Find out NASA's latest methods for studying black holes at www.nasa.gov/black-holes.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Ramirez Farm

I wish to express my profound gratitude to TCV Staff Writer Hugo Vera and to the students and staff of James Logan High School for their efforts in bringing community awareness to the plight of the Ramirez Family, in the "Let it Grow" article.

While attending Niles Elementary School during the 1950's, I witnessed first-hand, the demise of generations of Washington Township agricultural ranches and farms in the name of progress. As a James Logan High School Alumni, Class of 1963, our future was inspired by our parents, neighbors and educators who reminded us to honor and to preserve our past. I am providing a September 1959 aerial photo of James Logan High School depicting the vast agricultural landscape, just one mile from the Ramirez Farm. H Street is at bottom of photo, Decoto Road at top.

WHAT'S HAPPENING'S TRI-CITY VOICE

June 6, 2023

Tri-City History - Street Names #5: Kato Road

BY KELSEY CAMELLO, FOR THE WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP MUSEUM OF LOCAL HISTORY

Kato Road: A street in Fremont that runs from Industrial Drive (at Fremont Boulevard) southeast toward Milpitas, until it becomes Scott Creek Road (at Warm Springs Boulevard).

It was while perusing the popular website Reddit that the question of 'how to pronounce the name Kato' surfaced. Many people weighed in on this query, as well as the proper pronunciation of many other local street names. Then a new question arose; just where did the name "Kato" originate, and why?

Kato Road is named for the family of Taijyu and Katsu Kato, Issei (first generation immigrants), who raised a family of seven Nisei (second generation) in the town of Warm Springs, now part of Fremont. They were proud owners of a thriving vegetable ranch and modern home, when in 1942 they were relocated, or rather, arrested, under Executive Order #9066. The Order, under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, allowed for all people of Japanese ancestry who resided in the United States to be incarcerated as possible threats to national security during World War II.

The Kato Family was sent to Topaz Internment Camp in Utah, by way of Tanforan or the Santa Anita Race Tracks (both places operated as detainment centers). The camp at Topaz was comprised of thirty-one square miles; just one of which was used for living space. This area was surrounded by a barbed wire fence and guard towers. At its peak population, Topaz held approximately 8,200 internees, most of which had been sent from the San Francisco Bay Area. After Topaz, the family went on to Tremonton, Utah. In 1943, the U.S. War Department and War Relocation Authority required all internees aged 17 and above to answer loyalty questions. Following this action, many were drafted into the war, while others volunteered to serve. All the while, their families remained detained. Kato family members Henry (25 in 1943) and Joseph (23 in 1943) joined the Army. Joseph, member of the 442nd, all Japanese unit, was killed in action in France (October 1944). Henry was stationed in England. Two of the Kato daughters served as nurses – Kiyumo (23 in 1945) in New Orleans, and Sumiko (18 in 1945) in Salt Lake City.

The Kato family (those not serving) returned home to Warm Springs in March of 1945. Their 20-acre ranch and home had been occupied by Stella and Raymond Benbow of Irvington during the Kato's incarceration. In turn, the Benbow's Irvington home had been occupied by the Belding Family. During the war, this was common practice across the country.

While this story is shocking, it is not unique. All over the United States, individuals and families of Japanese descent were forced to evacuate their homes and businesses – their entire lives – in order to be sent to detention camps for the duration of the war.

Chapel of the Angels hosts First Responders BBQ

SUBMITTED BY IAN SMITH

Berge Pappas Smith Chapel of the Angels, a leading funeral home and community pillar in Fremont, proudly hosted the 3rd annual First Responders BBQ on Tuesday, May 16. The event brought together local first responders, community leaders, and funeral home staff to express gratitude for the dedicated service and sacrifice of the courageous first responders in our community.

Chapel of the Angels welcomed attendees to an afternoon filled with appreciation and camaraderie. The event aimed to foster a sense of unity and respect for our local departments, acknowledging the crucial role these dedicated professionals play in safeguarding the city.

The aroma of sizzling barbecue filled the air as attendees indulged in burgers and sausage prepared by retired firefighters John and Kevin Mahar. Chapel of the Angels was able to host the BBQ because of the support of Gloria and Jeff Silva, owners of Vintage Catering. They graciously donated the side dishes, desserts, plates, and utensils.

"We wanted to create an opportunity to express our heartfelt appreciation for the brave men and women who risk their lives daily to keep our community safe," said Sam Smith, an owner of the funeral home. "The First Responders BBQ is our humble

Hayward's Japanese Gardens

By Jack Alcorn Photos courtesy of Hayward Area Park and Recreation District

The Japanese Gardens in Hayward was the first public garden of Japanese design to be developed in California. The design incorporates the principles of traditional Japanese garden art, combined with native stone and rock and California trees and plants.

