Cuisine, Culture & Commerce

The Castro Valley Eden Area Chamber of Commerce is proud to announce their upcoming event, "Taste of Castro Valley & Business Expo." The event, on Thursday, March 30 at the Castro Valley Moose Lodge, will bring together cuisine, culture and commerce. Attendees will have the opportunity to sample food from local restaurants, caterers, and home-based food businesses; interact with business owners and shop from retail vendors.

Participating restaurants include Don Jose's, Jenn's Cupcakes and Parties, Desserts First, Meadows at Redwood Canyon Golf Course and Event Center, The Mexican, Cakes by the POUND, Aroma Cuisine of India, Aurora Catering, El Rancho Supermercado, Karin Johnson Specialty Cakes and Pastries, Kona Ice of Castro Valley, Lucca's Italian Delicatessen, Milk & Cookie Bar, Posh Bagel and more!

"Castro Valley loves food and I'm very often asked about local dining options," says Caryl Mahar, Business Development & Marketing Director, CV/EA Chamber. "I feel there is a misconception about restaurants and food offerings in Castro Valley. There are numerous local restaurants and caterers that are on par with food establishments that you might find in neighboring cities, and often, at a fraction of the cost. This event is an opportunity for Castro Valley residents to sample food that they may not know is available right here in Castro Valley.

"In addition, the Taste of Castro Valley & Business Expo offers attendees the chance to shop local retailers and become familiar with other businesses and non-profits serving our area," continued Mahar. "We hope that the public will consider joining us at this event to support local, small businesses, as well as the mission of Castro Valley Chamber of Commerce to foster economic development in the unincorporated parts of Alameda County."

Pre-sale tickets for the event cost $8 (children under 10 are free) and are available in advance at www.edenareachamber.com. You may also purchase tickets at the door for $10. For more information, call (510) 537-5300 or e-mail info@castrovalleychamber.com.

Symphony Quintet
performs

Latin Rhythms

SUBMITTED BY NICK BURDICK

The Fremont Symphony Orchestra is proud to present "Latin Rhythms" in concert on Saturday, April 1 at Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Fremont.

The performance features the Fremont String Quartet and pianist Ellen Wassermann, joining forces to create an unusual chamber group called a piano quintet. Composers have written for piano quintets since the 1700s, but performances have been rare compared to the more common string quartet.

Offering intoxicating rhythms from South of the Border and Spain, the quintet will perform a variety of folk music and dances by Albéniz, Villa-Lobos, Granados, and more, as well as the audience favorite "Libertango" by Piazzola.

The Fremont Symphony Orchestra has brought world-class music to the Tri-City area since 1964. They perform several concerts throughout the year, including both symphonic and chamber music.

Tickets for Latin Rhythms are $55, $45, or $20 for students. Purchase online at www.fremontsymphony.org or by calling (510) 371-4859.

Let's Go Green Together Earth Day Celebration Offers Activities for All Ages

Washington Hospital Hosts Fun-filled Educational Event

Good health and a clean, healthy environment go hand in hand. That's why Washington Hospital invites the community to celebrate Earth Day by attending a free, fun-filled event that includes educational activities, informational exhibits and booths, games, and entertainment for the entire family.

The Let's Go Green Together Earth Day event will be held Saturday, April 22, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium, 2500 Mowry Ave. (Washington West), in Fremont. The event is open to the entire community. This annual Earth Day celebration is co-hosted by the City of Fremont.

“This is the seventh annual Earth Day event and every year it gets better and better,” said Paul Kelley, Washington Hospital’s director of biomedical engineering and green initiatives. “Washington Hospital is dedicated to practicing environmentally friendly health care. We are focused on continually finding ways to reduce our footprint while protecting the safety of our patients, so we are happy to partner with the city of Fremont on this fun, informative event. You will have the chance to talk with eco-experts and learn how to make environmentally friendly choices in your daily life."

The popular bicycle valet parking is back this year, making it easier for attendees to choose the cleaner, healthier alternative to driving. You can even get a basic bicycle tune-up at the event to ensure a smoother ride. If you work up an appetite, there will be food trucks available with a variety of dining options.

The day will include an array of educational activities where participants can learn about recycling and waste reduction, home energy savings, local sustainability programs, eco-friendly gardening and composting, healthy eating, and healthy produce.

There will be plenty of activities for kids, including a bike rodeo, Earth Day art, face-painting and games. Eco-entertainment will also be provided. "The eco-entertainer educates kids about the environment while entertaining them," Kelley explained. "He juggles and walks on stilts. Kids love it."

Free Disposal and Shredding

Area residents can also drop off old syringes and needles (in approved containers), unused and unwanted medications, and mercury thermometers. Have confidential papers you need to dispose of safely? Confidential document shredding will be provided.

“Syringes, needles and medications need to be disposed of in a way that is safe for both the environment and people,” Kelley added. “We want to make it easy for community members to dispose of these items. It’s part of our overall effort to reduce the impact health care has on the environment.”

Washington Hospital has been recognized for its environmental excellence for the past six years with the Greenhealth Partner for Change Award by Practice Greenhealth, a national leader in empowering health care providers to increase their efficiency and environmental stewardship while improving patient safety. The Hospital was recognized for its efforts to eliminate mercury, reduce waste and recycle.

"In the last five years, the Hospital has reduced our water consumption by 92 percent," Kelley said. "It went from about 30 million gallons annually to 2.4 million gallons in 2016. We did it through a combination of technology upgrades, landscaping modifications and education."

Washington Hospital's booths will have information about the green aspects of the Hospital's new construction projects as well as information about healthy eating with free food samples. You can also learn how to calculate your carbon footprint or play “eco-Jeopardy.”

“We have a robust environmental program at Washington Hospital, and we want to share it with the community as well as educate them on steps they can take to reduce their impact on the environment,” added Kelley, who also heads the Green Team at Washington Hospital. “The Green Team includes representatives from nearly every department. They are a big part of this Earth Day effort as well as many other eco-friendly activities throughout the year.”

Community members are also encouraged to bring any unused and unneeded eyeglasses they can donate at the event. The glasses will be given to the Lion's Club sight program, which helps to prevent blindness and restore eyesight around the world.

Cutting Edge Cancer Therapies

Goal of Local Oncology Doctor

(Note: This is the second of two articles profiling the co-medical directors of the newly established UCSF – Washington Cancer Center in Fremont. A profile on Dr. Bogdan Eftimie was published in the Tri-City Voice on March 14, 2017.)

Oncologist Dr. David Lee has a vision for the future of cancer care in southern Alameda County.

He sees the time, not long off, when local cancer patients can participate in cutting-edge clinical trials and cancer therapies while staying at home, close to family and friends who can support them.

Dr. Lee and Dr. Bodgan Eftimie are co-medical directors of the UCSF – Washington Cancer Center, located on the Washington Hospital campus in Fremont. The Cancer Center opened in early January.

Both are UCSF physicians, board certified in hematology and oncology, who have been seeing patients in the Tri-City Area for several years.

When recruited by UCSF Health and Washington Hospital to head the newly established joint cancer program, both jumped at the chance because of the unique opportunity the relationship with UCSF Health provides in treating patients, said Dr. Lee.

“An advantage of the close relationship with UCSF Health is that patients of the UCSF – Washington Cancer Center will have access to all the latest technologies and treatment protocols of a world-class academic hospital right here in our own community,” Dr. Lee explained.

Oncologist and hematologist, David Lee, MD, is co-medical director of the UCSF – Washington Cancer Center. Through the affiliation between the two hospitals, UCSF – Washington Cancer Center patients have access to academic-level cancer care without having to leave their community.

“Yes, you can travel to other top-rated academic medical centers around the country, but the disruption of leaving home is always difficult. It is much better to be in your own community where you have a support system and are not a stranger in a new location.”

UCSF is at the forefront of developing new technologies for treating cancer, Dr. Lee added. “When a patient’s tumor is biopsied, we will have access to the best equipment, the newest technologies, and the very best scientific minds available to diagnose and develop treatment strategies, including new and innovative treatments,” he said.

Dr. Lee added that current cutting-edge innovations range from targeting genes that inhibit the immune system from fighting cancer, to turning on or off the genes that cause the cancer to grow.

“And, there are many innovative treatments that will be available to us in the future. We just don’t know what they are now because they have yet to be developed,” Dr. Lee said.

Dr. Lee is a 1996 graduate of the University of California, Berkeley where he studied molecular and cell biology. He attended medical school in New York and returned to California for his residency at the UCLA Medical Center. He remained at UCLA Medical Center for a three-year hematology/oncology fellowship.

In 2008, he began his oncology/hematology practice in the southern Alameda County area.

Dr. Lee said local access to UCSF Health clinical trials will not be available for another 6 to 12 months. However, qualified cancer center patients currently can participate in clinical trials at the UCSF San Francisco campus.

In the meantime, Dr. Lee explained, he and Dr. Eftimie are augmenting and expanding other treatment technologies at the UCSF – Washington Cancer Center.

Cancer treatment at Washington Hospital has always been outstanding, Dr. Lee said, “but through our affiliation with UCSF Health we now can bring the latest equipment and other treatment technologies to the benefit of our patients in the community.”

The UCSF – Washington Cancer Center is located at 2500 Mowry Ave., suite 227, in Fremont. The center can be reached by calling (510) 248-1600.

Need Simple Solutions for Weight Management?

Free April 26 Seminar Offers Advice for Attaining and Maintaining a Healthy Weight

Being overweight or obese can have a significant impact on your overall health. Some of the serious health conditions associated with being overweight or obese can include diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, gallstones, breathing problems and certain cancers.

According to the National Institutes of Health (NIH), more than two-thirds (68.8 percent) of American adults are considered overweight or obese. More than one-third (35.7 percent) of adults in America are considered to be obese.

“If you are overweight or obese, you are not alone,” says Stacey Barrie, MD, FACOG, a board-certified specialist in obstetrics and gynecology with Washington Township Medical Foundation. “On a standard day in my office, conducting about 10 well-woman exams, almost every patient has concerns about her weight, whether it’s losing the extra ‘baby fat’ she gained while pregnant or simply maintaining a healthy weight to avoid developing health problems. Counseling patients about weight management has become an important part of my medical practice over the years.”

To help both men and women in the community benefit from Dr. Barrie’s expertise in weight management, Washington Hospital is offering a free Health & Wellness seminar on Wednesday, April 26, from 1 to 3 p.m. The seminar will be held in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium located in the Washington West Building at 2500 Mowry Ave. in Fremont. At the seminar, Dr. Barrie will offer tips for attaining and sustaining a healthy weight.

“The primary focus of my presentation will be to offer advice on good nutrition and food accountability,” Dr. Barrie explains. “We need to be accountable for what food we put in our mouths and when – perhaps by keeping a food diary. Being mindful about our eating is the key to achieving and maintaining a healthy weight. I also will touch on medications and surgical procedures available for helping with weight loss, but those medical interventions are not the main emphasis of the seminar.”

Dr. Barrie believes that evaluating the types of food people eat is a major factor in their ability to manage their weight.

“I recommend that people eat ‘real food’ – lots of fresh vegetables and a reasonable amount of lean proteins – and to avoid processed foods, saturated fats and added sugars,” she says. “I also advise people to pay attention to proper portion sizes. Everybody should have a kitchen scale to learn what the ideal 3-ounce portion size of a chicken breast looks like, for example. I will go over ideal portion sizes and calorie intake for both weight loss and weight maintenance. I hope to help people learn how to make small changes that will make a big difference over time, acknowledging that you can’t expect to lose a lot of weight quickly and manage to keep it off.”

In discussing the advantages of “mindful eating,” Dr. Barrie counsels people to “unplug” from their electronic devices while eating and really pay attention to their meals and conversations with other people.

“It’s important not to be distracted by electronics such as television and cellphones while you sit there and stuff yourself,” she notes. “Children, especially, are really prone to electronic distractions, and parents need to model good eating behaviors for them. We have a firm policy with our two kids to sit down to dinner together and focus on the food and conversation with no TV on and no cellphones. I am the only one who gets a ‘pass’ on the cellphone rule when I have to be on call for emergencies or deliveries, but even then I do not keep the phone at the dinner table.”

Dr. Barrie also will discuss exercise and physical movement as a component of a healthy lifestyle and weight management.

“Exercise is important, but the bigger part of the equation is nutrition,” she stresses. “We really need to re-think our relationship with food, and that means paying attention to how much pie goes into your ‘pie-hole’ while you’re not really being mindful about your eating patterns.”

One of the simplest ways to determine whether you are overweight is to calculate your body mass index, also known as

BMI. The BMI is based on your weight and height. Various calculators for BMI can be found on the internet, including a simple calculator available from the NIH.

In general, people who are considered a “normal” weight have a BMI between 18.5 and 25. People who are considered overweight would have a BMI between 25 and 30, while people with a BMI over 30 would be considered obese.

To calculate your own BMI using the NIH calculator, visit https://www.nhlbi.nih.gov/health/educational/lose_wt/BMI/bmi-calculator.htm

Ohlone College's 50-Year History of Alumni of the Year Recipients

Every year Ohlone College chooses an Alumni of the Year; an honor is given to those who exemplify Ohlone College's spirit through accomplishments and impact on our community. To celebrate Ohlone College's 50th Anniversary in 2017, the college is hosting an Alumni of the Year Reception, where you will meet many of the outstanding individuals who have helped shape our community. The reception will take place April 19, 2017, from 2:00-3:30 pm at the Ohlone College Fremont campus: Building 19.

Hear stories like Gloria Villasanu Fuerniss', who attended Ohlone College with its very first class in 1967. Classes were held at the temporary Serra campus on Washington Blvd. then, as the Fremont campus had not yet been built.

Gloria graduated from Ohlone in 1969 and went to work at Fremont Bank. She worked her way up from being a secretary all the way to a V.P. position. Gloria remained active at Ohlone during her banking career and remains a stalwart advocate for community college education, continuing to share her expertise to improve the quality of life in her community.

You'll also meet Doug Prazak, who graduated Ohlone College in 1972 with a liberal arts degree. In 1974 Doug was hired by Ohlone as a media technician and eventually he became the Director of Television Services.

Doug says that seeing his former students find their careers in the television broadcast industry is his proudest accomplishment. Some moved into the motion picture industry, including an editor at Pixar. Many directors, camera operators, producers, editors and on-air talent working at network stations around the country had their start at Ohlone.

Other Alumni of the Year awardees in attendance will include Bill Harrison, former Fremont mayor; Brad Mangin, a professional sports photographer; Gary Plummer, who played in the San Francisco 49ers; and many more. Don't miss this chance to meet our community leaders and learn what inspired them to success.

You may RSVP for this free event by contacting foundation@ohlone.edu or by calling 510.659.6020. The deadline for registering is April 7, 2017.

Swalwell issues statement following Trump-Russia hearing

SUBMITTED BY JOSH RICHMAN

Rep. Eric Swalwell (CA-15), the Ranking Member of the CIA Subcommittee of the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, issued the following statement after the March 20, 2017 full-committee hearing on ties between the Trump team and Russia:

"The facts that emerged at today's hearing—as well as the facts on which our witnesses said they could not comment—speak volumes about the ties between President Trump's team and Russia. As we continue connecting the dots, this looks more and more like a convergence, not a coincidence.

"We now know for sure that the FBI is investigating these ties, and we know that neither the FBI nor the National Security Agency have seen a shred of evidence to support President Trump's bogus wiretap claim—a smoke bomb intended only to divert attention from mounting evidence of his coziness with our foreign adversary, Russia. And we know that having the President's tax returns would go a long way toward filling in the holes about his personal and business ties to Russia.

"Now more than ever, it's clear that we must have an independent, bipartisan commission to investigate this situation. Only such a commission can rise above the perception of partisan bias and give America the declassified, public, full answers it deserves. It's time for more House Republicans to join Rep. Walter Jones to put country above party and make this commission a reality."

