Cajun/Zydeco Festival turns 20

BY ROBBIE FINLEY PHOTOS COURTESY OF EAST BAY REGIONAL PARK DISTRICT

Though summer is winding down, there's still at least one more chance for some fun under the sun as the East Bay Regional Park District (EBRPD) once again brings Cajun culture and Zydeco music to Fremont's Ardenwood Historic Farm for the 20th annual "Cajun/Zydeco Festival" on Saturday, August 13.

Festival attendees will be able to enjoy delicious food, exuberant Zydeco and Cajun music, as well as all the regular activities that Ardenwood has to offer. This year, Tom Rigney & Flambeau, Acadien Cajun Band, and Andre Thierry are scheduled to rock the Southern Alameda County Buddhist Church (SACBC) invites all community members to come and enjoy the annual Buddhist Festival of Obon. Buddhist dancing, Japanese music with San Jose Chidori Band, a drum performance from O Nami Taiko, and Japanese foods will be featured at the August 13 event.

Obon, also referred to as Kangi-e, is a "joyous gathering with dharma dance." Colorful kimono-clad participants gather for the Obon dance, a dance of joy, which marks a memorial day for our departed beloved ones and a day to give thanks to them. With deeply felt joy and gratitude, we honor and remember our deceased loved ones whose very existence made our own lives possible.

The Amazing Refuge Race

In Fremont, the Don Edwards San Francisco Bay National Wildlife Refuge is home to millions of migratory birds and endangered species throughout the year. But on Saturday, August 20, our fowl friends will be joined by groups of non-flying creatures armed with GPS units, scampering across the marshlands as they compete in the next "Amazing Refuge Race."

Now in its 8th year, the Amazing Refuge Race was the brainchild of Carmen Minch, Outdoor Recreation Planner for the wildlife refuge. "My intent was to create something fun, that melded technology with the outdoors and got those competitive juices flowing. And hopefully they would learn something."

Based on the popular television show "The Amazing Race," teams race to a location using their cell phones or GPS units based on a continued on page 12

How Can You Get Relief from Obstructive Sleep Apnea?

Seminar Will Explain Both Standard and New Treatment Options

re you unable to get a good night's sleep because you wake up frequently during the night? Are you tired during the day or do you feel excessively sleepy? Have members of your family complained about your loud snoring? If so, it's possible you have a common disorder called obstructive sleep apnea.

According to the National Institutes of Health, an estimated 12 million American adults have obstructive sleep apnea. With this potentially serious disorder, the person's airway collapses or is blocked briefly during sleep, causing lapses in breathing. Sleep apnea is usually a chronic, ongoing condition that disrupts the person's sleep several times a night. Left untreated, sleep apnea can lead to serious complications such as high blood pressure, heart attacks, strokes and irregular heartbeats, as well as increased risks for obesity and diabetes.

"Common symptoms of sleep apnea include loud snoring, frequent awakenings and daytime fatigue," says Dr. Jason Van Tassel, an otolaryngologist (ear, nose and throat specialist) at Washington Township Medical Foundation. "Other signs of sleep apnea might include morning headaches and dry throat, an inability to concentrate and feelings of irritability or depression."

Dr. Van Tassel notes that many sleep apnea sufferers are able to gain relief by using a continuous positive airway pressure (CPAP) device, which delivers a constant stream of air through a nasal mask to keep the airway open. Unfortunately, many patients find the CPAP mask too uncomfortable or too noisy to wear while sleeping.

"Other people with sleep apnea may benefit from special orthodontic mouthpieces that move either the tongue or the upper jaw forward," he says. "For some sleep apnea patients, though, surgery or surgical implants may be better options,

To learn more about sleep apnea and treatment options, attend the upcoming free seminar titled, "Sleep Apnea: New Options for Treatment" by otolaryngologist Jason Van Tassel, MD. The presentation is scheduled for Tuesday, August 23, from 6 – 8 p.m. in the Conrad E.Anderson, MD, Auditorium at 2500 Mowry Ave. in Fremont. To register, call (800) 963-7070 or go to whhs.com/events.

and advances in minimally invasive surgical procedures have dramatically improved the results."

To help people in the community learn about the treatment of sleep apnea, Washington Hospital is sponsoring a special free seminar featuring Dr. Van Tassel on Tuesday, August 23, from 6 to 8 p.m. The seminar will be held in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium at 2500 Mowry Ave. in Fremont.

"Many years ago, the only surgery performed for sleep apnea was a procedure called a 'uvulopalatopharyngoplasty,' also known as UP3," Dr. Van Tassel explains. "The UP3 procedure basically removes excess amounts of tissues from the back of the mouth and the upper part of the throat just behind the mouth and nasal cavity to allow air to move more freely."

Dr. Van Tassel notes that UP3 procedures have been effective in some, but certainly not all, cases.

"Over the past 15 to 20 years, we have learned that obstructions resulting in sleep apnea can also be found in other areas of the airways, such as the nasal cavity, the base of the tongue and the larynx – also called the 'voice box' - in the throat," he says. "As a result, doctors developed several minimally invasive procedures that greatly enhance the success of sleep apnea surgery. In my experience, these procedures have a 70 to 80 percent success rate in dramatically reducing the incidence of sleep apnea, compared to only 40 to 50 percent of patients who had only the older UP3 procedure."

At the seminar, Dr. Van Tassel will explain some of the

Cardiologist Wants Her Patients to Have Access to the Best Care Possible

Dr. Balakrishnan Joined Washington Township Medical Foundation to be Part of Comprehensive System

r. Sangeetha Balakrishnan had always wanted to be part of a larger system where there were many physicians she could rely on to ensure that her patients have access to the best care possible. That's what brought the cardiologist to Washington Township Medical Foundation last year to practice medicine.

"I had been in private practice in Fremont and had privileges at Washington Hospital," Dr. Balakrishnan said. "In private practice, you are on your own. I wanted to be part of a larger group of physicians so I could provide better, more comprehensive care to my patients. It's just easier to communicate with other primary care physicians and other specialists who might be treating your patient when you're all part of the same group."

As a specialist, she works with a number of primary care physicians who refer patients to her, she explained. Now it is much easier for her to partner with them on her patients' care.

With the electronic medical record system, physicians can easily monitor the care their patients receive from other physicians, she added. Washington Township Medical Foundation is part of WeCare, a sophisticated electronic medical records system that allows providers to have patients' health information and medical history at their fingertips so that patients receive more personalized, accurate and timely care.

"Knowing what other physicians are doing is huge," she said. "It's changed the way I practice medicine. It allows me to approach my patients' care in a more holistic way. That's important because the heart affects every other organ in the body."

With heart disease being a leading cause of death for men and women in this country, taking care of the heart to prevent heart and cardiovascular system issues is critical.

Washington Township Medical Foundation's primary care and specialist physicians work as a team, consulting regularly and collaborating to provide patients with thorough, in-depth care. She said that not only gives patients access to the most comprehensive care possible, it also makes it much more convenient for patients when it comes to scheduling appointments, finding a specialist and getting lab work done.

Heartfelt Dedication

Dr. Balakrishnan said she became a cardiologist because the heart is the epicenter of the human body and its health affects every other part of the body. She has always been fascinated by the hemodynamics of the heart, which is an important part of cardiovascular physiology related to the force needed for the heart to pump blood throughout the entire cardiovascular system. Adequate blood flow is required to supply enough oxygen to every part of the body.

Her practice is focused on abnormalities of the heart and procedures that keep the heart beating normally, such as pacemakers. Often patients are referred to her when they have chest pains or heart palpitations. Her special interests include cardiac arrhythmias (abnormal heart rhythms) and preventive cardiology.

"Prevention is critical when it comes to heart disease," she added. "Heart disease is the leading cause of death for men and women in this country. It's imperative that people take good care of their heart and cardiovascular system to avoid heart disease and stroke."

She said that means eating a heart healthy diet that is high in vegetables and fruit, and low in salt and saturated fat. She said it's also important to "know your numbers." High blood pressure and cholesterol are risk factors for heart disease, so she recommends checking those numbers regularly if you are over the age of 50. Other preventive measures include maintaining a healthy weight and keeping blood sugar levels under control.

"I enjoy working with my patients and partnering with them in their care," Dr. Balakrishnan said. "I'm very happy to be part of the Washington Township Medical Foundation. I like the support it brings and the access to other physicians. It gives me the ability to provide better care to my patients, and that's important to me. It plugs patients into a system where they can use all the resources within that system."

Antioxidants

Dear Doctor, How do antioxidants help your health?

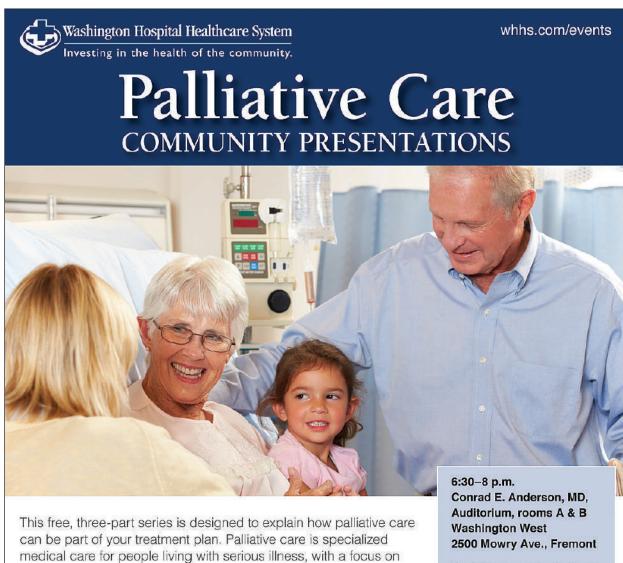

Dear Reader,

Antioxidants protect the body from damage caused by harmful molecules called free radicals. These free radicals have ill health effects and among other things are produced by stress, consumption of processed foods and smoking. On the other hand, antioxidants improve heart health, reduce cancer risks, lower blood pressure and improve the process of aging. Foods rich in antioxidants include: dark colored fruits and vegetables, coffee, chocolate, and wine.

How Can You Get Relief from Obstructive Sleep Apnea?

Seminar Will Explain Both Standard and New Treatment Options

minimally invasive surgery procedures for sleep apnea, including:

- Radiofrequency tongue reduction to reduce the volume of the base of the tongue
- Hyoid myotomy and suspension – pulling the hyoid bone (a horseshoe-shaped bone in the neck where the tongue muscles attach) forward in front of the larvnx
- Septoplasty to straighten out an extremely deviated (crooked) nasal septum, the partition between the two sides of the nose
- Turbinate reduction to reduce the size of an abnormally large turbinate, a structure that projects from the side wall of the nose into the nasal cavity

In addition to these procedures, Dr. Van Tassel will discuss a minimally invasive surgical implant procedure that holds up the hyoid bone in the neck. Available since 2014, the "Airlift" implant was developed by Siesta Medical in Los Gatos, with Dr. Van Tassel's assistance in developing a knotless suture procedure. Dr. Van Tassel also collected clinical evidence that supported FDA approval of the Airlift implant procedure.

"That clinical evidence showed a 78 percent reduction in sleep apnea symptoms with the implant procedure," Dr. Van Tassel says. "The Airlift procedure continues to be very effective in relieving sleep apnea, with about a 75 percent success rate."

He also will explain a new surgical implant procedure that has been available since 2015 – the "Inspire" electronic implant. This implant works like a pacemaker to stimulate muscles of the tongue to contract the size of the tongue and thereby alleviate obstruction of the airway.

"The Inspire implant is beneficial only for certain patients whose tongue is obstructing the airway," Dr. Van Tassel says. "Obviously, one of the first steps in dealing with sleep apnea is to perform a comprehensive physical examination to determine what physical obstructions may be contributing to the disorder. Sometimes it may require a combination of treatment options to provide effective, lasting relief."

Haggerty recognizes Fremont Fire Fighter and Fremont PD for 2016 award

SUBMITTED BY DAWN P. ARGULA

The City of Fremont was prominently featured for its public safety members in the annual recognition ceremony hosted by Alameda County Supervisor Scott Haggerty during his 20th annual barbecue held at the Fairgrounds in Pleasanton on July 29. Fremont is one of three cities in District 1 represented by Haggerty on the 5-member Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

"I am deeply honored to recognize members of the fire fighting and law enforcement profession with this award each year," said Haggerty. "These individuals put their lives on the line to protect persons and property every day they put on the uniform. People that serve in these professions deserve to be recognized for the good work they do and I am delighted to recognize them with this award."