The Japanese Gardens is co-located with the Hayward Senior Center on North Third Street in Hayward. The Senior Center offers wellness, nutrition programs and educational programs that include foreign language and arts and crafts classes. The facility features ping pong and billiards tables, a small library with a well-lit reading room, and tables for puzzling Jigsaw puzzles stimulate and preserve elderly memory capacity. The walls are adorned with Japanese art.

The scenic garden's structures were built with careful precision. No stains were used. An immediate aging process of all wood surfaces was accelerated by a combination of burning the wood with a blowtorch and many hours of brushing them with wire brushes and wood preservatives. Much care was taken to hand notch all joints on garden structures before being assembled. The painstaking craftsmanship for each piece of wood created a true landmark, noted across the country as a worthy tourist destination.

The site of the Japanese Gardens of the Hayward Area Recreation and Park District has a unique history. This 3.5-acre area was used to house the agricultural studies program of Hayward Union High School from 1913 through 1962. In addition to providing Future Farmer and 4-H educational programs, horticulture was also studied at this location.

The Japanese Garden has a wedding site available for rent during daylight hours for weddings April through August. The wedding site is located on the lower loop pathway near the entrance to the garden. The Douglas Morrison Theater is also located at the entrance to the garden. Community driven plays and musical productions are presented there at reasonable rates.

The garden offers tranquil strolls on gravel and stone paths lined with manicured exotic shrubbery, trees and plants. It includes a large koi pond and several pagoda style overlooks for viewing Cull Creek. The park is open from sunrise to sunset.

Fruit or vegetable?

By DANIEL O'DONNELL

The Duck Test is a method of reasoning via observation, positing that the simplest and most likely conclusion is correct. "If it looks like a duck, swims like a duck, and quacks like a duck, then it probably is a duck." However, toy and animatronic creatures might look like a duck, quack like a duck, and even swim like a duck, but none of them are real ducks. It can take a little more than just observation to identify whether a subject is a real duck or not. The same is true for identifying food as fruit or vegetable. Miscategorization can happen due to relying on observations alone and not taking botanical attributes into account.

The definition of a fruit is more precise than that of a vegetable. Fruits develop from the ovary of a flowering plant. They contain the seed or seeds. The term vegetable derived from the earlier Latin word vegetabilis and first appeared in the English language in the 1400s. It referred to all plant material, edible or not, and is still the definition for vegetable in scientific contexts today. The word vegetable was commonly used to refer to all the edible parts of a plant including the fruit in the mid-1700s but eventually, the everyday meaning of the word 'vegetable' came to refer to only the edible roots, bulbs, stems, and leaves of a plant. A common belief today is that fruits are sweet and vegetables are savory.

Taste and food use have led many people to refer to squashes, cucumbers, eggplants, peppers, avocados, and tomatoes as vegetables. All of these are fruits because each developed from an ovary of a flowering plant and contains a seed or seeds. However, the Supreme Court in Nix vs Hedden unanimously ruled for tariff purposes in 1893 that tomatoes are vegetables, based on how they are used and people's perception. Rhubarb has the opposite problem. It is often referred to as a fruit because of its use in pies and other desserts. However, rhubarb is a vegetable because it is the bright red stems that are used for making sweet fillings and syrups.

All fruits can be subcategorized, but classifying them can be confusing. All berries are fruits, but not all fruits are berries. True berries come from a single flower and ovary which produces many seeds. They have three distinct fleshy layers. Grapes, watermelons, pumpkins, oranges, peppers, tomatoes, and bananas are botanically all true berries.

Blueberries, cranberries, and huckleberries have one flower and one ovary, but are considered to be false berries because the fruit grows beneath the flower parts and not from the flower itself. Strawberries are not berries at all. The red part is not a fruit but rather a fleshy receptacle. The fruits, known as achenes, are the tiny seeds on the surface. Sunflowers also produce achenes. Blackberries and raspberries are called aggregate fruits and develop from multiple ovaries of a single flower. Numerous small fruits join together to form a larger multi-fruit cluster. Mulberries, pineapples, figs, and jackfruits are examples of collective fruits, which like aggregate fruits are made up of multiple small fruits. However, multiple flowers develop small fruits which mature into a single mass.

Cauliflower and broccoli heads have multiple stalks composed of numerous unopened flower buds. This classifies cauliflower and broccoli as vegetables. Peas, chickpeas, fava beans, kidney beans, peanuts, and other legumes are often thought of as vegetables, but they are Corn is often thought of as a vegetable. However, corn, rice and wheat are also fruits. They are types of indehiscent fruits. These plants produce multiple fruits, each formed from a single flower. The kernel or grain is a dried fruit that consists of the seed and a seed coat that fuses with the ovary wall.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture classifies mushrooms as vegetables because of their high nutritional value, and for their culinary uses. However, a mushroom has no leaves, does not produce seeds, and is not even in the plant family. But according to the Duck Test, if it looks like a vegetable, tastes like a vegetable, and is cooked like a vegetable, then it is deemed a vegetable. If calling a fruit a vegetable, or vice versa, encourages people to eat more of them, then those who know the botanical definitions should not let a miscategorization ruffle their feathers.

actually seeds found inside pods which are considered fruits.

