Yeehaw! Rowell Ranch Rodeo turns 96

BY ROBBIE FINLEY

Calling all cowboys and cowgirls! Rowell Ranch will once again bring in the best rodeo competitors to compete in the 96th annual "Rowell Ranch Pro-Rodeo" May 21 and 22.

Nearing its centennial, the Rowell Ranch Pro-Rodeo (RRR) has become a time-honored tradition in the East Bay. Don't let the age fool you – this rodeo is not slowing down anytime soon. Spanning five days of fun-filled events, the Rodeo celebrates the sport and the East Bay's rich ranching heritage. Being able to share the Western culture and the sport of professional rodeo with the ever changing Bay Area is the most exciting part of the rodeo says Janet Lemmons, a member of the Rowell Ranch board of directors.

Stroke Support Group

Helps Stroke Survivors, Caregivers

The Washington Hospital Stroke Support Group meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month in the Neurosciences offices, suite 224, at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave., Fremont.

What are the key things you should do following a stroke that you or a loved one has experienced? Where can you get advice regarding equipment that may help, or how to get around if driving isn't possible?

Friends and family provide support but aren't experts on all the nuances that are involved in recovering from a stroke.

The best source of information for recovering stroke victims and their families/friends is the Washington Hospital Stroke Support Group.

"For stroke survivors and caregivers adjusting to life following a stroke, social support and community resources can make a huge difference," says Doug Van Houten, RN, assistant chief nursing director and clinical coordinator of the Washington Hospital Stroke Program.

"But, in most cases, people don't know about the resources and often don't know where to go or who to ask."

Washington Hospital's Stroke Support Group provides free social and emotional support for stroke survivors and their caregivers. Various members of the Washington Hospital Stroke Team attend the support group meetings to share expertise on a variety of stroke-related topics.

The stroke team includes physical and occupational therapists, speech therapists, dietitians and pharmacists.

The free support group is open to individuals who have had strokes and to their caregivers. Meetings are from 1 to 2:30 p.m. on the fourth Tuesday of each month in the Neurosciences offices, suite 224, at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave. in Fremont.

Meetings include educational discussions on diet, motor skills, exercise and other relevant topics, group exercises/stretchers, craft work, as well as refreshments and social time. Each session includes a question-and-answer session with the experts and group discussions.

Van Houten says that many resources are available to stroke survivors if they and their caregivers know where to look. "That's where a support group can be a great help," he adds.

"Our staff can connect participants who can't drive with paratransit services, and I often refer stroke survivors to Cal State East Bay which has a master's program for speech therapists," Van Houten says. "A number of our survivors have benefitted tremendously from that program."

Recovery is also helped by participants connecting with others who also are working to recover from a stroke.

"A real benefit of the group is that it provides a safe environment for stroke survivors to talk about their experiences with others who are going through a similar process," he adds. Participants can share stories, and discuss the challenges and solutions they have found that may be helpful to other survivors and caregivers in the group.

"While each person must work hard at his or her own individual recovery program, the support of others in the group clearly helps," Van Houten says. "It's always great to see the progress of individuals in the group."

For additional information about the Washington Hospital Stroke Support Group, please call (510) 745-6525.

Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation Annual Golf Tournament Celebrating 31 Years!

Benefitting Surgical Services at Washington Hospital

On Monday, April 25, Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation held its 31st Annual Golf Tournament at Castlewood Country Club in Pleasanton. The tournament brought together friends and community members to raise money for surgical services at Washington Hospital.

The day featured an 18-hole golf tournament, putting contest, opportunities to win prizes on the golf course, cocktail reception, dinner, auction and awards ceremony. This year, over 190 golfers enjoyed a spectacular day on the course and over 240 guests attended the reception and banquet at the country club.

For 31 years, the golf tournament has raised money for Washington Hospital. The Foundation is pleased to announce it was yet another successful year with proceeds totaling over $85,000!

The tournament is held in memory of Gene Angelo Pessagno, a founding member of the Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation and longtime Fremont business owner. Through all the years, Golfers and volunteers at the 2016 Annual Golf Tournament at the Castlewood Country Club in Pleasanton.

Laura Pessagno and her family have continued to support the tournament and the Hospital. Laura has been a Washington Hospital Service League Member for 61 years!

“I would like to thank our sponsors and golfers, whose generous support will benefit surgical services at Washington Hospital,” said Rodney Silveira, president of the Foundation. “I am also grateful for our volunteers who give their time to help at registration, on the course and at the banquet. Rick Geha did an outstanding job as our emcee again this year!”

For many years, the Golf Tournament Committee has been chaired by Lamar Hinton. Each year, Lamar works with golf committee members to ensure a successful and fun event.

Dear Doctor,
What is the best way to treat a new injury?

Dear Reader,

You’ve most likely heard of the acronym RICE, which stands for rest, ice, compression and elevation. Rest, compression and elevation are relative terms because not all body parts require, or are anatomically appropriate for, these forms of treatment. However, you can almost never go wrong with ice. It is the safest, most effective anti-inflammatory treatment for pain, swelling and inflammation. Use it for only 5-10 minutes at a time and be careful not to burn your skin. The ice cup method used by professionals is good to use if you can prepare it ahead of time: Get a Dixie cup, fill it with water and put it in the freezer. Once the water has frozen, peel off the top ½-inch to expose the ice and rub it on the affected area at least three times daily. In general, a bag of crushed ice 10 minutes on-and-off as much as tolerated in the first 24-48 hours, is usually recommended.

Dear Doctor,
How can you tell if you slipped a disc in your back?

Dear Reader,

There is no such thing as a “slipped disc” in today’s terminology of back injuries. Think of your discs like a tire. If a disc is injured, it can have a slow leak and lose the gelatinous material inside very gradually. This is one of the most common injuries and is called discogenic pain. With discogenic pain, you will find that it hurts to move your back in any direction. In contrast, a true herniated disc is one where the disc tears and the gelatinous material inside squeezes out like toothpaste. This gelatinous material is composed of proteoglycans and is intensely inflammatory to nearby nerves which can cause sciatica, as one example. Most of the time, herniated disc pain resolves over time because it dries up. Other times, an epidural cortisone injection is given to provide a direct “fire extinguisher” effect on this inflammatory material. The injection also helps to prevent and decrease intense localized irritation and pain.

BY NANCY LYON,
OHS SPECIAL ASSISTANCE
DIRECTOR

As amazing as it may seem, the 2016 school year is swiftly coming to a close and while students are looking forward to fun and adventure, teachers look to next school year's curriculum.

For Ohlone Humane Society (OHS) it's again time to reach out to Fremont, Newark and Union City elementary public schools with an invitation to participate, free of cost, in the wonderful and highly acclaimed KIND News – a nationally recognized award-winning youth program publication of the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS).

As an affiliate of the National Association of Humane and Environmental Educators, the award-winning KIND News provides good news for kids while educating them about kindness and respect for all animals and their natural habitats, and non-violent resolution to problems; as well as to activate youth efforts to protect animals by providing teaching materials, professional development, and other support to teachers and humane educators.

Now in our 17th year of outreach to local elementary schools, in the 2015-16 school year, OHS is proud to have provided KIND News K-6 grade subscriptions to 106 classrooms in the 42-school Tri-City elementary system. We hope to make that number even greater this coming year.

We continue to believe that reaching younger children is key to the development of compassion, kindness and respect – and that our schools play a vital role in the process. When we choose words that reflect a compassionate example, children see non-humans as our fellow inhabitants who share this planet - our fellow Earthlings. Understanding and encouraging this awareness at a young age can literally change their world for the better.

Teachers and schools are sometimes the primary source for instilling these ethical values, yet school budgets can't always stretch to provide the all-important materials that help encourage these virtues. OHS wants to help make these values of compassion, kindness, non-violence and cooperation an available reality.

KIND Club projects include recycling, the enjoyment of making welcome packets for new students, collecting supplies for animal shelters, making earth-friendly cleaners, and educating others about responsible animal care. It also provides programs that "develop self-esteem by teaching children that their actions can make a difference, that no act of kindness, however small, is ever wasted."

In May, OHS KIND News Coordinator Pia Marloff will be sending OHS sponsorship invitations to every teacher in the Tri-City elementary school system. Included is our promise that no matter the number of students in a classroom, OHS guarantees that each child will receive personal editions of the KIND News to take home and share with family members and friends. It is our sincere wish that this ripple on the pond of awareness will hopefully reach far beyond the classroom.

KIND News is available in three reading levels: Primary Edition (grades K-2), Junior Edition (grades 3-4), and Senior Edition (grades 5-6). A classroom subscription includes 28 copies of each issue and a teacher's guide, and is published five times during the school year. Classroom worksheets are free of cost and available on their website at www.humanesociety.org/news/magazines/kind_news/.

Enrollment deadline is June 16th and we encourage teachers who may not receive a subscription invitation to contact OHS at (510) 792-4587 ASAP. Please leave after-school contact information.

Unity Walk & Block Party

SUBMITTED BY CHRISTOPHER CARA

Youth and faith groups, community representatives and advocates for all groups in the community are invited to participate in a "Unity Walk and Block Party," sponsored by Youth Violence Prevention Coalition, on Saturday, May 14. The unity walk will begin at Union Landing and conclude at Alvarado Park with a block party, featuring entertainment, food, speakers, and community resource tables. Attendance is free for all ages.

The block party will allow community members to get to know each other while highlighting Union City's diversity. Community organizations are invited to walk with their banners and signs. The Youth Violence Prevention Coalition hosted two block parties last year, but this is the first time that the event has been combined with a unity walk. New coalition member organization Afro-American Cultural and Historical Society suggested doing a walk to foster racial unity and celebrate Union City's diversity.

Youth Violence Prevention Coalition is a grassroots collective formed in August 2007 by local organizations, including Filipino Advocates for Justice, Afro-American Cultural and Historical Society, Union City Pastors' Alliance, Congregations Organizing for Renewal, and staff of the New Haven Unified School District and the City of Union City.

The Unity Walk is for all who live or work in Union City. Register at www.aachsi.com. For more information, call (510) 793-8181. Please use the event hashtag: #UCUnityWalk.

New Haven Unified Board update

SUBMITTED BY NEW HAVEN UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT

At the May 3 meeting of the New Haven Unified School Board, Logan High School Principal Abhi Brar introduced and welcomed the national award-winning Logan High School/Mission Valley ROP Automotive Technology students and teacher, Mr. Eba Mohamed.

Mr. Mohamed shared a presentation detailing the class’ journey from the framing of a question on how to make a positive impact on the environment to his students shaking hands with the President of the United States a few short months later. Mr. Mohamed explained how the class submitted an entry to Samsung’s Solve for Tomorrow contest, became one of five state winners, the sole representative from California, and then emerged as one of only fifteen nominees nation-wide in the contest. He went on to describe the social media campaign which resulted in the Automotive Technology class garnering the contest’s Community Choice Award.

He also detailed the whirlwind experience of being invited to participate in the prestigious White House Science Fair, President Obama’s sixth and final. Mr. Mohamed shared with the Board the top-secret discussions and meetings that were necessary as he and his students assembled a working, scale model of their solar electric vehicle charging station over Spring Break and having it over-nighted across the country in order for it to arrive in time. Logan students Nick Mackin, Shaneel Narayan, Jashene Tongco, and Jarrell Masana, provided insights into the experience and shared their highlights of the trips which included a very firm handshake from the President.

Mr. Mohamed then thanked the Board along with Logan staff and students for all of their support.

Board Members congratulated the students and thanked them for their presentation. The project and process is amazing and inspirational and this is what teaching is all about and a great example of team work. It is the hope of the Board that this will continue to inspire our students as well as more tech companies to support education.

Time Warner Cable deal gets OK, with online video conditions

BY TALI ARBEL
AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

NEW YORK (AP), Federal regulators will impose several conditions meant to protect on-line video services as they back Charter's bid to buy Time Warner Cable and create the country's second-largest home Internet provider.

The Justice Department approved the deal Monday, subject to court approval on the conditions, while Federal Communications Commission Chairman Tom Wheeler circulated a draft order to OK the combination. That leaves California's utility regulator, whose approval is expected in May.

Buying Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks will turn Charter Communications, a mid-size cable company, into the country's No. 2 home Internet provider, after Comcast. The new Charter will be No. 3 in video, trailing Comcast and AT&T, which bought DirecTV last year.

To preserve competition from online services, the Justice Department is forbidding Charter from restricting what media companies make available online. The government says Time Warner has been aggressive at imposing such restrictions in contracts, and without a ban, a bigger company could make online services less competitive.

Meanwhile, the FCC is expected to prohibit Charter from charging consumers more for using more data, the way wireless and some home services are priced. Video is one of the biggest consumers of data, and caps or usage-based prices could make consumers reluctant to watch online video.

Public-interest groups have protested industry consolidation, saying it has led to high prices and will give big companies the power to undermine online video rivals. But opposition to Charter's deal was muted compared with the backlash in recent years to Comcast's failed bid for Time Warner Cable. That's because a bigger Charter would still be smaller than Comcast. And Charter, learning from Comcast's failures, has made several promises to address concerns.