Family-friendly event celebrates SCOTTISH HERITAGE

National Tartan Day (officially April 6 each year) recognizes the contributions of Scottish-Americans throughout the U.S.'s history. The EBSA fers a family-friendly cultural event featuring Scottish and Celtic music, dancing, traditional Scottish athletics, living history, family clans, vendors, beer garden with suds from local brewery Das Brew, and traditional Scottish food.

Learn about Scottish history and culture with Living History as re-enactors use their love of the past to make history come alive. Visit with Scotland's 16th century Queen – Mary, Queen of Scots, and her Court, watch Vikings demonstrate their weapons, or learn how wool was dyed and spun into fabric.

Sports lovers can watch a shinty game (a type of field hockey) and see a demonstration of traditional Scottish Heavy Athletics, while kids are sure to enjoy the Children's Glen with free activities such as arts, crafts, storytelling, and games. Shoppers can search for the perfect Scottish/Celtic-themed goods and clothes from local artists and craftsman, then break for fish and chips, bangers, or meat pies along with sweets and desserts.

Music includes performances by Golden Bough, Peninsula Scottish Fiddlers, Michael Mullen & His Trio of One, MacIntosh Pipe Band, and Bay Area local and Scottish native Peter Daldry.

Regular Ardenwood Farm park activities are included in admission: Tour the historic Patterson House and grounds, ride the train, and visit with the farm animals and see the newest additions.

No pets are allowed (this is a working farm); service animals only. The event is wheelchair accessible. For more information, visit <http://eastbayscots.org/> or <https://www.facebook.com/events/1862971377308481/>.

Black & White Ball

BY VICTOR CARVELLAS

Drivers For Survivors (DFS) founder Sherry Higgs invites the public to attend DFS's Third Annual Spring Gala Black and White Ball on April 8 at Castlewood Country Club in Pleasanton. This year's flagship fundraiser features live entertainment, gourmet dining, cocktails and dancing.

Drivers For Survivors (DFS) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization providing free transportation service and supportive companionship for ambulatory cancer patients in Fremont, Newark and Union City. Rides and support that DFS provides alleviates stress cancer patients often face, helping them to focus instead on their treatment and getting better.

Providing over 10,000 rides since its founding in December 2012, DFS continues to thrive, receiving major support from donations and annual fundraisers, such as a Pancake Breakfast and the Spring Gala. Ticket sales for the Gala have been brisk so don't delay your advance purchase. Besides ticket sales, live and silent auctions through the evening will support this year's fundraising goal of $50,000.

Newark Saxophone Quartet provides the evening's music and Castro Valley Performing Arts will be on hand to dazzle guests with dance. Also, be on the lookout for a special surprise guest!

DFS has made a difference for hundreds, but it has also "given all of us at DFS a very special purpose," says Higgs. "Whenever you contribute to others, you get it back ten-fold. We've made so many soul connections."

Sponsors include: East Bay Community Foundation, Renshaw Foundation, Summer-hill Housing Group, Republic Services, Washington Hospital Healthcare System, Steve and Amy Cho, DaVita Healthcare Partners, Kaiser Permanente, Elks Fremont Lodge 2121, Dutra Enterprises, Sutter Health/Palo Alto Medical Foundation, Sisters of the Holy Family, and Alameda County Supervisor Richard Valle.

'Beyond the Sea' gala

SUBMITTED BY ANTHONY GAO

It all started with three boxes of sand in the unlikelyst of places.

Looking for vases to decorate tabletops at last year's performing arts fundraising gala, student decorating committee chair Anita Carraher stumbled onto three heavy boxes in the girls' dressing room adjacent to the theatre at Mission San Jose High School. Someone had dumped sand that had been inside the vases into the boxes. Taking inspiration from the sand-laden boxes and Bobby Darin's 1959 hit song, Carraher began plotting the theme "Beyond the Sea" even before the last year's festivities ended.

On Friday, May 12, 2017 the smooth sands and sounds of the California Coast will transform the grand ballroom of Silicon Valley Marriott Hotel as Mission San Jose High School's annual Performing Arts Gala gets under way. The event will feature the MSJHS Jazz Band, orchestra, concert bands, color guard, concert choirs, guest vocalists, and theatrical performances. Festivities will also celebrate award-winning performing arts groups of one of California's top public high schools. Silent auction and raffle prizes will be offered throughout the night as guests dine on a three-course meal and dance to smooth tunes by the MSJHS Jazz Band.

Presented by MSJHS Parents of Universal Performers Foundation (PUP), a non-profit organization dedicated to creating, fostering, and encouraging the performing arts at Mission High School, this annual fundraiser supplements the school's budget with scholarships, clinicians, coaches, theatrical equipment, instruments, and uniforms. PUP believes the arts are an essential part of education and an important outlet for creativity, essential for innovation.

Along with Silicon Valley Marriott, many local companies and individuals support this annual event with donated goods and services. All proceeds go to Mission High's performing arts departments.

Measure E funds $13.3 million science building

SUBMITTED BY
ROBIN MICHEL

In Leonardo da Vinci's notebooks, the great thinker, scientist, inventor and artist outlined his principles for the development of a complete mind: "Study the science of art. Study the art of science. Develop your senses—especially learn how to see. Realize that everything connects to everything else."

Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) educators are committed to helping students learn how to see by fostering curiosity and critical thinking in their students. Observation and investigation, the art of science, is taught in the classroom and encouraged in many ways. These include a district-wide science fair, Project Lead the Way at the junior high schools, American High School's Engineering/Project Lead the Way program, Kennedy High School's Green Building Smart Academy, and through after-school and lunch student activities at individual schools, such as Irvington High School's Girls-in-STEM Club, Robotics Clubs at Washington and Mission San Jose High Schools, Kennedy High School's Rocket Club and other science related clubs.

Thanks to the generous support of Fremont voters and the 2014 passage of Measure E, the $650 million school facilities bond, many current and future young scientists, artists and inventors will benefit from new classrooms and science laboratories. American High School has eight general classrooms and ten science laboratories in its new classroom building design. Now, Washington High School is scheduled to receive a new $13.3 million two-story building containing six general classrooms and six science laboratories.

"The Board of Education," says FUSD Superintendent Dr. James Morris, "is making a deep investment in science education by building new state-of-the-art science laboratories while addressing the critical need for new classrooms."

Washington High has a 4% enrollment growth over last year and is expected to have an annual increase of 2.3% over the next seven years. To address this year's shortage, in December 2016, the Board approved leasing three temporary classrooms and a toilet building. However, wanting more than a band-aid solution, the Board asked staff to explore various permanent classroom building options, and to include science laboratories, for them to consider at a future meeting.

"Six different options and estimated costs were presented to the Board on January 25th," said John Chwastyk, Director of Facilities and Construction. "The Washington High School community—parents, teachers, students—all voiced a preference for Option 1B, the one the Board selected." Washington High Principal Bob Moran and his staff, students and families are deeply appreciative of the Board's decision to approve the project. "This building will address many needs of the science department," he said.

Director of Secondary Instruction James Maxwell, who taught high school chemistry for thirteen years, agrees.

"The rooms/science labs at Washington High School are very antiquated, the oldest in the district, and not appropriate for Next Generation Science Standards, or any science instruction. Fremont is part of Silicon Valley and our students deserve to have state-of-the-art science classrooms...many of them will go into STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) careers."

Resolution to Transition to District-based Elections

At the Fremont City Council meeting on Tuesday, March 21, 2017, the Council approved a resolution to transition from an at-large to a district-based election system. The City Council made the decision to take this action after receipt of a letter on February 15, 2017 from attorney Kevin I. Shenkman. The letter states Fremont's at-large elections violate the California Voting Rights Act of 2001 (CVRA) and alleges that there is evidence of racially polarized voting. Under the CVRA, minimal evidence of racially polarized voting can result in a court ordering a change from at-large voting to district-based voting, even if there is no evidence of an electoral injury.

In a district-based election system, the City is physically divided into separate districts, and a candidate must live in the district he or she intends to represent. However, the Mayor's seat may still continue to be elected at-large.

Now that this resolution is adopted, the City has 90 days to assess and implement a course of action determining district composition and boundaries and a proposed sequence of elections.

The number and make-up of the voting districts and sequence of elections will be decided upon by City Council through a minimum of five public hearings as required by California Elections Code. The Fremont community is invited to attend and weigh in on the composition of the districts during the first two public hearings and to provide input on the draft district maps at the third and fourth hearings, as well as to provide input on the proposed sequence of elections. The City Council will consider adoption of an ordinance defining the districts and phasing of the district based-system at the fifth public hearing.

All public hearings will be held during the regular Fremont City Council meetings at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at 3300 Capitol Avenue, on the following dates:

- 1st Public Hearing: April 4, 2017 – Composition of Districts
- 2nd Public Hearing: April 18, 2017 – Composition of Districts
- 3rd Public Hearing: May 2, 2017 – Draft Maps
- 4th Public Hearing: May 16, 2017 – Draft Maps
- 5th Public Hearing: June 6, 2017 – Approval or Denial of Ordinance Establishing District Elections

Community members are also invited to provide input, comments, and feedback by sending an email to districtelections@fremont.gov. Comments received will be shared with the Fremont City Council as part of the public feedback at the hearings.

Additional information and regular updates on the district-based election process can be found at www.fremont.gov/districtelections.

Join Age-Friendly Community Dialogue

The City of Fremont has joined the World Health Organization's Global Network of Age-Friendly Cities, an effort that is gaining momentum world-wide. The Age-Friendly network encourages cities to prepare for the dramatic shift in the aging population by paying attention to the environmental, economic, and social factors that influence the health and well-being of older adults. The model is built on assessing the city's baseline status in relevant areas and developing an action plan that includes ideas from older adults.

AARP coordinates the effort in the United States and incorporates the WHO's Age-Friendly concepts into its Livable Communities Index, which states that an Age-Friendly city is a livable city for all residents. The Human Services Department has recently completed 30 Age-Friendly focus groups and compiled survey data from over 850 residents to listen about improvements to outdoor spaces, volunteering and learning opportunities, health and wellness activities, transportation and dementia-specific services among other topics.

You are invited to an Age-Friendly Community meeting to learn what our older adults have told us so far and to contribute to this important dialogue.

Age-Friendly Community Dialogue:

Thursday, Apr 13

11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Los Cerritos Community Center

3377 Alder Ave. in Fremont

Please join us in making Fremont an Age-Friendly City. The meeting is open and free of charge. Please contact Karen Grimsich at KGrimsich@fremont.gov for more information.

Fremont Happiest Place to Live in 2017

"Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" is a phrase that we know all too well. For years, researchers have been studying the science of happiness and found that a positive mental state, healthy physique, strong social connections, job satisfaction, and financial well-being are all key factors in contributing to our overall happiness.

WalletHub recently conducted a study comparing 150 of the largest U.S. cities based on 30 key indicators of happiness, ranging from depression rate to income-growth rate to average leisure time spent per day. Turns out, Fremont is home to the happiest people in America in 2017! With a prosperous economy, ample employment opportunities, a great school system, countless trails and parks, a booming real estate market, and wonderful community events, it's easy to see why Fremont came out on top.

Seven other California cities also made the top 10 including San Jose, Oakland, San Francisco, Huntington Beach, San Diego, Irvine, and Santa Rosa. The full study can be found at <https://wallethub.com/edu/happiest-places-to-live/32619> and USA Today also covered it at <http://www.usatoday.com/story/news/nation-now/2017/03/15/happiest-places-live-report-wallethub/99201726>.

Fix Your Home with Affordable Repair Programs

Did you know that there are affordable and no-cost options to help you repair your home and maintain your property if you qualify?

The Housing Rehabilitation Program's no-cost grants and loans cover home repairs such as emergency plumbing, electrical, heating, roof, railings, grab bars, toilets, water heaters, doors, locks, and more. This program is funded by the City of Fremont using Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds. The County of Alameda and Habitat for Humanity East Bay Silicon Valley are under contract to administer the program and provide technical assistance to low income owner occupants. Eligible properties include single family residences, manufactured homes, condominiums, and townhomes located within the city of Fremont.

For more information on the Housing Rehabilitation Program, visit www.achhd.org/documents/FYH_FREMONT.pdf.

The City works in partnership with Habitat for Humanity East Bay/Silicon Valley on the Manufactured Home Repair Program. To be eligible, you must own and occupy a manufactured home in the city of Fremont, Hayward, Milpitas, or San Jose, have your home registered with the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD), and have limited assets and a combined total gross income below 80 percent of the Area Median Income.

For additional information on loan terms and services, visit www.habitatbsv.org/What-We-Build/Home-Repair.

Fremont Maintenance Crews Battle Winter Storms

The storms that the City of Fremont community has endured this winter are some of the worst that the Bay Area has seen in nearly 20 years. It's stretched Fremont's City maintenance crews as they've been working almost exclusively on storm clean-up activities. Despite all this, the City's Public Works team has risen to the challenge, working to clear Fremont's well-traveled roadways and ensure that the community remains safe throughout storm season. In some instances, crews have had all hands on deck, working around the clock to clean up and remove debris, repair damages, and monitor mudslides, road closures, and flooding.

The Fremont Police Department and Fremont Fire Department have also served as first responders to the scene of every storm-related incident and have ensured the public's safety. In addition to Fremont's frontline maintenance crews, the City has also brought in contractors to assist with the tremendous amount of work. On February 20, there were approximately 18 to 20 locations that required attention from Public Works crews, most notably the rock and mudslides along seven segments of Morrison Canyon Road. Luckily, the road was closed prior to the severe storm in anticipation of these impacts, and has stayed closed as City staff and contractors worked to remove the obstructions. Morrison Canyon will remain closed through the rainy season.

Public Works crews have also been responding to dozens of work orders. In a week's time, approximately 12,500 lbs. of asphalt were used to fill potholes throughout Fremont. During this seemingly endless storm season, Fremont has been committed to keeping the community informed via social media and email updates. To receive these alerts, connect with the City of Fremont at www.Fremont.gov/SocialMedia.

Shape Our Fremont

Where Fremont residents can learn about shaping proposed housing developments

Projects to Watch

Not all development projects involve housing, and some may not happen for a long time. Here are three long-term projects that residents should be watching.

Irvington BART Station

On March 21, the Fremont City Council approved spending $1.9 million of Alameda County Measure BB funding to prepare an updated site and station study and environmental impact report for the proposed Irvington BART station near the intersection of Washington Boulevard and Osgood Road. This study and report may take up to two years, and the Council will have to approve any specific construction plans for a station.

The feasibility of placing the Irvington BART station so close to the Warm Springs BART station has been questioned by many people. BART is not providing any funding, so most of the money for the construction of the station will have to come from Measure BB.

So why does the City want to build the station? It appears one reason for moving ahead with the project is to have a Transit Oriented Development (TOD) Area of high-density apartments and condominiums that helps Fremont meet California's mandate to provide affordable housing for all income levels. The fact that Osgood and Washington are heavily traveled traffic corridors, and that the closest schools, goods, and services for future residents of the area are too far to reach by walking, makes some people wonder if this project is really a good idea.

In response to a question about whether we should be building the housing first, the station second, one answer was that residents could be bussed from the Osgood corridor to the other two BART stations in the interim. Although that seemed to satisfy some City Councilmembers, others remained skeptical. This is definitely a project to watch in the future.

East-West Connector

A long, long time ago, there was a plan to build a freeway between I-680 in Fremont to I-580 in Hayward. The route would have roughly followed a north-south path parallel to Mission Boulevard, and there was to be an east-west connector between I-880 and Mission Boulevard parallel to Decoto Road. Both the freeway and the connector plans died, and most of the land was either sold or reverted to other owners—most of the land, that is, but not all.

