Beer on the Rails

PHOTOS BY DAN SARKA AND BOB BRADLEY

Inspired by the success of the annual "Wine Tasting Specials," Niles Canyon Railway will have something special for beer aficionados this year as they host "Beer on the Rails," a fundraising event, on two Saturdays: June 4 and 18. Be treated to a two-hour ride while tasting beer from local breweries and accompanying food.

According to Donna Alexander, Sunol station agent, "We have been doing our Wine Tasting Specials for about 15 years. We noticed that beer was becoming a big draw at events, so our commissary department decided to try a beer train. We had our first Oktoberfest Beer Train last year, and it was very successful. We decided to try it again in the summer."

Sample a variety of beers from Altamont Brewery, Workingman Brewery, 8 Bridges Brewery and more. There will be a representative from the different breweries pouring at each table onboard; they can answer any questions about their brewery.

Newark Symphonic Winds Free Summer Concert

SUBMITTED BY JIM CARTER

Enjoy an evening of absolutely wonderful symphonic music provided free of charge by the Tri-Cities' own 50 musician symphony – the Newark Symphonic Winds – directed by Richard Wong.

The June 4 summer concert kicks off with "The Genius of Ray Charles," which includes such tunes as "Georgia on My Mind" as well as other favorites. We'll then perform "Hallelujah," a lovely melodic piece by Leonard Cohen. We'll pick up the tempo with "Fuego del Alma" by Carl Strommen and end the first half with all the memorable themes from the "Harry Potter" movies.

The second half of our performance will begin by featuring the wonderful music of the extremely talented Newark Woodwind Quintet, comprised of Myra Downs (flute), Sydney Moura (clarinet), Larry George (oboe), Blossom Santiago (horn), and Paul Egermeier (bassoon). We'll then rock you out with "The Blues Brothers Revue." Keeping up the pace, next comes "The Devil Went Down to Georgia" by Charlie Daniels, followed by a fun tune, "Sandpaper Ballet," featuring some of our very accomplished percussionists. We'll end the evening with a medley of tunes from the beloved Walt Disney movie "Mary Poppins."

This free performance (no tickets are necessary) is sponsored by the Fremont Bank Foundation. For more information, visit <http://newarksymphonic.org> or call (510) 552-7186.

Breast-Conserving Surgery Patients at Washington Hospital Have Low Rates of Repeat Surgeries

Removing a Tiny Amount of Extra Tissue Around Margins Can Minimize Need for Additional Surgery Later

Breast-conserving surgery – also known as lumpectomy or partial mastectomy – is among the most common cancer surgeries performed in the United States. According to a study published in 2012 in the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA), an estimated 60 to 75 percent of breast cancer patients undergo lumpectomy or partial mastectomy as their initial treatment.

“Physicians have been performing breast-conserving surgery on breast cancer patients for decades,” says surgeon Dr. William Dugoni, medical director of the Washington Women’s Center. “In breast-conserving surgery, we remove the cancerous area and a surrounding margin of normal tissue. The goal is to take just enough tissue so that the breast looks as normal as possible after the surgery while the chance of the cancer coming back is low. Radiation therapy is usually given after surgery for several weeks. For early-stage breast cancer, breast-conserving surgery combined with radiation therapy has the same survival rate as mastectomy.”

Unfortunately, the authors of the study published in JAMA noted that breast-conserving procedures often require additional surgery (re-excision) if the margins around the tumor contain cancer cells.

“Our results demonstrate an overall re-excision rate of 22.9 percent that is lower than previous studies demonstrating re-excision rates of 36 to 50 percent,” the authors state. “(Another study) reported a re-excision rate following initial breast-conserving therapy of Breast lumpectomies and partial mastectomies are among the most common cancer surgeries in the United States. At Washington Hospital, the need to perform additional surgery (re-excision) following the initial procedure is lower than what studies found to be the re-excision rates.

37.9 percent ... with 26 percent undergoing partial breast re-excision alone and 11.9 percent ultimately undergoing mastectomy.”

In 2012, the year that study was published in JAMA, the rate for Washington Hospital patients undergoing partial breast re-excision alone was 10 percent, and the overall re-excision rate (including those undergoing mastectomy) was 13 percent. In both 2014 and 2015,

Washington Hospital reported rates of 3 percent for patients undergoing partial breast re-excision alone and 10 percent for the overall re-excision rate (including those undergoing mastectomy).

Dr. Dugoni credits both scientific thinking and surgical artistry for the large difference between the nationally reported rates of re-excision and the rates at Washington Hospital.

“I had become frustrated by the reports that one out of four women nationally had to go back for re-excision after breast-conserving surgery,” he explains. “These additional surgeries can cause significant emotional, physical and economic stress for patients. When you have to go back into the breast to take out more volume after the breast has already started to heal, the cosmetic result is not as satisfactory. Plus, the need for additional surgery has the potential to delay the use of other treatments, including radiation therapy.

“So we developed a surgical procedure to take a little more tissue around the edges of the margins during initial surgery,” he continues. “I call it the ‘orange peel’ procedure, taking a tiny bit more of the ‘rind’ around the cavity. In my opinion, that is the

Do Your Legs Hurt When You Walk?

Washington Hospital Seminar Focuses on Peripheral Vascular Disease

If your legs hurt when you walk, you could have peripheral vascular disease (PVD). While it might feel like just a muscle cramp, it could actually be the result of restricted blood flow in the arteries.

“Patients often massage the area in their leg that hurts, thinking it’s just a cramp,” said Dr. Gabriel Herscu, a vascular and endovascular surgeon who is a member of the Washington Hospital Medical Staff. “With PVD, the reason it cramps is because the muscle is not getting enough blood to it and it reacts by cramping. The pain is brought on by walking, but relieved by resting.”

According to Dr. Herscu, PVD is caused by atherosclerosis in about 99 percent of the cases. Atherosclerosis occurs when fatty deposits called plaque build up in the artery wall, restricting blood flow. When an artery is blocked or narrowed, the part of the body it supplies does not get enough blood and oxygen.

You can learn more about this potentially life-threatening disease at an upcoming seminar titled “Pain When You Walk? It Might Be PVD” on Tuesday, June 28, from 1 to 3 p.m. Dr. Herscu will present the seminar with Dr. John Thomas Mehigan, a vascular surgeon and medical director of the Vascular Center at Washington Hospital. It will be held at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave., in Fremont. You can register online at www.whhs.com or by calling (800) 963-7070.

Know the Signs

The seminar will focus on the symptoms, diagnosis and treatment of PVD. The most common symptom is painful cramping in the hips, thighs or calves when walking, climbing stairs or exercising. Symptoms can also include numbness and tingling in the lower legs and feet, and ulcers or sores on the legs or feet that don’t heal. The major risk factors are age, diabetes, smoking, high blood pressure and high cholesterol.

“Generally PVD can be diagnosed by medical history and a physical exam,” Dr. Herscu explained. “We confirm it with pressure testing and other testing procedures.”

Dr. Mehigan and local cardiologist Dr. Ash Jain will be providing PVD screening at Washington Hospital on Saturday, June 25, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The screening measures blood flow in the leg and foot by comparing blood pressure in the ankle to blood pressure in the arm.

Other diagnostic procedures will also be discussed at the seminar, including angiography. An angiogram is an imaging procedure wherein a tiny tube is inserted into a small incision in the groin. Dye is injected into the arteries and doctors can actually see the location and severity of the blockage.

“Angiography is the gold standard,” Dr. Herscu added. “It is the most accurate diagnostic procedure for PVD, but it’s not without risks. That’s why it’s only used in select cases of PVD. Just because you have arterial blockages doesn’t mean that you need an angiogram. You generally get an angiogram only when you have lifestyle-limiting leg pain, ulceration or gangrene.”

Treatment Options

There are a number of treatment options available for PVD depending on how severe it is and how much impact it’s Leg pain when you walk could be the result of peripheral vascular disease (PVD). Dr. Gabriel Herscu, vascular and endovascular surgeon will be joined by Dr. John Thomas Mehigan at a seminar on Tuesday, June 28, from 1 to 3 p.m. The seminar will focus on this potential life-threatening disease. The seminar takes place at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave., in Fremont. To register, call (800) 963-7070 or go to whhs.com/events.

having on quality of life. Dr. Herscu said surgical procedures to open up the artery are called for in more severe cases of PVD.

“Generally if you are having mild symptoms and the pain in your leg is not keeping you from participating in normal activities, there is no danger to avoiding surgical procedures and angiography,” he added. “However, severe PVD, with constant pain, ulceration or gangrene, can lead to the loss of your leg and even death, so it’s important to talk to your doctor about your treatment options. If you have diabetes, PVD is not something you can ignore. People with diabetes have weakened immune systems and damaged nerves, so they end up with more complications.”

PVD is medically treated with aspirin and statin medications that are used to lower cholesterol, according to Dr. Herscu. These help to thin the blood so clots don’t form on the damaged arterial wall. He said statins are important even if you don’t have high cholesterol because they reduce inflammation and stabilize plaque so it doesn’t rupture and form a blood clot, which can clog the artery.

Lifestyle choices are also important when it comes to managing PVD. If you smoke, quit. Exercise can help you maintain a healthy weight and reduce inflammation. Dr. Herscu recommends 30 minutes of aerobic exercise at least three times a week. Eat a diet that is high in fruits and vegetables and low in fat and cholesterol. Keep blood pressure and cholesterol under control, and if you have diabetes, stay on top of your blood sugar levels.

“Lifestyle choices can’t replace medication, but they can help reduce your risk and avoid serious complications,” Dr. Herscu added.

Dear Doctor,
Is splinting a joint still thought to be effective?

Dear Reader,

Current sports medicine practice has evolved to allow an injured body part or joint to move as long as it is painless. It makes no sense to completely immobilize a joint in a straightened position for several reasons. Remember those Popsicle sticks for finger sprains? Throw those away! First, most joints are never in a neutral and straightened position. The best example is your fingers. Hold your own hand out in a relaxed manner and look at the way your fingers are curved in semiflexion. This is called the “position of function” and most sports physicians will allow a joint to move a few degrees in this range of function as long as no serious injury has been found. Second, joint surfaces only get nutrition from passive motion, so an injured joint will heal better if allowed to move within a pain-free range of motion. Third, there is less pain and more comfort if an injured limb is allowed to move in a protected range of motion. Buddy taping one injured finger to another is an excellent way to accomplish this.

Breast-Conserving Surgery Patients at Washington Hospital Have Low Rates of Repeat Surgeries

‘true margin’ of the tumor. The volume of the extra tissue we remove is significantly less than we would have to take out during a re-excision procedure, and the result is much more satisfactory from a cosmetic standpoint. With 25 years of experience, I have been able to fine-tune the surgical techniques, and it requires a certain amount of artistry. We strive for negative margins, but we don't want to take out too much.”

Not all breast cancer patients are candidates for breast-conserving surgery, Dr. Dugoni cautions.

“Women who are in the early stage of pregnancy cannot undergo radiation therapy, so they are not good candidates for breast-conserving surgery,” he says. “Breast-conserving surgery also is not a good option for women who have multiple tumors clumped in one part of the breast or scattered throughout the breast. Likewise, breast-conserving surgery would not work well for women with a prior history of radiation treatment to the chest or breast, or for those with a high genetic risk for breast cancer.

“Sometimes it’s just a matter of personal choice,” he adds.

“Some women opt to have a total mastectomy rather than breast-conserving surgery. My ultimate goal is to protect my patients – physically, emotionally and financially. I want to provide them with the best possible treatment for their particular circumstances.”

Volunteer for naturalization workshop

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF HAYWARD NEIGHBORHOOD SERVICES DIVISION

The East Bay Naturalization Collaborative is seeking volunteers, attorneys, Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) accredited representatives, and interpreters for the Hayward naturalization workshop on Saturday, June 11 at Hayward City Hall. We are especially seeking volunteers who are able to speak Spanish and other languages. Share your knowledge and experience around the naturalization process.

The Collaborative is comprised of nine legal services and community based organizations, who have joined together to provide free- and low-cost naturalization and other immigration-related services to residents of the East Bay. Our goal is to ensure our community, especially the low-income and limited English proficient families, to access credible immigration assistance.

Training and lunch will be provided. Sign up to volunteer at <https://goo.gl/ZEfeJY>. Contact Shiori at shiori@eastbaysanctuary.org for more information.

Ramadan: A month of self-reflection

On the evening of Sunday, June 5, the holy month of fasting or Ramadan begins. Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic calendar and is observed by Muslims worldwide to commemorate the revelation of the Quran to Muhammad around 610 A.D. According to Islamic belief, the Quran contains the exact words of God, and Muhammad is among the prophets chosen by God to act as messengers.

Ramadan is one of the Five Pillars of Islam, a series of formal acts of worship fundamental to Muslim life. The five pillars include shahada (faith), salat (prayer), zakat (charity), sawm (fasting), and hajj (pilgrimage to Mecca). During Ramadan, Muslims fast from dawn to dusk each day, with the exclusion of those who are suffering from illness, travelling, elderly, pregnant, or breastfeeding. Aside from fasting, Muslims also refrain from any vices, impure thoughts or immoral behavior.

Muslim Community Association (MCA) is hosting a Ramadan Open House on Saturday, June 25. Get to know the Muslim community in a social gathering as they break their fast after sunset. Guests of different faiths are welcome. Please contact (408) 727-7277 or ramadan@mcabayarea.org to reserve a spot.

Public Works – what do they do and how can they reduce traffic congestion? Part II

In a recent survey of Fremont citizens, traffic congestion was a major concern. To address this issue, Tri-City Voice spoke with City of Fremont Public Works Director Hans Larsen, P.E. This is the conclusion of that interview.

TCV: You have talked about traffic congestion problems in the Bay Area and Fremont in particular; are there any solutions?

Larsen: The core issue is lack of housing for jobs created in Silicon Valley. It is challenging to find sites and deal with the political and community process necessary to build housing but four thousand housing units are planned around the Warm Springs BART station close to Fremont job centers. For example, Tesla, with preorders for 400,000 new vehicles is creating jobs right here; providing housing nearby is a responsible response. Housing activity of this type should lessen demand for long distance commutes.

TCV: Is there a way to increase capacity of freeways and highways?

Larsen: Fremont is in a much better position that most parts of the Bay Area. Major projects are in the pipeline and opening relatively soon. At the top of this list is the BART extension to Warm Springs and beyond, connecting with the transit network of Santa Clara County. When the Warm Springs station opens near the end of this year, it will help distribute access to BART. The extension to Santa Clara County is planned to open at the end of 2017 creating an alternative for commuters.

TCV: Are any improvements scheduled for I-680 and I-880?

Larsen: At this time, the Alameda County Transportation Commission has under design, the addition of another northbound lane on I-680. This is expected to begin construction Spring 2017 with completion December 2018. The BART extension and I-680 lane construction are among the most advanced regional projects in the Bay Area. Although we will have to wait for these projects to be completed, they are in the pipeline and fully funded.

TCV: Are any other traffic mitigation measures planned within the City of Fremont?

Larsen: In March of this year, the City Council approved $500,000 for neighborhood traffic calming, part of the Vision Zero program. That is targeting local streets heavily impacted by commuters. We have identified 20 top locations for installation of speed lumps this calendar year.

TCV: Are any long term projects contemplated to address traffic congestion?

Larsen: Under Measure BB (2014), there is work toward doing something about State Route 262 (Mission Boulevard) connecting I-880 and I-680. This is one of the most congested corridors at all hours. We are working with Alameda County Transportation Commission to develop a plan to deal with this. An exciting, and we think viable, project is to build a below grade, 4-lane roadway to bypass traffic signals at Warm Springs Boulevard and Mojave Drive, creating a direct connection between the two freeways. We are in the planning phases of this project. This is probably something that could be a decade away. Now that Measure BB funding has been approved by voters, its focus on transportation puts us ahead of other Bay Area counties. We have some of the resources through Measure BB to be proactive.

TCV: What future innovations do you envision that will alleviate traffic congestion?

