Local 9/11 Memorial

BY JACK ALCORN

Along the eastern bank of Alameda Creek in Union City, rests a small tranquil park shaded by ancient eucalyptus and conifers. Sugar Mill Landing Park is the home of Union City's Flight 93 Memorial. This unique landmark at the corner of Alvarado-Niles Road and Dyer Street commemorates the local impact of the tragic events of 9/11.

On Tuesday September 11, 2001, terrorists hijacked four commercial airline jets over U.S. soil. The four planes were seized in flight by well-prepared small teams of assassins. The jets were used as bombs to attack the United States. Strategic points of national security were targeted for destruction and maximum morbidity.

Two of the planes hit both of the New York World Trade Center's Twin Towers. A third plane crashed into the Pentagon. The fourth plane, United Airlines Flight 93, was aimed at the U.S. Capitol Building in Washington D.C. A valiant uprising from passengers aboard Flight 93 averted destruction of

Should You Undergo Genetic Testing?

Cancer Expert to Present Free Seminar on Genetic Testing for Breast Cancer

A simple swab may help determine your risk of developing cancer.

If you have a family history of certain cancers, you may be eligible for genetic counseling and testing that could provide critical information about your own cancer risk and that of your family members. Those who test positive for an inherited gene mutation can undergo earlier and more frequent cancer screenings as well as take preventive measures to protect themselves before cancer has a chance to develop or spread. Next month, a hematologist-oncologist will give a free community presentation on this important topic.

Bogdan Eftimie, MD, medical director of the UCSF-Washington Cancer Center will present a live online seminar called, “Genetic Testing for Breast Cancer Risk,” on Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 3 p.m. To watch it on Facebook, sign in to your account and go to facebook.com/WashingtonHosp. Or you can watch it without an account at YouTube.com/whhsInHealth. If you cannot watch it live, the seminar will be available on YouTube the following day.

Dr. Eftimie treats and manages all types of tumors and blood cancers. Through its affiliation with UCSF Health, Washington Hospital Healthcare System (WHHS) is able to provide access to specialists like Dr. Eftimie and his UCSF colleagues; advanced technology; the latest treatments; and important services like clinical trials and genetic testing usually only offered at large academic medical institutions.

“Having the Washington Genetic Cancer Program in-house is one of the many things that makes our breast cancer program so well rounded, especially for a community hospital,” said Christine Mikkelsen, RN, RN-BC, breast cancer nurse navigator and clinical coordinator of the WHHS Women’s Center. “In addition to breast cancer, we provide genetic testing for more than 100 genetic mutations.”

BRCA stands for “BRest CAncer.” Everyone has BRCA genes, which prevent uncontrolled cell growth and abnormal cells from turning into cancer. But sometimes a mutation, or change in one of the genes, prevents it from working properly. It is estimated that about one in every 500 women in the United States has a BRCA-1 or BRCA-2 gene mutation that puts them at a 45-85% higher risk of developing breast cancer by age 70, as well as other cancers. Men can also test positive for BRCA gene mutations, which indicates a higher risk for prostate, pancreatic and breast cancers.

Genetic testing involves a two-step process. First is a telehealth visit with a genetic counselor to provide education on genetic testing and discuss personal and family health history. This helps establish what genetic mutations a person is at risk for and what tests to run. Next, the patient goes in for a blood draw or submits a sample of their saliva via a postage-paid test tube kit. Once the results are in, another appointment is scheduled to review the findings and discuss any necessary cancer screening or prevention, implications for the patient and family, and referrals or resources.

“Knowledge is power when it comes to cancer, so the information Dr. Eftimie will present is important for everyone,” advised Mikkelsen. “Watch his presentation to learn more about genetic testing, and if you qualify, get tested because it could save your life or that of your loved one.”

Speak to your primary care physician to determine if you might qualify for a referral to the Cancer Genetics Program at the UCSF-Washington Cancer Center.

For more information about Dr. Eftimie’s presentation or other health-related topics, visit whhs.com/events. For information on the UCSF – Washington Cancer Center, visit whhs.com/cancer.

September is National Yoga Awareness Month

Inhale the Future, Exhale the Past

Whether you have tried yoga or not, you have likely heard it is good for your body, but did you also know it is good for your mind? National Yoga Awareness Month is held every September to promote the benefits of yoga and inspire a healthy lifestyle. Sudeepthi Prasad, MD, is a Washington Township Medical Foundation obstetrician-gynecologist and a certified yoga instructor who practices yoga every day. In observance of Yoga Awareness Month, she shares with the Tri-City community her wisdom on the benefits of yoga.

What are the health benefits of yoga?

I explain to my patients that yoga will help improve their strength, balance and flexibility. Back pain is a common ailment among women after they have children, and yoga helps with that. It also eases pain from arthritis as they get older. Several recent studies have revealed that yoga is good for your heart. It also helps with high blood pressure and excess weight, and it brings relaxation for better sleep. People of all ages and abilities can benefit from practicing yoga.

What other ways does yoga help people feel better?

Yoga prepares the body for meditation that can promote brighter moods and increased energy. It releases neurotransmitters, such as dopamine, which has to do with feeling pleasure, being focused and sleeping well. Serotonin has a calming effect, which eases tension to help us feel less stressed. GABA (an inhibitory neurotransmitter) sends chemical messages to the brain and nervous system to inhibit feelings of anxiety, nervousness, racing thoughts and sleeplessness. Endorphins are also released that are responsible for the feeling of exhilaration during exercise, sometimes described as “runner’s high.” These are just some of the neurotransmitters that play a role in creating well-being, reduction of pain and less stress. Yoga and meditation choreograph the simultaneous release of these chemicals, and it all comes with no side effects.

How is yoga different from other physical exercise?

Yoga is much more than just exercise or contortion of the body. It can work to bring together the mind, body and spirit. In yoga, the body is seen as five different layers, or koshas. They are the physical, energy, mental, intellectual and bliss bodies. Using yoga to open up to all these different layers of the self can enable a person to live life to the fullest.

What are the different styles of yoga?

Hatha, the most common form of yoga means “force” in Sanskrit. It uses controlled movements and stretching with a focus on the breath to preserve and channel the vital force or energy. Ashtanga yoga is a more dynamic form of traditional Indian yoga focused on developing physical strength. Iyengar yoga emphasizes detail, precision and alignment when performing yoga postures that are usually held for a longer period of time. With Vinyasa yoga, poses are put together in a continuous rhythmic flow, unlike Hatha, where you rest between poses. Bikram is hot yoga, usually done in hot, humid conditions which results in heavy sweating. These are just a few of the many types of yoga. There is also specialized yoga that includes those tailored for people with cancer, or yoga therapy to help heal an injury or painful area.

How can someone who is new to yoga get started?

Especially since the pandemic, there are many different virtual yoga videos or classes available via Zoom or on YouTube. For those who are new to yoga, I recommend getting started by attending your first couple of classes in person. Yoga is a healing, strengthening, calming, and empowering practice that offers something for everybody regardless of their age, gender, race, size, background or fitness level.

The Washington Wellness Center offers two weekly yoga classes held in their conference room at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave., Suite 145 in Fremont. “Yoga” is on Fridays from noon to 1 p.m. and covers the fundamentals of yoga poses with a focus on strength, balance, and alignment. “Gentle Yoga” is held Tuesdays from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and offers seated and standing yoga poses along with guided meditation to tone your body and maximize flexibility and balance. People with all levels of yoga experience are welcome to both classes and the cost is $10 per session.

For more information about yoga and other wellness classes at the Washington Wellness Center or to reserve a spot, call 510.818.7301. To learn more about Dr. Prasad, visit www.mywtmf.com/find-a-doctor/sudeepthi-h-b-prasad-md/.

local dahlia
blooms

BY STAFF

In fall, dahlias are in bloom, and San Leandro's long-running Dahlia Society is having a free show at the San Leandro Library to showcase the color and variety of these flowers. The show will take place on Saturday and Sunday, September 9 - 10.

The San Leandro Dahlia Society has been active since 1934, later combining with the Oakland Dahlia Society, and currently has around 50 members who grow dahlias in their yards, or in community gardens. The club has maintained a dahlia garden at Casa Peralta for decades, and members also grow dahlias in the public gardens at Oakland's Lake Merritt. Some members hail from as far as Walnut Creek, Tracy and Sacramento. However, the climate of San Leandro is ideal for these flowers, which prefer mild coastal areas to hotter climates.

Dahlias originate in the highlands of Mexico. Though the first dahlias looked like open-center daisies, the plant is amenable to hybridization, and now there are over 11,000 cultivars. Blooms can be as small as a half inch, and as wide as 18 inches. "I think that's what attracts people to them so much, that they're so unique but they're all the same flower family," says Kristi Whitfield, Vice President of San Leandro Dahlia Society.

At the show, cut flowers will be arranged for judging, so it will be the perfect opportunity to admire the variety of dahlias. If you're inspired to plant your own dahlias in the spring, you can sign up for the Dahlia Society newsletter or join some of their monthly meetings to learn how to plant and care for your own tubers.

"We want people to enjoy the flowers, and we want to encourage people to grow the flowers," says Whitfield. "This is where people get interested in them. They see them and they're like, 'Oh my gosh I had no idea. I want to start growing these.'"

Park Happenings for September:

News from the East Bay Regional Park District

SUBMITTED BY DAVE MASON

Peak fire season – September and October – is fast approaching. The East Bay Regional Park District and its professionally trained fire department have been working throughout the year to reduce wildfire risks, including thinning and removing hazardous vegetation from parks and using cattle, sheep, and goats to keep grass in check.

Park District firefighters are always on the lookout for potential fires, and park visitors can help by practicing basic fire safety and reporting any suspicious or dangerous activity.

Fire safety visitor tips:

- Do not smoke in the regional parks, including vaping.
- Be aware of Red Flag Warnings and fire danger levels.
- Follow all fire safety rules.
- Do not drive or park on dry grass. Hot exhaust manifolds can start a fire.
- Be alert for any potential fire hazards and report them. If you see a fire, call 911 immediately.

It's calving season. Calving season runs from August to October in East Bay Regional Parks. Be mindful of interactions that can create a danger to both calves and people. Grazing cattle play an important role in wildfire protection by reducing flammable vegetation and fire risks.

What to do around cattle for your safety and theirs:

- Do not approach or touch baby calves. Do not take selfies with calves.
- Do not get between a mother cow and its calf.
- Do not worry if you see a calf by itself. The mother cow is usually nearby and will return.
- Leash your dog around cattle and keep them away from calves.