A swath of empty land east of Paseo Padre Parkway in Fremont and south of Decoto Road in Union City is currently under consideration for the route of a multi-lane bypass to carry traffic from Mission Boulevard and Union City's BART Station District to the Dumbarton Bridge approach at I-880. Decoto Road in Fremont would be widened, as would a portion of Paseo Padre.

The project, known as the East-West Connector (EWC), was estimated to cost about $230 million in 2013 and would be funded by a combination of local, county, regional, and state funds with possibly some help from Alameda County Measure BB. It would include a six-lane bridge across Alameda Creek between Decoto Road and Isherwood Way, as well as multi-lane underpasses under Niles Boulevard, the BART tracks, and the Union Pacific tracks along the Fremont-Union City border.

Union City likes the idea, but many Fremont residents do not. The biggest objection is that it is an expensive project whose primary purpose is to divert Union City's traffic onto Fremont's streets. It also encourages Dumbarton Bridge commuters to cut straight through Fremont to Niles and Niles Canyon rather than use I-880/I-580 to reach Livermore, Tracy, and beyond. Other problems include a significant increase in traffic noise and exhaust fumes at homes along the route, including one potential school site.

Mission Clay Products

And finally, the Fremont City Council recently denied an appeal regarding bonding for the cleanup of the former Mission Clay Products site at 2225 Niles Canyon Road in Niles Canyon. The site, known to generations of Fremont residents as the location of the "Secret Sidewalk," has been abandoned for many years, and the landmark brick chimney has been torn down.

The main point of interest with this project is that the owners want to finish the cleanup because they plan to sell the property. No development plan was mentioned, but the most profitable would likely be more housing. The property is currently designated as Open Space on the Fremont General Plan, so any future housing development would require a General Plan Amendment. The site is also under the Niles Canyon Scenic Corridor Protection Plan, so any development of any kind would require approval by several other agencies and authorities.

California State University board votes to raise tuition

ASSOCIATED PRESS

California State University's governing board voted March 22 to approve the first tuition increase in six years at its 23 campuses.

The board of trustees of the nation's largest public university system voted 11-8 to boost annual tuition by $270 starting in the 2017-18 school year. Tuition had been $5,472 a year.

Chancellor Timothy White had urged the trustees to approve the increase, saying the system needs to hire more faculty members and add more classes to accommodate growing enrollment and insufficient state funding. "I don't bring this forward with an ounce of joy. I bring it out of necessity," White told the board, which held its meeting at his office in Long Beach.

Several students spoke out against the increase before the vote, saying that $270 might not seem like a lot but it was to students struggling to study as they work full time and also pay for housing, food and books.

The university system says nearly 63 percent of undergraduate students have their tuition fully covered by financial aid and would not be affected by the increase.

Sudoku:

Fill in the missing numbers (1 – 9 inclusive) so each row, column and 3x3 box contains all digits.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: MARCH 29 - APRIL 4

For All Signs: Jupiter is squaring Pluto this week. Jupiter is always aiming toward higher ground and greater recognition. Pluto represents the Powers That Be. Those who have been channeling energy into a project that has positive value for many may be receiving encouragement and applause now. Those who are aiming to make their egos shinier will find others fighting your every step. Narcissists beware.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): The love goddess, Venus, is in your sign and retrograding out of it on April 2. You may experience a relationship event that feels like the finale, the “last straw”. Whoops! Time to back away and review what you really need here. If you have made a recent purchase, it may suddenly look not so desirable. I hope you have the receipt.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You may have been dallying with a person from the past and discover on April 1 that this is not going to “work”. A quick getaway is called for, but avoid hurting feelings if you can. It’s never a good idea to burn bridges behind you.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): There is a shift of your attention to matters of your personal history that may go back quite a long time. You will be looking inside yourself for meditative peace, answers to serious questions, and encouragement from your source. Journaling, hypnosis, meditation or counseling are favored activities now.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Your mind and heart are clearly in sync this week. You are likely at peace with yourself. There is a solid and practical solution at hand and you do not have to quarrel with yourself over it. Activities involving your children and/or other creative products of your being are favored.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): This is a time in which your exuberance and enthusiasm may carry you farther than you really intended to go. You will certainly have more energy to do whatever you choose, but take care that you don't promise way more than you can deliver. Your warm and generous heart could get you in trouble.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): Mercury, your avatar planet, is crossing into your solar ninth house. Your attention will be shifting to mental and philosophical expansion. You may be researching a new interest, gazing over travel brochures for your next adventure, or pursuing an interest in philosophy or religion. You are experiencing a stronger sense of who you are and who you want to be.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Your open-hearted generosity may lead you to bite off more than you can chew this week. There may be more people at the table than you have plates to serve. Do not worry about what people will think. They are aware you’ve almost exceeded your limit of tasks to handle. It will all work out.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): You may very well be involved in an ambitious project. You must take care with those who could be thought of as 'authorities'. If you press as hard as you want to, you likely will encounter resistance from these folks. If your plan is good for many of people, and not at the expense of others, you could make a coup.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You probably have a big idea that has caught your enthusiasm. Be aware that you will be prone to pour too much money or other resources into it. Evaluate carefully. Avoid using your credit cards to finance it. Don't let others seduce you into spending what you do not have.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): You may feel compelled to raise your flag and promote your plans now. Do some self-searching ahead of time to find your own motive. If it is for the good of all, you will gain support from others. However, if you are really after a prize that will simply allow you to preen, let go of it. Your product or idea is not yet ready for exposure.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): This is an excellent time to pursue any activity that requires your mental concentration. The Waterbearers are not always able to sit still enough to learn theoretical information, but right now there is a window open for it. Contracts and written communications, along with short distance travel, have go signals.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): Venus returns to your sign but it is retrograde right now. You are subject to fall in love with someone or something that is better left untouched. Someone from your past may be returning to check-in. Smile and wave, but do not invest yourself in this relationship again. Stay awake. Avoid repeating previous relationship patterns.

Laughter at work

BY ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

Have you ever felt like an April Fool at work? You’re not alone. I once had an interview that made me feel like fool. I had applied to a job that was a great fit for me and was thrilled when I was invited for an interview. I was new to the workforce at the time so each interview I got was a big deal for me. When the day came, I was as well prepared as I could be—I had my best interview outfit cleaned and pressed, I had extra copies of my resume, and I had rehearsed some interview questions in my head. I arrived early for the interview and was both excited and nervous as I waited to be grilled. Finally, I was ushered into a windowless, tiny room that was empty except for a desk and two chairs. The interviewer was on the phone when I entered but she seemed warm and friendly, despite the room looking like a place for a police interrogation. She motioned me to sit in front of her as she continued her conversation.

Since she was talking on the phone right in front of me, I couldn’t help but overhear her end of the conversation. This is where the interview, which had not officially started, began to get bizarre. Without appearing to care that I was right in front of her, the interviewer discussed the previous candidate’s shortcomings. I shifted in my seat, not sure what I should do in the presence of this confidential conversation. “This is really weird,” I thought. “What is the right thing to do in this situation?” There didn’t appear to be anything I could do except sit quietly in the chair and pretend I wasn’t listening. I did, however, start scanning the room to see if there was a hidden camera in the room. Some of you may remember a popular TV show called “Candid Camera” which featured pranks and setups of unsuspecting folks caught on hidden cameras. As each prank unfolded, the facial expressions and reactions of the innocent “victims” were recorded and later played for a national audience. The prank would eventually be revealed when the producer of the show appeared on the scene with the signature line “Smile! You’re on Candid Camera!” I was starting to wonder if I was a victim of a Candid Camera setup.

As I surreptitiously looked for hidden cameras, the situation became even stranger. The interviewer’s conversation shifted and she proceeded to relate each interview question that she had asked the previous candidate. She even detailed what kind of answers she had been expecting and didn’t get. I have to say that my heart momentarily leaped during this part of the conversation. I felt like I had hit the jackpot—the lady was revealing all the questions she was about to ask me, as well as the answers. At first, I felt like the luckiest person in the world but then it seemed too good to be true; and you know what they say about things that are too good to be true. Again, I got the sneaking suspicion that I was on Candid Camera.

When the lady finally finished her conversation, I was fully expecting her to say “Smile! You’re on Candid Camera!” But that didn’t happen. If you can believe it, the interview took an even more bizarre turn. The lady looked briefly at my resume, confirmed the job that I was interviewing for, and without missing a beat, asked me if I minded interviewing for an entirely different job instead. I was flabbergasted! It was like I had been all ready to apply for a job working with elderly people and now she was asking me to interview for a job working with preschool children. I was entirely unprepared for this first interview question. What does one do in such a situation? I knew I didn’t want to work with young children but at the same time, it felt like the interviewer was asking a favor of me. I was young and inexperienced so I went with the easiest course of action and said I’d be fine interviewing for a different job than the one I had originally applied for. This wasn’t exactly truthful, but I was trying my best under these strange circumstances.

She proceeded to ask me the questions that she had discussed in her phone call just a minute ago. Since she had just divulged the answers she wanted, I had no problem acing the interview (even though I was distracted with the thought that the Candid Camera producer might suddenly enter the room). In a way, it was the easiest interview I’d ever experienced.

Strange as the interview was, it wasn’t a Candid Camera setup. The interviewer ended on a normal note, telling me she’d be in touch. A few weeks later, I was offered the job that I didn’t originally apply for and didn’t really want. I ended up declining the job since it wasn’t a job I felt qualified for. To this day, I don’t know what to make of that interview. It was the most memorable and strangest interview I have ever been on.

I wanted to devote this April column to humor in the workplace because some workplaces can be far too serious and foreboding. Some managers might act in a distant and stern way in order to keep employees in line. Of course, not all forms of humor are appropriate in the workplace. At the same time, there is a place for humor and lightheartedness in the workplace. In fact, researchers have found humor to be an important element in the workplace; it can contribute to positive emotions, which can enhance productivity, creativity, and communication. Laughter has also been shown to reduce stress, increase collaboration, and ease tension between people. So, if you are a manager or a team leader, consider how you can inject a degree of fun and laughter during the work day.

Strange and humorous situations do happen on the job or at an interview. If you have a funny workplace story to share with other Tri City Voice readers, please feel free to email me at annechantcv@gmail.com. Whether it’s April Fool’s Day or not, I believe most of us could use a bit of levity in our lives.

The long awaited BART station in Warm Springs/South Fremont is now open. Opening ceremonies were held Friday, March 24, 2017 to officially introduce the public to the new facility. Regular service began the next day, Saturday, May 25th.

BART’s newest station will boost already surging Innovation District

SUBMITTED BY BART

Excitement is building amid a development boom in the Warm Springs South Fremont Innovation District and much of it is because of the arrival of BART. Today much of the area immediately around the new Warm Springs BART Station is open fields but that is going to change.

“BART and Warm Springs Station are the linchpin of the whole plan and it’s probably worth mentioning that the city has invested years of planning in this area to make the most of the opportunity. We won’t get another one of these and so we really want to make the most of it,” said Fremont Economic Development Director Kelly Kline.

A hub for green and other cutting-edge technology is already blossoming between typically crowded interstates 680 and 880. Kline says the Innovation District immediately surrounding the Warm Springs BART Station is about two-and-a-half times the size of Mission Bay in San Francisco.

The most well-known company in the district is Tesla. The electric-car maker anchors the district at the former New United Motor Manufacturing plant. Recently, the company came out with plans to roughly double its footprint in Fremont.

But for city planners the arrival of BART means Tesla is just the beginning. Warm Springs is emerging as a hub for innovation that has attracted large companies such as Thermo Fisher Scientific. The biotech firm employs about 700 people at its campus on Kato Road.

Expectations are rising for growth in the Innovation District. There are an estimated 20,000 jobs already there and Fremont officials say that number could double in the years ahead. That’s where BART comes in, to give those employees a way to avoid gridlock.

The overall plan calls for more than just new jobs. “A significant amount of the development that you’re going to see close by the station are public plazas, beautiful streets, bike trails, pedestrian connections. Things that really breathe life into the district and make it not only an employment center and a transit hub but also this kind of 21st century workplace,” said Kline.”

Fremont planners say eventually some 12,000 people will live in the Warm Springs area. That includes about 4,000 housing units that have been approved and are in close proximity to the Warm Springs BART Station. More than 500 of those units will be offered as affordable housing.

She and others say the Warm Springs BART Station will grow in importance as the transit agency extends its reach into Silicon Valley. New BART stations in Milpitas and San Jose’s Berryessa neighborhood are expected to open later this year.

There’s always time for music. And in the Tri-City area, youngsters in the Music for Minors II (MFMII) program do their best to hit all the right notes. The organization tries to make up for music funding cuts in schools by recruiting, training and supporting community volunteers to nurture the love and literacy of music in children’s classrooms. MFMII also sponsors music workshops for teachers and community concerts.

To help the group, and keep music alive in schools, the East Bay Community Foundation through its East Bay Give program is hoping to help Music for Minors II raise $10,000 in 24 hours at a “May the 4th Be With You!” event on Thursday, May 4.

Don't lose sleep over choosing a new mattress

By DAVID R. NEWMAN

There's nothing like a good night's sleep. It's important for your health, and can be just as vital as eating healthy and exercising. According to the National Sleep Foundation we spend up to one-third of our lives asleep. That's why your bed may be the most used piece of furniture in your home. Investing in a mattress that fits your body type and sleep needs is an essential step to a healthier lifestyle.

But let's face it, shopping for a mattress can be an overwhelming experience. People are often surprised at how many bedding options exist. Innerspring or foam? Box spring or platform? Latex or memory foam? Does coil count matter? How long should it last? What's a pillow-top? etc. etc.

In 2014, after muddling his way through this confusion, a consumer named Derek Hales decided to create an online resource to help people brave the process. He called it Sleepopolis. Says Hales, "It was pretty clear right off the bat that I had struck a chord and that this is a particular topic that people are really interested in and wanted more information about."

Sleepopolis provides mattress reviews and guides that help readers understand what materials are better suited for their personal sleeping style. As explained on the website, mattress firmness levels are measured on a scale of one to ten.

Each sleeping style (side, back, stomach) has an ideal firmness range, as does your weight, so understanding your own sleeping habits and body type can help you hone in on that perfect mattress. Says Hales, "A little bit of high level research before you start shopping online or going to a store goes a long way."

Mattress technology has advanced a great deal in the past 20 years. Says Richard Becerra of Mancini's Sleepworld in Union

City, "You used to see spring mattresses made from natural materials like cotton, wool, and silk; now we have beds with smart materials, like foam, that are more responsive, provide temperature control, and maintain motion separation." Ironically, beds made from natural materials still exist but are priced much higher.

Indeed, most mattresses available today can be grouped into two main camps: innerspring (or coil) and foam. Innerspring mattresses have one or more layers of steel coils, providing great bounce and cooling. Foam mattresses come in two main types: latex and memory foam. Latex is known for its cooling properties and comfort. Memory foam hugs the sleeper, contouring to the body, but can retain heat. Many manufacturers have their own, patented version of memory foam, and some infuse gel into the foam for a cooler feel.

There are also hybrids that combine coils and foams in various configurations (Hales considers these to be good all around options). Pillow-top beds add a layer of soft material either stuffed or sewn into the cover. Also on the market is the Sleep Number bed by Select Comfort. This unique system incorporates an adjustable air mattress inside the bed, on both sides, so that users can customize the firmness according to their own personal preference.

Going to a store and trying out various beds is an important step in the mattress buying process. However, keep in mind that beds need to be broken in, so the true test comes from sleeping on it over a longer period of time. That's why most stores offer sleep trials, where you can try out a mattress over a period of three to four months. If you're not happy, you can exchange it for another one.