Cashews, pistachios, almonds, and walnuts are not true nuts, but rather drupes. A drupe is a fruit with a shell-covered seed surrounded by a fleshy exterior. Peaches, plums, and other stone fruits are also drupes. The difference is that people eat the outer flesh of the stone fruit, and the seed of the drupaceous nuts. Hazelnuts and chestnuts are examples of true nuts in which the flower's fertilized ovary hardens around the seed. When eating true nuts, there is no shell to crack open to get to the seed; the entire fruit is consumed.

Tri-City Stargazer For WEEK: JUNE 6, 2023

All Signs: We are halfway through this year, so let's look at where we've been and where we're headed. This can help us make plans. It can also increase our confidence and hopes for the future. We know that meteorology can predict the weather; but astrology is the only discipline I know that can forecast the future primarily because the planets have predictable cycles. But astrology aside, there is one truth that is solid, certain and cannot be ignored and it is that you will never again be as young as you right now.

Crossword Puzzle

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20):

You will get richer this year or next, depending on if you're an early Aries or born after April 10. This is timely because in the next few years, you will be letting go of what is no longer relevant in your life -- people, places and possessions. On one hand, you're attracting abundance, and on the other hand, you're letting go of the past. Things you used to do, which got a certain result – somehow no longer get that result? This will lead to new beginnings in 2026.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20):

This is a beneficial year for you because for the first time since 2011-2012, lucky Jupiter is in your sign for an entire year. This is a boost to your good fortune! Relationships and encounters will work to your advantage. Your self-confidence and poise will increase. This also means you're beginning a new 12-year cycle of growth where you will discover more deeply who you really are. Meanwhile, one of your challenges will be to learn how to deal with the demands of others. Meanwhile, in 2024-2025, you will get richer!

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20):

You are now beginning your time of harvest, which will last for the next few years. (This last occurred 1994-95.) You will be able to see what is working in your life and what is not. Focus on what is working because this is a time of great achievement. You will reap the rewards of everything you have done since 2008-2009. This year will be more spiritual for you. By June 2024, lucky Jupiter returns to your sign, bringing you good fortune and an opportunity to boost your confidence!

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21):

This year and next year, you'll be a more popular -- more involved with friends, daily contacts, and organizations. Meanwhile, this is also a time of preparation for your time of harvest in 2026-2027, when you reap the benefits of the seeds you have sown in the past. Therefore, as part of your preparation, explore what courses or further training might put you in a better position for when that time arrives. Likewise, grab opportunities to travel to enrich yourself so that you can dazzle others when it really matters.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22):

Because lucky Jupiter is at the top of your chart for the first time since 2012-2013, people see you as successful and happy. (Next year for later Leos.) This increased admiration is because you are reaping some success – a promotion, a published book, your own business, a marriage, a first child. Nevertheless, while you shine in the eyes of others, you are also getting along with less. A scholarship might end. You might end a relationship. Something has forced you to stand on your own two feet.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22):

This is a similar time to 1994-1995: Saturn opposite your sign. This influence can be stressful on partnerships and marriages; relationships that are more trouble than they're worth will end. All your close relationships will undergo an adjustment; however, most will come out stronger. Meanwhile, this year you have marvelous opportunities to travel and expand your world. You might go back to school. You might explore opportunities in publishing, the media or medicine and the law. Next year, your success is obvious.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22):

You are in a two to three-year window of hard work. There might be times when you will feel overwhelmed with demands and responsibilities. However, do not fear. By 2026-2027, you will get recognition for your efforts during upcoming years. Fortunately, many of you will become richer and have favors and wealth come to you via a third party, your spouse, a business partner, an inheritance or a friend. You definitely will get a financial boost this year or next.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21):

Many of you will have increased responsibilities with children for the next few years. Personally, you might find yourself feeling at loose ends. No matter how old you are, you're wondering what you really want to be when you grow up. In the next few years, these answers will present themselves. In the meantime, this is a fabulous year for relationships – professional partnerships and marriages. In fact, it's the best year in over a decade to get married! (This year or next, depending on if you are an early or late Scorpio.)