What does this $67 billion cable deal mean for consumers?

Will this change what I can watch online?

The conditions being imposed by the government don't necessarily make it easier for a company like Apple to launch a streaming TV service.

"The real limiter of online video hasn't been restrictions from distributors. It's been the self-interest of the programmer," MoffettNathanson analyst Craig Moffett said. The traditional big bundle has lined the pockets of entertainment companies like Disney. A skinny bundle of channels online isn't as lucrative and could steal viewers away from the fat TV packages supporting hundreds of channels.

But Moffett says the Internet video market is going to develop, and the government "wants to ensure that the distributors don't stand in the way when the time comes."

To that end, Wheeler's draft order would impose additional conditions:

— If online video companies like Netflix have to pay a cable company a lot of money to connect to its network, that could keep the video business from taking off. So Charter won't be able to charge companies to connect to its network for seven years. That's how the deal got Netflix's blessing. (Netflix had opposed the Comcast deal.)

— Charter also won't use data caps or charge customers based on how much data they use, like Comcast and AT&T U-verse do.

But Charter could, for instance, raise prices on broadband sold by itself to make its cable video-and-Internet bundle look more financially appealing than buying Internet from it and a separate online video service.

What happens to me as a Time Warner Cable customer?

Charter will continue Time Warner Cable's efforts to increase Internet speeds. Over the next few years, Charter says it will raise the minimum Internet speeds in acquired markets to a minimum 60 megabits per second, which lets you download a high-definition movie in about 10 minutes. That costs $40 a month, for now.

Charter's prices are cheaper than Time Warner's overall, says UBS analyst John Hodulik. But Time Warner has some cheaper deals with slower Internet speeds; Charter will get rid of most of those for new customers.

There could possibly be better customer service. Charter says it will hire 20,000 people in the U.S., replacing Time Warner's overseas customer service representatives and its use of contractors for technicians, to provide better support. It doesn't give a timeframe for the hires.

Will my bills still go up?

Probably. Cable companies have been passing on to customers the higher prices they pay for rights to carry channels on cable lineups, and their costs are still rising. Still, Charter will use its bigger size to seek better deals with channel owners like Disney and Fox.

But the cable industry has been consolidating for decades, and bills have only gone up.

"Cost savings to the company don't necessarily translate to cost savings to the customer unless the company has competition that forces them to offer it," said John Bergmayer, staff attorney at public-interest group Public Knowledge. "I don't see anything about this merger that changes that basic dynamic."

Charter will be the only supplier of broadband speeds, as defined by the FCC, for two-thirds of the homes in areas where it operates, according to FCC data. But the FCC is requiring Charter to reach another 2 million homes with high-speed services; at least 1 million of those homes would be in competition with another broadband supplier.

Even if bills still go up, Charter said they won't be as high as they would have been as separate companies.

There will be a $15-a-month Internet service for some low-income households.

Candidates listed in ballot order

Alameda County Supervisor, District 4: Includes Castro Valley, Ashland and Cherryland

Nate Miley

I am running for re-election on the Alameda County Board of Supervisors to continue the work we've begun together. Over the years I have gotten to know many of you personally, and I know every block and neighborhood in our diverse district. With your help we have accomplished much to be proud of, but we aren't done yet.

Experience has taught me that the best answers often come from the community working together. We were able to pass Measure A and AA to provide funding for local health clinics and programs so that every citizen has access to healthcare. We passed the first ordinance in the nation for safe disposal of pharmaceutical drugs. We have improved safety and quality of life for our young people through youth development programs like the Deputy Sheriff's Activities League, REACH Ashland Youth Center, and Safe Routes to School programs. We secured funding to improve transportation options, repair roads throughout the county, increase funds for sidewalk installation, and complete award winning projects in unincorporated communities.

I am as passionate today as ever, knowing that each challenge and success builds on the next. Finding solutions to provide housing, protect our environment, improve transportation, enhance senior and youth programs, improve public safety, create living wage jobs, and promote fiscal responsibility are items I will always fight for! Public service is a privilege and I humbly ask for your vote. To learn more or get in touch with my campaign, go to www.MileyforSupervisor.com.

Bryan Parker

I am a high-energy, result-oriented, community and business leader with a reputation for getting things done. The desire for equity and hard work are the forces that drive me. I will bring to county government fresh ideas and the ability to solve problems. I believe my experience in the health care and technology sectors and my service as an Oakland Port Commissioner will serve me well as we battle complacency and ensure innovative, timely and efficient delivery of county services.

My priorities as your supervisor include expanding economic development and job growth; making our neighborhoods safe; reducing traffic and improving roads; and actively representing all parts of the district.

My heart was shaped by a single mom who taught me the value of education—I graduated from UC Berkeley and NYU Law—and to fight for opportunities for all. I mentor young men as a volunteer football coach at Castlemont High School, serve on the Boards of Alameda County Meals on Wheels and Holy Names University, and am a member of 100 Black Men of the Bay Area. This community service grounds me and gives me perspective on what we need to do to improve our quality of life and bring opportunity to everyone in the district.

My experience having run a $1 billion business and serving as a Commissioner at the Port of Oakland has given me the expertise needed to attract good-paying jobs and focus on investment in infrastructure to improve our quality of life and keep commerce – and our economy – thriving.

This experience also uniquely positions me to oversee and help grow the county's $2.7 billion budget. I will make sure there is transparency in our budgeting, that our tax dollars are used efficiently, and that our contracts are well managed.

You can learn more about me and my positions at bryanparker.org, or find me on facebook.com/bryanparker2014 or twitter.com/rbryanparker.

Hayward City Council (vote for 4)

Wynn Grich

I am Wynn Grich proud to be running for Hayward city Council. We need a rent control policy which will allow our citizens an affordable and safe place to live. We need minimum wage to start now at $12/hr and raise it over four years just as Oakland and other cities have done. We cannot afford to wait for the state to come to the rescue at raising the minimum wage at only $10 and gradually increase it. The minimum wage and the cost of rent will have to be agreeable so that our citizens can thrive and not become homeless.

We need to balance the budget and cannot afford high salary administrators anymore. We need honest transparency in our financials to let our citizens know if we are spending their money wisely. If honestly represented then the city would not have been found guilty of illegal wage reductions for our city workers.

The city is spending 4.5 million over the city budget every year. The reserves will be gone in two years. The council wants to tax the public for their overspending. This spending pattern will lead us into bankruptcy. Imagine an earthquake breaking water pipes and having no money to fix them.

Vote against Measure D (20 more years of taxes on utilities). The city will be bankrupt in two years by spending the reserves to make payroll. Taxing the poor residents to maintain high-paid city employees is unrealistic. Fire our $294,000 city manager. Reorganize! Don't vote for overspending incumbents.

I am not endorsed by the Hayward mayor, council or special interest groups. I come with plenty of experience to advocate ordinances that will help maintain a clean, safe, healthy and economically thriving Hayward just as I have done for other cities like East Palo Alto, Menlo Park, Sonoma, etc. I will do things differently for Hayward through brave actions, not useless conversations. Vote for me, Wynn Grich, on June 7.

Elisa Marquez

As a mother, lifelong Hayward resident, homeowner, working professional and active community volunteer, it is a privilege serving Hayward residents as your city councilmember. My roots in Hayward run deep. I grew up here, attended local schools and earned my undergraduate and master's degrees from CSU East Bay in Hayward. My family has owned and operated a restaurant in downtown Hayward for 50 years.

As a probate court investigator, I advocate every day to ensure that individuals' rights are protected and upheld. My public service journey began over 12 years ago. I've served as Chair of both the city's Human Services Commission and Planning Commission, and as a member of the city's Sustainability Committee. As your councilmember, I am providing leadership to improve public safety, strengthen our economic and sustainability measures, and build a 21st-century library.

Whether in professional or city council work, I strive to serve with integrity, optimism and a spirit of goodwill. Your support will help me continue leading to ensure a safe community, an accessible and responsive government, and a shared vision for Hayward.

My vision and priorities for Hayward are: to foster a safe and caring Hayward; to support a thriving and engaged community; to build a strong and vibrant local economy; and to create a sustainable and green Hayward. Working together, we can live, work, play, grow and thrive in Hayward. I would be honored to have your vote. Learn more at www.elisaforhayward.com, or contact elisaforhayward@gmail.com or (510) 910-3833.

Matt McGrath

After 30 years of service, I recently retired from the City of Hayward as director of Maintenance and Operations. I am running for Hayward City Council because while we have made good progress in Hayward, I believe we can make it better.

Growing up in Hayward on Gading Road and being raised by a single mom, I learned the values of hard work, caring for my neighbors, and a strong sense of community. While serving in the Marines, I learned about dedicated services, strategic planning, and protecting and defending my country and my city.

I rose through the city's ranks to become director of a major city department by getting to know every nook and cranny in the city, by making sure that jobs were done efficiently and effectively, with fiscal accountability, and by respecting both the people I worked with and the taxpayers I worked for. I want to continue to help improve the city that gave me the opportunity for a great career.

My job taught me the "nuts and bolts" of Hayward, how it operates and what it takes to deliver the best services possible. On the City Council, I will continue to demand the very best for our Hayward community from our city administrators. I will be able to relate to workers' concerns while keeping everyone accountable. I will focus on public safety, after-school programs, good parks, better-maintained streets and sidewalks, and keeping our city clean.

I am honored to have the support of Hayward's firefighters, police, Mobile Homeowner's Association, Teamsters Local 70, Professional and Technical Engineers Local 21, SEIU 1021, Building and Construction Trades Council, Alameda County's Democratic Party, Labor Council, the East Bay Times, business owners and residents.

We all want the same thing: a safe environment for our families, a clean community to be proud of, and a progressively forward-moving and healthy city.

You can count on me to work overtime for a greater Hayward. Visit McGrath4Hayward.com.

Al Mendall Hayward City Councilmember

Hayward is moving in the right direction! As your councilmember since 2012, I have worked hard to keep my promises to you.

Make Hayward safer: Crime is down 7 percent and we have added bike patrols in downtown and South Hayward.

Make Hayward economically vibrant: There are 3,400 new businesses in town including restaurants, retail and well-paying employers. Unemployment is down 5 percent.

Make Hayward more attractive: There are more new murals throughout town and less blight, litter and graffiti.

Make Hayward more sustainable: We have implemented dozens of award-winning environmental policies that save energy and money while saving the planet.

Make Hayward more youth friendly: We are building a new library downtown, approved a new movie theater at Southland Mall, and have expanded the city's after-school homework help program to more than a dozen schools.

I am proud of our achievements, but there is more to do. If re-elected, I will lead the effort to plan for a new police station and upgrade our fire stations. I will work to attract more new employers, restaurants and stores. As a father of young children, I know we need more safe places for young people to play and learn. So I will finish the job of building the new library downtown and a new destination park in South Hayward. I will work to bring high-speed Internet to the entire city. I will continue to champion environmental policies that make Hayward a leader.

I am honored to be endorsed by Hayward firefighters and police officers, Sierra Club, Chamber of Commerce, Hayward Area Democratic Club, East Bay Times, Hayward Mobilehome Owners Association, South Alameda County Young Democrats, Bay East Association of Realtors, Building & Construction Trades Council and many individual labor unions along with Congressman Eric Swalwell, Mayor Barbara Halliday, the entire City Council, and community leaders from across Hayward.

Please visit www.alforhayward.com for more information about my positions and a full list of endorsers. Please vote for me on June 7 so that I can keep working on your behalf.

Leo Ram Business Owner, Realtor

I have been a resident of Hayward for over 30 years, and I am actively involved in the local community. We need to bring a fresh perspective in our city council that will result in a safer place to raise our families, helping our local businesses flourish and continue to focus on preserving our quality of life. With my leadership, I will bring to the City Council transparency, accountability and community outreach. I will focus on what matters most to the citizens of our community and business.

My goals:
Ensuring public safety
Protecting environment; maintaining our streets, parks and trails; and preserving quality of air and water
Supporting schools, children and seniors
Attracting more businesses and creating jobs

With your vote, it would be my privilege to bring this experience and a balanced approach to preserve what we treasure about Hayward, while embracing its bright future. Contact (510) 586-7574 or leo@exitadvancedrealtyca.com for more information.

Kenneth Rollins

Two priorities I would like to do for the City of Hayward are to provide more employment opportunities and bring visitors to the area by suggesting building a state-of-the-art and "green" aquarium. This will bring in revenue and more businesses in downtown Hayward.

I also might add I would like to clean up the City of Hayward by making a commitment to make it a drug-free zone, which will decrease crime in certain neighborhoods and also might help with the homeless population. We also do need more affordable housing. With the rising cost of homes these days, this will bring the people who live in Hayward or those that want to live in Hayward a chance to get a home.

I have more ideas and hopefully solutions that I would like to discuss, but at this time the thoughts mentioned are my top priorities. My name is Kenneth Rollins.