The fact that beds need to be tested over a long period has led to a recent revolution in online shopping. Once companies figured out a way to cost-effectively compress and ship a mattress to people's homes (it self-inflates once you remove it from the packaging), the rest came easy. Says Hales, "Most of the online companies have pretty healthy refund policies and trial periods, so there's not much risk there. Many of them offer a solid value mattress in the $700 – $1,200 range with a universal comfort feel that's good for a lot of people."

Tuft & Needle is one such company. With showrooms in San Francisco, Scottsdale, and Phoenix, the bulk of their sales are primarily online. Says Amber Scott, Customer Experience Lead at Tuft & Needle, "Customers have 100 nights to try out our mattress, which makes people feel more comfortable purchasing sight unseen. If it doesn't work out, they can give it to a charity that they support and believe in, and they get all of their money back to try something else."

Mattress prices can range from $100 for a basic twin to over $5,000 for a top-of-the line king. As with most things, you get what you pay for. But experts say you can get a very good mattress for around $500 to $1,000. Anything higher is considered luxury – beds made from natural materials, tufted mattresses with buttons, and Tempur-Pedics are among the higher priced. Warranties usually run around 8 to 10 years, which is the suggested amount of time that you keep a mattress. While mattresses can break down over time, people often replace a mattress due to hygiene (mold, bacteria, dust mites, etc.). And Becerra point out that our comfort level can change over time, or we may want to switch to a different size.

Of course, the mattress is only one part of our bed. Says Rochel Jean-Philippe, General Manager of Sleep & Beyond in Fremont, "It is very important, when you're buying a mattress, to look at the whole sleep system. For example, 25 percent of your support you get from your pillow." There are also mattress protectors available. And modern bases can adjust their position by remote control, provide under-bed lighting, and come equipped with USB ports.

If you're looking for a new mattress, do the research and take your time, and remember... you can always sleep on it.

Young chess players win big at state championships

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS SUBMITTED BY JOE LONSDALE

Students from Mission San Jose Elementary School (MSJE) emerged as big winners in the 2017 Northern California Scholastic Chess Championships held March 13-14 in Santa Clara. The school was the top winner in the Elementary School Division with players from the MSJE team winning the team title in all four elementary championship school sections. MSJE won the kindergarten team title with 15 points versus 11.5 for second place Weibel Elementary. Players Lucas Jiang, Artham Pawar, and Arnam Pawar all scored 4/5 to lead the team. Shirhan Bolla, Kasen Zeng, Aditya Arulta, Swagatha Selvam, and Katy Lim also competed for MSJE in kindergarten. The K-3 Championship section was also a very close and exciting match. MSJE won with 14 points to 13 for second place Weibel. Kavya Meiyappan (a first grader) was the top MSJE scorer in K-3 with 4.5/6. Siddharth Arulta, Jolene Liu, Shreyas Jay, Jason Liu, Vividh Goenka, Ayaan Kassamali, and Adarsh Swamy also competed for the MSJE championship K-3 team. MSJE won the K-5 team championship with 18.5 points versus 16 for second place Weibel. Nicholas Jiang scored a perfect 6/6 to lead the MSJE team and win the title of K-5 Northern California champion. Agilan Nachiappan (4.5/6), Arnav Lingannagari and Allyson Wong (both 4/6) were also top scorers for MSJE in K-5. Vaibhav Wudaru, Stephen He, Aditya Sujay, and Saidivy Tunguturu also competed for the MSJE K-5 team. The K-6 championship section is the overall elementary school chess championship. MSJE won the section with 19 points. Chadbourne Elementary edged out Weibel for second place with 15.5 points to 14.5 for Weibel. MSJE players Kevin Pan and Shreyas Nayak tied for first place with 5/6. Atul Thirumalai and Annapoorni Meiyappan both scored 4.5/6. Leo Jiang, Edwin Thomas, Shree Jay, Sandeep Salwan, Amulya Harish, Chinmay Naveen, and Archith Iyer also competed for the MSJE K-6 team. MSJE Chess Coaches were Joe Lonsdale, Chris Torres, Meiyappan Sathappan, Terry Liu, Hui Wang.

Easter Bunny Breakfast

SUBMITTED BY LAURA PIETRAFESA

Applebee's of Fremont invites guests to have breakfast with the Easter Bunny on Saturday, April 8. For $10, guests will receive a breakfast including delicious golden pancakes, breakfast potatoes and bacon, along with coffee, tea, juice or milk. Funds raised will benefit the Fremont Education Foundation After School Band Program, which provides both beginning and intermediate instruction on woodwind, brass and percussion instruments for 4th-6th graders at all 27 of Fremont Unified School District's elementary schools.

Each band annually participates in an Attendance Area Concert at their local high school. This concert is a wonderful opportunity for the students to work towards a performance and hear the other musicians at elementary and junior high school levels. After School Band currently serves over 1,000 students and demand is growing. Because of fundraisers like the Easter Bunny Breakfast and donations from the public, the program is in its 14th year and going strong. Donations can be made at <http://www.fremont-education.org/band.html>.

Breakfast tickets can be purchased online, and must be purchased in advance.

Parent education workshop

SUBMITTED FREMONT UNIFIED STUDENT STORE

While focusing on their children's grades and school performance is a good thing, for some parents it adds extra stress to other areas of their family life. In recognition of that, Fremont Unified Student Store is offering a Parent Education Workshop on Thursday, March 30 at Gomes Elementary School.

"The Well Balanced Student" presentation is part of the Challenge Success program from the Stanford University School of Education. Parents will learn research-based strategies for raising healthy teenagers in today's fast-paced world. Parents will learn how to establish a healthier home environment for children, reduce academic stress without sacrificing achievement, and increase children's resilience, creativity and well-being.

Driver reunited with cat that clung under semi for 400 miles

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP), A long-haul semitrailer driver from Minnesota says he felt like a "bad cat dad" when he had to leave his feline traveling companion behind at a rest stop in Ohio.

Percy the cat jumped out of a window of the 18-wheeler while Paul Robertson slept. The trucker searched at length for Percy but had to make a delivery deadline in Indiana. Robertson drove 400 miles through rain and snow feeling miserable about Percy.

Robertson says when he finally reached his destination Feb. 25 he spotted what he thought was a stray cat near his truck. A closer look revealed the cat was Percy.

Robertson says Percy had somehow survived the long ride clinging to the truck's undercarriage.

I 2 Women to be inducted into Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY
COUNTY OF ALAMEDA

Twelve women representing the Alameda County region’s rich diversity as well as a remarkable range of achievement will soon be inducted into the Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame. The women will be honored April 1 during the organizations 24th anniversary luncheon and awards ceremony in Pleasanton.

“Our inductees this year bring a multitude of uplifting stories that inspire pride and bring us hope in these uncertain times,” said Alameda County Administrator Susan S. Muranishi, co-chair of the Women’s Hall of Fame.

2017 inductees include a leading force in nonprofit housing development whose work is bringing much-needed progress in the quest for affordable housing; a local theater arts pioneer who applies her talent to illuminate difficult truths and bridge communities; the co-founder of the world’s first incubator and accelerator dedicated to solar and smart energy; and a youth soccer coach who inspires her team of immigrant girls by imparting knowledge gained through her own experience emigrating from Burma.

The program, co-sponsored by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and the County’s Commission on the Status of Women, will once again raise funds to support important local partners serving women and families in Alameda County. In addition, it will support local girls’ academic pursuits through the Mary V. King Youth Scholarship Fund, named after former Alameda County Supervisor and Women’s Hall of Fame co-founder who died in 2015.

- This year’s inductees are:
- Linda Mandolini, Business and Professions. Linda is President of Hayward-based Eden Housing Inc., a nonprofit housing development corporation that under Linda’s leadership has emerged as one of the nation’s top developers of affordable housing.
 - Suzan Bateson, Community Service. Suzan, Executive Director of the Alameda County Community Food Bank, is a nationally recognized leader in the fight against hunger. Suzan has helped transform hunger-relief efforts in Alameda County and guided the Food Bank to new levels of effectiveness.

Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame 2017 Inductees

- Ayodele Nzinga, Culture and Art. Ayodele is a creative force who has been a leading figure in East Bay theater community for more than four decades. She has led several groundbreaking productions of African American theater classics and continues to give voice to underserved communities through her art.
- Catherine (Suarez) Dunbar, Education. Catherine is a Spanish instructor in the Tri Valley who educates and empowers others outside the classroom. She co-created a self-esteem program for Latina girls, produced a popular Cuban cultural event and launched a nonprofit providing food and other necessities to residents in need.
- Emily Kirsch, Environment. Emily is co-founder and CEO of Oakland’s Powerhouse, the world’s first incubator and accelerator that is dedicated to enabling solar and smart energy startups to grow and thrive. Starting with just two startups in 2013, it has since housed more than 50 positioned at the cutting edge of solar and smart energy innovation.
- Patricia Aguilera, Health. Patricia has devoted her nearly five-decade career to the sustainability of Alameda County’s safety net health care system. She is the retired CFO of La Clinica De La Raza whose leadership helped the network of community clinics in Alameda County thrive amid the growing market dominance of managed care.

- Kathie Barkow, Justice. Kathie is a longtime champion of services for the homeless who helped create the Alameda County Homeless and Caring Court. The innovative Court program allows homeless people to clear their records of minor offenses if they participate in substance abuse treatment and/or other programs. The program is a highly effective way to remove barriers to housing, employment and self-sufficiency for homeless individuals and families.
- Aeeshah Clottey, Non-Traditional Careers. Aeeshah is co-founder of Attitudinal Healing Connection, an Oakland nonprofit that works to eliminate violence and fear by building peaceful, loving communities for everyone. In her work, Aeeshah: brings perpetrators of violence together with their victims to promote healing; resolves conflicts between residents in public housing; and helps build skills of low-income residents to improve their lives.
- Audrey Yamamoto, Philanthropy. Audrey is President and Executive Director of the Asian Pacific Fund, which works to support the Bay Area’s Asian American community, particularly those living in vulnerable situations. She has strengthened the Foundation’s grant-making capability by forging new partnerships with business and dramatically expanding its fundraising.

- Katherine Yelick, Science, Technology, Engineering. Katherine, the Associate Laboratory Director (ALD) for Computing Sciences at Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory, is an international leader in computational sciences and the advancement of STEM education. She is also a leading force in applying high performance computing to efforts to develop alternative energy sources and combat climate change.
- Hel Say, Sports and Athletics. Hel Say is Head Coach of the U14 Girls team at Soccer Without Borders, an Oakland program providing positive support to newly arrived refugees and immigrant youth through soccer. Hel brings a unique perspective to coaching girls who include refugees from the Democratic Republic of Congo and El Salvador. That’s because she found Soccer Without Borders herself as a girl newly arrived from Burma, and experienced how teamwork can be a powerful tool in helping a young person adapt to a foreign culture.

- Lauryn Nguyen, Youth. Lauryn is a senior at Maybeck High School in Berkeley who, at age 17, has already demonstrated an extraordinary commitment to community service. She regularly volunteers at programs supporting mothers and children and is adamantly devoted to her four younger siblings. Recently, she chose to leave her club basketball team to free up the resources to allow her sister to take part in a local music program.

“It is an honor to be able to celebrate the achievements of each of these amazing women,” said Dr. Stacy Thompson, Chair of Alameda County’s Commission on the Status of Women. “Their stories inspire us to do what we can to make Alameda County a better place.”

To lift the countywide program’s profile throughout Alameda County, the Women’s Hall of Fame luncheon and awards ceremony moves to Pleasanton this year after a string of record-breaking annual awards luncheons at Oakland’s Greek Orthodox Cathedral.

This year’s event will also support the Mary V. King Youth Scholarship Fund, renamed last year in honor of the longtime Alameda County Supervisor and Women’s Hall of Fame co-founder who served as Mistress of Ceremony for the 2010 Awards Ceremony. The scholarship continues to help young women leaders further their educational pursuits and enhance their prospects as they work toward meaningful futures in civic engagement.

Leadership Fremont helps OneChild grow

SUBMITTED BY NINA HOUREL

Leadership Fremont’s Class of 2017 invites you to become a sponsor of “Backpack Full of Hope.” Leadership Fremont, a nine-month program of the Fremont Chamber of Commerce, develops local leaders with the skills and network to address community needs today and in the future. The Class of 2017 is partnering with OneChild, a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to providing disadvantaged children with new clothing and school supplies. OneChild believes that all children deserve the basic necessities for success in school. It provides a comfortable environment where local children “shop” (free of charge) for new clothes and supplies in the OneChild store. Each Child who visits OneChild receives the following brand new items of clothing:

- 2 Pairs of Jeans
- 3 Shirts
- 1 package of socks
- 1 package of underwear
- 1 sweatshirt and matching sweatpants
- 1 gift card for a pair of shoes

In addition, every child receives brand new age-appropriate school supplies including a backpack, pens/pencils, highlighter, ruler, binder, spiral notebooks, crayons, markers, scissors, and more.

The cost to outfit each child is $125. Our mission is to increase OneChild’s reach by over 25% in 2017, outfitting 125 additional children from the Tri-City area. We are committed to raising, with your generous support, approximately $16,000. Excess funds raised will be used to improve OneChild’s facilities and infrastructure. Please join us by making an investment in the self-esteem and the well-being of the children of our community.

Your sponsorship is tax-deductible, and will be recognized in our events and printed material.

To donate, please visit: www.onechildca.org/leadershipfremont2017 and click the donate button. Checks can be mailed to 1900 Mowry Ave Fremont, CA 94538. Please make checks out to OneChild and put Leadership Fremont 2017 in the memo line.

San Francisco bars travel to South Dakota for city employees

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—South Dakota has landed on San Francisco’s list of places where city workers aren’t allowed to go on official business because the state passed a law allowing religious-affiliated adoption agencies to not place children with unmarried or same-sex couples.

City employees will be barred from traveling on state or city-subsidized business to South Dakota or from contracting with South Dakota businesses, said Jack Gallagher, a spokesman for the San Francisco city administrator. The prohibition is part of an ordinance blocking travel to states that approve legislation that discriminates against the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender community, the Argus Leader reported Monday (<http://argusne.ws/2mNk9JH>).

There are four other states on the list—Kansas, Mississippi, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Earlier this month, Republican Gov. Dennis Daugaard signed a bill to give legal protections to faith-based organizations that, based on their religious beliefs, refuse to place children in certain households. Supporters say the measure preemptively protects religious adoption and foster care agencies. Civil liberties groups and LGBT advocates say it opens the door to discrimination.

The travel ban’s financial impact on South Dakota wasn’t immediately clear.

Daugaard’s office said Monday that the new law won’t lead to unfair treatment of LGBT people or others.

Q: How high will a basketball bounce when dropped from shoulder height?

a. back to shoulder height
b. less than shoulder height
c. higher than shoulder height

If you answered "b" you are right! When a ball is dropped to the ground, it comes back up almost to the point it was dropped from, but not quite.

How many differences can you spot between these two players?

STEM Basketball

When a basketball is held above the ground, it has a lot of potential energy and no kinetic energy. As it falls, it starts losing its potential energy and gets kinetic energy.

When the ball hits the ground, it has lots of kinetic energy. The friction against the ground slows the ball down, but it also slightly heats the ball. This is thermal energy.

The ball bounces back up but to a lower height than where it started. The original potential energy was transformed into thermal energy and kinetic energy. And that's just the way the ball bounces.

KINETIC ENERGY

The energy of motion. Anything that is moving has kinetic energy, and the faster it is moving, the more kinetic energy.

POTENTIAL ENERGY

An object high above the ground has potential energy because of the work it took to get it there and the work it will do when it falls.

THERMAL ENERGY

Thermal energy is the name for energy that comes from the temperature of an object.