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21):

This is the perfect year to boost your health and become stronger. This is also a wonderful year to improve your job, or get a better job. (These opportunities to improve your job and health will come later if you are born after December 10 – but they will come!) Meanwhile, in the next several years, you will work to establish your roots. If you continue living where you now reside, you will tackle home repairs and restructuring. Others might change residences. You might also be more involved with a parent than usual.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19):

This year and next are the perfect time to have fun, take vacations, explore the arts, enjoy enriching times with children, and encounter opportunities for romance. However, you are also looking at a two to three-year window where you might change residence, your job, or both.Starting around 2015, you had to let go of what was no longer relevant in your life. By 2018, you set off on a new journey. Now you know that you want to feel secure about where you are living by 2026.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18):

This is a wonderful year for home and family. In fact, some of you will expand your family through birth, adoption or marriage. By extension, you might also improve your home. Some of you might even move to one you like better. This benefit to your private life will last this year (or next year, if you were born after February 10.) Meanwhile, you are taking a more serious view about cash flow, earnings and assets. At a deeper level, you're also wondering about your values and what really matters in life.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20):

This is a significant year for you because Saturn is back in your sign for the first time since 1994-1995. This means it's the beginning of a new 30-year cycle for you. Serious stuff! And yet, you're laughing. That's because lucky Jupiter is going through your House of Communications boosting your sense of optimism. In fact, next year (or 2025 for those born after March 10) you will enjoy where you're living because you will move to something better or be happier with your home life. (It could expand through marriage, birth or adoption.)

Home decluttering seminar

SUBMITTED BY MISSION PEAK VILLAGE COHOUSING COMMUNITY

The movement centered around decluttering and home organization is growing—and what excellent timing! Residents of the recently approved Mission Peak Village, the first cohousing community planned for Southern Alameda County, are anticipating their future move-in day. Most will be leaving behind homes they have lived in for many years, and like many, Fremont's cohousers are editing their possessions. The group found that there are now many home organizing professionals to choose from. Local specialists will share their expertise at a free public seminar in Fremont on Wednesday, June 14 at 6:45 p.m.

"We know we are just a few of many people who are thinking about paring down possessions they no longer use and storing the rest efficiently," says Jane Mueller, an organizer of the event. "We see this seminar as an opportunity not only to gain information and inspiration for our own use, but to share it with others as well."

One catalyst behind the decluttering revolution was the influential Japanese organizing consultant, Marie Kondo. Her best-selling book, The Life-Changing Magic of Tidying Up, introduced the concept of decluttering based on the principle of only keeping items that spark joy. Kondo's KonMari method quickly gained traction, capturing the spirit of people around the globe who sought to transform their homes into havens of serenity.

The KonMari method is just one example of the many home organization trends that have emerged in recent years. From capsule wardrobes to digital minimalism, people are reevaluating their relationship with possessions. They are finding innovative ways to create order and simplicity. Another trend that has gained prominence is the concept of sustainable decluttering. As society becomes more environmentally conscious, individuals are increasingly using donation drives, secondhand markets, and recycling programs. People are discovering the joy of passing on items they no longer need to others who can find value in them, reducing waste and making a positive impact on the planet.

While decluttering and home organization trends are undeniably on the rise, it's less about achieving a picture-perfect home and more about cultivating an environment that enhances one's daily life and leads to a simpler, more intentional lifestyle.

Pre-registration is recommended for Mission Peak Village's free seminar at their website:

https://www.missionpeakcohousing.org/eve nts. Directions will be provided with the registration confirmation.

This article is part of an ongoing series on cohousing. Mission Peak Village is composed know about it. So June 19th, 1865, they found out about it." He reflects that while Juneteenth is still catching on in the Bay Area, it's been a big occasion in Texas. "If you wanna see a Juneteenth, they've got Juneteenths in Texas with 40-50,000 people! They say, they grow them big in Texas. They grow Juneteenths!"

Hayward celebrates Black community, freedom, and Blues!

In 2023, Stewart and West Coast Blues Society are looking forward to a busy schedule. "Now it's an official holiday, it's so many doggone Juneteenths. I'm doing behind Hayward City Hall, will also feature special guest Johnny Rawls from Hattiesburg, Mississippi; and Jock Shock, known for his Jimmy Hendrix-style guitar tricks; Blues legend Filmore Slim, R&B singer Silky, and many more.

After the annual Russell City Blues festival was discontinued in 2019, it's welcome to see this unique music style being honored. Among many different types of Blues from around America, West Coast Blues is distinguished by having a jazzier feel. Stewart explains, "During the Black migration, Texas and Louisiana are represented in our music more than anything... Because of T Bone Walker, his guitar style and singing. And having the horns sort of helped make it one of the pillars of West Coast Blues." Legends of the genre such as Big Mama Thornton and don't care what you do, as long as you can play. We don't care what your political status is, what your sexual preference is, as long as you can perform. The other stuff is your personal businesses."

June is a month to include and celebrate those who have previously been excluded, whether that's from freedom, the rights of society, or simply from recognition. Stewart concludes, "It's extremely important that we celebrate Juneteenth and we celebrate Hayward's contribution to West Coast Blues."

Of course, lots of gay people; it's always been part of the Blues idiom. Like Big Mama Thornton, she's bisexual. And Ma Rainey." He expands: "That's the way we do in

LETTER TO THE EDITOR Open letter to Union City officials

At the end of May, I was happy to work with our reporter Hugo Vera and the students of James Logan High School in Union City to cover the rally to save Ramirez Farm.

