Candle Lighters Ghost House Scaryland

The Chadbourne Carriage House will transform into "Scaryland: The Creepiest Place on Earth" as Candle Lighters' "Ghost House" returns on Saturday, October 10 at Fremont Hub. Get ready as the witches polish their brooms and put on their best attire to await your arrival.

Ghost House has been part of the Tri-City community's annual Halloween tradition for more than 46 years now. Candle Lighters is a nonprofit volunteer organization dedicated to raising funds for nonprofit groups and community based projects in Fremont, Newark, and Union City. For decades, Candle Lighters have extended their hands to a multitude of local organizations such as Abode Services, League of Volunteers, Ashland and Cherryland host a grand get-together in "FamFest," the largest community event planned for the unincorporated area to celebrate its uniqueness with fun events and activities. At the top of the list is the 5K run-walk-roll that's designated E for Everyone: children, youth, adults, and seniors, as well as those with strollers and wheelchairs.

"There will be something at FamFest 2015 (FF) for everyone," says Nate Miley, Alameda County Supervisor, District 4, that includes both Ashland and Cherryland. "We have received tremendous support for FF from businesses, health care organizations and Bay Area sports teams, as well as a host of community-based organizations, and Alameda County agencies."

FamFest will kick-off the morning with the 5K that begins at the REACH Ashland Youth Center, followed by a day-long series of events and activities held at REACH, Hayward Area Recreation and Park District, Jack Holland Sr. Park, Edendale Middle School soccer field, and the Ashland Little League Field, all adjacent to each other. Miley says, "FamFest will not only be a day of fun for families, but will also have more than 60 booths sponsored by community organizations who will share information about the resources and services they have available."

As part of the physical well-being focus of FF, Kaiser Permanente and Children's Hospital Oakland are hosting a sports clinic which will teach kids how to avoid injuries while playing sports. For the mind, FF will feature storytelling time hosted by Alameda County Library and cool art activities with the

Niles Canyon makes way for Pedestrians & Bicyclists

BY JOHNNA M. LAIRD

An unprecedented event, the first-ever "Niles Canyon Stroll and Roll" will bar automotive traffic and open the two-lane, winding State Highway 84 through picturesque Niles Canyon to only pedestrians and bicyclists on Sunday, October 11. For hikers who don't want to walk the entire 6.4 miles, Niles Canyon Railway will operate a special service with train stops every two miles to pick up passengers and give weary feet a lift.

Sponsored by Alameda County Supervisors Scott Haggerty and Richard Valle who represent communities that bookend the canyon, the Stroll and Roll could attract quite a crowd. Estimates for attendance range from 1,000 people to 10,000, says Dawn Argula, Chief of Staff Operations for Supervisor Haggerty. "This event provides unprecedented access to the Niles Canyon segment of SR 84 for pedestrians and bicyclists. We expect the opportunity will be irresistible to many."

The goal of the event is more than a pleasant stroll on a Sunday, explains Argula. The Stroll and Roll coincides with completion of a Niles Canyon Multi-Use Trail project feasibility study, focused on

Does CPAP Work for You?

Learn about options for sleep apnea treatment at free community seminar

The continuous positive airway pressure machine, commonly called CPAP, is often known as the treatment of choice for obstructive sleep apnea, a condition that affects up to 18 million Americans. And yet, studies have shown that up to 75 percent of CPAP users cannot tolerate the machine. Many stop using it altogether.

Sleep apnea is a potentially serious, chronic condition that occurs when a person's throat muscles relax during sleep. If you have obstructive sleep apnea, you tend to stop and start breathing repeatedly during the night. Most sleep apnea sufferers snore loudly and feel tired the next day, despite having a full night's sleep.

"Many sleep medicine doctors will tell you that CPAP is your only option for treating sleep apnea, and surgery is not effective. This is not accurate," said Jason Van Tassel, MD, an ear, nose and throat specialist with Washington Township Medical Foundation.

On Tuesday, October 20 at 8 p.m., Dr. Van Tassel will lead a community Health & Wellness seminar about "Obstructive Sleep Apnea: New Options for Treatment." The forum is free and open to the public and will be held in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD Auditorium near Washington Hospital in Fremont. To reserve your spot, go online to whhs.com and click on Events. Then, select October 20 on the calendar. Or, call (800) 963-7070.

Alternatives to CPAP

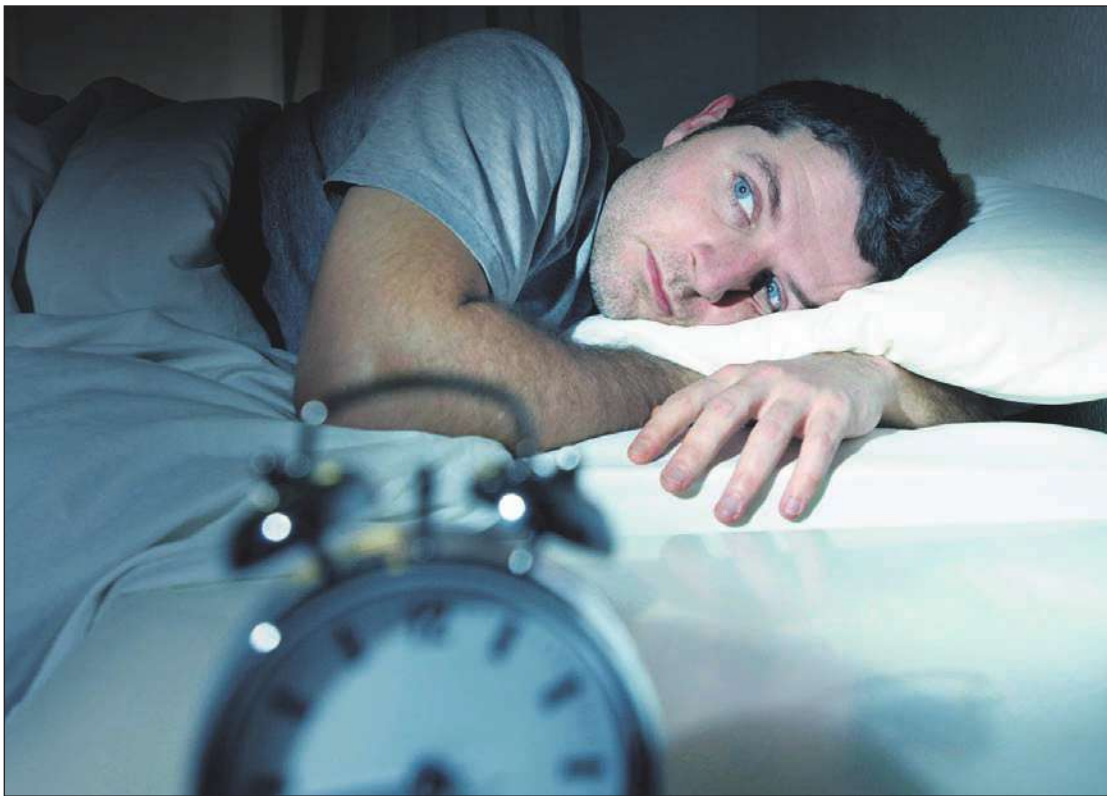

Dr. Van Tassel reports that there are dental appliances that can be a non-invasive alternative to the CPAP in treating sleep apnea. At the seminar, he will also talk about surgical procedures that can be effective.

"The three surgeries I will talk about are generally not painful or debilitating and do not require a lot of downtime for the patient," Dr. Van Tassel stated. "They can be performed independently or in conjunction with each other to optimize sleep surgery results."

All three procedures are minimally invasive and can be done on an outpatient basis, so you can usually go home the day of surgery. They are covered by most health insurance plans.

- Uvulopalatopharyngoplasty (UPPP)—the surgeon removes excess throat tissue to widen the airway. This allows air to move through the throat more easily when the patient breathes. It can also reduce snoring.

- Hyoid myotomy suspension—the hyoid bone and muscle attachments to the tongue and airway are pulled forward to increase airway size and stability. The hyoid is a U-shaped bone in the neck above the thyroid cartilage, commonly called the Adam's apple. It has attachments to the tongue and throat.

Many people suffering from sleep disorders believe that CPAP is the only option for treatment of sleep apnea. On Tuesday, October 20, 2015, John Van Tassel, MD, ENT specialist with Washington Township Medical Foundation will lead a free community seminar about new treatment options for obstructive sleep apnea, which include surgical options. The seminar will take place in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD Auditorium in the Washington West building (2500 Mowry Avenue, Fremont). Reservations for the seminar can be made by calling (800) 963-7070.

- Tongue-based suspension—the surgeon places a suture through the tongue to pull it forward. The suture is fixed to a tiny screw on the inner part of the jaw bone. This procedure is designed to make the airway larger and prevent obstruction during sleep.

Dr. Van Tassel explained: "In the best of circumstances, none of these procedures is 100 percent effective. However, up to 80 percent of people who have one or more of the procedures have good results and do not need to use the CPAP machine."

What is sleep apnea?

At the October 20 seminar, Dr. Van Tassel will also talk about how your body functions when you have sleep apnea.

"A lot of people don't understand what is going on with this sleep disorder," he said.

Although people who have sleep apnea tend to be age 40 or older, anyone can have the condition, including children. The following factors increase your risk of having sleep apnea:

- Being male
- Being overweight
- A large neck
- Large tonsils, a large tongue or a small jaw bone
- A family history of sleep apnea
- GERD (gastroesophageal reflux disorder)
- Nasal obstruction from a deviated septum, allergies or sinus problems

When sleep apnea goes untreated, you may stop breathing repeatedly during sleep, sometimes as many as 100 times a night. So, the brain and the rest of your body may not be getting enough oxygen.

Other health problems that may get worse if sleep apnea is not successfully treated include:

- High blood pressure
- Stroke

- Heart failure
- Diabetes
- Depression
- ADHD (attention deficit hyperactivity disorder)
- Headaches

According to the National Institutes of Health, people with untreated sleep apnea are also "at higher risk for car crashes and work-related accidents." The American Association for Respiratory Care estimates up to 10 million American have sleep apnea but have not been diagnosed.

Flu Shot Benefits and Flu Shot vs. FluMist

Dear Doctor,

What is the benefit of the flu shot? I was told that last year's flu shot didn't work.

Dear Reader,

The flu shot is a composite of several viruses that are most likely to sweep across large populations of people. It gives your immune system a sneak preview of what's to come so that if you are exposed you have a good chance of not having a full-blown flu.

Last year's flu shot did not cover all of the most common flu bugs, but it still protected from many others. Every year is not equally as effective, but you don't want to miss out on any chance to not get sick. It is still the best way to prepare for the flu season.

Dear Doctor,

What is the difference between a flu shot and FluMist?

Dear Reader,

Both do a good job of preparing your immune system for the flu season. FluMist is a nasal spray flu vaccine used as an alternative to the traditional flu shot injection though FluMist is not as consistent since it depends on how well someone can actually sniff in the medicine. In general the flu shot is preferred for most adults while FluMist is recommended for children ages 2-8 and adults under 50.

Inaugural Arts and Wine Fest aims to preserve past, celebrate future

BY SARA GIUSTI

It's no secret the Bay Area is changing rapidly. We've heard about insane rent, local businesses pushed out, and the techie phenomenon countless times. Concern of the Bay losing its flavor and community has increased in recent months, but a new Union City merchants association wants to preserve what makes the Bay Area – and in particular Union City's Alvarado District – irreplaceable.

The Alvarado Historic District Merchants Association (AHDMA) formed in June of last year to preserve the historical area, increase the district's visibility and promote it as a destination for shopping, dining, wellness, history, and culture. The idea of forming an association began three years ago, after the City of Union City held a series of public meetings to discuss the Alvarado District.

The AHDMA plans to keep Alvarado's flavor and support a cross-generational district. "We hope longtime merchants and newcomers blend together," explained Lu Tipping, one of six directors of the AHDMA. "We want everyone to feel included and be relevant in the group."

Jeanelle Singh, AHDMA Treasurer and owner of CoreFitness, a small business in the district, grew up in the area and has seen its changes and growth. "I would pass by [the district] walking to and from school. There was nothing there, and now there are shops. We want to bring awareness to the area and allow it to develop as a place of commerce," she said.

The AHDMA hosts events throughout the year to foster visibility and community. Their first event, an Easter Egg Hunt, was held in March of this year, and the association just finished a school supply drive in August. AHDMA plans a Holiday Food Drive in November, as well as a Christmas Tree Lighting in December.

In partnership with the Union City Chamber of Commerce, AHDMA is gearing up for its inaugural "Arts and Wine Fest" on October 11. The event will feature an array of activities, food, performances, art, live music, vendors and more for the whole family. There will be a Kid Zone with fun projects for the little ones: pumpkin painting, face painting, and balloon animals. Kids will also get the chance to paint their own pictures to exhibit.

The fest will reflect the many cultures of Union City in performances and live music. Performers include AES Ballet Folklorico, NativSun, Pagmamalakai Pilipino Folk Dancing, Union City Aztec Dancers, Tehani Polynesian Dancers, Tru Dance, and Dragons Den. Live music includes sets by three Bay Area bands: Native Elements, Herman Roque and the Latin Expressions, and Mas Mojo.

There will be art galore from local artists and Revival, a CSU East Bay magazine and collective of student artists. Vintage cars will be on display as well, including newer models from local Acura, Hyundai, and Lexus dealerships.

Hungry fest-goers will have a range of good eats from local Alvarado District eateries or food trucks offering barbecue, fusion, and desserts. There will be great wine available from East Bay wineries Bishop's Vineyard, Carica Wines, and Paradox Wines.

The Arts and Wine Fest is definitely a community endeavor. More than fifty vendors will be present, all with Alvarado, Union City, or Tri-City ties. Thirty sponsors, ranging from local businesses and merchants to City of Union City staff, have pledged support for the event.

"The number one goal [of the fest] is to bring the community together. It doesn't happen very often anymore," said AHDMA Secretary Adrienne Realiza.

"You have to go beyond the Bay Area for a small town feel, but you can get it right here in the Alvarado District," said Tipping. "People always feel they have to go elsewhere for festivals, but you don't... [the AHDMA] is giving exposure to these fests in our own backyard."

The event's motto, "Preserve the past, celebrate the future," is something anyone can get behind.

AHDMA meetings are held every second Thursday of the month from 10 a.m. - 12 p.m. Memberships are $30 for businesses, $20 for nonprofits.

Supervisors discuss plans for Santa Clara County Fairgrounds

SUBMITTED BY JANICE ROMBECK

As the future of the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds works its way through the planning process, the public and the Board of Supervisors agree that most of the 150-acre site should be used for recreation and community events and activities.

"Protecting open space is important in this valley," said Board President Dave Cortese. "We protect our hills, and receive very little revenue from it. This is not entirely a revenue decision. It's a community benefit decision."

At its September 29 meeting, the Board listened to more than a dozen public speakers and the final presentation of the Johnson Consulting Firm, hired a year ago to evaluate existing conditions of the fairgrounds, market opportunities and public preferences for land use based on outreach efforts.

On a motion from Supervisor Cindy Chavez, the Board directed staff to look at two scenarios in crafting language for requests for proposals, the next step in planning. One would carve out 30 acres of space for the annual County Fair and other events, with half of the remaining 120 acres to be used for open space and park areas and the other half for active recreational uses. The second scenario would relocate the County Fair and look at the entire 150 acres for open space and recreation and community uses.

For more information, contact the Office of Supervisor Dave Cortese at (408) 299-5030.

Hospital Volunteers Demonstrate Commitment Through Quality and Numbers

“Their contributions to Washington Hospital and the greater community cannot be measured in numbers alone.”

Some of the Service League’s ongoing contributions to the Hospital include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Welcome Desks: staffing the Hospital and Washington West welcome desks — greeting and helping patients and visitors, discharging patients, delivering mail and flowers
- Gift Shop: managing and staffing, selling items to visitors, patients and staff (with funds raised allocated to support Hospital needs)
- Surgery Liaison: keeping concerned friends and families updated on operating room patient’s status
- Emergency Department/Critical Care: providing emotional support to patients and their families/friends; providing information for visitors
- Patient Feeding: assisting staff with feeding patients who need social interaction or whose medical condition requires assistance
- Birthing Center: providing treats for new moms and pediatric patients; providing tours for families
- Special Care Nursery: cuddling newborns
- Institute for Joint Restoration and Research: with staff, act as coaches for patients during physical therapy
- Puppets/Hankies/Quilting Group: making gifts and comfort items for newborn babies and Infusion Center patients
- Music Therapy: calming nerves by playing soothing piano music in the main lobby

- Community Health Resource Library: staffing, assisting visitors, conducting osteoporosis and blood pressure screenings for visitors
- Diabetes and Women’s Center: assisting patients with appointments, assisting with educational classes, assembling files
- Better Breathers Group: assisting with community meetings, Pulmonary Department mailings and appointment calls
- Tattoo Removal: assisting staff with tattoo removal clinics for former gang members
- Special Projects: assisting where needed, including public health and wellness seminars, health screenings, community events, such as Think Pink, Concerts in the Park, Neuroscience Symposium, Let’s Go Green and other such events.