SCIENTIST'S NOTEBOOK

THE BIG DROP

Imagine dropping a basketball from the top of these famous structures. If the ball bounces 80% of the way back up toward the top, how many feet/meters high would the ball travel for each? (Multiply each structure's height by .8 to discover the answers. The first one is done for you.)

$$\begin{array}{r} 305 \\ \times .8 \\ \hline 244 \text{ FEET} \end{array}$$
$$\begin{array}{r} 93 \\ \times .8 \\ \hline 74.4 \text{ METERS} \end{array}$$

Structure	Height (feet)	Height (meters)
Statue of Liberty, New York	305	93
Washington Monument, Washington, D.C.	555	169
Space Needle, Seattle	604	184
Transamerica Pyramid, San Francisco	1,065	325
Empire State Building, New York	1,454	443

New Stop Signs on Capitol Avenue

New stop signs were recently installed as part of the Capitol Avenue Phase 2 project in front of Fremont City Hall. The installation of the signs took place last month and the "STOP" pavement street markings (also called legends) were installed on March 8. In addition, stop signs were installed for the two driveways leading out of the City Hall parking lot onto Capitol Avenue.

As the transformation of Downtown into a vibrant, pedestrian-oriented urban environment is under way, the installation of these stop signs will assist pedestrians with crossing the street in what is already a busy area.

Fremont Hosts Compost Giveaway for Curbside Organics Program Participants

The City of Fremont, in partnership with Republic Services and the Fremont Recycling and Transfer Station, are thanking residents for filling their green organics carts every week with food scraps and yard waste.

Fremont residents who participate in Fremont's curbside organics program are invited to pick up two free bags of compost for their garden on Sunday, April 2 from 8 a.m. to noon while supplies last at the Fremont Recycling and Transfer Station (41149 Boyce Rd.). This popular event will be held rain or shine.

Don't forget to bring your recent Republic Services garbage bill to show that your household is participating in the program. If a neighbor or family member is unable to attend, you may bring their Republic Services bill and pick up compost for them as well. For additional information, contact Republic Services at 510-657-3500.

Coming Soon: Fremont's 2017 State of the City Address

If you want to learn more about the issues and opportunities facing the City of Fremont, stay tuned! Fremont Mayor Lily Mei will be presenting the annual State of the City Address at a luncheon hosted by the Fremont Chamber of Commerce on Friday, March 31, noon to 2 p.m. at the Fremont Marriott Silicon Valley.

To buy tickets, please call the Fremont Chamber of Commerce at 510-795-2244 or visit www.Fremontbusiness.com.

And in case you can't make it, the State of the City Address will be rebroadcasted on Fremont Cable TV Channel 27, as well as posted to the City website by the end of the following week.

Sponsorship Opportunities for City Events, Programs

The City of Fremont Recreation Services Division offers a variety of opportunities for corporations and small businesses who seek a unique Marketing platform with access to thousands of consumers spanning multiple demographics. Sponsoring a Parks and Recreation event or program will not only improve Fremont's quality of life but also can meet your organization's marketing goals. Sponsorships may range from financial support to in-kind donations.

Whether it's the Summer Concert Series, Kids 'n Kites Festival, the Water Park scholarship program, or other sponsorship opportunities, our events and programs offer high visibility for businesses.

We know that there are many sponsorship opportunities for worthy causes in Fremont and limited dollars for this purpose. This is why we have created a simple process that will give you an overview of how our sponsorship opportunities are set up.

Please contact the City's Lance Scheetz at 510-494-4331 for more information on how you can get involved and create community through Parks and Recreation.

Call to Artists: City of Fremont boxart! Utility Box Project - Phase 4

The City of Fremont boxART! program requests submissions to transform our traffic signal control boxes with compelling and creative imagery. We are looking for innovative artists to enhance the utility boxes in a dramatic and new way.

This is a tremendous opportunity for forward thinking artists to let the community see your work.

Hundreds of people will drive or walk by the boxes daily. In addition, photographs of the boxes will be displayed on the City of Fremont website and other venues with your name and contact information.

ELIGIBILITY: San Francisco Bay Area residents

THEME: The theme for Phase 4 is "Agriculture – Past/Present". Fremont's agricultural history is rich with ranching, farming, nurseries, milling and canning industries, and more. While the city has evolved into its hi-tech identity, agricultural industries and community gardening endeavors continue to thrive. Artists are encouraged to provide their own interpretations.

STIPEND: $650, which includes material costs.

For more information visit www.Fremont.gov/boxart or contact Program Manager Susan Longini at boxart@fremont.gov or 510-494-4555.

Passover events celebrate freedom and family

By ROB KLINDT

Passover is a major Jewish holiday of freedom that each spring commemorates the Jews' freedom from slavery and their historic exodus from Egypt. In most parts of the world, Passover is an eight-day celebration. This year, Passover will be celebrated from sundown on Monday, April 10 and continue until nightfall Tuesday, April 18.

A highlight of the Passover celebration is the Seder dinner, bringing together family, friends and even strangers to share warm sentiments and celebrate continued freedom. The dinner consists of kosher foods that follow Jewish dietary or ceremonial laws.

Unleavened bread, called matzah is an important food consumed at a Seder dinner. It's said that Hebrew slaves left Egypt so quickly that their bread didn't have time to rise. So, this bread is consumed to experience a part of the struggle. A Seder plate holds bits of symbolic foods: matzah, karpas, charoset, shank bone, egg and chazeret. Kosher wines are consumed at the dinner celebration. Dietary restrictions are associated with Passover; foods that aren't kosher, such as leavened breads or chametz, cereals, cakes, crackers, biscuits, rye, wheat, corn, lentils, rice and dry beans.

Several organizations in and near the Tri-Cities are planning

Seder dinners and community gatherings to celebrate the Passover season:

Fremont

Temple Beth Torah will host a community Passover Seder on Tuesday, April 11. Led by Rabbi Schulman and Joel Siegel, the program celebrates the liberation of the Israelites from Egypt and the end of slavery. A wide selection of traditional Seder foods with a complete dinner will be served with vegetarian food options available.

The event will be at 42000 Paseo Padre Parkway, Fremont. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. and the Seder starts at 6 p.m. The cost is $30 for adults, $20 for seniors and $10 for children ages 4 to 16. Children under 4 admitted free.

Reservations are required and must be made by Tuesday, April 4. They can be made by calling the Temple Beth Torah office at (510) 656-7141 or visiting their website at www.bethtorah-fremont.org.

Chabad of Fremont Jewish Center, which serves the Tri-Cities, along with Hayward and Milpitas, will hold a Community Passover Seder dinner on Monday, April 10. The program will include an uplifting talk by Rabbi Moshe and Chaya along with traditional stories and songs.

A gourmet gluten-free Passover cuisine including hand-made Shmurah Matza with kosher wine will highlight the dinner. The event starts at 7 p.m. under the new Chabad event tent at 220 Yerba Buena Place, Fremont. Space is limited, so reservations are required and must be made by Sunday, April 2.

Suggested donation is $100; $500 for a table sponsor or $1,800 for a Seder sponsor. Reservations can be made on the Chabad of Fremont Jewish Center website at www.chabad-fremont.com. For details, call (510) 300-4090.

Castro Valley

Congregation Shir Ami is planning a Passover Seder open to the community on Saturday, April 15. Rabbinic intern Liora Alban will lead the evening service which will include Passover songs and entertainment. Also planned is a festive kosher-style holiday meal with vegetarian options available. The event will be at Eden Church, 21455 Birch St., Hayward. Doors open at 4:30 p.m. and festivities continue until 8 p.m.

Reservations are required by April 10. Advance tickets are $30 for Shir Ami members; children of members under 18 admitted free. For adult non-members, advance tickets are $40 and $15 for their children under 18. There's no charge for military members with proper identification. Tickets purchased starting April 11 will be $10 more. Family tables for eight can be reserved in advance.

Reservations are required by April 10 and can be made by mailing a check payable to Congregation Shir Ami and marked "Attention: Community Passover" to 4529 Malabar Ave., Castro Valley, California, 94546.

Controversy in New Haven

SUBMITTED BY KELSEY CAMELLO
MUSEUM OF LOCAL HISTORY

Fifty years ago, there was a controversy in the New Haven Unified School District between the school board president and district administrators. The debate dominated the local newspapers and led to the recall of the school board president. The issue resulted in larger than usual turn out at the school board meetings, with speakers heatedly responding on both sides of the issue.

The Washington Township Museum of Local History recently published a paper on the topic, entitled "Controversy in New Haven." The paper covers the details of the disagreement, starting with a concern over the appropriateness of the showing of a specific movie to high school students. The matter persisted over many months, with accusations flying on both sides of the issue. The controversy affected school board elections and ended with a special recall election.

New Haven Unified School District Board in early 1967.

Union City historian, Timothy Swenson, authored the paper with a special preface written by Lance Nishihira, a current trustee of the New Haven Unified School District.

The 20-page paper is available on the museum website. Visit www.museumoflocalhistory.org, select "Resources" then "Historical Papers." Click on Union City and look for "Controversy in New Haven."

For a printed copy ($3.00), please visit the museum during open hours.

Music at the Mission receives Arts Council grants

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY
VICKILYN HUSSEY

The California Arts Council, a state agency, awarded one of only two Artists in Schools Planning grants of $2,500 to Music at the Mission plus $2,900 as part of its Professional Development Consulting program. These are the first California Arts Council grants awarded to Music at the Mission.

The Artists in Schools program supports projects that integrate community arts resources—artists and professional art organizations—into comprehensive, standards-based arts learning projects for California's students. This year, the California Arts Council's Artist in Schools program will allow 144 arts organizations to hire 580 teaching artists that will serve a total of more than 43,000 students in 323 schools across California.

The Artists in Schools grant supports collaborative development of a plan to create an artist residency that brings teaching artists into a public school in a future academic year. Music at the Mission partners with Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) to create a plan that forges new connections between the District, schools, and teaching artists. The plan will hopefully lead to California Arts Council funding of the artist residency.

FUSD Director of Secondary Education James Maxwell says, "We are eager to partner with Music at the Mission, which has brought many ensembles to our elementary, junior high and high schools over the past 10 years. This special opportunity to plan for an artist residency will deepen and broaden our relationship for the benefit of our music students."

With support from the Professional Development Consulting grant, Music at the Mission will undertake a critical project to vastly improve database management. DonorPerfect Advisory Services will assess the current data management practices, make recommendations, and assist and train volunteers to integrate four databases into a master system.

Music at the Mission President Carmela Waugh is optimistic about the project: "My hope is to get everyone's support and dedication in using DonorPerfect to its full capabilities."

California Arts Council grants provide vital support for projects in diverse communities across our state. This was an historic year of state arts support. More than $8.5 million funded 712 grant projects that will stimulate local growth and prosperity, and meet the needs of our communities through deep engagement with culture and creative expression.

The California Arts Council will continue to grow the reach of its programs in the coming year, as the result of a significant one-time state arts funding increase for 2016-17.

A special day at Irvington High School

Men's Basketball

MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

Irvington High School (Fremont) hosted a special event on March 24th as the current basketball squad competed on the hardwood with a mix of school alumni including NFL greats Robert Turbin and guest Frank Gore of the Indianapolis Colts. Beginning with a large rally in the gymnasium, Turbin fired up the crowd and spoke about his foundation to assist student athletes to achieve their dreams and apply life lessons from sports. Although the alumni were able to prevail on the court, the crowd, athletes and guests all left with a powerful message of hope and optimism.

Colts lose a close one for state title

SUBMITTED BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The James Logan Colts (Union City) lost a close contest for the state Division I Championship to the Roosevelt Mustangs (Eastvale) on March 24th. A small 2-point lead at the end of the first quarter ballooned in the second and third quarters until the Colts finally shifted the momentum their way in the fourth quarter. But it was too late to salvage the game. The Mustangs claimed the championship: 54-46.

Harris Claims All-West Region Honors

Cal State East Bay senior Shomari Harris has been named to the 2016-17 Division II Conference Commissioners Association (D2CCA) All-West Region Second Team. Harris is the lone All-West Region honoree from the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA). A native of Las Vegas and a transfer from Texas A&M Commerce, Harris made history this season as the first Cal State East Bay female athlete to win the CCAA Player of the Year award in any sport since the Pioneers joined the conference in 2009.

She helped the Pioneers to a 22-9 overall record, the No. 6 ranking in the West, and a trip to the NCAA DII West Regionals in Anchorage, Ala. She was named CCAA Tournament Most Valuable Player after leading CSUEB to its second straight tournament title with a 24-point effort in the championship game against rival UC San Diego. On the whole, Harris turned in one of the greatest individual seasons by a Pioneer in program history. She finished the season as the first East Bay player ever to lead the CCAA in scoring, averaging 17.0 points per game. She reached double figures in 27 of 31 games and posted at least 20 points 12 times. Harris scored 509 points in 2016-17, becoming just the second CSUEB player in the CCAA era to eclipse 500 points in a season. She ranked second in the conference in assists (4.2 apg), third in minutes (36.3 mpg), and fifth in free throw percentage (.816). Harris also paced the Pioneers with 44 steals and 46 three-point field goals this season. She was named CCAA Player of the Week twice, and on Jan. 31 against Cal Poly Pomona, she tied the program record with seven three-pointers in one game. This marks the third straight year East Bay women's basketball has boasted a Second Team All-West Region honoree, as Harris joins Tori Breshers in 2015-16 and Stephanie Lopez in 2014-15.

Mariners come close in State Tournament

MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The Esperanza Aztecs (Anaheim) jumped off to a sizeable lead over the Moreau Catholic Mariners (Hayward) in the first quarter of play, 22-7 on March 25th. Although initially it looked like an easy Aztec victory as they established control of the paint area and utilized quick outlet passes, the second quarter was another story. The Mariners fought their way back into the game with ferocious defensive basketball, scrambling for every ball and left the court at halftime behind by just a six point deficit. As play resumed in the third quarter, it was anyone's game to win or lose. A gap of only three points separated the teams at the end of the third quarter but the fourth quarter did not favor the Hayward team as the Aztecs moved the ball successfully, finding open shots to score the win 72-65.

Cal State East Bay junior Leilani Vazquez has been selected as the Western Water Polo Association (WWPA) Player of the Week for the week of Mar. 13-19. Vazquez, 22, a native of Fullerton, California, scored five goals and earned nine exclusions to go along with one steal at the recent Road-runner Invitational in Bakersfield, California. She scored two goals against 22nd-ranked Cal State Bakersfield and two more against 11th-ranked Princeton. Despite four games dropped to nationally ranked Division I squads in Bakersfield, the Cal State East Bay Pioneers turned in impressive performances, particularly on the defensive end. Vazquez helped ignite a fourth-quarter rally against Princeton in the weekend finale, which resulted in six Pioneer goals as they nearly erased their deficit in the final minutes. This is the first-career WWPA Player of the Week award for Vazquez, and the second Player of the Week award for the Pioneers this season. Teammate Auriel Bill snagged the honor three weeks ago. Vazquez has been a tremendous addition for the Pioneers in her first season. She currently ranks second on the team with 26 goals and 28 total points, to go along with 13 steals and 18 drawn ejections.

Chabot College freshman David Frisbie, a John F. Kennedy High School (Fremont) graduate, had a smashing debut in the 800 meters in the Sacramento State Hornet Invitational on March 18. The Gladiators' cross country star in the fall had a state-leading 800 time of 1 minute, 52.6 seconds—fourth best in Chabot history. Another Chabot freshman Jordan Kirby had a solid time of 1:57.3 in the 800. In the women's meet, Chabot's Maurice Potts cracked the Northern California Top 10 list with a 400 time of 1:00.2. In the men's 100, Chabot's Trevion Green dipped under 11 seconds for the third consecutive week with a time of 10.9. Also for Chabot, Chad Dali has a personal best in the triple jump of 41 feet, 6 inches. Leo Gomez and Luke Busby had personal bests in the 5,000 meters with times of 16:18 and 16:26.