Mark Salinas

My name is Mark Salinas and I am running for the Hayward City Council. The East Bay Times endorsed me and said I am one of the best candidates for the City Council because I have experience with municipal budgets and I can make sound decisions while keeping to Hayward's priorities.

I am a Hayward native. I was born at St. Rose Hospital, raised in the Schafer Park neighborhood, and graduated from Hayward High. After graduating from college, my wife, Lety, and I married and we proudly made Hayward home. I am a community engagement specialist for CSU East Bay, a history and sociology instructor at Chabot College, and the executive director of The Kids' Breakfast Club, a community based organization responsible for feeding thousands of deserving kids breakfast when school isn't in session.

From 2010 to 2014, I had the privilege to serve as your councilman. As your councilman, I added more police in our neighborhoods; strengthened the illegal dumping ordinance; and with business owners, coauthored Hayward's economic development strategic plan. We made it easier to open businesses and focused on bringing jobs back to Hayward.

Hayward deserves leaders who will listen to people in neighborhoods and make sound decisions. I will protect Hayward's budget and fight for the services we expect from City Hall. I will fully staff fire and police and focus on creating jobs so families can make Hayward their home. As a college educator, I will plan our city's future with our schools and make sure companies hire Hayward graduates.

I humbly ask for your vote. Join Hayward Mayor Emeritus Michael Sweeney, Hayward Mayor Barbara Halliday, and Councilmembers Greg Jones and Marvin Peixoto and vote Mark Salinas on June 7. Thank you.

Brian M. Schott Hayward Business Owner

Since the time my family moved here in 1969, I have been actively involved in Hayward. I am currently a City Council-appointed Hayward Planning Commissioner, and as such, I am very involved in many of the issues facing Hayward. I continue to be an active community leader, serving on the St. Rose Hospital Foundation Board and All Saints Catholic Church. I have served as president of the Hayward Rotary Club, and now I serve as Rotary Area District Governor. I know Hayward intimately.

My past involvements in the community include my services as Hayward School Bond Oversight Committee Member, Chair of the Hayward Hills Neighborhood Task Force, and interim president/CEO of Hayward Chamber of Commerce. A product of Hayward schools, I held student leadership roles at each of these schools as well.

I own AdMail, a family business here in Hayward, and over the years we have employed dozens of Hayward area residents. We have paid over $60 million in payroll and taxes. I know firsthand the value of economic development and, more importantly, what it takes to run a business in good times and in tough times with the ability to make tough decisions and sacrifices. I know how to work with the local and regional business community to improve Hayward's economic stability. No one else running for Hayward City Council can make that claim.

In walking the many and varied neighborhoods, I have met with residents and businesses throughout all parts of Hayward. Their concerns continue to be the need for improvement in Hayward schools, more retail opportunities - especially grocery stores in Fairway Park and Southgate neighborhoods - crime and safety, fixing the Loop, and calming traffic in our neighborhoods.

I'm not one to be satisfied with the status quo or to pretend a budget is "balanced" when in fact City Council is now using reserves to "balance" it. I will work to improve the relationships with Hayward Unified and CSU East Bay to better share valuable resources.

I humbly ask for one of your four votes for Hayward City Council.

John Taylor Resident, Educational Leader, Community Leader

As school board president for the past two years, I listened intensely to my constituents. The ability to listen and act allowed me to lead the successful efforts to pass two bond measures, resulting in several new state-of-the-art schools for our children. I also led the effort to enlist the award-winning College Bound Hayward Program, which has served as the catalyst for raising our test scores while sending our students to the finest universities in the country.

As a councilmember, I will work to revise the downtown loop that creates traffic nightmares. I will work to create more affordable housing as I successfully did as director of Northern California Community Development. I will also use public and private partnerships with Silicon Valley, our universities and labor organizations to create job training and commerce opportunities to stop deficit spending and provide relief for our overtaxed residents.

My wife and I have children and grandchildren in Hayward. We want them to have a thriving, economically prosperous city that responds to the needs of all. I respectfully ask for your support. Vote for me, John Taylor, on June 7.

Francisco Zermeno Businessman, Educator, Councilman

My entire adult life has been spent in Hayward raising a family, and as an educator, a business owner and a community activist.

I continue to spend all of my energy to maintain our city safe, clean and prosperous. All of the decisions made as your city councilman have been with the very best interests of our city and you, my neighbors, in mind. Since first elected to office, I promised to help make Hayward safer and more business-friendly, and to improve the quality of life with clean neighborhoods. By working together with my council colleagues, city employees and you, we were able to weather the recession without sacrificing public safety or city services. We made it easier to start up a business and also focused on bringing the community together to help our local schools, benefiting our youth. There is more to do as you deserve to be safe at work, school, home, shopping or at play. We need to continue to revitalize our local economy. With your trust, I will keep working diligently toward a city of economic, employment, social and leisure opportunities. Thank you for allowing me to serve you.

Economy, education and public safety—realizing Hayward's potential.

Please feel free to contact me, and let me know if there is anything I can do for you. I am here to serve you.

Union Sanitary District Director, Ward 1: Includes Union City

Manuel Fernandez

I am an incumbent Board Member of the Union Sanitary

District (USD). I was appointed in 2010 and re-elected unopposed in 2012. Those six years have given me the opportunity for education and to deeply understand the challenges the District is currently facing, as well as its vision for the future as we face climate change, water conservation and population growth.

Prior to my appointment, I was your representative to the Union City Council, where I have served for 23 years. It is an achievement I am fortunate to have; thank you for your trust. Now I am again seeking your support, this time to continue serving as your elected representative to the USD Board.

As a taxpayer, it is comforting to know that USD has an exemplary record in dealing with the environment, engineering and fiscal responsibility. As your representative I am committed as my top priorities to uphold the high standard of the District and maintain the good relationship with you, the residents. My decades of experience in the city government, combined with my design professional experience, uniquely suited me for this position.

Thank you for your support.

Amit Salwan Civil Engineer

At present times, morale of public employees is at its lowest level ever. They are worried whether they will receive their retirement benefits that were promised before they committed their full lives as public employees. They are concerned that their retirement benefits may be reduced if the public agency they work for becomes insolvent. On the other hand, the general public is concerned if they will be heavily taxed in the future to deal with unfunded liabilities that our public agencies are facing today, or if this massive debt will be passed on to their children.

Who is responsible for this chaos? The responsible people are those politicians who made fake promises to the public employees and deliberately ignored to fund the public retirement system. How can a retirement system generate enough income if they are not funded in time? Those politicians served their short-term political motives by ignoring the long-term consequences for our community. If the public agencies had contributed their share in time, our pension funds would not have been in this deep crisis.

This is my symbolic fight against those politicians who tout that they are electable because they have served our community for decades. In fact, they are responsible for bringing the public retirement system on the edge of failure that was functioning well since its inception in 1932. I promise if I am elected, my decisions will be based on sound financial basis and common sense that will be geared toward long-term benefits of our community.

I am a licensed civil engineer and a dedicated public employee. As a professional engineer, I understand the technical, environmental and financial issues facing our aged sanitary system. I ask for your support and vote in the coming June 2016 elections for the Board Member of Union Sanitary District (Ward 1).

Community workshop for San Leandro Creek Trail Master Plan Study

SUBMITTED BY TERESA MEYER

City of San Leandro, City of Oakland, and Rails-To-Trails Conservancy are co-hosting an outreach meeting regarding the San Leandro Creek Trail Master Plan Study on Wednesday, May 11 at the San Leandro Main Library. The San Leandro Creek Trail Master Plan is a feasibility study to analyze the possibility of a multi-use trail along segments of San Leandro Creek. The study is funded by a $201,510 grant that was awarded to the City by the State of California Department of Transportation (Caltrans). The purpose of the meeting is to provide information about the study and gather public input that will be used to guide decision-making.

The Creek Trail Master Plan Study process will involve extensive community input and outreach. The Cities of San Leandro and Oakland encourage the public to attend and participate in meetings and community workshops in order to provide feedback. This meeting will kick off the 14 public meetings scheduled.

The City does not anticipate that construction of a creek trail will be feasible along the entirety of the study area, which runs from Lake Chabot Dam to the MLK Regional Shoreline in Oakland. If such a multi-use trail were eventually developed following community input, it could generate many public benefits, such as increased access to walkers, runners and cyclists, while bringing increased awareness to the creek.

To stay informed, visit: www.sanleandro.org/slcreek or call (510)-577-3348.

Informational Interviews

BY ANNE CHAN, PHD, MFT

"What are you going to do now?" is a question that most high school and college graduates will be asked as they prepare for the next big thing in their lives. This is a tough question that most people will have to face in their lives. Many people will have to answer this question multiple times! If you have trouble answering this question, I have an action step that will help you toward a solution. Even if you have no trouble at all answering this question, I would recommend you take this action step to guide you along your path. This is a no-lose strategy – anyone who takes this action step will benefit.

This action step is called informational interviewing. As its name suggests, an informational interview is simply talking to people to learn about their jobs. Informational interviewing is an excellent way to get information about a career path or workplace. It is not meant to get you a job. However, the person you are interviewing will likely give you invaluable, up-to-date information and career advice. You also get the opportunity to add this person to your career network.

Unfortunately, most people skip this step when they are choosing their careers. They might not know how to take this step, or they might be afraid of bothering people, or they don't know that they can take this step. Never fear – I will give you sufficient information to get you started on this critical action step.

The first step toward doing an informational interview is to locate a person to interview. Let's say you are interested in becoming a teacher. Start with your immediate network – your family, friends, and teachers – and ask them if they know people who are teachers and who love their work. Contact these teachers and ask if you can meet with them to do an informational interview about their jobs. Don't feel shy about approaching people – most people who love their work are happy to talk to newcomers interested in pursuing the same line of work. If possible, meet at the job site so you can get a feel for what the workplace looks like.

During your informational interview, come prepared with questions about the job, as well as any concerns or worries you have about this line of work. Here are some key questions to ask:

Please describe your typical work day.

What are the critical hard skills needed for this job?

What are important soft skills needed for this job?

What types of educational backgrounds or experiences are needed for this job?

What courses would you recommend that I take in order to be prepared for this job?

What do you most like about your job?

What do you least like about your job?

What advice would you give to newcomers to this field?

One question you shouldn't ask is "Can you get me a job here?" It does not reflect well on you if you were to request an informational interview but appear to be job hunting instead. You can bring your resume to the interview, but share it only if requested.

I highly recommend that you conduct multiple informational interviews. Don't just settle for one informational interview and consider your job done. Interviewing different people in diverse workplaces can give you rich insight about the path you should take. For instance, a teacher in a public high school would have a very different work experience from a teacher in a private school. Learning about all the permutations and options available within the exact same job can help you decide what setting is just right for you.

If you're graduating soon and are facing that dreaded question of "What are you going to do now?" hold your head up high and answer confidently that you are going to take the time to do informational interviews! My congrats to all you grads out there!

Science Fair

SUBMITTED BY KRISTINA KURASZ

Nearly 1,000 of California's top middle and high school students will convene for the final round of competition in the 65th annual California State Science Fair on May 23-24 at California Science Center in Exposition Park in Los Angeles. Winners will take home a combined total of more than $50,000 in cash prizes.

Students representing 30 affiliated county and multi-county regional science fairs throughout the state have advanced to the California State Science Fair. The projects span 22 categories – from aerodynamics/hydrodynamics to zoology - in two age divisions and will be judged by a volunteer pool of some 350 scientists and engineers from private industry and higher education. Students from the greater Tri-Cities include: Synopsys Silicon Valley Science and Technology Championships: Allen Cheung

Prathik Kakarlamudi

Diptanshu Sikdar

Aditya Udgaonkar

Synopsys Alameda County

Rishabh Mandayam

Rohit Ravi

Abheer Singh

Ideas for projects often come from exploring and potentially solving issues presented in headline news or in personal, everyday experiences. Besides the recognition and prize money, participating in the fair provides additional benefits for students. The process gives them the opportunity to develop a unique set of abilities, including using scientific methodology to reach a conclusion, marketing techniques to create compelling graphic displays, and communication skills to explain their research to Science Fair judges. Free infant swimming lessons

SUBMITTED BY JENNIFER LEE OLIVEIRA

Accidental drowning is the leading cause of unintentional death for children ages 1 to 4, and three children die every day as a result. In 2010, American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) updated their advice on drowning prevention, stating that new evidence shows that children ages 1 to 4 may be less likely to drown if they had formal swimming instruction.

American Swim Academy wants all children to learn to swim and is currently offering free swim classes for infants between four and six months. "Our Mini Aqua Babies program is developmentally appropriate for physical, social and cognitive growth, while also introducing critical water safety skills for families," said Linda Bailey, Mini Aqua Babies program director. "Our indoor pools, heated to 92 degrees, coupled with our soft, loving and gentle approach make learning enjoyable for both baby and parent."