I grew up in the Bay Area, but working with the Tri-City Voice newspaper has helped me understand that our cities are fun and vibrant and beautiful because of the efforts of many, many community members.

As an adult, I've seen the costs of housing skyrocket until this area seems inaccessible except for workers swearing allegiance to one of the Silicon Valley tech giants, in a weird modern feudalism. New blocks of housing don't alleviate the pressure; they just seem like part of the problem. Who can live in them except for new programmers being moved to the area for tech jobs?

New condos are nice; people need places to live. But what I've come to value more is our open spaces that preserve native species, such as our East Bay Parks, and local agriculture, as seen at our farmers markets, Dig Deep Farms, and Ramirez Farm.

I think people who move to the Bay Area or immigrate here from abroad would also be disappointed to hear, "Oh, yes-your neighborhood used to be native grasslands, or a historic family farm; now it's a generic complex with one teeny plastic playground where you can bring your kids." If we're popular enough that people want to be here, we have a responsibility to preserve what makes this area special.

With the worsening climate crisis, the quickly disappearing land will become even more critical for sustaining life-both wildlife and our residents. There's more money in throwing down a new blanket of concrete, but in a few years, families will be roasting on it like they're living in a frying pan.

I've come to resent the word "development" because it's a misnomer. It assumes that any land not directly serving capitalism is just raw materialcompletely ignoring the complex variety of ecosystems we actually need to maintain balance. A mall or housing complex isn't superior to a marshland; it's just different. (And arguably the marshland has more widespread benefit and is more self-sustaining.)

They say "Think globally; act locally." I feel lucky that so many in the Tri-City Area are both educating themselves about sustainability, and working to put that into practice in their own cities.

Referencing the recent letter from K. V. Srinivasan, that ran in the Tri-City Voice on May 23, 2023. I agree with his thoughts one million percent, and I want to expand on his suggestion.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, NOAA, calculates the annual evaporation rate for the California Central Valley as being in the neighborhood of SIX FEET per year. Six feet per year in a 30-foot-wide canal, 1,000 miles long equals lots and lots of water.

Research from Australia shows that covering a water source reduces evaporation by more than 90 percent. My understanding is that covered water sources have been part of the water infrastructure in India for years, decades, centuries.

An additional upside to K. V. Srinivasan's suggestion is that no additional infrastructure is needed. Access for construction and maintenance already exists as part of the original canal system. So, thousands of well-paying jobs for Californians using the existing infrastructure baseline results in saving lots and lots of cool, clear water for Californians.

One of the drawbacks of solar power is the need for square miles of real estate with access for construction and maintenance. So, let's use real estate that has no other value. Like the center divider of I-5. Or better yet, the cover that we just put over the California water system.

One additional California road trip is necessary. Mining is an inherently dirty business. Tons of material is ripped from the earth to produce a few pounds of the valuable output material. So, what happens to the tons of waste material? It ends up piled next to the ore processing plant or mine entrance. It is called mine tailings and sits there for years, slowly leaching into and poisoning the environment

Let's put these mine tailings into a hydraulic press and convert them to potential energy cubes.

Energy Vault Holdings Inc. is a European company that stores energy in potential energy cubes. When the sun shines and the wind blows these potential energy cubes are moved to the top of a tall structure where the energy is stored for later. When this occurs, the potential energy cubes are released to fall to earth, converting the potential energy into electrical energy feeding back into the grid.

We now have potential energy cubes, once upon a time known as mine tailings, and all we need is a tall building. Or a mountain. Or a mountain with a railroad track. A mountain with a railroad track to the top where potential energy cubes can be stored when the sun shines and the wind blows. To be released down the mountain track, putting stored energy back into the grid when needed.

Using existing infrastructure as the baseline we can provide thousands of good paying jobs for Californians, create a cleaner environment, provide clean energy, and save lots of cool, clear water.

The final problem for the class is to calculate the probability of any of this coming to fruition (good jobs, a cleaner environment, clean energy, cool, clear water) in a year, in a decade, or in a century.

WILLIAM MARSHAK

The month of June is typically filled with thoughts of graduation, matriculation and entrance to the working world by a band of eager graduates. Family and friends gather to cheer accomplishments and anticipate a new chapter of life by the alumnae. This year, although dampened by the effects of COVID, festivities have returned to in-person gatherings from years of virtual instruction and ceremonies. Even with such dramatic modifications over the past several years, this rite of passage, continues to present a host of opportunities to another generation.

The 1967 movie "The Graduate", based on a novel written in 1963 by Charles Webb, relates the angst and ambiguity of a recent college graduate, Benjamin Braddock, facing the daunting next step toward whatever the future holds for him. Several scenes are especially poignant and noteworthy in today's environment. At a party held to celebrate his graduation, Ben is besieged by well-wishers who have little appreciation of his dilemma but welcome him to what he considers their vapid and artificial existence.