Learn about the untold stories of the Somersville. A History Hike will take place on Sunday, September 17, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at Black Diamond Mine. From the 1850s to the early 1900s, Mount Diablo Coal Field was the largest coal mining operation in California and the population center of Contra Costa County. Deep within the earth, miners excavated the valuable namesake of the park – “black diamonds” or coal – to support the state’s growing energy demands.

Somersville was one of five mining towns in the area and supported a thriving community of almost 1,000 residents.

Although no buildings from the coal mining era remain, there is still evidence of the Somersville community, including artifacts, photographs, census records, newspaper articles, and oral histories.

Naturalists will lead the two-to-three-mile History Hike and provide information about the area’s coal and sand mining history. The program is best for ages seven and up. Wear sturdy shoes and bring a snack and plenty of water. Meet at the Upper Parking Lot. More programs are scheduled in October. For more information, visit www.ebparks.org/calendar and search “mines.”

Join the Park District in commemorating Hispanic Heritage Month from September 15 to October 15 with programs and events celebrating the contributions of Hispanic and Latino Americans. Programs include a Hispanic Heritage Month Hike on Sunday, September 17, at 10 a.m. at Garin Regional Park. For more information about Hispanic Heritage Month activities, visit www.ebparks.org/hispanic-heritage-month.

California’s 39th annual Coastal Cleanup Day is September 23. Each year, over 70,000 volunteers help clear debris and remove trash from California waterways, including lakes, creeks, rivers, and shorelines. The Park District has identified 10 cleanup sites within its parks: Martin Luther King Jr. Regional Shoreline, Point Pinole Regional Shoreline, Robert W Crown Regional Shoreline, Point Isabel Regional Shoreline, Radke Martinez Regional Shoreline, Del Valle Regional Park, Wildcat Canyon Regional Park, and Hayward Regional Shoreline. For more information, visit www.ebparks.org/get-involved/volunteer/coastal-cleanup.

Celebrate International Day of Peace with the Park District at a community event at Lake Chabot Regional Park on Saturday, September 16, from 10:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. This year’s theme is Actions for Peace: Our Ambition for the #GlobalGoals – a call to action that recognizes our individual and collective responsibility to foster peace. The UN-established International Day of Peace in 1981 to encourage 24 hours of non-violence and cease-fire, and to practice kindness and compassion.

Tri-City History - Street Names #8: Dusterberry Way

BY KELSEY CAMELLO,
FOR THE WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP
MUSEUM OF LOCAL HISTORY

Dusterberry Way: A street that runs north to south from Thornton Avenue to Central Avenue.

Dusterberry Way in the Centerville area of Fremont is named for Henry Dusterberry, who immigrated to Wisconsin from Germany in 1847. In 1854 he relocated to California via the overland route. Sometime between 1860 and 1863, Dusterberry purchased 81 acres on Central Avenue and married Ellen Faley. The couple purchased a home previously owned by Ben Marston (which had been moved from Alvarado). They added onto the original house, and it still stands at 4619 Central Avenue, at the corner of Central Avenue and Glenmoor Drive. Together, Henry and Ellen had five children.

Their son Frank was a prominent citizen both inside and outside of Centerville. In Centerville, he served as postmaster, store owner, local agent for Wells Fargo and Co., and he helped organize and served on the board for the Bank of Centerville (later the First National Bank of Centerville, and still later the Bank of Italy / America). Frank also served as president of the Centerville Chamber of Commerce for 15 years. Outside Centerville, he served for 14 years for the Alameda County Board of Supervisors; he helped garner support for building the Dumbarton Bridge; and he served for the Red Cross, school board, and water district. Frank also advocated for local health and welfare services. He lived to be age 75.

Ellen and Henry's other sons, Frederick and Henry Jr. also remained in town. Henry Jr. worked as farmer for the family holdings, and Frederick owned a plumbing shop. Their daughter Mary passed away at the young age of 46.

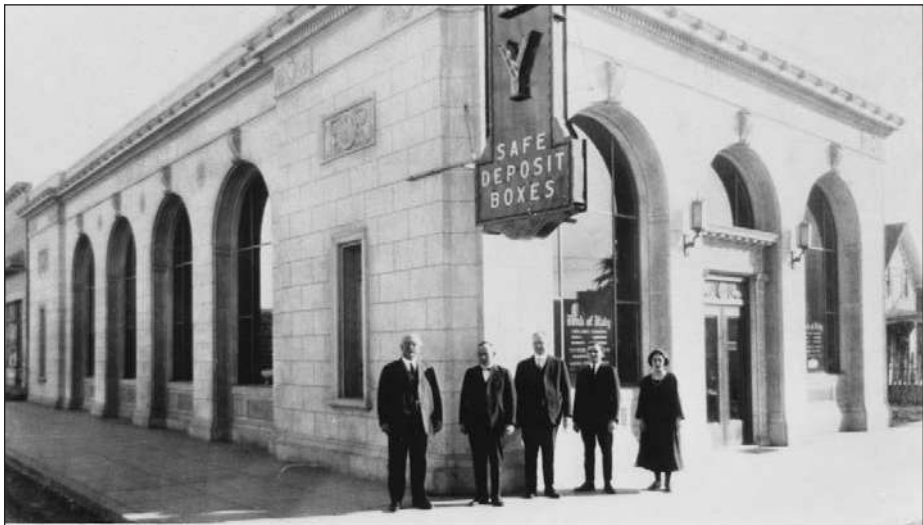

After his wife Ellen also passed away at a young age (58), Henry's youngest daughter Elizabeth stayed in the family home to care for her father and serve as his companion. After Elizabeth passed in 1967, she was buried alongside others in the family plot at Holy Ghost Cemetery (5252 Central Avenue).

Henry was recognized in his old age as the only surviving member of the Washington Township Pioneer Society. The Pioneer Society was comprised of men who had come to California by covered wagon or "around the horn" of South America (by ship). The first meeting of the Society took place in 1876, and the last was in 1906. Henry passed in 1919, at the old age of 89.

Today, the Dusterberry Family name lives on, most recently in the naming of Fremont's newest park, Dusterberry Neighborhood Park.

A Warm Welcome to the 'Y'All Come and Sing' Choir

SUBMITTED BY
SHIRLEY GILBERT

Dr. Corie Brown, Artistic Director of the East Bay People's Choir and Mission Peak Chamber Singers, invites all lovers of music and singing to come to the kickoff potluck and informational meeting of the 2023/24 season of the two choirs on September 12 at Irvington Presbyterian Church. The potluck will be at 6:30 p.m., with the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

"We're planning an exciting season of joyful, diverse songs," says Dr. Brown, "and our two choirs are happy to welcome both new and experienced singers to our community."

The objective of this first meeting, according to Dr. Brown, is to introduce the new season and share details about the two choirs. "I would love anyone interested in singing to join us and hear what our choirs are all about. Ours is a vibrant singing community and open to all. We have a place for every voice."

For example, Mission Peak Chamber Singer members love to read music, are open to auditioning and enjoy challenging repertoires. Meanwhile, East Bay People's Choir participants learn most music by rote, would prefer not to audition, and love to sing their hearts out not only in the shower but with a welcoming and warm group of singing enthusiasts.

"Some people learn by rote and others by reading music," adds Dr. Brown. "My fundamental belief is that everyone can sing and enjoy making music together. We get to that enjoyment in different ways. Our goal with our two choirs is to build a joyful community through song."

Dr. Brown will initially conduct both choirs. However, a decision will be made in January whether to start a search for an Associate Director. "A search for the right person," says Dr. Brown, "takes time and should not be rushed."

New members are especially welcome at this initial meeting. Those wishing to join Mission Peak Chamber Singers will be able to audition at the meeting's end. Dr. Brown is hoping that anyone with a great ear and/or good music reading ability, and excellent attitude about choral music will want to audition.

Why should you consider joining the choir community when it meets every Tuesday? It's the ideal way to get away from an evening, away from the cares of daily life, cultivate one's artistic side, be with folks who love choral music, and perhaps discover a beautiful time in a beautiful space, says Dr. Brown.

The two choirs will engage in an exciting year of unforgettable music. There will be a holiday concert with singalongs, candlelight, and brass fanfares. A March recital in which water is a magical theme and a special Moroccan guest to delight in May. "This will be a great year for both singers and audiences that no one should miss," says Dr. Brown. "Join us on September 12 and hear all about it."

Want to Write? What's Stopping You?

SUBMITTED BY
TISH DAVIDSON

Have you dreamed of writing a witty story, or a tale about your childhood, but are nervous about your abilities? If so, now is the time to try the free "Zoom Social Write-In." At the Write-In, you will be assigned to a Zoom room with three other local writers. Inspired by a variety of prompts, everyone will write spontaneously for about ten minutes and then share their responses to the prompt. This is not a critique group. Your writing will not be judged, just enjoyed, or you may choose to opt out of reading your work and just listen to other writers.

Sharing your writing in this environment is not scary or embarrassing. The prompts are general and are designed to encourage writing about yourself and your experiences. There is also time to socialize and get to know other aspiring writers. Once everyone has shared their writing, people will be reassigned a different Zoom room with different people and a different writing challenge.

The Write-In is sponsored by Fremont Area Writers (FAW), a branch of the California Writers Club, but you do not need to live in Fremont or be a member to attend. In addition to the Write-In, FAW meets on Zoom from 2 p.m. – 4 p.m. on the fourth Saturday of each month. At meetings, guest speakers discuss various aspects of writing and the publishing industry. The guest speaker for September 23 is Tony Pino, teacher and published poet, who will speak on demystifying poetry. More information is available at <https://cwc-fremontareawriters.org>.

To participate in the Write-In or attend the free general meeting, please request the Zoom meeting link from Scott Davidson at scottfrombayside@yahoo.com.

Ashwin Vaidyanathan brings home medals in History Olympiad

SUBMITTED BY DAVID MADDEN,
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF
INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC COMPETITIONS

The 5th International History Olympiad took place in Rome, Italy from July 23-30, 2023 with 258 students in attendance, representing 30 U.S. states, 20 other countries, and four territories. This was the largest Olympiad ever in terms of attending students, and it was the first since 2018 to be held in Europe. St. Stephen's School was the host site for most of the competitions, though several finals were held in historic venues throughout the area, including inside the Colosseum (Roman History Bee), at St. Peter's Square (Catholic History Bee), and in the Circus Maximus (Sports History Bee and Running Combined).

California led the Medals Table with 37.33 medals and 11.33 gold (fractional medals reflect team events where one student of a team of two or three represented a particular country or state). Canada finished second on both accounts, with 31 medals, including seven gold. Taylor Chen, an Elementary Division student from Tennessee led the Individual Medals Table with 10 medals, including six gold. Of the 258 competing students, 110 won a medal in an individual event, and nine additional students won a medal as part of a team event.