The free classes will be offered at all four American Swim Academy locations, including Fremont and Newark, and will be available through the month of May in celebration of National Water Safety Month. "We are passionate about all children learning to swim, and our free Mini Aqua Babies classes are a great way to introduce your baby to the joys of swimming," Bailey said.

Call 800-810-SWIM to register for your free class or visit <http://americanswim.wix.com/mini-aquababies> for more information.

Skylights: Let the Sunshine in

By DAVID R. NEWMAN

OF VELUX

Adding a skylight to your home is not only a great way to bring in more daylight, but can also lower energy costs, create a healthier environment, and give a room architectural drama. And with newer technology, gone are the days of leaky ceilings and jungle-like heat.

One of the main benefits of having a skylight is obviously the light it allows into the room below. According to Dan Besmer, West Regional Sales Manager at VELUX, “People are looking for more natural daylight. That’s the number one thing. They want a well-lit house, well-lit rooms.” Because skylights are facing the sky above, they bring in 30 to 50 percent more light than a vertical window. This is an important feature, as research has shown that we need more light as we age. And as an added bonus, homeowners often experience a drop in their electric bills as the need to turn on lights diminishes.

Many people choose to add skylights to an interior space like a bathroom, hallway, or closet where it might not be possible to have an exterior window. In this case, a more affordable solution might be to add a tubular daylight device – a metallic tube that runs from roof to ceiling. It appears as just another recessed light, is much easier to install than a traditional skylight (many DIYers could handle it), and costs around $500 – $1,000.

For those urban structures with close neighbors, a skylight is often a better solution than a window due to privacy concerns. And skylights, particularly in a kitchen, can free up much needed wall space for cabinets and counters.

Another benefit of skylights is air circulation. Says Besmer, “Homes today are being built a lot tighter, with more insulation and caulking. Opening up a window and a skylight will create an air exchange which will decrease the amount of VOC’s (volatile organic compounds) and make the home a lot healthier.” This can be especially effective in kitchens and bathrooms, where odors, smoke, and steam originate. This “stack effect,” as it is known, can also act as a natural air conditioner, cooling a house quickly.

Gone are the days of the plastic bubble that can fade over time and drip condensation. David Cameron has been installing skylights for over 25 years. “A lot of people go with these plastic skylights that have thin coating of metallic oxide on the glass. You can’t see it, you wouldn’t even know it’s there, but it does its job very effectively. It’s really a mistake to buy a nice glass skylight and not have Low-E,” says Cameron.

In the past 10 years, skylight companies have gone to great lengths to improve their products in other ways as well. Raised curb designs and factory-manufactured flashings take a lot of the guesswork out for contractors so that when properly installed, they are virtually leak proof.

Skylights can be installed on flat or sloped roofs and are a major project, best left to profestremendous heat gain on a hot summer day and heat up the interior of your home. So you can end up with a skylight on your home but you’re miserable.”

Most modern skylights are made of Low-E (low emissivity) glass. This feature blocks heat gain as well as heat loss, and filters out ultraviolet light. This means no more faded carpets. “They spray a microscopically sional. Says Cameron, “It’s part of the window industry, part of the roofing industry, and it also involves carpentry, sheet rock, and painting.” He advises that the best way to find a reputable contractor is to go through the chain of command – first contact the manufacturer, who will give you their local field rep, who will give you their best distributor/dealer, who will give contractor referrals.

The cost of a new skylight, including installation, ranges from $3,000 to $5,000. Part of this cost can be offset if you buy a solar-powered skylight, which qualifies for the federal solar Investment Tax Credit of 30 percent. Other modern advances include electric-powered skylights, rain sensors that close the skylight when moisture is detected, and colorful blinds that can be operated remotely.

Skylights have come a long way in the past decade. If you're thinking of remodeling or putting on a new roof, you might consider the benefits of these modern windows to the sky.

Chalk Festival to feature life-size chalk murals

"The Pacific Commons Chalk Festival will feature artists showcasing some of the most eclectic, mesmerizing and breathtaking chalk murals using hundreds of sticks of pastel chalk to create spectacular murals," said Heath McCue, CMD, Director of Marketing for Pacific Commons. "In every style imaginable - from classical and contemporary to whimsical and socially relevant - the murals will be created by truly talented artists."

Joining the roster of chalk artists are Genna Panzarella and Melanie Stimmell Van Latum, both considered in the street-painting world as maestros—an honor that demonstrates an artist as a master of chalk art competing at the highest level of chalk art competitions. To help Stimmell Van Latum of We Talk Chalk decide the theme of her artwork, Pacific Commons is holding a Facebook contest with the winning submission as the theme for her design, which will be 3D. She won't find out the topic for her painting until the week before the event. Visit www.facebook.com/ShopPacificCommons for more information.

The Youth Chalk Contest is open to all Tri-City youth ages 15-20 at any artistic level (proof of age and residency required). The contest will be judged by members of Newark Arts Council and friends of LOV. Contestants will compete for prizes and a chance to win one of three scholarships valued at $500, $300 and $200. To enter the contest, call LOV at (510) 793-5683 or register online at <http://goo.gl/forms/w3el-GxpHsc>. The Chalk Festival will be located at The Block at Pacific Commons.

Tri-City Stargazer MAY 11 - MAY 17, 2016

cool thing to do. Neither is acting out the same old creaking stories between men and women, or letting warriors rule the planet just because they are louder than peacemakers. Any thinking person would have to agree that continuing our warring history in the same way will not accomplish anything better than what we've got: a circus of a world that is trapped in constant replay. Each of us can choose a better option for whatever is happening personally. We do not have to be in replay mode forever. If you can think of nothing new or better to do about an issue refuse to take the same old stance. Then hold the question in mind before you go to sleep. A fresh and improved version of dealing will be there for evaluation in the morning or within the next 48 hours. That pressures the mind to come up with a better solution. It's miraculous.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Your planetary ruler, Mars, is retrograde throughout this month. This planet represents your aggressive and self-protective side. It is best used on behalf of someone less well off than yourself. You are drifting through a prolonged stasis period (April 17 - June 27) in which it is a challenge to make forward motion. Accept this as a time of natural rest and let go of fighting the river.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You may change your mind about a previously made decision this week. You have the opportunity during this period to expand your social territory. You may also be experiencing gifts and benefits offered to you from others. This generosity, in turn, is absorbed into your psyche and you want to share with those in your life who have been important.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): It may be necessary to review financial business this week, but it will pay off around May 30 with positive results. Give consideration to your blessings and for the people around you that you love. You have an eye for that which is beautiful, shapely, and of fine design.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): During this week you will enjoy home, hearth, and family. That also includes those whom you think of as an extended family, such as coworkers or maybe a special circle of friends. The arts and all things of beauty are of a special pleasure to you now.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): You may be tending to your own or another's healing on either the physical or emotional level. The emotional wound is old and is tied to a previous sense of abandonment that once occurred in your life. Somehow that old ache is being soothed at this time and you feel less isolated in the world.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): Love and social life are high on your priority list now. You may not have the time to attend to all your invitations. Short distance trips, errands, and education, whether it involves teaching or learning, are all on the A-rated list. You have a need to communicate the ideas that rush through your mind.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): At long last! Money or resources that have been owed to you are beginning to return. That will relieve your mind. A tax return may be in order now. Romance and creativity continue to be on your plate in a positive way. During this period you can readily make a necessary or decorative item out of nothing of value.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): The next couple of weeks are especially good for discussing important subjects with partners. You each are in a cooperative frame of mind and communications flow well. You can give and receive mutual help at this time and improve the overall energy in the relationship.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Your physical and libidinal energy are in a dip for a few weeks. You may be surprised to find that you have changed your mind about circumstances and people in your life. Do not worry. You haven't lost your mind. You are needing a rest and will return refreshed if you relax now. Let things be as they are for the moment.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): Your creative energy bulges with the arts. Artistic pursuits, love and romance, along with relationship(s) to children are open for your enjoyment. Someone from the past may cross your path. If it is to be, then the connection will be repeated near May 30 with greater intentionality.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): You continue to be in a holding pattern while you wait for the debris to clear out of your way. The thing for which you wait requires time. It is a lesson in patience. Don't turn it into negative self-talk. Hang in there while mentally visualizing your desired outcome.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): This week is about finding healing on either the physical or emotional levels. You may be the healer or the healee. It is possible that alternative medicine may play a role. If a friendship or a more significant relationship needs mending, now is the time to do so. The willingness to open your heart and mind to give and to receive is yours at this time.

Pat Kite's Garden

Mosquito Munchies

By PAT KITE

Mosquito apparently thought I was a blood donor. Red hemoglobin dripped down my arm. I swatted the gourmet mosquito, brushing squashed bug off my garden pants. With all the bad publicity given to mosquitoes these days, I, of course, wondered whether the arm snack would lead to my demise.

It hasn't. There are about 3,000 mosquito types or species. About 150 species live in North America. While not all are bloodsuckers, most are. Females need the protein in blood in order to lay eggs. Meal sites include people, snakes, birds, deer and frogs. There is even a mosquito that feeds on a fish. Mosquito myths abound:

A Filipino story concerns the firefly. Apparently firefly was chastised for carrying fire carelessly. Firefly explained that he needed light to protect himself from mosquito's sharp dagger. For carrying a weapon, mosquito was put in jail. In jail, the male mosquito loses his voice. This, in the tale, explains why the male mosquito is silent. The one buzz-whining around your ear while you are trying to sleep is a female looking for a snack.

Another story: Mosquito has been arrested for carrying a weapon. It must go before a judge for sentencing. The verdict: the mosquito is never to bite again. Mosquito explains that it has to bite every so often. But the judge is stern. Never! Angered, mosquito lands on the judge's forehead and jabs it. Ouch! The judge grabs his gavel and smashes mosquito, knocking himself out. If you try to swat the mosquito buzz-whining around your ear at night, mostly swatting yourself, this is a fun tale.

Did you know that President George Washington had recurrent bouts of malaria, beginning when he was a teenager? (Malaria is transmitted by the Anopheles mosquito species). Eventually quinine, an extract of tree bark, was discovered. This causes malaria symptoms to temporarily disappear. However, George took so much that it caused severe hearing loss during his second presidential term.

Everybody knows that mosquitoes breed in almost any type of standing water. Just one puddle can hold more than 500 wiggly juvenile mosquitoes. Each female can lay 2,000 eggs. Two weeks later, adults emerge and deposit eggs, etc. In five generations, if all survived, your puddle could have been a home base for 20 million mosquitoes.

The Alaskan Tlingit Indians have a story. It seems there was a terrible giant that liked to eat people. To get rid of him, the tribe got a volunteer to pretend to be dead. The giant carried him home. However the volunteer was able to kill the giant. To prevent more problems, the giant was cut up into many pieces, and the pieces burned in a fire. The burnt parts were then thrown into the air. However the cloud of ashes became a cloud of mosquitoes. From their midst came the giant's voice, "I will eat you people until the end of time." Swat! Swat! Swat!

Professor promotes Bike to Work Day

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLY HAWKINS

Department of Kinesiology Chair Paul Carpenter spends an average of four hours a day on his bike cycling to and from work at Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB). He makes the circuitous ride, roughly 50 miles round trip from his home in San Leandro, rain or shine. This year, on May 12, he's hoping students, staff and faculty alike will join him for the annual Bay Area Bike to Work Day celebration.

This is the Bay Area's 22nd annual Bike to Work Day, part of National Bike Month, and the Bike to Work Day website reports 22 communities including Hayward and Concord have pledged their support.

As part of the May 12 celebration, both CSUEB campuses will host refueling stations for bikers to stop by after their ride and pick up food and drinks or win prizes. At the Hayward Campus, one station will be located at the top of Carlos Bee Boulevard and the other on Harder Road from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m.

For Carpenter, Bike to Work Day is a chance for others to enjoy something he's been doing since 1987. It all started when he crashed his motorcycle while working in Southern California and couldn't afford to fix it. Public transportation took too long, so he started cycling. Since then, he's commuted to work in London, Chicago, and now at CSUEB.

"I got into a habit I can't really break," Carpenter said. "From a kinesiology perspective, it is something that has huge benefits physically, psychologically and socially. It's a great way to stay healthy and help the environment."

As for safety, several cycling organizations including the League of American Bicyclists offer training on ways to stay safe while riding and general bike handling skills. Additionally, mapping resources are available from groups like Bike East Bay and free online software like "ride-withgps" which can be set to map routes that avoid highways and use bike lanes, paths and dedicated bike routes.

"There are a lot of great groups that support cycling — there's groups for women-only riders, beginning riders ... once you start getting below the surface, there are many ways to get involved," Carpenter said.

What's an entrepreneur?

An entrepreneur (on-trah-preh-nyur) is a person who sees a way to earn some money by solving a particular problem.

For example, lots of kids have learned that thirsty people on hot days will pay for a cold glass of lemonade.

Can you see the job opportunity in each of these pictures? Look at each picture. What problems do you see here? What kind of help might they be willing to pay for?

Standards Link: Economics: Students know that entrepreneurs are people who use resources to produce innovative goods and services they hope people will buy.