Deputy Chief James Martin of the Fremont Fire Department is receiving the 2016 Firefighter of the Year award posthumously. James Martin died on July 24, 2015 after a 3-year battle with job related cancer. He was 53 years old and just shy of a 30-year anniversary with the Fremont Fire Department. Martin began his career as a firefighter in 1986. During his nearly 30 years, Martin was promoted through the ranks first as Engineer, followed by Captain, Battalion Chief, and eventually achieving the rank of Deputy Chief. James served the Fremont Fire Department with distinction. He was well respected by his peers and co-workers who would look to him as the voice of reason and for strengthening the bonds within the department. Chief Martin is survived by his wife Sandy and their children McKenzie, Kyle and Allie. He is deeply missed by his Fremont Fire Department family. Alameda County is deeply grateful for his contributions in service to the community.

The City of Fremont Police Department is being recognized with the Law Enforcement Officer of the Year award. Fremont is the second largest city in Alameda County with more than 226,000 residents and covering 90 square miles. It is an ethnically and racially diverse community with 50 percent of Asian residents. Fremont is recognized as one of the safest in the U.S. when compared with other cities of similar size. This was validated earlier this year by more than 600 Fremont residents responding to a city survey to rate their quality of life including being most satisfied with the city's public safety services such as police and fire. But even the safest city is not immune to acts of violence. On June 1, 2016 a Fremont patrol officer was shot and critically injured when attempting a traffic stop. As Fremont police converged on the scene to apprehend the suspect, a second officer was shot. By the end of that terrible day, the suspect was found where he'd hidden in a nearby residence and had taken his own life. Today, both officers are recovering from their injuries. The 192 sworn officers of the Fremont Police Department continue to carry on their duties, protecting and serving a grateful community. Its hashtag "FremontStrong" characterizes this fine organization.

Scott Haggerty represents the First District communities of Fremont, Livermore, Dublin and eastern unincorporated areas of Alameda County.

Take Charge of Your Promotion!

By Anne Chan, PhD, MFT

ave you been stuck in the same job for too long? If you are ready to advance to the next step in your career, now is the time to take stock of your career situation and get yourself ready for advancement. Unfortunately, as far as I can tell, there is no career fairy godmother to grant you your wish of a better job. These days, most employees have to manage their careers in order to get promoted. The good news is that you can be your own career coach and get yourself promoted by taking the following three

Step I: Research

First, start researching the potential next steps in your career. You can look at the organization chart in your company, as well as other companies you are interested in. Don't just look at the next step up – get a good overview of where you could be in the next five and 10 years.

Another way to research is to conduct informational interviews with people who are working in your desired job. Many people who love their jobs are delighted to talk about what they do. They can provide invaluable inside information, not just about the job itself but about the hiring process as well. If you're lucky, they might even have job leads and tips that you wouldn't otherwise know about.

Step 2: Preparation

Let's say you've done your homework and you know what jobs you want to go for. Before you start revamping your resume, identify any gaps in your skills and work experience. You can do this by taking a close look at ads for the job you want and noting the requirements typically asked for. If there's a glaring deficiency in your resume, don't despair.

There are several things you can do to rectify your resume.

One is to offer to do extra on the job. This will enable you to gain the additional skills and experience you might need for your next career step. Let's say you are an administrative assistant but you dream of becoming a manager someday. One of the ways in which you can gain managerial skills is to fill in when your manager is on vacation. Or you can offer to do extra work on the job so that you can gain additional skills. These are invaluable opportunities to start gaining experience as a manager. Note that you are not likely to get paid extra for offering to do extra. Many people balk at doing this because they feel they should get paid for doing more work. However, if you think of this as a way of gaining skills that will lead to a better position, it might be wise to take on extra duties (albeit unpaid) for the bigger payoff of a career advancement down the line.

Look at what your company offers in terms of continuing education and career development support. Many companies offer amazing continuing education benefits, such as tuition reimbursements for college and graduate programs. If your company does not offer these benefits, there are also many no- or low-cost ways to take courses that will enhance your career. For instance, there are many Tri-City adult schools and community colleges that offer a wide range of quality professional development courses. Take advantage of these opportunities to soup up your resume.

Step 3: Application

You've filled in the gaps in your work history and you've identified several jobs that you want to apply to. Be sure to customize your resume to each job; don't use a shotgun approach. This is an important piece of advice but one that is often ignored. People assume that they are maximizing their chances of getting a job if they send out numerous resumes. This is an understandable assumption. However, it is an ineffective strategy because employers want to interview candidates that meet their particular needs - this means that you have to show on your resume that you meet the unique qualifications for each job. No two jobs are exactly alike, even if they have the same job title. One coordinator position may require more accounting and budgeting skills while another coordinator position may require working with interdepartmental teams. A one-size-fits-all resume simply cannot fit the unique demands of all job postings. A far more effective approach is to tailor your resume to each job and show that you meet most of the requirements. This will likely mean that you send out fewer resumes. This will also mean that you are likely to spend more time on each customized resume. It is a labor-intensive and time-intensive approach, but you will then increase your chances of being asked to interview because you have shown that you are a good match for the job.

It is definitely possible to promote yourself if you take the time to get yourself ready for advancement. In fact, I recommend that all employees make the effort to assess where they are in their careers and take the steps necessary to move to the next step. Take charge of your own promotion!

Compassionate choices

By Nancy Lyon, OHS Special Assistance Director

he school year will be starting shortly and many high and middle school students in this country will be tasked with the choice of dissecting and studying often live animals in anatomy and biology classes. They are often faced with choosing a lower or failed grade if they refuse to participate in an action that conflicts with their personal ethics.

A survey taken in 2013 showed that only 11 states, including California, have laws that uphold a student's right to choose humane alternatives based on personal beliefs. Four others have state policies or resolutions that have adopted choice options for students.

The number of animals used in high school classroom procedures alone surpasses the million mark each year. According to national humane organizations, the animals most frequently used are vertebrates like frogs, cats, and fetal pigs from slaughtered pregnant sows, as well as wild-caught sharks, turtles, birds, perch, rats, pigeons, salamanders, rabbits, mice, snakes, mink, foxes, and bats.

Most often used are frogs and turtles in pithing labs where, if done correctly, the needle that severs the spinal cord at the skull base renders an animal immobile and destroys the brain activity while allowing students to manually maneuver brain tissue and associated movement. Not all death is instantaneous and many suffer and die at the hands of inexperienced students.

With the advent of social media and support of their contemporaries, students have become increasingly aware and vocal in their objection to viewing animals used in biological studies as mere "specimens." The fact that most are sourced from places like inhumane factory farms, or are pets euthanized in animal shelters, or are wild-caught and negatively impact the environment, has made the practice less and less acceptable. This has led students to want changes.

So what alternative options are currently available to students that promote acquiring knowledge while meeting a goal of doing no harm? In the past, students had little or no alternatives to participate yet maintain their ethical convictions against the use of animals in the classroom, but archaic methods are falling to advances in technology.

An almost sci-fi sounding startup company called Necropsynth is evolving 3-D printing and complex modeling that focuses on transforming traditional methods of "hands-on education" and saving lab animals that are killed each year in classrooms and laboratories. NecropSynth's founding ideal is very simplistic: In this day and age, we no longer need to kill animals in the name of quality.

The Humane Society of the United States currently offers financially and scientifically sound methods that are readily available to school districts and provide students with computergenerated programs and videos in learning anatomy and physiology that are equal and sometimes superior to current methods.

There is strength in numbers and even a small group of students that share common concerns about the use of animals in school labs engender respect. Teachers need to be approached with respect at the beginning of the school year with the request for an alternative to dissection; most teachers are open to working with their students' concerns when given ample time and opportunity. A student's well thought out and informed proposal can be the key to not only success but change.

What is the policy of the school that your child attends?

Expanded information regarding classroom alternatives to dissection and available materials can be obtained at www.humanesociety.org/assets/pd fs/parents_educators/dissection_v s_alternatives_studies.pdf.

Well known in the East Bay theatre community, Baiocchi was associated with the former Pleasanton Playhouse, now known as Tri-Valley Repertory Theatre, where he served as president and artistic director from 2003 through 2013. Among the many shows he directed while with Tri-Valley Rep are "The King and I," "Deathtrap," "Camelot," "Guys and Dolls," "Miss Saigon," "The Music Man," "Thoroughly Modern Millie," "Oliver," "Man of La Mancha," "The Sound of Music," and "South Pacific."

He and his wife are returning to the Bay Area after spending the last seven years in Milwaukee, where Baiocchi worked with several theatres to direct and produce shows such as "Company," "The Addams Family," "A View from the Bridge," "Laughter on the 23rd Floor," "Sondheim on Sondheim," "A Little Night Music," "Spamalot," "Rumors," "The Foreigner," and "Fawlty Towers."

"I'm delighted to be coming back to the Bay Area and even happier to have found a theatre home with Chanticleers. It's a great venue and already has a good reputation among little theatres," said Baiocchi.

Well equipped with a master's degree in theatre from Emerson College in Boston, Baiocchi has been involved in regional and community theatre for many more years than he would like to admit. He is looking forward to directing Chanticleers' production of "A Christmas Carol" for the 2016 holiday season and overseeing an exciting 2017 season, including:

- "Rumors" by Neil Simon,February 10 March 5
- "Wait Until Dark" by Fredrick Knott, April 7 – 30
- "Elvis Has Left The Building"by V. Cate and Duke Ernsberger,June 30 July 23

- "The Addams Family, A New Musical" October 6 – November 5

In astatement by Jacklyn Wilferd, President of the Chanticleers Theatre Board of Directors, she shared all the board members' delight about Baiocchi 's new involvement. "We are so pleased that John Baiocchi is joining us as Artistic Director. John has an amazing background and commitment to theater. He has wonderful ideas and will be an excellent producer, director, and mentor to other directors and performers who work at Chanticleers. We look forward to his return to the Bay Area, and welcome him with genuine enthusiasm."

Join the Chanticleers family in welcoming Baiocchi back to the Bay Area theatre community at the Chanticleers Theatre annual "Picnic in the Park" on Saturday, August 20 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The picnic is free to the public and offers complimentary burgers, hot dogs, picnic fare, beverages and popular back stage tours of the theatre. BUSINESS

In a sign of broader ambitions, Facebook opens hardware lab

By Brandon Bailey AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP), Facebook built its fortune on the internet, that non-physical space where people share updates and digital videos with friends. But deep inside its Silicon Valley headquarters, engineers have stocked a new lab with computerized lathes, industrial mills and tools for making physical goods. It's not a factory for mass-producing smartphones or other consumer products. Rather, it's where engineers will be working on some of the high-tech gadgetry needed for the company's long-term plans to connect people through smart devices, virtual-reality headsets and high-flying drones that deliver internet signals via laser to remote parts of the world. And like Google's celebrated X lab, where the internet search giant pursues "moonshot" projects such as self-driving cars, Facebook's new research facility demonstrates that in Silicon Valley, leading tech companies are rarely content to keep doing the same thing. "When you think about connecting the world, you have to build different types of hardware to help people connect," said Jay Parikh, Facebook's head of engineering and infrastructure. To get virtual reality right, he added, Facebook needs to refine hardware such as lenses and processors.

The lab will be a space for engineers to design energy-efficient servers for Facebook data centers, test new laser mounts and drone propellers and perfect a prototype 360-degree video camera that Facebook unveiled at a conference in April.

Facebook announced the lab's opening Wednesday and invited journalists for a tour. It's been dubbed Area 404, an inside joke that plays off the "error 404" message internet users see when they try to visit a web page that can't be found. Facebook says its engineers had long talked about wanting such a workspace, but it couldn't be found because it didn't exist until now.

The company won't say how much it spent on the lab, but it took months to build the facility, which is about a third the size of a football field, inside a refitted office building on its main campus.