Larsen: We are living in an exciting time. The application of emerging technologies to the transportation system will be revolutionary. Future urban mobility will enhance the convenience, efficiency and safety of transportation. Fremont is the epicenter of where transportation applications are being developed. The two leading companies – Google and Tesla – are developing autopilot control systems. This is an exciting time to be in Silicon Valley and particularly Fremont. The acronym, ACE - Automated, Connected. Electric - describes many future advances.

TCV: Can you expand on the meaning of the acronym ACE?

Larsen:

A - A partially or fully automated vehicle surrounded by sensors can detect other vehicles, bicyclists and pedestrians in all weather and lighting conditions without distraction.

C - If vehicles are connected with other cars and vehicles around them, they will be able to space themselves appropriately and communicate with the street infrastructure such as traffic signals giving them real time situational awareness. Connected vehicles will also be able to communicate with people through smart phones or other devices. Real time information about transportation options will allow people to access what is called mobility as a service – what is available and how long to walk, use a bike share, car share, bus, Uber, etc. from point A to point B. With a touch of your screen, you will be able to order and pay for the service. Ownership of a vehicle may become optional for many.

E - Electric vehicles that ideally can be charged through use of solar energy at home or place of work. Fremont is a national leader in adopting electric vehicles and solar energy production.

TCV: What other applications are possible with automated technology?

Larsen: Whether a driverless vehicle answers a request for transportation service or an advanced vehicle privately owned is used, passengers will be dropped off at a shopping center, movies, etc. The car will pull up to a designated zone and then leave to pick up other passengers or travel to a remote parking area, waiting for a request from its owner. Shopping districts will be planned as dense, people oriented spaces with parking at the periphery. A national $50 million competition is currently underway to demonstrate emerging technologies in a single mid-size city. Fremont applied for this but we were not selected; they were probably looking for a larger city. The work done in our application can be used for other similar opportunities including a $77 million funding allocation from Alameda County Transportation Commission for advanced technology.

Makeover coming for food nutrition labels

BY DARLENE SUPERVILLE AND
MARY CLARE JALONICK
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP), Nutrition facts labels on food packages are getting a long-awaited makeover, with calories listed in bigger, bolder type and a new line for added sugars.

And serving sizes will be updated to make them more realistic – so that a small bag of chips won't count as two or three servings, for example.

“You'll no longer need a microscope to figure out whether the food is actually good for your kids,” first lady Michelle Obama said Friday. She was announcing final rules for the new labels in a speech at an annual health summit as part of her “Let's Move!” campaign against childhood obesity.

The changes were proposed by the Food and Drug Administration two years ago and are the first major update to the labels since their creation in 1994. They are now found on more than 800,000 foods.

“The calorie count is in bigger font, so you can actually see it,” the first lady said. “This label will tell you how much of the sugar in your snack was added after processing.”

The overhaul comes as science has changed in recent decades. While fat was the focus in the 1990s when the labels first were created, these days there is more concern about how many calories people eat. The calorie listing will now be much larger than the rest of the type on the label, making it hard to overlook.

Serving sizes will also be easier to see, listed at the top of the graphic. And it will be easier to discern how many servings are in a container as part of an attempt to revise often misleading serving sizes.

Calculations for serving sizes will also be revised. The idea behind listing a whole package of food, or a whole drink, as one serving size isn't that people should eat more; it's that they should understand how many calories are in what they are actually eating. The FDA says that by law, serving sizes must be based on actual consumption and not ideal consumption.

Nutrition advocates have long asked for the added sugars line on the label because it's impossible for consumers to know how much sugar in an item is naturally occurring, like that in fruit and dairy products, and how much is added by the manufacturer. Think an apple vs. apple sauce, which comes in sweetened and unsweetened varieties.

The labels will also include a new “percent daily value” for sugars, meaning the percentage of a person's recommended daily intake of added sugars in that particular food item. New dietary guidelines announced this year recommend that people get no more than 10 percent of calories daily from added sugars. Since the calculations are based on an average diet of 2,000 calories, that means people should get no more than 200 calories of added sugars a day.

Michael Jacobson, president of the advocacy group Center for Science in the Public Interest, says it's currently impossible for consumers who look at the labels to know how much sugar in foods is added and how much fits into a reasonable diet.

“Besides helping consumers make more informed choices, the new labels should also spur food manufacturers to add less sugar to their products,” Jacobson said.

Other changes to the labels: They must now list levels of potassium and Vitamin D, two nutrients Americans don't get enough of. Vitamin C and Vitamin A listings are no longer required but can be included. Iron and calcium will stay.

The food industry has two years to comply.

Reaction to the labels from food companies has been mixed since they were first proposed. While some companies have fought the new line for added sugar, others have supported it. The Grocery Manufacturers Association, which represents the food industry's largest companies, has supported the larger print for calories.

“This update is timely as diets, eating patterns and consumer preferences have changed dramatically since the Nutrition Facts panel was first introduced,” said GMA's Leon Bruner.

Uber appeals Pennsylvania utility regulator's $11.4M fine

AP WIRE SERVICE

PITTSBURGH (AP), Ride-hailing company Uber is asking state utility regulators to reconsider the record-setting $11.4 million fine they issued against it.

The Public Utility Commission fined San Francisco-based Uber in April for operating in Pennsylvania for six months in 2014 without the required approval. The commission is looking at Uber's appeal, which contends the fine amount is unreasonable, considering the lack of evidence that its services did harm.

Uber argued that it successfully filled a void in the state's transportation infrastructure. It wants the fine recalculated using the number of days it violated state authority, not the number of trips it provided.

The appeal, filed Wednesday, didn't offer an alternative fine amount, but Uber has previously expressed willingness to settle for $399,000.

“Our hope is that the new information presented in this filing will give the commissioners ample reason to reconsider the unprecedented and wholly disproportionate fine,” the company said in a statement.

Democratic Gov. Tom Wolf and Pittsburgh-area officials wrote a letter to the commission this month urging it to greatly reduce the fine. They said the stiff fine could discourage innovative companies from investing in Pennsylvania. They noted Uber has picked Pittsburgh as its world headquarters for advanced technology research and for testing self-driven vehicles.

The commission, which regulates buses and taxis in all counties except Philadelphia, approved a fine considerably lower than the $50 million recommended by a pair of administrative law judges in November, but it's still the largest in agency history. The fine also surpasses the $250,000 fine issued to Uber's main competitor, Lyft, for similar violations.

Uber employs citizen drivers who use their own cars to give people rides. The commission said it had concerns because there was no uniform way to ensure vehicle safety or to determine whose insurance would cover damages in an accident.

The commission has since granted Uber and Lyft temporary operating licenses everywhere but Philadelphia, which is out of its jurisdiction.

The state assembly is considering legislation to grant ride-hailing companies permanent permission to operate throughout Pennsylvania. If approved, the bill would enable the Philadelphia Parking Authority, which oversees the city's taxis, to oversee ride-hailing companies.

Philadelphia cab drivers have protested the ride-hailing services operating illegally in the city since 2014.

Frozen food recall covers hundreds of items from many stores

BY DAVID PITT ASSOCIATED PRESS

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP), Amid a massive frozen foods recall involving millions of packages of fruits and vegetables that were shipped to all 50 U.S. states, Canada and Mexico, authorities who want to stem the listeria-linked illnesses and deaths worry it'll be difficult to get consumers to dig through their freezers and check for products they may have bought as far back as 2014.

It's one of the largest food recalls in recent memory, with well over 400 products from CRF Frozen Foods in Pasco, Washington, sold under more than 40 different brand names at major retailers like Costco, Target, Trader Joe's and Safeway. So far, eight people have been sickened by listeria that's genetically similar to that found in CRF vegetables, and two have died, though listeria was not the primary cause of death.

“Unquestionably, this is a lot of product. ... It reflects the severity of listeria as an illness, the long duration of illnesses and the outbreak and the long shelf life of the products,” said Matthew Wise, who leads the outbreak response team at the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The initial recall started April 22, covering 11 frozen vegetable products. On May 2, CRF expanded it to include all of its frozen organic and traditional fruit and vegetable products manufactured or processed at its Washington plant since May 1, 2014. Thanks to recently developed whole-genome sequencing of food-contaminating bacteria, the Food and Drug Administration and CDC found that the listeria bacteria found in the blood of a person sickened in 2013 is genetically similar to the listeria tied to the recall.

“The idea is that it's possible that it could be linked to this plant as far back as that because of the match. As a result the company, working with the FDA, decided to do the recall that far back,” CRF spokesman Gene Grabowski said.

The CRF plant closed two weeks ago and Grabowski said the company is still trying to pinpoint the source of the contamination.

Wise said he wants consumers to check the online recall lists and discard the products from of their freezers. “Listeriosis always makes us worry because it's such a serious infection,” he said. The CDC says listeria is most harmful to adults over 65 with weakened immune systems and pregnant women.

Products were both packaged for sale as individual products and repackaged by places like Piggly Wiggly, Kroger and ConAgra foods as ingredients in a host of other store-brand and private-label products for stores like Trader Joe's and Costco.

Also, retailers including Target and regional distributors such as Midwest grocery chain Hy-Vee Foods have recently recalled products made by Tokyo-based Ajinomoto Windsor due to the company recalling 70 of its Asian variety products that contain CRF vegetables – about 47 million pounds worth – some of which were also sold in Canada and Mexico.

The FDA and CDC have developed a system to track the genetic makeup of salmonella, listeria and E.coli. Once a food-related illness outbreak is identified, scientists can match the DNA from contaminated food with the bacteria making people sick and potentially trace it to the originating food processing plant.

In this outbreak, of those eight who were sick, six were in California. The two people who died were from Maryland and Washington.

Authorities say it's unclear why there are not more illnesses from listeria. Wise said that the levels of listeria contamination might not be high or may be uneven in the packaged vegetables. Also, the vegetables in the recall are typically cooked before they're eaten, which would kill the bacteria.

The CDC continues to monitor state illness reports for any sign of additional cases, Wise said.

Listeria causes an estimated 1,600 cases of illness each year in the U.S., but just half are reported. About 18 percent of listeriosis patients die.

FDA spokeswoman Lauren Sucher said it's important to follow label directions for cooking frozen foods and to check freezers thoroughly for the products listed on the FDA website .

mental in enhancing the District's ability to offer the best possible parks, facilities and recreation programs to the community. There are currently 800 registered volunteers and those recognized cumulatively donated an amazing 51,000 hours in 2015.

The 2015 Volunteer of the Year Recipient was presented to Ms. Laura Stull. Ms. Stull has been volunteering for the Hayward Area Recreation and Park District since 1985. Ms. Stull has a long history of volunteer service and has volunteered for an amazing number of District-wide special events. Her first special event was the Hayward Half Marathon in 1985. She went on to volunteer for Battle of the Bands, the UnHaunted House, Teen Idol, the Annual Kenneth Aitken Community Center Flea Market and Sorensdale Recreation Center dances. Ms. Stull also volunteers with the Special Needs Program at the Sorensdale Recreation Center on a regular basis. Her job duties include helping organize the Treasure Chest Thrift Store, pouring molds and helping students paint projects in the ceramics classes which are submitted to the Alameda County Fair.

The 2015 Rising Star Volunteer of the Year Recipient was presented to Ms. Angela Patch, who is a student at Brenkowitz High School in Hayward. She volunteered at the Matt Jimenez Community Center (MJCC) Summer Camp Program. She was a shy young lady during staff training but once she started working with the youth, she really stepped out of her shell and shined. During the summer Angela worked with young summer ability to work with youth in all components of the after school program are truly appreciated.

The Volunteer of the Year and Rising Star Volunteer were selected from the District's monthly recognized volunteers for 2015 which consisted of: Dee Miller, Nature Program; Virginia Graban, Senior Adult Program; Rene Clair, Art Program; Nani Lozier, Senior Adult Program; James Wilson, Nature Program; Rosemarie Cooper, Nature Program; Joshua and Sebastian Fuenzalida, Aquatics Program; Bill Teffy, Camps Program; Hendra Tungall, Sports – Tennis Program; and Sophia Espinoza, Volunteer Hayward.

Much Ado, and Worth it!

SUBMITTED BY BRUCE ROBERTS

In 35 years of teaching, I've been in many classrooms, and the scene is pretty much the same: rows of desks and chairs, maybe a table in front, student work on the walls, a teacher desk somewhere.

But Room 26 at Ruus Elementary School in Hayward was a very different scene recently. There was student work on the walls, but the desks and chairs were all pushed back, clearing the front half of the room for action. The desks were covered with props, and along the front board were keyboards, guitars, drums, a trumpet—all fronted by two sets of microphones.

I had entered a different educational world, one where after school, following a normal day, 28 fifth and sixth graders gathered to rehearse a Shakespeare play—Much Ado About Nothing.

Under the direction of teacher Paul Garrison, for the next hour plus, these devoted kids sang, danced, played supporting music, and acted—from memory—Shakespeare.

And throughout, they were on cue, and very focused and respectful of their performance. The only sounds heard were those of the musicians and the actors. Props came on, props went off, all with impeccable timing as the show must go on.

Amazing music though was an unforgettable feature of this production. Talented student musicians and strong-voiced singers combined to punctuate the rehearsal with modern songs that reinforced the themes of the play. Was Shakespeare a fan of Queen, of the Stones, the Beatles, Springsteen? No, but in 2016, Room 26, he would have been.

Supported by a grant from the Hayward Education Foundation, which added a guitar to the music mix, and risers for the audience viewing of the final performance, Mr. Garrison is grooming his kids for a real performance, in front of adults instead of each other.

Many of the cast are also in Mr. Garrison's class all day, so the work on the walls reflects that these are serious students, besides being hard-working actors, singers, musicians. Mr. Garrison is proud of them all.

There are still tickets available to three of their performances—June 7, 8, and 9, in the Ruus Elementary Library. All performances are free, but phone (510) 723-3885 to make the necessary reservations. You won't be sorry!

Rodeo: Institutionalized animal and child abuse?

BY ERIC MILLS, OHS
COMMUNITY RELATIONS AND ADVOCACY DIRECTOR

"The same wretchedness which leads us to mistreat an animal will not be long in showing itself in our relationships with other people. Every act of cruelty toward any creature is contrary to human dignity." (Pope Francis, 2015 Encyclical)

In support of the Pope's statement, on May 2, 2016 the California Assembly unanimously approved House Resolution 28 (by Matt Dababneh, D-Encino), reaffirming the mandate of State Education Code 60042, which requires, in part, "Instruction in kindergarten and grades 1 to 12, inclusive, to promote and encourage kindness to pets and humane treatment of animals."

The Problem: Here's hoping that the folks at the annual May Rowell Ranch Rodeo in Castro Valley will soon get that message. Despite major public opposition, the Rodeo Committee, with the approval of Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (HARD) Board of Directors, has continued to promote two non-sanctioned events dangerous for animals and humans alike: the brutal "wild cow milking contest," and "mutton busting," in which children, ages 4 to 7, are pressured into riding terrified sheep, the kids themselves often in tears.* The Livermore Rodeo also features these same two events at their annual June rodeo. Promoters and parents alike should be cited for child endangerment.

Support: HARD has received more than 300 letters urging a ban on both these cruel events from the Humane Society Veterinary Medical Association, representing more than 1,000 California veterinarians; State Humane Association; the East Bay SPCA; Hayward Friends of Animals; Ohlone Humane Society; Humane Society of Silicon Valley; Marin Humane Society; In Defense of Animals; Humane Farming Association; Animal Legal Defense Fund; a Presbyterian minister; and hundreds of concerned citizens—all to no avail. It's time for the HARD board to re-agendize this issue for a humane resolution.

At the 2014 rodeo, a panicky and stressed-out nursing cow jumped the fence and broke her neck, leaving an orphaned calf. In a September 2014 letter to HARD, Dr. Peggy Larson—a veterinarian, lawyer and former rodeo bronc rider—wrote that, "Watching grown men abuse this poor cow reminds me of rape cases I have tried as a state prosecutor. Appalling!" In the mutton-busting event, kids around the country have suffered comas, broken arms, knocked-out teeth and bloody noses. One 3-year-old little boy in Texas got a mouthful of manure packed arena dirt and developed E. coli, suffered heart and kidney failure, went into a coma and swelled to twice his normal size.