Reservations for the 60th Anniversary Luncheon may be obtained by contacting Washington Hospital Volunteer Services at (510) 791-3465. Past presidents and current adult volunteers are invited to the 60th Anniversary Luncheon as guests of Washington Hospital. Past volunteers are invited to attend the luncheon for $10.

Additional information on how to become a Washington Hospital Service League volunteer may be obtained on the Washington Hospital website: whhs.com or by calling (510) 791-3465.

Alameda County Arts Commission. For laughs, Prescott Circus Theatre’s young performers will be juggling and walking on stilts.

REACH stands for Recreation, Education, Arts & Culture, Career Development & Employment, and Health & Wellness programs, and FF provides the opportunity to tour their facility and learn more about their offerings. Several of the day’s activities will take place onsite, including an art show, storytelling, cooking demonstrations, and health screenings.

Visitors to FF will sink their teeth into a delicious assortment of dishes ranging from Latin, American, BBQ and Asian, even frozen custard, served up by The Food Truck Mafia. Folks will enjoy live music performances throughout the day by Sounds Magnificent. Numerous athletic events are scheduled, including baseball, basketball, and soccer matches, as well as martial arts and boxing exhibits. Participate in Zumba, try line dancing, or even skateboard competitions.

Many of the Bay Area’s professional sports teams are lending their support; the San Jose Earthquakes will have a booth with giveaways, and the Oakland Athletics, Oakland Raiders, and Golden State Warriors will also have a presence. The teams are sponsoring lots of fun games and activities ranging from an inflatable bounce house to balloon making and face painting. Get into basketball pop-a-shot or collect cheer cards. Sports fans of all ages can picture themselves in an Oakland Raiders jersey and helmet and meet Stomper, the A’s mascot.

According to Miley, FF is the first-ever event sponsored by the Ashland Cherryland Healthy Communities Collaborative (ACHCC), comprised of more than 30 organizations dedicated to improving the health and well-being of residents in the two neighborhoods.

Registering for the 5K gives participants a T-shirt and race bib, access to refreshment stations, with awards and prizes for top finishers. Sponsors include Sutter Eden Medical Hospital, Kaiser Permanente, Alameda County Community Development Agency, Kava Massih Architects, Oakland Athletics, and Power Bar.

Niles Canyon makes way for Pedestrians & Bicyclists

three options for a paved, 10-foot wide canyon trail for bicyclists, pedestrians, and possibly equestrians.

Trail options will be on display and technical experts will be available at both ends of the roadway from Old Canyon Road in Fremont and Main Street in Sunol. Supervisors are calling this a community meeting where questions can be answered about the proposed recreational path and public input can be gathered. Supervisors are garnering input on which trail alignment the public favors as well as which historical and natural resources to highlight and which ones to avoid impacting. Questions include whether to have pedestrians and bicyclists cross a railway with an under crossing, over crossing, or at train/grade level.

The study identifies advantages and technical challenges of each option and was funded by Alameda County and East Bay Regional Parks District. In addition to these two governmental groups, representatives of Alameda County Water District and San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (also known as SF Water Power Sewer), which have interest in the canyon and a trail, will be available that day.

During the Stroll and Roll bicyclists will be separated from pedestrians, but both groups will share the road and must remain on roadway for their safety and for protection of natural resources.

A resource fair with about 15 vendors, a number of whom have a connection to Niles Canyon, will be located near the start of the walk on the Fremont side. Vendors who had signed up as of late September include Alameda County Transportation Commission, Bike Mobile, Alameda Creek Alliance, San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, Alameda County Water District, CalTrans, and Alameda County Resource Conservation District.

A public trail through the breathtaking Niles Canyon has been discussed since the 1970s.

"Tri-City residents have known for a long time that Niles Canyon contains some of the East Bay's most stunning scenery and is ripe for exploration," says Supervisor Valle. "Today more people than ever recognize the beauty of the canyon and the increasing numbers of hikers and bicyclists who go there make this trail project more important than ever."

Supervisor Haggerty, a leader in transportation issues, identifies a Niles Canyon trail as "a big step toward completing an interconnected trail network through Alameda County and the East Bay. "Opportunities for recreation and alternative transportation are at the top of the list in terms of what our residents want. This project provides us with a rare opportunity to respond to the community's wishes in multiple ways."

No funding has been designated for the project, but discussions have included state and federal funds, grants, and Alameda County's Measure BB transportation sales tax. For more information about the proposed pathway, visit <http://acgov.org/board/district2/documents/2015.06.30-Community-Meeting-3.pdf>.

For information about the Niles Canyon Stroll and Roll, contact Guy Ashley at (510) 272-6569, visit <http://www.acgov.org/board/district2/> or <http://www.ncry.org/>.

Union Sanitary District wins Innovative Program Award

SUBMITTED BY MICHELLE POWELL

Union Sanitary District (USD, "The District") has received a statewide recognition for its "Leadership School" in-house training program. The California Special Districts Association (CSDA) recently presented USD with its Innovative Program of the Year Award in recognition of the District's efforts to educate staff members about the demands of management and other critical roles, while providing training and mentoring to support them in promoting to those positions. Assemblymember Kansen Chu, whose 25th District contains a portion of USD's service area, congratulated District representatives at the awards ceremony.

General Manager Paul Eldredge notes that "Leadership School has resulted in promotions from within that provide significant savings in training time and maintain our high productivity levels. This helps us to continue providing customers reliable, cost effective service."

Having Work/Life Balance is Possible!

BY ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

Traffic on 880 is snarled ... as usual. It's almost 7 pm and you are still a good forty minutes away from home. As you tiredly get out of the car, you realize that there's nothing in the fridge to eat. "Great – I'll have to drum up something for dinner," you think to yourself, knowing that the kids will be grouchy and hungry by the time you put your key in the front door. You groan as you see the kitchen sink piled up with dishes (more work for you later!).

As you are heating up some spaghetti sauce, your phone beeps. It's your boss with an "urgent" question. As the kids eat their dinner, you hurriedly compose an answer to your boss. The question is more complicated than she thinks, of course, so you have to spend the next 45 minutes working out a thoughtful reply. By the time you check on the kids' homework, supervise their bedtime routines, and put them to bed, it's already 11 pm and you've barely touched your own dinner. Yikes and those dirty dishes are still in the sink! As you finally, finally finish those dishes at 11:40 pm, your phone beeps again. Oh no, not the boss again! You've left the office, but it feels like the work day is never done . . . If you can relate to all or parts of the above scenario, you are not alone. Here in the Bay Area, many workers do not enjoy a balance or a clear separation between work and life. As a career counselor, I have heard many stories from people whose work lives dominate their personal lives. Work can encroach into your personal time in a variety of ways, such as:

- having to answer work phone calls and emails, even when you leave the workplace
- feeling the need to look like you are working when you are off the clock
- having long commutes that extend the workday far beyond the time in the office
- having to take work home on a regular basis
- having to finish work at home (this is especially common for small business owners)
- having jobs that require very long hours at work
- being required to carry a pager or cell phone at all times

Any one of the above can contribute to you feeling that you're working all the time and that there is very little time left for your personal pursuits and for your family. People who have responsibilities for taking care of children and/or elderly parents can feel especially strapped for downtime.

The high cost of living, the fast pace of life, and the easy availability of technology are just three of the factors that contribute to our work/life imbalance. It has become the norm for most of us to have excessive work loads.

But it doesn't have to be this way. If you are craving a better work/life balance, know that it is possible to make adjustments for a healthier lifestyle. Here are some things you can do:

1. Assess the reasons behind your work/life imbalance. Figure out how work is contributing to the imbalance (e.g. your boss calls you at odd hours with random questions). Then figure out how YOU are contributing to the imbalance (e.g. you feel obligated to answer his calls right away, even if it's 11 pm on Saturday night). Brainstorm solutions to each of these factors. Tackling just one factor might dramatically improve your work/life balance.

2. Take a good hard look at your work habits – are you bringing work from home because you have to? Or because you are inefficient at work? What are ways in which you can create better boundaries between work and home? Are you focused when spending time with your kids or do you vacillate constantly between work and family, thus decreasing your commitment to both? What are ways in which you can maintain better work/life boundaries? (This can be especially tricky for those who work from home, but it CAN be done).

3. Figure out what your priorities are and have a conversation with your family about how these can be achieved. Perhaps your 12 year old can help out with more chores, or your parents can help pick up the kids from school once a week to lighten your load. Remember that you cannot be everything to everyone, 100% of the time.

4. Learn to say "no." You can lighten your load by saying no to work, life, or family obligations that you don't necessarily have to do.

5. Research flexible work options in your workplace. Some corporations are far better than others in this regard, but it doesn't hurt to see if you can make a win-win proposal for you and your boss.

6. If you are looking for a job, check out Glassdoor.com's list of the top 25 companies for work/life balance: http://www.glassdoor.com/Top-Companies-for-Work-Life-Balance-LST_KQ0,35.htm

7. Some nonprofits and higher education institutions are great places for a better work/life balance. Of course, the demands will vary depending on the type of job, the department culture, and the philosophy of the supervisors.

8. If you are considering a job offer, ask around to find out the supervisor's attitude toward family obligations. Understand the company culture before signing on – is this a place where working round the clock expected? I do not recommend that you ask this during the interview – you will get more candid information from people who are working there. You can also see insiders' perspectives on Glassdoor.com

9. If you are in the process of choosing or changing your career, consider jobs that have clear work boundaries, e.g. forklift operators, physical therapists, car mechanics, and nurse practitioners, to name just a few.

Know that the work/life equation changes over time. When you are single without kids, your work/life needs will be dramatically different from when you have kids and aging parents. This is an issue that demands the occasional adjustment and re-evaluation. The good news is that with care and intention, a work/life balance can be achieved at all stages of one's career.

Our Whole Lives Sexuality curriculum

SUBMITTED BY REV. BARBARA F. MEYERS

The Our Whole Lives (OWL) sexuality curriculum for grades 7-9 will be offered to youth in the greater Fremont area community beginning next January. Parental involvement is mandatory. An informational meeting for parents of prospective students will be held on October 18.

Parents are children's primary teachers, but what is society teaching our children about sexuality? Our Whole Lives (OWL) is an antidote to sexualized media messages, peer pressure, misinformation and prejudice. It provides accurate, age-appropriate information, puts sexuality in the context of values and personal responsibility, supports healthy decision making, and strengthens social skills. These skills and values help prepare youth to make healthy choices for life.

Our Whole Lives helps participants make informed and responsible decisions about their sexual health and behavior. Although developed by two religious organizations – United Church of Christ and the Unitarian Universalist Association – Our Whole Lives contains no religious references or doctrine.

The curricula are based on the Guidelines for Comprehensive Sexuality Education produced by the National Guidelines Task Force, a group of leading health, education, and sexuality professionals assembled by the Sexuality Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS).

MONSTER MAKER

SUBMITTED BY RENA KIEHN

On Friday, October 9 the Edison Theater in Niles will show the new documentary, "Jack Pierce, the Maker of Monsters" (2015, November Fire, 82 min.) which tells the story of Jack Pierce, perhaps the most influential Hollywood movie makeup man in history. In today's cinematic world of digital effects, telling what is real from what was created in a computer is impossible. But there was a time when Hollywood relied on nothing more than an artist's ability to create a boogie man with grease paint, cotton, glue, hair, and a few simple materials to draw people into the theater to be chilled and thrilled.

When we think back to these talents of the silver screen, most people think of "The Man of a Thousand Faces," Lon Chaney. But Universal Studios had its very own Phantom creating the world's most memorable creatures lurking in its sub-stages. His amazing ability to create make-ups that can still stand toe-to-toe with today's multimillion dollar effects is worth a closer look. Jack Pierce was the man who brought us Dracula, Frankenstein's Monster, The Mummy, The Wolfman, Bride of Frankenstein, and countless other monsters that have stood the test of time.

Drawn from recorded interviews, historical footage, hundreds of photos including Jack Pierce's personal scrap book, and news clippings we meet "The Maker of Monsters," Jack P. Pierce. Join his journey from Greece to the budding film industry in Los Angeles in the early 1900's to his rising star as a freelance film hand, eventually becoming the head of Universal's makeup department and creating the monsters that we all grew up with and still love. This 80-minute documentary covers his entire career and life including the surprising hand Pierce had in American Olympics history. Plus, all the classic monsters your heart can stand!

Niles Canyon Stroll in Charlie Chaplin's footsteps

SUBMITTED BY RENA KIEHN

Follow Charlie Chaplin's footsteps in a rare opportunity on Sunday, October 11 in Niles Canyon at the "Niles Canyon Stroll and Roll." Dress up like Charlie and be in a group photograph in the exact place his most iconic image was filmed a century ago! Or come in period costume or just as yourself! Many Broncho Billy and Snakeville Comedies were also filmed in this picturesque location.

Help by giving your opinions on Niles Canyon and show that it is an important legacy in film history. The public's input could also help let decision makers know how we need to preserve the canyon and retain it as a scenic highway.

Activities start at 8 a.m. – meet up at base of Vallejo Mill Park located at the base of Niles Canyon and wear your Chaplin outfit or borrow one! At 10 a.m., converge at the Chaplin film location, 1.8 miles from the base of canyon. Then at 2 p.m. watch Chaplin films at the Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum and Theater.

BUSINESS

Business growth workshop

SUBMITTED BY ALLIANCE FOR COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Women and minority business owners are the fastest growing sector of small business startups. In addition Baby Boomer owners are selling their businesses and buyers of those businesses are more diverse than ever.

In 2015, BizBuySell.com reported that 30 percent of business buyers from ages 30-49 described themselves as black, Asian or Hispanic compared with just 8 percent of those over 65. By developing business ownership capacity and marketing and financial skills, the PROPEL Program helps business owners plan to build wealth through a business they founded or purchased. These businesses are more likely to hire, buy locally and assume leadership roles.

Be part of this economic and social shift across the Bay Area. Join us on October 14 in Hayward to celebrate the accomplishments of PROPEL graduates and enjoy the reception, networking and door prizes!

The presentation will be on Business Growth and Local leadership, by Roseann Torres, Attorney and Elected Board Member of the Oakland Unified School Board. In 2013 the Hispanic Chamber of Contra Costa awarded Torres Business Woman of the Year. She is a graduate of the 2013 PROPEL Program who knows the effort owners put into the program and their communities.

Union Sanitary District wins Innovative Program Award

SUBMITTED BY MICHELLE POWELL

Union Sanitary District (USD, "The District") has received a statewide recognition for its "Leadership School" in-house training program. The California Special Districts Association (CSDA) recently presented USD with its Innovative Program of the Year Award in recognition of the District's efforts to educate staff members about the demands of management and other critical roles, while providing training and mentoring to support them in promoting to those positions. Assemblymember Kansen Chu, whose 25th District contains a portion of USD's service area, congratulated District representatives at the award ceremony.

"Like many organizations, the District is continually faced with the retirements of seasoned staff – both management and non-management employees," says Laurie Brenner, Organizational Performance Program Manager. "These employees fulfill roles that are critical to our protection of public health and San Francisco Bay. USD's Leadership School was conceived as an opportunity to develop internal candidates who could not only fill these positions, but like their predecessors, become strong industry leaders."

General Manager Paul Eldredge notes that "Leadership School has resulted in promotions from within that provide significant savings in training time and maintain our high productivity levels. This helps us to continue providing customers reliable, cost effective service."

For more information about Union Sanitary District's Leadership School, call (510) 477-7500, or visit the District's website at www.unionsanitary.ca.gov.

Google has been testing bulbous electric self-driving pods in and around its headquarters in Mountain View, California, denying that it wants to get into the car-building business. Apple has reportedly been testing its own vehicles, too, as have auto parts makers and German and Japanese automakers. High-tech taxi service Uber has a lab in Pittsburgh that's also working on the technology. Google has a fleet of 48 robot cars that have logged more than 2 million miles on private tracks, highways and city streets.