The lab has long workbenches for electrical engineers to spread out their gear and a room full of the lathes and milling machines, each the size of a small truck. It also has a water-powered cutting machine that can slice sheet metal several inches thick, an electron microscope and a CT scanner to examine how materials react to heat, electrical surges or other stress. Facebook became a Silicon Valley powerhouse and Wall Street darling because its vast online network is a mecca for digital advertisers. The company sold more than $6 billion worth of ads in the April-June quarter, reaping more than $2 billion in profit. That offers plenty of leeway to invest in new ventures. Facebook says it spent $4.8 billion on research and development in 2015, nearly doubling its budget from the previous year. Two years ago, the company spent $2 billion to buy Oculus VR, a startup that makes highend gear for virtual reality. Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg has predicted that virtual reality will be a leading platform for communication, entertainment, education and business in the future. In recent speeches, he outlined a 10-year vision for Facebook that includes services based on virtual reality, artificial intelligence and internet access for the world's most under-developed regions.

The Oculus operation has its own lab in Seattle, while Facebook's drone team is based in Somerset, England. They aren't relocating, but Parikh said engineers from both groups will also use the new facility.

Zuckerberg has hinted at other aspirations, too. This spring, he announced the formation of a mysterious research-and-development group known as "Building 8." It's led by prominent engineer Regina Dugan, a former director of the Pentagon's Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, or DARPA, the agency that created the internet in the late 1960s.

Before joining Facebook, Dugan ran a Google team that specialized in "rapid innovation" of new tech gadgets. Her projects included a location-tracking smartphone camera for creating 3-D virtual worlds, a technology that Lenovo will include in the Phab2 Pro out this month.

Dugan's group will use the Area 404 lab, but Facebook wouldn't talk about specific projects she will undertake. Analysts say it's too early to know if these ideas are "vanity projects" or if they will boost Facebook's bottom line. But rivals including Google, Amazon and Microsoft have similar ambitions, some involving drones, tablets or other hardware. "When you're big enough, you need to think bigger picture and longer term," said Bob O'Donnell, chief analyst at Technalysis

Facebook could wait for others to develop new gadgets, he said, but the company can learn by designing hardware on its own and seeing how its software works with it. He said Facebook could even license its hardware ideas for others to manufacture. Aside from Oculus, most of Facebook's hardware isn't aimed at the consumer market. Several years ago, the tech industry was abuzz with rumors that Zuckerberg wanted to build a Facebook smartphone. That never happened, although Facebook created special software for an HTC phone that didn't sell well.

Instead, Facebook has led an industry effort to develop more energy-efficient computer centers by sharing server designs with other companies. Similarly, Facebook says it developed the 360degree video camera to show other inventors what's possible in new camera designs. Those designs could, in turn, produce more video content for the social network to share.

Facebook executives say their solar-powered drones are also meant as prototypes, in the hope that telecommunications companies will use their designs. While Zuckerberg says internet access can spur economic development in poor nations, Facebook also stands to benefit if more people get online.

Instagram introduces Snapchat-like feature called 'Stories'

By Barbara Ortutay AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

NEW YORK (AP), Instagram is launching a new feature that should sound familiar to Snapchat users. It's called "Stories," and it lets users share photos and videos from their day that will disappear after 24 hours.

The new feature will stitch together photos and videos in a slideshow format. Users can add text and doodles.

Snapchat also has a "Story" feature that works in a similar way. Copying or at least using other services as inspirations is common among big tech companies. Of course, just because a feature is popular on one service doesn't mean it will translate well to another one.

Instagram owner Facebook is no stranger to this. It tried an ephemeral sharing app a couple years ago called Slingshot, but it never caught on.

Surgery on ailing Great Dane yields 43 1/2 socks

AP WIRE SERVICE

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP), The 3-year-old Great Dane was miserable and retching when its owners rushed him to a northwest Portland emergency animal hospital.

It was something he ate!

X-rays showed a stomach full of ``a large quantity of foreign material." Nearly two hours of surgery later, Dr. Ashley Magee had the answer - the dog had consumed 43 1/2 socks.

DoveLewis Emergency Animal Hospital spokeswoman Shawna Harch said it's perhaps the strangest case in the hospital's history, The Oregonian reported (http://is.gd/Zb55C9).

So strange that the hospital entered last February's tale, complete with X-rays, in an annual contest sponsored by the vet magazine, Veterinary Practice News, and won a prize. Fittingly enough, the contest is called ``They Ate WHAT?'

Even stranger. The $1,500 first place winner was a Plano, Texas, animal hospital that treated an exotic frog that ate more than 30 small ornamental rocks from its cage.

The DoveLewis entry summary says the Great Dane was discharged home a day after surgery. Harch says the owners aren't available for comment but she confirms the dog is alive. No word on what he's eaten lately.

Tesla's deal for SolarCity could speed sustainable energy

By Dee-Ann Durbin AP AUTO WRITER

DETROIT (AP) – Tesla wants to put its car and energy storage businesses under one solar-pow-

Tesla said Monday it will buy solar panel maker SolarCity Corp. in an all-stock deal worth $2.6 billion. The deal must still be approved by the government and shareholders at both companies. It's expected to close in the fourth quarter if it goes through.

Thirteen-year-old Tesla currently makes two luxury vehicles - the Model S sedan and Model X SUV- as well as Powerwall and Powerpack energy storage units for homes and businesses.

The company said Monday that a tie-up with SolarCity would create a one-stop shop for cleaner energy. With one service call, customers could get their solar panels installed and connected to a Powerwall, which preserves energy for later use. Users could also get the system hooked up to chargers for one of Tesla's vehicles.

"This is really all part of solving the sustainable energy problem," said Elon Musk, the chairman and biggest shareholder of both companies, during a conference call.

But some have questioned the wisdom of the deal, which combines two money-losing companies that already have a lot on their plates.

Tesla is working feverishly on its new, lower-cost Model 3 sedan, which is due out by the end of next year, as well as pickups, electric buses and semi-trucks. It's in the midst of building one of the world's largest factories in Nevada to make batteries. And it's under investigation by the government after the semi-autonomous Autopilot system in its Model S failed to prevent a fatal crash in Florida.

solar panels. But the company said Monday that it experienced lower-than-expected residential bookings in the first half of the year, so it's reducing its full-year guidance for megawatts installed.

Others have questioned the conflicts of interest in the deal. Musk owns a 26 percent stake in Tesla Motors Inc., based in Palo Alto, California, and a 22.5 percent stake in SolarCity Corp., which is based in nearby San Mateo, California. Musk's cousins, Lyndon Rive and Peter Rive, run SolarCity.

But Musk said the companies have synergies they can't take advantage of unless they're combined.

"The point of the merger is to get rid of the conflicts," he said. "Until then it's very limited what we can do unless we are one company."

Musk said he believes the companies could save $150 million to $200 million in the first year alone by streamlining manufacturing, sales and service. Customers could learn about SolarCity products at Tesla's 190 stores, for example, and save on installation costs because they'd be done more efficiently. Tesla also would give SolarCity access to international customers.

SolarCity's stock slid more than 8 percent to $24.56 in afternoon trading Monday. Tesla's shares fell 1.3 percent to $231.71.

Tesla's current offer values SolarCity's shares at $25.37. That's less than the $26.50 to $28.50 value it placed on them in June, when it made its initial overture to SolarCity. Musk said he had no role in establishing the value of the deal.

"I know about as much as you do about how this price was obtained," he said.

S&P Global raised its target price for SolarCity shares to $26 but reiterated its "sell" opinion on Tesla shares Monday, saying the deal benefits SolarCity more than Tesla.

Student job opportunities

"We see benefits from a combined solar/storage offering and manufacturing efficiencies, but remain concerned about cash flow and capital needs," S&P analyst Efraim Levy said in a research note to investors.

The deal may draw more attention to the financial position of both companies. Tesla has lost $1.2 billion in the past two years alone while SolarCity has suffered losses exceeding $1.1 billion during the same span. Analysts surveyed by FactSet are predicting a $416 million loss from Tesla this year while they believe SolarCity will lose $851 million.

Rebecca Lindland, a senior analyst with Kelley Blue Book, said the deal addresses a tiny market for now. About 1 percent of the 17 million cars sold in the U.S. are electric and only 1.4 percent of single family homes have solar power.

Those markets are expected to grow over time, she said, but in the meantime, both businesses are capital intensive and propped up by government incentives. Electric car buyers can currently get a $7,500 federal tax credit, for example, while solar panel buyers can deduct 30 percent of the cost of their installation from their federal taxes.

"If anything happens with incentives or the economy in general, this could come crashing down even faster than others are projecting," Lindland said.

SolarCity has a 45-day "goshop" period in which it can solicit alternative acquisition proposals. It will have to pay Tesla a $78.2 million termination fee unless it ends the deal with Tesla in order to enter an agreement with a third party that initially made an alternative offer before the ``go-shop'' period ended. If that happens, SolarCity would pay a $26.1 million termination fee, according to a regulatory filing.

Musk said if someone makes a better offer for SolarCity, he has committed to vote his shares with that offer.

Hayward PD Animal Shelter Panleukopenia outbreak

SUBMITTED BY SGT. RYAN CANTRELL

The Hayward Police Department's Animal Services wants to inform the public about a recent feline panleukopenia occurrence at our local animal shelter. Feline panleukopenia is an often difficult to detect and potentially fatal viral disease and often referred to as feline distemper in domestic cats. Feline panleukopenia often occurs in the spring and summer months and is commonly associated with cats that are living in large groups and unvaccinated. Other animals and humans are not susceptible to contracting feline panleukopenia.

On July 27, a kitten tested positive for feline panleukopenia, with an additional kitten testing positive the next day. Both kittens appeared healthy upon their arrival to the shelter. Regrettably, a total of 11 cats that either tested positive for the virus or were exposed to the virus had to be euthanized to prevent further spreading of the virus.

As a result, the Hayward Animal Shelter will not be accepting healthy, friendly or feral cats for the next 21 days. This is to reduce the risk of exposing new cats and allow the animal shelter staff to conduct a thorough cleaning of the shelter facility.

To protect your cat or new kitten from panleukopenia disease, the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) recommends that you talk to your local veterinarian about your cat's risk for panleukopenia and an appropriate vaccination protocol. Symptoms of feline panleukopenia may include a fever, lethargy, decreased appetite, vomiting or diarrhea which can result in life-threating dehydration. A veterinarian can perform blood tests to detect the infection and provide treatment options for supportive care for a cat/kitten.

For further information, please visit to the AVMA's website at: https://www.avma.org/public/PetCare/Pages/feline-panleukopenia.aspx

By: Kayla Good, Navy COMMUNITY OUTREACH

The squadron selected three F/A-18 demonstration pilots, events coordinator, C-130 demonstration pilot, flight surgeon, supply officer, and administration officer to join a previously selected Executive Officer on the 2017 team.

One of the newly selected 2017 officers includes F/A-18 Demonstration Pilot: Navy Lt. Damon Kroes, 34, of Fremont. Kroes is an F/A-18 Hornet Instructor Pilot currently assigned to Marine Fighter Attack Training Squadron 101 (VMFAT-101), the "Sharpshooters," at Marine Corps Air Station Miramar, California. He is a 2006 graduate of San Diego State University, San Diego.

Each officer was recommended for selection by Chief of Naval Air Training Rear Adm.

Dell Bull, and ultimately approved by Chief of Naval Air Forces Vice Adm. Mike Shoemaker, for final selection to the 2017 Blue Angels team.

The Blue Angels select "finalists" to interview at the team's home base of Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola, Florida, during the week of the Pensacola Beach Air Show each year. The team makes selections at the conclusion of that week.

"We were extremely fortunate to have so many qualified and motivated applicants apply for the team," said Lt. Matt Suyderhoud, Right Wing pilot and applications officer for the 2017 team selection. "I am excited to see what next year's team will be able to accomplish."

Spreading the Spirit of Aloha

SUBMITTED BY PENNY VITTORIA

On July 27, Acacia Creek Retirement Community in Union City partnered with Masonic Homes to celebrate the Spirit of Aloha. Leis and hugs were given as both residents and team members gathered outside just before twilight to share the deep spiritual meaning of the word aloha and to make music. Residents and team members took center stage to share the meaning of aloha, which is much more than a greeting or farewell. It expresses love, and respect for the interconnectedness of all people and nature. In that spirit, 100 people gathered.