In an April 2016 letter to Alameda County Child Protective Services, Dr. Larson and her neurologist husband wrote that, "It is only a matter of time before some child is either killed or receives permanent injuries." Lawyers will have a field day. And what a terrible message to send to impressionable young children about kindness and the humane treatment of animals!

The New Zealand Veterinary Association two years ago recommended a ban on mutton busting aka "sheep riding," noting that sheep, unlike horses and bulls, are not designed to carry the weight. The New Zealand cowboys agreed, saying it was the "professional" thing to do, and the event was dropped from the rodeo program throughout the entire country. HARD and others should take note and follow suit.

The "Rowell Ranch Rangers": Ironically, there's a support group of local politicians, the "Rowell Ranch Rangers," which unwittingly endorses the abuse. Members include Alameda County Sheriff Greg Ahern, Alameda County Fire Chief David Rocha, Alameda County Supervisors Scott Haggerty and Nate Miley, Dublin Mayor David Haubert, State Senator Bob Wieckowski (Fremont), Assemblymember Bill Quirk (Hayward), Congressman Eric Swalwell, Johan Klehs (ret.), Board of Equalization Chair, et al. They all need to hear from a concerned public. State legislation is in order to ban both these silly and dangerous events, and the logical authors would be Senator Wieckowski and Assemblymember Quirk; let them hear from you!

All legislators may be written c/o The State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814. Such institutionalized and publicly endorsed animal cruelty brings to mind Shirley Jackson's notorious 1948 short story, "The Lottery," in which the entire community annually gathers to sacrifice one of its own in hopes of guaranteeing a good harvest. **

Where's the local religious community on this ethical and moral issue, pray? It's time to bear witness.

What you can do to help: Contact Paul McCreary, General Manager, and the Board of Directors, HARD, 1099 E St., Hayward, CA 94541; tel. (510) 881-6700; email mcp@haywardrec.org. Board members are Minane Jameson, president; Lou Andrade, Paul Hodges, Jr., Carol Pereira and Rick Hatcher. Urge the HARD board to re-agendize this issue, then ban both the wild cow milking contest and mutton-busting event for the safety and well-being of all. As Tennessee Williams once wrote, "Cruelty is the only unforgivable sin."

Where Fremont residents can learn about shaping proposed housing developments

Development Activity Update - June 2016

There has been lots of development activity happening lately. Two large Centerville developments have been submitted for a Preliminary Review Procedure (PRP). Several formal applications are now Peralta Boulevard. The property extends back to Jason Way. It includes the old Centerville Fire Station which was constructed in 1954. All of the current buildings on the site are proposed to be demolished.

April 28 and the denial was not appealed to the City Council. This was the first rejection of a project since February 2013. The neighbors complained that the design just did not fit the character of the pre-WWII housing nearing a vote. And the first denial in over three years just occurred.

Nearly 6,000 housing units have been approved since January 2013. Over 1,100 more housing units in 13 proposed developments are currently undergoing a formal application review. Another 320 housing units are in projects currently undergoing PRP. Early comments concerning proposed developments are the most effective in shaping the final development.

Walnut Residences

The Environmental Review process has been started for Carmel Partners' four-story apartment complex project on approximately 13.7 acres at the corner of Walnut Avenue and Guardino Drive. The City has requested that Carmel Partners provides a 3-D model and a computer-generated "flyover." These will be available for public review when they are submitted.

The developer proposes to build 670 high-end rental apartments with a density of 53 dwelling units per net acre (du/ac). Though the parcel is current zoned with a density range of 27 to 35 du/ac, the City is processing the application with the intention of rezoning it to a density range of 50.1 to 70 du/ac. Neighbors want the 670 apartments lowered to 440 and the buildings lowered to three stories.

Centerville Mixed-Use PRPs

Silicon-Sage has proposed a mixed-use project on approximately 5 acres on the east side of Fremont Boulevard between Parish Avenue and

Two different preliminary plans for the Silicon-Sage mixed-use development have been submitted which show a mix of retail space, condominiums, and live/work units in five-story buildings on Fremont Boulevard, as well as up to 98 townhouses behind. The City Planning Department has informed Silicon-Sage that buildings on Fremont Boulevard in the Centerville Town Center may not be higher than three stories and that live/work units are not allowed there.

Jitender Makkar - Homes and U, Inc. have submitted PRP plans for a five-story building on the one-acre vacant parcel at the corner of Thornton Avenue and Post Street. It would have 52 condominiums and 8,200 sq. ft. of commercial space. This is near the Artist Walk Mixed-Use complex that was approved in December 2013 and is now beginning construction. The Artist Walk commercial buildings that front on Fremont Boulevard are only three stories.

Centerville Junction

The Planning Commission hearing for this project has now been postponed indefinitely. The earliest tentative date is June 23.

We have written several articles for the Tri-City Voice about this plan for three-story townhouses which will replace 10 old homes on Peralta Boulevard near Parish Avenue. One is the c1910 Goold House owned by 'Pop' Goold and Millie Logan Goold for nearly 60 years.

Universal Mixed-Use

This development was denied by the Planning Commission on nearby. The building height and the minimal parking spaces provided were also concerns.

Washington Place

A proposal for 14 units in seven three-story townhouse duet buildings has been submitted for a vacant lot located near the I-680 southbound Washington Boulevard exit. The parcel is zoned R-1 single-family, and three-story houses are not allowed on R-1 zoned land. Townhouse-style houses with upper floors the same size as the ground level are also not allowed. Rather than try to get a General Plan Land Use Amendment to change what is allowed, they are submitting the project as a Planned District. While past Planned Districts in single-family neighborhoods have been given variances in setbacks and design, none that we know of have allowed three-story townhouses.

Stevenson at Mission

Four new developments with a total of 156 townhouses and 80 apartments will be built in the area around the intersection of Stevenson Boulevard and Mission Boulevard. The vehicular access in and out of these developments has not been coordinated. By not considering the aggregate effect of multiple developments on traffic flow, the intersection may end up being totally congested - especially when those new residents leave in the morning and when trains are crossing the nearby tracks.

For the latest information on all these development projects, go to www.ShapeOurFremont.com.

Weaver recognized for public service

SUBMITTED BY CALIFORNIA
WOMEN LAWYERS

Pauline A. Weaver was recently recognized with the Judith Soley Lawyer as Citizen Award for her exceptional service to the legal and civic community. The Soley Award is presented at the CWL Annual Conference "to a worthy recipient who has made a significant contribution to her community, extending beyond the practice of law, to devote time and effort to the public good and values through the tradition of public service and involvement, and who exemplifies the values and missions of California Women Lawyers."

Ms. Weaver has spent her entire legal career dedicated not only to working as a Public Defender with indigent clients in the criminal law system, but also to improving the legal system through education and involvement in local, state and national bar associations. She has worked with impressive legal and civic organizations for broad societal/legal goals, and if that did not keep her busy enough, she also focused on the small and personal contributions - serving as a literacy volunteer, and a mentor for recent parolees.

She never joins a committee just to attend meetings. She took on governing roles in every one of her more than 100 boards, committees and commissions, including the American Bar Association (as Chair-Elect of the Government and Public Sector Lawyers Division), the State Bar of California (Vice Chair of the Board of Governors), the Foundation of the State Bar (President), the California Judicial Council, and California Women Lawyers for four years, becoming President 1988-1989.

She cut a similar social justice swath through civic and community organizations and is still going strong. Her resume includes the Fremont Planning Commission, Board of SAVE (Safe Alternatives to Violent Environments), Fremont Sister City Commission, Rotary International, Fremont Symphony Guild, and many other community organizations. Recently, she participated in Fremont's first Emerging Leaders Program - a two-day retreat on Racial Equality Leadership. The breadth of her work and commitment also is demonstrated by her being a founding member of Interfaith Women of Peace, a group which works in the community for understanding and peaceful interaction among different religious faiths.

One of her earliest actions for social justice was being one of four women to join Rotary International in California after the U.S. Supreme Court 1987 decision banning its exclusion. As a Board member of the Center for Civic Education and Chair of its International Committee, she was a 2007 delegate to the World Congress on Civic Education in Morocco. One of her most recent forays was to serve as the first female ABA volunteer observer to the Military Commission Hearings (Khalid Sheikh Mohammed and four co-defendants) at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Pauline has received numerous awards for her legal and civic work, including the ABA's Nelson Award in 2013. This Award recognizes outstanding contributions to the ABA by a government or public sector lawyer.

In addition to all her professional activities, her personal and professional qualities, including compassion, inclusiveness, integrity, wisdom and humor, are second to none, and so well reflect those same qualities of our Award namesake, Judith Soley.

AC Transit's Board of Directors on the move

SUBMITTED BY ROBERT LYLES

The Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District (AC Transit) Board of Directors is committed to its riders, business community, and the city leaders served along our 364 square mile service area. Members of these communities are often unable to attend Board meetings at their regularly scheduled downtown Oakland location. Several years ago, the Board of Directors began hosting a series of three meetings at off-site locations - to reach out to communities in West Contra Costa County, Central and South Alameda County. That commitment to meeting in the communities continues for summer 2016.

"Our traveling series of meetings has historically proven to be the ideal opportunity to bring the Board's legislative process directly to our riders," said H. E. Christian Peoples, AC Transit Board President. "Attendees learn they're able to voice their concerns through public comment, hear plans for the District and ultimately participate in the process."

The alternating venues will also afford riders direct access to Michael Hursh, AC Transit's recently seated General Manager. "When I assumed this position just shy of one year ago, I was keenly aware of AC Transit's statistics - 151 bus lines and 5500 bus stops - to name a few," said AC Transit General Manager Hursh. "But statistics belie the fact that on every line and at every stop there is a rider - someone dependent daily on our service. That means each person and their transit story is potentially a catalyst for better designed service and I am committed to hearing those voices."

Each meeting will be hosted at each of the following locations:

Fremont:
Wednesday, Jun 8 & Aug 10
5 p.m.
City Council Chambers,
Building A
3300 Capitol Ave, Fremont
Served by AC Transit lines 99,

Local student attends White House press conference

SUBMITTED BY
MADELEINE BURR

On Friday, May 6, 2016 Newsroom U sent 25 students from around the nation to participate in a White House press conference at James S. Brady Press Briefing Room facilitated by White House Press Secretary, Josh Earnest, and other top Obama administration officials.

Simonne Shah, a senior at John F. Kennedy High School in Fremont and an editor for the school's newspaper, The Titan Tribune, was among the students who made the trip to the White House. The White House briefing was followed by two days of in-depth reporting on deadline and intense multimedia collaboration and written storytelling. Students generated stories about how Washington Metro Area millennials are affected by this year's election issues. With the power of Adobe Creative Cloud tools, students were able to enhance their digital literacy skills and create professional-grade work.

Shah reflects on her trip and says, "This trip was a first for me, as my only experience in journalism came from Kennedy's newspaper and yearbook programs. Newsroom U was an incredible opportunity for me to actually experience a newsroom environment because we were reporting on very fast deadlines. This was something I had never actually experienced before in a high school journalism class, where we always had up to two weeks to get our stories in... In most cases, I was the most inexperienced person there, but it truly was the best place for me to be inexperienced because I was able to learn from some of the top journalists in the nation.

"Since we were in DC, we had access to opportunities we would not be able to find anywhere else. I attended the first press conference of my journalism career at the White House, something I would never have dreamed of doing as an actual reporter, let alone a high school student. The experience was truly a once in a lifetime event, and I learned things which will stick with me the rest of my career, wherever it may take me," she adds.

Shah plans to major in Political Communications at George Washington and pursue journalism as a career. She has also contributed articles to the Tri-City Voice. To view Shah's work, visit <http://newsroomu.com/press-briefing.html>.

50 years of Lake Chabot

Festivities officially kick off at 9 a.m. and attendees will be able to enjoy free lake tours aboard the Chabot Queen (while tickets last), nature hikes, educational fishing clinics and demonstrations, and much more. “We will have a fishing derby kick-off, paddle boat races, and live entertainment with a rock tribute band TinMan,” said EBRPD’s public information representative Isa Polt-Jones, continuing, “There will be activities for the kids, a barbeque, and a beer garden sponsored by Drake’s Brewing Co. of San Leandro.” While the event is free, food and other items such as the fishing derby tickets, commemorative T-shirts, and Drake’s special Kick-Back Ale brew can be purchased. Sales at the event will benefit the Regional Parks Foundation.

The fishing derby will start two hours ahead of the festival at 7 a.m. It is an event that harkens back to the opening day festival in 1966 and will continue all month. The derby is available to people 16 years and older and will run until the festival’s close at 3 p.m. at the cost of $5 for entry. The kids fishing area along the Western Shore Trail will hold a mini-derby at 9:30 a.m.; this event is free and will have loaner equipment on hand for the kids to use.

One of the more unique exhibits available at the festival will be the Mobile Fish Exhibit, which features local species for everyone to check out. “We’ll have trout that are the same fish that will be used in the derby,” said James Frank, an EBRPD supervising naturalist. “Even if you’re not an angler (a person who fishes with a rod and line), you can get up close to fish and learn about them,” Polt-Jones said. Community booths featuring the Alameda County Historical Society, Sulphur Creek Nature Center (with live animals!), and the EBRPD lifeguards will also be on hand to educate the masses. There will be fun for all at the lake, though swimming by humans and pets alike is not allowed in the lake itself – it is our emergency water supply, after all.

Turning 50 is a landmark occasion for most people, and the same can be said for actual landmarks. In 1966, Lake Chabot opened to the public after serving as a dam for almost a century prior. A big celebration ensued as the public came in droves to celebrate, with a fishing derby and the crowning of the “King of Lake Chabot.” Since then, it has remained a popular destination for locals to fish or simply enjoy the outdoors, and with the big anniversary this year, EBRPD wants to celebrate it with the public. “The celebration started with park supervisor Tamie Andrews, who wanted to acknowledge the 50th anniversary of the park,” said Polt-Jones. “The EBRPD owns and operates the reservoir, (which) offers recreation to the public. The park officially opened on June 18, 1966, when thousands of people came out for a fishing derby. They had been waiting for years for a chance to fish legally in the lake,” she added.

EBRPD has sponsored the event in conjunction with the Regional Parks Foundation, the California Parks Company, and the Lake Chabot Marina and Café. “We are celebrating this local gem and the opportunities for outdoor recreation it provides to the community,” Polt-Jones said.

With no plans to repeat this event in the future, this will be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to celebrate a prominent East Bay locale – unless, of course, you’re still around if they pull off a centennial celebration in 2066. were selected based on their portfolios of work, being accepted at a college or university, and having plans to pursue education in the field of art. This year, nine students from Fremont high schools submitted work for consideration by the Guild.

Minjun Kim from Irvington High School and recipient of the $2,000 first place award plans to attend the PrattMWP College of Art and Design in Utica, NY. In addition to his artistic talents, Minjun is also an accomplished musician and plays regularly with the Silicon Valley Symphony Orchestra. His volunteer efforts have earned him Certificates of Recogteaching assistant, and to help children with special needs. At Pratt, Minjun plans to major in Communications Design.

Two Honorable Mention Awards for $1,000 each were also presented. Allison Du from American High School plans to attend Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut. Allison is the founder and president of Art-tain, a school club that has taught art to over 160 children in the Tri-City area. She is also the founder and captain of her school’s speech team, and the co-founder and art editor-in-chief of Vignettes, an art and literary magazine for student work at in Economics and minor in Environmental Studies. Agnes’ volunteer activities include tutoring students learning Spanish, painting rooms in a homeless shelter, and participating in fundraising for Relay for Life. As a competitive high school diver, Allison has participated in and received awards in North Coast Sectionals and in state competitions. She competes nationally as a member of the Stanford Diving Club.

In addition to student scholarship awards, a $500 stipend for classroom art supplies has been awarded to the art teacher, Tully Mintey, of the first place winner from Irvington High School.

County of Santa Clara County Executive Jeffrey V. Smith, M.D., J.D., has appointed Martha Wapenski to the position of Deputy County Executive. Wapenski brings more than 28 years of experience working with the County’s law and justice departments. The appointment is effective May 23.