Graduation

The solid upper middle-class existence of his parents is unattractive to Ben, but he is at a loss for a personal solution. During the party, a family friend, Mr. McGuire, offers a one-word prophecy: "plastics". Wrapped within the word are characteristics that Ben sees as appalling and anathema: cheap, synthetic and at the time, poor quality. Lured into a meaningless affair entangled with what Ben perceives as true love, the film ends with a happy ending with a twist... is it really a happy ending? Screen writers Buck Henry and Calder Willingham and Director Mike Nichols leave it to the audience to speculate on the ultimate conclusion of events.

Plastics was symbolic of not only some of the tawdry aspects of society, but also its promise for the future. Although the world of the 60s considered plastic items as cheap and poorly constructed, materials and construction have changed dramatically since then and plastic materials are found in almost every corner of manufacturing. Advances in composition and molding procedures have transformed its uses and quality.

Plastic has become so ubiquitous that its disposal and recycling problem is a major challenge of the 21st Century.

The story of plastics has implications for our current situation since what is currently viewed as a "novel" virus and its effects on lifestyles will, with time, integrate into common parlance and practice. Current graduates will experience disruption to standard practices but also a peek into the future as well. Just as plastics improved, so too will standard and commonplace doctrines and commodities transform in decades to come. At the present time, the storm clouds of pandemic are receding, but just as a graduate of the 60s looked at a world vastly different and transformative, so too will our graduates meet the challenges of 2023. The shockwave of a global pandemic is about to be overshadowed by advances in technology, especially artificial intelligence.

Good luck and congratulations to the Class of 2023!

Oakland Zoo welcomes baby gibbon carefully moving about her habitat while keeping her baby to her chest. Like other male white-handed gibbons, Rainier does not take on an active parenting role but has stayed close to Mei and the baby. On Monday morning, Keeper Ashley Xiong offered a normally scheduled training session to Mei, and was thrilled when Mei approached the fenceline to voluntarily participate, with baby held to her chest. Keeper Ashley took the opportunity to take close-up photos.

"This is our first gibbon birth at the Oakland Zoo, and our Animal Care staff has done tremendous work researching and preparing for every possibility. We are delighted that our gibbon family is doing so well," said Colleen Kinzley, VP of Animal Care and Conservation.

Since Mei and Rainier first arrived at Oakland Zoo, animal care staff proactively developed a multi-step process to support a gibbon family. Giving Mei and Rainier ample time to adapt to their new home, form a strong bond, and develop the social dynamics necessary to create the best environment for a successful pregnancy. For the past couple of months, Animal Care staff have dedicated their time to 'baby-proofing' the gibbon island habitat, installing ports in the night house for possible bottle feeding (if needed) and adding more cameras for observation.

Gibbons are one of the few genuinely monogamous primate species. They live in nuclear families very similar to human families of an adult pair and their offspring. The new baby, yet to be named by the animal care team until gender is determined, will stay at Oakland Zoo for at least five to six years, if not permanently. When the baby matures, usually between six to eight years old, the Zoo will reassess based on the group's social-dynamics structure.

The white-handed gibbons are currently in Oakland Zoo's Tropical Rainforest area (Gibbon Island) and can be seen daily during normal Zoo operating hours.

Dead birds infected with West Nile Virus confirmed in Alameda County

BBB

repellent containing EPA-registered active ingredients such as DEET, Picaridin,

SUBMITTED BY JUDITH PIERCE DAVISON

The Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District is reporting that two dead birds tested positive for West Nile virus on May 31, 2023. While the district found a group of West Nile positive mosquitoes at the beginning of the year in January, this is the County's first indication of active virus transmission in 2023. The dead bird was collected from Pleasanton and tested at the district laboratory on May 31, 2023. Dead birds play an important role in the district's ability to monitor West Nile virus activity in Alameda County. Public reporting of dead birds is critical to our surveillance program.

The district is increasing mosquito monitoring and larval control efforts throughout the area where the positive West Nile virus dead birds were discovered. Every effort is being made to locate areas of standing water where mosquitoes may breed, including but not limited to catch basins, storm drain systems, and swimming pools. Anything that can hold water for more than four days such as buckets, tires, and fountains can produce mosquitoes.

"As the entire region has noticed, we have had far more rain this year than we have had for many years," notes General Manager Ryan Clausnitzer, "and excess standing water creates more opportunities for mosquitoes to produce." The district reminds residents that the best way to prevent mosquitoes from producing is to find and remove standing water on their property. "This local virus positive detection by our Laboratory Staff reminds the public West Nile virus is endemic in our community and the best way to stop any future transmission is by decreasing the numbers of mosquitoes."