But GM tried to even the score a bit Thursday, announcing that it would run a fleet of self-driving plug-in gas-electric hybrid Chevrolet Volts on its giant technical center campus in the Detroit suburb of Warren, Michigan, by late next year. The campus is undergoing a $1 billion renovation, and GM will learn from the app-summoned cars as they transport employees amid the massive construction project, Reuss said.

Reuss said the company and partners are working to develop better sensor technology that can handle heavy fog or ice patches, as well as artificial intelligence that can predict driver behavior and prepare for real-world problems. The company also is researching precision mapping to guide the cars.

GM said $5.5 billion in manufacturing, purchasing, information technology and administrative cost savings will help to pay for the investment needed for the new technology, even as the company increases its earnings.

"We have already developed a lot of this enabling technology because we saw this coming," Reuss told the analysts.

In addition, the company revealed a car-sharing program that allows residents of a 479-home luxury apartment building in New York City to reserve SUVs and park them in any of 200 garages in Manhattan. It also plans to launch a car-sharing service in an unidentified U.S. city early next year.

"Some might find this massive change to be daunting, but we look at it and see the opportunity to be a disruptor," CEO Mary Barra said.

GM President Dan Ammann told analysts that the personal car ownership model will remain in place for "quite some time." But GM is experimenting with autonomous cars "so we're right there every step of the way," once that model changes.

GM also announced that it would be the first in the auto industry next year when it reveals technology to weld aluminum to steel, helping to reduce weight in vehicles.

The company also predicted a 31 percent reduction in battery cell costs for electric cars that could speed price reductions. Currently its cost per kilowatt hour is $145, but that will drop to $100 by 2018, a reduction that could make the cars more competitive with internal combustion engines.

GM now sells the Volt, which can go about 40 miles on battery power before a gasoline generator kicks in. It also has promised to roll out the Chevrolet Bolt, a $40,000 fully electric car with a 200-mile range, in late 2016.

The company also said during its annual investor presentation that global growth initiatives will increase earnings per share to $5 to $5.50 next year. GM projects full-year earnings this year of $4.50 per share this year, up from $4.12 in 2014.

In China, GM expects total sales to slow to a 3 to 5 percent annual growth rate between now and 2020. The market had been growing at a 17 percent annual rate from 2008 through 2014. The company predicts that global auto sales will rise from 85 million this year to 130 million by 2030.

Reuss said the company expects to cut $2 billion in material costs alone by 2018 as it reduces weight in all its vehicles.

GM warns the Valley: Prepare to compete over driverless cars

BY TOM KRISHER
AP AUTO WRITER

MILFORD TOWNSHIP, Mich. (AP) — Move that tiny self-driving pod out of the way.

That might as well have been the message Thursday from General Motors to Google, Apple and anyone else with designs on dominating the market for autonomous cars.

The 107-year-old automaker told Wall Street analysts Thursday that it intends to lead no matter what form of transportation people pick in the future.

GM already has millions of cars on the road that are connected to the Internet, and it has young engineers who are helping to develop new technology that will lead to autonomous driving, said Mark Reuss, GM's product development chief.

"No one has solved all the technical challenges or claimed outright leadership," he said. "We see this as a tremendous opportunity to lead."

Shape Our Fremont

Where Fremont residents can learn about shaping proposed housing developments

Residents Oppose Walnut Guardino Development

At a Planning Commission Study Session on September 29, an estimated 200 residents filled the council chambers and overflowed into an adjacent room to hear the latest proposal for development of the property at Walnut Avenue and Guardino Drive. They did not like what they heard.

Still Not Right

Carmel Partners is proposing to build luxury apartments on 13.7 acres of land that had been one of the last working farms in Fremont. The property is in the City-Center Transit Oriented Development Overlay, and the city has given it an Urban Land Use designation with a density of 50.1 to 70.0 dwelling units per net acre. When the original plan for 882 units in four- and five-story buildings was presented at two community outreach meetings in June, it generated a great deal of opposition from residents, who expressed concerns about the density, height, traffic, parking, and other issues.

To address these concerns, the developer used the September Study Session to present four alternative strategies for developing the property. Each alternative had variations in density, building heights, building placement, parking, view corridors, and open space within the site.

The lowest density was for 670 apartments in four-story buildings at a density of 53 units per acre. The highest density was a modification of the original proposal for 882 apartments in a mix of three-, four-, and five-story buildings at a density of 70 units per acre. None of the alternatives included any level of affordable housing.

After a round of questions from the Planning Commissioners, the meeting was opened to public comments. About 30 people spoke, and each was given 2 minutes to express comments and views.

From the beginning it was obvious that residents felt the project still had many problems. One of the biggest was the inadequate parking on the site, which was only 1.5 to 1.6 parking spaces per unit, including parking for guests. In Transit Oriented Development areas, Fremont will not allow more than 1.75 parking spaces per unit. They restrict the number of parking spaces partly because they expect many residents to take public transportation to work, and partly because they want to discourage people from using private vehicles. Local residents said that this is an unrealistic approach and would simply force people to park on the surrounding streets.

Another concern was traffic. Several people pointed out that traffic on neighborhood streets to and from the BART station and nearby major thoroughfares was already a problem, and adding over a thousand vehicles would just make it worse. The city's plan to build the development first and then address any traffic problems later was not well received.

Several people also noted that the surrounding area was filled with one-, two-, and three-story homes, and that the size and scope of the proposed project was "overwhelmingly inconsistent with this neighborhood". One speaker announced that there were two petitions opposing the project, and that they had gathered over 3,000 signatures within a short period.

The Plan is Broken

As the evening wore on, the tone of the public comments shifted to a more general criticism of Fremont's overall development plan. People noted that we already have problems with traffic, schools, water, open space, and other issues that the city is not adequately handling. A plan to build more housing and add more residents without fixing those problems first is, as one resident put it, "legalized irresponsibility".

Several people suggested changing the General Plan; others stated Transit Oriented Development areas should not just be circles drawn on a map; still others noted the city should evaluate the cumulative impact of new developments and not just the impacts of individual projects. Many people said they were proud to live in Fremont and valued the unique characteristics of our city, but they felt the accelerated housing development in the past few years was threatening to destroy that uniqueness. "We are not the City of San Francisco," said one speaker, "We are Fremont!"

What's Next

The Planning Commission closed the meeting by replying to concerns expressed by the audience, as well as making suggestions to the developer for future direction on the project. Several commissioners felt the developer should voluntarily include a range of affordable housing units, although they could not legally require it. Some agreed that the density should be minimized and all agreed the parking spaces should be maximized.

As for the residents, they vowed to continue to oppose the development unless some really substantial changes are made.

A City Council Study Session on this project is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, November 3.

Residents are encouraged to direct comments and concerns about the Walnut Residences proposal to the assigned City Staff Project Planner Bill Roth at broth@fremont.gov

New TiVo DVR will skip through entire commercial break

BY ANICK JESDANUN AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

NEW YORK (AP), TiVo wants to help you skip TV commercials.

With one press of a button on the remote, TiVo's new digital video recorder will skip the entire commercial break. That's quicker than the 30-second forward feature found on previous Tivos. On the new TiVo Bolt, TiVo will tag the start and end of commercial breaks so that viewers can skip that section when watching their recordings. The feature will work with about 20 over-the-air and cable channels, including the major broadcast networks, mostly during primetime hours.

Satellite TV provider Dish has had a similar feature on its Hopper DVR, which has prompting lawsuits from several TV channels. Dish has been settling them as part of broader agreements for rights to include the channels on Dish's lineup.

7 Things You Must Know Before Putting Your Tri-City Home Up for Sale

Tri-City – A new report has just been released which reveals 7 costly mistakes that most homeowners make when selling their home, and a 9 Step System that can help you sell your home fast and for the most amount of money.

This industry report show clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become increasingly less and less effective in today's market. The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of homesellers don't get what they want for their homes and become disillusioned and – worse- financially disadvantaged when they put their homes on the market.

As this report uncovers, most homesellers make 7 deadly mistakes that cost them literally thousands of dollars. The good news is that each and every one of these mistakes is entirely preventable. In answer to this issue, industry insiders have prepared a free special report entitled "The 9 Step System to Get Your Home Sold Fast and For Top Dollars."

To order a FREE Special Report, visit www.HomeSellerErrors.com or to hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free 1-800-228-3917 and enter 1000. You can call anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Home & Garden

(FAMILY FEATURES)

Not every home renovation is a complete do-over. In fact, some projects are more about preserving the character and charm of the original structure than making everything shiny and new.

A self-taught home rehabber, licensed real estate agent and designer, Nicole Curtis, star of HGTV's "Rehab Addict," has made an art of introducing the comforts and conveniences of modern living while restoring homes to their former glory.

Whether you're giving new life to a historic treasure or simply sprucing up a more modern home, there are many ways to retain features that keep the integrity of the original design intact while keeping your renovation budget under control.

Flooring

Updating tired, worn flooring is an important way to make a room feel fresh and inviting. Remember that much like fashion trends come and go, so do popular styles for home decor. The dingy carpet you can't wait to tear out may actually be covering a hidden gem — original hardwood floors.

Many homeowners rush to rip out old flooring at the first sign of damage, Curtis said. Her advice: approach your renovation with a "what can I save" rather than a "what can I lose" mentality. Damaged sections of wood flooring can be patched using reclaimed wood from other parts of the house or even the attic. A good sanding and a fresh coat of stain can leave you with a beautifully imperfect surface filled with character that simply can't be bought.

Heating and Cooling Systems

Adding a temperature control system to a home or considering how to integrate an addition into an existing system can be a daunting proposition. In those cases, not only is a ductless system one of the easiest options for improved home comfort, it also preserves the existing structure and architectural integrity of a home.

"No ductwork makes my life so much easier," Curtis said. "There's less time and money spent on finding ductwork space and installing the systems, so we no longer have to sacrifice design."

KEEPING THE CHARACTER

Renovation with original charm in mind

Lightly colored cabinets and countertops will make a small kitchen space feel larger, according to Nicole Curtis, star of HGTV's "Rehab Addict."

Installing a ductless system, such as those offered by Mitsubishi Electric Cooling & Heating, is a simple solution for eliminating window units and baseboard heaters that detract from the beauty and architectural essence of your home. There's no need to tear through or lower ceilings to make space for ducts and no messy demolition is required.

The complete line of energy-efficient ductless systems from Mitsubishi Electric provides individual temperature control for specific temperatures in each room, installation flexibility and quiet operation — all features that are not available with traditional central systems or window units. Learn more at mitsubishicomfort.com.

Kitchen and Bath

Two rooms that see the greatest attention in home makeovers are the kitchen and bath, and they're also commonly the most expensive. In some cases, updates are truly necessary to keep pace with matters like modern plumbing. But before you make plans to gut a room, consider how you might repurpose the existing contents to fit your needs.

In the kitchen, you may be surprised by how sanding and staining or painting the existing cabinetry transforms the space. Remember that lightly colored cabinets and countertops will make a small kitchen space feel larger, and you can bring pops of color into the room with the backsplash and decor.

Especially if you're rehabbing an older home, you may find a bath without a shower. In most cases, it's actually fairly simple to convert a claw-foot tub with some plumbing improvements and the addition of a shower curtain. Tired tile and grout may simply need a thorough cleaning or you may be able to add paint for a fresh look.

Approaching your renovation with a mindset of preserving the original elements as much as you can lets you save money while creating a home with a unique blend of the past and your own modern touches.

Living with Technology

The construction is finished, the walls are painted and curtains are hung. But wait ... What's that interrupting your perfect aesthetic? Today's high tech homes come with plenty of convenience, but all those gadgets and gizmos can botch your sleek design.

The thought of devices such as ductless air-conditioning units on the walls might be intimidating, but remember that microwaves, flat screens and thermostats were all once unfamiliar elements of the home landscape and today most homeowners barely notice them.

Fortunately, many of these tech devices have been created with aesthetics in mind. For example, Mitsubishi Electric's systems are available in a wide range of options to blend into the look and feel of your old home – ducted, ceiling-recessed and even cabinet-concealed floor-standing units.

Technology also lends a new range of sounds to the household. Look for devices that keep operations whisper-quiet for minimal distractions.

Choosing a Ductless System

Sustainability: A system that is ENERGY STAR® certified may qualify for local, state and federal tax credits or utility rebates. Shop for systems that operate with environmentally friendly refrigerant and recyclable components.

Energy efficiency: Save on energy bills with models that readily adjust to temperature fluctuations. Mitsubishi Electric systems use a finely tuned INVERTER-driven compressor for up to 40 percent more energy efficiency than conventional central air systems and window units.

Air quality: Eliminating ductwork alone helps improve air quality. Add a ductless system that gives extra attention to air quality with a specialized filtration system and you can significantly reduce allergens, viruses and bacteria in the air.

Constructing Puppets

SUBMITTED BY SUSAN HELMER

The Fremont Art Association welcomes Francesca Borgatta as their guest demo artist on Wednesday, October 7. Francesca will demonstrate the incredibly dynamic and expressive medium of constructing puppets, using recycled materials. She will be leading attendees through the process of creating their own puppet with recycled materials. This is perfectly in time for Halloween!

To make a puppet, Francesca combines wood, bone, and other found objects to make an armature. She paints layers of glue with paper and textiles to form a unified surface and adds elements to define the features.

Francesca grew up in an artistic household, her father was a painter, and her mother taught her ceramics and paper mache. She built large puppets for anti-war demonstrations in New York with Peter Schumann's Bread and Puppet Theater. These experiences taught her to use art as an organizing principal for social action, to create site-specific works with the materials at hand.

Materials will be provided and the public is welcome to attend.

Pat Kite’s Garden

Milkweed

for Butterflies

By Pat Kite

The soon-to-disappear Sunset Garden site in Palo Alto has lots of bright orange “butterfly” milkweed. I even saw a Monarch butterfly feasting on milkweed pollen. Of course I am jealous, having yet to succeed in growing a milkweed plant.

Milkweed is supposed to be easy to grow. We generally see “Asclepias tuberosa,” otherwise known as butterfly weed, in our garden area. As many know, milkweeds are the sole food for our endangered Monarch butterflies. Other insects enjoying this plant include bees, moths and beetles. There are about 140 different North American species or kinds of milkweed plants, some recommended for California growth. These include A. Curassavica or Scarlet milkweed, A. incarnata or Swamp milkweed, Mexican Whorled, Showy milkweed, Desert milkweed, California milkweed, Heartleaf milkweed, and Wooly Pod milkweed. You may need the scientific name to search for information.

Asclepias is named after Asclepius, the Greek god of medicine. The term milkweed comes from the white sticky sap, or latex, given off by some plants when damaged. With some species, this can cause an allergic skin reaction. Monarch butterflies lay their eggs on just one plant: milkweed leaves. When caterpillars emerge, they eat the leaves. Leaves are healthy for the larvae, but not for predators.

The bright yellow and black larvae coloration is a warning. Munch on me, and you get to vomit. [Children and pets should not mess about with milkweed plants for the same reason.] What do you need to grow milkweed and attract Monarch butterflies? Milkweed plants need sun. The amount of water varies according to plant species. Some species are quite drought tolerant. If you get seeds, scatter them on the soil surface and cover with just a tad of soil. Water until the plants seem established. For people who have aggravation getting seeds started, you can buy milkweed plugs or small soil bits with seeds already started. Dig a hole for each plug. Place the plug in the hole, making sure roots are covered. Stem and leaves should remain uncovered. Tamp area down gently. Again, water frequently until plants are established.

There are numerous Internet places to find out more about milkweed plants. Monarch Joint Venture, phone is 612-624-8706 [www.monarchjointventure.org] talks about the six national milkweed regions and the best milkweed for each. To find milkweed vendors go to [www.plantmilkweed.org]. What I am going to do is contact Monarch Watch Milkweed Market [<http://monarch-watch.org/milkweed/market/>] and order a flat of milkweed plugs, 32 in a flat. Price is reasonable. In 2015, this group distributed over 59,000 plugs! There are special prices for large-scale restoration projects. Watching butterflies makes my spirit take wing.

Thanks for listening. Pat

Eagle Scout project at Tule Ponds

SUBMITTED BY MATH SCIENCE NUCLEUS

Visitors to the Tule Ponds in Tyson Lagoon Wetland Center in central Fremont will be greeted by a new butterfly area that will act as an “oasis” to attract butterflies. This transformation was led by Akhil Bhamidipati, a sophomore at American High School and aspiring Eagle Scout from Boy Scout Troop 112 in Fremont.