California's Ashwin Vaidyanathan, a student at Mission San Jose High School in Fremont, contributed to the Golden State's medals haul with a Gold Medal in the Recent History Bee. Olympiad Founder and Executive Director, David Madden, added, “In his first International History Olympiad, Ashwin had a fantastic debut. Ashwin was one of only 15 Junior Varsity Division students out of 73 who competed to win a gold medal in an individual event. Combined with a semifinal finish in the International History Bee World Championships, Ashwin should be extremely proud of his accomplishments in Rome.”

Aside from the 27 medal events and four separate trophy events, students had a chance to sightsee around Rome. As well as an opening parade from the Colosseum to and around the Circus Maximus, students also visited the Roman Forum, St. Peter's Basilica (where one lucky group even saw Pope Francis's weekly blessing), Vatican Museums and Sistine Chapel, Ostia Antica, UN Food and Agriculture Organization Headquarters, the Baths of Caracalla, and several walking tours that took in sites such as the Spanish Steps, Trevi Fountain, and Trajan's Column. Approximately half of the students, and many of their parents and siblings, took part in the optional concluding day trip to Pompeii and the National Archaeological Museum in Naples on July 31.

The next International History Olympiad will be held in 2025, most likely in either London or Vienna. Students interested in competing in the International History Olympiad should visit www.iacompetitions.com (in the USA) to learn more about upcoming History Bee and Bowl tournaments around the world.

Golden Bear Pass provides free day-use access to state parks

THE NEWS ROOM AT CALIFORNIA STATE PARKS

California State Parks and the California Department of Social Services (CDSS) announced the expansion of the Golden Bear Pass to participants of California's Tribal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program, providing free day-use access to more than 200 state parks.

The Golden Bear Pass is a calendar year (January–December) pass available to qualifying Californians who receive Supplemental Security Income, California Work Opportunity and Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKs) program recipients, or income-eligible Californians age 62 and over. Newly issued passes are valid for the remainder of 2023 with an additional pass for 2024 sent at the beginning of the year.

“Time in nature is healing and beneficial to our overall well-being, which is why equitable access to California's stunning state parks is essential,” said California First Partner Jennifer Siebel Newsom. “Expanding eligibility of the Golden Bear Pass to include low-income Native families through the Tribal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program is critical to ensuring kids, the aging population, and other vulnerable communities reap the benefits of nature and the outdoors.”

Last year, State Parks began a three-year pilot program partnership with CDSS to make several improvements to how the Golden Bear Pass is administered. These improvements included a waiver of the $5 pass fee, direct notifications to eligible CalWORKs recipients, expedited verification of applicant eligibility and streamlined pass fulfillment.

Californians can apply for the Golden Bear Pass with their smartphone or other web-based device in just minutes and have access to more than 200 California state park units. A list of eligible units and FAQs on the Golden Bear Pass can be found at parks.ca.gov/OutdoorsForAll and at cdss.ca.gov/GoldenBearPass.

“The Golden Bear Pass has been a great success, providing an equitable opportunity for more Californians to enjoy our state's natural beauty,” said CDSS Director Kim Johnson. “We're thrilled that the Golden Bear Pass has now been expanded to include Tribal TANF participants. It's my hope that the Golden Bear Pass will help ensure more people across California have an opportunity to get out, connect with their family and friends while experiencing our beautiful parks, beaches and trails.”

In addition to the Golden Bear Pass, State Parks is reminding the public about the two other free pass programs available, including the California State Park Adventure Pass for California's fourth graders and their families. Championed by

First Partner Jennifer Siebel Newsom—whose California for All Kids initiatives support children's physical, mental and social-emotional well-being—incoming fourth graders can obtain their California State Park Adventure Pass beginning Sept. 1, 2023, to explore 19 select state parks for free for a full year.

Also, all Californians can check out a California State Library Parks Pass using their library cards to access more than 200 participating state park units. In partnership with the California State Library, the Library Pass program was expanded this year to also include Tribal libraries throughout the state.

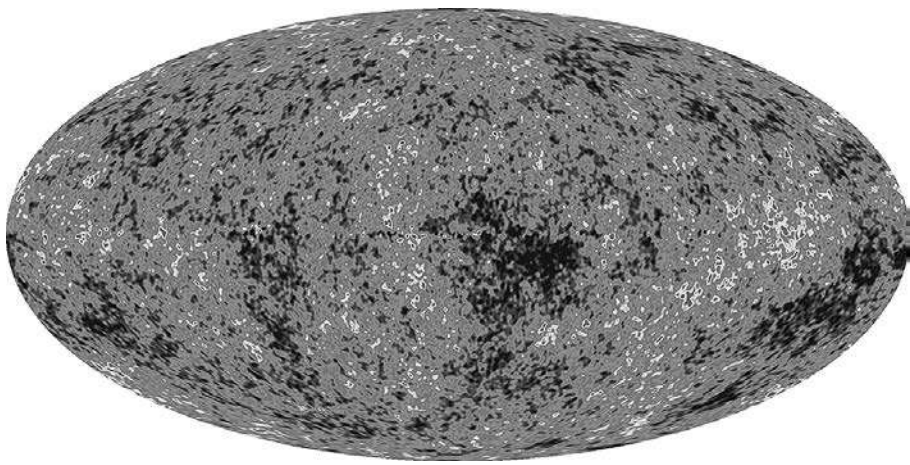

For more information on all three State Parks pass programs, please visit parks.ca.gov/OutdoorsForAll

Looking Beyond the Stars

BY BRIAN KRUSE

Looking up in awe at the night sky, the stars and planets pop out as bright points against a dark background. All of the stars that we see are nearby, within our own Milky Way Galaxy. And while the amount of stars visible from a dark sky location seems immense, the actual number is measurable only in the thousands. But what lies between the stars, and why can't we see it? Both the Hubble telescope and the James Webb Space Telescope (Webb) have revealed that what appears as a dark background, even in our backyard telescopes, is populated with as many galaxies as there are stars in the Milky Way.

So, why is the night sky dark and not blazing with the light of all those distant galaxies? Much like looking into a dense forest where every line of sight has a tree, every direction we look in the sky has billions of stars with no vacant spots. Many philosophers and astronomers have considered this paradox. However, the concept has taken the name of Heinrich Wilhelm Olbers, an early 19th century German astronomer. Basically, the Olbers Paradox asks why the night sky is dark if the Universe is infinitely old and static—in that case there would be stars visible everywhere. The observable phenomenon of a dark sky leads us directly into the debate about the very nature of the Universe—is it eternal and static, or is it dynamic and evolving?

It was not until the 1960s with the discovery of the Cosmic Microwave Background, that the debate was finally settled, though various lines of evidence for an evolving universe had built up over the previous half century. The equations of Einstein's General Theory of Relativity suggested a dynamic universe, not eternal and unchanging as previously thought. Edwin Hubble used the cosmic distance ladder discovered by Henrietta Swan Leavitt to show that distant galaxies are moving away from us—and the greater the distance, the faster they're moving away. Along with other evidence, this led to the recognition of an evolving Universe.

The paradox has since been resolved, now that we understand that the Universe has a finite age and size, with the speed of light having a definite value. Here's what's happening—due to the expansion of the Universe, the light from the oldest, most distant galaxies is shifted towards the longer wavelengths of the electromagnetic spectrum. So the farther an object is from us, the redder it appears. The Webb telescope is designed to detect light from distant objects in infrared light, beyond the visible spectrum. Other telescopes detect light at still longer wavelengths, where it is stretched into the radio and microwave portions of the spectrum. The farther back we look, the more things are shifted out of the visible, past infrared, and all the way into microwave wavelengths. If our eyes could see microwaves, we would behold a sky blazing with the light of the hot, young Universe—the Cosmic Microwave Background.

NASA's James Webb Space Telescope has produced the sharpest infrared image of the distant universe to date. Known as Webb's First Deep Field, this image of galaxy cluster SMACS 0723 is overflowing with detail. (Image Credit: NASA, ESA, CSA, STScI) <https://bit.ly/webbdeep>

The next time you look up at the stars at night, turn your attention to the darkness between the stars, and ponder how you are seeing the result of a dynamic, evolving Universe.

Women's a cappella ensemble seeks singers

SUBMITTED BY HEIDI MASSIE

Harmony Fusion, a women's a cappella vocal ensemble, will host a special open rehearsal guest night to welcome new singers.

Harmony Fusion, a chapter of Sweet Adelines International (SAI), is open to female singers as young as high school age. The group generally meets Monday nights from 7 p.m. – 9:30 p.m. in Hayward. Guests are always welcome, but September 18 is set aside as a special open rehearsal.

“We're looking for women who love to sing and are interested in performing, competing, and improving their vocal skills,” says Sharon Reyes, Membership Chair. “Many of our members also sing in choruses at their place of worship or at other organizations in their communities, while others have sung in a high school or college chorus. We welcome all singers with or without choral experience to the guest night to find out if Harmony Fusion is a good fit for them. We are eager to share the sisterhood of a cappella with our guests. If you have a good ear for music, we want you! The ability to read music is not required!”

At this special interactive rehearsal, visitors will experience what it's like to sing in the barbershop style as a member of Harmony Fusion. After a meet and greet, guests will join members on the risers to experience the joy of “ringing chords” together. Guests who are interested in further exposure to our singing style will have the opportunity to attend future rehearsals and learn one full arrangement to perform at our show on December 16, 2023.

Director Barbara Vander Putten, a SAI Certified Director and member of the SAI Region 12 coaching faculty, has directed Harmony Fusion since April of 2007. Under her direction, the ensemble has medaled several times at the annual Sweet Adelines International regional contest, and she regularly attends regional educational conferences with the chorus twice a year.

“Music education in Barbershop singing is the mission of Sweet Adelines, but the organization also provides opportunities to sing in other styles,” says Vander Putten. “In addition to the joy of singing in our sisterhood, members learn proper vocal technique for ensemble singing during rehearsals and coaching, and perform at events throughout the East Bay. Membership includes access to weekend workshops in vocal techniques, singing in a quartet, learning to direct, and multiple aspects of performing.”

Harmony Fusion has also been recognized for its high member retention rate as a four-time winner of the SAI Region 12 BRAVO award. “We are extremely proud of the award,” says Joanne Morrison, Board President. “We are the first and only group to receive the award four times! We believe our welcoming and supportive culture, and of course, our fabulous director Barb, inspire our members to show up consistently and share their love of singing. Our members live throughout the East Bay in and around Hayward, Castro Valley, Alameda, Oakland and Berkeley, the Tri-Valley areas of Livermore, Pleasanton and Danville, and the San Francisco Peninsula.”