They shared personally about what the spirit of aloha means to them, how God is in all of us and the importance of community.

One resident shared that with so much violence being reported on television, recognizing and practicing the spirit of aloha is a very valuable way to bring people together. The gathering provided a reminder of how we are all connected and how being responsible for the energy we put out to the world can bring about change.

No Hawaiian gathering would be complete without Island music. The resident ukulele group performed several songs with their coach, a 17 year old volunteer. Two residents who were the "hula hands performers" accompanied the group for two songs. A resident and team member both performed solos, singing in Hawaiian and sharing history about the culture. "The Crooners," six men from Acacia Creek who regularly perform at community functions, performed everything from the "Hawaiian War Chant" to the "Hawaiian Wedding Song." At the keyboard was the steadfast accompanist who also lives at Acacia Creek.

A resident, who is an engineer, built a model volcano that erupted with smoke as the evening went on. "This was a beautiful event which featured the talents and passions of residents and team members," said Martin Herter, Administrator at Acacia Creek. "We plan on making this a tradition each year," he added. The gathering seemed to succeed in spreading the spirit of aloha. There was a great feeling of love, friendship and unity as the final aloha was shared.

Alameda County survey records available online

SUBMITTED BY LUDMYRNA LOPEZ

The Alameda County Public Works Agency has introduced a new online database for survey records and documents. Available on the agency's website (www.acgov.org/surveyor), the survey document database provides an online avenue for those needing to research recorded survey documents, maps and other documentation available. By providing online access, members of the public are no longer required to drive to the Hayward office to research and review information. Instead, they can access information online.

This convenient and user-friendly database is the culmination of many meetings and work sessions spent creating and implementing this robust, comprehensive database for governmental, public and private use. For additional information, please call the County Surveyor, Michael Rubner, at (510) 670-5495.

set of coordinates, where they must then work together to complete a challenge. Once completed, they are given another set of coordinates, and the race continues. Teams who finish first, second, and third will receive a prize, courtesy of REI.

The challenges are primarily educational in nature. Says Minch, "One of our main purposes is to provide information and fun facts about what we do on a wildlife refuge." For example, a past activity required participants to use their hearing by matching bird calls, which illustrated the fact that birds find their mates in nature by singing.

Volunteers will be at each checkpoint, guiding and instructing the teams, and making sure there is no cheating. Minch estimates the course should take people about one and a half to two hours to complete, covering a distance of about two miles. This is merely a fraction of the total area of the refuge, which stretches across some 30,000 acres.

The San Francisco Bay National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) was created in 1974 in an effort to stop the encroachment of development along the bay, which had begun shortly after the Gold Rush. The salt industry played a large part in this development, converting tens of thousands of salt marshes into commercial salt ponds. Wildlife biologists say 90 percent of the original wetland habitat has disappeared because of paving, diking, and diverting water to build houses and industries.

In 1995, the refuge was renamed in honor of Congressman Don Edwards (1915 – 2015). He was dedicated to the refuge and its mission, which is to preserve and enhance wildlife habitat, protect migratory birds and threatened and endangered species, and provide opportunities for wildlife-oriented recreation and nature study for the surrounding communities. It is one of over 500 wildlife refuges that make up the US Fish & Wildlife National Wildlife Refuge System.

In fact, the Don Edwards NWR is the largest of seven refuges in the greater San Francisco Bay and Monterey Bay areas that make up the San Francisco Bay National Wildlife Refuge Complex. The other refuges include Antioch Dunes, Ellicott Slough, Farallon, Marin Islands, Salinas River, and San Pablo Bay. The Don Edwards NWR is also part of the South Bay Salt Pond Restoration Project, the largest tidal wetland restoration project on the West Coast. Their goal is to restore 15,100 acres of industrial salt ponds to a rich mosaic of tidal wetlands and other habitats.

If you are interested in attending the Amazing Refuge Race on Saturday, you can register online at Eventbrite. The deadline to register is August 17. The race will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a GPS unit tutorial beforehand at 10 a.m. Participants can use their own cell phones or borrow a GPS unit, on loan from the REI Outdoor School. Minch has planned for about ten teams, and may place individuals on teams containing fewer than five people to ensure maximum participation. This is a free event.

Home & Garden

Elevate your gardening

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

aise a glass for good cheer, raise the bar to excel, and raise a vegetable or flower bed to make life easier in the garden. People often make gardening harder than it has to be. It does not have to be backbreaking work. Forget digging, fighting gophers, and struggling to amend the soil to grow non-native plants such as vegetables, herbs, fruits, or a few exotic flowers. Creating a raised garden bed can diminish these and other problems.

A raised garden bed is a structure that retains soil above ground level. Any material can be used to build the bed. The minimum height will be determined by what is to be planted in it. Plants with shallow roots such as succulents or lettuces will require a minimum depth of a foot. Deeper rooting plants such as tomatoes and artichokes will need more depth. A taller raised bed will also help alleviate the back pain associated with gardening that used to be at ground level.

A raised garden bed can be placed over rocky, nutrient deficient, or dense soil with no effort put into preparing the ground. The bed can be filled with a soil mixture that will target the nutritional and drainage needs of the specific plants that are being planted. A sandy, well draining planting mix can be used for peppers and sunflowers, or a slightly acidic blend can be used for blueberries or currants. The soil can be replaced easily if the same crop is going to be planted year after year to help avoid nutrient and mineral depletion and the buildup of pathogens. The discarded soil, still rich in other unclaimed nutrients, can be spread throughout the rest of the garden benefitting any existing plants, shrubs, and trees.

Hardy and attractive redwood is the most common material used in raised garden beds in California. Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certified redwood products come from sustainable and environmentally friendly practices and are the best choice. The Home Depots in Newark, Union City, and Fremont all stock FSC certified redwood (www.homedepot.com). The wood can be cut any length to form the desired bed size, but should be at least two inches thick. Bolting each corner to a 4x4 post will strengthen the bed.

Rocks can make an intriguingly shaped and rustic looking raised bed, while concrete will make a durable and more permanent structure.

Tri-City Rock in Fremont

(www.tricityrock.com) has a large selection of different rocks that can be used. Metal livestock watering troughs make for modern and stylish raised beds. They come in a variety of sizes and can be purchased from Close Feed and Supply in Hayward (http://closefeedandsupply.wee-bly.com/). Railroad ties and pressure-treated wood are sometimes used, but have been treated with chemicals for preservation, materials, especially if it's going to be a raised vegetable bed. A raised bed should never be lined with plastic or any other material. Liners, thought to protect and preserve the wood, create an unnatural environment for most plants and vegetables. They trap in moisture and heat that promote diseases and root rot. Air needs to circulate throughout the soil, like it does in the ground for plants and the beneficial soil organisms to survive and thrive. Lining with landscape fabric allows air to circulate freely but prevents roots from interacting with the ground. Gravel should not be used at the bottom for drainage because it limits the depth of the plants' roots and can prevent the movement of beneficial soil organisms moving from the ground into and out of the bed.

If gophers are a problem, then setting the bed on gopher wire (like chicken wire except with a smaller gauge) will take the effort out of trying to stop gophers from destroying plants. If the raised bed is going to be placed above a patch of weeds, a layer of cardboard placed at the bottom will kill the weeds without having to pull them.

Once the raised bed's location has been decided, it should be positioned to face south to maximize sunlight. The plants should all require the same amount of water. Vines or trailing plants should be planted near the front edge, followed by a row of smaller plants. Medium-height plants are in the next row followed by the tallest plants in back. This layout will help reduce the taller plants from shading the shorter ones. Raised beds should not be over planted. Spacing information is available on all seed packets and most plant labels.

Raised garden beds can simplify a gardener's efforts and give control over the soil. They can provide just enough work to feel satisfied but not enough to feel destroyed.

For those who want to grow plants but have no garden, raised beds can be rented from the Local Ecology Agriculture Fremont (LEAF) (http://fremontleaf.org/).

Shape Our Fremont

Where Fremont residents can learn about shaping proposed housing developments

Neighbors Limit Mega Mansions

hen a developer tore down a modest one-story house and replaced it with a much larger two-story house that towered over the surrounding homes, a group of determined residents decided to fight back to preserve the community character of their area.

After more than a year of discussions and meetings between residents and the Fremont Planning Department, the Planning Commission and City Council unanimously approved Designated Neighborhood status for the entire Mission Palms development, which is generally bounded by Washington Boulevard, Palm Avenue, Olive Avenue, and Gallegos Avenue. As a key part of the new status, all future home construction and expansion throughout the development will be subject to several new restrictions, including lowered building heights and reduced second-story floor areas.

Designated Neighborhoods

Mission Palms joins Glenmoor Gardens and Mission
Ranch as officially approved designated neighborhoods in Fremont. Each has specific restrictions on the size of homes in order to preserve the overall look, feel, and character of the area. The restrictions vary, but the intent is the same: to protect the features that made the neighborhood a desirable place to live.

Community character is an important part of Fremont General Plan, which includes an entire chapter on the importance of creating and preserving the character of various areas in the city. Placing restrictions on the size, shape, and architecture of homes in a neighborhood as it evolves over the years is an important component of community character.

For example, Glenmoor Gardens in the Centerville Area is noted for its low, single-story homes. To protect those features, residents got the city to approve the area as a designated neighborhood in 2010. One of the restrictions was that new two-story homes or second-story additions to existing homes are prohibited. The building heights and roof slopes were also limited to maintain a low profile that blends with the other homes.

Mission Ranch in the Mission San Jose area was also made a designated neighborhood in 2010. The principal concern of residents was to ensure that the size and mass of any second stories should be significantly smaller than the first stories. When the residents of nearby Mission Palms considered restrictions for their development, they made them similar to those of Mission Ranch. In both neighborhoods, the primary goal was to prevent construction of very large second stories that are out of character with the rest of the area.

Standards That Fit

Designated neighborhood status gives residents the ability to tailor Fremont's Residential District Development Standards to better fit their area. For example, here are the details of two standards that tailored to fit specific needs of specific designated neighborhoods:

Heights: The maximum building height in all single-family residential neighborhoods is 30 ft., which applies to both one- and two-story houses. That height is measured to the midpoint of the roof - not the peak - so the actual height can be somewhat greater. In all three designated neighborhoods, the maximum height of a one-story house is limited to 17 ft. and a two-story house (where permitted) is 27 ft. Those heights are measured to the actual roof peak and result in much a lower visual impact on adjacent houses.

Floor Areas: This is where residents can potentially limit mega mansions. The current standards for all single-family residential neighborhoods allow a two-story house to have a total floor area (including the garage) up to 64 percent of the lot area. That can result in a very large house that is often out of proportion to the adjacent houses. In the Mission Palms neighborhood, the residents decided to limit the total floor area of two-story houses to a maximum of 35 percent of the lot area. One-story houses would be limited to a maximum of 40 percent of the lot area, which provides an incentive for homeowners to expand horizontally rather than vertically.

Other Standards

Fremont recently approved new standards to minimize privacy impacts relating to second-story additions and new two-story home construction in single-family residential neighborhoods throughout the entire city. The privacy standards include design rules (required) and design guidelines (recommended) regarding the size and placement of doors, windows, balconies, decks, and landscaping. These standards are now in effect.

Standards affecting solar panels are under review. As Fremont moves to become a more energy-sustainable city, there is a need to consider how the shadow from two-story houses would affect roof-mounted solar panels on neighboring one-story houses and what "solar rights" residents have. Considering the cost of solar panel installation, this can be an important economic issue.