“My goal is to partner with the County’s public safety and justice agencies and community stakeholders in pursuing sustainable solutions for effective reforms among the County’s custodial population,” Wapenski said.

Wapenski has served as the Director of Administrative Services for the Office of the Sheriff since 2007 and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Social Work from San Jose State University.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Charter school standards will improve public education

My name is Eshaq Jamdar and I am working on a civic action project with my group. We decided to cover the problem of the American education system. The American education system is failing. We are ranked lower in math and science when compared to other developed countries. Some teachers are incompetent, leading to student failure; in California we are ranked 47th in the country. According to an interview with Bill and Melinda Gates in the book, Waiting for Superman, “Today nearly a third of our students fail to graduate from high school with their class. For those who do graduate and make it to community college, roughly 60 percent will need to take at least one remedial class. For low-income students or those of color, the deck is stacked high against them.”(Weber, 2010).

Why are we mentioning this? The high school we go to is a charter school that gives equal assistance to all students, has challenging classes, has family/community involvement, necessary resources, strong leaders, skilled teachers and brings the real world into the classroom. At public schools in Hayward, these ideas and concepts don’t exist.

We propose that Hayward Unified School District (HUSD) implement charter education standards in local public high schools. This can be achieved by selecting a Hayward public school to test out charter standards at one grade level. For example, we can choose one of the high schools in Hayward and test out the charter school standards for the incoming 9th grade class. To see if charter school standards help, we can compare test scores of previous 9th grade classes to the class that used charter school standards.

If students who were taught using charter school standards achieved higher scores, then HUSD should consider adopting charter school standards for additional public schools. If there is no change, charter school standards could be applied to an incoming 7th grade class in any middle school or a kindergarten class in any elementary school.

We would like to assist implementation of this change because at Impact Academy of Arts and Technology, a local, college-preparatory charter school in Hayward, , students are exposed to an education that meets most of the Ten Elements of a Successful High School. According to the Alliance for Excellent Education, a successful high school must have challenging classes, provide personal attention for all students, offer extra help for those who need it, bring the real world to the classroom, and involve students’ families and the community. It must also provide a safe learning environment, have skilled teachers and strong leaders, and offer necessary resources and user-friendly information. Compared to charter schools, public schools do not meet most of the ten elements mentioned above. As a result, most public schools produce more failing students, which ultimately worsens society.

In conclusion, we think that Hayward public schools can improve by implementing charter school standards.

REAL ROOMS FOR REAL PEOPLE

Accent Wall Tips and Tricks

BY ANNA JACOBY

Are accent walls still “in”? This is a question I get asked frequently, and the answer is “yes,” but there are some guidelines. Not every wall can or should be an accent wall; accent walls should be chosen with a specific design intention. Here are some guidelines:

1- Decide why you want an accent wall. I find that many people are afraid to commit to a color, so they think just painting one wall will be sufficient. If you’re picking an accent wall color for that reason, I caution you to reconsider. Many times I am able to convince people to paint the entire room—often this simply does look better! I also often advocate painting two adjacent walls in an accent color; it always depends on the space and whether or not it makes sense visually.

2- Pick your color carefully. Accent walls by definition should be bold in some way—off-white, when the other walls are white, doesn’t count! That said, pick a color that coordinates with your décor—pull a bold color from a piece of artwork or the granite countertop, or your sofa fabric. Make sure it fits into the décor of not only that room, but also the adjacent rooms. In other words, your accent wall should not look random—it should be part of the overall décor. In this home, the teal accent color is repeated in the pillows, area rug, artwork, and also in the velvet chairs in the living room next door. It even makes an appearance in the kitchen granite.

3- Pick your wall carefully. Ideally it should be the first wall you see as you come into the room. The accent color should draw you in. Large uninterrupted walls work well—for example, a wall behind a bed or sofa, or a wall that is already a feature wall, like the fireplace wall. Ceilings are also great accent walls. Here’s an exception though, although it is the first thing you see as you walk in: I chose a bold red in this black and white bath to set off the bathtub alcove. It’s a small area, but boy does it make a statement.

4- Accent walls don’t have to be painted. Wallpaper is a beautiful option, as are wood planks, or textured wall panels. This bedroom accent wall features richly colored and textured wallpaper. Note that the other walls and ceiling are painted in gray beige to complement the wallpaper.

This unique accent wall features reclaimed wood planks used as wall paneling. It gives the room so much character and texture.

The most important thing is to follow your instinct. You don’t have to do any accent walls if the thought is off-putting to you (or just because your friend told you it was a good idea.) On the other hand, you don’t need to shy away from accent walls because someone somewhere told you they were “out.” If you’re really stumped, hire someone who can give you a professional opinion. You’ll either get validation for what you already thought, or, even better, you’ll be empowered to try something new and wonderful.

Boneheads owner Dharmesh Patel with wife Asmita and son Dhylan.

Boneheads ratchets up flavor in healthy, fresh cuisine

By JOHNNA M. LAIRD

Located at Pacific Commons in Fremont, Boneheads Grill made history last May when it became the first restaurant in the small, Atlanta-based franchise to open in California and the West.

“It’s been quite the year,” says Fremont franchise owner Dharmesh Patel, who celebrated his first year as a restaurateur in mid-May 2016.

Patel has operated a small business consulting company focusing on financials, marketing, and business strategies for the last 14 years. His work as a consultant led him to Atlanta. There, he stopped into a Boneheads restaurant for lunch and found the flavors captivating. Opening his own restaurant has given him an opportunity to put his business strategies into practice for himself.

“At Boneheads we offer unique food, grilled on demand,” explains Patel. “We are market-fresh. We source locally, working with our major distributors and food suppliers to buy local produce and proteins. We want our foods to have a community feel. We make food fresh and use organics as much as possible,” says Patel, who searched for a location in the East Bay and saw Fremont as family-friendly and Pacific Commons headed for expanded growth.

He describes the menu of more than 60 items as a mixture of Asian, African, and sweet and sour Polynesian flavors. The restaurant also includes foods often considered American, like burgers. With a name like Boneheads, of course the restaurant serves fish. Salmon, trout, tilapia, and catfish are among fire-grilled entrees. Patel’s go-to favorite is the fire-grilled Mahi Mahi. The menu also features grilled chicken, Angus beef, and vegetarian dishes, including build-your-own veggie burgers.

Boneheads is considered a fast casual restaurant, where customers order from a counter but have food delivered to the table. One of the fastest growing segments of the food industry, fast casual is often associated with healthier foods served more like restaurant-style dining. Asparagus, broccoli, and zucchini hold prominence on Boneheads’ menu along with grilled sweet potatoes, quinoa salad, seasoned rice, black beans and corn. There are several salad options, including a Greek, cilantro, and Caesar salad. While the restaurant is part of a franchise, Patel says Boneheads serves foods on its menu that would not be found in some other Boneheads’ franchises. The karma bowl of slivered almonds, zucchini, sweet potato, cucumber slices, carrot strips, quinoa salad, and diced tomato over spring mix is not found on the Shreveport, Louisiana, menu.

The secret to the unique taste at Boneheads lies in the Piri Piri (pronounced pee-ree, pee-ree, meaning pepper) sauce. “We use it as a key ingredient to make foods flavorful,” says Patel. Boneheads creates its own niche with its signature sauces used both as a topping and a marinade. Piri Piri is closely tied to the restaurant’s reputation, especially for consumers who want their food far from the bland.

The sauce has its origins in the 1500s with Portuguese explorers who landed in Africa and developed a hot sauce using African chili peppers and citrus. One of Boneheads’ founders hails from South Africa and was searching for a way to introduce his version of the sauce into the United States when he literally collided with another chef. The car accident was serendipitous, leading the two “boneheads” (for running into each other) to partner up and launch their first restaurant in 2006.

After the first restaurant opened, Boneheads won two awards for its Piri Piri sauces, selected as category winners for medium (hot) and specialty chili over more than 700 sauces from around the globe.

In its first year in Fremont, Boneheads has received positive feedback, says Patel, which encourages him. “We are building a product, a very real thing and I have the opportunity to interact with customers,” he says. “This is the perfect operation for me; I get to see the product created and experience it in real time.”

A data-driven decision entrepreneur who uses financial analysis to optimize business, he draws upon the latest restaurant technology to automate supply ordering and digital marketing for loyalty programs. “But data and analytics will only get you so far in the restaurant business,” acknowledges Patel. “In the ends it’s about relationships and personal experiences you create with your staff and customers that will dictate success.

“Obviously, there are a lot of variables, so something can go wrong. We can’t be 100 percent every time. There will be a hiccup here and there, but it’s how you manage when you interact with the customer, that you make it right and you are empathic with the customer’s experience. And you improve upon the service,” says Patel, who finds working as a restaurateur exhilarating. It is also helpful in his personal growth and interactions with customers and employees.

Boneheads Grill is located 43844 Pacific Commons Boulevard in Fremont. Contact them at (510) 284-2483 or visit online at www.boneheadsfremont.com.

Tri-City Stargazer JUNE 1 - JUNE 7, 2016

For All Signs: The lethargy is almost over! On June 17 there will be an exact square of Saturn and Neptune. This is the third in a long series that began in early 2015 so we have experienced the influence for many months. Saturn rules hardcore reality, the rules, and limits of our lives. Neptune rules the spiritual, the ethereal that which is illusive, lacking clear boundaries, and may be addictive and deceptive. Neptune, which rules the sea, is stronger than Saturn, just as the ocean (Neptune's realm) is stronger than Exxon's saturnine concrete structures. A micro view of this aspect's dilemma is symbolized by the current hysteria over bathroom choices. In and of itself, the issue is really moot and an illusory sham. It is more about the need of the far right to control the great unwashed at every possible level. So the right generates terror over an issue that has always been extant. If the public buys the fear, they will allow extremely conservative rule over everyone. This is the theme of Orwell's "1984" to the max. Neptune is the equivalent of water, which will eventually erode stone. This will all go away in due time. The saturnine among us who accept this terror will sooner or later lock themselves into an isolated box of rules or give up entirely. So, as with bathrooms, why bother with hysteria?

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): You have no new aspects this week. However, your planetary avatar, Mars, continues to be retrograde. As the ancient god of war, he represents a struggle occurring within you. The battle may be represented by a conflict of internal values or an impasse about how to access what you want. The material, moral or ethical cost of moving forward could be causing your hesitation.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You may be taking a sober look at one or more relationships. Even the very closest friends cannot know each other from the inside. Sometimes we forget this fact and need to become aware that we are actually separate beings, helping when we can. Sometimes our energy is too low to be there for one another.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): You are in a reasonably good place with yourself at this time. Your heart and mind are flowing together. You have no conflict between your feelings and your thoughts about those feelings. This is a time for reflection on important subjects. You can make good decisions now. Family activities and traditions are comforting now.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Day-to-day life is favorable at present. There are no big conflicts between you and anyone of importance. Social life is favored with partner, friends and neighbors. Short trips to interesting nearby places could prove refreshing and educational. Contractual agreements are favored now.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): There is the possibility that you will attract someone who is needy, causing you to feel that you should help. Before you go very far, talk to your friends and ask who this person is. He or she might be a "vampire," one who takes far more than he can give. Outside of that, there is also the possibility of an encounter with the ethereal world.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): This is a time in which your exuberance and enthusiasm may carry you farther than you really intended to go. You will certainly have more energy to do whatever you choose, but take care that you don't promise way more than you can deliver. Your warm and generous heart will have a heyday. If money is an issue, leave the credit card(s) at home.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): For any number of reasons, circumstances may leave you out of the social loop this week. It's possible that you do not feel well. Astrologically this is a time for self-reflection and not self-condemnation. Having a quiet week is appropriate at this time. Don't turn this into a negative belief about yourself. Enjoy the time to be still and enjoy the quiet.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Your ruling planet, Mars, is retrograding in your sign. Your physical and libidinal energy may go into a dip for a while. You may be surprised to find that you have changed your mind about circumstances and people in your life. Do not worry. You haven't lost your mind. Your desire to back away is a signal that you are burning out and tired. Rest for now.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Don't allow fear and pessimism to interfere with your pleasure in life. If something is nagging at you, take a clear and direct look at it. Is there really anything there, or have you invented your own worry? The blues may be your companion for a couple of days over the weekend, but the cloudy time is short.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): Issues among people in the workplace may be prominent now. This is the time to seek out win-win solutions for anyone involved. If you have been focused on a physical self-improvement program in recent months, now is the time for display of the outcome. You will be compensated as you deserve.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Aspects are not the best for the waterbearers at this time. You may feel isolated or as though no one around you can possibly understand who or what you are. In some way life circumstances may be preventing you from communicating. This is a test of faith. The inner critic could overrun your mind if you allow it. Remember that feelings come and go like waves. They never remain the same.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): It is possible you will feel a sense of fatigue this week. Maybe something has caused you to be disappointed with yourself. Don't take the blues seriously or worry about yourself. In a few days you will feel much better. It is a temporary mood swing. Get some extra rest. Stay in touch with good friends.

National Heritage Area Task Force needs public input

SUBMITTED BY
SUPERVISOR DAVE CORTESE

The National Heritage Area (NHA) Task Force will embark on a mission to have the U.S. Congress declare Santa Clara County as a National Heritage Area. The task force's first meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 31 in the Board Chambers at the County Government Center.

NHA is a program within the National Park System that "recognizes and supports places where culture, history, traditions and resources blend together to tell important stories about our nation and the American experience." There are only 49 National Heritage Areas in the U.S., and none in the West. We want to be the first, and our efforts will be guided by the 21-member Task Force, which was chosen from an open application process.

The Task Force really needs your input as the members make their way through the feasibility study, which is a first step in the designation process. Linda Stonier from the National Park Service will give a presentation at the first meeting on the process to become a National Heritage Area and the benefits of the designation.

As with all our public meetings, there will be time for comments and questions from audience members. To find out more about the National Heritage Area Program, visit www.nps.gov/heritageareas. Please call my office if you have any questions at (408) 299-5030 or email me at dave.cortese@bos.sccgov.org.

FREMONT

Looking for a way to make a difference in the community? Consider serving as a commissioner or an advisory board member! The City of Fremont currently has vacancies on its Senior Citizens Commission and Recreation Commission.

Current boards and commission vacancies include the following terms:

Senior Citizens Commission – One vacancy. Term to expire December 31, 2018.

Recreation Commission. – Once vacancy. Term expires December 31, 2017.

To download an Advisory Body application visit:

<https://fremont.gov/76/Boards-Commissions-Committees> and review the Resources section at the bottom of the page.

You may also obtain an application from the City Clerk's Office at 3300 Capitol Ave, Building A. Please note that the City Clerk's Office accepts applications throughout the year, not just when there are vacancies. For more information call (510) 284-4060.

Applications are kept on file through the end of the calendar year and are reviewed by the Mayor and Council when a vacancy occurs. A current list of applicants is established each year. Applications may be submitted to the City Clerk at any time between January 1 and December 31. These applications may be considered for various vacancies throughout the year; however, on December 31, any remaining applications of these persons not appointed will be void. In order to be considered this year, a new application will need to be submitted.

Hayward honors young artists and writers

By Markuz Gabriel Pablo, 1st place winner (kindergarten to 2nd grade)

SUBMITTED BY JENNIFER YEE

Hayward City Council recognized the winners of the 2016 City of Hayward Earth Day Poster and Writing Contest during a special ceremony at the City Council meeting on Tuesday, May 17, 2016. The contest provides Hayward students with an opportunity to describe through words and convey through pictures their ideas about water conservation, energy efficiency, recycling, composting, and related environmental topics. Five hundred and twenty four entries were received from students representing 25 Hayward schools. The posters, poems and essays were judged by members of the Hayward Arts Council; winning entries were selected based on originality, clarity and creative expression of the theme. The following students were recognized during the ceremony:

Mission Peak Wind Symphony delights in Dante's Divine Comedy

SUBMITTED BY MISSION PEAK
WIND SYMPHONY

On Friday, June 10, Fremont-based Mission Peak Wind Symphony (MPWS) concludes the season with The Divine Comedy. This evening at Chabot College, Hayward, features more than fifty of the Bay Area's finest young band students performing works by YoGoto, Stephen Bryant, Clifton Williams, and Robert W. Smith.