For more information about the open rehearsal night, contact Sharon Reyes at (510) 397-1920. General information is available on Facebook at @harmonyfusionchorus or at www.harmonyfusion.org.

The Bright family zoo in Limestone, TN says that its newborn giraffe is lucky to have been born “in captivity.” Giraffes use their spots for camouflage and this baby female giraffe was born without spots and, in fact, is perhaps the only spotless giraffe on the planet. David Bright explained that “being solid colored, she may not be able to hide quite as well.” Tony Bright told reporters “the international coverage of our pattern-less baby giraffe has created a much-needed spotlight on giraffe conservation. Wild populations are silently slipping into extinction, with 40% of the wild giraffe population lost in just the last 3 decades. See the spotless giraffe

This senior jumps for joy

Kim Knor of Denver, CO learned how to skydive when she was 20 years old; that was in 1959. She became a member of the inaugural U.S. Women's Parachute Team two years later. To date, the 84-year-old daredevil has made 600 jumps and is determined to reach her goal of 1,000 jumps. As she told one news outlet, “I have a choice of watching TV or sitting in front of a computer or going out and jumping and traveling across the country.” In an interview with CBS News, she had a suggestion for her fellow octogenarians: “I feel fantastic! I mean, this is what I live for. Anytime life gets too difficult or too sad just go make a jump and then everything's good!” Watch the skydiving senior on YouTube:

Bears will be bears

In that old yarn it was Goldilocks who broke into the home of the three bears. In the case of Brian of Kings Beach, CA it was a sleepy old bear that broke into his apartment, ate his food, wrecked his TV set and then took a nap on his bed. It was all caught on his Ring camera while Brian was out boating with friends on Lake Tahoe. Apparently, the bears are out in numbers in the Lake Tahoe area; they have been visiting not only Brian's apartment but have been caught by video surveillance cameras in several stores in the area. A Dinosaur Named SUE

How did Sue find this fossil?

"I was pretty lucky," remembers Sue. "But it does take more than just luck," she admits. Sue Hendrickson also knew the right kind of rock to explore.

Fossil Hunters Know Rocks

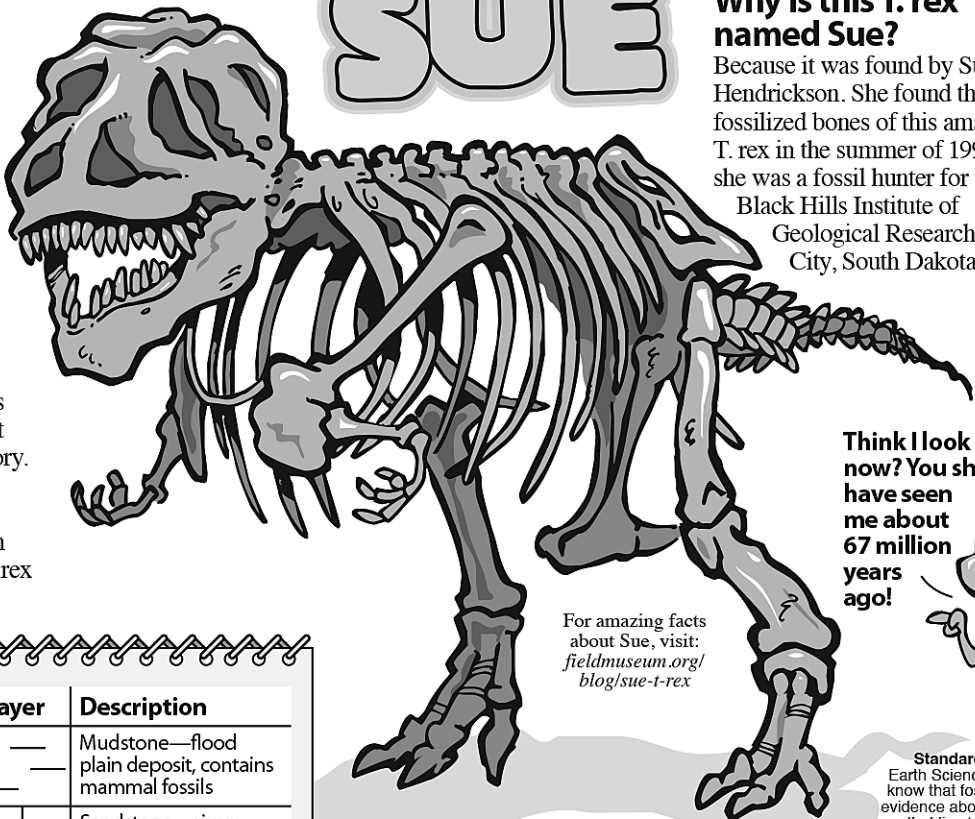

Different layers of rocks were formed at different times in the earth's history. This chart, called a stratigraphic column, can help you discover in which kinds of rocks T. rex fossils could be found.

Time	Rock Layer	Description
Paleocene 56 to 65 million years ago		Mudstone—flood plain deposit, contains mammal fossils
Cretaceous 66 to 144 million years ago		Sandstone—river deposit
		Shale—deep ocean deposit, contains ammonites, mosasaurs and plesiosaurs
Jurassic 145 to 199 million years ago		Chalk—ocean deposit, contains marine reptiles
Triassic 200 to 251 million years ago		Sandstone—river deposit
Paleozoic 252 to 541 million years ago		Limestone—shallow ocean deposit, contains shells

- Color layers that could include T. rex fossils BLUE.
- Color layers that do not contain T. rex fossils because they were deposited under an ocean YELLOW.

In North America, Tyrannosaurus rex lived between 66 to 90 million years ago. They did not have wings to fly or fins to swim.

Stratigraphic Map & Geologic Map © The Field Museum, Chicago

Below is a drawing of Sue—the largest, most complete and best preserved fossil of a Tyrannosaurus rex ever found.

Why is this T. rex named Sue?

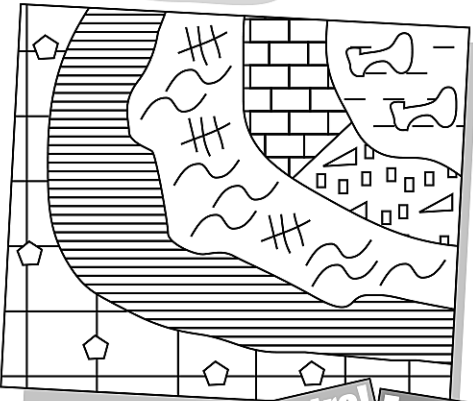

Because it was found by Sue Hendrickson. She found the fossilized bones of this amazing T. rex in the summer of 1990 when she was a fossil hunter for the Black Hills Institute of Geological Research in Hill City, South Dakota.

Think I look good now? You should have seen me about 67 million years ago!

Standards Link: Earth Science: Students know that fossils provide evidence about the animal that lived long ago.

Where would you look?

Apply what you learned from the stratigraphic column to figure out where in this map you would look for dinosaur fossils.

Over millions of years, layers of rock build up, burying—and preserving—fossils.

Look through the newspaper and find 5 or more adjectives that would describe the T. rex called Sue. Put the adjectives in ABC order.

Trash Talk

BY THE PICKUP ARTIST

This is the 31st edition of Trash Talk, a column devoted to cleaning up our neighborhoods, our environment, and our outlook on life.

Contest Judging Time!

I want to thank my readers for their contest entries! I am posting them here and hope ALL readers will help decide who should receive the laptop with touch screen. Remember, we are looking for the idea that will encourage recycling and/or get more people involved in making our planet a better place to live.

Recycle VHS Tapes

Many people still have a closet with VHS or Betamax tapes. Some are professional recordings; some are home movies of the kids at sports meets or school performances. They aren't doing any good on the shelf, and could be digitized for future "remember when" parties. You may not even have a player, so the tapes are essentially useless. Either way, if you want to reclaim some closet space, it's time to make them go away. VHS tapes CAN be digitized and recycled!

There are companies who provide this service for a fee. Old tape-based media are often not accepted by thrift stores or libraries. Check with them first before taking in a stack of tapes. Another option is to email BoredVHSlover@gmail.com. Another excellent place is called "Urban Ore." Here is their address:

<https://resource.stopwaste.org/vendor/urban-ore-berkeley-900-murray-st>. They take VHS tapes, film, building materials, and electronics, with a no waste policy.

Just donating things in general before dumping them is the most important lesson I can offer. You never know who may find something at a thrift store that could really help them out.

GarBASH Get-Together

Throw a Recycle Reception or a Gar-BASH (a re-use party) with your friends!

- * Everyone brings their own utensils, cups, and leftover containers from home, so no disposable food-ware is wasted.
- * Everyone brings one item they no longer need at home, but that someone else could use! Make it a gift exchange like Secret Santa or a white elephant exchange. (Wrap items in newspaper or plastic bags to conceal contents.)
- * The main event is a costume (or maybe a funny hat) contest! All costumes/hats must be made from as many recycled/reused materials as possible.

Make sure to give advance notice so guests can spend time collecting materials.

Reuse Pill Bottles

This organization accepts used pill bottles and reuses them in other countries that desperately need them. You can see more details at m25m.org. This reduces landfill and benefits others without these convenient and child-proof containers.

Involve Students

This solution involves forming neighborhood volunteer teams of students to pick up trash. Targeting high schools in the area and motivating the students to start a trash picking team will help the kids acquire leadership skills as well as get involved in the community. In addition, I strongly believe that littering will be reduced only when people living in the area take pride in their surroundings.

Street Art Museums

Graffiti sometimes causes buildings to lose their property value and drives people away. "Street Art" is a form of graffiti. This is similar to murals, but created without permission. Street art can be channeled into things more beneficial for the community. For instance, a Street Art Museum would be a space for artists to create works of art that allow them to express themselves. Street artists could sign up for spaces and create works for the public to enjoy without committing an illegal act. If artists had a proper place to showcase their work, they would stop vandalizing property. This would make communities prettier and artists happier!

Alameda County Library Announces Winners of 2023 Youth Poet Laureate Competition

SUBMITTED BY ALICIA REYES,
COMMUNICATIONS
MANAGER,
ALAMEDA COUNTY LIBRARY

Alameda County Library has announced the winners of the 2023 Alameda County Youth Poet Laureate competition. Now in its third year, the annual competition, open to Alameda County teens ages 13-18, takes place during National Poetry Month in April. The winners of the 2023 competition are Brian Guan of Dublin and Sunwoo Eom of Albany.