For All Signs: Saturn is turning direct after 5 1/2 months of retrograde motion. This happens every year. While direct, Saturn is a taskmaster. He is also the judge or the teacher. When he turns retrograde, we are given time to think about what we should do and prepare for the time that we will do it. Then he turns direct again and it is time. We must fulfill whatever is required or the consequences will materialize. There have been multiple detours and blockades to taking action since April presented by other planets in retrograde motion. Saturn is in Sagittarius, the sign of philosophy, travel, internet connections, in-laws, shipping, higher education, and the ethics/legalities of anything. Whatever has been trapped in these areas will begin now to loosen the boundaries. It will be like clearing a traffic jam.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Major changes of recent months have shaken you loose from a previous lifestyle. It has been thoroughly unsettling. Last month you began a fresh discipline which will give you the strength to move forward with your life. Take it slow and steadily. It is a challenge but will give you more courage and sense of strength.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You may be taking a sober look at one or more relationships. Even the very closest friends cannot know each other from the inside. Sometimes we forget this fact and need to become aware that we are actually separate beings, helping when we can. Sometimes our energy is too low to be there for one another.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Past work on a significant project related to your home pays off now. It has demanded major attention to the details, but they are now integrating well. Contracts may be signed that favor you monetarily. The financial powers-that-be are in your favor. Take a deep breath. You've done a great job.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): During the next couple of weeks it would serve you well to attend social gatherings and generally put yourself out there. One or more people are likely to enter your life who help you make the connections that need to come next. It is possible that you encounter a potential for romance.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): Adopt a positive attitude concerning anything new or different that crosses your radar screen. Interesting experiences are prominent. It is a good week to make travel plans. Activities involving the law, ethics, publications, education, the internet and church or synagogue, are favored.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): A teacher who will help you see your relationships more accurately than you have in the past enters your life at this time. Carefully consider what you are now seeing. Don't just adopt another's point of view. But if the thoughts ring true, you may need to distance yourself from your sacrificial nature.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Be aware that you are in a sensitive frame of mind and may misinterpret that which is said to you. Or you may be the one who hears what you want to hear. So take your impressions with a grain of salt until you clarify what was originally intended. This is not a good time to sabotage relationships because you may not be thinking clearly.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): One or more friends are available to help you with almost anything you need. A move of home or workplace may be involved. You are ready to begin a new work venture of significant challenge. It will be somewhat costly in the beginning, but you need to cross that hurdle and move forward.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You may feel disappointed over a loss related to your immediate future plans. This is a bummer but it is probable that you had an unrealistic version of its value in the beginning. There will be better options in the future. Keep your eyes open. Your mind is loaded with ideas and one of them creates a better solution than you have lost.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): This is a week to remain in strict adherence to the law. Don't speed and don't roll through intersections. Someone may be there to write a ticket before you know it. Give attention to your vehicle, especially to any symptoms related to liquid or gas lines. There may be good news related to education, publishing, internet, the law, and Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Necessary expenses (those not of the fun type) may develop this week. If not that, you could be just having a little blue mood. Crickets chirping rickets chirping, childhood reminders, surround sound. I think my little crickets are snowy tree crickets. These crickets chirp in unison. If one cricket stops, it restarts in time with the others. The word "cricket" comes from the French word "criquer." It translates as "little creakers." If you want to know the temperature, supposedly you can calculate it by adding the number 40 to the number if cricket chirps counted in 15 seconds. The result is in Fahrenheit. A good children's project. There are many cricket species.

Each has its own sound to prevent undesirable matchups. Females don't sing. The males are the opera stars. They sing to entice a mate. The loudest of the songs is called the "calling song." Depending on the type, or cricket species, there may also be a fight sound, alarm sound, or even a courtship sound once the male cricket has found a mate. Females listen with a body part on their forelegs, the site equivalent of our elbows.

Cricket tales go back into ancient lore. The cricket may forecast rain, death, or an absent lover returning. A cricket lodging in a home can be a bringer of good luck, or bad. It is generally considered lucky to have a cricket in the house. If you kill it, not only is it unlucky, it is inhospitable. The Cherokee Indians believed that drinking tea brewed from crickets would make them as good singers like the cricket. Ancient Greeks thought a brew of assorted insects, including crickets, was an asthma cure. In long-ago China, and continuing in areas today, there are Cricket sporting events. Some cricket species are not too fond of their kin. These are bred for aggressiveness. Betting occurs, often-large amounts.

In 1933, somebody decided to sue a landlord because his home was infested with crickets. The person decided he shouldn't have to pay rent because of this infestation. The case was "Ben Hur Holding Company vs. Fox." The judge ruled that rent had to be paid. Rationale: "While the cricket is technically an insect and a bug, it would appear from the study of his life, that instead of being obnoxious, he is an intellectual little fellow, with certain attainment of refinement, and an indefatigable musician par excellence."

In a Hungarian Aesop tale, an ass decides he wants to sing like a cricket. The crickets told him they fed only on dew. The ass follows this dewy diet.

Making a difference in Vietnam

SUBMITTED BY PAUL ANDRUS PHOTO BY THU DO

Jill Nguyen, former director of BP Marine International and current Board Member of VNHelp.org met with Niles Rotarians on July 21, 2016. VNHelp is making huge differences in the countryside of Vietnam. VNHelp builds long-term solutions to chronic problems – they have been serving the Vietnamese people for over 25 years.

There are four main areas of focus that VNHelp has currently, including health, education, water and economic development. Over the years these areas of focus have developed and shifted to find the most effective way to "help Vietnamese people help themselves." The old adage, "it's better to teach someone to fish than to give them a fish," is a philosophy employed here as a standard of practice. The areas that VNHelp generally focuses on are rural areas where the population doesn't have as much access to education, healthcare and sanitary water.

VNHelp has built one large health clinic and upgraded three others in rural villages. With a local staff of approximately seven for each clinic, the population on average that is served represents 10,000 people. This staff includes doctors, nurses, an accountant and one or two other support staff positions. In addition, VNHelp has a program to help folks get needed cataract surgeries. The patient pays nothing and the cost to VNHelp is between $50 and $80 per person depending on location. VNHelp helps between 500 and 1,000 patients every year with this program.

VNHehlp has built 49 schools serving kindergarten and first to fifth grade students. VNHelp pays the cost for the schools and builds the school, then turns it over to the local community to manage. To be sure that things are handled properly and done adequately, VNHelp has a supervisory role where the school must report back for the following six years on performance, attendance and the financial aspects of running the school. VNHelp also provides scholarships to students who come from financially needy families where the student shows in focusing on the "third world girl child" as quoted by former International Rotary President

Richard D. King. VNHelp has started a microfinance program, not unlike many charities through the developing world. On average, VNHelp will lend $50 to $500 per borrower for a 12-month loan to approximately 400 borrowers each year. Interest is charged and these interested charges are put back into running this program.

Finally, VNHelp offers a vocational training scholarship program where student from rural areas are brought to Ho Chi Minh (Saigon) City for a three-month program. The course trains the students, between the ages of 16-25, to become a motorcycle mechanic. These students come out fully employable and become contributing members of their society and especially to their family.

aptitude and intelligence. In 2015, VNHelp provided scholarships for 629 individuals; up to date, VNHelp has granted scholarship to 6,429 college students.

VNHelp has built three large water filtration plants. Besides building these plants, VNHelp has also paid the cost for building supply lines to families in poverty that cannot afford to have the lines installed to bring fresh water to their homes. The most recent project located in Thanh Hoa, Vietnam serves a population of 7,000. The previous water filtration project was located in Binh Dinh, Vietnam.

Fremont to Open New Cricket/Soccer Field Facility – First of Its Kind in the Bay Area

The City of Fremont is making Bay Area sports history! On Sunday, August 21, Central Park will open the City's new Synthetic Cricket/Soccer Field facility, the first of its kind in the City of Fremont and the Greater Bay Area. The City of Fremont is thrilled to be adding such a diverse and community-friendly space to the city that will create new recreational opportunities for local residents.

Features of the new facility include all-weather playability, field lighting, designated player area(s), and bermed spectator seating. And whether you're a player or a spectator, the many nearby amenities such as picnic rental areas, Always Dream Playpark, restrooms, and a snack bar, create a unique and enjoyable experience.

To mark this exciting addition to the Fremont community, a dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the new facility located on Stevenson Boulevard between the Fremont Tennis Center and Always Dream Playpark. After enjoying some light refreshments at the ceremony, attendees can head over to watch the first official cricket game be played on the field at 11 a.m.

For more information about the event contact Damon Sparacino at 510-494-4372 or dcsparacino@fremont.gov. For more information about renting the facility contact Michael Sa at 510-494-5523 or msa@fremont.gov.

Food Scraps Recycling Now Available at Fremont Apartment Complexes

Studies indicate that 44 percent of waste from Fremont's multi-family complexes can be composted.

Recent state and county laws recognize this and require businesses and residents, including multi-family complexes, to arrange for compost collection. Until now, green bins for collecting yard trimmings and food scraps were only available to single family homes. Recent pilot studies have shown that residents living in multi-family complexes will do their part to put organic materials in the green bins, helping to reduce landfilled waste.

Now, apartment and condominium complexes can add composting to their recycling routine. Beginning in 2016, apartments, townhomes, and condominiums have the option to add green bin service. When composting service is added, each residential unit will receive a small kitchen pail to use inside the home to collect compostable materials. The pail is then emptied into the green bin when needed.

City of Fremont staff can meet with homeowner associations, property owners and managers to set up food scrap collection. Fremont residents may contact the City's Environmental Services Division by calling 510-494-4570 or emailing environment@fremont.gov to discuss options for their complex.

Fremont Street Eats

Have you stopped by Fremont Street Eats this summer? Make sure to swing by this culinary caravan in Downtown Fremont every Friday evening through October from 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Capitol Avenue between Fremont Boulevard and State Street. The event is hosted by the Fremont Chamber of Commerce in partnership with Food Truck Mafia.

Fremont Vision Zero 2020 Kicking off 20 Projects in 20 Months

The City of Fremont has begun implementation of the Vision Zero 2020 Action Plan, which is its traffic safety policy to reduce all fatalities and severe injuries from traffic accidents to zero by the year 2020. The Vision Zero 2020 Action Plan was approved by the Fremont City Council in March 2016.

The Action Plan revolves around the themes of safer streets, safer people, and safer vehicles. It also involves engineering investments to improve the safety of Fremont streets, including building better bikeways, efforts to provide safer street crossings for pedestrians, calming traffic around neighborhoods, and retrofitting Fremont's street lights to LED technology for improved nighttime visibility.

As part of "20 Projects in 20 Months," the City has already completed green bike lane striping on Civic Center Drive and Walnut Avenue. Green bike lanes contribute to safety for both the bicyclist and the motorist because they increase the visibility of the bike lane and raise motorist and bicyclist awareness to potential areas of conflict. Another improvement at Civic Center Drive and Walnut Avenue will be the installation of a new pedestrian countdown signal planned for August. Pedestrian countdown signals inform pedestrians about available time to cross the intersection.

As a neighborhood traffic calming measure, speed lumps will be installed in August on 2nd Street in Niles, Palm Avenue near Mission San Jose High School, and Parkside Drive. The City has identified priority locations for speed lumps and will install additional speed lumps throughout the city based on available funding.

In the fall, streetlights will be retrofitted with LED technology along Fremont Boulevard to improve nighttime visibility. In analyzing data from 2013-2015, the greatest frequency of fatalities and severe injuries caused by traffic accidents occurred in Fremont between 6 p.m. through 10 p.m. Fifty percent of these fatalities and severe injuries occurred on Fremont Boulevard. The LED streetlight retrofitting project will be expanded citywide after its completion on Fremont Boulevard.

Walkers may have noticed new "Look for Safety" street markings at crosswalks to remind people to "look" before crossing the street. Teen volunteers from the City of Fremont Recreation Services Youth Service Corps painted these innovative street markings at busy intersections including Walnut Avenue and Paseo Padre Parkway, Paseo Padre Parkway and Baylis Street, across from Central Park, and Civic Center Drive and Walnut Avenue as well as additional locations throughout the city.

For more information about the Vision Zero Action Plan and updates, please visit www.Fremont.gov/VisionZero2020.

Final celebration for Hayward Street Parties

SUBMITTED BY THE HAYWARD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The 16th year of the 2016 downtown Hayward Street Party season concludes Thursday, August 18 with bands, a classic car show, street entertainers, food and family fun.

The Bank of the West Stage will feature Patron and bands that day will include Native Elements on the Buffalo Bills Stage, the Royal Deuces on the Bistro Patio Stage, and the Hayward High School Marching Band in Newman Park. DJ Robert Louis will entertain at the chamber of commerce Main Street Stage.