Who wants to make money?

One way to make money is to get a job. But that is not possible for everyone. Often times kids can't get jobs because they are too young.

But that hasn't stopped kids around the world from finding clever ways of earning some cash. Some kids, like Jason, turn doing something they love into a way of earning money.

Look at each of the following pictures. Write down ways a business you could start might be able to help.

Fremont's Bicycle Master Plan Update

The City of Fremont is currently in the process of updating its Bicycle Master Plan. The City's Bicycle Master Plan serves as a guide for the implementation of the policies and goals of the General Plan. The plan update will identify ways to enhance and expand the existing bikeway network, such as the installation of new green bike lanes, buffered/separated bike lanes, and trail opportunities. Thanks to community input, the plan update will also identify needs and challenging areas in order to upgrade or construct new, safe, and efficient bicycle facilities, and to encourage and increase bicycle ridership.

Fremont would like its community to share thoughts on bicycling in Fremont, and what is working and what is not. Residents can go online to provide input on existing and desired bikeways and difficult roadway segments and/or intersections by utilizing a user-friendly interactive mapping tool. Just head to www.Fremont.gov/BikePlanUpdate2017 to view the plan.

For more information about the Bicycle Master Plan Update project and to receive a schedule of upcoming public meetings, contact the City's Rene Dalton at rdalton@fremont.gov or 510-494-4535. The Bicycle Master Plan update project is funded by Measure B and Measure BB sales tax dollars.

Niles Boulevard Bridge Construction Update

Night-Time Construction Planned for 5 More Consecutive Weekends

Work to replace the Niles Boulevard Bridge connecting the City of Fremont and Union City is progressing. The new bridge is being built immediately south of the existing bridge, which will remain open throughout construction. The project is anticipated to be complete spring 2017.

Shoring and pile driving on both sides of the bridge was completed in February. Installation of Cast-in-Drilled Hole (CIDH) Piles is scheduled to take place the weekend of May 14. Work will begin at 11 p.m. on Friday, May 13 and end at 9 a.m. on Saturday, May 14 and then resume again at 11 p.m. on Saturday, May 14 and end at 9 a.m. on Sunday, May 15. Night work to complete this activity is anticipated to take place over five more consecutive weekends (no work on Memorial Day weekend planned) until complete in mid-June. Work activity will involve the use of noise-generating equipment each weekend night as scheduled.

Weekend night work is necessary due to the CIDH Piles being located in between the BART and Union Pacific rail tracks. Because the CIDH piles will be drilled into place, noise levels are anticipated to be lower than those encountered when piles are driven into place. Changeable message boards near the project site (in each direction) notifying roadway users of upcoming weekend night work dates and times are in place. Advance notice of future weekend, night and/or noisy activities will be provided to the local community as work is scheduled.

As with any major construction project, it is important to note that anticipated work dates and times are subject to change due to weather, unforeseen conditions, and/or the availability of on-site Union Pacific Railroad flaggers and BART safety monitors.

Project information and construction updates are posted on the website at www.nilesblvdbridge.com. Community members are encouraged to sign up for regular updates on the website, by emailing nilesblvdbridge@fremont.gov, or by calling the project Construction Info Line at 510-355-1502.

The three conductors making their debut are Tyler Catlin, Matilda Hofman, and Andrew Whitfield – all protégés of Michael Morgan.

David Southorn, a former winner of the Fremont Symphony's Young Artist Competition, will return from his active career as soloist and chamber musician to perform Beethoven's great violin concerto—considered by many to be the finest ever written. Maestro Morgan himself will conduct this concerto, which has not been performed in Fremont since 1971.

"This concert is a perfect example of Michael Morgan's mentorship of young talent," said Eman Isadiar, executive director of Fremont Symphony. "It is an age-old tradition for seasoned artists to introduce their own successors to the public. In fact, this is precisely how Maestro Morgan first garnered public attention as the great conductor that he is."

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. at Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Fremont. All are invited to a post-concert reception to meet the guest artists and orchestra musicians. Tickets are available at www.fremontsymphony.org or via phone at (510) 371-4859. Prices are $55 - $65 for adults, $20 for students. To encourage more young people to attend this concert, children from 5 to 18 can receive a discounted price of $10.

Accent on Youth

Maestro Morgan to showcase young talent in Fremont

SUBMITTED BY CARYL DOCKTER

On Saturday, May 14, renowned conductor Michael Morgan (music director of the Oakland Symphony as well as the Bear Valley Music Festival) makes another guest appearance in Fremont with a special program focusing on youth—young composers, young conductors, and a young soloist.

Two of the works, Mendelssohn's effervescent "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Bizet's buoyant Symphony in C, were written when the composers were just 17 years old. The orchestra will also perform Mahler's tender "Adagietto"—a poem to Alma, his soon-to-be wife.

Ballet Folklórico Spring Concert

SUBMITTED BY JAIME HUERTAS

Ballet Folklórico de James Logan will be having their annual “Concierto de Primavera” (Spring Concert) in James Logan High School’s Center for Performing Arts on Saturday, May 14. Ballet Folklórico will be joined by special guests Alvarado Elementary Ballet Folklórico, Ballet Folklórico Nuestra Señora del Rosario, Flor de Mexico, Mariachi Mexicanísimo, Aguacero, La Mixta Criolla (Puerto Rican), and harpist Salvador Vasquez.

Ballet Folklórico was established in 1990 and started when a group of students were interested in learning a few dances to perform at the annual Cinco de Mayo assembly. Over the years, the group has evolved into a performing company, similar to many of the community-based Folklórico dance companies. They have performed at many festivals, statewide conferences, schools, and numerous public and private functions.

The dance group has been hosting the annual spring concert since the opening of James Logan’s Center for Performing Arts in 2010. Ballet Folklórico, which now consists of about 35 to 40 dancers, had the opportunity to perform at a Warriors game during their Latino Heritage Night. The spring concert will be their last performance before the school year ends.

Funds from the spring concert will help offset some of the group’s expenses. Tickets cost $10 for children ages 12 and under, $12 for students (with ID), $15 for seniors 65 years old and older, and $20 for adults. For tickets, please contact (510) 471-2520 or Jhuertas@nhusd.k12.ca.us. Visit www.balletfolkloricojlhs.org for more information.

Rowell Ranch Rodeo turns 96

Festivities kick off Saturday, May 14 with the RRR parade in Downtown Castro Valley. The Castro Valley Rotary Club will follow on the heels of the parade with a chili cook off at the Ranch, where a Poker Sorting will also take place, along with a Celebrity Team Penning, barbecue, and dance.

On Thursday, May 19 the 5th annual Cowgirl Picnic is in the morning and the Local Team Roping event in the evening. On Friday, May 20, rodeo cowboys will participate in Professional Rodeo Cowboys Associate Slack rounds, which are a tradition in rodeo that ensures all competing cowboys get enough turns at riding in the event. Friday night is capped off with the Rockin' Bull Bash, featuring bull riding, wild cow milking, and dancing into the night!

The busiest days of the Rodeo are undoubtedly Saturday and Sunday, when the ranch anticipates upwards of 15,000 visitors. "This year and every year (our biggest attraction) is the rodeo itself... and our Grand Entry. It is one of a kind," Lemmons said. During the rodeo's Grand Entry, the American Flag is carried down Harry's Hill in a dramatic horseback ride at full run. "It definitely will give you chills," Lemmons added.

The park will be home to a diverse range of activities including bull riding, roping, slack, and the Cowboy Experience, where visitors can learn all about what it's like to be a cowboy. Musical act Wolf Hamlin & the Front Porch Drifters will also be rocking out for attendees during the Rockin' Bull Bash.

East Bay residents old and young look to the RRR as a unique reminder of the area's roots in ranching culture. Castro Valley native Alene Rudy has been attending the RRR since the 1950s. "It's fascinating and a wonderful experience for children," Rudy said, adding, "The Rodeo gives them a chance to see cows, horses, and sheep... the things they don't get to see."

Recently, the Rodeo was honored by induction into the Pro Rodeo Hall of Fame's Class of 2014. "The Rowell Ranch Rodeo has been long known for being 'a cowboy's rodeo,'" Lemmons explained. "The first 'Cowboy Show' was in 1921. It was held for a handful of ranchers and town folk on the athletic field of the old Burbank School in Hayward. Harry Rowell viewed rodeo 'as American as the 7th inning stretch,' and he was set on keeping the tradition of the West alive," she added.

The ranch's namesake was Harry Rowell, an English native known as the "Rodeo King of the West." He made a name for himself in the early 1900s as a rancher and a cattleman. He settled in the East Bay, where he established the cattle ranch and a saddlery shop, which still operates today at its current location in Castro Valley.

Planning for such an elaborate rodeo is not an easy task. Though it is smaller than some modern rodeos, it is a year-long process with lots of helping hands. "The Rowell Ranch Rodeo committee is an all-volunteer committee – business owners, ranchers, students. The park is owned by the Hayward Area Recreation & Park District, with the Rowell Ranch Rodeo Committee producing the Rowell Ranch Pro Rodeo in May, National Day of the Cowboy July 23, and the Jr. Rodeo in first weekend in August," Lemmons noted.

The rodeo is sure to be a fun time for people of all ages. For more information on tickets and times, please visit www.rowell-ranchrodeo.com.

THEATRE

SUBMITTED BY MARY GALDE

CHRISTIAN PIZZIRANI

Broadway West Theatre Company presents Aaron Sorkin's compelling drama, "A Few Good Men," opening May 13 through June 11.

This Broadway hit about the trial of two Marines for complicity in the death of a fellow Marine at Guantanamo Bay sizzles on stage. The Navy lawyer, a callow young man more interested in softball games than the case, expects a plea bargain and a cover up of what really happened. Prodded by a female member of his defense team, the lawyer eventually makes a valiant effort to defend his clients and, in so doing, puts the military mentality and the Marine code of honor on trial.

The cast features: Chuck Phelps, Paul Sawyer, Ambera DeLash, Bryan Freeman, Spencer Crawford, Ian Wilcox, Michael Ettel, Lee-Ron, Spencer Stevenson, Tom Shamrell, Joel Butler, Adam Weinstein, Gary Laidlaw, Kyle Bobay and Brandon Kibbee. Director is John Rutski and State Manager, Cathy Souza. This play is produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

The Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) water polo team fell just short of a Western Water Polo Association (WWPA) championship on May 1, dropping a hard-fought title game to top seed and No. 12 ranked UC San Diego (UCSD) by a score of 9-5.

The Pioneers finish the 2016 season with a record of 16-11, marking the 13th time in 14 seasons they've had a .500 record or better under head coach Lisa Cooper. The team finished as WWPA runners-up to UCSD for the third straight season. Sabrina Hatzler led the Pioneers with three goals, and fellow senior Tori Dettloff netted two. Junior goal-keeper Nikki Vaughan was outstanding in the cage, making 10 saves against the Tritons.

Hatzler led all players with 10 goals and 13 points at the WWPA Championships and was named to the All-Tournament First Team. Vaughan was also a First Team All-Tournament selection after racking up 27 saves in the three games. Senior Taylor Cross, who finished her career sixth in program history with 132 goals, garnered Second Team All-Tournament honors.

The Pioneers routed Gannon 16-8 in the first round then reached the championship game for the third straight season with a thrilling 12-9 overtime victory over Sonoma State in the semifinal.

This marks the final career game for CSUEB's outstanding senior class: Cross, Dettloff, Hatzler, Rushforth, Simonne Call, Jenn Lightbody, and Nayiri Kechichian. All seven of them made major contributions for the Pioneers this season and throughout their careers, helping East Bay qualify for three straight WWPA Championship games.

Firepower was the name of the game for the James Logan Colts as they faced the American Eagles on May 4th. Taking an early 2-0 lead, the Colts added more runs in the third and eighth innings, never looking back, finishing with a 6-0 victory. Logan's Rogelio Reyes pitched a complete game and was named Colts Player of the Game. The Eagles put up a fight but were unable to convert base runners to scoreboard markers.

Chabot update

SUBMITTED BY MATT SCHWAB

Chabot College runners Conner Mckinnon, Jaskaran “Jazz” Singh and Leroy Elliott all figure to play prominent roles in the California Community College Athletic Association (CCCCAA) Northern Regional Track and Field Finals on Saturday, May 14 at Gladiator Stadium.

Singh, a 2011 Kennedy High graduate from Fremont, is enjoying a comeback season, two years after suffering three cracked vertebrae in a motorcycle accident. He ran a personal best of 10.76 seconds in the men’s 100 meters, to finish second at the Coast Conference meet.

Mckinnon, a freshman out of Amador Valley High in Pleasanton, is ranked ninth in the country and fourth in the state in the men’s 800 meters in the JC Track and Field Top 10, with a best of 1 minute, 52.32 seconds.

Elliott, a tremendous all-around athlete from West Anchorage High, Alaska, is tied for 10th in the country and third in the state in the 110 hurdles, with a best of 14.55.