Guan, the 2023 Youth Poet Laureate, is a poet and editor-in-chief of The Dungeness Press, a Bay Area teen literary magazine. Guan's poetry explores the connection and humanity of art, advocacy, and education.

Eom, 2023 Youth Poet Vice-Laureate, is the editor-in-chief of Albany High School's campus magazine, a poet, and founder of a student-centered global citizenry nonprofit. Eom's poetry explores the historical relationship between trauma, memory, and personal narrative.

This year's finalists include: Rose America Garcia of San Leandro, Vyahruti Gudoor of Fremont, Lia Le-Nguyen of Fremont, Anika Yu of Dublin.

Alameda County Library received a record-breaking number of submissions this year—52—more than double the amount of last year. Winners were selected by a panel of judges from the Bay Area spoken word and restorative justice communities, and were judged based on the content, craft, and voice of their work. The names of winners were announced at a community event held at the Cherryland Community Center on August 25.

"The competition celebrates teen voices from all over the county," said Nate Miley, Alameda County Board of Supervisors President. "When teens express themselves creatively and authentically through poetry, they inspire our next generation of leaders to amplify their voices and make a difference in their communities."

"When I served as a judge during the Inaugural Year of the Alameda County Youth Poet Laureate competition, I learned just how talented youth poets are. I congratulate the winners, finalists, and all applicants for their participation in this year's competition," said County Librarian Cindy Chadwick.

From now through August 2024, Guan and Eom will serve as ambassadors to inspire civic engagement, social justice, cultural awareness, and literary excellence among young people in Alameda County. As this year's Laureate, Guan will receive a MacBook, and a suite of Apple products, Guan's poetry will be featured in the National Poetry Anthology along with Laureates across the country. Eom will receive an iPad and a suite of Apple products.

"Poetry is a medium of humanity. It is emotion distilled into words and line breaks. It just has to be honest. Poetry is empathetic. Poetry is the spark before change. In this way, we become the catalyst," said Guan.

"Poetry inspires me to re-evaluate my assumptions and understandings of both language and the world it encapsulates. Poetry offers a space for me to voice up and be vulnerable, and I aim to share untold stories of my community through it," said Eom.

Winners and finalists will be invited to perform at public events throughout the year. Winners are eligible to compete in the Regional and State of California Youth Poet Laureate competitions. Previous winners have gone on to compete and become finalists. Zoe Dorado, the Inaugural Alameda County Youth Poet Laureate from Castro Valley, placed runner-up in March. Yamini Jain, the 2022 Co-Youth Poet Laureate from Fremont, also placed as a finalist this year.

Dorado returned to the countywide competition, this time as a judge. She reflects on her experience as the first Laureate and as part of this year's selection committee. "I learned the importance of accessibility, both in giving youth access to literary arts education, and using accessible language in my poetry so the people I write for can understand and connect with it," said Dorado. "As one of this year's judges, I was incredibly inspired by every applicant's skill with the pen and passion for community organizing and activism. I look forward to seeing what the next laureate and laureate team bring to Alameda County and beyond."

Alameda County Library thanks this year's judges, Urban Word, and Alameda County Library Foundation for their partnership and support. For more information about the competition, visit aclibrary.org/youth-poet/.

Local 9/11 Memorial

Capitol Hill, but the plane crashed in a Pennsylvania field.

The historic 110-storey Twin Towers burst into flames when two speeding jets slammed into their targets. The explosions trapped workers and visitors on the upper floors of buildings. Others were trapped on floors below the impacts by inoperative elevators and darkness. Two hours later, both landmark structures collapsed completely, killing thousands of people. New York City was smothered by a massive cloud of toxic smoke and dust.

The western face of Virginia’s iconic Pentagon, headquarters of the U.S. military, was destroyed by the third plane’s attack. 125 Americans died there, serving their country that day.

The fourth plane, Flight 93, was originally bound for San Francisco International Airport when it was hijacked 40 minutes after departing Newark Liberty International Airport in New Jersey. Passengers on board the flight learned of the devastating events in New York and Washington from phone calls and text messages. Understanding that the flight’s destination was no longer the west coast, a group of passengers and flight attendants carried out a plan to retake control of the aircraft.

The passengers of Flight 93 fought the four hijackers and attempted to secure the cockpit. Despite the heroic efforts of these passengers, the plane crashed in a rural field near Shanksville in western Pennsylvania killing all 40 passengers and crew members.

Most of the passengers and crew members on board Flight 93 lived, worked or grew up in the Bay Area. The pilot, Jason Dahl, was born and raised in San Jose and graduated from San Jose State University.

After 9/11, former Marine Michael L. Emerson of Hayward felt that the nation had mostly forgotten about the passengers and crew of United Airlines Flight 93. So he decided to do something about it. Emerson began what would become an extensive effort to create the Flight 93 Memorial.

Emerson’s efforts led him to city officials in Union City who were receptive and enthusiastic. They helped him obtain the site for the memorial in Sugar Mill Landing Park. More than 50 corporate sponsors and private donors funded the $500,000 construction of the park.

The Flight 93 Memorial was completed and dedicated on December 8, 2007. Union City was the first city in the United States to create a memorial specifically for the heroes of Flight 93. The memorial is a tribute to the courage and bravery of the 33 passengers and seven crew members of Flight 93, who fought back against terrorist hijackers.

The primary feature of the memorial is a trail of 40 stones, six feet tall. The granite stones are engraved with the names, ages and hometowns of the victims. The trail is lined with a rose garden that pays homage to the resolution and sacrifice of the deceased honored there. One side of the 40 stones has a polished stainless-steel mirror to reflect the viewer’s own image, signifying that it could have been you aboard Flight 93. The unfinished stonework on other side of the 40 stones signifies the unfinished lives of the victims.

A Circle of Remembrance in the park contains three large granite pillars that tell the tragic story of 9/11 and the plight of Flight 93. The traumatic events of that day left a permanent scar on our national memory. More than 3,000 people lost their lives to terrorism on September 11, 2001.

The park’s Circle of Hope has a flagpole surrounded at its base by hundreds of tiles hand painted by local school children, a grassy area and playground equipment. The flagpole honors the fearless action of the Flight 93 passengers that remains a testament to American strength and resilience.

The Flight 93 memorial at Union City’s Sugar Mill Landing Park offers a calm retreat to remember the events of 9/11 or to share this important history with your children and grandchildren.

Jam, Jelly, and Preserves: What's the difference, anyway?

By JOHN SCHINKEL

This time of year, the produce section is full of amazing in-season fruits that are enjoyed by themselves or as an addition to salads, smoothies, and desserts. One way to enjoy the harvest is through making jams, jellies, and preserves—loose terms that differentiate fruit spreads based on final texture and preparation method. Some recipes are fit for canning, to keep these spreads shelf-stable to be enjoyed well past season.

So, what's the difference? Let's start with jam. This beloved condiment is made from mashed fruit, cooked with sugar and acid, producing a looser texture. When you're using seed-laden berries such as strawberries or raspberries, the seeds will be present in the final product. Jam does not necessarily have to be fruit-based. Recently, savory jams have risen in popularity. Common examples include jams made with things like caramelized onion, tomato, and bacon.

Jelly: Think PB&J! Jelly contains no whole fruit, as it is made from the juices of fruit. Similarly to jam, an acidic component such as lemon juice, and sugar are used to cook the fruit juice, but the final product usually has pectin (a natural thickener) added in order to give it that easy-to-spread gelatinous texture.

Preserves: As the name suggests, this method focuses on preserving the fruit. Jam and preserves are similar, but preserves tend to be thicker, with larger chunks or even whole fruit present. Like jam, seeds are present in preserves, and the cooking method is the same. Marmalade, a tangy preserve, is a great example as it has both the rind and pulp of citrus.

My personal favorite fruit spread is jam. With just three ingredients of fruit, honey, and lemon juice, my recipe couldn't be easier. I like to use honey as opposed to sugar, as it adds flavor of its own while also bringing out the sweetness in the fruit. I prefer to use something local, such as George's Honey, but any 100% honey will do. Additionally, honey complements warming spices like cinnamon, which I sometimes add to apricot jam for more depth of flavor.

Fruit Jam
Serves 10
Level: Easy

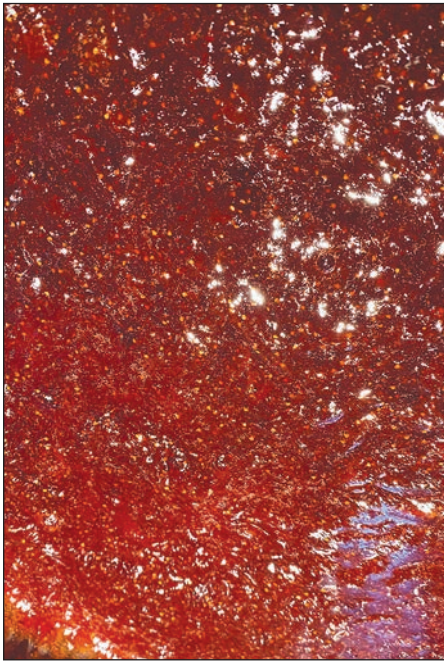

Ingredients for this recipe:

- 4 cups of desired fruit, chopped (Best with strawberries or apricots)
- 1 cup of George's Honey
- Juice of ½ lemon

In a wide, heavy-bottomed pan place fruit and honey. Mix well to combine, and allow to macerate (soften) for 10 minutes. Turn on heat to medium-high and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat to a gentle simmer, stirring occasionally. After about 15 minutes, scrape the bottom of the pan from one end to the other, if a channel forms and holds for a few seconds before closing, the jam is done. Enjoy for up to one month.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: SEPTEMBER 5, 2023

All Signs: You might not know that countries have charts just like people (based on incorporation dates). So, I thought I would share a bit about Canada. Canada is a Cancer country (July 1), and eight of its provinces are also Cancer: BC, Man., Ont., Que., P.E.I., N.B., N.S. and N.W.T. Two provinces are Virgo—Alta. and Sask—however, they’re Cancer Rising! This leaves Newfoundland and Nunavut (both Aries), and the Yukon, which is Gemini. This predominance of Cancer qualities gives Canada values of caring and nurturing. For example, Cancer “rules” the nursing profession, so, small wonder Canada has free medical for citizens.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20):
This back-to-school vibe has you in its grip because you’re determined to work hard and be productive. Because of this strong motivation, you’ll be successful! Many of you will figure out ways to boost your earnings or make money on the side. Admittedly, Mercury retrograde will create delays and snafus related to your work, your health and even your pet. In addition, Mars opposite your sign will make you impatient with those closest to you. Despite these minor setbacks, this will be a super productive and profitable week!