Being an avid outdoorsman, Akhil sought to make a difference in Fremont and enable the enjoyment of nature in a well preserved urban setting. He partnered with Dr. Joyce Blueford, Board President of the Math Science Nucleus, to select a location inside the Tule Ponds preserve. Akhil then worked with Dr. Blueford to develop a plan to make the site more habitable. He then led a team of 10 adults and 15 student volunteers to implement the project, working for more than 300 hours over a five month period. They removed weeds and cleared out an area of about 2000 square ft. Then, they designed, built, transported, and placed six large planters at the station; finally, they planted milkweed plants in these planters in late summer.

Kudos to Akhil and his project volunteers for helping create a butterfly habitat right in the heart of Fremont!

Farm-to-Fork dinner serves up savory fare

SUBMITTED BY SAYLA ELSBREE-KRAFT

Community Alliance with Family Farmers (CAFF) is proud to announce the second annual Taste of Santa Clara Valley on October 17, at Martial Cottle Park in San Jose. The Farm-to-Fork dinner is brought to you in partnership with Santa Clara County Parks and Epicurean Group, a food-service management company dedicated to providing healthy, sustainable food.

Culinary-trained chefs will craft a multi-course meal featuring produce from local farms, artisanal products and regional wine and beer. Tickets to the event are $140 per person. Guests will enjoy dinner while listening to music by The Down Beets, a local band. The event is a fundraiser for CAFF and its Farm-to-School and Farm-to-Market programs, which directly benefit regional farmers and the Santa Clara Valley community.

The event venue, Martial Cottle Park, is Santa Clara County Parks and Recreation Department’s newest urban park. The land was continuously farmed for 150 years, until being transferred to the county and state for a park to “educate the public about the agricultural heritage of the Santa Clara Valley.” Jacobs Farm/Del Cabo, a leader in organic farming, is partnering with County Parks for a long-term organic agricultural production and education project. Guests will be invited to tour the new park.

At the dinner, Aziz Baameur will be honored with the “Family Farmer Champion of the Year” award for his dedication to providing assistance to family farmers in the Santa Clara Valley. Baameur recently retired as Farm Advisor for the UC Cooperative Extension, a position he has held for the past 30 years.

These sponsors helped to make the event possible: California Farmers’ Markets Association, Coke Farm, The Health Trust, Jacobs Farm/Del Cabo, Santa Clara County Open Space Authority, Pacific Coast Farmers Market Association, Urban Village Farmers Market Association, Vitalis Organic Seeds, and Watsonville Coast Produce.

SUBMITTED BY SPECTRUM COMMUNITY SERVICES

Spectrum’s Senior Nutrition Program is a healthy and convenient alternative to cooking, and offers freshly prepared, nutritious meals at nearly 30 Alameda County locations. Our dining sites ease the burden of cooking and provide seniors with the opportunity to enjoy tasty food, meet new people, and participate in a variety of activities.

October menu is now available. The meal plan offers 1/3 of senior’s daily nutritional requirements; no excessive added salt; homemade soups; sugar-free dessert substitutes; and daily alternative options. There is a suggested donation of $3.75 for seniors 60 years and older, and $6 for guests under 60. No senior will be turned away due to lack of funds.

Reservations are required; please call (510) 881-0300 ext. 222. For more information about this month’s menu and dining locations, visit www.spectrumcs.org/senior-services/senior-meals.

CSU campuses accepting applications for Fall 2016

SUBMITTED BY CHRISTIANNE SALVADOR

All 23 California State University (CSU) campuses have now begun accepting applications for admission to the fall 2016 term. Apply online at www.csumentor.edu. The application deadline is November 30, 2015.

High school seniors and community college transfer students are advised to apply early. After November 30, most CSU campuses will stop accepting applications.

Applicants are also encouraged to apply to more than one campus to increase their likelihood of admission. The CSU Mentor website: www.csumentor.edu includes a comprehensive degree database detailing the undergraduate and graduate degree programs offered at each campus, as well as information about the campus community, student housing and campus life.

After applying to the CSU, students should complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). More than half of all CSU undergraduates receive enough financial aid to cover the full cost of their tuition fees.

Tri-City Stargazer OCTOBER 7 - OCTOBER 13, 2015 BY VIVIAN CAROL

For All Signs: Mercury, ancient god of communications, turns direct once again on Friday, October 9. As this planet begins to regain its normal speed, it will be easier to move ahead with plans that have been pending for one reason or another for several weeks. Have patience with the flurry of phone calls and changed appointments that always accompany Mercury's shift in directions. Decisions are also subject to change, so if you experienced a disappointment in the last three weeks you might want to give it one more try after the ninth. The after-shadow period is complete on October 24. After that the old issues are resolved fully or left in the dust so we can proceed forward.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): New experiences are brought to you by others in your world. Even if a change was not in your conscious awareness, it is needed for your personal growth, or it would not be happening. Do not play the blame game here. It is possible that you overstepped your boundaries and now someone is pushing back.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): The next two weeks will be challenging to your relationships and maybe your investments. You may be perceiving yourself as selfless or the other as too good to be true. Add a touch of realism here, and you will be more accurate and better balanced.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Mercury, your ruling planet, has graced your fifth house of children, personal creativity and romances since August 27. It is possible that one or more of these areas has been on hold for the past month. Your attention will be focused in these areas through October, and the slowed motion will begin to move forward.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Give special attention to unusual messages or to new people who enter your life during this time. A teacher crosses your path in the form of a person, a book, or the right message that will steer you in the next favorable direction. You may have heard this message before, but this time you are listening.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): It is probable that others in your life may be erratic. Partner(s), clientele, good friends and even professionals may be far less reliable than you would like. If this has already started, then do your best to choose activities that depend only upon yourself for a short while.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): Financial matters will be clearing up soon as Mercury goes direct in the house of resources and money. In another arena, you need closeness and as you reach out, the other just seems to evaporate or evade you. This is truly disappointing. You have necessary repairs on your home or family that become apparent. It is time.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Mercury has been traveling in your sign since August 27. It has caused you to reflect deeply on your next direction. Now that it is turning direct, you feel more capable of making decisions and moving forward. You'll be cautious at first, but your moves will pick up steam soon.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): At last! The sun shines through and there is a breakthrough of the clouds in your life. You may become the leader in a project that will be good for many. This is a time in which you may realize that your struggles have been worth the effort. Positive experiences and increased resource supply comes to you via friends and associates, including the community at large.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Necessary expenses (those not of the fun type) may develop this week. If not that, you could be just having a little blue mood. It is one of those times when we operate better in solitude. This is an existential dilemma that everyone encounters now and then. It will pass quickly.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): You may be the fortunate recipient of laws or edicts that operate in your favor without your bidding. (Example: You own a business and the city closes down another street, forcing traffic to your site.) Dealing with those at a distance through travel or use of the Internet produces positive results. Don't allow minor aggravations to create a blue mood.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): You may have financial concerns related to investments. Contacting friends and associates in distant places will open new doors.

Meanwhile your ability to concentrate upon projects that require management of details is strong. Organizing files, closets and cabinets will clear the clutter from your mind.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): Beware of any martyr-like thoughts in relation to your partner(s). You could be seeing yourself as all-giving and all-loving. No one is really like that. Give what you are willing to give because you love the other. Don't do it so that someone will see your actions and think you are wonderful. Then whatever the outcome, you won't resent it.

Spend an a-maize-ing weekend at Ardenwood

Are you ready for harvest time on the farm? Bring your family and friends to help bring in the corn crop at Ardenwood Historic Farm on Saturday, October 10 and Sunday, October 11 for "Harvest Festival." Harvest Indian corn and popcorn, help fill corncribs, and take home a share of colorful corn for your holiday table. Other activities include magic shows, apple cider pressing, ice cream making, old-time music, corn milling, demonstrations and crafts. Ride the farm's train and visit the pumpkin patch and the beautifully restored Patterson House.

The leafy stalk of a corn, or maize in Spanish, produces ears that contain grain or seeds called kernels. Among the varieties of corn are popcorn, flour corn (soft starch), sweet corn, flint corn (hard starch), and dent corn (between soft and hard starch). Consumption of corn has nutritional value as it provides fiber to help with digestion, as well as folate, thiamin, phosphorus, vitamin C, and magnesium.

People have a variety of ways to enjoy eating corn, including corn on the cob, corn chips, cornflakes, and popcorn.

Now on its 30th year, the Harvest Festival continues to grow and had the largest turnout of 9,000 participants last year on both days. It's a great opportunity for the public to participate in fun, family-friendly and educational activities at the farm, while also helping them harvest corn to feed their animals.

For more information, call (510) 544-2797 or visit www.ebparks.org/parks/ardenwood. Please bring your own bags to take home your harvest.

ZERO WASTE - YOU MAKE IT HAPPEN!

Broadway West Theatre Company

4000-B Bay Street in Fremont

September 11 – October 10

This version of the Dracula legend based on the 1897 Bram Stoker novel is set in the English countryside in 1911 where several village girls have died under mysterious circumstances. Dr. Seward presides over a nearby mental hospital and the locality has acquired a new resident, Count Dracula! A trio of doctors, a young reporter and a stouthearted English lord battle the Count for possession of a lovely heroine. A funny, serious, scary, hilarious and bloody enjoyable show!

I need a Forever Home

Boba is a sweetie who's a bit timid at first. He needs a little reassurance that things are OK, to build confidence. He'd do best in a home with a social dog so that he can learn to be brave. Boba loves to give kisses. Low-key home with kids 13 yrs+. Meet Boba at the Hayward Animal Shelter. Info: (510) 293-7200.

Macy is great on walks. She politely greets others, both people and dogs, but likes to keep on pace. She's sweet, friendly and a perfect companion for anyone who enjoys walking. She'll do well in a quiet, adult home. Meet Macy at the Hayward Animal Shelter. Info: (510) 293-7200.

What is Day of the Dead?
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22
6:30-8:00PM

From sugar skulls to altars, Day of the Dead seems to have entered American mainstream culture. Yet, not a lot of people know its origins. Come learn more through an interactive presentation by artist and cultural educator, Anita De Lucio.

Annual exhibit gathers Artists' best

SUBMITTED BY ADOBE ART GALLERY

Opening October 10, the 38th “Area Artists’ Annual Juried Exhibit” showcases the best art from the Bay Area art community, housed in Castro Valley’s Adobe Art Gallery.

Renowned muralist and master painter Daniel Galvez served as this year’s judge with the challenging task of selecting 71 pieces to exhibit from a total of 180 pieces entered. The judging was a “blind judging,” the names of artists not revealed, and based on actual pieces – not merely digital files viewed on a computer screen.

Gallery Director Susan Eady said the response of artists “is the most I’ve seen in the past five years that I’ve been at the Adobe Gallery.” Galvez also selected Award of Merit winners ($150) and Honorable Mentions, which will be announced at the Artist Reception.

61 artists will be represented in mediums including acrylic, oil, watercolor, mixed media, encaustic, pastel, monoprints, cut paper, pencil, clay, and photography (including digital and “old school” gelatin silver prints).

“The artwork is excellent – and quite varied, reflecting the wonderful, thriving art community in our area!” said Eady.

Congratulations to selected artists: Hollie Adamic, Myriam Espinosa Aguirre, Kay Athos, Ellen Bailey, Rosa Bazzani, Dorothy Beardslee, Michael Belew, Carol Bettencourt, Louis Bodas, Carol Jones Brown, Nick Calarco, Valerie Caveglia, Robert D. Chavez III, David Cornetet, Atilla Czigenyi, Pushpa Dalal, Philip Denst, Patricia Devitt, Jo-Ann Maggiora Donivan, Sheila Fimreite, Chip Fricke, Dorothy Gantenbein, Richard Geiger, Nancy Hansen, Kathleen Hardwig, Juanita Hemanes, Kin Hsieh, Nina C. UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

South Hayward United Methodist Church (SHUMC) is proud to present the Saringhimig Singers at their choral concert, "Harvest of Songs," on Saturday, October 17 in Hayward.

The Saringhimig Singers are a Filipino American choir based in San Francisco. They are a group of highly professional volunteer singers who are dedicated to superior choral performances in all styles. The singers perform throughout the Bay Area and internationally. The choir has won numerous international awards including the Best Choir in the World Choral Festival in Puebla, Mexico in 2003 and first and second prize at the Kathaumiwx International Choral Competition in Powell River, British Columbia, Canada in 2006. The choir's maestro, George Gemora Hernandez formed the singers in 1974 at the University of the Philippines together with the other students from the College of Music.

"We are delighted to host the Saringhimig Singers," says Rev. Rochelle Frazier, pastor of South Hayward. "Our choirs will also perform. The evening will be a spectacular event of musical excellence."

The cost of the concert is $10; net proceeds will be used to renovate the SHUMC's Kostal Hall. The hall will be used for ministries in our community. For more information, please contact us at (510) 780-9599.

SPORTS

A matchup that didn't disappoint

Football

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The game on October 2nd between Moreau Catholic (5-0) and American High (4-1) at Tak Fudenna Stadium in Fremont was previewed as the Mission Valley Athletic League (MVAL) football "game of the year" and it lived up to expectations. Both teams had a lot to gain or lose... if the Moreau Catholic Mariners won they would have a commanding two game lead in the MVAL and if American's Eagles won, they would move into a tie for the league lead.

Quarterback Junior Diala got things going in the right direction for the American High Eagles as he passed on the very first offensive play of the game for a 40 yard gain. The Eagles moved the ball 65 yards on the opening drive to score. Junior Diala then completed a pass to Lamar Reid Jr. for a 35-yard touchdown pass and a two-touchdown lead.

But then Moreau came fighting back as Julien Ison made it a much tighter game as he found the end zone cutting the lead in half. The Eagles, however, were not done as Junior Diala connected again with Aaron Bell for a 19-yard touchdown with 3 seconds left in the half to lead 20-7, passing for 270 yards; 198 in the first half. The Eagles defense was outstanding as they stalled two Mariners drives including two great interceptions, giving up just 53 yards.

The game was a real battle to the end after the Mariners, first drive of the second half came up short. American moved the ball 70 yards with a game plan of running down the clock as they took 7 very important minutes off the clock. However, the Mariners did not go away; Quarterback Ryan Regner found an open Alex Johnson on the American one yard line and then marched the ball into the end zone.

Then the Mariners defense rose to the moment by shutting down the Eagles offense and getting the ball back. There was hope for the Mariners as Ryan Regner found Johnny Den Bleyker who made great moves to be wide open for a 70-yard pass to the American 6 yard line. With great moves, Ison scored. It was now 27-20, American leading, with 5:57 left.

With the game on the line, the bottom fell out for the Mariners when they moved the ball to the American 37 yard line but came up short on fourth down. The Eagles let the clock run out, cementing the win. Final score: Eagles 27, Mariners 20

Digs Record Falls in Five-Set Marathon

Women's Volleyball

SUBMITTED BY STEVE CONNOLLY

The Cal State East Bay volleyball team was defeated narrowly by visiting Cal State Dominguez Hills in a thrilling five-set match at Pioneer Gymnasium October 2nd (24-26, 25-21, 25-16, 21-25, 10-15). The teams combined for 460 attack attempts and 156 digs in an epic, back-and-forth contest that was extremely evenly-matched and featured dozens of long rallies. East Bay hit .116 overall, while the Toros posted a .114 percentage.

Despite the loss, it was a record-breaking night for the Pioneers (3-11, 1-5 CCAA), as two individuals surpassed the program record for digs in a single match. Senior libero Angie Maina racked up 41 scoops to top the previous record of 39, which was held by Veronica Sanchez. Junior Darlene Lee turned in a phenomenal defensive effort and totaled 43 digs to become the program's new record holder.

Leuteneker was the Pioneers' leading scorer, posting a double-double with 16 kills and 16 digs to go along with three block assists. Sophomore Kiani Rayford also reached double figures in kills with 11. In the middle, Kathy McKiernan added eight kills with just one attack error on the night. Fellow freshman Deja Thompson also totaled eight kills and turned in four block assists to lead the team.

Maina now leads the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) in both digs and service aces. She and Lee each notched two aces on this night to go along with their remarkable dig totals. Fellow defensive specialist Brandi Brucato tallied 18 scoops, which was one shy of her season high. Setter Kylie Fraga filled up the scoresheet with 46 assists, eight digs, and seven kills on 19 attempts.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Statement of sympathy to Umpqua Community College

Ohlone College President, Dr. Gari Browning issued the following statement regarding the tragic shooting at Umpqua Community College in Roseburg, Oregon.

“Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to the victims and their families and to the community of Roseburg in the wake of this tragedy.