As of May 26, 2023 California Public Health has reported 10 West Nile positive dead birds and three positive mosquito samples. No human cases have been reported so far in 2023.

Reduce the risk of contracting mosquito-borne diseases by following these guidelines:

* DUMP/DRAIN standing water on your property because that is where mosquitoes develop.

* DAWN/DUSK is when mosquito activity peaks, limit outdoor activities during this time.

* DEFEND yourself from mosquito bites by wearing long pants and long-sleeved shirts and apply insect IR3535, or Oil of lemon eucalyptus.

* DOOR/window screens should be in good repair with no tears or holes.

West Nile virus is transmitted to people and animals through the bite of an infected mosquito. There is no cure for West Nile virus. Approximately one in five people who are infected with West Nile virus will develop symptoms such as fever, headache, body aches, joint pains, vomiting, or rash. Less than one percent will develop a serious neurological illness such as encephalitis or meningitis. Adults over 50 and people with compromised immune systems are at increased risk of serious complications. Anyone who develops symptoms should seek medical care immediately.

Horses are very susceptible to West Nile virus, and vaccines are available. Horse owners are advised to contact their veterinarians regarding timely vaccinations.

For more information visit www.mosquitoes.org or call (510) 783-7744.

Residents can also request mosquitofish for their fish ponds, horse troughs, or neglected swimming pools. For information concerning West Nile virus symptoms, prevention or testing contact the Alameda County Public Health Department at (510) 267-8001.

Jo-Ann attended school at Glenwood Elementary, Coleraine Elementary, Coleraine Junior High, and Stanbrook Hall in Duluth, Minnesota. Upon high school graduation from Stanbrook Hall she entered the Sisters of St. Benedict in September 1955. She left the order in 1961, and worked in St. Mary's Hospital in Minneapolis. She graduated Phi Beta Kappa in 1964 from the college of St. Catherine in St. Paul, Minnesota. She attended graduate school at the University of Chicago from 1964 to 1967 having earned a Masters Degree in Analysis of Ideas and Study of Methods through the Ford Motor Company Humanities Fellowship. While at the University of Chicago she worked at the Crossroads Student Center and taught part-time at Mundelein College and with the Great Books program in downtown Chicago.

Jo-Ann met Allison Dale Murdach at the University of Chicago on a blind date and they were married on June 10, 1967 in Bond Chapel on the campus of the University of Chicago.

Jo-Ann taught Humanities and Philosophy at Chabot College 1969 through 2002 and English as a Second Language at Milpitas High School from 1989 until her retirement in 2000. She is a member of Starr King Unitarian Universalist Church in Hayward, California, the Eden Area League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, and both the California and National Teachers Associations.

Jo-Ann was the most caring and selfless person whose passing leaves an unfillable gap in the hearts of friends and loved ones. Her impact will be forever felt by her family that loves her. Her examples of sacrifice, support, servant leadership, and most of all love...will be forever ingrained in all those she knew.

Jo-Ann was exceptionally curious. She knew when specific fruits and vegetables were in season and was the winner of the Minnesota State Spelling Bee in 1951 with a perfect score. She loved to travel...and for over twenty years visited countries on every continent except Africa and went on 5 cruises. She enjoyed eating different foods, reading road signs out loud in the car, talking with people (especially her grandchildren), but most of all...she loved to sing. Singing for her was infectious and she would often break out into song in the kitchen, car, grocery store line, or in gatherings large or small. She will be missed by all.

A celebration of life will take place late in the summer or fall of 2023. In lieu of flowers please send memorial gifts in Jo-Ann's honor to the Baywood Scholarship Fund (Baywood Court, 21966 Dolores Street, Castro Valley CA 94546) or the Southern Poverty Law Center www.splcenter.org

Donna Marie Perez 03-28-1931-----05-28-2023

Donna was born to Roscoe and Mina Bennett in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where her family lived on a farm for many years. She had one sister, Mae Jean Bennett. The family later moved to Modesto where Donna and her sister were raised around family and friends.

Always a bright student, she completed high school early then went to Modesto Junior College as a business student. It was there that she met her future husband Albert H. Perez. Once married they moved to Niles, CA, which is now known as Fremont.

Donna and her husband worked to create a real estate and insurance business that was called Colonial Reality and Insurance. Their office was located in Newark, and later Fremont. During these years, they raised three children; Denise, Alan, and Connie.

Albert passed away in 1978 and Donna continued the business for several years. She even became the first woman President of the Alameda County Independent Insurance Agent Association.

She was very involved in the lives of her three grandchildren; Selyca, Jason, and Audrey. She was a wonderful great-grandmother to her five great grand-daughters; Elliott, Bailey, Leah, Iyla, and Elliana, and was always available for a hug and a kiss.

She will be missed by all whose lives she touched. She will be forever in our hearts and memories. Rest in peace.