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20):
This is a fortunate week for you. For starters, it’s a wonderful week to party, and socialize, including fun activities with kids. It’s also a great time to explore sports events, entertainment world, and hospitality industry. You’re in touch with your creative talents. You will also enjoy redecorating projects and making your home look more attractive. Obviously, this is a fabulous week to entertain at home. Nevertheless, despite all this positive energy that encourages you to socialize and have fun, you will also be productive.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20):
Home, family and private life continue to be your primary focus, especially because many of you have relatives you haven’t seen for a while camped on your doorstep. This is a great time to entertain family and friends. Competitive sports and romance will intrigue you this week. Fortunately, whatever you do, you will have tact and diplomacy because Venus is in your House of Communications, making your words pleasing to others. You also have gratitude for your good fortune this week, which is why you find your daily surroundings so special.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21):
This is a fast-paced week! Short trips, errands, appointments plus time spent with siblings, relatives and neighbors will keep you busy. You might have to deal with delays, especially transportation delays and confused communications because of Mercury retrograde. Many of you continue to have a chaotic home scene because of visitors, renovations, or residential moves. Be patient with family members. This is also a wonderful week to teach and learn. You will enjoy being involved in groups where you impart knowledge or learn something new. You can also attract money to you!

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22):
This week is excellent in financial terms. You might boost your earnings or find a better paying job. One of the reasons you can increase your assets is you’re not afraid to think big. You feel more confident about financial matters; likewise, you feel confident about plans related to your possessions: what you own, how you take care of what you own and what you might want to buy. You’re very persuasive this week, which is why others will listen to you. (Great week for sales, marketing, teaching, writing and acting.)

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22):

This is a fortunate time for you because the Sun is in your sign, boosting your energy and bringing you support and increased luck. This fortunate feeling will build throughout the week until it culminates on Friday in an especially fortuitous time for you. That day is excellent for financial matters. It’s also a good day to make travel plans, as well as deal with legal matters, medical issues or anything to do with higher education, publishing and the media. Meanwhile, you might be working hard to boost your earnings because you’re spending money.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22):
With Mars in your sign, you have energy to burn! Note: Mars represents energy and aggression; it’s your sign once every two years. This time Mars entered your sign on August 27 and will stay there until October 11. Because this is a relatively rare occurrence, make the most of it! You will get a strong sense of satisfaction from competing and winning. Even though you might feel laid-back as your birthday approaches, enjoy hanging out with friends, especially artistic, creative people. The sign of Libra rules haute couture and fine arts.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21):
Your popularity continues this week, especially because you’re hearing from or in touch with people from your past. This is an excellent week to think about your long-term future. Ask yourself what hopes and dreams are really important. How might they still come true for you even in a modified form? Your ability to schmooze with others improves as the week progresses, and by Friday, you’ll be popular and successful with friends, groups, and the general public. Relations with partners, spouses and close friends will also shine.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21):
This might be one of the most powerful weeks of the year for you! Knowing this in advance, you can set something important in motion, especially because bosses, parents and VIPs are looking upon you kindly. Meanwhile, work-related travel is likely. Whatever you do, you will appear successful in the eyes of others. This means that now is the time to ask for what you want. Some of you are involved in competitive sports with groups. Others might find themselves at odds with a friend or a group. Be tactful and gracious.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19):
This is an exciting week because your ambition is aroused and will continue this way for several weeks. This makes you confident about going after what you want. In particular, you can expect opportunities to travel as well as opportunities to be successful in legal disputes. This is a wonderful time to enjoy a vacation, especially if you revisit someplace you have been before. Romantic relationships will be upbeat and passionate! Your desire for adventure will increase all week and culminate on Friday. Make plans to do something special!

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18):
This is a wonderful week for you to deal with financial matters as well as inheritances, estates, taxes, debt, bills and credit cards. Your interactions with others, especially banks, will be favorable. You can renegotiate terms that are more to your advantage. This is a fantastic week, especially culminating by Friday, to get a mortgage or to get a loan related to a home improvement program. Meanwhile, relations with partners, spouses and close friends are warm and cozy. Grab every opportunity to travel.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20):
This is a wonderful week to enjoy warm relations with those closest to you—spouses, partners and close friends. Friends from the past, even ex-partners might be back in the picture. Romantic relationships will be affectionate and passionate. Even relations with coworkers will be warm and supportive. All these relationships will flow smoothly this week, but by Friday, they will hum perfectly! That’s the day to ask for what you want, especially in terms of practical or financial support.

Art of the Mission Church

SUBMITTED BY OLIVE HYDE ART GUILD

Olive Hyde Art Guild (OHAG) will have a tour and explanation of the art in the Mission San Jose Church. Even though the church looks like it was built in the late 1700s, it is less than 50 years old. At that time, the rectory was moved south on Mission Boulevard to Anza so the church could be reconstructed on its original site.

The tour will answer several questions. What on the inside is from the original church? How was it made to look original? How was the church built originally, and what was saved or recreated in the new one?

Some art is very old, and some is not. All is of artistic interest. Jurek Zarzycki, an OHAG member and also a Mission docent, will interpret and educate us as we tour through the church.

Newark Rotary Club, community partner and nonprofit supporter

BY ALFRED HU

Newark Rotary Club (NRC) was founded in May 1961, with a mission consisting of five main areas: Club Service, Community Service, Youth Service, International and Vocational services. In the decades since their founding, they have devoted their time to putting on fun events and donating to good causes.

NRC members represent a wide range of professions and businesses in the Tri-City community, contribute to the club through annual dues, and engage in various community activities such as the annual Crab and Pasta Feed with live auctions and raffle prizes. One year, over 600 people enjoyed dinner at the Crab and Pasta Feed, and more than $30,000 was raised for local charities. Contributing to charities is a proud tradition of the NRC, and in the past, have raised funds for Abode, Viola Blythe Community Services Center, Newark Memorial High School, Tri Cities League of Volunteers, Boy Scouts, Make-a-Wish Foundation, YMCA and Bay Philharmonic (formerly Fremont Symphony Orchestra) to name a few.

Other activities NRC members engage in are the Thanksgiving Turkey Carving, gift wrapping, Salvation Army bell ringing and the Rotary Chili Cook-Off. "Newark Rotary always helps make the community a better place" says Sucy Collazo, President of NRC. "We are always looking for new members that are interested in serving the community" she added.

In addition to working with local organizations, NRC is also involved in international humanitarian projects such as helping a burn center in Chile, providing stoves in Guatemala, and participating in water projects in Africa. The club has contributed over $30,000 towards the Polio Plus program to eradicate polio around the world. Members have also funded and participated in the building of numerous homes in Mexico for impoverished families through the Corazon organization. Corazon, as some of us may know, means "heart" in Spanish.

Lately NRC donated a $2,000 grant to St. Edward Catholic School in Newark. Rotary members Nancy Thomas and Mayor Mike Hannon presented the check to school Principal Tina Cruz. "We've supported St. Edwards school for a long time," says Thomas who recognized the school for its impressive math program. The funds will go towards the school's Savvas Envision Math program, which encourages students to apply mathematics to solve real-world scenarios. Afterwards, visual learning is applied to solidify a student's understanding of underlying math concepts.

Riding a bike or having a skateboard is a treasured childhood experience. Therefore, on July 8, 2023, NRC and Newark Police Department held a Bicycle Safety Rodeo event where underprivileged children or children with special needs experienced the joy of riding a special bike or skateboard. This event also promoted bicycle safety awareness. According to Jolie Macias of the Newark Police Department, NRC donated nearly $8,000 for the purchase of 40 bicycles, skateboards, and safety equipment for children. Funding for the event was raised through the annual NRC Crab Feed held January 28, 2023.

If you are interested in joining the NRC, or would like to know more, you can attend the club's Tuesday meetings.

Two VTA mechanics injured after heroic attempt to extinguish bus fire

SUBMITTED BY VALLEY TRANSIT AUTHORITY

Two VTA mechanics suffered smoke inhalation Friday, September 1, 2023, after heroically trying to extinguish a fire the ignited on a battery electric bus. The bus was at VTA's Cerone maintenance yard for repairs at the time, and there were no passengers on board.

After initial failed attempts to put the fire out, the two mechanics pushed the bus out of the maintenance bay to avoid further damage to the building. Nearby employees were evacuated, and emergency responders arrived moments later and extinguished the flames. The two mechanics were taken to a local hospital for treatment.

The bus that caught fire was one of VTA's fleet of 10 battery electric Proterra buses, all of which have now been taken out of service pending an investigation of the fire. Employees returned to their normal workstations after the fire was extinguished. The bus that caught fire was damaged beyond repair.

VTA's Cerone Bus Yard is on Zanker Road near SR 237, and houses more than 400 VTA employees including bus operators, mechanics, dispatchers and other administrative staff.

Patricia Doyne receives Art Leadership award

Patricia Doyne, President of A.R.T., Inc. with Nate Miley, President of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors

SUBMITTED BY
WINNIE THOMPSON

Patricia Doyne was chosen to be Alameda County’s District 4 recipient of the 2023 Arts Leadership Award. Doyne is President of Castro Valley’s A.R.T., Inc; Vice President of the Diablo/Alameda Branch of the National League of American Pen Women; and Secretary for Fremont Area Writers. She is a resident of Hayward.

As a volunteer in many organizations, Patricia Doyne brings art, music, and poetry into as many peoples’ lives as she can. In 2018, Pat joined A.R.T., Inc. and was elected Secretary. When the President’s position became vacant, she pitched in to fill the void. In 2021, during the Pandemic, she was elected President. During the last two years, Pat has organized and supervised four art exhibits at the Adobe Art Gallery and Center in Castro Valley and one at the John O’Lague Galleria in Hayward.

She has also been a volunteer docent for two Transitional Kindergartens, a longtime member of Hayward Arts Council (HAC), Secretary for Fremont Area Writers, and part of the team that chose the first Hayward Poet Laureate in 2022. Since 2007, she has been taking Taiko drumming lessons, and she participated in shows at the opening of Dumbarton Quarry Campground, and at Castro Valley Center for the Arts.

Exhibitor booths representing sponsors, local businesses, and nonprofits will offer giveaways and information, and coffee and donuts will be available at the HERS Breakfast Bar.

KTVU Fox 2 & KTVU Plus Anchor Heather Holmes will welcome participants at 8 a.m., followed by a moment of quiet reflection known as Elaine’s Memorial Circle. “There’s No Place Like Hope”

Throughout the morning, participants are encouraged to visit (and take selfies!) at this year’s Wizard of Oz-themed Footprints Booth, which is created and sponsored by members of the Buentello and Gilligan families. Their 2023 theme is based on the idea that, for patients, survivors and their families, “there is no place like hope.”