“At Ohlone College, we give highest priority to the safety and security of our students, faculty and staff. Ohlone is continually in close communication with local authorities and engages in emergency and disaster preparedness on an ongoing basis. Some of the most recent activities include the local police force conducting a training activity for an ‘active shooter’ scenario on our Fremont campus, administrators participating in a tabletop exercise to walk through a response to this type of incident, and regular reviews of our emergency procedures by the college’s emergency resource team.

“Ohlone Community College District uses an emergency mass notification system to provide the Ohlone community and other subscribers with timely advisements of emergencies which occur on either campus, distributed simultaneously through multiple communication formats. The college has a team of trained professionals that includes sworn police officers and other members of our safety and security team who are here to safeguard the District.

“Again, our hearts are with our colleagues at Umpqua College and the entire community as they cope with this tragedy.”

The Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) women’s golf team moved up one spot on September 29 to place 18th at the NCAA Division II Championship Preview tournament, hosted by Metro State at the par-72 Commonground Golf Course.

The CSUEB Pioneers followed up their 328 on September 28 with a 331 (+43) on September 29’s final round to finish the week at 659 (+83). They bested both Colorado Christian (+85) and Colorado Springs (+98). Tarleton State captured the team championship at +12, followed by Dallas Baptist (+19) and Augustana College (+20).

Senior Melissa Hosman led East Bay on Tuesday, carving nine strokes off her first round score. The Castro Valley native shot 78 (+6), highlighted by a birdie and a team-high 11 pars. She finished the tournament tied for 74th in the overall field of 100 golfers with a total of 165 (+21).

Lulu Huang stumbled a bit with an 86 (+14) in the second round, but still finished with the team’s lowest two-round score. The sophomore totaled 163 (+19), tied for 65th individually.

Sophomore Taylor Wyss matched Huang’s 86 (+14) on Tuesday and matched Hosman’s total score of 165 (+21) for the tournament. Fellow second-year player Sienna Starck was right on her heels at 166 (+22) in 77th place. Starck turned in CSUEB’s second-best card of the day with an 81 (+9). Newcomer Kelsi Valenzuela wrapped up her first event as a Pioneer with a 92 (+20) in the second round to finish in 96th place at 180 (+36).

Junior Varsity Action

The Moreau Catholic Mariners junior varsity team is off to a great start great with an undefeated record of 6-0. In their last outing against the American High Eagles Junior Varsity on October 2nd, they continued their impressive on-field performance with a convincing 31-8 win.

Moreau’s coaching staff is optimistic about what the future holds for these young players as this game was seen as a significant test. Both teams have excellent potential on their squads for future varsity replacements. The score was not indicative of the hard fought contest.

How to Wipe Out a Deadly Disease

Can you number the parts of this story in the correct order?

The situation was even sadder because a vaccine that could prevent people from getting polio had been invented.

It was so successful that Rotary International made it a goal to wipe polio off the face of the earth. For the past 30 years more than 2.5 billion children have been given the life-saving polio vaccine. Today, polio remains active in only three countries.

Dr. Santos asked members of Rotary clubs throughout the Philippines to vaccinate the children in their communities. More than 6 million children were immunized against polio. It was a huge success.

Dr. Benny Santos belonged to an international club called Rotary. He wrote a letter to the International President of Rotary asking if all of the Rotarians in the Philippines could volunteer to immunize the country's children. The President of Rotary and his committee approved the idea.

More than 30 years ago, a doctor in the Philippines named Dr. Benny Santos was very upset about the number of people in his country who had a disease called polio.

Polio caused people to become physically disabled. Some had problems breathing. Many died.

What is polio?

Most kids in North America don't know what polio is because there have been no new cases here for decades. That is because of the polio vaccine. Polio is an illness that can lead to paralysis of your spine and/or limbs and can sometimes cause death.

Fill in the missing vowels to find out the names of the last three countries with polio.*

*As of the writing of this page, researchers were determining if Nigeria has been polio free for one year. If it has, then Nigeria will be removed from the list of countries with polio. Keep a look out for news about this.

Rotary

A Special Test

Rotarians have a short test with only four questions. Use the code to discover the four questions Rotarians ask themselves about everything they say or do.

Is it the

to all concerned?

Will it build

and

to all concerned?

Will it be

to all concerned?

■ = GOODWILL

■ = BETTER

■ = GOOD

■ = FAIR

■ = BENEFICIAL

■ = TRUTH

■ = FRIENDSHIPS

■ = TRUST

If everyone asked themselves these four questions before they said or did something, how would it make the world a better place?

Volunteers: Our guiding lights to togetherness

SUBMITTED BY MACKENZIE HUNT

The Fremont/Newark YMCA is pleased to recognize Rialyn Cortez as our Youth of Character award recipient and Donna Castaldo as our Adult Volunteer of the Year. Rialyn and Donna have contributed to the Y's mission throughout this past year and truly stood out among the rest. Along with being an officer for our Youth & Government Teen Leadership Program, Rialyn volunteered over 200 hours this summer at our day camp. With her positive attitude and smiling face, she is an incredible role model to the younger youth of the Y. Donna has been a member of our Y for the past six years. She is always the first to lend a hand to whoever needs it. Another longtime Y member summed up Donna perfectly by telling us, "If she's got it, you've got it." Donna plans many events for the members at the Y and never forgets a birthday! We are honored to have her as a part of our Y.

Donna Castaldo as our Adult Volunteer of the Year

Rialyn Cortez as our Youth of Character award

Both award recipients will be recognized at the 136th Annual Meeting and Volunteer Recognition Ceremony for the YMCA of the East Bay on October 22. On this night, we honor the true spirit of volunteerism and the partnerships which improve the community and make possible the accomplishments and impact of the YMCA. Our prestigious You Are the Difference, The Diffy, award will be presented to Rialyn and Donna on this night.

Rotarians and Interactors help beautify Blacow Elementary School

SUBMITTED BY TERRI LONDON

Twenty Niles Rotarians and 15 Niles Rotary Interactors from Robertson High School participated in the 3rd Annual Community Service Project on September 19 at Blacow Elementary School in Fremont. Blacow Elementary School (a Title One school) in Fremont has been adopted by the Niles Rotary Club as the school for which a portion of the Club's District Designated Funds from Rotary District 5170 are used each year. This year, Niles Rotarians and Interactors, replaced rotted benches, re-planted a barren planter with drought tolerant plantings and drip system and replaced basketball backboards. Past projects at Blacow include replacing benches, adding a second door to an existing classroom so it could be used for Pre-school and Kindergarten classes and spreading bark in playground areas.

Hayward to honor titans of public service

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF HAYWARD

Hayward public service organizations will gather on Tuesday, October 6 under the Grand White Tent at St. Rose Hospital to celebrate the generosity, vision and civic pride of another spate of exceptional Hayward volunteers led by distinguished award winners Ilene Weinreb; Jean Gocker and Steve Sapontzis; Obay Van Buren; and Kay Thomas. Since the dinner's 1977 inception, more than 500 local volunteers have been honored for their valuable contributions to the Hayward community. The event has become a veritable "Who's Who" of the civically engaged brought together under the banner of service to Hayward. "It's impossible to look at the extraordinary civic contributions of each of this year's winners and not come away both humbled and inspired," said City spokesperson Frank Holland. "This year's honorees are defined not only by their incredible achievements, but also by their vision, passion and dedication." Weinreb, the first woman to be elected mayor of Hayward, is recognized as a visionary in the field of affordable housing and senior housing, raising the issue long before most people in the region foresaw an impending crisis. She will receive the Gail Steele Lifetime Achievement Award. The event will also pay tribute to Jean Gocker and Steve Sapontzis, a husband-and-wife team that has worked tirelessly behind the scenes for decades to support and expand Hayward Animal Shelter and its services. Fittingly, Gocker and Sapontzis will receive the John N. Pappas Humanitarian Award. In addition to the five distinguished award winners, the event will honor 39 "Hearts of Hayward" volunteers who have made a significant and indelible mark on the community with hundreds of hours of community service and their unqualified commitment to the City and its residents.

Attention Mt. Eden High School students

SUBMITTED BY ANNA LAVERIA MAY

Make history as the first ever high school student to attend the Leadership Hayward program! The Mt. Eden High School Alumni Association & Educational Foundation Leadership Hayward Scholarship applications for the 2015-2016 graduating class are due by 5 p.m. on November 2. Leadership Hayward features eight monthly one-day sessions, from November through June. Each session will focus on a general topic presented by experts. Topics include team building, heritage and cultural awareness; economic and public policy; community design and transportation; health and human services; education; arts and recreation; public safety and disaster preparedness; and public facilities. Participants receive professional development credit from the Continuing Education, University Extension Division of California State University, East Bay (CSUEB). The June graduation luncheon concludes with the mayor's State of the City address and is attended by local and state elected officials and other dignitaries. Approximately 20 individuals participate each year, representing a cross section of Hayward's diverse private and public sectors, cultures and age groups. Participants have included bankers, retailers, restaurateurs, teachers, professors, police officers, firefighters, medical personnel, nonprofit staff, and city employees. Businesses have been represented by executives, managers and staff. The selection criteria includes a commitment to Hayward's well-being, to regular attendance and active participation. For further information or to obtain a registration form, call (510) 886-2662.

Vision Zero traffic safety policy

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

On September 15, the Fremont City Council adopted the Vision Zero traffic safety policy goal of eliminating traffic fatalities by facilitating safer streets, safer travel behaviors, and safer vehicles. The Vision Zero concept was first initiated in 1997 by Sweden and has since been adopted by other European countries and more recently, U.S. cities such as New York, San Francisco, and San Jose. The best practices identified in the Vision Zero programs include focusing on the 4E's of safety: Evaluation, Engineering, Enforcement, and Education. The City of Fremont is already implementing many of the best practices and is rated among the safest cities in California and the nation for relatively low rates of traffic fatalities and injury crashes. City staff will prepare a "Vision Zero Fremont" status report and action plan for completion in early 2016. For more information about the Vision Zero Fremont policy, please contact Sheila Marquises via SMarquises@fremont.gov or (510) 494-4747.

Interacting with cattle workshop

SUBMITTED BY GWEN MITCHELL/ANNE CHANG

The County of Santa Clara Department of Parks and Recreation is hosting a public workshop to talk about natural resources management, cattle behavior, livestock operations, and techniques for improving visitor safety and protecting park resources.

Park staff, ranchers, and livestock and range management experts from the County of Santa Clara Department of Parks and Recreation and other agencies will participate in the workshop on Saturday, October 17 at Coyote Lake-Harvey Bear County Park in San Martin.

County parks with livestock grazing host over a million visitors per year. Research conducted by the UC Cooperative Extension indicates negative interactions between livestock and people occur, but are relatively infrequent (less than 7 interactions annually). However, with negative publicity, many people have expressed their fear of encountering a large animal on a trail. This workshop will help park visitors better understand livestock and cattle behavior and learn proper ways to approach cattle when encountering them on a trail.

Under a policy approved by the County Board of Supervisors in 1992, cattle are grazed by private ranchers on four county parks. Currently, a total of 11,015 acres of county parklands are open for grazing. Barbeque will be provided by a local rancher after the workshop. Workshop information and other Parks and Recreation activities can be found on the website at www.ParkHere.org.

Nominations open for Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY

Nominations are now being accepted for the Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame, which each year honors extraordinary local women and celebrates their contributions to the community. Honorees will be celebrated at the 23rd Annual Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame luncheon and awards ceremony in Oakland in March 2016. Once again, the event will be co-hosted by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and the Alameda County Commission on the Status of Women.

Nominations are being accepted for outstanding women in 12 categories: Business and Professions; Community Service; Culture and Art; Education; Environment; Health; Justice; Non-Traditional Careers; Science, Technology, Engineering; Sports and Athletics; Philanthropy and Youth.

The deadline to submit nominations is December 11, 2015.

Award for anti-trafficking outreach

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY

The County of Alameda and the Alameda County District Attorney’s Office are proud to receive the 2015 Savvy Silver Circle Award for the outstanding community outreach component of the DA’s Office’s HEAT (Human Exploitation And Trafficking) Watch program.

The accolade was awarded by the City-County Communications and Marketing Association (3CMA) at their annual conference in Atlanta. The HEAT Watch outreach efforts, that included an effective billboard and social media campaign, won in the category for Most Innovative.

“The Alameda County District Attorney’s Office is proud to receive this 2015 Savvy Silver Circle Award for work in combating human trafficking in our community and beyond.” Alameda County District Attorney Nancy O’Malley said

Since its inception in 1993, over 200 women have been inducted into the Women’s Hall of Fame. In addition to honoring extraordinary women leaders from Alameda County, the annual event raises funds to provide youth scholarships and helps support local non-profit community partners serving women, youth and families. Last year, the WHOF supported four local community partners and awarded $2000 scholarships to two high school seniors to assist with their college expenses – Farmaan Judge of Fremont and Jenny Fang of San Leandro.

Advanced Manufacturing Meets 21st Century Urbanism:Welcome to the Warm Springs Innovation District

BY CHRISTINA BRIGGS, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT MANAGER

As population and employment in the Bay Area continues to grow, Fremont’s Warm Springs Innovation District will be an important regional partner in providing transit connected growth and vitality. One way Fremont participates regionally is through the new Regional Economic Development Initiative “REDI” spearheaded by the Silicon Valley Chamber, which is focused on the following strategic industries: health technology, agile development & manufacturing, smart building, and transportation research & development. On October 13, 2015, the Silicon Valley Business Journal and the San Jose Silicon Valley Chamber of Commerce will host the inaugural Regional Economic Development Initiative (REDI) Summit.

You can read more background on Warm Springs in the following summary, which was originally printed on July 31, 2015 in Silicon Valley Business Journal’s Redefining What it Means to be a Silicon Valley City Advertising Supplement on page 6.

Fremont’s Warm Springs Innovation District, in its ideal Silicon Valley location, sits on the edge of arguably the most innovative region in the world and is poised to become a vital zone for 21st century American industrial production. In 2014, the Fremont City Council adopted its Warm Springs/South Fremont Community Plan, which envisions an Innovation District and a significant regional opportunity for employment-focused, transit-oriented mixed-use development in South Fremont.

Warm Springs:A Bird’s Eye View

The 850-acre area is anchored by the Tesla Motors factory and a new BART station, expected to be operational by the end of the year. Now, historically vacant/underutilized industrial land is positioned to accommodate 4,000 new housing units, 10 million square feet of new commercial space, and up to 20,000 jobs over time. A look at the BART line, from downtown Oakland to the future end of the line at Berryessa in San Jose, reveals that Warm Springs is the only station that can accommodate a major employment center south of Oakland.

Who’s Claiming a Piece of the Pie?

Real estate developers and corporate users have already lined up. Medical device giant, ThermoFisher Scientific, just completed the construction of a brand new 200,000-square-foot manufacturing facility. Lennar’s approved master plan includes a mix of high density residential units, commercial/office/R&D space, a new elementary school, and significant backbone infrastructure on 110 acres north of the Tesla Factory. Toll Brothers and Valley Oak Partners are also proposing large residential development projects near the BART station.

A Sustainable Vision

All this activity is based upon an award-winning Community Plan—a document that serves as the roadmap for how Warm Springs will evolve over time. The plan has been well-received, thanks to the City’s steadfast focus on strategic urbanism, and pays particular attention to transit, land use flexibility, establishing an exciting and dynamic public realm, and incorporating a sustainable design.

Fast Forward Ten Years from Now...

The graphic rendering shows how the Warm Springs area will transform over the next decade, including active streetscapes and taller buildings that take advantage of the views of Mission Peak.

Online payment available for Delinquent Property Taxes

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY

On September 10, the Treasurer-Tax Collector’s Office launched the online payment option for Secured Delinquent Property Taxes. Credit cards and ACH payments are now accepted through the website: <http://acgov.org/propertytax/online.htm>. A convenience fee will be charged for each online payment transaction.

The newly added payment option is for “full payment only” on these accounts:

Installment Plan Accounts
Escape Plan Accounts
Secured Delinquent Accounts
Utility Bills

Some accounts may not be payable online due to account restrictions and account status, like Bankruptcy and Subject to Sale, therefore, taxpayers must call the Treasurer-Tax Collector’s Office at (510) 272-6800 for the account balance.

OPINION

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Vision Collision

profitability, integration with existing infrastructure and neighborhoods as defined by market demand.

Planning Commissions say they are right to approve developments that adhere to building codes and guidelines created by planners.

City Councils say they are right when advised by staff and planning commissions to approve construction.