Street entertainers, face-painters, and rides will provide additional fun for kids, and adults will enjoy more than 100 hot rods and classics at the car show on Main Street. Great brews will be served in the Buffalo Bill's beer, wine, and soda garden between Bank of the West and Bijou Restaurant. Fun N' Games will provide bounce houses and carnival fun on the B Street block between Mission Boulevard and Watkins Street.

"It says a lot about Hayward that our participants look at the street parties as a family reunion," said Kim Huggett, president of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce. "These are events that not only are family-friendly, but the coolness factor is there, too."

The street party series is made possible through a partnership of the Downtown Business Improvement Area, the City of Hayward and the Hayward Chamber of Commerce. Major sponsors of the street party series include Buffalo Bills Brewery, PG&E, Kaiser Permanente, Wells Fargo Bank, and Calpine's Russell City Energy Center.

cove at Crab Cove Visitor Center in Alameda. From 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. you can listen to the sounds of renowned musician Andre Thierry. Bring a blanket or lawn chair and a picnic dinner, or you can purchase local food and beverages at the event. Alcohol may be purchased and consumed only in a special area set aside. Sponsors are the Alameda Rotary Club, Regional Parks Foundation and East Bay Regional Park District.

There will be activities on the visitor center deck before the concert starting at 4:30 p.m.

The center will remain open until 8 p.m. after the music.

Crab Cove Visitor Center is at 1252 McKay Ave. off Alameda's

Central Avenue. Park on Webster Street or in the Crown Beach lot at Otis Street and Shoreline Drive. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

Andre Thierry will also perform on Saturday, August 13 during the Cajun-Zydeco Festival at Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont. The festival is from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Advance tickets are available online through August 9. Cost is $22 per adult, $6 for ages 4 through 15, and free for ages 3 and under. From Cajun music to camp cooking: Naturalist Susan Ramos will offer tips on outdoor cooking in a program from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, August 13 at Crab Cove. She'll offer some samples from Dutch ovens, kabobs and foil packs, plus tips and recipes for your next campout.

Wildlife in woods and ponds will be the focus during a couple of programs at Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley.

Nature Area near Berkeley. From 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, August 13, naturalist Trail Gail Broesder will lead a walk around Jewel Lake, looking for animal sign.

Then from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, August 14, naturalist Anthony Fisher will visit Jewel Lake again to see what's living in its increasingly shallow waters. Both walks start at the Environmental Education Center at the north end of Tilden's Central Park Drive. For information, call (510) 544-2233.

And to experience Stone Age technology, sign up for Anthony's atlatl program from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sunday, August 21. Atlatls are ancient dart-throwing devices that predate the bow and arrow. Anthony will show how to make an atlatl using basic hand tools, then supervise some target practice. It isn't easy. I've tried throwing darts at targets using an atlatl, and I can only say that the mammoths would have been in no danger from me.

Registration is required for Anthony's program, and there's a fee of $10 ($12 for non-district residents). To register, call 888-327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to program 13970.

The Sunday Strollers will explore Roberts Regional Parkland during a 2.5-mile hilly hike from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. on August 14. Sunday Strolls are informal, naturalist-led walks in various regional parks, ranging from 2 to 5 miles. Meet at the Redwood Bowl staging area on Skyline Boulevard in Oakland.

And there's a Tyke Hike

scheduled from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday, August 16 at Redwood Regional Park. Tyke hikes are naturalist-led walks for parents with young children, averaging about 1 mile in length. For this one, meet at Redwood's Skyline Gate on Skyline Boulevard, a bit south of Pinehurst Road in Oakland. For more information on either hike, call (510) 544-3187.

Night owls will enjoy a moonlight hike from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, August 13 at Carquinez Regional Shoreline, led by naturalist Kevin Dixon. Kevin and the group will stroll the George Miller Trail overlooking Carquinez Strait with its maritime traffic. Meet at the Port Costa staging area on Carquinez Scenic Drive east of Crockett. For information, call (510) 544-2750.

Harmony: Wildlife and Nature Inspired Portraits

Phantom Art Gallery is currently hosting an art exhibition of nature-inspired portraits of people and animals from local artist Bhavna Misra. The display features oil paintings inspired by local flora and wildlife with an underlying theme of harmony between man and nature.

Misra is a Fremont-based fulltime painter and owner of Bhavna Misra Art Studio. Her work has been published in art and literary magazines and on the covers of magazines. Portraiture has been Misra's chosen genre but she also likes to paint landscapes and city scenes. She has participated in more than 20 art shows including eight solo exhibitions.

"Making art is my way to make a difference in the lives of viewers. I create with love in my heart, respect towards the subject matter, and a complete dedication for a well-crafted artwork. Art has given me a purpose and I would want to keep striving to create better art," says Misra.

The artwork is on display through October 31 in the north wing of Milpitas Library's second floor. An informal meet-and-greet session will be held on Sunday, October 16 from noon to 1 p.m. For more information, please visit https://bhavnamisra.com.

Walk with survivors at Relay for Life

Take part in a national effort to fight cancer and celebrate survivors of the disease by joining "Relay for Life" in the greater Tri-Cities. Community members will come together to raise funds to help the American Cancer Society in their fight against the disease. Show your support by walking overnight with survivors and their loved ones as we celebrate another chance in life.

Each city has formed teams, whose members take turns walking around a track at local schools or parks. The survivors take the first lap around the track as other participants cheer them on. The event also recognizes caregivers and their efforts to take good care of our survivors in place of their loved ones. A Luminaria Ceremony is scheduled at night, where people light candles inside personalized bags that are placed around the track. The lights honor those who have survived cancer, as well as those who are still fighting.

PLAN TO PREPARE FOR IMPACTS OF NATURAL HAZARDS

SUBMITTED BY LAUREN SUGAYAN

The cities of Union City and Newark are embarking on a planning process to prepare for impacts of natural disasters. Responding to federal mandates in the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000 (Public Law 106-390), the cities pooled resources and created a uniform hazard mitigation strategy that can be consistently applied to the defined planning area. This planning process is being led by Union City and Newark with support from local districts, volunteer groups, and a technical consultant. The planning process will take approximately six months to complete. During this process, citizens will be asked to contribute by sharing local knowledge of an area's vulnerability to hazards based on past occurrences. Public involvement will be solicited via a multimedia campaign that will include public meetings, webbased information, questionnaires, and updates on the plans progress via the news and social media. This process will be overseen by a Steering Committee made up of stakeholders from within the planning area. This Steering Committee will meet as needed on the second Wednesday of every month at alternating Union City and Newark locations. These meetings are open to the public.

An informational website on the plan and purposes for planning has been established at www.uc-newark-hmp.com. This website will serve as the primary means for the public to gain information on the plan and ways that they can participate in the planning process as well as updates on upcoming meetings and events. The public is highly encouraged to provide input on all phases of this plan's development. Any questions or comments regarding this process are encouraged and should be emailed to steeringcommittee@uc-newarkhmp.com.

Celebrate opening of Fremont's new Cricket/Soccer Field facility

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

We're making Bay Area sports history! On Sunday, August 21, Central Park will open the City's new Synthetic Cricket/Soccer Field facility, the first of its kind in the City of Fremont and the Greater Bay Area. We're thrilled to be adding such a diverse and community-friendly space to the city that will create new recreational opportunities for all of our local residents.

Features of the new facility include all-weather playability, field lighting, designated player area(s), and bermed spectator seating. And whether you're a player or a spectator, the many nearby amenities such as picnic rental areas, Always Dream Playpark, restrooms, and a snack bar, create a unique and enjoyable experience.

To mark this exciting addition to our Fremont community, a dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the new facility located on Stevenson Boulevard between the Fremont Tennis Center and Always Dream Playpark. After enjoying some light refreshments at the ceremony, attendees can head to the stands to watch the first official cricket game be played on the field at 11 a.m. We'll see you there!

For more information about the event contact Damon Sparacino at (510) 494-4372 or at: dcsparacino@fremont.gov and for more information about renting the facility contact Michael Sa at (510) 494-5523 or email: msa@fremont.gov

Ohlone Athletics Department selects new Head Coach of Men's Water Polo

SUBMITTED BY OHLONE COLLEGE

Casey Fleming is joining Ohlone College's Athletics department as the Head Coach of the men's water polo team.

The University of Pacific graduate is a five year dual sport athlete and no stranger to water sports. Fleming was the captain of the university's water polo team in 2014 and 2015 and led the team to their first Mountain Pacific Sports Foundation season title win in University of Pacific history. His athleticism catapulted the university's water polo team to ranking number one in the nation for a quarter of the season in 2013. Aside from his record-breaking run with the water polo team, he is also an accomplished swimmer.

During his swimming career at the University of Pacific, he competed at the 2012 Olympic trials.

After breaking the 200m freestyle relay time in 2015, the team finished 34th in the nation for college swimming. His passion for sports extends outside of the pool and into the classroom.

He holds a Master's degree in Health, Exercise, and Sports Science with a concentration in Sport Pedagogy. His dedication towards his studies earned him four years of Mountain Pacific Sports Foundation All-Academic Honors.

Ohlone College athletics dean, Chris Warden expresses his excitement to have recruited such an experienced athlete to guide the Ohlone Renegades men's water polo team. "Fleming brings a passion for the sport, which I believe will help our program grow."

Real Estate Opportunities for Makers and Small-Scale Manufacturing

By Ilana Preuss, Founder, Recast City

When we first met Ilana Preuss from Recast City (www.recastcity.com) at the ULI conference in San Francisco last fall, we knew that Fremont could benefit from her expertise integrating manufacturing space for small-scale producers into revitalized neighborhoods. The following Q&A explores the maker movement and how we can best nurture it through the creation of collaborative spaces. A public presentation will take place on the morning of August 17 in Fremont. To register for this free event call Kim Marshall at (510) 284-4026.

Q: The Bay Area is the original home to the original Maker Faire, TechShop, and other organizations that celebrate and support the Maker Movement. What exactly are makers, and why are they important?

A: Makers are people who produce something. They may create something as a hobby, as a full-time job, or they may teach other people how to create items. The Maker Movement is important because it shows people that it is exciting and cool to use your hands and machines to create things again. It also promotes that everyone should have access to maker education and workforce training regardless of income, neighborhood, and background. The maturing movement is also graduating people from ideas of making as a hobbyist to launching small manufacturing businesses that are producing goods at scale.

Q: Since Recast City works nationally, you are in a great position to identify themes and trends that provide insight into the sector. Please tell us more!

A: Many cities are looking to makers - especially those creating small businesses - as a vital source of job growth. These businesses are mostly homegrown by people who live in the community and will stay there. The small production businesses also create good quality jobs, often paying 50-100 percent more than retail and service jobs. These mid-tier jobs are often missing from our neighborhoods and are key to creating a strong local economy. Communities across the country are also beginning to recognize that these businesses can help to strengthen local retail areas. The production businesses are quiet and clean. They are great neighbors. And people love to walk by shop windows to see things being made. These businesses can complement the usual retail shops and restaurants to create a more interesting and economically diverse neighborhood commercial area or downtown.

Q: Which cities have impressed you? Who else is on a path to grow local makers?

A: A number of cities are taking big, purposeful steps to retain, attract, and grow local maker industries and small-scale manufacturing businesses.

San Francisco and Brooklyn are ahead of most places with major nonprofits that organize and promote these local businesses, provide economic development training, and promote affordable real estate. Cities like Indianapolis and Cincinnati have investment from the city and foundation community respectively, promoting similar initiatives.

Small towns, like Grants Pass and Talent in Oregon, are working with local producers to accommodate more of these businesses in their small downtowns.

Q: Is the real estate sector getting on board with this trend? If so, what's in it for them?

A: The real estate sector is beginning to see this business sector as an asset, but we are just at the beginning stages of this. Some developers recognize that small producers can attract a "wow factor" to retail frontage when people can walk by and see something being made. It also allows the developer to bring in local businesses that are truly original for the neighborhood. The major challenge is that most producers cannot afford hot-market retail lease rates. Real estate developers have to think about underwriting a portion of their retail space to expect a lower return so that they can create this draw. It often becomes a part of their marketing plan and branding of the new space. Rehabilitation of existing warehouse buildings is often more affordable and accommodates small producers - where those buildings are available.

Q: Besides creating great districts and maker-oriented spaces, what else can cities and their partners do to support makers and small-scale manufacturers?