Enroute from Crossroad where composer Goto unites people in music, to Williams' reflection of his own life through Caccia and Chorale, Bryant's elegant piece of Bloom portrays the simple beauty of the beginning of life. Smith's Symphony No. 1, The Divine Comedy—also the theme of the program — depicts Dante Alighieri's imagery of his literary masterpiece. With four captivating movements each following a distinct pattern and together spanning over 25 minutes, the symphony constitutes work of the largest scale that the group has ever attempted. Our young musicians' ability to interpret and express Smith's grand and powerful music attests to their hard work, growth and maturity in musicianship developed over the years.

"Since the inception of MPWS, our goal has always been to perform full symphonies," said co-founder and Music Director Travis Nasatir. "I am very pleased to say we are a year or two ahead of schedule in regards to that goal!" Indeed, the remarkable progress of the group in only its second season speaks volumes about its members' dedication and about realizing their potential for growth as musicians and artists.

Opening the concert will be the Wind Ensemble of Hopkins Junior High School, Fremont, and its Director of Instrumental Music, Greg Conway. Their repertoire includes the long-anticipated Ancient Runes, which was commissioned by Hopkins' families of music students in 2013 and recently completed by esteemed composer-educator Dr. Andrew Boysen, Jr.

Be prepared to experience the unexpected at the concert: industrial grade steel chains appear on stage as percussion instruments, along with the English Horn and the Contrabass Clarinet, which are more commonly seen in performances at the college and professional levels; our versatile instrumentalists double as vocalists, and create music using anything in addition to their instruments, in the comfort of their seats. What's more, the two ensembles will join forces in presenting Danzon No. 2, written by Arturo Marquez, a prominent Mexican composer of orchestral music.

Everyone is invited to partake in the spectacles which MPWS's young musicians are set to deliver, as the season's finale, The Divine Comedy, promises to be out of this world!

AMAZING ANIMAL ATHLETES

Who would win the medals if Mother Nature held Olympic Games for the other animals on this planet?

Speed and Endurance

The gold medal for long-distance running would have to go to the pronghorn antelope. It can maintain a steady speed of 35 mph (56 km/hr) for a distance of 3 miles (5 km). No other animal can run so far so fast.

Find the two identical pronghorn antelope.

Strongest Animal

The strongest animal, relative to body size, is the Rhinoceros beetle. It can support 850 times its own body weight on its back.

High Jump

The puma, a member of the cat family, holds the record for the highest-jumping mammal. It can leap up to 18 feet (6 meters) in the air from a standing start.

Long Jump

The common flea can cover 220 times the length of its body in one leap! If humans could do that, we would be able to complete the 800 meter race in just two leaps!

Winner by a Nose

Elephants are the only animals that can't jump. They can smell water three miles away, though!

Butterfly & Bird festival

DINO LABISTE

Tucked away in a shoreline set of hills is a tiny garden on the southeastern side of San Francisco Bay. The Nectar Garden is nestled in Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont, where the East Bay Regional Park District (EBRPD) is hosting the 17th annual "Butterfly & Bird Festival" on June 5. There will be garden tours, family hands-on activities, educational speakers, photo presentations, music and food.

What began as a demonstration garden for urban living by retired Naturalist Jan Southworth in 1998, the Nectar Garden has expanded over the years. It started out with native plants, which consisted of nectar plants, milkweeds and other butterfly host plants, planted in the ground and in pots. The Nectar Garden inspired communities and schools to create wildlife friendly habitats.

Southworth had read an article stating that there were 70 to 100 different species of butterflies found in the San Francisco Bay Area around the 1940s and 1950s. Today, there are less than 12 species found. The biologists suggested people start urban gardens as restoration projects and to provide the human experience for interacting with wildlife in the Bay Area.

There are small number of butterflies due to habitat loss, pesticides, and heavy grazing. Today, if you ask a student what butterflies have they seen they will give three different types: orange butterfly (Monarchs), yellow butterfly (Swallowtails), and white butterfly (Cabbage Whites).

The goal of the urban gardens in communities and schools is to provide a corridor of habitats. Loss of habitat is the single greatest threat to any species. Animal communities are reliant on specific types of plant communities.

There are at least 12 species of butterflies found at the Nectar Garden. Some of the butterflies found in the fall are Monarch Butterflies, Pale Swallowtails, Western Swallowtails, Anise Swallowtails,

Pipeline Swallowtails, Red Admirals, Painted Ladies, California Buckeyes, Common Checkerspots, and the variety of Blues.

The migrating birds and our local birds visit the Nectar Garden year-round for berries, nectar, and insects. Some of the birds are Robins, Sparrows, Mourning Doves, Swallows, Thrushers, Orioles, and Warblers. From mid-June to September, the Nectar Garden is visited by Anna's Hummingbirds and Allen's Hummingbirds to feed from our nectar plants and nest. They eventually migrate to tropical areas.

The Butterfly & Bird Festival is dedicated to increasing the numbers and species of butterflies and birds in Bay Area landscapes. Come and join us at Coyote Hills to learn about the joy of creating urban gardens that support native wildlife. Experience up-close nature's "flying jewels" and learn about their fascinating life cycles. The kids will enjoy making nature-related crafts that remind them of the beautiful flowers, butterflies, birds and pollinators that are found in the San Francisco Bay Area. They can create a butterfly headband, butterfly felt pin, twirling bird or butterfly toy, butterfly or bird origami book, newspaper pot with native seeds and potting soil, and face painting will be done by park staff.

Walk with survivors at Relay for Life

Take part in a national effort to fight cancer and celebrate survivors of the disease by joining "Relay for Life" in the greater Tri-Cities. Community members will come together to raise funds to help the American Cancer Society in their fight against the disease. Show your support by walking overnight with survivors and their loved ones as we celebrate another chance in life.

Each city has formed teams, whose members take turns walking around a track at local schools or parks. The survivors take the first lap around the track as other participants cheer them on. The event also recognizes caregivers and their efforts to take good care of our survivors in place of their loved ones. A Luminaria Ceremony is scheduled at night, where people light candles inside personalized bags that are placed around the track. The lights honor those who have survived cancer, as well as those who are still fighting.

Blood and platelet donations needed

SUBMITTED BY NATIVIDAD LEWIS

American Red Cross urges blood and platelet donors to choose their day to give and help ensure blood is available for patients all summer long during its annual summer awareness campaign. The Red Cross relies on volunteer donors for the 14,000 blood donations needed every day to support patients at about 2,600 hospitals and transfusion centers nationwide. However, during the summer months of June, July and August, about two fewer donors schedule an appointment to give blood at each Red Cross blood drive than what patients need.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities:

For more information and to make an appointment to donate, download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcross-blood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Donors of all blood types are needed. A blood donor card, driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental consent in some states), weigh at least 110 lbs. and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood donors can now save time at their next donation by using RapidPass to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online on the day of their donation prior to arriving at the blood drive. To get started and learn more, visit redcrossblood.org/RapidPass and follow the instructions on the site.

Stephanie Couch of CSUEB heads to MIT

SUBMITTED BY
KIMBERLY HAWKINS

Stephanie Couch, who has spearheaded Cal State University East Bay’s (CSUEB’s) Institute for STEM (Science Technology Engineering Math) Education since 2011, has accepted a new position as executive director of the Lemelson-MIT Program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Dr. Couch will be leaving CSUEB at the end of June.

As Lemelson-MIT Program’s executive director, Couch will have overall strategic and operational responsibility for the execution of the program, which celebrates outstanding inventors and inspires young people to pursue creative lives and careers through invention.

“The great opportunities I’ve had to make a difference in the lives of students and others in the East Bay, and the wonderful partners I’ve had the joy of working with on campus and in the community, make it very difficult to leave Cal State East Bay,” Couch said. “I am hopeful that my new work at Lemelson-MIT Program related to recognizing mid-career inventors who are making a significant difference in the world and supporting the growth and development of the next generation of inventors will provide opportunities to reconnect with what will always be my East Bay family.”

Twenty Fremont schools recognized for high achievement

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

Educational Results Partnership (ERP) and Campaign for Business and Education Excellence (CBEE) recognized the Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) as one of 13 public school districts in California to receive the title of 2015 Honor Roll School District. In addition, twenty FUSD schools were among the 1,714 public schools in California to be named 2015 Honor Roll schools.

The HonorRoll is part of a national effort to identify higher-performing schoolsand highlight successful practices that improve outcomes for students. School districts and schools receiving this distinction from leaders in the California academic and business communities have demonstrated consistent high levels of student academic achievement, improvement in achievement levels over time and reduction in achievement gaps among student populations. For school districts with high schools, the Honor Roll recognition also includes measures of college readiness.

The Honor Roll is comprised of two different awards, the “Star Schools” Award and “Scholar Schools” Award.Star Schools are those with significant populations of socio-economically disadvantaged students that have shown a significant increase in grade-level proficiency over time.

FUSD schools receiving the Star School Award are:

Azevada Elementary, Brier Elementary, Durham Elementary, Glenmoor Elementary, Grimmer Elementary, Vallejo Mill Elementary and Centerville Junior High School.

Scholar Schools are schools that are showing significant levels of academic achievement, but do not have a significant socio-economically disadvantaged student population. FUSD schools receiving the Scholar School Award are:

Ardenwood Elementary, Chadbourne Elementary, Forest Park Elementary, Gomes Elementary, Leitch Elementary, Mission San Jose Elementary, Mission Valley Elementary, Parkmont Elementary, Warm Springs Elementary, Weibel Elementary, Hopkins Junior High School, Mission San Jose High School and Circle of Independent Learning (C.O.I.L.).

The business community is also recognizing a subset of the Honor Roll that has both high-percentages of low-income students and high levels of math and science achievement. STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) Honor Roll schools will receive special recognition of their accomplishments. FUSD’s Durham Elementary received the added distinction of STEM Honor Roll School.

A full list of the Honor Roll schools, districts, and the STEM awardees can be found at <http://edresults.org/HonorRoll/Honor-Roll?State=CA>

Philip is welcomed by Aunts - Jeannine Chantri, Julie Clugage and Gina Galli, Uncles - Ron Chantri, Richard Hardegree and Brock Musgrave, as well as, cousins Bailey, Ellie and Katie Hardegree and Andrea Ferrel-Chantri.

Lincoln Elementary recognized for student success

ANGELA EHRLICH

Newark announced recently that one school has been selected by Educational Results Partnership (ERP) and the Campaign for Business and Education Excellence (CBEE) as one of 1,714 public schools in California to receive the title of 2015 Honor Roll school. The school named is Lincoln Elementary School.

The Honor Roll is part of a national effort to identify higher-performing schools and highlight successful practices that improve outcomes for students. Schools receiving this distinction from leaders in the California academic and business communities have demonstrated consistent high levels of student academic achievement, improvement in achievement levels over time and reduction in achievement gaps among student populations. The Honor Roll is comprised of two different awards, the “Star Schools” Award and “Scholar Schools” Award.

Star Schools are those with significant populations of socio-economically disadvantaged students that have shown a significant increase in grade-level proficiency over time. Scholar Schools are schools that are showing significant levels of academic achievement, but do not have a significant socio-economically disadvantaged student population.

Drive for a cause

SUBMITTED BY DRIVERS FOR SURVIVORS

BMW Drive for a Cause is a national summer test drive tour for charity stopping at BMW Centers across the country. BMW of Fremont has chosen to benefit Drivers for Survivors at their event on Thursday, June 2, and we’d love for you to join us!

For every test drive taken, the wonderful people at BMW of Fremont will make a donation to our organization. We’ll be set up at the event to speak with attendees as they come by throughout the day to experience The Ultimate Driving Machine in head-to-head match-ups against its toughest competition from Mercedes-Benz and Lexus.

If you’re in the market for a new vehicle and are considering BMW, I encourage you to sign-up for a test drive slot online. There will be strong sales programs in place during Drive for a Cause, and you might be able to get a new BMW for less than you’d think.

Visit www.facebook.com/BMWofFremont/ or www.facebook.com/DriversForSurvivors/ for more information. Register for a test drive at <https://goo.gl/ZzZuKh>.

Huskies eliminated from playoffs

Baseball

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The Washington Huskies were eliminated from further play in the North Coast Section on May 24 when they met the Livermore Cowboys. The 8-2 loss didn't start out that way as the Huskies kept things close with good defense in the first three innings. However, the powerful Cowboys kept the pressure on with runs in the first two innings and finally breaking through with five runs in the third. The Huskies threatened with runners on base, but could not convert to enough scoring to keep pace.

Cougars move on

Softball

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The Newark Memorial Lady Cougars put on an impressive show on May 27 when they met the Lady Cowboys of Livermore, finishing with a 4-1 victory. Superb pitching by Jiana Rojo stitched together the right combination to keep the Livermore team off balance, with five strikeouts. Combined with power at the plate, the Lady Cougars had plenty of mojo to move on to semifinal play.

Winged insects and avians will share the spotlight at the 17th annual “Butterfly and Bird Festival” scheduled for 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sunday, June 5 at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont. The festival is dedicated to increasing the populations of butterflies and birds in the Bay Area. Features will include tours of the park’s butterfly garden, hands-on activities for the whole family, educational speakers, photo presentations and music. Experts will provide information on how to create your own wildlife-friendly backyard habitat. Coyote Hills is located at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There’s a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. Festival activities are free of charge. For more information, call (888) 327-2757 ext. 3220.

Speaking of insects, “Dashing Dragonflies” are the topic of Family Nature Fun Hour from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, June 4 and 5, at Crab Cove Visitor Center in Alameda. You can learn about these carnivorous insects, then look for them at a nearby pond. Then from 3 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. both days, it’s fish-feeding time at Crab Cove’s large aquarium. Millions of years ago, when Earth’s atmosphere was more oxygen rich, the fossil record indicates that dragonflies had wingspans of up to 30 inches. They’re smaller now, fortunately, but still fascinating and beautiful. Crab Cove is at 1252 McKay Ave. off Alameda’s Central Avenue. For information, call (510) 544-3187. Learn all about the birds and the bees next weekend at Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley. First the bees: you can learn the truth about them in a program from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 4 at the Little Farm classroom, with interpretive student aide Myles Lynn. Check out the local beehive, watch the bees’ waggle dance, and learn the importance of a healthy bee population. As for the birds, naturalist Anthony Fisher will lead a bird walk from 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, June 5 in search of adult birds and recently fledged young ones. Then from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday June 5, interpretive student aide Brianna Contaxis-Tucker will lead a program about the lives of young animals on Tilden’s Little Farm and the nearby wilds. The program includes arts, crafts and interaction with farm animals. Flutes made from elderberry branches are traditional in Native American culture. Anthony will show how to make and play one in a program from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, June 5 for ages 9 and up. The flutes are easy to make but hard to play. The flute program requires registration, and there’s a fee of $5 per person. To register, call (888) 327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to program 13096. All these programs meet at the Environmental Education Center and Little Farm, which are located at the north end of Tilden’s Central Park Drive. Call (510) 544-2233. The Over-the-Hills Gang is an informal, naturalist-led group of hikers ages 55 and older who enjoy nature study and fitness. The gang will explore Lone Tree Point in Rodeo from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 7. For information, call (510) 544-2233. There are still spring wildflowers in bloom at higher elevations. To see them, join naturalist Eddie Willis on a hike from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, June 5 at Morgan Territory Regional Preserve east of Mt. Diablo. The hike is for ages 8 and older. Meet Eddie at the park’s staging area on Morgan Territory Road, about nine miles south of Marsh Creek Road in Clayton. Or you can meet a live snake under safe conditions in a program hosted by naturalist Virginia Delgado from 12 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 5 at Contra Loma Regional Park in Antioch. The program is for ages 5 and up. The park is at the end of Frederickson Lane off Golf Course Road. Meet at the swim area. For information on either Eddie’s or Virginia’s program, call (888) 327-2757 ext. 2750. Lake Chabot Regional Park in Castro Valley will celebrate its 50th anniversary on Saturday, June 4, with an all-day festival of fun and free activities. Events from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. will include a fishing derby, paddle boat races, lake tours on the Chabot Queen, nature hikes, and live music. Loaner fishing gear will be available for kids. There will be food and drink for sale. Lake Chabot is at 17600 Lake Chabot Rd. Admission is free, but the fishing derby costs $5 to enter.