The Public says it is right to determine whether developments actually meet codes and the vision of its community in both short term and long term perspectives.

Who is right? It may be that they all are, but without a proper balance between them, development focus is skewed, ending up with a patchwork result that satisfies no one.

An example of vision collision is the Walnut Avenue development proposed close to the existing Fremont BART station. Within a virtual radius of Transit Oriented Development (TOD), planners are anxious to “densify to the sky” and developers are more than ready to please them. Towers of housing are planned, but in context with the surrounding neighborhood and questions of infrastructure including schools, streets, traffic and compatibility, a vision collision is cause for concern.

Which vision is most compatible? What does the General Plan have to do with this if it is modified with almost every development? Is it true that those living in TOD's will have fewer cars and need less parking? How will such developments impact infrastructure including utilities, streets and schools? Does future planning allow a transition from present needs and requirements? Can planners force change by allowing developments that can satisfy future needs although inadequate for the present? Citizen concerns are not only relevant but critical when determining the shape of the future. Vision collisions may be inevitable but stakeholders in the process should be aware that their perspective is just one of many to consider.

William Marshak
PUBLISHER

In Fremont, battles have erupted over the best path for growth. Voices from neighborhoods can be heard claiming their vision is best for community wellbeing. The City points to its General Plan as a guiding vision that was formed through a lengthy process including community engagement. Yet, many developments are created by modifications of the document. Who is right?

City planners say they are right. Their perspective is of an integrated community based on long term objectives satisfied by many short term adjustments. Each project may not fit into the current scheme, but they claim that eventually it will all come together as a strategically urban city

Developers say they are right since each project is constrained by economic forces that shape what is possible within governmental guidelines. They “pencil it out” to find the proper balance between

Clean Energy Jobs Act Citizens Oversight Board elects Chair and Vice Chair

SUBMITTED BY AMBER BECK

Hosted by the California Energy Commission, the Clean Energy Jobs Act (Proposition 39) Citizens Oversight Board, on September 8, elected Kate Gordon as board chair and James Ray as vice chair. The six board members in attendance were joined by the two ex-officio members, Energy Commission Chair Robert B. Weisenmiller and California Public Utilities Commission President Michael Picker.

Approved by voters in 2012, Proposition 39 adjusted the corporate income tax code, allocating projected revenues to California's General Fund and the Clean Energy Job Creation Fund for five fiscal years, beginning with fiscal year 2013-14. In addition to the Energy Commission, the California Conservation Corps, California Workforce Development Board, and the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office each administer stand-alone but complementary programs funded by Proposition 39's Clean Energy Job Creation Fund.

Members of the Citizens Oversight Board are appointed by the California Treasurer, Attorney General and Controller with two ex-officio members from the Energy Commission and the California Public Utilities Commission. The members are:

Appointed by former state Treasurer Bill Lockyer:

Steven Sakurai, chief financial officer of the Yocha Dehe Wintun Nation and adjunct professor at Sacramento State University, where he teaches a graduate course on sustainable development and green building.

James “Walkie” Ray, an engineer and partner at Sanderson J. Ray Development and a member of the boards of directors of the One World One Ocean Foundation, the M.I.N.D. Research Institute and the Taco Bell Discovery Science Center.

Kate Gordon, vice chair for climate and sustainable urbanization at The Paulson Institute. Gordon previously served as vice president and director of the Energy and Climate Program for Next Generation and as vice president of the Energy Environment at the Center for American Progress.

Appointed by Attorney General Kamala D. Harris:

Arno Harris, former chief executive officer of Recurrent Energy, one of North America's largest solar project developers.

Randall Martinez, executive vice president and chief operating officer of Cordoba Corporation, a consulting firm that specializes in infrastructure development by providing civil engineering, project and construction management services.

Chelina Odbert, co-founder and executive director of Kounkuey Design Initiative, a partnership specializing in architecture, landscape architecture and urban planning to create open spaces that link physical upgrading to community development.

Appointed by former State Controller John Chiang:

Dana Cuff, professor of architecture and urban design at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Gary Kremen, clean technology engineer, entrepreneur and inventor. Kremen is also the president of the Purissima Hills Water District.

Erik Emblem, executive administrator and chief operating officer of the Western States Council-Sheet Metal Workers in Sacramento.

Granite Ridge project

CORRECTION:

It has come to our attention that we erred in our Letter to the Editor published in the September 29th edition [Tri-City Voice], and misidentified the 2 yay votes in favor of the Granite Ridge project.

We said:

“We also watched as the only two “yes” votes to the Granite Ridge project, David Bonaccorsi and Raj Salwan, recused themselves from the following proceedings on the Mission/Stevenson development due to campaign contributions from the developers.”

We should have said:

“We also watched as David Bonaccorsi and Raj Salwan recused themselves from the following proceedings on the Mission/Stevenson development due to campaign contributions from the developers.”

We most sincerely apologize for this error and would like to apologize to Dr Salwan.

Alameda County Arts Leadership Awards

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY

The Alameda County Arts Commission is pleased to recognize six individuals for their achievements and contributions impacting the arts community and residents of Alameda County. The following individuals are the recipients of the 2015 Alameda County Arts Leadership Award: Bernice R. Bates, Sarah Crowell, Susan Dunn, Chris Johnson, Judy Lam, and Paul Ruma.

Judy Lam of Fremont, representing Supervisorial District One: Ms. Judy Lam is the founder and director of Virtuoso International Flute Ensemble in Fremont. She has directed various flute ensembles, chamber groups, choruses, and musicals, many of which featured her original ensemble arrangements for flutes, strings, and chorus. For the past seven years, through Virtuoso International Flute Ensemble, she has dedicated over 15 concerts to support and benefit over 10 local nonprofit organizations and numerous community events. She serves as a band consultant for the Advanced Elementary Band at Hopkins Junior High School in Fremont. She conducts free lessons for members of Fremont’s Friends of Children with Special Needs. Ms. Lam also serves on the board of directors of the Citizens for Better Community celebrating Fremont’s Chinese American community and culture.

Paul Ruma of Union City, representing Supervisorial District Two: Mr. Paul “Paulskeee” Ruma is the founder and director of Mighty4 Arts Foundation, an organization dedicated to preserving history, advancing artistry, and empowering youth through Hip Hop cultural arts. Since 1998, Mr. Ruma has had international impact in over 40 cities worldwide by providing education about Hip Hop culture through community-based events, classes, workshops, and documentary productions. Mr.

Ruma is an accomplished “B-Boy” dancer who led his group Rock Force Crew to the Battle of the Year world championship of Breakdancing in 1998 representing the USA taking first place and continues to receive numerous international awards. He continues to educate communities and inspires young people to get involved in social action, civic service, cultural creativity, and self-education.

Susan Dunn of the City of Alameda, representing Supervisorial District Three: Ms. Susan Dunn is a community leader who devotes her time to supporting and providing arts and cultural community activities with a special emphasis on the City of Alameda.

Bernice R. Bates of Oakland, representing Supervisorial District Four: Mrs. Bernice Bates is the choir director of the East Oakland Senior Center Performing Arts Choir. The choir members range in age from 55-95 years of age.

Chris Johnson of Oakland, representing Supervisorial District Four: Mr. Chris Johnson is the founder of Question Bridge: Black Males, an organization that provides a forum for dialogue among black men and new opportunities for understanding and healing.

Sarah Crowell of Oakland, representing Supervisorial District Five: Ms. Sarah Crowell is currently the artistic director for Destiny Arts Center, a nonprofit organization focused on providing dance, theater and martial arts programs with the mission to end isolation, prejudice and violence in the lives of young people.

Award recipients were selected based on their achievements within the arts field and their contributions to the community.

For more information about the program or the award recipients, please contact the Alameda County Arts Commission at (510) 208-9646 or by email at artscommission@acgov.org

Walking campaign

SUBMITTED BY CAROLYN JONES

The East Bay Regional Park District applauds the U.S. Surgeon General’s recent call to action for Americans to walk more. Walking is a “simple, effective and affordable way to build physical activity into our lives,” said Surgeon General Dr. Vivek Murthy as part of her Step It Up! campaign.

The East Bay Regional Park District offers 1,250 miles of trails, many of them wheelchair accessible, throughout Alameda and Contra Costa counties. The District also maintains paved, regional trails that link major parks, cities, BART stations, schools and other East Bay landmarks, allowing thousands of residents to forego their cars and walk or bike to their destinations. In addition, the Park District has been a strong supporter of the international Healthy Parks Healthy People initiative to encourage park use as a way to improve health.

Trails Challenge is another popular Park District offering, an annual list of 20 recommended hikes of varying difficulties throughout the District. Participants get a T-shirt, trail guide and commemorative pin.

For more information about the East Bay Regional Park District and its hundreds of programs, go to www.ebparks.org.

Obituary

James Phillip McRhoads, Jr.

James Phillip McRhoads, Jr., was a beloved local resident from 1984 to the date of his passing, September 8th, 2015. He and his wife, Terri, initially moved to Newark, and then bought their home in Union City two years later. Jim and Terri were regulars at many local restaurants, including Baldie’s Café in Union City, Cabrillo Café in Fremont, and My Café in Newark. When going out to eat, Jim was often mistaken for Santa Claus by children near Christmas time. He played along and asked them what they wanted for Christmas, then told them to be good. He could also pass for a Viking, and dressed in a helmet with horns for Halloween. He was known for his sense of humor as well as his warmth and caring.

Jim started life at Fort Bragg, North Carolina in an army family on December 9th, 1953. Six months later, his family went to Tokyo, Japan, where he lived until he was four. The family then moved to Germany until Jim was 11, where he was a Wolf Scout. He was able to visit several European countries while there, along with his father, James Sr., his mother, Connie, and his siblings, Donna Theresa (now called Terry), Debi, Mike and Kathy.

With this world view, Jim moved back to the United States and lived in Salinas from 1964 to 1978. He worked at a variety of jobs while going to High School and college there, including lettuce picking, appliance delivery and selling shoes. He also belonged to a circle of friends that engaged in creative writing and produced art work. Jim did pen-and-ink drawings, and also had his poems published in “Ally,” a local publication edited by Joe Drucker.

In 1976, Jim began to work in his father’s Exxon Service Station in San Jose, CA. During this time, he met his wife, Terri, by walking up to her at the Hyatt lunch counter and saying, “excuse me – what are you doing Sunday?” Terri replied, “nothing, why?” Jim then said “would you like to get married?” Terri replied, “Sure. What time?” Jim did not know what to say to that and sat down at the other end of the L-shaped lunch counter. Terri noticed that Jim was reading an intellectual book, and was also exchanging jokes with the busboys and servers. This was an appealing combination. Terri worked across the street from where Jim worked and they both continued to come to the lunch counter every day after that. After about two weeks of Jim and Terri sitting at opposite ends of the lunch counter and looking at each other but not talking, the waitress behind the counter took matters into her own hands. She took Jim’s salad and marched it down to set it next to Terri. Jim followed. After some exchange of conversation over the next few days, Jim said to Terri, “so, when are you inviting me over for dinner?” Terri invited Jim over, but called her roommate, Darlene, and said, “You’d better stay – he’s kind of weird.” Terri’s pot-roast sealed the deal, and Jim and Terri were married December 19th, 1981, a year and three months after they met, in a double wedding with his brother.

After the Exxon station was removed from the Hyatt property to make room for more parking, Jim began to work at North First Chevron, where he was the managing partner. He worked there for 23 years. In the mid 2000’s Jim also worked at Temco in Fremont, CA, as a Sales Engineer, selling power generating equipment.

Jim and Terri moved from the San Jose area to Newark in 1984 when they bought their first house. They adopted their first daughter, Molly Christine McRhoads, when she was born on November 30th, 1985. In 1986, they bought a larger home in Union City, and adopted another daughter, Emily Roxanne McRhoads, when she was born on March 22nd, 1991.

Jim and Terri took their children and nieces and nephews with them on many trips to Disneyland, San Francisco, and most often, to their church campgrounds in the Santa Cruz redwoods called Happy Valley. Though the children, nieces and nephews are grown, they still refer to these times as among their happiest. Jim was an active church member and he and Terri attended the local congregation every Sunday and Wednesday.

He also volunteered at the Fremont Children’s Peace Pavilion at Paseo Padre Pkwy. and north end of Fremont Blvd., where school children are taken to tour the interactive exhibits promoting Peace for Me, Peace for Us, Peace for Everyone and Peace for the Planet.

After Jim’s career was completed, he took on a new role – grandpa. He was a primary caregiver to his grandson, Kyle, along with his sister, Kathy. He and Terri enjoyed living in a multi-generational household.

Jim and Terri took cruises to Mexico in 2004 and 2007, and completed a month-long trip around the United States in 2014 to see old friends and family. They also took short trips within Northern California this year to see friends and family that they had not seen for some time. Even though time had passed since previous visits, it was as though they had all seen each other yesterday – the relationships picked right up where they left off.

Jim passed on to his reward on September 8th, 2015. His Celebration of Life is at 11:00 am on Saturday, October 10th, 2015, at the Community of Christ, 34050 Paseo Padre Pkwy., Fremont, CA, 94555. Anyone that knew Jim is encouraged to attend. The memorial website is www.fremontchapeloftheroses.com

MetalFest aims to make a difference

Bands4Bands, in association with Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (HARD), presents the 9th annual "MetalFest" on Saturday, October 10 at Hayward Memorial Park Amphitheater. This free community event features nine heavy metal bands, including Desecrater, Star Destroyer, Soulless Demise, AOD, Mystic Rage, Cryptic Ruins, Disrupt the Paradigm, Fortress, and this year's headliner, Hemlock. Vendors will be onsite offering T-shirts, jewelry, and barbeque; a metal psychic will be featured as well as The Salvation Army vehicle and more. The event will also serve as a canned food drive, so any support from the community will be greatly appreciated.

"Bands4Bands has been going since 1997 and we decided we should try and make a difference in our community. The concept came about with the negative stereotype metal music and metal musicians have in today's society. We are trying to show that this genre can do good things in their community and for charity," stated Pete Schaaphok of Bands4Bands. The event is attended by about a thousand enthusiasts throughout the day, and the organization collected six barrels of canned food last year. With your help, they are hoping to collect eight barrels this year.

Hemlock is a four-member, heavy metal band from Las Vegas, NV. They are currently touring their latest recording effort, "Mouth of the Swine." Schaaphok raves, "Hemlock will bring one of the best, energetic shows you will ever see that will make you a fan for life!" The event is sponsored by HARD, Carlene's T-Shirt Corner, Music Depot, Into the Pit, East Bay Express, The Salvation Army, Abbott Audio, Quick Printing Center and Infiniart. Be a hope FUSSilitator

SUBMITTED BY FREMONT UNIFIED STUDENT STORE

By providing a platform for students to share their talents, ideas, dreams, skills and experiences, Fremont Unified Student Store (FUSS) hopes to help students see the uniqueness and potential in their being, and find the meaning and purpose of their life. When they see themselves in this light, there will be hope for them to live their lives to the fullest despite hardships and trials.

Not only would they find joy and peace in the journey of hope, they could also become blessings to others.

One way to bring hope is to be an encourager or what we call a "Hope FUSSilitator." FUSS invites everyone to be a Hope FUSSilitator by going to our website at www.fuss4schools.org/be-a-hope-fussilitator/ and help in the following ways:

1) Design a greeting card that can brighten up someone's day, and

2) Contact us so that a greeting can be shared with that special person.

Please feel free to join us at our regular meetings to learn more about ways to support Fremont Unified School District students and schools. FUSS meetings are generally held on the fourth Thursday of each month during regular school year from 6 p.m. – 7:30 p.m. at DMCA Bookstore. For more information, visit www.fuss4schools.org/contact-us.

Friday, September 25

Officers investigated a window smash burglary at a business located on the 34700 block of Ardenwood Boulevard. Loss was cash from the register. Case was investigated by Ofc. Wong and Field Training Officer (FTO) Foster.

A 1997 black Toyota Avalon (California license #4NAJ625) was stolen from the 39800 block of Sundale Drive. Case was investigated by Ofc. Ehling.

At approximately 12:40 p.m., a vehicle was broken into on the 43600 block of Pacific Commons Boulevard. Possible suspect vehicle was an older gold Ford Taurus or similar (possibly a Buick). Suspects were described as two black males. Case was investigated by Ofc. Chinn.

An unknown suspect pointed a silver handgun at the clerk of Kwik and Convenient Market on Walnut Street and stole cash from the register. Case was investigated by Ofc. Hartman.