A: Most importantly, cities need to show small-scale producers and makers that they are wanted. Most of these businesses don't think anyone is paying attention to them. Cities can help by hosting events, conducting interviews with producers, and creating economic development programs specific to businesses producing tangible products. Many communities consider a "made in" program to brand local products. But I think the relationship between producers, real estate owners, and the city are vital to promote, preserve, and expand the local business community.

Q: What got you interested in starting this business? What is your proudest moment so far?

A: I worked with towns and cities across the country to understand how to implement downtown redevelopment and community reinvestment plans for a long time. I worked in the federal government and in the nonprofit sector to help communities adopt smart growth plans to create more housing and transportation choices for everyone. But I realized that the small business community played a key role that wasn't being considered. Simultaneously, I got involved in the D.C. startup community and the Maker Movement. And it all sort of came together when I started to meet small businesses that produced goods for retail and wholesale right in my own city. I realized that these businesses are a key piece of the puzzle to create great neighborhoods with strong economies that are accessible to everyone.

My proudest moment — that is tough to pick. I launched Recast City in 2014, and it has been an amazing few years. My proudest moments are when I get to meet the producers in a community and learn about their business, products, and plans for the future. I am consistently in awe of the creativity and business focus of each person, their dedication to making something amazing, and their commitment to the community.

ecently the Fremont City Council approved by consent a "cost of living" increase in pay for two highly compensated employees – the City Manager and City Attorney. Although this can be seen as a modest increase to keep up with inflationary pressures, there is a difference between inflationary pressure on lower income employees and those in high income brackets. Most of us understand the uneven effects of rising costs since many factors are either directly applicable to our personal situation or indirect and diffuse when applied to our standard of living. For instance, rising rental costs for apartments or homes has an immediate effect of renters while for those in homes purchased years ago, it has little or no impact. The same can be said for gas prices. Those who commute long distances on a regular basis may own a gas guzzler, hybrid or electric vehicle. The effect is different on each consumer.

High income employees are also in a different category when it comes to inflationary pressure. Disposable income may be affected, but necessities fit securely within the budget. When is it reasonable to assume that basic income requirements are met and bonus or salary increases should be based solely on merit rather than a "cost of living" rider. Which economy will be used for a standard - national, regional, local? It varies by individual, but if a three percent (3%) cost of living increase is granted without regard to need, why should this favor highly compensated individu8als? The math show that this actually a greater benefit for the well off than those that need it the most.

Employee A has a annual salary of $50,000 and receives a 3% cost of living increase. This will result in an annual increase of $1,500 or $125 per month gross pay. It this employee has a family and pays rent that will increase by $200 per month, this represents a negative effect of his or her cost of living.

Employee B has an annual salary of $250,000 and also receives a 3% cost of living increase. This will result in an annual increase of $7,500 or $625 per monthy. Even if this employee has a family and large expenses the base salary should more than cover any inflationary impact on standard expenses. If the circumstances were the same as Employee A, this person would realize a $500 gain over the increase in rent to combat inflation.z

It seems to me that employees above a defined threshold should either receive a reduced cost of living increase or none at all. Instead, a merit increase of pay would be appropriate based on performance without ties to composite cost of living reports that may bear little relationship to the actual impact of increasing costs to an individual. Those in lower income brackets are usually more directly affected and need the protection of cost of living increases plus merit increases. There has been much talk about disappearance of the middle class and a widening divide between those north or the poverty line and many others left behind. It may be time to adjust our thinking about who should receive cost of living adjustments and those who have far surpassed subsistence income and can be jusged and rewarded based solely on their work.

B's Blankets fills a need

SUBMITTED BY SHIRLEY SISK

Nine year old Brooklyn Sisk, founder of B's Blankets, found a new need! Brooklyn and a group of dedicated volunteers will be working with the Alameda County Board of Education to provide 64 nap blankets for two Oakland classroomsthe Transitional Kindergarten (TK) and the Kindergarten classeswho start school August 22. These children come to this school just happy to have a safe place to be for the day. Teachers supply the most basic items for their students; however, nap blankets are not one of them.

Brooklyn says, "What a way to start your first day of school, with a warm cozy nap blanket! I know children are in need of something special like this and will treasure their own personalized blanket." Brooklyn and her parents, both teachers in Fremont, will present a brand new blanket to each student in the two classes, on their first day of school.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Reply to Coalition Letter to the Editor concerning Hayward Unified Board of Trustees

Dear Board President McDonald and Superintendent Monroe:

The petition dated July 21, 2016 by the Hayward Area Faith and Community Leaders Coalition is nothing more than an attempt to usurp the proper exercise of authority by our Board of Education and an attempt to stop our Board from taking responsible and ethical steps to address allegations of misconduct against Stan Dobbs.

On June 29, 2016, the Board of Education directed that Dobbs be placed on paid administrative leave pending an investigation. While this was a tough decision, I believe it was in the best interests of our students to get to the bottom of some very serious allegations impacting District operations. The Brown Act requires the Board to report final action taken which affects the employment status of any employee. No action was taken that affects Dobbs' employment status, much less an adverse employment action. He has simply been directed to stay on leave until an investigation has been completed and this was clearly communicated to the public.

Because our Board values transparency, I reported out some preliminary investigation findings that warranted further investigation during a public Board meeting in order to help the public understand what is occurring. Reporting on matters of public concern is the responsible consumers to file class actions related to financial products and services, including credit cards, checking and deposit accounts, auto loans, consumer mortgages, prepaid cards, consumer debt acquisition, credit reporting and debt collection services.

Resolution urged for consumer class action suits in financial cases

In May, the CFPB issued proposed rules prohibiting the financial industry from writing contracts with mandatory arbitration clauses that eliminate the customers' right to seek justice for wrongdoing through class action suits.

"These bans are unconscionable because today consumer contracts are "take-it-or-leave-it" contracts where customers must choose between losing access to modern goods and services, or losing their legal rights to go to court as a group seeking redress for getting ripped off," said Wieckowski, a member of the State Senate's Judiciary Committee.

The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010 was approved by Congress after the financial industry's subprime lending crisis plunged the United States into the Great Recession. In just five short years, it has given more than 25 million consumers a total of roughly $12 billion in relief through its enforcement actions against companies that violated the law.

When it issued the proposed rules earlier this year, the CFPB said it was targeting "gotcha" clauses that allow companies to "sidestep the legal system, avoid accountability, and continue to pursue profitable practices that may violate the law and harm countless consumers."

SJR 25 encourages the CFPB to adopt the proposed rules or an amended version "that even more stringently protects the right of consumers to pursue justice and relief."

SJR 25 must go through the same legislative process as a bill, but is not subject to legislative deadlines and does not go before the Governor if it is approved by the Legislature.

Senator Wieckowski represents the 10th Senate District, which includes southern Alameda County and northeast Santa Clara County.

Two cases of Zika-related birth defects in California

SUBMITTED BY ALI BAY

California Department of Public Health (CDPH) has reported that two infants with Zika-related microcephaly have been born in California to women who had Zika virus infections during pregnancy after spending time in a country where the virus is endemic. While mosquitoes that can carry the virus have been found in 12 California counties, there is no evidence these mosquitoes are transmitting Zika in the state at this time.

"This is a sobering reminder for Californians that Zika can cause serious harm to a developing fetus," said CDPH Director and State Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith. "We join the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) in urging pregnant women to avoid travel to areas with known Zika transmission. Pregnant women who must travel to one of these areas should strictly follow steps to prevent mosquito bites and speak with a health care provider upon return."

"Zika virus can also be transmitted to sexual partners by both males and females. Both men and women of childbearing age should take precautions if they have recently traveled, or plan to travel, to a location where Zika is spreading," added Dr. Smith.

A team of experts across several disciplines at CDPH is working closely with local public health departments, vector control agencies and the medical community to ensure that California is responding aggressively and appropriately to the emerging threat of Zika virus. CDPH is actively monitoring all pregnant women with Zika infection in California. The Department is also collaborating with local health departments to provide assistance to families with infants born with Zika-related birth defects to ensure they receive appropriate medical care. Infants born to mothers with confirmed infections will be monitored for one year.

As of July 29, CDPH has confirmed 114 travel-associated Zika virus infections in 22 counties. A total of 21 infections have been confirmed in pregnant women. This information is updated every Friday at: http://www.cdph.ca.gov/Health-Info/discond/Pages/Zika.aspx

While Zika infection is often asymptomatic, those who do have symptoms report fever, rash, joint pain and conjunctivitis (red eyes). The illness is usually mild with symptoms lasting for several days to a week after being bitten by an infected mosquito. There is currently no vaccine or treatment for Zika other than supportive care, rest, fluids and fever relief.

People traveling to areas with known Zika transmission should take steps to avoid mosquito bites:

-Use insect repellents containing DEET, picaridin, IR3535, oil of lemon eucalyptus or para-menthane-diol for long-lasting protection. If using sunscreen and insect repellent, apply sunscreen first and then the repellent. Pregnant women and women who are breastfeeding should choose an EPA-registered insect repellent and use it according to the product label. Do not use insect repellent on infants less than two months of age.

-Wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants.

-Use air conditioning or window and door screens to keep mosquitoes outside. If mosquitoes may come indoors, sleep under a bed net.

-Reduce the number of mosquitoes outside by emptying standing water from containers, such as flowerpots and buckets.

-Sexually active adults who travel to areas with Zika transmission should use condoms or other barriers in order to avoid getting or passing Zika during sex. Couples planning pregnancy should speak with a health care provider about a safe time to wait before trying to get pregnant.

CDPH provides Zika-related pregnancy outcome data to the U.S. Zika Pregnancy Registry maintained by the CDC. The CDC is collecting this information to better understand the risks posed by Zika infection during pregnancy.

In order to protect privacy, CDPH is not releasing additional details or the locations of the mothers and children. Infants born with birth defects, including microcephaly, as a result of maternal Zika infection do not pose a public health risk to their communities

For more information about Zika, visit the CDPH Zika website: http://www.cdph.ca.gov/Health-Info/discond/Pages/Zika.aspx thing to do and does not violate any personnel policies of the District. I intend to fully report final investigation findings on all matters of public concern when the investigation is completed as the public has a right to know about investigation findings that impact major District opera-

In the meantime, the District is continuing its operations smoothly for our students. I am pleased to report that the Special Education position has been filled by a person bringing great experience and skills for our students. We expect to also fill the Human Resources Assistant Superintendent position at the Board's next regular meeting on August 10th with a very qualified candidate who can immediately step in to help continue the great work of that Department. Measure L is on schedule and school is starting up with no problems.

Most of those listed as being part of the Coalition who have actually reached out to our Board do not have children in the Hayward Unified School District, nonetheless we have listened to their input. We understand the importance of concluding the investigation as soon as possible but we cannot ignore serious allegations and fail to reach conclusions because a handful of individuals don't like having Dobbs on paid administrative leave for even a short period of time.

I am proud of the work of our Board. We have never missed a deadline required for action and have done our best to ensure that all actions taken are appropriate. Our responsibility is not simply to rubberstamp staff proposals, resolutions and budgets. We have a responsibility to carefully review agenda items, ask for information and sometimes ask tough questions, and when we are not satisfied with the information or answers, we have a duty to our students to hold off on taking action until we are confident that the actions being taken are in their best interests. An example of an item tabled numerous times was a proposal by the Superintendent in connection with three Area Director administrative positions at a cost to the District of over $500,000. The Board cut these positions; the majority felt the positions did nothing to help student achievement and were too costly. Notwithstanding the Board's clear direction on this topic, Dobbs kept bringing the same proposal to the Board over and over again. The seventh time the Superintendent brought the item forward, the job descriptions had finally been changed to address Board concerns and the Board took action.

All Board members have completed Governance Trainings conducted by the California School Boards Association, and CSBA is scheduled to participate in a special Board retreat August 6, 2016 to aid the Board in reviewing and taking action as needed to modify its Board governance policies.

The Board's governance policies and procedures, however, are a red herring. As you know, Dobbs' behavior with the Board has been controversial, especially the incident in which he verbally assaulted and came into physical contact with Board members in closed session last September. It would be irresponsible for the Board to short-circuit a complete investigation of the other allegations against Dobbs.