In other Chabot sports, the softball team hammered out two wins recently, 19-13 over Cabrillo in nine innings and 7-4 over Gavilan. Against Gavilan, Chabot bolted to a 4-0 lead with four in the top of the first, highlighted by a Desiree Gonzalez two-run double and a Kathleen Perscheid RBI single. Center fielder Amanda Coley had a big game with three hits had three stolen bases. Coley entered the week ranking fourth in the state in stolen bases with 22, two behind a trio of state leaders. In the 19-13 victory over Cabrillo, Chabot erupted with six runs in the top of the ninth. Second baseman Raeann Atfield, No. 8 in the batting order, had a monster game collecting four hits in five at bats and three RBI. Chabot scored in bunches with eight in the fifth, five in the sixth and six in the ninth. The Chabot baseball team rebounded from a three-game losing streak to defeat visiting City College of San Francisco 12-5 on March 18 at Gene Wellman Field. Shortstop Vincent Volpatti, the leadoff hitter, highlighted a six-run fifth with a three-run triple in which the Gladiators broke open a tie game.

St Clement basketball undefeated champs

SUBMITTED BY LARRY SALAS

The St Clement 7th grade boys of Hayward are the new 2017 Oakland Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) basketball Champions. The undefeated crew finished the season with a perfect 24 -0 record, defeating St John Vianni from Walnut Creek by 12 points to secure back to back and 3 out of 4 Oakland diocese championships. St Clement finished first in Northern California out of 132 competing teams. Thanks to Head Coach Larry Salas, Assistant Coaches Darius Smith Sr., Omar Williams, Jorge Barrigan, and Jesse Ybarra.

Expansive new exhibit provides choices to animals

OAKLAND ZOO

Oakland Zoo has unveiled a brand-new "Progressive Design" aviary exhibit designed to encourage species-specific, natural behaviors in the birds housed within. The exhibit took several months to design and build, with architects and zookeepers consulting extensively with field experts in avian behavior and physiology. The Zoo's four macaws have been moved into the exhibit, which is 219,000 cubic feet - substantially larger than their old exhibit, which was 1,800 cubic feet. Two curassow were also added to the exhibit, a new species to the Zoo. The macaws and curassow were chosen to share the exhibit as they are both native to the same general area of South America and inhabit different layers of the rainforest. Curassow are ground-dwellers while macaws remain higher above. "This progressively-designed aviary gives these highly-intelligent animals as much choice and control over their environment as possible, which is important to their mental and physical well-being. It also provides a platform to talk about the extreme challenges of keeping parrots as pets, the exotic pet trade, and how choices we make can affect populations in the wild. This exhibit is one of best examples I've seen of giving former pet parrots, as our parrots at Oakland Zoo are, the best possible future," Leslie Storer, Zoological Manager at Oakland Zoo. Traditionally and generally speaking, captive macaws are exhibited standing on perches and then moved into large cages at nighttime. Most often they are not given the opportunity to fly. This new, expansive and progressive exhibit provides plenty of space for the birds to fly, if they so choose, with protection (vinyl-coated mesh) from predators in the wild. With this protection, they can choose to enter their nighthouse in the evenings, or remain inside the exhibit on warm nights. The design also allows them to choose to socialize with each other, and the open space to choose not to socialize. Water sources and heat lamps provide the birds the climate and natural bathing behavior typical of these avian species. Introducing additional new species-specific birds in need of placement from local rescue organizations, and those confiscated from the illegal wildlife trade, are being considered. Zookeepers have worked diligently to demonstrate the many needs of macaws, emotionally and physically, through signage at the exhibit and through the exhibit itself, for anyone considering a parrot as a pet.

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Kids know that no matter what place is taken on a merry-go-round, the whirlwind of action leads nowhere. The fun is for participants who have a great sense of motion but do not expect the activity to take them to another place except in time spent.

Politics at all levels can have the same result; little discernable enjoyment except for those playing on the dais. Examining agenda items and attending city council meetings can be informative but also lapse into a pedantic exercise. For example, Fremont has, at times, gone from one extreme of brevity to another of excessive and frivolous discourse; a not so cheerful, merry-go-round of questions, comments and more comment ad infinitum.

Public participation is rightly limited by time and speakers are asked to refrain from excessive repetition; the same cannot be said for councilmembers. Too often, council comment appears to be perpetual, as though each councilmember feels it is their duty to have the last word even though there is little left to say. At times “councilspeak” can span multiple oratories of 10-20 minutes each. Statements usually begin with “I have a few quick questions” or “I will be brief” which is politico language for fasten your seatbelts, we are in for a long ride. When out of thoughtful comment, history lessons and attempts at comedy are inserted. After three hours and more of this, the mirth is missing; most observers leave or tune out.

A pedantic merry-go-round

Serious issues require due consideration and votes but excessive discussion and comment just wastes time and energy. For instance, an item such as a resolution declaring “Fremont’s intent to transition from at-large to district-based elections” in response to a threat of a costly legal action was correctly discussed at the March 21, 2017 council meeting. But following an explanation by Staff (City Attorney Harvey Levine) and after airing noises of displeasure, the course of action was clear. Considerable time for public debate was set for future meetings, so a merry-go-round of premature comments of how this will be achieved was unnecessary at the time. The first public hearing set for April 4 – one of five: Apr 4, 18, May 3, 16, June 6 – that coincide with council meetings will offer many points of view, beginning the process of creating district maps, number of council seats and manner of a transition. Many council comments at the March 21, 2017 meeting were premature and, at times, extraneous.

Another item on the same agenda, but under the Consent Calendar, was a service agreement for “Site and Station Area Planning” for the Irvington BART Station. Pulled for discussion, there was plenty to say about funds used for this but it was clear that money was available from Measure BB and if Fremont refused to move forward, any funds set aside for the station would revert back to a county-wide bucket that would probably not come back to Fremont. When the will of the council becomes clear, it is time for a vote unless someone has something salient to say. They didn’t and yet the discussion droned on. Whether for or against the Irvington BART station, debate has long since passed and once it is clear that alteration of that intent is a losing proposition for the City of Fremont, the time has come to move on. Excessive debate just causes that merry-go-round to spin a bit faster without forward movement.

I have been to Fremont council meetings and those in other cities that progress in a reasonable fashion, but when the public and staff are asked to limit their time and prepare concise, articulate presentations, the least councilmembers can do is respect the time of their constituents. While merry-go-rounds can be fun and entertaining for those on board, excessive use can cause boredom and ill feelings among spectators.

Fremont Christian School’s Junior High Girls’ Basketball team defeated San Ramon Valley Christian Academy 35 to 21 to win the Bay Area Christian Schools Athletic League Championship. More than 20 teams started the league, and Fremont Christian finished as champions. McKenna N. had 12 points, 4 assists, and 5 steals as the game’s top player. Maleia C. chipped in 8 points and 12 rebounds, even though she was double-teamed for most of the game.

Top defender Teri B. was fantastic, leading the way with 7 steals and 5 points. Gayoung C. had 6 points, 18 rebounds, and Kayla C. helped out with 8 rebounds and 3 steals. Annie Y. made back-to-back 20-foot shots to boost the lead in the third quarter.

Meanwhile, Michelle C. and Leia G. were very aggressive on defense to help the Lady Warriors to victory. Rita G., Kamila R., Keely C., and Catherine M. all had great effort to help the Warriors become Champions.

The school and coaches Gomez and Woodman offer a hearty congratulations to the Fremont Christian School’s Lady Warriors.

Obituary

Lola Chan

July 6, 1926 - March 17, 2017

Resident of Fremont

Lola Chan was born July 6, 1926 in Oakland, CA. She entered into rest on March 17, 2017 in Fremont, CA. She is survived by her daughter, Susan Viegas and granddaughter, Kristin Chan.

Lola enjoyed oil painting, crocheting, knitting, traveling, and spending time with family and friends. She was an operating room nurse for many years and served in the Cadet Nurse Corp during World War II. She was a devoted Catholic and was always involved in church fundraisers.

Visitation will be held on Thursday, March 30 from 9:30am-10:30am at Fremont Chapel of the Roses, 1940 Peralta Blvd., Fremont, CA with a Funeral Mass at 11am at Holy Spirit Catholic Church, 37588 Fremont Blvd., Fremont, CA. A burial will follow at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

Obituary

Doris Mae (Talbert) Palmer

July 15, 1922 – March 13, 2017

Resident of Fremont

Doris was born on July 15, 1922 to Gladys and Emmett Talbert. She graduated from Jonesboro Arkansas high school. She studied at what is now Arkansas State University and taught in a rural school.

She married George Clements June 1, 1940 and had three daughters; Melissa, Melinda and Melania. They divorced in June 1955.

Doris pursued a career in fashion working for a large department store in Lincoln, NE as fashion coordinator. She organized fashion shows; chose clothes and accessories for each model, wrote the script and produced the show.

She married William Palmer May 18, 1958 and the moved to Greeley, CO. Bill was manager of a small womens clothing store and Doris continued to produce fashion shows for that store. While they lived in Greeley a daughter Peri-Lyn was born.

Doris and Bill moved to Denver, CO and she continued to produce fashion shows for Bill's store in addition to working for a small insurance company.

Off to CA where the family settled in Fremont. Doris was active in many civic organizations during her years in Fremont. She was a Candlelighter for over 40 years, a Beta Sigma Phi member for over 50 years, and Fremont Symphony Guild. She also enjoyed playing bridge with several groups.

Wherever she went she was always a southern belle. Doris's real obsession was had-held antique fans which she collected. She loved to educate people about the language of the fan, its history and the materials used in the fan. She was a member of the Fan Association of North America and traveled the US and Europe to view fan collections. How many fans did Doris collect during her years of searching antique stores and buying and selling from other collectors? Five hundred? One Thousand? Or more? Not even her family knows for sure.

Family and friends are invited to attend a visitation from 1-2 PM, followed by a 2 PM funeral, on Tuesday, March 28, 2017 at Berge-Pappas-Smith Chapel of the Angels, 40842 Fremont Blvd., Fremont, CA 94538. Interment at Irvington Memorial Cemetery will follow the service

Mary Agnes Madrid
February 29, 1936 – March 17, 2017
Resident of Fremont

“Aggie” was born on leap year in 1936 in Wyoming to her parents Carlos and Lilliane Espinoza. She was raised in Denver, Colorado with 13 brothers and sisters. Denver is also where she met her husband, Leroy Madrid. They spent 55 loving years together before his passing in 2007. They were longtime residents of the Bay Area and raised 3 beautiful daughters in San Francisco until finally settling into Fremont until retirement.

She was preceded in death by her loving husband Leroy and two daughters, Lorraine and Shirley. She is survived by her daughter Anita.

Leroy and Aggie spent retirement years in Modesto where they would enjoy walks around the neighborhood together. Aggie had many hobbies over the years and excelled in all she tried. Some of her hobbies included crochet-ing, crafting with flowers and gardening. She enjoyed shopping, watching TV crime shows and was considered by many to be the keeper of our family history with many, many photo albums. She enjoyed gambling trips to Reno and candy for her sweet tooth. But most of all she enjoyed her growing family which included 11 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and 5 great-great-grandchildren with more on the way. She was also very thankful for her numerous nieces, nephews and God-children.

She loved to share stories of the past and she will be deeply missed.

Isabel Barlaan Loyola
November 19, 1922 – March 20, 2017
Resident of Union City

Long time Union City (Alvarado) resident and prominent community member, Isabel Barlaan Loyola, passed away March 20, 2017 with family by her side. Born in San Juan, La Union, Philippines to Modesta Sarmiento and Filomeno Barlaan, she came to the United States as a WWII War Bride in October 1946 with her daughter, Judy Jane. She was a dynamic member of her community. Together with her husband, Ambrose, they owned and operated Loyola Garage and Gas Station in Old Alvarado for over 25 years. She was also owner-director of Loyola Pre-School for 25 years and well known as “Teacher Is.” The pre-school was one of the first private early childhood education fa-cilities in Union City. At this site today, stands the Loyola Building, honoring their legacy.

Throughout her life, Isabel was active in multiple civic af-fairs. Her introduction into her new community was first as a writer for the town newspaper, the “Alvarado Pioneer.” She held many leadership positions in the Filipino Catmon Association; the Filipino Community of Alameda County & Vicinity; founder of the Sampaguita Filipino Dance Troup; Nina Vand Zant Fraternal Organization; Alvarado PTA; Alvarado 4-H Club; Veterans of Foreign Wars Women’s Auxiliary #7906, Niles; American Legion Rizal Post; Union City’s Incorpora-tion; Chabot College Advisory Board; Cal State Hayward Bond Committee; American Cancer Society. She was a parishioner of St. Anne Catholic Church for over 70 years and upon retirement from the pre-school, she was active with SPRED (Special Religious Development) Ministry.

Above all, most important to her were the blessings of her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren with whom she loved spending time celebrating, cooking, and traveling.

She is survived by her son Bruce (Laurie Jo) Bruan, daughters Judy (Wayne) Young, Lu (Steven) Tipping, Elizabeth (Steve) Swason, son Ambrose Loyola Jr., 16 grand-children, and 19 great grandchil-dren. She was the devoted wife to the late Manuel Epamasino Bruan and the late Ambrose Luzano Loyola. She was also preceded in death by her eldest daughter Au-rora Bruan.

Visitation will be held on Thursday, March 30, 2-4pm at Fremont Chapel of the Roses, 1940 Peralta Blvd., Fremont, CA. A Vigil will be held Thursday, March 30, 5-8pm with a Rosary at 6:30pm, and Vigil Service at 7pm at St. Anne Catholic Church, 32223 Cabello St., Union City, CA. Funeral Mass will be held Friday, March 31, 10:30am, also at St. Anne Catholic Church. A burial will follow at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Hayward.

Loose snake slumbers on Alaska flight

By DAN JOLING
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP), Anna McConnaughy was flying to Alaska’s largest city when the announcement came over the intercom: a passenger on a previous flight had brought a pet snake on board. The passenger had gotten off the plane. The snake had not.

“The pilot came, and said, ‘Guys, we have some loose snake on the plane, but we don’t know where it is,’” McConnaughy said. Unlike the movie “Snakes on a Plane,” this one wasn’t venomous. Mostly, it was sleepy.

A little boy, one of seven passengers on the Ravn Alaska commuter flight from the Alaska village of Aniak to Anchorage, was climbing on his seat when he spotted the slumbering snake. It was lying partially covered by a duffel bag near the back of the plane.

“He said, ‘Oh, Mom, look at this. What’s that?’” McConnaughy said. “That’s how we figured out there was a snake sleeping in the corner.” There was no panic. McConnaughy said. Mostly people wanted to see the snake.

A pilot came back to help, she said, leading to a short discussion with a flight attendant on how best to capture it. “He said, ‘I’ll hold the bag, and you grab the snake,’” McConnaughy said. “Quite a gentleman.”

The flight attendant grabbed the snake by the belly and dropped it into a plastic trash bag. It spent the rest of the flight in an overhead storage bin, and the plane reached Anchorage on schedule.

McConnaughy’s photos show a pale snake about 4 to 5 feet long. She said it appeared to want only to go back to sleep.

A spokesman for the airline, William Walsh, said in a statement that the snake owner had not registered the pet for travel in the cabin of the Ravn Alaska flight. After arriving in Aniak, he reported that his snake was missing and likely on the return trip to Anchorage.

The airline was thankful for the heads-up, Walsh said. However, it has specific requirements for carrying on reptiles. Ravn Alaska does not allow any large animal that’s not a dog to be used as a service animal.