The Chabot College track and field team expected its Big Four of Leroy Elliott Jr., Jason Intravaia, Conner McKinnon and Rhomel Clarke to be among the state’s elite, but a fifth star emerged.

Jason Intravaia finished fourth in the 1,500 meters;

Adora Garrick, who didn’t qualify for the CCCAA NorCal meet last year in the women’s discus, had a grand finale to her Chabot career. She finished second at the CCCAA State Championships on May 21, with a personal best mark of 140 feet, 7 inches at San Diego Mesa College – No. 2 all-time at Chabot. “Adora was a big surprise,”

Leroy Elliott runs to third place in the 110 meter hurdles at the state meet

Chabot coach Kyle Robinson said of Garrick, who earned All-American honors. “She came a long way.” Garrick, a Castro Valley High graduate, also finished second at the NorCal meet with a mark of 136 feet, 1 inch on May 14, after throwing 133 feet, 3 inches in the NorCal Trials. She improved seven feet in the final few weeks of the season. Elliott placed third in the men’s 110 hurdles for the second straight year at the state meet with a time of 14.55 seconds. McKinnon was also third in the 800, in 1:53.32. Clarke was ninth in the 800, in 1:59.11. Intravaia was fourth in the 1,500, in 4:00.27. Robinson also sang the praises of sophomore Jazz Singh. Two years after suffering three cracked vertebrae in a motorcycle accident, Singh ran a personal best of 10.76 seconds in the 100 to finish second at the Coast Conference meet. “Overall, it went well for us. We’re pretty pleased,” Robinson said of the season, noting that he had seven or eight additions to the Chabot Top 10 list.

Lacie Sandoval, hitting behind the runner, plated Mello with a ground out to second. Wenn, the next batter, drove a ball to deep right, ending up at third. Angelina Ochoa, courtesy running for the catcher, scored on a wild pitch. College Park’s Wigren kept Logan off the board for the next 4 innings. Logan scored two more runs in the bottom of the 6th without a hit. Olivia Cazares started the inning by getting hit by a pitch. Ari Garcia sacrificed but an errant throw allowed Cazares to score all of the way from first with Garcia stopping at second. Serena Garcia sacrificed the runner to third and then Rachel Moran scored Garcia with another ground out to second base. Logan will play the winner of the Foothill-American game in the next round of the Division 1 NCS playoffs.

VTA’s BART Silicon Valley Berryessa Extension, the $2.3 billion extension of the regional Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) commuter rail line, remains on budget and several months ahead of schedule. By late 2017, the largest public works project in VTA and Santa Clara County history will open its doors to passengers. Santa Clara County residents have expressed a desire for a regional transit connection into Silicon Valley since the late 1990s. In 2000, voters approved a 30-year, half-cent sales tax to pay for the extension. A major investment study in 2001 showed extending the BART line to Milpitas, San Jose and Santa Clara offered an optimal option for relieving congestion and providing an environmentally friendly commute alternative to the highly congested I-880 and I-680 corridors. The first two-station, 10-mile phase runs from the future BART Warm Springs Station in Fremont to just north of downtown San Jose.

For every $1 spent on construction, operations and maintenance, VTA estimates $4 to $10 will be reinvested into the region. That includes new businesses, offices and retail space; access to better paying jobs; and for employers, a larger labor pool and skill set, adding about 500,000 people to its job market. The Silicon Valley extension is already spurring a tremendous amount of transit-oriented, mixed-use development around its stations. More than 40 percent of the parcels and property adjacent to future BART stations have turned over and are being converted to higher-density housing units. The rail line runs underneath or above roadways so, when operational, BART will not conflict with vehicular, bicycle or pedestrian traffic. Both the Milpitas and Berryessa BART Stations will be multimodal, offering connections to express and rapid bus service and VTA light rail in Milpitas. Construction is 80 percent complete and, come later this year, BART will begin testing trains and system integration. Join the national conversation on why #infrastructurematters! Read more about BART Silicon Valley on VTA’s blog, Headways, at www.vta.org.

TAKES FROM SILICON VALLEY EAST

Fremont Dedicates the Month of May to Affordable Housing

BY DAN SCHOENHOLZ,
DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

May is Affordable Housing Month, providing a great opportunity for the City of Fremont to show its commitment to affordable housing and to keep residents informed regarding the City’s efforts. Here are a few updates on some of the affordable housing projects that are currently in development.

One project of note is the St. Anton Communities project, Innovia. This 290-unit transit-oriented mixed-use affordable housing development will be located across the street from the new Warm Springs/South Fremont BART station, which is scheduled to open in the third quarter of 2016.

The development itself will provide housing units, as well as retail space and a number of on-site amenities like active courtyards, social centers, a swimming pool, gathering areas, a tech center, and a bike repair facility. Not only that, but there will also be onsite free classes focused on workforce development, resume preparation, English as a second language, technology skill development, nutritional health and well-being, among others. The groundbreaking is scheduled to take place in November 2016 and the development should be completed within two years.

A few other projects the City has in the works include:

- Laguna Commons – a 65-unit affordable housing project with nearly half of the units reserved for military veterans has almost completed construction and is scheduled for occupancy at the end of May or early June this year.
- Central Commons – a 30-unit Habitat for Humanity project for low-income home buyers is anticipated to break ground later this year or in early 2017.

- Parc55 – a 93-unit affordable senior apartment project developed by the nonprofit Eden Housing that is set to begin construction in late 2016 or early 2017.

- Stevenson Family Apartments – an 80-unit affordable housing project developed by the nonprofit MidPen Housing. Construction is planned for early 2017.

On top of these developments, the City of Fremont has taken on other strategies to increase affordable housing. Some of these strategies include:

- Updated Affordable Housing Ordinance—In 2015, we updated our affordable housing ordinance to increase affordable housing funding and incentivize market rate developers to incorporate affordable housing into projects. And since the update, the City is proud to say that fees collected and onsite affordable housing production have both increased.
- Grant Funding—Back in 2014, Fremont competed for and was awarded a $1.7 million grant from California’s Local Housing Trust Fund Program. The grant is being used to support development of the 80-unit Stevenson Family Apartments affordable housing project.

- Shared Housing—Fremont recently partnered with HIP Housing (www.Fremont.gov/Homesharing), a San Mateo based nonprofit organization that creates homes for Bay Area residents. The home sharing program partners those who have spare bedrooms with those seeking a place to live to create affordable housing and mutually beneficial options.

As we celebrate Affordable Housing Month, we’re pleased that we have great things happening on the affordable housing front, with lots more to come in the future.

Santa Clara County moves forward with 55-acre Civic Center development

SUBMITTED BY LAUREL ANDERSON

The County of Santa Clara Board of Supervisors, at its May 24, meeting, approved a Master Development Agreement with Lowe Enterprises for the multi-phased planning and development of the 55-acre Santa Clara County Civic Center in San Jose.

Lowe Enterprises, selected through a competitive public Request for Qualifications/Request for Proposal (RFQ/RFP) process, is a national real estate investment, development and management firm with more than 40-years of experience.

Lowe, in conjunction with Gensler Architects, will immediately begin the first phase of the development process with the creation of a Master Plan for the properties bounded by the Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority’s Guadalupe Maintenance Division to the north, Highway 87 to the west, North First Street to the east, and Mission Street to the south. The Master Plan, which will be developed over an approximate 12-month period, will identify the size and location of all aspects of the Civic Center development, including government buildings, parking, and open spaces that will bring new uses to the Civic Center that also complements and enhances the existing neighborhood.

Guiding principles for the Civic Center development include that it must be designed and executed in a manner that is environmentally sensitive and increases the value of County-owned properties.

The Board of Supervisors has identified initial recommendations to help guide the master development agreement that includes:

Planning for public space on the Civic Center Campus of approximately 1.15 million square feet, constituting approximately 23 acres for public uses, leaving an estimated 17 acres of land for possible revenue-generating purposes (on land that the County would continue to own);

Planning for the demolition of the West Wing and connector and relocation of its occupants, the Office of the District Attorney, along with other law and justice administrative uses, to new buildings on the Richey site, the former Army Reserve located at the corner of San Pedro Street and Hedding Street;

Planning for potential relocation of the remainder of the County administrative uses (not including the Main Jail or the Courts) to the area north of Hedding St., leaving a single block south of Hedding Street for revenue-generating purposes (on land that the County would continue to own);

Further exploration for either redevelopment/modernization or replacement of the East Wing, for continued public use or private use (depending on the adopted Campus site plan scenario); and

WILLIAM MARSHAK

As graduation ceremonies dominate the latter part of May and the month of June, some high school and college graduates - and their parents - are facing tough choices. For those who head off to undergraduate or post-graduate education, there may be a grace period courtesy of parents' largesse, grants or a combination of both before facing the harsh economic reality of life in the Greater Tri-City area. Apartment rental costs are sky high and competing with cash buyers for home ownership is a pipedream at best. Even those who have chosen the "right" profession of high tech are hard pressed to afford a comfortable and personal lifestyle without bunking with their parents or sharing with a group of Silicon Valley commuters.

But what about the energy and creativity of other graduates that offer another and important aspect to our community. How about those who have chosen a different path? Not everyone in our society can or should be invested in writing code or engineering professions. Our communities need the breadth and life of citizens engaged in a host of other careers. Where do they fit into the go-go world of Silicon Valley? What a boring and gray world it would be if everyone aspired to the same endgame of engineering, succumbing to parental urging to excel in the proper, disciplined training of pre-school, after school, resume enriching activities. How can our communities find welcoming places for these critical citizens that have chosen to eschew the role of captain of industry? In our current economic environment, there is little to retain them so they are forced to flee and either commute long distances or just leave for good.

The response to the housing shortage from government is to build "affordable housing" that will allow those earning less than mega-salaries to find a place to live. Unfortunately, there is already a long waiting list for these units and developers are encouraged to build in "Transit Oriented Development" (TOD) areas. A TOD includes the assumption that close access to BART, other rail or mass transit from home to a location outside the community is the goal of residents. This may not be the case for residents seeking intracity mobility.

With all the emphasis on STEM education, there is little to encourage or support those who seek another path. It is fine to fit into the current euphoria over Science, Technology, Engineering and Math but a new movement, STEAM, incorporates the Arts into the mix arguing that Art supports critical thinking and creativity. A focus on quality and appreciation of differences gives an alternative to rigidity and mathematical precision.

Instead of using this acronym to simply enhance the training of future technologists other students that want something different in their lives need a respected position in our communities too. For some parents, the heresy of anything other than a "secure" profession in medicine, technology, or other high tech pursuit is anathema, but some of their offspring may have other ideas. How do we welcome and provide space for them as critical components of a complete society? Rather than viewing the art world as a means to the end of enrolling in the proper school and profession, it offers so much more as balance to every community. Talk of incubator space for emerging technology should be merged with the idea of such spaces for the fine and practical arts too. Let's entice our creative artists to remain in our community and avoid brain drain. An enduring poem by the illustrious Robert Frost reminds us that each individual makes decisions that will affect his or her future even if not aligned with the majority; this is part of the rich tapestry of life.

The Road Not Taken

*Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;*

*Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim
Because it was grassy and wanted wear,
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,*

*And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way
I doubted if I should ever come back.*

*I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I,
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.*

Domestic violence incident near Industrial Boulevard

SUBMITTED BY LT. BOBBIE KOLLER, HAYWARD PD

On Wednesday, May 25, 2016, at about 10:45 a.m., officers were dispatched on a call regarding a man with a gun in the area of Industrial Boulevard and Depot Road. An informant called 911 to report seeing a man beating a woman inside of a car. When the man noticed the informant looking at them, the man threatened the informant with a gun.

An officer arrived in the area and saw the man but lost sight of him as he ran through a small field adjacent to CA-92. Officers searched the area and, with the assistance of a police canine, were able to locate and arrest the man. At some point, the male discarded the gun used in the incident and officers were unable to locate it. Part of CA-92 was closed while officers searched the area adjacent to it for the man.

The male was identified as Jeswal Prakash of Hayward. The female was located safely in the area and appeared uninjured. Anyone with any information regarding this incident is encouraged to contact the Hayward Police Department at (510) 293-7034.

India Community Center names Chief Executive Officer

SUBMITTED BY INDIA COMMUNITY CENTER

India Community Center (ICC) announced that Raj Desai has joined ICC as its Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Raj will be taking over for Pragati Grover, who recently decided to take personal time for family and travel. Raj assumed the role on May 1, while Pragati transitioned from the organization on May 15.

“While I have been involved as an adviser for many years, I’m excited to be part of the ICC family as its CEO. What really attracted me to ICC is not just the fact that it’s secular but also that the leadership truly cares about making a positive difference in people’s lives,” said Raj.

Prior to this role, Raj spent 40 years as an entrepreneur and executive building global teams. His career has spanned roles at an early stint at Coopers & Lybrand UK, becoming a member of British Telecom’s management team and starting his own commercial printing business, which in turn acquired a number of related businesses. He last served as executive director of The Indus Entrepreneurs (TiE), the world’s largest entrepreneurship organization, for a period of nine years.

“I can think of no one better to lead India Community Center. Raj’s experience as a successful entrepreneur and later as the executive director of TiE has given him a unique perspective into the community. That, combined with his passion for community, makes him the perfect choice for the CEO of ICC,” said Anil Godhwani, ICC co-president and co-founder.

2015: A landmark year for sustainability in Fremont

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

Fremont has taken significant steps toward protecting the environment and acting on climate change. The City’s General Plan embraces a vision of sustainability and sets the goal of transforming Fremont from an auto-oriented suburb into a sustainable, strategically urban, and modern city.

The Climate Action Plan provides a roadmap for reducing community-wide greenhouse gas emissions by 25 percent by 2020. In 2015 alone, Fremont made the following strides to reduce our climate impact:

Fremont is one of 50 semifinalist competitors in the Georgetown University Energy Prize, a two-year national competition from 2015 through 2016 offering a $5 million award to the city that does the best job at reducing total energy consumption.

The City installed 1.2 megawatts of solar generating carport structures at Aqua Adventure Waterpark, Robert Wasserman Fremont Police Center, and Irvington Community Center, reducing our municipal greenhouse gas footprint by 5 percent.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency named Fremont a Green Power Partner for supplying more than 10 percent of municipal energy usage with renewable energy.

From August through October 2015, hundreds of Fremont residents learned about the benefits of rooftop solar via East Bay Sun Shares Program, resulting in the installation of 47 new residential solar systems through discounted group pricing.

Almost 700 new residential solar PV (photovoltaic) systems were installed this year, bringing the total installed capacity to 18.9 megawatts of solar on over 1,985 homes and 69 businesses within Fremont. This amounts to approximately 25 million kilowatt-hours of local carbon-free electricity generation each year.

Nearly 1,400 electric vehicles (EV) were purchased by Fremont residents in 2015, bringing the total number of EVs in Fremont to over 3,700. In fact, Fremont’s 94539 zip code is home to more EVs than any other zip code in California.

Fremont launched a car sharing pilot program with Zipcar, providing three car share vehicles outside of Fremont BART station and two within the Centerville Train Depot parking lot.

Fremont was named America’s 10th Greenest City of 2015 by WalletHub for our high environmental quality and use of clean energy resources.

Fremont signed onto the Compact of Mayors, a coalition of over 450 cities worldwide publicly pledging to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and prepare for the impacts of climate change.

Visit www.fremont.gov/Sustainability for more information on Fremont’s environmental sustainability efforts.

2015:A landmark year for sustainability in Fremont

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

Fremont has taken significant steps toward protecting the environment and acting on climate change. The City's General Plan embraces a vision of sustainability and sets the goal of transforming Fremont from an auto-oriented suburb into a sustainable, strategically urban, and modern city.