"(Ardenwood Historic Farm) really is a special place," Bletz explained, adding, "People say, 'Oh, I've driven by this place, lived here for years, but never knew it was here.' Once they see what an exciting, neat place Ardenwood is, they'll come back." The park's train, the Patterson House, Victorian Garden, and animal farm will be open as usual during the festival.

Cajun culture is largely found in the state of Louisiana, where French Canadian exiles known as Acadians settled in the area around 400 years ago. Their distinctive culture has evolved over the centuries and stands as one of the strongest and oldest cultures in America today. The musical genre Zydeco is a shining example of what the Cajun culture has music, dancing, and food.

Proceeds from the event will benefit Parks Express Transportation, a District outreach program for schools and groups that serve children from low-income families, seniors, and people with disabilities visiting the East Bay Regional Parks.

crowds, with dance lessons between sets for people who want to learn or brush up on their dance skills. Zydeco and Cajun music is unique and very spirited. "It's happy music. You listen to it for a while and think, 'I want to start dancing!" said Ira Bletz, EBRPD's Regional Interpretive and Recreational Services Manager. In previous years, the festival has hosted four bands, but this year they'll have only three to accommodate more time between performances for dancing. Attendees are encouraged to bring along blankets, chairs, sunblock and hats, and enjoy themselves all day long.

A number of food vendors will also be on hand in the Deer Park area of the farm, cooking up some delicious Cajun cuisine like fried catfish. Your standard variety barbecue, a summer necessity, will also be available.

Besides bringing the Cajun culture to the East Bay, the festival is intended to continue highlighting the hidden gem that is Ardenwood – one of the East Bay's longest lasting historic fixtures. In the mid 19th century, George Patterson established a home on the property, which was eventually transferred to the City of Fremont in 1978, which has kept it fully functional ever since.

produced, alongside its distinctive cuisine and unique sociolinguistic developments.

While Fremont might seem far from Louisiana, the East Bay's diversity lent itself to the festival's inception back in 1996. "It started as this idea of creating a community event at Ardenwood to bring in new visitors," Bletz said. A former EBParks manager at the time had family ties to the Cajun region and championed the idea of showcasing the culture at one of the park facilities. The focus has always been on the hallmarks of the Cajun culture – the

SUBMITTED BY GENEVA BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

Monday, August I

At 11:21 a.m. officers were dispatched to a report of an assault with a deadly weapon on the 39100 block of Guardino Drive. A male victim told officers he was attacked and had rocks thrown at him after he had attempted to break up a physical altercation between the male suspect and unknown female. As the victim approached the scene, a second female attempted to prevent him from interfering with the altercation. The female involved in the initial altercation could not be located by officers. We believe the suspects were likely trying to rob the victim of his cell phone. Suspect vehicle: 1990s black Nissan Maximum with tinted windows. Suspect 1:

black male adult, approximately 5'8"-5'9" and 150-160 lbs. with a thin build. He was wearing a white shirt with basketball shorts and had gold front teeth. Suspect 2: black female adult, approximately 5'6"-5'7" and 115-120 lbs. with a thin build. She had long hair and was wearing a black tank top with blue jeans.

Between 3:30 a.m. and 7:30 a.m., a white 2005 Chevrolet Silverado pickup truck (CA license #: 7W09246) was taken from the area of Leslie Street and Stevenson Boulevard. Case was documented by Community Service Officer (CSO) Escamilla.

Tuesday, August 2

At 12:14 p.m., employees at a business located at Paso Padre Parkway and Mowry Avenue called the police because a male had just came into the office and exposed himself to the staff and patients. The description of the suspect was given and multiple officers responded to the area as the suspect was last seen walking into the business next door. A short time later another caller stated they too have been the victim of an indecent exposure on the 2200 block of Mowry Avenue. Officers again swarmed the area, and the 53-year-old adult male suspect was caught and identified by victims/witnesses. The suspect was booked into Santa Rita Jail. Case was investigated by Ofc. Burns.

At 3:11 p.m., Ofc. Berrier and Field Training Officer (FTO) Taylor investigated a sexual battery that occurred in the area of Liberty Street and Walnut Avenue. The female victim was walking on Liberty Street when the suspect came up behind her and touched her inappropriately. The suspect had a short conversation with the victim before she turned around and began walking in the opposite direction. The suspect was last seen walking away crossing Walnut Avenue and was described as a black male adult in his 20s, wearing a white shirt and light yellow pants.

Union City Police Log

SUBMITTED BY Lt. Matias Pardo, UNION CITY PD

The following were reported incidents from July 18, 2016 through July 24, 2016:

- Residential burglaries at the 3800 block of Kimberly Court and the 5000 block of Sloan Way
- Auto burglaries at the 34000 block of Starling Drive and Skylark Drive, and at the 31000 block of Lily Street
- Commercial burglaries at the 32000 block of Alvarado Boulevard, 1700 block of Decoto Road, and 3300 block of Western Avenue

Thursday July 21

Officers responded to a report of an in-progress robbery on Santa Fe Way. The male victim was robbed at knifepoint by four Hispanic male juveniles. After being robbed, the victim chased the suspect who was in possession of the knife and tackled him. Unfortunately, the suspect was able to escape prior to police arrival. An area search was conducted and the suspects were not located.

Officers were dispatched to Daisy Court for a domestic violence/stabbing incident. During an argument between the male victim and his suspect boyfriend, the victim was stabbed in the leg and was cut with scissors. The suspect fled prior to police arrival. The victim sustained minor injuries and was treated at the scene by paramedics. Officers were unable to locate the suspect.

Union City PD officers and SWAT assisted Fremont PD on serving a search warrant and arrest warrant on a suspect who was wanted for attempted homicide and robbery. During the operation, the suspect came out of the residence, saw police, fled back into the residence and refused to exit. Police then attempted to contact the suspect and other occupants of the home, who initially refused to comply. As other tactics were being set up, the occupants, including the suspect, complied with police commands and exited the residence. The suspect was then arrested and transported to jail.

Union City PD officers were patrolling the area of Decoto Road when they passed a vehicle with its headlights off. The officers conducted a vehicle stop to tell the driver to turn on their headlights. Officers then contacted Alicia Briz, a transient of Union City. Briz told officers she had received the vehicle from a friend. Unfortunately this "friend" did not match the registered owner of the vehicle and further investigation determined the vehicle was reported stolen out of Hayward. Briz was arrested and transported to jail.

Officers responded to a domestic violence incident on Oakdale Street, where a husband and wife were involved in a verbal argument which escalated to the female half biting and scratching the male in numerous locations. The female was found to be the dominant aggressor and was arrested and transported to Fremont Jail.

Homicide on Eucalyptus Ct in Hayward

SUBMITTED BY SGT. RYAN CANTRELL, HAYWARD PD

On Tuesday, August 2 at 7:58 a.m., Hayward Police Department patrol officers responded to a family disturbance in the 27000 block of Eucalyptus Court. Prior to the officers' arrival, family members called 911 to report that one of the household's residents had been shot.

Upon arrival, officers contacted three of the residents and a neighbor who were all inside the home. All of the occupants exited without incident and during a protective sweep of the home, officers located the fourth resident Albert Williams, a 59 year old black male from Hayward. Williams suffered from multiple gunshot wounds and was pronounced deceased by the Hayward Fire Department a short time later. A suspect has been identified and arrested in this incident and we are confident at this point that there are no outstanding suspects. The suspect's name is not being released at this time as this is an on-going investigation. Further details will be released as they are developed. This is the fourth homicide in the City of Hayward in 2016.

Anyone with information regarding this investigation is encouraged to contact Hayward PD Detective Rob Purnell at (510) 293-7034.

Hayward resident featured in national campaign for Meals on Wheels America

SUBMITTED BY MARY GREGORY

Hayward resident Lola Silvestri, age 94, is featured in a National Ad Council Campaign for Meals on Wheels America, "America, Let's Do Lunch." The campaign aims to inspire new volunteers for local Meals on Wheels programs across the U.S. Television, radio, print, out-of-home and digital public service advertisements (PSAs) tell the stories of just a few of the 2.4 million seniors that the national Meals on Wheels network serves each year, stories that celebrate their lives and show how inspiring, wise and charming they really are.

Ms. Silvestri, who was born in San Francisco and has lived in Hayward for over 60 years, was chosen from among 250 seniors nominated by their local Meals on Wheels program to be featured in the campaign. Ms. Silvestri worked in public relations (which may explain why she is such a natural) and was married to her late husband, Larry Silvestri for 70 years. Ms. Silvestri has two children, seven grandchildren, fourteen great-grandchildren, four great-great-grand-children and many nieces and nephews. She has always been a strong and independent woman and only began taking Meal s on Wheels a few years ago at the age of 92 when she broke her leg badly in a fall.

Ms. Silvestri receives Meals on Wheels from the local program, Service Opportunity for Seniors (SOS)/Meals on Wheels. SOS Meals on Wheels produces and delivers 1,200 meals daily to seniors 60 years and older who are vulnerable to malnutrition and social isolation. To become involved, call (510) 582-1263 or visit www.sosmow.org

Dominican Sisters elect new leadership

SUBMITTED BY MARGARET McCarthy PHOTO BY S. ELIZABETH O'DONNELL

The Dominican Sisters of Mission San Jose elected Sister Cecilia Canales, OP as their new Congregational Prioress during the congregation's 25th General Chapter. Sister Cecilia will assume leadership in the fall, replacing Sister Gloria Marie Jones, OP who completes her tenure in the post. Convened every five years at their congregational center in Fremont, the chapter assembly elects new leaders and identifies mission priorities.

Sister Cecilia attended Dominical elementary and secondary schools in Los Angeles. An experienced educator and retreat director, she worked as the Vicar for Women Religious in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and on the faculty of St. John's Seminary. Sister Cecilia affirmed her commitment "to find new and creative ways to serve the young, the pour and the vulnerable, ever responding to the signs of the times."

After selecting the Congregational Prioress, the chapter assembly chose a new four-member Council to advance the Sisters' mission. U.S. sisters elected to the team include Sister Diane Bridenbecker, Sister Mary Liam Brock, and Sister Mary Suzanna Vasquez. Hermana Veronica Esparza Ramirez from Mexico was selected for leadership.

Eog India Day and Parade

SUBMITTED BY RITU MAHESHWARI

stival of Globe (FOG) continues the celebrations and tradition that has been part of Fremont culture for the past 24 years with the annual "India Day and Parade" August 13 and 14. Organized by the Federation of Indo Americans (FIA) of Northern California, thousands of people are expected to attend the event, which coincides with India's 69th Independence Day on August 15. This provides an opportunity for the community to celebrate the event and appreciate the value of freedom, both in their country of origin as well as the oldest democracy and land of dreams, the United States.

There will be cultural programs, free health fair, food fest, kid's corner, and grand parade with famous Bollywood celebrities Gulshan Grover, Mahima Chaudhary, Randeep Hooda, Raima Sen, Prosenjit and others. People can visit, eat, and shop at over 100 booths at the fair (mela), which will also showcase some of the best presentations in dance and music. Over 100 local dance groups will compete in multiple categories, such as Classical, Folk, Bollywood, Contemporary, Hip-Hop and others. Contestants will participate in age groups – 4 to 6 years old, 7 to 11, 12 to 17, and adults – and each category winner will be awarded a $500 prize.

The fair will also feature a surfeit of delicious cuisines from different regions of India. Over 20 food booths organized by the best-known restaurants and caterers in the Bay Area will serve North Indian and South Indian food and savory snacks.

The grand parade boasts over 50 floats representing a wide cross section of the community, ranging from Indian regional cultural communities to Bay Area organizations. Randeep Hooda is the star attraction and the parade's Grand Marshal. Hooda has acted in many blockbuster movies including "Sultan," "Do Lafzon Ki Kahani," "Sarbjit," "Laal Rang," and "Main Aur Charles." The parade has become a favorite ritual for families to spend a summer Sunday watching their favorite celebrities and enjoying the fair.

"Over the past 24 years, FOG has made great strides in including all parts of community and carrying out its mission to help communities better integrate," said FOG Founder and Convener Dr. Romesh Japra. He referenced this year's glamorous line up of movie stars, concluding, "Bollywood has proven to be a great way to teach Indian culture to youngsters."