Chabot coach Kyle Robinson has played an important role in Elliott’s development. “Coach Kyle has always been helping me, not only in the sports aspect but also in life as well,” Elliott said. “If I was ever hungry or needed a ride, he would help me out a little bit.”

With a goal of playing in the NFL (Natal Football League), Elliott will play wide receiver for Chabot in the fall. In high school, Elliott won Alaska state titles in the 110-meter hurdles, 300 hurdles and the triple jump, after earning state championships in wrestling and football. He was Gatorade Player of the Year in football.

“It was a really good year,” Elliott recalled. “That’s what kind of pushed me to come out here and be excited for this competition (in California). I knew if I could do well in Alaska, I could come out here and have competition with other, greater athletes. I feel like a small fish in a big pond now. I like that. I want to work my way up to the top.”

The NorCal Finals will begin at 11:30 a.m. with the Hammer Throw in the field events, and the track events will start at 3:05 p.m., with the women’s 3,000-meter Steeplechase. The track events will conclude at 7:35 p.m., with the men’s 4x400 relay.

The cost to attend is $12 general admission; $8 for faculty staff and children. For more information, email: krobinson@chabotcollege.edu

(L-R): Sierra Clark, Rose Marston, and Ali Cerminara captured 2016 All-CCAA honors

Softball

SUBMITTED BY STEVE CONNOLLY

The Cal State University East Bay (CSUEB) softball team placed three players on the 2016 All-California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) Teams, as announced on April 29.

Senior Sierra Clark was named to the First Team in the pitcher-utility spot, while senior outfielder Rose Marston and junior catcher Ali Cerminara were Honorable Mention selections. It’s the third career All-CCAA honor for Cerminara, who was voted to the Second Team her freshman and sophomore seasons.

Clark was outstanding for the Pioneers both in the circle and at the plate in 2016. She led the team with 10 wins, 142.0 innings pitched, and 15 complete games. She also ranked in the top-six in the CCAA with a 1.68 ERA and 116 strikeouts. The Felton native finished her career as one of the top hurlers in program history, ranking in the top 10 all-time in wins (24), innings (310), ERA (2.15), and strikeouts (192).

Clrk was also one of the squad’s most consistent hitters. She finished her senior campaign third on the team with a .306 batting average and tied for second with eight doubles. Clark is the fourth player in Pioneer history to earn First Team All-CCAA honors and the first since Chelsie Kakela in 2014.

Marston had a breakout senior year for East Bay as the team’s starting right fielder and leadoff hitter. She led the Pioneers in batting average (.351), on-base percentage (.449), slugging (.500), runs (33), and total bases (67). She got off to a red-hot start with 12 hits in her first five games and carried it through the season as the team’s most consistent player on both sides of the ball.

Cerminara made history in her third year, pacing the Pioneers with five homers on the season to become the program’s all-time home run leader with 24 round-trippers for her career. With a walk-off blast against Cal State San Marcos, she surpassed the previous record of 23, which had been held by Taylor Neumann since 2012. Cerminara finished the season with a .298 average and .418 on-base percentage, and led the team in RBI (29) and extra base hits (13). The Arizona native was also the second-toughest player in the CCAA to strike out this season, fanning just three times all year in 124 at bats.

The Pioneers wrapped up a rain-shortened 2016 season with a record of 18-28 under first-year head coach Claire Sua-Amundson. The squad closed out the campaign on a high note by winning three out of four games against defending CCAA champion Cal State Monterey Bay.

Community Discussion on Rent and Tenant Issues

SUBMITTED BY
LAUREN SUGAYAN

We are inviting you to attend a discussion in Union City regarding rapidly increasing rents and the options the City has to address it. The City Council will be holding a study session on Tuesday, May 17 at the Ruggieri Senior Center. City Council will discuss the following:

- What are tenant protections and rent stabilization?
- What is allowable by law?
- What are other cities in the Bay Area doing?

No formal action will be taken at this meeting.

We recognize that rents are rising rapidly in Union City and throughout the region resulting in economic strife for our community members who are unable to pay the cost of increasing rents. We even see this impact on our own employees who live here and in the greater region. The purpose of the study session is to provide City Council with an objective and high level view of rent stabilization and tenant protection options that are available for Union City. Although specific actions cannot be taken at this study session, the City Council may give City staff direction on what next steps to take.

For more information, contact Lauren Sugayan at (510) 675-5400 or laurens@unioncity.org.

Transitional Business Platforms Fuel Startup Growth

BY KIM MARSHALL,
ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
SPECIALIST

Last month, the Harvard Business Review published an article by Robert C. Wolcott titled “Does Your Business Look to the Future or Just Defend the Present?”

We found the piece to be thought-provoking and wanted to share how the phenomenon of “staying ahead of the curve” is happening in our local economy related to hardware startups.

In sum, the article suggests that businesses need transitional business strategies in order to respond, identify, and manage profitability in increasingly volatile economic markets. In many industries, businesses are succeeding by keeping up with ever-changing technology and by staying slightly ahead of the curve. In order to do this, transitional business platforms have developed as an intermediate strategy to help businesses focus on customers’ ever-changing wants and needs. These strategies are keeping businesses profitable by being responsive and dynamic. By using transitional business platforms, businesses can lead the market instead of following market trends.

The City of Fremont has witnessed innovative companies using transitional business platforms to build a customer base while scaling the original concept. Here are two great examples of technology “pivots”:

Enovix, founded in 2007, is in the pilot production of its 3D Silicon Lithium-ion Rechargeable Battery to power mobile products more effectively. Enovix is using a photolithographic and wafer process, similar to that used for producing solar cells. The Enovix platform fully utilizes advancements in reliable, high-volume, low-cost wafer production to transform battery performance just as ICs have for computing, LEDs for lighting and flat-panel LCDs for video displays.

Oorja Fuel Cells uses methanol as a primary energy source because it is sustainable and ubiquitously found. For their original market, the forklift industry, the product serves as a “range extender” for heavily used equipment in material handling. But over time, Oorja has adapted the technology to the telecommunications industry. Working with companies in developing countries, Oorja now manufactures their economical methanol fuel cells in Fremont and exports their product overseas. As the technology matures, Oorja can use its experience to grow the domestic demand for their products.

These innovative companies are using transitional business models to stay competitive in the ever-changing business climate by understanding what’s next in their industry and what customers want now and in the future. They are staying a step ahead of the curve.

Santa Clara County meeting on next stage for fairgrounds planning

BY: LAUREL ANDERSON/
MARINA HINESTROSA

The County of Santa Clara is inviting the community to an open house to discuss a draft Request for Qualifications (RFQ) and Expression of Interest for qualified business operators and investors who can assist the County in developing the 150-acre Santa Clara County Fairgrounds District. The goal is to transform the District into a vibrant regional community gathering place with recreational opportunities for residents and visitors.

The meeting is part of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors ongoing effort to ensure that the planning process for the Fairgrounds is inclusive and transparent.

A final RFQ will be presented to the Board of Supervisors at its June 7, 2016, meeting for direction and approval. The County will issue the RFQ immediately upon approval and interested parties would have 60 days to respond.

This RFQ represents the first stage in a competitive process that will be followed by a Request for Proposals (RFP) from which one or more business operators/investors will be selected to enter into negotiations for the development and use of some or all of the Fairgrounds District.

It is expected that most community events currently taking place at the Fairgrounds District will continue being hosted onsite in the future, including the annual County Fair.

The draft RFQ will be available for public review and can be downloaded at the “Draft RFQ” link at www.sccgov.org/fairgrounds. Hard copies are available on request.

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Is Fremont heading for No Parking zones everywhere? In an interesting juxtaposition, Pacific Commons, located next to Auto Mall (sellers of myriad brands of automobiles), is asking for reductions of parking at their new retail complex.

From Fremont City Council agenda for May 10, 2016

5. Scheduled Items

A. PAD 2 BUILDING PACIFIC COMMONS PLANNED DISTRICT AMENDMENT—

43950 Pacific Commons Boulevard - PLN2016-00145 - Public Hearing

(Published Notice) to Consider the Planning Commission's

Recommendation to Approve an Amendment to Planned District P-2000-214 and a Tentative Tract Map to Facilitate Development of a 6,500-Square-Foot Retail Pad Building and Allow an Additional 43-Space Parking Reduction within Planning Area 5 (The Block) of Pacific Commons, and a Finding that No Further Environmental Review is Required Pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) as a Final Environmental were Previously Certified and None of the Conditions Requiring a Subsequent or Supplemental EIR Stated in Section 15162 of the CEQA Guidelines are Present.

It appears that automobile parking is viewed with disdain these days. From housing to retail, less space for automobiles is seen as better. Routinely, requirements for parking are reduced; a brave new world that relies more and more on public transportation is theoretically emerging. This may ultimately be a good thing, but how and when the infrastructure to support this idea will surface is yet to materialize.

There is no disagreement that traffic congestion is a major problem in our part of the world (and many others), but simply legislating it out of existence will not work without rational and practical solutions. The future will hold some of those remedies, but for current residents and visitors, eliminating parking options is not a viable solution.

Plans for the addition to Pacific Commons noted above are inviting and welcome, concentrating on a pedestrian oriented experience. However, shoppers will still need space to park before entering this shoppers paradise and convenient shuttles for those unable to walk throughout the complex and others burdened by their purchases. In the future, the advent of driverless cars and auto parking features that direct cars to a remote lot until needed may integrate with planners dreams of a landscape without the need for onsite parking spaces, but much of this is years away from fruition.

Even the Jetsons needed a place to park their aerocar.

Acacia Creek kicks off Walk for Wellness 2016

SUBMITTED BY PENNY VITTORIA

On May 1, Acacia Creek kicked off Masterpiece Living's 2016 Walk for Wellness community-wide event. This is a month-long campaign centered on increased movement and overall well-being. The goal is to motivate individuals to move more and sustain that increased movement throughout the year.

Walk for Wellness is also about moving with purpose, and incorporating the four components (spiritual, intellectual, social and physical) of successful aging into that movement. It asks the questions, "What is your motivation to move more this month?" And, "How can you incorporate this purpose into your daily movement and goals?"

Research tells us that a sedentary lifestyle puts us at greater risk for heart disease, some cancers, type 2 diabetes, stroke, bone loss, dementia, and a host of other chronic conditions. The CDC (Center for Disease Control) recommends 150 minutes, or 2.5 hours, of physical activity per week for greater health. For this reason, Walk for Wellness has a tracking system in place that tallies minutes of movement which can include, but is not limited to, exercise of any kind, such as dancing, walking, gardening, cleaning and playing with children.

Events like Walk for Wellness illustrate that our partnership with Masterpiece Living gives us the unique opportunity to offer more than just a standard wellness program.

Walk for Wellness runs for four weeks, and continues through Saturday, May 28.

For more information on Acacia Creek, visit: www.acaciacreek.org or call (510) 476-6379.

Weickowski to honor local Asian Pacific Islander Americans

SUBMITTED BY JEFF BARBOSA

Four local community leaders from Alameda and Santa Clara counties who are active in education, technology, arts, culture and the non-profit sectors will be honored by state Senator Bob Weickowski (D-Fremont) at his 6th Annual Asian Pacific Islander American Heritage Leadership Awards ceremony Thursday, May 12 in Fremont.

“Each of these individuals illustrates in their own way the broad contributions made by the Asian Pacific Islander community in the region,” Weickowski said. “Year after year, their level of civic engagement is nonstop. I am honored to take a moment to recognize their accomplishments and service.”

The honorees are: Demos Punsalan, Fremont; Ray and Priya Mitra, Castro Valley; and Linda Chen, San Jose.

Punsalan is a co-founder of California Technological Care, (CTC) a non-profit organization that has aimed to bridge the “digital divide” and combat computer illiteracy in underserved communities since 1999. In this role, he has worked to collect, refurbish, donate and install computers with internet access in public schools in need throughout the Bay Area, Central Valley, Asia, Africa, and South America. He is also a frequent volunteer for various civic programs, including Meals on Wheels, the Philippine Earthquake Relief Project and the AIDS Foundation.

Chen is a long-time community leader in San Jose and has been recognized for her tireless efforts. She served two terms as a Berryessa Union School District trustee in San Jose, including serving as president. She is the founder of the annual “Holiday Seasons” and Lunar New Year events in Berryessa, as well as a chief organizer for the Berryessa Relay for Life program. Chen also teaches Mandarin in the Campbell Union High School District.

The Mitras are founders of Induz, a non-profit organization founded in 2004, that is dedicated to fostering arts and culture education in the Bay Area, India, and Africa. Recognizing the lack of access to art and music programs in schools, the Mitras launched the “Passport to the World Arts” program in conjunction with local schools, libraries and the YMCA to bring arts education to low-income school districts throughout Silicon Valley. Their programs have been showcased at various art museums, including the Museum of Children’s Art (MOCHA) in Oakland and the San Francisco Airport Museum.

Senator Weickowski’s 10th Senate District includes southern Alameda County and northeast Santa Clara County.