Attendees are also encouraged to stop by the HERS info booth and enter a free drawing for the chance to win prizes such gift cards, museum

Yoga or Bust!

For those who prefer an alternative to walking, Fremont-based fitness and yoga instructor Sherri Plaza, founder of Keep Moving with Sherri, will lead a fun and light-hearted gentle yoga class for all ages and abilities. Join Sherri and move together, breathe together, find balance together, and have fun together! Yoga registrants should bring their own mats.

BYOB – Bring Your Own Water Bottle

To save resources, attendees are strongly encouraged to BYOW – Bring Your Own Water – and refill their bottles at on-site water stations.

HERS will post photos throughout the morning to social media and encourages participants to do the same using hashtags #HERSWalkRunYoga23 #HERSBreastCancerFoundation #nonprofit #fundraiser #breastcancerawareness #breastcancersupport #5k #breastcancer #nonprofitorganization.

Russell City Blues: Stories and Music of a Lost Neighborhood

SUBMITTED BY ALICE RICE

Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (H.A.R.D.) has partnered with KQED to present The Russell City Blues: Stories and Music of a Lost Neighborhood. The production gives voice to the rich neighborhood of Russell City that was razed in 1966. The evening of live music, history and storytelling was first presented in September of 2022 at KQED Headquarters. This year, the event will take place on Friday, September 8.

The presentation marks the official reopening of the Douglas Morrisson Theater and the launch of the new “H.A.R.D. Presents Series.” H.A.R.D. worked with KQED over several months to bring this important program back home to its roots. As H.A.R.D.’s President of the Board of Directors,

Rick Hatcher notes, “It’s impossible to present a performing arts series in Hayward without paying tribute to the rich musical history of our local community—learning about the past in order to be informed for the future.”

Nadine Beverly Simonetti

Nadine Beverly Simonetti was born on August 26, 1930. A lifelong resident of Alameda County, she proudly worked for the Fremont Unified School District as a baker within the food services department. During her retirement years, she was an active volunteer at Washington Hospital and a committed volunteer through the Fremont Police Department in enforcing handicap parking laws. “Grandma Dean”, as she was affectionally called by her grandchildren, enjoyed gardening, going to the movies, and loved discussing celebrity gossip. Nadine is preceded in death by her sons Michael and Mark Simonetti. She is survived by her sister Patricia Chambers, her loving daughter, Antoinette Phillips, her 4 granddaughters, 8 great-grandchildren, and her furry companion Peaches. Memorial services will be held at 11:00 am on September 9th at Fremont Memorial Chapel 3723 Peralta Blvd Fremont 94536.

Mary Wilber

July 6, 1932 – September 1, 2023

Mary Wilber was born on Madeira Island, Portugal. She and her mother Josephine and two of her siblings immigrated to New Bedford, Massachusetts when she was 12 years old. They joined the head of their family, Gregorio Coelho, and moved to Oakland, California, where another son was born. Mary was a resident of Fremont since 1957. With a strong work ethic, Mary started working in factories when she was a teen and continued until later in life when she started a childcare business from her home. Mary cared for many children over the years and was often the friend and confidant to some of the single parents who were her clients. A creative person and an amazing baker, Mary opened her turn-of-the-century home for a Holiday Boutique each year, where her homemade pies, cookies, and jams were enjoyed by friends, neighbors and people who became regular customers. Mary’s beautiful crocheted blanket warmed babies, children, grandchildren and many other special people. Mary was proud of her garden where roses, orchids, and an astounding Bougainvillea were some of her favorite flowers. Other hobbies included baseball. She was a Giants fan and season ticket holder at Candlestick Park for 20 years. Even during her last week of life, Mary could intelligently talk about the Giants, the A’s, and how Bruce Bochy’s Rangers were doing. A quick sense of humor and a definite sense of style, Mary belied her 91 years. It was only when she celebrated her 90th birthday that she began admitting her age because, “I guess the gig is up.” A devout Catholic, Mary was a member of St. Joseph’s church and considered herself blessed with friends she met there. She is survived by Mike, her husband of 40 years, her son Allen Kanady (Alameda resident), daughter and son-in-law Lorraine and Aaron Hastings, daughter and Fremont resident Kel Kanady, grandson Tyler Kanady, and many other family members and wonderful neighbors. Mary and her family were grateful for the wonderful hospice care she received through Kaiser Permanente, which allowed her to remain in her home and pass peacefully.

Fatal Fremont Traffic Collision

SUBMITTED BY THE FREMONT POLICE DEPARTMENT

On August 24, 2023, at approximately 6 p.m., Fremont Fire and Fremont Police personnel responded to a vehicle vs. pedestrian collision in a parking lot at the 5000 block of Mowry Ave. The preliminary investigation indicates a 2-year-old juvenile was struck by the moving vehicle in the parking lot. The juvenile was treated on the scene by Fremont Fire personnel and transported to Eden Hospital, where the juvenile succumbed to the injuries. The Fremont Police Traffic Unit is investigating the collision. The vehicle's driver remained on the scene and is cooperating with this investigation. Investigators are canvassing video surveillance footage that may have captured this collision from nearby sources. During the preliminary steps of this investigation, speed and impairment do not appear to be a factor with the vehicle's driver. This is Fremont's seventh fatal traffic collision in 2023. This tragedy deeply saddens Fremont Police Department, and we sympathize with the juvenile's family. As a community, we mourn this tragic loss of life. This incident remains an active and ongoing investigation. Anyone who witnessed this collision or with information regarding this collision, please contact Officer J. Shannon with the Fremont Police Traffic Unit by calling (510) 790-6760. We also accept anonymous tips. Text 'Tip FremontPD' followed by your short message to 888-777 or via the web at www.fremontpolice.gov/i-want-to/submit-a-non-urgent-tip

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Do Not Demolish
1895 Sunderer Home

Joseph Sunderer rebuilt his house in Mission San Jose twice after fires swept through the town in 1884 and 1895. He organized and became the first Fire Chief of the Mission San Jose Fire Department. The fire-fighting apparatus was kept in his barn.

A developer is asking for a demolition permit after a December 2022 fire partially damaged the house at 43341 Mission Boulevard. The permit only refers to Sunderer as a bootmaker and Wells Fargo agent, but he contributed in so many other ways to the Mission San Jose community.

It would be a dishonor to Fire Chief Sunderer to let a developer demolish his house.

H.A.R.D. will review the demolition permit on Thursday, September 7 at 6:30 p.m. in the Niles Room of the Fremont City Services building on Liberty Street.

EARTHTALK

Could Gulf Stream Collapse
Lead To A New Ice Age?

BY GRACE WU

Dear EarthTalk: Could the supposedly imminent collapse of the Gulf Stream cause another ice age? --B.L., San Francisco, CA

The Atlantic Meridional Overturning Circulation (AMOC)—aka the “Gulf Stream”—is a vital system of ocean currents, driven by temperature and salinity disparities at various locales and depths. Warm surface waters are propelled poleward by winds and tides. At the poles, the water cools, forming ice crystals devoid of salt and nutrients. The denser salt and nutrients sink to the cooler waters below, while warmer, less dense waters rise. This transports warmth and nutrients to the coasts of Africa and the Americas. In essence, the AMOC serves as a conveyor belt that transports nutrients and heat all around the globe.

Why are people worried about a Gulf Stream collapse? Rising global temperatures cause rapid melting of polar ice caps, introducing non-saline water. This dilutes deep currents, weakens AMOC’s upwelling, and disrupts circulation. Freshwater doesn’t sink rapidly, leading to a “traffic jam.” University College London researcher David Thornalley reports that the AMOC is at its weakest point in 1,600 years.

The future of AMOC is debated. Some predict it will halt; others foresee a slowdown. Some believe the point-of-no-return will come in 2025 while optimists believe we have until 2095 to stabilize the situation. Regardless, scientists have reached a consensus on the consequences of melting polar ice. The U.S. East Coast will certainly experience flooding and cooling. The Gulf Stream brings warm waters along the east coast of North America. If it stops completely, the East Coast may experience a 9°F cooldown within a decade.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) estimates that water levels are rising at a rate of one inch every three years. Between now and 2050, coastal sea levels are projected to rise one to four feet. Areas like Miami, New Orleans, Atlantic City, Manhattan, Long Island, San Francisco, San Diego and Honolulu could face severe infrastructure damage from flooding. This is not a global-scale Ice Age, but it certainly implicates grave repercussions.

Areas in Africa and Asia will grapple with drought. The AMOC brings monsoonal rainfall to areas in West Africa and South Asia. Without this circulation, countries such as Sudan, Senegal, India and Thailand will encounter drought. The supply of freshwater for human activities and agriculture will be jeopardized. The Amazon Rainforest may transform into a savanna. The AMOC brings rainfall to the Amazon Rainforest. Without this precipitation, Harvard researchers hypothesize that this tropical forest may transition into a dry savanna. The Amazon would absorb less carbon dioxide and produce less oxygen. In addition, the over three million Amazon species will struggle to survive.

Biodiversity in aquatic ecosystems will decline. The AMOC transports nutrients and oxygen. Without the circulating presence of these organic materials, populations of life forms on all tiers of the food chain will most likely dwindle.

Though neither the collapse of the Gulf Stream nor a modern-day Ice Age are guaranteed, the declining rate of the AMOC poses serious threats to our current way of life and the survival of other organisms around the globe. Reining in carbon emissions at home and around the globe is our only hope of avoiding this among many cataclysmic natural disasters in the years to come.

Chicago TV news crew robbed at gunpoint while reporting on a string of robberies

ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Chicago television news crew reporting on a string of robberies ended up robbed themselves after they were accosted at gunpoint by three armed men wearing ski masks. Spanish-language station Univision Chicago said a reporter and photographer were filming just before 5 a.m. on August 28 in Chicago's West Town neighborhood when three masked men brandishing firearms robbed them, taking their television camera and other items. "They were approached with guns and robbed. Mainly it was personal items, and they took a camera," Luis Godinez, vice president of news at Univision Chicago, told the Chicago Tribune.

Godinez said the news crew was filming a story about robberies in the West Town community that was slated to run on the morning news. He said the footage they shot was in the stolen camera, and the story never made it on the air. Chicago police identified the victims as a 28-year-old man and 42-year-old man. Police said the pair was outside when the three men drove up in a gray sedan and black SUV. After the armed robbers took items from the news crew they fled in their vehicles. No injuries were reported and no one is in custody, police said. Godinez said Univision Chicago, the local TV affiliate of international media company TelevisaUnivision, is not disclosing the names of the reporter and photographer to protect their privacy. "They're OK, and we're working on it together as a team," he said.