McConnaughy said there are plenty of snakes where she grew up in the Russian Far East. However, there are no wild snakes in most of Alaska, and she’s not crazy about them, she said. “Here in Alaska, it’s kind of weird,” she said.

Celtic Odyssey with Music at the Mission

SUBMITTED BY

You are cordially invited to “Celtic Odyssey,” the annual Mission Masquerade Ball on Friday, April 7 to benefit Music at the Mission concerts, music education and community outreach, and summer chamber music festival for promising young musicians. Music at the Mission is proud to honor champions of the arts and culture in the Tri-City area, and this year will recognize Fremont Bank and Music at the Mission Volunteer of the Year, Christina Rodriguez.

Founded in 1964, Fremont Bank is one of the oldest independent, family-owned and managed banks in the state and focuses on personalized service for clients. It has 18 branches in the counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Santa Clara, San Francisco, and Monterey with loan production offices in Sacramento and Los Angeles counties.

“Fremont Bank provides tremendous support of our community through the arts and culture,” said Aileen Chanco, Music at the Mission Executive Director. “From its first season onward, Music at the Mission was one of numerous arts organizations in the Tri-City area to receive financial support from Fremont Bank and Fremont Bank Foundation. As a result, Music at the Mission is now in the 12th season of serving the community with classical chamber music performances.”

Fremont Bank and Fremont Bank Foundation will receive the Music at the Mission Cultural Arts Recognition Award. “Every nonprofit needs the support of leaders, donors and volunteers to fulfill their mission, achieve their goals and take flight. Without the help and assistance of individuals and businesses in the community that have so generously supported us and helped ‘pave the way,’ we could not be here today,” said Chanco.

In recognition of the countless hours and enduring commitment made by a volunteer to Music at the Mission, the Music at the Mission Board of Directors will present the Volunteer of the Year Award to Christina Rodriguez. “Christina has been a powerhouse volunteer for Music at the Mission with her many talents and organization skills,” said Chanco. “She has worked tirelessly on the ball committee for many years and Salon Series. We look forward to honoring her many hours and dedication she has given to Music at the Mission.

“We would also like to recognize Fremont Bank, Robson Homes, Dutra Enterprises, Washington Hospital Foundation, Ohlone College Foundation, and BJ Travel for their sponsorship of Celtic Odyssey.”

This year’s Masquerade Ball at the DoubleTree by Hilton Newark-Fremont will be a memorable evening of Celtic-themed entertainment, including music by the band Molly’s Revenge. It’s a wonderful celebration with dinner, live music, creative masks, dragons, dancing, costumes, auctions and more. Dress is formal or Celtic-inspired costume. A fabulous mask is not required, but it’s always a good Masquerade Ball fashion choice!

As part of the special evening, the chef has planned a wonderful menu with three entrée choices, including a vegetarian option. Call or e-mail Music at the Mission for tickets or purchase them online at www.CelticOdyssey.BrownPaperTickets.com by March 31.

Woman arrested in Walmart parking lot rampage

SUBMITTED BY
LT. MATIAS PARDO,
UNION CITY PD

After a four-day search, police in Union City arrested a woman in a highly publicized vehicle assault incident in a Walmart parking lot. The incident started March 19 when the suspect struck several people while backing her car out of a stall in the store's parking lot around 6 p.m. Detectives, aided by numerous tips from the public and surveillance video from the store, were able to determine the woman's identity.

Jessica Malicoat

The 23-year-old suspect, identified as Jessica Malicoat, was taken into custody without incident at her Hayward home on March 23. She was taken to Santa Rita Jail where she faces arraignment on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Detectives are still investigating the case and are asking that anyone who may have more information about the incident to contact the Investigations division at (510) 675-5207.

Fremont Police Log

SUBMITTED BY
GENEVA BOSQUES,
FREMONT PD

Friday, March 17

At 11:41 p.m., Officer Paiva responded to a single vehicle collision at Mission Boulevard and Grau. A driver in a tan 1999 Buick LS (later reported stolen), struck a pole and then fled on foot prior to police arriving. About an hour later, the registered owner of the vehicle called to report that the car had been stolen earlier in the night while she was at work off of Crestwood Street. Officers searched for witnesses and video but were unsuccessful.

Saturday, March 18

At 8:12 p.m. officers were dispatched to a report of a robbery at the Walmart on Osgood Road. A man reportedly exited the store with a phone and then brandished a utility knife at a store employee who confronted him. Officers arrived a short time later and are able to identify the suspect who had left the scene, after watching video surveillance. Officers are seeking a warrant for the arrest of the suspect on suspicion of robbery and brandishing a weapon.

Sunday, March 19

A resident on Serramonte Terrace in the Niles district called to report that after hearing her doorbell ring, she found a man standing in the threshold of her unlocked front door. When the victim asked the man what he was doing, he mumbled something about selling papers and walked out of the house. He was described as a white man in his 30s, standing about 6-feet-two-inches tall, wearing a Warrior's hat with a flashlight on it, a ragged navy blue shirt and old Levi's. Witnesses in the area said they saw a similar man leaving the area on a bike

Monday, March 20

At 4:28 p.m. officers were dispatched to a business on the 2600 block of Mowry Avenue to investigate a reported battery. The victim, a store employee, said that a woman was escorted out of the store by employees on suspicion of theft. Once the woman was outside the business, she turned toward the victim and struck her with an open hand on the shoulder, near her neck. The suspect then fled the area. Officer Latimer located and detained a woman with a similar description of the suspect on Civic Center Drive, a short distance away. The 52-year-old suspect was identified during an in-field line-up and arrested on suspicion of battery.

At 7:37 p.m. officers investigated an armed robbery at a restaurant on the 100 block of Anza Street. Two suspects entered the business; pistol whipped one of the employees and then stole money and a phone. The suspects were described as two black men, approximately 6-feet-2-inches tall, wearing black hoodies, black pants and masks covering their faces. They were both armed with handguns.

Tuesday, March 21

A man called police and reported he was attacked at the Gateway Shopping Plaza. The suspect was described as man in his 30s, standing about 5-feet-6-inches tall, with a heavy build. He was wearing headphones, a silver/black shirt and blue jeans. The case investigated by Officer T. Roberts.

At 8:23 p.m. a woman reported that a man, who said he had a gun, took a gold chain from around her neck in the 45300 block of Parkmeadow Drive. Officers responded with lights and sirens, but were not able to locate the suspect. The woman had been walking with a female friend when the unknown man came out from behind bushes and asked them a question. As they attempted to walk away, the man approached from behind and stated he had a gun. He then grabbed at the neck of one of the females and also at her wrists trying to remove her jewelry. The man was described as a black male adult in his 20's with close cropped hair and no facial hair, wearing a camo jacket. He was seen running southbound on Parkmeadow Drive. One of the women sustained minor injuries to her fingers. Further investigation revealed a possible suspect vehicle, described as a silver sedan with tinted windows and shiny wheels last seen traveling toward Grimmer Boulevard. The case was investigated by Officer Scherer.

Wednesday, March 22

Shortly after 11:00 p.m. officers responded to an assault with a deadly weapon incident, reported to be a stabbing in the area of Converse and Mintwood Streets. Officers arrived and located a man suffering from a stab wound. Officers initiated medical aid and the man was taken to a trauma center with non-life threatening injuries. An investigation is ongoing.

At 11:55 p.m. a man from Lee Street in the Irvington district called to report a man with a gun was trying to kill his family. Arriving officers arrive confirmed an assault with a deadly weapon occurred, possibly with a stick but no gun was actually seen. Officers located the suspect in a white van in a parking lot near Mowry Avenue and Paseo Padre Parkway. The 34-year-old man was detained and later arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon (not a firearm), criminal threats and domestic battery. He is taken to Santa Rita. No gun was ever located. Officer Watts and Field Training Officer Harvey handled the investigation.

Union City Police Log

SUBMITTED BY
LT. MATIAS PARDO,
UNION CITY PD

Friday, March 17

At about 11:55 p.m. Officer Jensen contacted the driver of a parked vehicle in the area of Darlene and Loretta Way. A search of his vehicle turned up a large amount of methamphetamine and items indicative of sales. Randall Cablay, 30 of Newark, was arrested for various drug-related offenses.

Saturday, March 18

At around 2:30 p.m. Officer Perry was in the 32100 block of Alvarado Niles Road when he located a vehicle reported stolen out of Hayward. Albert Balucan, 23, and Ma Onia, both of Union City, were arrested on suspicion of vehicle theft, possessing burglary tools, and drug-related offenses.

At around 11:40 p.m. Officer Blanchard made a traffic stop in the area of Whipple Road and Industrial Parkway Southwest. A vehicle search turned up stolen debit and credit cards and "shaved" keys. Steven Buchter, 28, of Fremont, was arrested on suspicion of possessing stolen property and burglary tools.

Sunday, March 19

At around 2:15 a.m. Sgt. Holt was in the area of Whipple Road and Industrial Parkway Southwest when he saw an item tossed out of the front passenger window of a vehicle. The item was later determined to be a loaded semi-automatic handgun. The vehicle was stopped, and Erica Rojo, 28, of Union City was arrested on weapons charges.

At around 6:30 p.m. officers were dispatched to the 4500 block of Dyer Street on the report of a robbery. Two men with a knife robbed two victims of their wallets. The first suspect was described as a white man in his 20s, standing about 5-feet-10-inches tall, with a muscular build and a "buzz" hair style. The second suspect was described as a Hispanic or black man in his 20s, about 5-feet-10-inches tall with a slender build and short hair.

California justice doesn't want immigration arrests in court

BY AMY TAXIN, ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES (AP), The chief justice of the California Supreme Court asked federal immigration agents Thursday to stop making arrests at courthouses, saying "stalking undocumented immigrants" at the facilities thwarts people's access to justice.

Chief Justice Tani G. Cantil-Sakauye wrote in a letter to top federal officials that she is concerned about recent reports of immigration agents going to the courts to track down immigrants for arrest, saying the practice will affect the public's confidence in the court system.

"Courthouses should not be used as bait in the necessary enforcement of our country's immigration laws," she wrote in the letter to Attorney General Jeff Sessions and Homeland Security Secretary John Kelly, adding that crime and domestic violence victims and witnesses all go to the courts seeking justice and due process of the law.

The letter comes amid a series of reports of arrests at courthouses in California, Oregon and Texas as federal immigration agents have been called on to step up deportations under President Donald Trump.

Immigration and Customs Enforcement weighs many factors when deciding where to make an arrest, including whether authorities have a home or work address for the person they are seeking and what is safest for officers and community, said Virginia Kice, an agency spokeswoman.

"While ICE does arrest targets at courthouses, generally it's only after investigating officers have exhausted other options," she said in a statement.

A Justice Department spokesman declined to comment on the letter.

Last month, immigration agents in Texas arrested a woman at an El Paso courthouse while she was obtaining a protection order against an alleged abuser. The arrest sparked an outcry from victim's advocates, saying it would dissuade others from coming forward to report abuse for fear of being deported.

ICE said it also has made arrests in recent months at courthouses in Oregon and Southern California.

Many of those taken into custody at courthouses have criminal convictions but are no longer turned over to federal agents by local law enforcement as they were some years ago, Kice said.

Courthouses can be seen as a relatively safe place for federal immigration agents to make arrests because people pass through metal detectors to enter. But many advocates for immigrants and victims decry the practice, saying immigrants will be afraid to report crime or show up for hearings.

"Enforcement policies that include stalking courthouses and arresting undocumented immigrants, the vast majority of whom pose no risk to public safety, are neither safe nor fair," Cantil-Sakauye wrote. "They not only compromise our core value of fairness but they undermine the judiciary's ability to provide equal access to justice."

The practice also can create additional legal problems. Immigration attorney Philippe Martinet said he was recently in court in Arizona when a man identified himself as an immigration officer and arrested his client.

Because of the immigration arrest, the client missed his trial date on assault charges and the judge issued a warrant for him.

Martinet said that whatever new policies ICE is implementing, they need to be thought out thoroughly because they can derail criminal trials.

"You need to implement it in a way that doesn't throw a wrench in the system," he said.

The letter from the California chief justice was welcomed by the American Civil Liberties Union of Southern California, which several years ago raised concerns about deportation agents making arrests at courthouses in Kern County. At that time, ICE said it would refrain from making such arrests, except in "exigent circumstances."

East Bay Regional Parks weather the storm

BY BEVERLY LANE

Although this winter's storms brought a much-needed supply of water, they also unfortunately caused a lot of damage in the East Bay Regional Park District. Probably the hardest hit was Del Valle Regional Park 10 miles south of Livermore. The park surrounds Lake Del Valle, a five-mile long reservoir that is part of the California State Water Project.

Winter storms resulted in a lot of runoff water into the lake, while releases from the dam had to be restricted to avoid damage downstream. As a result, lakeside facilities were flooded five times during the winter. These included the boating concession, picnic grounds, campsites and the Rocky Ridge Visitor Center. I toured the flooded lake and it was really weird to see the beaches and lines of trees under water.

Pending extensive cleanup and repair, the district has closed the main part of the park, which is reached via Del Valle Road off Mines Road. Tentative reopening date is April 15. The trailhead at the end of Arroyo Road is open now, but be advised that trails within the park may be very muddy and/or blocked by trees.

Other regional parks saw storm damage, too. To mention just a few:

- At Las Trampas Regional Wilderness in San Ramon, the paved road leading uphill that is the first leg of the Rocky Ridge View Trail was cut by a sizeable washout. Pedestrians could get past it, but not vehicles.
- A large slide closed the Castle Rock Trail at the intersection with the Stage Road Trail in Diablo Foothills Regional Park near Walnut Creek.
- Sections of the Stream Trail, Bridle Trail East Ridge Trail and Phillips Loop Trail, all at Redwood Regional Park in Oakland, had to be closed due to mudslides and fallen trees.

•And to reach Morgan Territory Regional Preserve east of Mt. Diablo you must drive in on Morgan Territory Road from Livermore, because the road is damaged south of Clayton by a large slide.

Park visitors are likely to find other regional park trails closed or partially blocked by mudslides and fallen trees. For your own safety, please abide by any closure signs that you encounter while exploring the backcountry.

For up-to-date information on park and trail closures, visit the park district web site at www.ebparks.org. Click on "All Park & Trail Closure Information" under Notices at the top center of the home page.

The flip side of all the bad news is that this is likely to be an outstanding year for wildflowers. Early bloomers have already appeared in many regional parks: Indian warrior, shooting star, buttercups and blue dicks among others.

Best places to view wildflower displays in the regional parks include the Chaparral Loop Trail at Black Diamond Mines, Camp Arroyo Road and the Canyon View Trail at Sunol Regional Wilderness, and the Prairie Falcon Trail at Morgan Territory. The Cascade Trail at Anthony Chabot Regional Park is another good bet.

Park district naturalists often lead wildflower walks. And there will be a Spring Wildflower Festival from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, April 9 at Sunol Regional Wilderness. Activities include wildflower hikes, arts and crafts, and live entertainment. The park is on Geary Road off Calaveras Road five miles south of I-680 and the town of Sunol. There's a $5 parking fee per vehicle; the festival is free of charge.

So don't be discouraged. Despite all the storm damage, this spring is going to be especially beautiful in the East Bay Regional Parks. Don't miss it.

East Bay students advance to state spelling bee championships

SUBMITTED BY ALAMEDA COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION

At the annual Alameda County Elementary and Junior High School Spelling Bee on March 18, the top eight students were honored after successfully completing multiple rounds of intense spelling challenges. Approximately 70 students from nine Alameda County school districts competed at the event hosted by the Alameda County Office of Education (ACOE).

Alameda County Superintendent of Schools L. Karen Monroe offered her compliments to the participants, stating, "Congratulations to all of the students who competed, and especially to our county winners. I wish you all the best as you represent your school, district, and county at the state competitions."