Associated Press May 30 2023

Ralph Yarl - a Black teenager who was shot in the head and arm after mistakenly ringing the wrong doorbell - walked at a brain injury awareness event in his first major public appearance since the shooting.

The 17-year-old suffered a traumatic brain injury when he was shot while trying to pick up his younger brothers in April, the Kansas City Star reported.

Yarl walked with family, friends and other brain injury survivors Monday at Going the Distance for Brain Injury, a yearly Memorial Day race at Loose Park in Kansas City, Missouri.

Bill to Establish Social Housing Passes off the Assembly Floor

FROM THE OFFICE OF ASSEMBLYMEMBER ALEX LEE

AB 309 to establish Social Housing in California passed off of the Assembly Floor with over a supermajority of votes and is now headed to the Senate. The final vote was 55-16.

In 2018, California ranked 49th among the United States in housing units per resident, and it's estimated that an additional 180,000 new units of housing would need to be built each year to meet demand.

Due to the high cost of living, California has been losing lower and middle-income residents who have been priced out as more than two in five households spent over 30% of their income on housing, and more than one in five households spent over half of their income on housing. Families who pay more than 30% of their income for housing are considered rent burdened by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and can have difficulty affording necessities such as food, clothing, transportation, and medical care.

Further, existing strategies to address the lack of affordable housing have not produced nearly enough to meet demand. Over 97% of cities and counties in California have been unable to produce enough affordable housing, and there are only enough affordable and available rentals for 24% of extremely low income households.

"Publicly developed, maintained, and owned housing for Californians of all socioeconomic levels is the key to solving our housing crisis - the state is already getting in the business of housing, but we lack a focused state public developer to do it at scale," said Assemblymember Alex Lee. "I'm hopeful as the momentum is shifting in America with Seattle recently passing a referendum to pursue social housing, efforts in other states such as Hawaii and Maryland, and now AB 309 advancing here in California."

Social housing is publicly backed, self-sustaining housing that accommodates a mix of household income ranges:

• Social housing has been successful across the globe, including several developments in Montgomery County, Maryland, as well as attractive, affordable housing for people of different income levels in Vienna and Singapore.

• Social Housing bills have been introduced in other states such as Hawaii, New York, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island

• Social housing is protected from being sold to a private for-profit entity for the duration of its life, and residents are granted the same protections as tenants in private properties, including just cause eviction protections.

• Housing for people with higher incomes will subsidize lower-income units and allow housing developments to become self-sustaining and revenue neutral. Remaining funds will be used for community development and repairs.

• Residents are able to participate in decision making, such as providing the resident perspective to property management or hosting meetings to gather feedback from residents.

Social housing also avoids the problem of concentrated poverty, by creating mixed-income neighborhoods. This strategy fosters economic opportunities, while preserving affordability to low-income households in the community.

Assemblymember Alex Lee represents the 24th Assembly District which includes the cities of Fremont, Newark, Milpitas, San Jose, and the community of Sunol. Visit CaliforniaSocialHousing.org to learn more.

DTSC PUBLIC NOTICE

Department of Toxic Substances Control - Our mission is to protect the people, communities, and environment of California from harmful chemicals by cleaning up contaminated sites, enforcing hazardous waste laws, and compelling the development of safer products.

Public Comment Period for Bell Street Gardens Site Draft Removal Action Workplan Available for Review

WHAT IS BEING PROPOSED? The California Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) invites you to review and comment on a draft remediation plan, known as a draft Removal Action Workplan (RAW) for the 1.97-acre Bell Street Gardens Site located at 4101 Mowry Avenue, 38853 Bell Street, and 38871 Bell Street in Fremont, CA 94536. The contaminants of concern are lead, mercury, and pesticides in soil and volatile organic compounds (VOCs) in soil gas. The property owner has proposed to build an affordable housing complex. The draft RAW proposes installation of vapor intrusion mitigation systems within existing building foundations, as well as constructing a new building with its foundation serving as a protective cap. The property owner would also record land use restrictions with the County of Alameda that would allow residential use at the Site with the engineered cap and vapor intrusion mitigation systems in place.

CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT (CEQA): The City of Fremont, as the CEQA lead agency for the overall project, prepared an Initial Study/ Mitigated Negative Declaration (IS/MND) to address the redevelopment of the Site. DTSC, acting as the CEQA responsible agency, determined that the IS/MND did not assess the potential impacts of the proposed remedy. DTSC prepared an Addendum which identified and analyzed the potential environmental effects of the proposed remediation and concluded the project activities will not result in significant and unavoidable impacts to the environment. DTSC will file a Notice of Determination with the Governor's Office of Planning and Research once the RAW is approved.

HOW DO I PARTICIPATE? You can review and provide comments on the draft RAW from June 1, 2023 to June 30, 2023. Please send comments to: Peter Ruttan, DTSC Project Manager, 8800 Cal Center Drive, Sacramento, CA 958256 or at Peter.Ruttan@dtsc.ca.gov.