The episode was the second robbery this month involving a Chicago news crew, after a WLS-TV photographer was assaulted and robbed on August 8 while preparing to cover a weekday afternoon news conference on Chicago's West Side, the station reported. The robberies prompted the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians Local 41, which represents TV photographers in Chicago, to warn about the growing safety threats to those who cover the news. "Our news photographers and reporters provide a very important public service in keeping our community informed. We are committed to making sure that their safety comes first," Raza Siddiqui, president of the union local, said in a statement. Siddiqui told the Chicago Sun-Times that some of the news stations affiliated with the union planned to take additional safety steps, including assigning security to some TV crews. He said the union is arranging a safety meeting for members to "voice some of their concerns that they may have from the streets" and to determine what the union can do to provide support for its members.

The Moreau Catholic Mariners football team lost 60-29 in their home opener to the Archbishop Riordan Crusaders on Friday, September 1 in a non-league matchup.

“The main focus for us as a team is to get better each week,” said Mariners head coach Keith Minor. “We just wanted to come out here tonight and play as best we can against a very talented Riordan team that is stacked with a lot of great players.”

Archbishop Riordan is known to be a talented football school, producing four NFL players in its history. The Mariners offense was stagnant against the Crusaders to start the game, and their defense just couldn’t keep up with receivers and running backs. Riordan scored the first points of the night with a pass into the end-zone for a touchdown less than three minutes into the first quarter. They missed the extra point attempt making the score 6-0. Mariners junior standout, Jalen Arnold, responded right away with a big kick return for a touchdown in the first quarter to give them the lead of the game, 7-6. “On that kick return for a touchdown when I caught the ball I saw one of my teammates cracked an open hole then I just got out of it and ran,” said Arnold.

Arnold’s touchdown was the only highlight for the Mariners in the first half. Riordan’s offense got back-to-back scoring drives early and continued to pile up their lead on offense.

Moreau went into the locker room down 47-7 at halftime. “We had a bit of a fight in the locker room at halftime – not a fist fight, but it was physical – and that brought our team back together to perform in the second half,” added Arnold.

Senior Carlos Sanchez is the backup quarterback who was inserted to start the second half after. A visibly different focus in the second half was displayed by Moreau, with Arnold being the center of attention the rest of the game. Moreau began picking up two first downs to get them in the red zone on their first scoring drive. Arnold then caught a pass from Sanchez for the first Moreau offensive touchdown of the game at the end of the third quarter. That touchdown began igniting their offense to put up a total of 22 points in the second half. All four touchdowns from the Mariners were scored by Arnold, who had a spectacular night.

“I know what Jalen can do when the ball’s put in his hands, he’s a very special player and we all know that because his four touchdowns tonight are pretty self-explanatory,” said Moreau Catholic senior quarterback Sanchez. “We came out with a lot of heart in the second half tonight.”

The Mariners have yet to win a game, falling to 0-2 this season. They have two transfer students, including junior running back Jaden Bryant. Bryant will make a huge difference in the Mariners’ ground game to give them depth on offense. Transfers have to sit out five games before they can play for their new school. The fifth game of this season for Moreau Catholic is October 6 against the Castro Valley Trojans, which is also the first league game of the season.

“We should really push ourselves during practice more often than we do and we’ll be ready for our first league game against Castro Valley,” added Arnold. “I honestly think we will win our league this season.”

Within reach of the WACC Mission League title, Moreau lost their only game to Berkeley High who won that league last season. Their next game is at home against undefeated non-league opponent San Marin on Friday, September 8.

San Francisco launches driverless bus service following robotaxi expansion

BY TERRY CHEA, ASSOCIATED PRESS

First came the robotaxis. Then the driverless buses arrived.

San Francisco has launched an autonomous shuttle service -- less than a week after California regulators approved the expansion of robotaxis despite traffic and safety concerns. The free shuttle will run daily in a fixed route called the Loop around Treasure Island, the site of a former U.S. Navy base in the middle of San Francisco Bay. The Loop makes seven stops, connecting residential neighborhoods with stores and community centers. About 2,000 people live on the island.

The all-electric vehicle, which doesn't have a driver's seat or steering wheel, is staffed with an attendant who can drive the bus with a handheld controller if necessary. The county is offering the shuttle service as part of a grant-funded pilot program to assess how autonomous vehicles can supplement the public transit system.

"Having the attendant on board makes everyone feel comfortable," said Tilly Chang, executive director of the San Francisco County Transportation Authority. "This is just a demonstration for now to see, what does it look like and how does it work to have a driverless shuttle in a low-volume, low-speed environment?"

San Francisco is one of a growing number of cities worldwide that are testing the safety and potential of self-driving vehicles to transform public transportation. The shuttles are operated by Beep, an Orlando, Florida-based company that has run similar pilot programs in more than a dozen U.S. communities, including service at the Miami Zoo, Mayo Clinic and Yellowstone National Park.

"These shuttles are built for first-mile, last-mile, short connectivity routes. They're not intended to take the place of a bus system," said Beep project manager Shelley Caran. "The autonomous vehicle will have a better reaction time than a human and it will offer a more reliable service because they won't be distracted."

During a test ride Wednesday, the shuttle drove slowly and cautiously in autonomous mode. An attendant manually steered the vehicle around a utility truck that blocked part of the road. "I didn't feel unsafe," said Dominic Lucchesi, an Oakland resident who was among the first to ride the autonomous shuttle. "I thought that it made some abrupt stops, but otherwise I felt like I was riding any other bus for the most part."

The boxy shuttle, which can sit up to 10 passengers, will operate 9 a.m. to 6 p. m. every day and circle the Loop every 20 minutes. The city has two shuttles - one can charge while the other ferries passengers. The autonomous shuttle pilot project was launched after the California Public Utilities Commission voted to allow two rival robotaxi companies, Cruise and Waymo, to offer around-the-clock passenger service in San Francisco.

The approval came despite widespread complaints that the driverless taxis make unexpected stops, cause traffic backups and block emergency vehicles. On Wednesday, the city asked the commission to pause the robotaxi expansion. Cruise, a subsidiary of General Motors, reported on social media that one of its robotaxis crashed into a city fire truck Thursday night, sending one passenger to the hospital. Experts don't anticipate the same problems with driverless buses because they're expected to be staffed with drivers or attendants for the foreseeable future.

"Trained operators are going to be required even as we increase automation," said Nikolas Martelaro, autonomous-vehicle researcher at Carnegie Mellon University. "So the question there may not be how worried should someone be about losing their job versus what should they be thinking about the potential training that's required."

Autonomous driving technology could make buses safer, but requiring drivers or attendants on-board could undermine one of their perceived advantages: reduced labor costs. "We still have to find a market for them," said Art Guzzetti, vice president at the American Public Transportation Association. "We're doing it to make the trip better, more efficient, not to take the worker's job."

Newark ROCKS!

Since 1955, the incorporation of the City of Newark has been celebrated with a parade and a festival. The one-day celebrations were attended by locals and enjoyed by all, but were rather quaint. That all began to change in 1972 when a group of citizens, including one Shirley Sisk and her husband, banded together and formed Newark Days Celebration Inc., a non-profit organization run 100% by volunteers that has grown the modest festival into a spectacular four-day celebration of culture, diversity, and inclusion.

Today, carnival rides thrill people of all ages, and provide a centerpiece of lights and sounds that immerse visitors in the excitement. Twenty-nine food booths fill the air with the aroma of fresh treats from traditional fair favorites to culinary delights from all corners of the world. A Classic Car and Truck show featuring over 150 beautifully restored vehicles takes place highlight this year's parade. The parade draws thousands along the 1.7-mile route and is beloved by all who watch it.

Road Closures

On Saturday, September 16, the Newark Days Hometown Parade will take place beginning at Thornton Avenue and Newark Boulevard. The parade proceeds north on Newark Boulevard to Cedar Boulevard, turns on to Cedar and proceeds South/East to Lake Boulevard.

The following streets will begin closing at approximately 6 a.m. and will remain closed until the completion of the parade, approximately 1 p.m.:

Thornton Ave. from Cedar Blvd. to Cherry St.
Newark Blvd. from Civic Terrace to Cedar Blvd.
Cedar Blvd. from Edgewater Dr. to Newark Blvd.
East - West travel in Newark during the road closures is available on Central Ave. and via Edgewater Dr. to Lake Blvd. to Jarvis Ave.

Saturday; there are games and activities for kids; the "Newark Mile" 4K along with the "Newark Mile 4Kids" takes place Saturday; the Boutique Arts Crafts and Trade Show delights shoppers Saturday and Sunday; and Power-House Bands will rock the two stages of Newark Days with music for all ages. Did I mention a parade? More news later.

This year's celebration from September 14 to 17 has particular significance, as for the first time in decades we welcome a new President of Newark Days Celebration Inc. Laurie Gratz assumes the role of President, following in the footsteps of the legendary Shirley Sisk, who now assumes the role of President Emeritus. "In my opinion, Shirley IS Newark Days and it has taken many people to cover all that she does for Newark Days every year. Newark Days to me, is an event that people come together and celebrate the city, friendships, and family! It is an honor to take on the role as the next President," says Gratz.

As another senior member of the Newark Days Celebration Committee put it, "Without Shirley, there simply would not be a Newark Days, the only reason we will carry on as she steps to an emeritus roll is because she put together such a great team and because she has provided so much guidance to us all."

And in other celebration news, there is indeed the 68th Annual Newark Days Hometown Parade on Saturday morning. Over 100 entries and well over 1,500 people will participate in this year's parade. Marching bands, floats, and over 30 horses

New for 2023

We would be remiss if we did not mention some of the new attractions making their Newark Days debut.

- Battle of the Bands, a competition of local youth "Garage Bands," takes place Friday Night in 3 age groups: 13 and under, 14-16 and 17-20.
- Newark Idol, a singing competition for youth, takes place on Saturday with Elementary, Middle School, and High School divisions.
- BMX Peddle-less Balance Bike Races take place Saturday and Sunday. Kids will get to enjoy the thrill of racing on a BMX style course just their size.
- At Rock and Roll Limbo on Friday evening where kids get to compete for prizes as they do the Limbo.

The Newark Days Celebration Committee is excited to share with our neighbors in Newark, the Tri-City area, and from everywhere, our version of what a town that ROCKS looks like. We hope that everyone will join us, and, in the immortal words of David Essex, "ROCK ON."

More information along with a schedule and map is available in the special Newark Days "Tabloid" inserted in the September 12 edition of the Tri-City Voice and on the Newark Days website,