The Climate Action Plan provides a roadmap for reducing community-wide greenhouse gas emissions by 25 percent by 2020. In 2015 alone, Fremont made the following strides to reduce our climate impact:

Fremont is one of 50 semifinalist competitors in the Georgetown University Energy Prize, a two-year national competition from 2015 through 2016 offering a $5 million award to the city that does the best job at reducing total energy consumption.

The City installed 1.2 megawatts of solar generating carport structures at Aqua Adventure Waterpark, Robert Wasserman Fremont Police Center, and Irvington Community Center, reducing our municipal greenhouse gas footprint by 5 percent.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency named Fremont a Green Power Partner for supplying more than 10 percent of municipal energy usage with renewable energy.

From August through October 2015, hundreds of Fremont residents learned about the benefits of rooftop solar via East Bay Sun Shares Program, resulting in the installation of 47 new residential solar systems through discounted group pricing.

Almost 700 new residential solar PV (photovoltaic) systems were installed this year, bringing the total installed capacity to 18.9 megawatts of solar on over 1,985 homes and 69 businesses within Fremont. This amounts to approximately 25 million kilowatt-hours of local carbon-free electricity generation each year.

Nearly 1,400 electric vehicles (EV) were purchased by Fremont residents in 2015, bringing the total number of EVs in Fremont to over 3,700. In fact, Fremont's 94539 zip code is home to more EVs than any other zip code in California.

Fremont launched a car sharing pilot program with Zipcar, providing three car share vehicles outside of Fremont BART station and two within the Centerville Train Depot parking lot.

Fremont was named America's 10th Greenest City of 2015 by WalletHub for our high environmental quality and use of clean energy resources.

Fremont signed onto the Compact of Mayors, a coalition of over 450 cities worldwide publicly pledging to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and prepare for the impacts of climate change.

Visit www.fremont.gov/Sustainability for more information on Fremont's environmental sustainability efforts.

American Licorice Provides Backpacks and Supplies

Next year, when Hillview Crest Elementary students report back to school, there will be a brand new backpack filled with school supplies waiting for each one of them. The backpacks are filled with essential school supplies, including: pencils, pens, glue sticks, notebooks, post it-notes, folders, scissors, crayons, markers, erasers, a pencil sharpener and ruler. The backpacks filled with supplies are provided by the American Licorice Company made possible by a partnership with the Kids In Need Foundation. To learn more, visit www.americanlicorice.com and www.kinf.org.

Logan Swimmer places in Statewide Competition

This past weekend, senior and swim team captain, Antoinette Loya, became the first James Logan High School swimmer to compete at the state championship meet in Clovis, Calif. Antoinette was ranked 16th in the state in the 50-yard freestyle going into day 1 preliminaries. She swam her lifetime best and dropped in rank to No. 8. This earned her a spot in the final heat. On day 2, Antoinette finished her high school swimming career by achieving another lifetime best time of 23.5 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle. She also moved out of 8th place and took 6th place in the state in this event.

Newark Optimists honor Schilling Elementary School teacher and two students

On May 18, the Newark Optimist Club honored Wahhab Salemi and Estania Resendiz-Ortiz as Schilling's Sixth Grade Students of the Year. They also honored Shereen Raber as Schilling's Teacher of the Year.

The club adopts a Newark Elementary School for three years, during which time they support the school with a financial donation, honor their Teacher of the Year, and hold an essay contest for the sixth grade classes. From these essays, based on optimism, a boy and a girl are chosen as the Students of the Year.

At a recent breakfast meeting, the club honored Wahhab, Estania and Mrs. Raber. Schilling Elementary School Principal Nicole Perades and families of the honorees joined in the occasion. The students read their essays aloud and attendees were impressed by the ways in which they embraced the principles of optimism. The students expressed hope for the future and the benefit of leading others to think optimistically.

Mrs. Perades praised Mrs. Raber for being an outstanding teacher who is respected by all who know her. Raber is admired for the energy, drive and stamina that she brings to her work. Mrs. Perades said Raber is a positive voice of encouragement to others and serves as an excellent role model and peer coach.

Teacher of the Year is a peer-generated award. Comments made by nominating co-workers included such phrases as: "She sees the best in everyone," "she offers the best learning environment," and "she is very positive and is a model teacher."

The Newark Optimist Club members were honored to meet Wahhab, Estania, and Mrs. Reber. This is an annual event that is held each May. A line in the Purposes of Optimism reads, "To aid and encourage the development of youth in the belief that the giving of oneself in service to other will advance the well being of human kind, community, and the world." This activity helps the members fulfill this purpose!

Memorial Commemoration

SUBMITTED BY OLIVIA DE JIMENEZ

On May 27, Newark Memorial High School held a Memorial Day Commemoration in honor of Newark Memorial High School alumni that have fallen while in active duty. Our campus is a living memorial to the men and women of Newark who have given their lives in military service of the United States of America.

In 1990, the installment of the bronze plaque at the base of the main office flagpole dedicated that memorialization. Since its installment, one additional name has been added to the plaque that of Pvt. Freddie Allen Stewart, who was 22 years old when his truck overturned during field exercises with the United States Army 7th Infantry Division in 1966. Pvt. Stewart grew up on Olive Street in Newark, and graduated from Washington High School in 1962. The City of Newark incorporated in 1955, but Newark High School was not built until 1963. At the time, Newark's students of high school age attended Washington High School.

It's Cherry Festival time

BY MAURICIO SEGURA
CHERRY FESTIVAL

Summer is right around the corner, which means time for family fun, fairs, festivals, sun screened faces, and oh-so-yummy food that you can hardly imagine. We are lucky to live in the Bay Area where outdoor entertainment options are endless; this week is the 107th annual San Leandro "Cherry Festival."

With the first cherry tree planted 160 years ago, San Leandro put itself on the map as the cherry production capital of the Bay. Orchards of the sweet mouth-watering fruit tree covered most of the city, and production was so great that San Leandro was eventually and appropriately dubbed "The excited that our beloved Cherry Festival has returned as one of our community's signature annual events. This year's 107th anniversary event will celebrate our rich heritage and diversity, while showcasing our community's innovative spirit. I encourage the public to come out and join us for this free event that brings live music and fun activities for the whole family to enjoy."

The 2016 Cherry Festival will kick off with the timeless street parade at 10 a.m. Over 40 entries with floats, vintage cars, and performers will make their way from the Boys and Girls Club on 401 Marina Boulevard to the festival grounds. The parade route runs north along San Leandro Boulevard and turns east on W. Estudillo Avenue. Best viewing is on the east side of San Leandro Boulevard (along northbound lanes).

Once on the festival grounds, an area of approximately four square blocks, visitors will be treated to a plethora of sights, sounds, and smells like no other. Purchase the tastiest locally-grown fruits and vegetables in the farmers market, shop for unique hand-made artisan crafts, and of course, feast on all the cherry baked goods you can imagine. Children have their own "Fun Zone" where they can get their faces painted, get on rides, and run around having fun. The Arts & Innovation Space exhibition is hands-on and interactive entertainment for the whole family, featuring demonstrations and activities by the Exploratorium and others. Last but not least, a cherry store where you can buy anything and everything cherry themed, from Cherry BBQ Sauce, Cherry Tea, Cherry Festival T-shirts and Cherry Festival Beer Mugs.

A festival wouldn't be a festival without musical entertainment, and this year will feature concerts by two huge names in Latin Jazz and R&B. The Legendary Escovedo Family Band features Pete Escovedo and sons Juan and Peter Michael. Pete has been a fixture of the Bay Area music scene since the '60s, and is even one of the founding members of Santana. Between himself and his sons (you may even have heard of his daughter Sheila E.), they have each contributed their talent with fellow legendary artists like Prince, Marvin Gaye, Michael Jackson, Mariah Carey, Carlos Santana, Tito Puente, and MC Hammer, just to name a few. (<http://peteescovedo.com/>)

R&B legend Jon B., who last played in San Leandro to a sold out Bal Theatre crowd in 2014, brings back his amazing keyboard and vocal skills to the Cherry Festival stage. He began his career in the early '90s as a songwriter for

Michael Jackson and Toni Braxton among others, but achieved worldwide acclaim in 1995 when his debut album, "Bonafide," went platinum. Now, 20 years later, he's still recording and touring extensively throughout the U.S. and Europe. (<http://www.jonbworld.com/>)

For those who want to leave the car at home and get a little exercise, the non-profit San Leandro-based cycling club, The Cherry City Cyclists, are leading a casual 10-mile bike ride to the festival. Cherry City." The very first Cherry Festival was held with great fanfare on June 5, 1909. 15 tons of cherries were given away that day to an estimated 25,000 visitors, a remarkable figure considering the population of San Leandro at the time was only 3,500 people. The festival thrived with carnival rides, circus acts, and parades until a few years after the Great Depression. Unfortunately, by 1932 the once-extensive orchards slowly lost out to industrial and housing development. In 1972, the year of San Leandro's bicentennial, the Cherry Festival was revived but it wasn't until 1986 that it began its annual tradition once again.

UPDATE AND SBX7-7 COMPLIANCE AND AVAILABILITY OF DRAFT PLAN FOR PUBLIC REVIEW

The Urban Water Management Planning Act requires the Alameda County Water District (ACWD) to update its Urban Water Management Plan (Plan) by July 2016. The 2015 Plan includes (2) a re-evaluation of methods to comply with the urban water use targets established in SBX7-7 ("20 by 2020" water conservation requirements).

Draft Plan Available for Public Review and Comment

ACWD released the Draft Plan on May 10, 2016. The Draft Plan is available for public review and comment through the end of the public hearing described below. The Draft Plan can be viewed at ACWD's website at: <http://www.acwd.org>

A copy of the Draft Plan is also available for viewing at the ACWD office.

Public Hearing

ACWD will hold a public hearing for the following purposes: (1) to consider and adopt proposed revisions and updates to the Draft Plan; and (2) to reconsider and re-adopt the method for determining ACWD's water use targets under SBX7-7, including obtaining community input regarding ACWD's implementation plan and considering the economic impacts, if any, for implementing that Plan.

The public hearing will be held at the ACWD office on:

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

On June 9, 2016, at or after 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers, 37101 Newark Blvd., Newark, CA, the Newark City Council will hold a public hearing to consider: The release of a covenant of easement for a non-buildable easement located at 39890 Eureka Drive, Newark (Parcel 1 of Parcel Map 7726, Alameda County Records). At the time of recording of Parcel Map 7726, the property owner provided a covenant of easement to the City of Newark pursuant to the California Government Code (Sections 65870-65875) for a 16-foot wide non-buildable easement. This easement was not established for public use, but was created to ensure that the designated area was kept open and free form buildings and surface structures of any kind except applicable utility structures and appurtenances, irrigation systems and appurtenances, and lawful fences for the benefit of the owner of the adjoining Parcel 2 of Parcel Map 7726. Parcels 1 and 2 of Parcel Map 7726 are now under common ownership and have been merged into a single legal parcel. The covenant of easement is therefore no longer needed and should be released pursuant to California Government Code Section 65874. Details are available at the Public Works Department, 37101 Newark Boulevard, Newark, CA, 94560, and by contacting Mr. Soren Fajeau, Public Works Director, at (510) 578-4286 or soren.fajeau@newark.org.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

On June 9, 2016, at or after 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers, 37101 Newark Blvd., Newark, CA, the Newark City Council will hold a public hearing to consider: An increase of the Parks Impact Fee up to $31,000 per residential unit. A Parks and Recreation Facility Development Impact Fee Study was conducted and has concluded that a fee of up to $31,000 per dwelling unit would be justified given the cost of land and improvements. The existing fee is $7,460 per residential unit. The fee would be applicable to new residential projects in the City of Newark. The Study establishing the estimated cost required for providing the service for which the fee is levied and the revenue sources anticipated to provide the service is available to the public. Details are available at the Planning Department, 37101 Newark Boulevard, Newark, CA, 94560, and by contacting Terrence Grindall, Assistant City Manager (510) 578-4208. If you challenge a City action in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice or in written correspondence delivered to the Newark Planning Commission and/or City Council at, or prior to, the public hearing. Subject to exhaustion of administrative remedies, Code of Civil Procedure Section 1094.6 requires you to initiate such a proceeding in court within 90 days of the final decision in this matter.

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
JEFFREY M. DRAKE
CASE NO. RP16814325

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Jeffrey M. Drake aka Jeffrey Melton Drake:
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Marilyn J. Maynard-Drake in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.

The Petition for Probate requests that Marilyn J. Maynard-Drake be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on 06/27/2016 at 9:30 in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King, Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Obituary

Irma Leticia Gonzales

May 4th 1962 - May 19th 2016

Irma Leticia Gonzales passed away peacefully on Thursday, May 19th 2016, surrounded by her loved ones. Irma was born on May 4th 1962 in Oakland, California. She is survived by her sisters Vickiy Gonzales, Lily Acosta, Christina Cantu, and Linda Montes; her children, Angelina Lovato, Amanda Landeros, Andres Landeros, Alicia Snell, Anita Snell; and her two grandsons, Alejandro and Alonzo Robledo. Her son Alejandro Landeros, her mother Josephine Landeros, her father Philip Gonzales, and her brother Eddie Gonzales predeceased her.

As a Bay Area native, she was a fan of the Oakland A's and San Francisco 49er's. She enjoyed listening to oldies, watching movies, spending time with her family, friends, and spoiling her grandsons. She was very kindhearted and a friend to all, often going out of her way to help those in need. Irma was loved by all who knew her and was always humble. She had a beautiful smile and had an infectious laugh. She will be greatly missed.

Thank you to everyone's generosity and who helped by donating through Irma's GoFundMe account. And also to the Landeros family for hosting a fundraiser on Sunday. It was much appreciate

Obituary

Norma Marian Biale Burns

December 20, 1926 – May 25, 2016

Resident of Fremont

Norma Marian Biale was born to Marian and Giacomo Biale, at the Niles Maternity Home, on December 20, 1926. She lived her whole life in Niles. Norma passed peacefully on May 25, 2016. Norma loved learning and teaching. She graduated from San Jose Normal School (now San Jose State University) and began her Elementary School teaching career at Centerville Elementary, and soon met the dashing carpenter, Harold Burns, whose shop was next to the Biale family business. Harold brought romance and excitement into Norma's life. He was the love of her life! They were married on December 19, 1949, and moved into the house that Harold built, where they raised four children and had frequent celebrations with friends and family.

Norma returned to teaching at Gomes Elementary School from 1964 - 1990. It was an open-space school and Norma became an innovative master teacher leader and was selected to receive Gomes' Presidential School of Excellence Award from President Reagan.

After the kids were on their own, Norma and Harold settled into a life centered on each other, worshiped at and supported Corpus Christi Church. They volunteered with St. Vincent de Paul and brought Holy Communion to home-bound parish members. After Harold passed on in 2008, the transition to living on her own was difficult but she maintained her faith and continued to volunteer as long as she could.

Norma is survived by her three sisters, Thelma Lyon (Deane), Jacqueline Buti and Donna Phode (Gene), by her children and their partners, Nancy Lapotin (Ron), Jack Burns (Mary Litvinchuk), Jim Burns (Celeste) and Jeff Burns (Kathie), by her five grandchildren, Nicole Lapotin (Ben White), Justine Miller (John Miller), James Burns (Jill), Jennifer Burns and Kimberly Beier (Jason), and by her six great-grandchildren, Emma and Lily Miller, Hayden and McKeane Beier and Karlie and Jimmy Burns.

Norma is at peace now in the love of her God and we will cherish our memories of her.

In lieu of flowers, please send donations to Corpus Christi Parish St. Vincent de Paul or other Catholic charity of your choice.

Visitation will be held on Thursday, June 2nd, from 3-5pm and a Funeral Mass will be celebrated at 5pm at Corpus Christi Catholic Church, 37891 2ns St., Fremont, CA 94536. Private burial at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Hayward, CA.

Saturday, May 21

At 2:13 p.m., a victim reported the theft of their gray Red Line brand road bike, valued at $800.00, while it was cable locked in the (west) free area of Fremont station between 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. An officer made telephone contact with the victim and completed a report.