Recall of Trader Joe’s Broccoli Slaw and Kale Salad with Chicken

SUBMITTED BY USDA FOOD SAFETY & INSPECTION SERVICE

Ghiringhelli Specialty Foods is recalling approximately 33,610 pounds of Broccoli Slaw & Kale Salad with White Chicken Meat product that may be adulterated with Listeria monocytogenes, as announced recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS).

The Trader Joe’s Broccoli Slaw & Kale Salad with White Chicken Meat product that is affected by this recall was produced April 26 through May 1, 2016, and has “Use By” labels on the plastic packaging containing dates 05/02 through 05/07. The following products are subject to recall:

9.3-oz. clear plastic container packages with the label: “Trader Joe’s Broccoli Slaw & Kale Salad with White Chicken Meat; Sunflower Seeds, Cranberries and a Sweet & Spicy Vinaigrette.”

The products subject to recall bear establishment number “P-17156” inside the USDA mark of inspection. These items were shipped to Trader Joe’s distributors in Arizona, California, Nevada, and Utah.

The problem was discovered on May 3, 2016, when the company’s vendor of sunflower seeds notified the company that the product might have been contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes. There have been no confirmed reports of adverse reactions due to consumption of these products. According to the recalling firm, all affected product has been removed from the market channels. FSIS will verify removal through recall effectiveness checks.

Consumption of food contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes can cause listeriosis, a serious infection that primarily affects older adults, persons with weakened immune systems, and pregnant women and their newborns. Less commonly, persons outside these risk groups are affected.

Listeriosis can cause fever, muscle aches, headache, stiff neck, confusion, loss of balance and convulsions sometimes preceded by diarrhea or other gastrointestinal symptoms. An invasive infection spreads beyond the gastrointestinal tract. In pregnant women, the infection can cause miscarriages, stillbirths, premature delivery or life-threatening infection of the newborn. In addition, serious and sometimes fatal infections in older adults and persons with weakened immune systems. Listeriosis is treated with antibiotics. Persons in the higher-risk categories who experience flu-like symptoms within two months after eating contaminated food should seek medical care and tell the health care provider about eating the contaminated food.

Consumers who have purchased these products are urged not to consume them. These products should be thrown away or returned to the place of purchase.

FSIS routinely conducts recall effectiveness checks to verify recalling firms notify their customers of the recall and that steps are taken to make certain that the product is no longer available to consumers. When available, the retail distribution list(s) will be posted on the FSIS website at www.fsis.usda.gov/recalls.

Five fallen officers honored

SUBMITTED BY KAITLYN JOHNSON

Law enforcement officers from throughout California converged at the State Capitol in Sacramento, on May 2, to honor officers who made "the ultimate sacrifice" in the line of duty. Senator Cathleen Galgiani served as the legislative sponsor of this year's event that included the recognition of five officers who lost their lives in 2015.

Galgiani's Senate Concurrent Resolution 132 declared Monday, May 2, 2016 to be California Peace Officers' Memorial Day and asked all Californians to honor and respect the amazing sacrifice that all peace officers give in defense of their communities.

The Legislature and Governor recognized five officers who lost their lives in the past year or those who had not yet been enrolled:

- Officer Michael J. Johnson, San Jose Police Department, End Of Watch March 24, 2015;

- Officer David J. Nelson, Bakersfield Police Department, End Of Watch June 26, 2015;
- Sergeant Scott P. Lunder, Hayward Police Department, End Of Watch July 22, 2015;
- Officer Bryce E. Hanes, San Bernardino Police Department, End Of Watch November 5, 2015;
- Officer William H. Waggoner of the Long Beach Police Department, End Of Watch December 18, 1954.

"It is my solemn honor to be the legislative sponsor for Senate Concurrent Resolution 132," said Galgiani. "Our peace officers are mentors in our schools and familiar faces in our neighborhoods, and in times of crisis, they are the first to respond in the face of tragedy. They are mothers, fathers, daughters, and sons who have dedicated their lives to public service, working every day to build a brighter future for their families and their communities."

The Peace Officer Memorial, located on the western end of the capitol grounds was the site of a formal ceremony that enrolled the officer's names into the permanent bronze monument.

Fremont Celebrates Affordable Housing Month with New Affordable Projects Underway

The City of Fremont designated May as Affordable Housing Month during this week's City Council meeting to highlight the City's continual push to expand its local affordable housing supply.

The City was awarded a $1.7 million grant from the State of California's Local Housing Trust Fund Program in 2014, and updated its affordable housing ordinance in 2015 to further increase funding for affordable housing and incentivize market rate developers to incorporate affordable housing into their projects. Now the City's efforts have entered into a new stage, with large projects officially afoot.

For starters, Lennar Homes and Toll Brothers plan to build more than 400 units of affordable rental housing just steps away from the Warm Springs/South Fremont BART station. Toll Brothers has partnered with Bridge Housing, and Lennar Homes is partnering with St. Anton Communities, a privately owned affordable housing developer, builder and manager.

"The St. Anton Communities project is the outcome of the Mayor and City Council's vision to create flexible, workable housing policies that allows us to build this nearly $100 million workforce housing community," said Ardie Zahedani, Division President of St. Anton Communities.

The St. Anton Communities project, Innovia, is a 290-unit transit-oriented mixed-use affordable housing development that will provide affordable rental housing, retail space and a number of onsite amenities, programs, and classes for community enrichment such as active courtyards, social centers, a swimming pool, gathering areas, a tech center, workforce development, and a bike repair facility. Construction is anticipated to break ground in November 2016 and be completed within two years.

Other projects in the pipeline include:

- Laguna Commons – a 65-unit affordable housing project with nearly half of the units reserved for military veterans has almost completed construction and is scheduled for occupancy at the end of May or early June this year.
- Central Commons – a 30-unit Habitat for Humanity project for low-income home buyers is anticipated to break ground later this year or in early 2017.
- Parc55 – a 90-unit affordable senior apartment project that is set to begin construction in late 2016 or early 2017.
- Stevenson Family Apartments – an 80-unit affordable housing project developed with funding from nonprofit developer, MidPen Housing. Construction is planned for early 2017.

In addition to these new affordable housing projects, the City of Fremont has established other creative approaches to increase affordable housing. The City partnered with HIP Housing, the San Mateo based nonprofit that runs one of the nation's largest Home Sharing programs. The program creates affordable housing options from the existing housing stock by matching people who have spare bedrooms available with those seeking a place to reside, resulting in a mutually beneficial solution for the community.

Fremont's efforts are paying off! The City received a Housing Leadership Award from the Non-Profit Housing Association of Northern California on May 4, 2016, for its leadership when it comes to committing "boomerang" funds to affordable housing. These are new property tax revenues that the City received when the State eliminated Redevelopment Agencies.

FREE BIKE FESTIVAL to fill Downtown Hayward

SUBMITTED BY BECKY BELL

Bicyclists of all ages will enjoy four city blocks of fun during the free “Downtown Hayward Bike Festival and Cyclepath Vintage BMX Show and Street Jam” on Saturday, May 14. More than a dozen organizations will participate in this second annual event, including a kids’ obstacle course by the California Highway Patrol (CHP), safety and skills classes by Bike East Bay, free bike repair by Tri-Valley Bike Doctors, BMX trick riding exhibitions arranged by Cyclepath, live music, food and more. All of the events are free and some exhibitors will offer free bikes, helmets, and equipment.

A unique feature of this year’s festival will be the “Rock the Bike” stage, with bands performing great music while spectators generate electricity as they pedal specially-equipped stationary bicycles.

Principal event sponsors are the Downtown Business Improvement Area, the City of Hayward, and the Hayward Chamber of Commerce.

“This is an event to showcase how Downtown Hayward is a great family destination,” said Kim Huggett, president of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce. “The fact that so many organizations are participating demonstrates that it will be a true community-wide activity.”

A summary of some the free activities:

- Bike Repairs: Will be offered for free by Tri-Valley Bike Doctors, who will supply 10 mechanics at a series of work stations. Their supplies are made possible by a grant from the Hayward Rotary Club. Bike Festival attendees can sign in, have their bike’s air, chain and brakes inspected, their tires and tubes repaired and adjustments made.

- Bike East Bay Bike Rodeo: Bike East Bay is a 4,000-member organization working to make the region a better place for biking. Their rodeo will feature safety checks, skills tests such as riding over a teeter-totter, a “slow ride race,” and a route for all ages drawn in chalk on Main Street. Learn more at BikeEastBay.org/Rodeo.

- Rock the Bike Stage: Bands will perform while spectators generate the electricity required for the musicians at the Bank of the West Stage off B Street.

- CHP Obstacle Course: The Hayward office of the California Highway Patrol will sponsor an obstacle course for kids.

- HARD Showcase: The upcoming summer program for the Hayward Area Recreation and Park District will be promoted with a bounce house, bungee competition, and arts and crafts for kids.

- BMX Street Jam Tricks: Hayward’s Cyclepath bike shop will host an entire block for BMXers, featuring Street Jam demonstrations with fun boxes, wall ride, and a rail grind. The events will include a BMX “bunnyhop” competition and awards will be given to the best vintage BMX bikes on display. A DJ will add great tunes.

- Vintage BMX Show: Prizes will be offered in bikes from the ‘70s and ‘80s in categories such as best freestyle, best mini/pit bike, and best cruiser. Set-up begins at

They left out the front of the store, but then fled to the rear and over the fence onto Robin Street. Suspects were described as unknown race males, medium build, both wearing hooded sweatshirts, gloves, masks and jeans. Units searched the neighborhood and worked to locate surveillance video.

Two fishermen at the end of the pier on Marshlands Road reported seeing a dead body floating past them in the water. Units responded to the area but could not immediately locate anything. A California Highway Patrol (CHP) helicopter responded and located the body near the old train bridge. The body was recovered by Fremont Fire via their boat. The Alameda County Coroner responded to the scene and took over the investigation as to the identity and cause of death.

Sunday, May 1

seen wearing blue jeans, black shirt, white shirt, covering his face and armed with a silver revolver. Suspect 2: Unknown male. Suspect vehicle: Dark blue or black Honda Accord or Civic.

Monday, May 2

Officers investigated a residential burglary attempt in the 200 block of Warren Common. A suspect knocked on the front door and, after receiving no response, began trying to kick in the front door. items, including a BMX bike and several jackets. Case was investigated by Community Service Officer (CSO) Ernst.

Wednesday, May 4

Officers investigated a residential burglary on the 38000 block of Litchfield Circle. Unknown suspect(s) entered an unlocked vehicle that was parked in the driveway of the residence. GOVERNMENT

CITY OF FREMONT
SUMMARY OF ADOPTED
ORDINANCE NO. 08-2016
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF FREMONT
AMENDING FREMONT MUNICIPAL CODE
CHAPTER 18.40, ARTICLES I, II AND III
REGARDING SOLID WASTE, RECYCLABLES AND ORGANICS MANAGEMENT

On April 19, 2016, the Fremont City Council introduced the above ordinance. The ordinance would amend Fremont Municipal Code Title 8 (Health and Safety), Chapter 18.40 (Solid Waste, Recyclables and Organics Management), Articles I, II and III as described below.

The ordinance would change references from "yard waste" to "organics" to better reflect current terminology and to reflect how materials are being collected and processed. Other definitions in the ordinance would also be updated to eliminate definitions that are no longer needed and to add or revise definitions to reflect current practices.

The ordinance would also eliminate the "zero generator" exemption language to reflect the elimination of that program. The current ordinance allows an exemption from collection service fees if a residential generator demonstrates that he or she does not produce and/or discard yard waste requiring collection. The proposed ordinance provides that this exemption would be phased out for all customers except for those who have already been approved and those who apply prior to the effective date of the ordinance.

The ordinance would also expand the permissible collection hours to authorize collection services to be provided earlier than 6:00 a.m. in mixed use and transit-oriented development areas.

The Ordinance was adopted at a regular meeting of the City of Fremont City Council held May 3, 2016, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: Mayor Harrison, Vice Mayor Mei, Councilmembers: Chan, Bacon and Jones

NOES: None

ABSENT: None

ABSTAIN: None

A certified copy of the full text of Ordinance No. 08-2016 as adopted is available for review upon request in the office of the City Clerk, 3300 Capitol Avenue, Building A, Fremont.

CITY OF FREMONT
SUMMARY OF ADOPTED ORDINANCE NO.
09-2016
AN ORDINANCE OF THE
CITY OF FREMONT AMENDING
FREMONT MUNICIPAL CODE
TITLE 18, CHAPTER 18.165,
DENSITY BONUS AND AFFORDABLE HOUSING INCENTIVES

On April 19, 2016, the Fremont City Council introduced the above ordinance. The ordinance would amend Fremont Municipal Code (FMC) Title 18 (Planning and Zoning), Chapter 18.165 (Density Bonus and Affordable Housing Incentives) for consistency with State law.