Saturday, September 26

Ofc. Chinn investigated the theft of a vehicle. After about two hours, East Bay Regional Park District air unit received a LoJack hit and assisted Fremont units in locating the vehicle occupied by the suspect. A 51-year-old adult male, Fremont resident, was arrested.

Officers investigated a residential burglary on the 100 block of Totem Court. Suspects forcibly entered a house under construction and stole the contractor's tools. Case was investigated by Community Service Officer (CSO) Baca.

Officers investigated a commercial burglary that occurred on Kato Road. The victim reported that the storage unit in the rear of the business was burglarized. Case was investigated by Ofc. Meredith

Sunday, September 27

At 7:24 p.m., an in-progress commercial burglary was called in on Encyclopedia Circle. The caller advised he had just installed video surveillance after his business was recently burglarized and was watching a suspect attempt entry again. Officers arrived and the suspect was gone.

An attempt residential burglary occurred on Ariel Avenue. A male suspect attempted to open the door to the residence and was seen in the rear yard. The suspect was described as a Hispanic male adult, 20-30 years old with short brown hair, 5'10", medium build and wearing gray hooded sweatshirt. Case was investigated by Ofc. L. Kennedy.

A resident returns home after approximately 45 minutes to find their rear patio door smashed on the 34300 block of Tupelo Street. Loss is computer products. Case was investigated by CSO Potter.

Monday, September 28

A strong-arm robbery occurred at Chevron gas station, located on the 43600 block of S. Grimmer Boulevard. An unknown suspect asked the victim for gas money, and when the victim pulled out her wallet, the suspect grabbed the wallet and fled. Suspect was described as an unknown race male, approximately 16-17 years old, wearing a white/black shirt and jeans.

Tuesday, September 29

A resident on Donalbain Circle awoke to the sound of breaking glass. The resident searched her house and found her rear sliding glass door was shattered and footprints were within the house. Officers arrived and conducted a protective sweep of the residence, which ended in negative results. Items within the house appeared to have been moved, but nothing was reported stolen.

Ofc. Collins investigated a suspicious fire at an auto repair business located in the 41500 block of Albrae Street. The reporting party stated a male subject wearing a mask set the business on fire and was last seen fleeing southbound on Albrae Street. The fire was extinguished by Fremont Fire and is under investigation. Ofc. Collins will continue the investigation for further leads.

Wednesday, September 30

At 8:15 am, two unidentified suspects drove into a parking lot at 5 Corners, located at Washington Boulevard and Fremont Boulevard, and exited an unreported stolen vehicle. The suspects then gained entry into another vehicle in the parking lot that did not belong to them. The car alarm eventually sounded and the two fled the area on foot west through the parking lot toward Fremont Boulevard and out of sight. Suspect #1: white male adult, 30s, about 6' tall, 190 lbs. and has shoulder length blonde hair. Suspect #2: white or light skinned Hispanic male adult, 30s, about 5' 9" tall, 200 lbs., with dark hair with a buzz cut.

NEWARK PD

Editor's Note: Swiss Park Manager Robert Fuchslin reports that in the September 29th edition of Tri-City Voice, the Newark Police Log implies a "riot of 500 persons" at Swiss Park. In fact, the log and report in Tri-City Voice indicates that although an initial call from security reported that number, when officers arrived to assist, "approximately 10 people were ejected." The report concludes, "The event remained open, allowing the large crowd to slowly leave the area peacefully."

Monday, September 21

At 2:35 p.m., officers were dispatched to a report of a suspicious person in the area of 6017 Morning Glory Ct. Upon arrival officers were approached by numerous neighbors who advised that the occupants of the house are possibly manufacturing and/or selling drugs. They provided information regarding vehicles coming and going all hours of the night, subjects dropping large plastic drums, and pedestrians throwing backpacks over the side fence of the residence during the overnight hours. Officers contacted six people inside the residence, all of whom are well known to Newark Police Department. A 46-year-old male from Newark was arrested for possession of dangerous drugs. The homeowner was contacted and he advised he was in the process of evicting the occupants. As of Monday, September 28, 2015, the occupants have all moved out of the residence.

Tuesday, September 22

At 7:30 a.m., Ofc. Allum attempted to stop a vehicle on Cherry Street, but the driver continued for several blocks until he was forced to stop due to heavy traffic on Cedar Boulevard at Birch Street. Ofc. Allum noticed the driver had a pistol in the vehicle. The driver was detained without incident and identified as a 30-year-old male from San Lorenzo. The pistol turned out to be a realistic-looking BB gun. In the end, Hodges was charged with convicted felon in possession of ammunition, possession of stolen property, parole violation, evading a police officer, reckless driving, and driving on a suspended drivers license. He was booked at Santa Rita Jail.

Thursday, September 24

At 2:48 p.m., Ofc. Horst responded to Macy's for two shoplifters in custody. Ofc. Horst subsequently arrested a 29-year-old female from Newark and a 32-year-old female from San Jose for grand theft. They were both transported to Fremont Jail.

Friday, September 25

At 8:06 p.m., Ofc. Smith investigated a stolen blue 1996 Acura Integra (CA license # 4FML619) from the Newark Pavilion parking lot, located at 6430 Thornton Ave., that occurred between 8:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

At 10:33 p.m., Ofc. Khairy investigated a robbery that occurred in the NewPark Mall lower Macy's parking lot that occurred at approximately 10:00 p.m. Two adult males in their mid-late 20s exited a white sedan and approached the victim, who was waiting for friends to pick her up. One of the suspects was carrying a dark, short-barreled handgun. He was described as having long braids or dreads and wearing all black clothing. The second suspect had short hair and was wearing a white t-shirt and blue jeans. They demanded her purse and cell phone. The suspects fled in the sedan toward McDonald's on Mowry Avenue.

The vehicle had a driver other than the two suspects.

Saturday, September 26

At 11:28 p.m., officers responded to a fight in progress involving 20 people at a residence in the 37000 block of Laurel Street. Upon arrival, the first officers on scene could hear screaming and items being thrown coming from inside the residence. Officers initially encountered five people outside the front door of the residence. One person, later identified as a 40-year-old male from San Jose, was arrested for failing to obey the lawful orders of an officer. With clenched fists, he walked determinedly toward officers disregarding all commands to stop. After several attempts to negotiate with him and the male failing to coherently respond, he was forcibly detained. As all of this was occurring the chaos inside the residence continued. Several times while officers were dealing with the uncooperative male, residents came outside telling officers that they needed to get inside the residence. Officers were finally able to gain the cooperation of the residents and guests. The 40-year-old male was arrested, medically cleared and transported to Santa Rita Jail.

Sunday, September 27

At 9:13 a.m., officers responded to a request for a welfare check at 6280 Wilma Ave. The reporting party stated that he is aware of an elderly woman living at the home who is watched over by a caregiver. The caller stated he could hear a woman screaming that she wanted to kill someone. Ofc. Losier contacted the caregiver, a 45-year-old Newark resident, and arrested her for her no-cite, under the influence of drugs warrant. He also spoke with the elderly female and confirmed she was in good health and spirits. Another occupant of the home remained on scene to provide her care.

CORRECTED NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF RAJENDRA PRASAD A/K/A REGINALD PRASAD CASE NO. RP15784533

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Rajendra Prasada a/k/a Reginald Prasad
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Raval Jason Prasad a/k/a Jason Prasad in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.
The Petition for Probate requests that Raval Jason Prasad a/k/a Jason Prasad be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on October 14, 2015 at 9:30 a.m. in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King, Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704.
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH, CASHIER'S CHECK, DRAWN ON A STATE, OR NATIONAL BANK, A CHECK DRAWN BY A STATE OR FEDERAL CREDIT UNION, OR A CHECK DRAWN BY A STATE OR FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, A SAVINGS ASSOCIATION OR SAVINGS BANK SPECIFIED IN SECTION 5102 OF THE FINANCIAL CODE AND AUTHORIZED TO DO BUSINESS IN THIS STATE: All right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described as: More fully described in said Deed of Trust. Street Address or other common designation of real property: 4551 Wheeler Dr, Fremont, CA 94538-1935 A.P.N.: 531-0029-082-00. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $ 578,731.36. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary of the Deed of Trust has executed and delivered to the undersigned a written request to commence foreclosure, and the undersigned caused a title of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may have more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property. NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE NOTE: Because the Beneficiary reserves the right to bid less than the total debt owed, it is possible that at the time of the sale the opening bid may be less than the total debt. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.allsource.com/MortgageServices/DefaultManagement/TrusteeServices.aspx> using the file number assigned to this case 2014-08785-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Mosquito adulticiding used to suppress West Nile Virus activity

SUBMITTED BY ALAMEDA CTY
MOSQUITO ABATEMENT DISTRICT

Mosquitoes infected with West Nile virus have been detected in traps placed near Skywest Golf Course and Oro Loma Sanitary District. In response, the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District applied Pyrenone 25-5 Public Health Insecticide on Thursday, October 1.

To date in Alameda County, 15 West Nile virus positive dead birds, and 11 groups of positive mosquitoes have been detected. No human cases have been reported. The District continues its surveillance and larval control program throughout the county. Residents are urged to be proactive by eliminating sources of water where mosquitoes can breed and protecting themselves from mosquito bites. If you come across a dead bird please report it by calling (877) WNV-BIRD or on-line at www.westnile.ca.gov.

For information about mosquitoes, West Nile virus, or the fogging operation please visit www.mosquitoes.org. Residents can request mosquito-fish for their fish ponds, horse troughs, etc. by contacting the Abatement District office in Hayward at 23187 Connecticut St., or calling (510)783-7744.

Grand opening event for Capitol Avenue in Downtown Fremont

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

The City of Fremont invites the community to the Capitol Avenue Grand Opening Event in Downtown Fremont on Friday, October 16. The event will be held at the corner of Fremont Boulevard and the new Capitol Avenue extension.

The celebration of the extension from Capitol Avenue to Fremont Boulevard will include the unveiling of Heartfullness, Downtown Fremont's newest temporary art in public places. Heartfullness is a 12 foot by 15 foot steel sculpture of a heart that debuted at Burning Man. Its symbolic nature represents Downtown Fremont as the “social heartbeat” of the city and Capitol Avenue as its gateway to Fremont’s “Main Street.”

After the grand opening ceremony, the community is invited to walk the multi-modal street to view its innovative features, including unique screen walls that enhance the pedestrian experience, bike lanes, free public parking, a landscaped median, street lights with solar powered electrical receptacles, and 10-15 foot sidewalks with street trees and additional landscaping. This project kicked off in September 2014 with the Downtown on the Rise Demolition Celebration, where the community watched the demolition of a three-story office building, allowing for the critical connection of Capitol Avenue to Fremont Boulevard.

To carry on the festive atmosphere into the evening, stay for Fremont Street Eats, our gourmet food truck event produced by the Fremont Chamber of Commerce and Food Truck Mafia. Event parking will be available in the lot between Fremont Bank and The Original Pancake House.

For more information about the Capitol Avenue Grand Opening Event, please contact Alina Kwak via email at (510) 284-4014.

Preparation for Niles Canyon Environmental Impact report

SUBMITTED BY NILES CANYON PROJECTS

The Niles Canyon Safety Improvements Project proposes to implement multiple spot safety improvements on State Route 84 from Mission Boulevard to Interstate 680. The California Department of Public Transportation (Caltrans) is offering individuals and organizations the opportunity to identify the scope of the environmental studies being conducted for the project. Members of the public are encouraged to submit written comments to Caltrans. All comments must be received by 5 p.m. on Friday, October 30, 2015. Please submit written comments to Cal-trans District 4, 111 Grand Avenue, MS 8B, Oakland, CA 94612 Attn: Liz White, or via email to nilescanyonprojects@dot.ca.gov

Additionally, a public scoping meeting will be held to solicit comments on the scope of environmental studies. The primary purpose of the scoping meeting is to provide updated information about the safety improvements planned to date and considerations in forming the range of possible alternatives to be evaluated in the EIR/EA. The meeting will include a brief presentation at 6:30 p.m. followed by an opportunity to provide verbal or written comments to Caltrans staff.

Is Hayward prepared for natural disasters?

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF HAYWARD

Rolling hills, gorgeous coastline, and wide open spaces make Hayward an amazing, unique place to live. But they also leave us vulnerable to earthquakes, floods, sea level rise and wildfires - natural disasters that threaten to permanently disrupt our way of life.

The City of Hayward cares deeply about the safety of our residents, families, homes and jobs. We know that the big one's coming. When it does, we want to be ready and we need your help. Take our Local Hazard Mitigation Plan Survey and tell us what matters most to you so we can be prepared to protect it. Visit www.surveymonkey.com/t/HaywardLHMP to participate.

Lawn to garden parties

SUBMITTED BY JEANNE NADER

Not like any other lawn party – this one gives you a chance to help convert a lawn into a garden using sheet mulch, all in one day! Sheet mulching your lawn into a garden will help your soil withstand the drought AND El Nino.

We'll be supporting a local homeowner as they transform their front yard. StopWaste educators will be on hand, along with nursery staff and Bay-Friendly Qualified Designers to guide us as we sheet mulch and plant the new gardens. This is a great opportunity to see the whole process, from curb cutting, prep, actual sheet mulching and planting. Participants will learn about lawn conversion rebates as well as drought tolerant plant choices.

After participating in one of these lawn parties, Alameda County attendees will be eligible to receive a FREE one-hour of design assistance from a Bay-Friendly Qualified Designer if they host their own sheet mulch party.

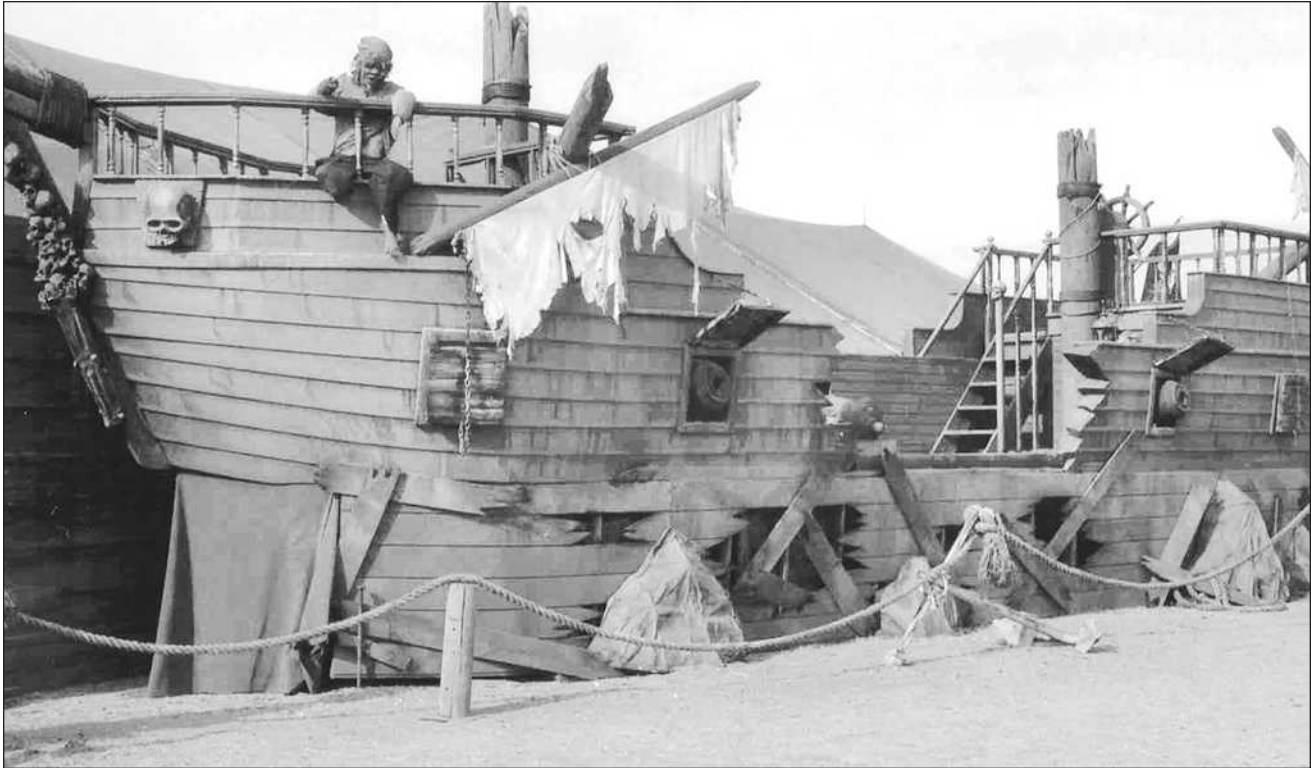

At the end of each event, there will be a drawing for complimentary sheet mulch materials and other garden gifts and plants. Please register @ www.stopwaste.org/lawnparty so that we have a head count for tasty seasonal snacks and tools and to receive location details.