Monday, May 23

At 12:20 p.m., officers responded to Hayward station on a report of a fight in progress. Upon arrival, officers detained the involved parties. The investigation revealed that the suspect ripped a necklace from the victim’s neck. The victim, who is not known to the suspect, fought back and eventually recovered his property. During the fight, the victim sustained an injury to his hand, while the suspect sustained a minor injury. The suspect’s girlfriend was also at the scene but was not in-involved. The suspect was placed under arrest, and medical was called for both parties. A records check revealed that the suspect had a valid restraining order prohibiting him from being near his girlfriend, along with three outstanding warrants. The first warrant was held by the Union City PD for $5,000 charging resisting arrest, and the second and third warrants were held by San Leandro PD, no bails, charging burglary. Both parties were treated at the scene for their respective injuries. The suspect was transported and booked into the Santa Rita Jail on the listed charges. The suspect was also issued a prohibition order. Station video was requested.

Tuesday, May 24

At 5:41 p.m., a victim reported the theft of their 1989 Toyota Camry from lot A at Union City Station. The vehicle was taken between 6:10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

A victim reported the theft of their white 1996 Ford Wagon E350 from Union City Station. The vehicle was taken sometime between 4:05 p.m. on May 21, 2016 and 11:00 a.m. on May 24, 2016.

Tuesday, May 24

At 5:20 p.m., police received several calls of gunshots being fired near the intersection of Dolores Avenue at Bancroft Avenue, with callers reporting that speeding vehicles were fleeing the scene. When officers arrived, the cars reported involved in the incident were gone, but police located evidence that a shooting had occurred near the intersection. Police located several spent shell casings from a semi-automatic pistol in the street and damage from a bullet to a condominium complex on the northeast corner of the intersection. Police recovered surveillance video from nearby residences and are continuing to speak with witnesses in an attempt to identify the suspect(s) and victim(s) involved in the incident. So far, police do not have any information that anyone was struck by the gunfire. Detectives are working with other law enforcement agencies to determine if this shooting is connected to other crimes in other East Bay cities. Police are working with residents in the area, and will be scheduling a homeowner’s meeting to discuss the incident.

Thursday, May 26

At 6:00 a.m., officers responded to the area of Washington Avenue and Parrot Street after witnesses called police to report that windows of nearby businesses and cars had been shot out by a man armed with a sling shot. Officers conducted an investigation and determined that at least four vandalisms had occurred in the area. Their investigation identified a 25-year-old San Leandro man, whose name is being withheld due to the continuing investigation, and arrested him on suspicion of committing the crime. Detectives will attempt to determine whether this suspect is responsible for any of the other similar vandalisms in San Leandro that caused thousands of dollars of damage to parked vehicles and other businesses earlier this year.

At 6:12 a.m., officers responded to the 700 block of Woodland Avenue after receiving reports that a utility truck was being burglarized. Witnesses saw a silver Mercedes fleeing the scene. While viewing surveillance video from a nearby residence, police recognized the Mercedes as matching the description of another auto burglary that occurred in the 700 block of Joaquin Avenue on April 21, 2016. A few hours later, police found the Mercedes on E.C. Reems Court in Oakland and arrested Vernon Walker of Oakland on suspicion of auto burglary. Police will continue investigating to see if the Mercedes was used in other auto burglaries in San Leandro and will also compare Walker’s description to other, unsolved cases.

At 12:25p.m., Alameda County firefighters responded to a residential fire in the 14700 block of Lark Street. After extinguishing the fire, they found an illegal marijuana grow operation inside of the residence. Detectives initiated an investigation and recovered 240 marijuana plants, all in different stages of growth, from various rooms inside of the house. Police estimate that the operation was capable of producing enough marijuana each year that would yield more than $144,000 in annual sales. Police have not made any arrests in the case, but will continue the investigation to determine who was responsible for the illegal operation at the residence. No one was injured and no other homes were damaged during the fire.

Obituary

Sister M. Josepha Baumann, SHF

August 22, 1920—May 21, 2016

Sister M. Josepha Baumann, SHF, died peacefully at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of the Holy Family in Fremont on May 21, 2016 at the age of 95. She was born on August 22, 1920, in San Francisco, California, and entered the Sisters of the Holy Family from St. Peter’s Parish there on July 2, 1940, at the age of 19.

Sister Josepha served at first in day homes operated by the Sisters of the Holy Family in San Francisco and Oakland. From 1953 to 1961 she taught religion at various parishes in the diocese of Fresno, and worked in St. Genevieve Chinese Nursery School. Her love of the Chinese people and culture stems from that time, every year she distributed red envelopes to all the Sisters in honor of the Chinese New Year.

Later ministries found Sister Josepha in Las Vegas, Reno, Mt. Shasta, and parishes of the Oakland Diocese. She served one year doing visual arts for retreats at the Sisters’ House of Prayer in Marin County, and then eleven years coordinating the annual SHF Boutique at the Motherhouse in Fremont. She volunteered from 1989 to 1994 at Callison Day Home in Fremont, and then spent the remainder of her life in community ministry at the Motherhouse.

Sister Josepha was proud of her Swiss heritage, and claimed the edelweiss as her favorite flower. She was also an expert at crafting crepe paper flowers that looked fresh enough to be glistening with dew. She was proud of her family, many of whom were doctors, and she deeply felt the loss of her blood sisters.

The Mass of Resurrection will be celebrated on Tuesday, May 31, at 4:00 p.m. at the Holy Family Motherhouse in Fremont. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma on Wednesday morning, June 1, at 11:00.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be sent to the Sisters of the Holy Family, PO Box 3248, Fremont, CA 94539.

A commercial burglary occurred on the 32000 block of Alvarado Boulevard around 5:10 a.m. A glass door was smashed, and the loss included a safe.

At around 7:50 p.m., officer trainee Bellotti and Ofc. Seto conducted a probation search on a subject. They located an illegal sap in his backpack. James Delacruz, a Union City resident, was arrested.

At around 6:30 p.m., the victim’s unlocked bike was stolen from in front of a business on Alvarado Boulevard. A witness saw the theft occur and described the suspect as a black male with shoulder-length braided black hair.

At around 5:40 p.m., Ofc. Persinger was dispatched to Shell gas station on Mission Boulevard on the report of a robbery. After a verbal altercation, the suspect punched the cashier and took several items without paying. The suspect has been identified, and the case has been forwarded to the District Attorney’s office for prosecution.

Friday, May 20

At around 10:00 p.m., officer trainee Bellotti and Ofc. Seto were dispatched to the 1900 block of Hartnell Street on the report of a robbery. Two suspects approached the victim as she was getting out of her car and demanded all her possessions. The victim gave them her cell phone, keys and a shopping bag, and then the suspects fled in an older model silver, two-door vehicle (possibly a Honda) toward Alvarado-Niles. The first suspect was described as a black male, approximately 18-20 years old, 6’0” and 150-170 lbs. The second suspect was described as a Hispanic male, approximately 18-20 years old, 6’0” and 150-170 lbs.

Sunday, May 22

A residential burglary occurred on the 4400 block of Alamo Court between May 21, 2016 at 10:30 p.m. and May 22, 2016 at 6:00 a.m. Entry was made via unlocked doors to the residence and the garage. The losses included a vehicle, keys, wallet and electronics.

At around 8:00 p.m., Ofc. Alberto responded to Shell gas station on Decoto Road on the report of a robbery. A suspect approached two victims, pointed a pistol at their heads and demanded money. The victims gave him some cash, and he fled on a blue and white dirt bike. The suspect was described as a white male, 5’10” and 170 lbs., wearing a motorcycle helmet.

A residential burglary occurred on the 4400 block of Alamo Court between 1:00 a.m. and 6:50 a.m. Entry was made via an unlocked door into the garage. The losses included a vehicle and a purse.

A residential burglary occurred on the 2400 block of Heritage Way between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. The rear sliding glass door was smashed, and the loss included jewelry.

Obituary

Charles Sam Ramirez

January 21, 1935 – May 23, 2016

Resident of Union City

A lifelong resident of Union City, California, Sam was peacefully called home on May 23rd, 2016 in the evening.

Sam was born on January 21st, 1935 to the late Carlos J. and Consuelo Ramirez at Highland Hospital in Oakland, California. He was raised in the Decoto area of Union City. He was educated at Decoto Elementary School, and Washington High School (Class of 1954). Although Sam did not graduate with his class, that did not stop this vibrant young man, from being the breadwinner of his family; obtaining various jobs, which included working in the fields, picking fruits and vegetables, selling wood from a wagon and finally finding his niche in construction.

In his younger days, Sam Ramirez enjoyed playing baseball and traveling with the team to various locations including Yosemite and San Quentin. During this time, Sam had a good friend John Fletcher, who had a younger foxy sister named Anita, who caught his eye or maybe she caught him! Depends on whose telling this love story. They started dating; turning that spark into a flame, and married after Anita graduated high school.

They started a beautiful family, with a cute baby girl named Yolanda, and then six years later a healthy bouncing baby boy named Sammy.

Enjoying his life to the fullest, Sam still had a passion for baseball, which spanned his whole life. He devoted his time and energy to coaching in the Union City Little League with John Samarron, Jack Chandler, and Fred Vizcarra; where lifetime friendships began.

Sam knew the importance of education, so he made the decision to go back to night school, whilst splitting his time raising a family, working, and coaching. He graduated in June of 1969 from James Logan High School with his high school diploma.

Along with his devotion for his wife and family, and his passion for baseball, Sam’s mistress was his appreciation for Classic Cars. A bond he shared with his beloved son Sammy.

Sam leaves to cherish his memory, a devoted wife, Anita Ramirez; his lovely daughters: Yolanda Ramirez, and Anita Rivera-Young; new son-in-law, Vonte’ Young; brothers: Jesus Ramirez, and Pete Ramirez; and sisters: Lucy Medrano, Betty Hitchcock, and Vera Ortiz.

He was preceded in death by his cherished son, Sammy David Ramirez; parents: Carlos J. and Consuelo Ramirez; brothers: Ralph Duran, Rudy Duran, Robert Duran, and Daniel Ramirez; and sisters: Rachel Garcia, Stella Rodriguez, and Virginia Cervantes.

Visitation will be held on Tuesday, May 31st, from 5-8pm with a Vigil at 6:30pm at Fremont Memorial Chapel, 3723 Peralta Blvd., Fremont, CA 94536. Funeral Mass will be celebrated on Wednesday, June 1st, 10:30am at Our Lady of the Rosary Catholic Church, 703 C St., Union City, CA 94587. Burial will follow at Chapel of the Chimes Memorial Park in Hayward, CA.

Fremont Recreation, in collaboration with Bonfiglio Effects Studios, is offering 7-hour special effects workshops. Under the direction of Season 8 Face Off semi-finalist Julian Bonfiglio, he or his staff will teach makeup techniques using commonly available materials to come up with realistic-looking characters, aging, creatures, and injuries. This is a great opportunity to find out if you have what it takes to be a special effects makeup artist. Get a jumpstart on Halloween and consider registering for one or all of the creative workshops.

Workshops cover the following techniques:

- How to apply effective realistic burn makeup
- Pre-paint and apply full face foam latex prosthetic
- Effective 3D old-age makeup using latex and makeup to form wrinkles
- How to apply and paint a vampire prosthetic brow
- How to make realistic injury and gore makeup, cuts, and bruises
- How to create an out of the kit zombie using standard makeup products

These workshops are offered for ages 12 and older and will take place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and weekends beginning in June. Register at www.RegeRec.com or call (510) 494-4300 for more information.

Habitat Restoration Days

Love nature and serving the community? Join the City of Fremont’s Environmental Services for a day of habitat restoration work on Sabercat Creek the first Saturday of every month from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Heavy rain cancels the event.

The next day of work will be held on Saturday, June 4 at Site 5, which is located along Becado Place. Volunteers will assist with removing invasive plants, planting new native trees and shrubs, and caring for previously planted ones by refreshing plant basins and installing browse protection cages. This work will help stabilize soils and creek banks, filter pollutants, increase native plant diversity, and improve food and shelter for wildlife.

No experience is necessary. Volunteers of all ages are welcome, and a signed waiver form is required for each participant. Children under 12 years old must be accompanied by an adult. Habitat stewards will guide you through the projects. Come dressed for the weather and prepared to get dirty (sturdy, closed-toe shoes/boots, long pants, hat, sunscreen, and long-sleeved shirt are recommended). Bring a signed waiver form, a reusable water bottle, and community service hour forms, if applicable. We’ll provide tools, some gloves, and water to refill bottles. If you wish to bring your own gloves or tools, please label them.

For complete details and to register visit www.Fremont.gov/SabercatRestoration. Be sure to check the location on the map, and print the map and waiver form. For more information, or to arrange a large group work day, contact Sabrina at ssiebert@fremont.gov or Barbara at bsilva@fremont.gov, or call the Environmental Services Division at (510) 494-4570.

We Made Our Voices Heard for Education in Santa Clara County

BY SUPERVISOR DAVE CORTESE

Her statement was simple and direct: “The quality of school food is not good. It tastes like rubber, and the majority of times it’s microwaved. It’s contradictory. Our First Lady is promoting healthy eating and fresh food.”

Her question: “Why can’t schools serve fresh food?”

That question from 12th-grader Victoria Nguyen of Oak Grove High School was just one of the concerns that students brought to legislators during our May 17, 2016, Bus Trip to Sacramento for Education, an annual event sponsored by my office and the Silicon Valley Education Foundation.

Our group this year – one of the largest in recent history at 208 – included about 100 students from Oak Grove, Independence and Santa Teresa High Schools and LeyVa Middle School. Along with the adult advocates for education, we filled four buses on the journey to Sacramento and a large auditorium in the State Public Health Department Building once we got there.

Speaking to us this year were Senators Jim Beall, Jerry Hill, Bob Wieckowski and Trevor Taylor from the Office of Senator Bill Monning; Assemblymembers Mark Stone, Kansen Chu, Evan Low, Richard Gordon and Kaitlyn Schultenhenrich from Assemblymember Nora Campos’ office; and State Controller Betty Yee.

The students were prepared and their arguments clear. Quality school lunches aren’t important just because they taste better, but nutrition is important to growth and brain development, as well as replenishing our energy reserves so we can study and learn.

The answers from Assemblymember Mark Stone was supportive. “It’s unacceptable to be living in one of the three largest agricultural areas and not have healthy food as part of the lunch program,” he said. “But it’s an initiative that kids could do in their schools. It’s harder on the state level.”

Another student asked about the rising cost of college tuition and why slots for California students are being given to foreign students. And why schools don’t offer more career education or gender neutral bathrooms?

Why haven’t our textbooks been updated for 20 years?

Quipped Senator Jerry Hill, “Nothing has happened in the past 20 years you need to worry about.”

But seriously, he said, the emphasis shouldn’t be on textbooks anyway, but giving students more access to tablets and other electronic tools. “There should be a rechanneling with the electronic environment,” he said.

The adults, of course, also got a chance to ask their questions and raise concerns. But our legislators wanted to give a strong message to students to start getting involved in government now. Their concerns are important and what the legislators do has a bigger impact on them than anyone else in the audience.

“It’s so important that you’re here,” said Senator Evan Low, who pointed out that he is closer in age to the students in the group than many of his peers in the State Senate. “We work for you. You are our bosses. It’s important that you hold us accountable. But we ask for your help. Make sure you vote.”

Senator Low echoed the message I delivered to students early in the day: The elected officials

We'll deal with the health care details.
So you can focus on reaching cruising altitude.

At the Washington Township Medical Foundation, we know you have more important things to do with your time than managing the details of your health care. So when you join a WTMF practice, you become a member of a tight-knit care team that works hard to help you navigate your way to better health. Where most doctors have a medical assistant, our physicians have Patient Care Coordinators who are able to answer questions over the phone and facilitate communication with your doctor. Your Patient Services Representative will assist you with obtaining follow-up care including appointments with specialists that you might need. There is even a skilled team member available to help you better understand your medication needs. WTMF has 23 clinics—including primary care, multi-specialty, and urgent care—conveniently located in various neighborhoods around the Tri-City area. Should you ever require hospital services, you can get that care at Washington Hospital, an award-winning institution, right in your own community. When you need a doctor, choose a WTMF physician. We're taking health care to new heights.