In addition to ACOE staff who organized the event, Alameda County Board of Education Trustees Aisha Knowles, Yvonne Cerrato, and Amber Childress were in attendance, cheering on students.

Trustee Knowles, who serves as the County Board's Countywide Events Advisor, stated, "It is a joy to watch our county's students come together in friendly competition, supporting each other when disappointed by a misspelled word and cheering each other on with each successful spelling."

The winning word for the Elementary Spelling Bee was "rotisserie," spelled correctly by Anita Simon, 6th grader at Creekside Middle School in Castro Valley USD. The Junior High Spelling Bee winning word, "smorgasbord," was spelled correctly by Aarush Aitha, 8th grade student at Fallon Middle School in Dublin USD.

Alameda County Elementary Spelling Bee winners (7 rounds)

- 1st Place: Anita Simon, 6th grade, Creekside Middle School (Castro Valley USD)
- 2nd Place: Pradyum Gaddam, 4th grade, Niles Elementary (Fremont USD)
- 3rd Place: Nevanmee Kurulugama, 6th grade, Mendenhall Middle (Livermore Valley Joint USD)
- 4th Place: Ruijia Gu, 5th grade, Dayton Elementary (San Lorenzo USD)

Anita Simon and Pradyum Gaddam will compete at the State Elementary Bee on Saturday, May 13 at the San Joaquin County Office of Education in Stockton.

Alameda County Junior High Spelling Bee winners (5 rounds)

- 1st Place: Aarush Aitha, 8th grade, Fallon Middle School (Dublin USD)
- 2nd Place: Vishal Venkatesh, 8th grade, Fallon Middle School (Dublin USD)
- 3rd Place: Sage Plaisted, 7th grade Hillcrest School, (Oakland USD)
- 4th Place: Max Gochman 7th grade, Montera Middle School (Oakland USD)

Aarush Aitha and Vishal Venkatesh will compete at the State Junior High Bee on Saturday, May 6 at Miller Creek Middle School in San Rafael.

Hikers sought for 2017 Trails Challenge

SUBMITTED BY
ISA POLT-JONES, EAST BAY
REGIONAL PARK DISTRICT

East Bay hikers and walkers of all ages are invited to join the 2017 Trails Challenge program sponsored by the East Bay Regional Park District. The program is free to East Bay residents with support provided by the Regional Parks Foundation and Kaiser Permanente of Northern California.

To complete the challenge, participants must hike at least five trails or a minimum of 26.2 miles in the East Bay Regional Parks system by Dec. 1. The challenge is self-guided and self-paced; participants turn in a trail log to receive a commemorative pin. The program runs on the honor system; no verification of the hikes is required.

It's easy to participate and registration isn't required. But it's important to have the latest trail guidebook published by the park district. They're available at the visitor center at most East Bay Regional Parks.

The guidebooks also can be downloaded by visiting district's website at www.ebparks.org. A complete list of visitor centers is also available on the website or by calling (888) 327-2757 and choosing option 2.

Each year, the guidebook highlights 20 different trails throughout the park district. A handy guide is provided so readers can pick out the trail that's right for them: easy, moderate, or challenging, and with a variety of features. An icon alerts park visitors to trails that are open to dogs — most are. Six of this year's trails are accessible to wheelchair users.

"We're pleased to invite you outdoors once again with another year of this popular program," said EBRPD Regional Interpretive and Recreation Services Manager David Zuckermann. "With a menu of exciting options, it makes visiting the parks easy and accessible for all."

This year's featured hikes include trails in the following locations:

Alameda County

- Alameda Creek Regional Trail, Union City/Fremont
- Anthony Chabot Regional Park, Castro Valley
- Claremont Canyon Regional Preserve, Oakland
- Coyote Hills Regional Park, Fremont
- Crockett Hills Regional Park, Crockett
- Del Valle Regional Park, Livermore
- Five Canyons Open Space, Hayward
- Garin Regional Park, Hayward
- Leona Canyon Regional Open Space, Oakland

- Martin Luther King Jr. Regional Shoreline, Oakland
- Pleasanton Ridge Regional Park, Pleasanton
- Redwood Regional Park, Oakland
- Roberts Regional Recreation Area, Oakland

Contra Costa County

- Bishop Ranch Regional Preserve, San Ramon
- Brushy Peak Regional Preserve, Livermore
- Kennedy Grove Regional Recreation Area, Richmond
- Marsh Creek Regional Trail, Oakley/Brentwood

- Martinez Regional Shoreline
- Point Pinole Regional Shoreline, Richmond
- Wildcat Canyon Regional Park, Richmond

Scottish Fair at Ardenwood

The pipes are calling and the clans will gather at Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont on Saturday, April 1, for the annual Tartan Day Scottish Fair. Sponsored by the East Bay Regional Park District and the East Bay Scottish Association, the always-colorful event will convene from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Attractions will include live music (bagpipes!), Scottish dancing, handmade crafts, Highland athletics and historical re-enactments. Local Scottish clans and societies will share their heritage and culture. Fairies and a dragon will lurk in the Children’s Glen. Ethnic food will be available for purchase. Kilts are encouraged, though not required.

Ardenwood is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard, just north of Highway 84. Admission to the fair is $12 for adults, $8 for seniors ages 62 and older, $5 for children ages 4 through 17, and free for kids 3 and under. Parking is free. For information, call 510-544-2797. Besides the Scots, there’s lots more in store in coming days in the regional parks. For instance, you can step back in time for an afternoon of Paleolithic hunting activity from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, April 1 at Coyote Hills Regional Park, also in Fremont. Under the guidance of naturalist Dino Labiste, the group will learn how early people created stone tools, then try hitting a target with an atlatl dart. The atlatl was a throwing device used by hunters during the ice age. No animals will be harmed. The program is free of charge, designed for ages eight and older. Meet at the Coyote Hills Visitor Center, which is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There’s a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. Dino and the interpretive staff also plan a four-day “Stone Age Time Travelers” day camp for kids ages 9 through 13 this summer. It’s from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday, June 19 through Thursday, June 22. The kids will learn skills used by early cultures to thrive in their environment. Fire and shelter building, stone tool making and twisting cordage are all on the agenda. Registration is required and there is a fee of $200 per kid ($220 for non-district residents). For information, call the park district reservations department at 888-327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to program 16171. Up the road at Crab Cove Visitor Center in Alameda, animal camouflage is the theme of Family Nature Fun Hour from 2 to 3 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, April 1 and 2. Afterwards it’s fish feeding time from 3 to 3:30 p.m. at the center’s large aquarium. Crab Cove is at the end of McKay Avenue off Alameda’s Central Avenue. For information, call 510-544-3187. “Eat the Earth” is the theme of a program from 1 to 2 p.m. Sunday, April 2 at Tilden Nature Area’s Environmental Education Center near Berkeley, led by interpretive student aide Sharona Kleinman. You can learn about the different layers of soil, substituting pudding, cookies, gummy worms and more. Then from 3 to 4 p.m. the same day, naturalist Trent Pearce will lead a Little Farm sing-along featuring old-time songs about farming, work and play. You can become a Tilden Nature Area docent, helping with educational programs and at the Little Farm. Trent is conducting a docent training program that will meet from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on April 2, 9, 23 and 30. An application is required. Call 510-544-3257. The center and Little Farm are located at the north end of Tilden’s Central Park Drive. For general information, call 510-544-2233. Naturalists at Big Break Regional Shoreline in Oakley will take visitors on a hunt in search of that elusive bird, the snipe, from 2 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, April 1 (note the date). The group may not find a snipe, but will learn some Delta lore along the way. Big Break is on Big Break Road off Oakley’s Main Street. For information, call 888-327-2757, ext. 3050. There are lots of other activities available in the East Bay Regional Parks. Check out the website, www.ebparks.org.

Ohlone College Foundation news roundup

SUBMITTED BY OHLONE COLLEGE FOUNDATION

The Ohlone Foundation is proud to introduce Vanessa Bocog, the Foundation’s new administrative assistant. Bocog grew up in the Tri-Cities and is currently an East Bay resident. A product of community college, Vanessa attended Chabot College, where she earned an A.A. degree in liberal arts, with an emphasis on social and behavioral sciences. She later moved to California State University, East Bay and completed a B.A. in psychology. Bocog brings many skills to the Ohlone Foundation from her work in academia and non-profit. She most recently served as a Degree Audit Transfer Manager at the Academy of Art in San Francisco. Bocog also interned for Dress for Success, where she represented the organization at events.

The birth of Ohlone

In celebration of Ohlone College’s 50th Anniversary, Dr. Jim Wright, Emeritus Vice President of Academic Affairs, takes us on a journey through the formation and birth of the college in the early 1960s up to the first year of classes in 1967-68 with his book, The Birth of Ohlone College. We see historic images of very first Student Orientation in the Serra Center, we see the parking lot full of old automobiles on the very first day and many more. We learn about the struggles and challenges the very first trustees faced and the surprising fact that we were not always the Renegades. This book not only highlights our proud Ohlone College history but will benefit our future. All book campaign donations will go toward the 50th Anniversary celebration activities. Interested in obtaining his historic read? It is available with a $50 donation to the Ohlone College Foundation. Any questions? Send an email to foundation@ohlone.edu. Alumni in action The Ohlone College Foundation would like to introduce our proud alumna, Victoria Fishman Maroulis. This past January she connected with us to create the Victoria Maroulis Ohlone Promise Scholarship Endowment through a $36,000 donation to the Foundation. We are very grateful for this amazing gift. This endowment will generate enough income to fully fund one Ohlone Promise student per year. Maroulis came to the United States with her family as a political refugee in the spring of 1988 and settled in Fremont. When she started school at Ohlone in the fall of 1988, she received full financial aid, including a work-study job as a student counselor at the Career Services center where she worked her freshman year. She also got involved in student government and served on the Associated Students of Ohlone College for two years. In 1990 Maroulis graduated Ohlone College with an A.A. in Social Sciences. Then, she transferred to Stanford University where she received a B.A. in Political Science, Phi Beta Kappa, in 1992 and went on to receive her J.D. from the Yale Law School in 1995. Maroulis is currently the Managing Partner of the Silicon Valley Office of Quinn Emanuel, a business litigation law firm with more than 700 attorneys around the world. Her practice focuses on complex intellectual property litigation.

In additional to her practice, Maroulis regularly lectures on IP matters, judges regional mock trial and moot court student and young attorney competitions, and has taught trial practice at Stanford Law School and in low-income middle schools through the Citizen Schools program. She is also leading her firm’s pro bono legal research program supporting ADL’s litigation of civil rights issues. Her many fond memories of Ohlone include forging lasting friendships with fellow ASOC members (including recent Fremont mayor Bill Harrison and his wife Jennifer Toy Harrison), the spellbinding history lectures of Stacy Cole, spirited classroom discussions in Alan Kirshner’s political sciences classes, and poetry-writing workshop with Karen Rosenbaum.

Student corner

The Ohlone Promise Scholarship is contributing to student success for all its awardees. One of these successful students is Vicente Vera who grew up in Fremont and attended Kennedy High School. Vera is very grateful to be an Ohlone Promise Scholarship recipient. “It has helped me a lot. I save a lot of money and am really able to focus on my school work and studying instead of worrying about financial issues. It also allows me to save money for when I move on to a 4 year,” Vera said. After taking a public speaking class at Ohlone College, Vera changed his major to journalism. The creative, yet informative aspect of it all is what caught his interest. He really appreciated the instructor, Professor Peeters, for allowing students to channel their creativity and compose a speech that truly interested them. In doing this, Vera decided to start taking journalism classes which then lead him to join the Ohlone College Monitor as a staff writer. Vera’s passion for writing began when his third grade teacher gave the class an assignment to write their own book. Now, he is an aspiring writer with a goal to one day become a published writer.

When asked where life will take him after Ohlone, he says he hopes to attend San Jose State University. He is very interested in the journalism program and appreciates the added perk of staying close to home. Although Vera’s main focus is journalism, he is a firm believer in learning about all subjects. He enjoys taking classes outside of his typical spectrum of interest because he believes everything you learn will be useful. The one tip he would share with students is to enjoy what you study and try to appreciate it because everything you learn will contribute in life some way.

This winter’s major donors

- Margaret Brooks Living Trust donated $50,000 to the Ohlone College Scholarship Endowment
- Victoria Maroulis donated $36,000 creating an Ohlone Promise Endowment
- Verle Waters Living Trust donated $25,000 to the Verle Water’s Nursing Endowment
- Indo-Americans for Better Community donated $10,000 to the Ohlone Promise Scholarship
- Donna Runyon, emeritus softball coach, donated $5,000 for softball scholarships

Gu takes first place in speech contest

SUBMITTED BY DAVID ZEHNDER

Congratulations to Newark Memorial High School student Nainju Gu who placed first in the District 3 “Richard D. King” Rotary Youth Speech Contest. Incorporating elements of the Rotary International 4-Way Test, Ms. Gu’s winning speech titled “Legos Were Made for Everyone” was judged best of class by students representing clubs from throughout District 3. Ms. Gu now advances to the North Regional. The top two of these five competitors (and top two from the south regional contest) will advance to the District Finals, taking place on May 5 in Santa Cruz as part of the annual Rotary 5170 District Conference. Prospective Rotary Club members are invited to join us on Tuesdays at 12:00 noon at Bistro 880. Meetings feature club business, member announcements and an informative guest speaker. For further information about the Newark Rotary club and a schedule of upcoming meetings, click on our web site at www.newarkrotary.org.

Finnish gibberish talker finds fame, heads to US

BY MATTI HUUHTANEN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

HELSINKI (AP), A 19-year-old Finnish supermarket cashier with millions of Internet fans of her language imitation YouTube video is heading for America hoping her gibberish hit will open up a new career. In two weeks, Sara Maria Forsberg’s “What languages sound like to a foreigner” has drawn more than 9 million viewings, transforming her into a sought after celebrity that prompted the mayor of her hometown of Pietarsaari to hand her the town keys as a gesture of appreciation. Mayor Mikael Jakobsson says she “likely is the most famous person ever” to have been born in the coastal town of 20,000 inhabitants. Her agent Jere Hietala told the AP on Wednesday that Forsberg was headed for Los Angeles on March 29 after “numerous advertising related companies” had been in touch.

because my doctor makes me feel like I'm her only patient.

People choose Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) for lots of reasons. When Jessica Rivas was pregnant with twins, she was looking for a great obstetrician close to her home in Fremont. Jessica's mom, a nurse at Washington Hospital, knew that Dr. Stacey Barrie, a WTMF OB/GYN, would be the perfect choice for her daughter. Jessica took her mom's advice, and couldn't be happier. "Not only do I get attentive, individualized care from Dr. Barrie," said Jessica, "she's incredibly knowledgeable and experienced – and hilarious! You can tell that she really loves what she does." Since the twins' birth, Jessica continues to see Dr. Barrie and has recommended her to friends. And because Jessica's experience with the rest of the staff has been so positive, she has recommended other physicians in the group to friends and family as well.

Part of Washington Hospital

Because WTMF is an integral part of the Washington Hospital Healthcare System, we have immediate access to the system's wide array of advanced healthcare services, whenever you need them. This includes their highly awarded inpatient and outpatient facilities and specialty centers.

Washington MyChart

is an online resource which allows our patients to see their personal health information in a safe, secure and private manner. Accessible from your mobile or desktop device, you can view your test results, prescriptions, allergies, immunizations, and other portions of your health record. You can also send a message to your doctor's office, schedule an appointment, or request a referral.

Our WTMF specialist network has a staff of board certified physicians who work as a team, consulting regularly and collaborating to provide patients with thorough, in-depth care in specialties ranging from Cardiology and Neurosurgery to Endocrinology and Geriatrics..