These free, educational events are made possible by Stop-Waste with support from Chrysalis Gardens, Alameda County Water District, Evergreen Nursery and Vision Recycling.

PIRATES PROMISE A HAUNTED OCTOBER

With Halloween upon us, the Alameda County Fairgrounds readies itself for the pirates' return. "Pirates of Emerson" is back beginning Saturday, October 3 to deliver a frightful October to those who dare enter the fairgrounds. Dubbed as the "haunted themed park," this Bay Area Halloween tradition will feature five thrilling haunted attractions such as the Cursed Cavern, Demonic Voodoo, The Haunted, Mental Maze, and the original Pirates of Emerson.

In addition to haunted attractions, other events include Nightmare Sideshow, Boneball, Misfortune Teller, Emerson's Oddities, and other nightly entertainment. Tatseena's Serpent Sirens will dance their way to the fairgrounds to provide entertainment, along with KaHooLaw Hooping. The Great Richy Bee will leave the audience in awe as they watch him perform death-defying stunts at the Sideshow of Despair.

Enter all five haunted attractions for the price of one. General admission tickets cost $25; there is an additional $10 fee for a speed pass, which will allow you to bypass long lines. If you want another round of fright, there is an additional $10 fee to enter each attraction twice. For more information, visit www.piratesofemerson.com – if you dare!

Fremont resident honored

SUBMITTED BY CRISTIN MITCHELL

Each year, the President of the United States recognizes volunteers throughout the country with the President's Volunteer Service Awards. Bin Wu of Fremont is among this year's gold award honorees. Wu is being recognized for her work as a Citizen Schools Citizen Teacher; the award is a testament to her civic leadership. Wu works at SanDisk and has taught apprenticeships at both Joseph George and William Sheppard Middle Schools in San Jose.

Citizen Schools is a national nonprofit organization that partners with middle schools to expand the learning day for children in low-income communities. Citizen Schools mobilizes a team of AmeriCorps educators and volunteer "Citizen Teachers" to teach real-world learning projects and provide academic support in order to help all students discover and achieve their dreams.

Volunteer Citizen Teachers play a critical role in introducing students to engaging opportunities and diverse careers through 10-week apprenticeship programs. During the 2014-2015 school year, over 2,300 Citizen Teachers taught more than 1,000 apprenticeships, impacting over 5,300 students across our network.

This year, Wu and 60 other volunteer Citizen Teachers received recognition from President Obama at the gold award level, which corresponds to a significant commitment: teaching all four of the past four semesters. This award underscores the impact that Wu and other Citizen Teachers are having on the community.

FUSD holds ribbon cutting ceremonies

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

FUSD (Fremont Unified School District) celebrated two Ribbon Cutting Ceremonies over two days to celebrate the opening of new buildings funded by voter-approved Measure E. Azevada Elementary School opened its new classroom building Sep. 29 in front of an audience that included Fremont Mayor Bill Harrison and a performance by Azevada's Mandarin Immersion students.

Mattos Elementary School held its own ceremony on September 30, opening both a new classroom building and a science lab. FUSD would like to thank the numerous design and construction firms involved with both projects, the students and families from both schools for their patience, the Azevada and Mattos teachers and staff for their flexibility - and especially to the voters of Fremont for making these celebrations possible.

Monday, September 21

A residential burglary occurred on the 100 block of Aurora Plaza between 6:30 a.m. and 9:40 a.m. The suspect cut the screen to the sliding glass door, which was left open by the residents. The loss was a laptop.

Tuesday, September 22

A commercial burglary attempt occurred on the 30000 block of Ahern St. around 11:00 p.m. A window was broken, but there was no entry or loss.

Wednesday, September 23

At around 12:00 p.m., Ofc. Cota was dispatched to the 1700 block of Decoto Road on reports of a robbery attempt. A suspect rode up next to the victim on a bike and grabbed the gold necklace from her neck. They struggled, and the suspect rode away on his bike without any stolen property. The suspect was described as an Asian male or Hispanic male, 40-50 years old, 5’7” with a thin build, riding a black or gray bike.

At around 11:00 p.m., Ofc. Llamas responded to Union Landing on reports of brandishing a firearm. Two victims yelled at a driver after he almost hit them backing out of a parking space. The driver said to them, “You guys think you are tough?” and pointed a black semi-automatic handgun at them. The suspect was described as a Hispanic male in his mid-30s, with slicked back hair. He was driving a newer model, white Toyota Corolla.

Friday, September 25

At around 9:00 p.m., Ofc. Olson was patrolling the area of Whipple Boulevard and located a vehicle that had been reported stolen out of Fremont Boulevard. The suspect fled after an attempted traffic stop but was located after a perimeter was established. Robert Gallardo, a Newark resident, was arrested for vehicle theft and the possession of burglary tools.

A commercial burglary attempt occurred on the 31000 block of Alvarado-Niles Road between 10:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. The outside screen was partially pried off the window, but the window was locked.

Sunday, September 27

At around 5:45 p.m., Ofc. Mangan responded to the 1700 block of Decoto Road for a just-occurred robbery report. The victim was walking with her purse draped over her shoulder, when two suspects forcibly pulled the purse from her shoulder and fled in a green, older model, single cab pickup. Both suspects were described as black males, 18-25 years old, 5’10” to 6’2” and 160-200 lbs.

Grand Opening Event

The City of Fremont invites the community to the Capitol Avenue Grand Opening Event in Downtown Fremont on Friday, October 16 at 5 p.m.! The event will be held at the corner of Fremont Boulevard and the new Capitol Avenue extension.

Downtown Fremont Project Receives International Merit Award

We’re excited to announce that the City of Fremont received the 2015 Merit Award from the International Downtown Association (IDA) for its Downtown Fremont - On the Rise! Project. The Downtown project was among six qualified entries in the Planning category, which recognizes planning efforts that establish a strategic position for a downtown. The IDA strives to inform, influence, and inspire downtown leaders and advocates, and serve as a guiding force for vital and livable urban centers.

“The City of Fremont’s project received the IDA Merit Award for delivering excellence in downtown management,” said David Downey, IDA President and CEO. “The Downtown Fremont project is a shining example of excellent downtown management delivering real value to the city.”

Hey, Put A Lid On It!

Our weekly trash and recycling collection system strives to offer convenience for the community and support safe and healthy neighborhoods. However, having several thousand bins on the street each day can lead to big problems if we’re not thoughtful about what we’re putting out on the street.

It’s very important to avoid overfilling your garbage and recycling bins and making sure your bin lids are completely closed. Otherwise, materials can easily blow onto the street or fall to the ground as they’re lifted up into the truck, resulting in litter and pollution on our City streets. This litter often ends up in storm drains, which can end up blocking the drain and causing flooding. Litter can also be easily carried out to local creeks and the San Francisco Bay through the storm drain system.

Prevent litter and protect our waterways:

- Place shredded paper inside a paper bag to prevent blow-away during service.
- Never place loose plastic bags in your recycling – always bag the bags into one larger bundle.
- Flatten boxes and compact trash and recyclables if necessary to allow the lid on your bin to close all the way.
- Consider having an extra “overage bag” on hand for when you occasionally have that extra trash. Overage bags can be pre-purchased from Republic Services and can be very handy for those times when your regular trash bin isn’t big enough.
- Request a larger trash or recycling bin from Republic Services if your containers are routinely overfilled.
- Call Republic Services at 510-657-3500 to explore your service options.

‘The Running Dead’ Fun Run

The City of Fremont Recreation Division along with the Youth Advisory Commission invites you to participate in “The Running Dead” Fun Run at Central Park Lake Elizabeth on Saturday, October 17. Wear a costume and run/walk around Central Park Lake Elizabeth! The best costumes will win prizes. After the run/walk, enjoy a health fair and learn how you can live a healthier life. Check-in for the run will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the Central Park Performance Pavilion, located at 40000 Paseo Padre Pkwy., with stretch and start of run at 9 a.m. Cost is $7 per person. Register online at www.Regerec.com and use barcode #231629. For more information contact Alvaro Zambrano at azambrano@fremont.gov or 510-494-4344.

Free Personal Emergency Preparedness Class

The City of Fremont’s Fire Department is offering a free Personal Emergency Preparedness (PEP) class, which will teach you how to take care of yourself and your family before, during and after a disaster. Sign up for either date that works for you:

Saturday, October 17:

9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Tuesday, November 10:

7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Classes will be located at the Fremont Fire Training Tower, located at 7200 Stevenson Blvd., west of Interstate 880. To register for a free PEP class, please call 510-494-4244 or send an email to Fire-PubEd@fremont.gov noting which date you’d like to attend.

If you are part of a group and would like to schedule your own personal group PEP class, please contact Chuck Guaraglia, Public Education with the Fremont Fire Department, at 510-792-3473 or guaragliac@comcast.net.

Solar Permitting Process Streamlined

With more and more residents choosing to install solar, the City recently adopted an ordinance streamlining solar permitting for small residential systems, and also updated the webpage related to solar permits. Updates include the following:

- Turnaround times for small residential rooftop solar permits have been reduced to three days maximum. (Over-the-counter permits will continue to be offered on Wednesday mornings at the Development Services Center, located at 39550 Liberty St.)
- Permit applications may be submitted by fax or e-mail
- Only one City inspection is now required
- Forms and instructions have been streamlined and are available in an easy-to-use format at www.Fremont.gov/SolarPermits

These changes will make it quicker and easier than ever for residents to “go green” and help the community reduce its environmental footprint!

California high-speed rail seeks private investors, input

BY JULIET WILLIAMS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California High-Speed Rail Authority has received 35 responses from private companies interested in financing, building and operating the first 300-mile segment of the controversial rail project, which officials say is a positive sign of private interest after lawmakers last year dedicated a long-term funding source.

Chief Executive Jeff Morales declined to provide details Friday about what the companies told the agency or make public the responses, saying officials are still reviewing them and plan to meet with the companies over the next two months.

The authority provided a list of 35 firms that replied, including London-based Barclays Bank, a group called the Chinese High Speed Rail Delivery Team and several large international construction and engineering firms with offices in the United States, such as Bechtel Infrastructure Corporation, Siemens Industry Inc. and AECOM.

Several firms contacted Friday did not immediately respond to requests for comment from The Associated Press.

Facing criticism from opponents for the lack of private investors lining up to finance the $68 billion project, the rail authority asked private firms to respond to a list of questions on how to reduce costs, speed up construction and attract more private-sector investment for a segment from Merced to Burbank, which is scheduled to start operating in 2022.

“Until now we have been saying ‘There will be private sector interest.’ Now the private sector is saying ‘There will be private sector interest,’” Morales said Friday.

He said the responses allow the rail authority to benefit from “the collective experience of firms who’ve delivered big projects who can help us determine the best path forward.”

The state Legislature agreed last year to provide the first ongoing source of financial support to the project: a quarter of all revenues from the state’s greenhouse gas emissions program in which companies buy and sell pollution credits. That amounted to $250 million last year and could eventually total $3 billion to $5 billion a year. Voters in 2008 also approved nearly $10 billion in bonds for the project, and the federal government has committed $3.5 billion in matching funds.

Still, California’s project faces political uncertainty in Washington, D.C. as Republican House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy, of Bakersfield, seeks to become the next speaker. He previously has vowed to “do whatever I can to ensure that not one dollar of federal funds is directed to this project.”

Rail officials are expected to brief the board of directors on the industry responses at a board meeting next week.

The list of respondents provided by the rail authority can be seen here:

Tesla’s first SUV, the Model X, is finally hitting the road

BY DEE-ANN DURBIN
AP AUTO WRITER

FREMONT, California (AP) — Electric vehicle maker Tesla Motors has mastered the sporty two-seater and the elegant sedan. Now, it wants to conquer the family hauler.

Tesla’s Model X — one of the only all-electric SUVs on the market — will be officially unveiled Tuesday night at the company’s California factory.

The Model X is the third vehicle from 12-year-old Tesla, after the Roadster — which was discontinued in 2012 — and the Model S sedan. It should attract new customers to the brand, and goes on sale as the market for luxury SUVs is booming. U.S. luxury SUV sales were up 17 percent through August, five times faster than the industry as a whole.

“If Tesla’s going to be a more significant player, they need more products, and SUVs are what the market is demanding,” said Michelle Krebs, a senior analyst with the car buying site AutoTrader.com

But there are drawbacks. Only a fraction of the sippy cup set will be able to afford the Model X, even with an available $7,500 federal tax credit. Exact pricing hasn’t been revealed, but CEO Elon Musk says the Model X will cost $5,000 more than the Model S, which starts at $70,000.

Long road trips will have to be planned carefully because the Model X will have a limited range before the battery needs to be recharged. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says the front-wheel-drive 90D version of the Model X will go 257 miles on a charge, while an all-wheel-drive P90D version will go 250 miles. That is less range than the equivalent versions of the Model S.

Few details were released ahead of Tuesday’s unveiling, but the Model X has three rows and seats seven. Its most eye-popping feature is its falcon-wing rear doors, which open upward.

Those doors were among the reasons that the Model X’s launch was delayed several times. Musk announced plans for the Model X in 2012 and it was initially expected to go on sale in early 2014. But Musk has said its complicated design — and his own perfectionism — caused delays.

Musk has also downplayed expectations for initial sales of the SUV. Last month, he lowered Tesla’s annual sales forecast from 55,000 vehicles to between 50,000 and 55,000 and said bringing the Model X up to full production would be “challenging.”

“We only want to deliver great cars, so we don’t want to drive to a number that’s greater than our ability to deliver high-quality vehicles,” Musk told analysts on a conference call.

But Musk says Tesla is still on track to sell 500,000 vehicles by 2020. It expects to reach that goal with the introduction of its next car, the lower-priced Model 3, expected in 2017.

The Model X is alone, for now, in the all-electric luxury SUV market. Its closest competitor is the plug-in hybrid Porsche Cayenne SUV, which starts at $77,200. But others, spurred by Tesla, are planning their own all-electric models. Audi said this month that it will have an all-electric SUV by 2018.

At the lower end of the market, there’s the $32,000 Kia Soul EV, an electric crossover, but it only has a 93-mile range. Toyota briefly sold an electric version of the RAV4 SUV, but that was discontinued last year.

More than one hundred students received new clothes and a backpack

Youth and Family Services Bureau. At the conclusion of their shopping spree, the students picked out a backpack and book donated by Friends of the Hayward Library. During the event, parents and guardians were able to participate in a Resource Fair with tables from Hayward Adult School's Youth Enrichment Services, Tiburcio Vasquez Health Center, Hayward Area Recreation and Park District, Life Chiropractic College West, Hayward Library's Literacy Plus, Hayward Promise Neighborhood, Hayward Police Department's Youth & Family Services, and Kinship Support Services.

More than 200 community members joined Hayward Rotary in this project, including staff from Moreau High School, volunteers from the Boy Scouts of America, Chabot College students, the CSU East Bay Volleyball Team, and Redwood Chapel Community Church.

In addition to JC Penney, businesses that helped to sponsor the project included Fremont Bank, Calpine, Costco Wholesale, Give Something Back Office Supply, Kaiser Permanente, United Association Local Union 342, Sakura of America, and Friends of the Hayward Public Library.

Child Spree has helped provide new clothing for students for fourteen years through partnerships with Mervyn's, Target, and JCPenney. To volunteer and help out in the future, contact the Hayward Rotary Club at P.O. Box 629, Hayward, CA 94543.

On August 22, eager K-8 students met at JC Penney at Southland Mall and were paired with a Rotary Club member or other community volunteer. Together, using a list of needed items identified by the parent and a $100 gift card, they purchased essential clothing needed to start school. JC Penney offered 25 percent off the entire purchase and waived sales tax, so the children were able to purchase more essential back-to-school clothing.

JC Penney staff volunteered to work the early morning shift in order to share the joy with the children and their parents and the Nestle kiosk opened early to offer discounted coffee and snacks for the families.

"This is the fourteenth year that Hayward Rotary has had the opportunity to sponsor an event that meets the needs of so many deserving children," said Janiene Langford, one of the event coordinators for Rotary. "It is gratifying that so many businesses, organizations, and individuals in Hayward continue to step up and support this program."

Student participants were identified in partnership with the Hayward Police Department's