The ordinance would address new requirements to provide replacement housing when an application for a density bonus is proposed on a site that has existing affordable rental housing. It would also specify that affordable rental units must be restricted for a minimum period of 55 years. The zoning amendment would provide additional reductions to required parking ratios for housing developments that are eligible for a density bonus. These ratios would apply to rental housing (including those for senior citizens or special needs populations) or ownership housing, within one-half mile of a major transit stop or fixed bus service, as specified, in addition to other criteria. Finally, the ordinance would add definitions of "major transit stop," "special need housing," and other terms, and would update submittal requirements accordingly.

The Ordinance was adopted at a regular meeting of the City of Fremont City Council held May 3, 2016, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: Mayor Harrison, Vice Mayor Mei, Councilmembers: Chan, Bacon and Jones

Scam calls and emails using IRS as bait persist

SUBMITTED BY MARIAELENA LEMUS

Scams using the IRS as a lure continue. They take many different forms. The most common scams are phone calls and emails from thieves who pretend to be from the IRS. They use the IRS name, logo or a fake web-site to try to steal your money. They may try to steal your identity too.

Be wary if you get an out-of-the-blue phone call or automated message from someone who claims to be from the IRS. Sometimes they say you owe money and must pay right away. Other times they say you are owed a refund and ask for your bank account information over the phone. Don't fall for it. Here are several tips that will help you avoid becoming a scam victim.

The real IRS will not:

- Call you to demand immediate payment. The IRS will not call you if you owe taxes without first sending you a bill in the mail.
- Demand tax payment and not allow you to question or appeal the amount you owe.
- Require that you pay your taxes a certain way. For example, demand that you pay with a prepaid debit card.
- Ask for your credit or debit card numbers over the phone.
- Threaten to bring in local police or other agencies to arrest you without paying.
- Threaten you with a lawsuit.
- If you don't owe taxes or have no reason to think that you do:
- Contact the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration. Use TIGTA's "IRS Impersonation Scam Reporting" web page to report the incident.

You should also report it to the Federal Trade Commission. Use the "FTC Complaint Assistant" on FTC.gov. Please add "IRS Telephone Scam" to the comments of your report.

If you think you may owe taxes:

- Ask for a call back number and an employee badge number.
- Call the IRS at (800) 829-1040. IRS employees can help you.
- In most cases, an IRS phishing scam is an unsolicited, bogus email that claims to come from the IRS. They often use fake refunds, phony tax bills, or threats of an audit. Some emails link to sham websites that look real. The scammers' goal is to lure victims to give up their personal and financial information. If they get what they're after, they use it to steal a victim's money and their identity.
- If you get a 'phishing' email, the IRS offers this advice:
 - Don't reply to the message.
 - Don't give out your personal or financial information.
 - Forward the email to phishing@irs.gov. Then delete it.
 - Don't open any attachments or click on any links. They may have malicious code that will infect your computer.
- More information on how to report phishing or phone scams is available on IRS.gov
- Each and every taxpayer has a set of fundamental rights they should be aware of when dealing with the IRS. These are your Taxpayer Bill of Rights. Explore your rights and our obligations to protect them on IRS.gov

Terry Kane (1954-2016)

Loving father, husband, counselor and friend. Terry was born and raised in Merced, California. He graduated from Santa Clara University (1975), received an M.Phil in Economics from Oxford (1977) and a Law Degree from USC (1980). He and his wife, Judy Keifer, met in Los Angeles, quickly re-locating to the home ground of San Jose to raise their two beautiful girls, Mary Kate and Holly. His family was his life, and he adored his girls.

Terry joked that he spent over 20 years practicing law in different offices in downtown San Jose all within a 9 iron shot of Almaden Boulevard and Santa Clara Street. He was an expert in trusts and estates law and later moved into the banking world working at Wells Fargo, First Republic and Fremont Bank. In 2009, he authored The Wise Planner, a guide to estate planning for families of all income levels, written with his intelligence and wit to simplify potentially complicated legal matters.

He was a 20+ year board member for the San Jose Conservation Corp, member of the San Jose Rotary Club, and Associate Law Professor at Lincoln Law School. His piano playing was a joy to his family and others, as well as to himself. Terry loved scuba diving with his daughters and boasted his second job was camera bag Sherpa for his wife Judy, an amateur photographer.

Terry was full of pride and love for his family: daughter Mary Kate studying for her PhD in Oceanography at the University of Rhode Island, daughter Holly at Oxford University completing her M.Phil in Archaeology, and his loving wife and best friend of more than 30 years, Judy. He is also survived by his elder brother, Thomas J. Kane, III, M.D., his sister, Sharon Marshak, and mother and father-in-law Jan and Jerry Keifer. His mother, Kay Kane, died in 2015. His father Thomas J. Kane, II died in 1973.

He will be missed more than he could ever know. Services will be held at Stone Church in Willow Glen, 1937 Lincoln Ave, San Jose, 95125, on Thursday, May 12 at 4 p.m. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the San Jose Conservation Corp, 2650 Senter Road, San Jose, 95111.

Obituary

Walter Chapman Lindsay

Walter Chapman Lindsay was born on July 18, 1949 to Walter Glen and Dolores Margurite Chapman Lindsay in Tracy, California. He is survived by his two younger siblings, Kristin Priddis and Scott Lindsay. His first name, Walter, was a legacy passed down from his great, great, great grandfather, and his middle name, Chapman, was his mother's maiden name, but he was known by his friends and family as Chappy. Chappy attended Walter's Junior High School and Washington High School, then was in the second graduating class of Kennedy High School in Fremont, California. He then attended UC Berkeley for his freshman year of college. Later he would attend BYU and then transfer again to UC Berkeley to graduate with a BS in Microbiology. He then was accepted to the California College of Podiatric Medicine. He loved learning and was a very good student. After his freshman year of college, Chappy went on to serve a mission in the South East Mexico Mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Those two years had great influence on his life and cemented his testimony of Jesus Christ. It was there on his mission that he learned to speak Spanish fluently, but even before that he had a gift for languages. Early on in his career he noticed how speaking a few words in someone's native tongue could brighten their demeanor, and so would ask people from new cultures how to say greetings and use them often. After his mission, when Chappy attended BYU, he met his wife, Penelope Bastian, who always went by Penny. Penny was the love and joy of Chappy's life, as he was to her. Together they had 2 sons followed by 5 daughters. Each time another daughter was born, Chappy would say "Boys are great, but you can never have enough daughters!" Chappy's seven children, and their friends whom they took in as honorary children, have always loved and respected him and look up to his example of a kind, caring, man who loves their mother. After medical school Chappy bought a small practice in the Glenmore area and eventually provided foot care for more than 100 skilled nursing, small care homes and residential care homes to care for the elderly, and the physically and mentally challenged. He was one of the only doctors in the bay area who was willing to do home visits for his patients. He loved providing that service and truly cared for his patients. He diligently served them for 36 years. Chappy loved being a boy scout. He became an eagle scout in his youth and worked as a scout master as an adult. He also had many jobs working in the district. One of his favorite things was to be on the Woodbadge staff. He cherished the friends he made there and the time he worked with them while on staff. The most important thing to Chappy was his faith in the Lord, Jesus Christ and in serving Him by serving others around him. He was a remarkable man, who tried to live as the Savior would have him be. On September 16th, 2015 he was diagnosed with Leukemia. He retired that day. He went through 2 rounds of chemo therapy and was in remission for a few months, but when it returned, and after much prayer, he felt that the Lord had plans for him elsewhere. He decided not to receive any more chemo therapy or bone marrow transplants and spent the next months with his family and going on walks with his sweetheart. He is survived by his wife, seven children and five spouses, and 21 grandchildren including twins that were born just recently. We love and miss him.

Two suspects arrested for attempted carjacking, Meals on Wheels vehicle theft

SUBMITTED BY GENEVA BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

On Thursday, May 5, at approximately 10:20 a.m., Fremont patrol officers pursued and arrested two suspects in Castro Valley who stole and fled in a Meals on Wheels truck after attempting to carjack a female victim of her vehicle in Fremont.

Thursday morning at 10:18 a.m., Fremont Police dispatchers received a call from a victim of an attempted carjacking in Walnut Plaza (Walnut Ave and Liberty Street). The victim told dispatchers an unknown male, later identified as Reginald Nunn (45 year old Fremont resident), attempted to reach in her vehicle window and take her car. After the failed attempt, Nunn ran to the parking lot located behind City Hall (3300 Capitol Ave), and jumped into the driver’s seat of a Meals on Wheels truck. His female companion, Latu Tapueluelu (33 years old, Fremont resident), jumped in the passenger seat and they locked the doors. The two suspects fled in the truck through the parking lot and in the direction of Capitol Ave.

A Fremont Police Sergeant was in the area and immediately saw the vehicle fleeing. The suspects led officers on a pursuit for approximately 12.5 miles at low to moderate speeds through the cities of Fremont, Union City, Hayward and Castro Valley. When road and traffic conditions were clear, a pursuit intervention technique (PIT) was used to disable the vehicle on the on-ramp of Interstate 580 and Redwood Rd. in Castro Valley. Nunn immediately got out of the vehicle with a bag and claimed he had a bomb. With the assistance of a Fremont Police K9, he was taken into custody and placed under arrest at approximately 10:40 a.m. No bomb was located.

Tapueluelu was also placed under arrest by Fremont officers. Both suspects were transported to the hospital via ambulance to be treated for moderate non-life threatening injuries sustained during the incident and were later released and booked into Santa Rita Jail. No victims, third party motorists or police personnel were injured during the incident.

Reginald Nunn was booked on charges of attempted carjacking, resisting arrest, assaulting/willfully harming a police K9, auto theft, driving on a suspended license and felony reckless evading.

Latu Tapueluelu was booked on charges of attempted carjacking, resisting arrest, auto theft and felony reckless evading.

Watsonville's Crescent Hill Nursery, or gain tips and information on how to grow heirloom flowers from Fremont's Friends of Heirloom Flowers. LEAFCenter, a Niles-based organization promoting community sustainability, will also be at the show.

The event is not just about our botanical friends, though. In 2010, the art of quilting was introduced, thanks to advocacy from Niles' two quilt shops, Color Me Quilts and Not Just

More than two decades ago, a handful of Niles residents decided to host a community garden tour to share these yard oases with neighbors and the public. Now, twenty-three years later and sponsored by the Niles Main Street Association (NMSA), the "Niles Wildflower, Art, Garden, and Quilt Show" is a highlight of spring in the district.

On May 15, attendees will be given a "treasure" map guiding them to participating gardens. Gardens from seven homes are featured, including the California Nursery Historical Park, an easy walk from downtown Niles. Gardens will display a rich array of plants and different ways to groom a garden, like the "Lose Your Lawn" program of the Alameda County Water District.

"Niles is very unique and we are proud of the homeowners that make this event such a wonderful one," said Keith Elrod, Owner of Keith's Collectibles and Books and NMSA board member. "It's been tough over the past four years due to limited rain, but this year, gardens are outstanding throughout Niles," he said.

Nurseries and organizations will provide gardening tips and demonstrations: Learn how to arrange drought-resistant plants to save water, how to take care of unusual and rare plants from QuiltZ. "Even though some people were skeptical at first, we now ask why we waited so long to include quilts," quipped Elrod.

Quilts from locals and the Piecemakers Quilt Guild of Southern Alameda County (a nonprofit promoting quilt making) will be displayed in the gardens found on the treasure map and Niles Main Plaza. For the second year in a row, Color Me Quilts is partnering with Quilts of Honor, an organization that makes and provides quilts for veterans. Quilts from the organization will be displayed at Color Me Quilts; the shop will also have a presentation about Quilts of Honor, with quilts planned to be given to veterans.

A quilting challenge is taking place, too. The challenge this year was USA themed; participants had to use red, white, and blue fabric for their quilt creation. Entries will be displayed at Not Just QuiltZ and the public gets to choose their favorite.

The needle art doesn't stop there. The Fremont Art Association, located in Niles, is exhibiting their Fiber Arts and Flower Show. Various forms of needle art will be presented, from crochet and sewing to free-form knitting and quilting.

Other art mediums will be featured on Niles Boulevard, with local artisans selling pottery, glass, jewelry, and more, as well as a big plant sale with vendors selling garden wares. NMSA is expecting around forty vendors at the show.

Niles shops will be open for business and also have booths on the main strip. The Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum will play a documentary about Fremont's dragstrip history, and the Niles Canyon Railway will be open as well.

A recent addition to the show is the "Charm Trail." Select shops will be selling $2 souvenir charms, and Color Me Quilts will help attendees attach them to bracelets.

Two to three thousand people are expected to attend the show this year. Proceeds from the garden tour go directly back to the Niles Main Street Association to support their myriad community events.

This springtime show brings out some of the best of the district. "It's about getting people out, [for them] to see how wonderful Niles is," explained Debra Telles, proprietor of Color Me Quilts and the show's event chair.

"Niles is a warm place to be... You get a little bit of everything here," Telles said.

And what a fantastic way to check out all Niles has to offer during this spring rendezvous!
