Historic light show shines again

In this year of big 50th anniversaries – Summer of Love, Monterey Pop, "Sgt. Pepper's" – there's another smaller but significant anniversary to celebrate: 1967 saw the founding of the Little Princess 109 light show, one of the mainstays of the San Francisco ballroom scene. Little Princess 109 began as a jug band for Union City's James Logan High School senior year talent show in 1967. Many rock bands at that time had their names printed on their bass drums. The band's rhythm instrument was a washboard, and already printed on it was the trade name, Little Princess No. 109. Logic dictated that must be their name. Founding members included Chris Mickey, Kirk Linstrum, Jeff Hawley, Jerry Radcliff, Jacque Asbury, Vince Green, Gary Lawrence, Rollin Lewis, and David Hillis—LP 109. From its talent show origins and inspired by visits to the legendary Fillmore Auditorium that spring, by the end of 1968 Little Princess 109 began shining its lights at Fillmore West and Winterland. By the time Fillmore West was shuttered in July 1971, Little Princess 109 projected more than 200 nights of lights for Bill Graham Presents – more than any other light show. Over 50 classic posters commemorate their run. They worked

FASTER THAN A SPEEDING BULLET...

Opening lines and musical themes have introduced young and old to superheroes for generations. In the past, alien beings and influences dominated the genre and much of that remains as a basis for new iterations as well. With their resurgence, heroes and villains continue to battle for supremacy in print, on big and little screens. Not only do these figures illustrate traditional themes of good versus evil, but continue to explore complex issues such as gender identity and character flaws. Two dimensional characters that in the past may have included a subtle subtext of complexity, are now accompanied by those that transform in shape and values, offering alternative ethical concepts. In honor of the popularity of new characters and re-emergence of classic heroes, sidekicks, anti-heroes and downright villains, Tri-City Voice has partnered with local libraries to encourage pre-teens to create a new set of superheroes. Free supplies are available at participating libraries to assist in the quest to find new heroes with extraordinary powers. Beginning August 1, Spiderman and Wonder Woman will be waiting to greet and inspire creativity; they will even let you take a picture with them! Each library will select the most original and imaginative superhero to be published in a special edition of Tri-City Voice in September. Will your superhero be the one?

When Ordinary Infections Become Deadly

Without proper treatment, ordinary infections can become so severe that they can actually be deadly. That's because chemicals released into the blood to fight the infection can cause widespread inflammation. This life-threatening condition is called sepsis.

"The inflammation can restrict blood flow and cause organs to shut down," explained Dr. Kadeer Halimi, who specializes in emergency medicine at Washington Hospital. "That's why people sometimes refer to sepsis as blood poisoning."

To help raise awareness about this dangerous condition, Dr. Halimi will present "Learn the Signs and Symptoms of Sepsis" with Dr. Rohit Arora, who is an intensivist hospitalist at Washington Hospital. The free seminar will be held on Tuesday, August 29, from 1 to 3 p.m., at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD Auditorium, located at 2500 Mowry Ave. (Washington West) in Fremont.

You can register online at www.whhs.com/events or call (800) 963-7070 for more information.

"It's critical for patients to know the warning signs because sepsis can be prevented with early interventions," Dr. Halimi said. "We want to make sure people understand when to seek medical attention."

Bacteria are the most common cause, but other microbes like viruses and fungi can also cause sepsis, he explained. Pneumonia, urinary tract infections, skin infections, appendicitis and meningitis can all lead to sepsis if the infection spreads.

"But any infection can turn into sepsis," Dr. Halimi added. "That's why we really need to be diligent about clearing up infections with proper treatment."

Anyone can get sepsis, although Dr. Halimi said those most at risk for sepsis are people with compromised immune systems due to illnesses like diabetes and AIDS, and medical treatments such as chemotherapy and steroids. Babies and the elderly also have an increased risk because they have weaker immune systems.

Early Treatment Saves Lives

According to the National Institutes of Health (NIH), every year severe sepsis strikes more than 1 million people in the U.S. and an estimated 28 to 50 percent of them die from it.

Patients have much better outcomes when they are treated for sepsis before it causes serious damage to the body, according to Dr. Halimi. Washington Hospital has a sepsis protocol in place so that physicians and nurses can immediately recognize the signs and symptoms of sepsis and implement an aggressive treatment plan.

"We start administering antibiotics and fluids immediately to fight the infection and stabilize blood pressure," he explained. "The faster we can get the treatment started, the better outcomes we see for our patients."

People with severe sepsis require close monitoring and treatment in the Hospital intensive care unit. If the patient has severe sepsis or septic shock, lifesaving measures may be needed to stabilize breathing and heart function, Dr. Halimi added.

The number of sepsis cases per year has been on the rise in the U.S. The NIH attributes this rise to an aging population, the increased longevity of people with chronic diseases, the spread of antibiotic-resistant organisms, an upsurge in invasive procedures and broader use of medications that suppress the immune system.

"It's important to remember that anyone can get sepsis and any infection can get out of control and cause sepsis," Dr. Halimi emphasized. "That's why everyone should know the signs and symptoms of this potentially deadly medical condition."

PATIENT STORY:
Joel Korelitz Shares
His Partial Knee Replacement Experience at Washington Hospital

As someone who has led an extremely active life, I looked forward to retirement. Working less was going to mean more time for golf, skiing, and pickleball—a sport similar to tennis but on a much smaller court. But unfortunately, my 16 years of National Ski Patrol, 50+ years of skiing moguls, helicopter skiing adventures, and too-frequent pickleball matches, started to catch up with me. The difficulty I was having with my knees was increasing to the point that I could barely take a step without discomfort.

Maybe worse than the pain, my golf game was suffering. I knew I had to do something, so I began researching medical procedures for knees. As a member of the La Rinconada Country Club in Los Gatos, I play golf on a regular basis. In our group of friends, there are several people who have had full or partial knee replacements. That's where I first heard of Dr. Alexander Sah of the Institute for Joint Restoration and Research (IJRR) at Washington Hospital. His diagnosis indicated that I required a partial knee replacement.

When considering a partial knee replacement, my two main concerns were recovery time and infection. I assume that most doctors have similar science and technological training. But when it comes to surgeons, the hands do the talking. I asked patients how long it took them to get up and move and what their scars looked like. I also researched hospital infection rates. Every concern seemed to point to “Dr. Sah and Washington Hospital” as the solution. Former patients told me they were walking the same day as the procedure and had barely noticeable scars—to me, the sign of a caring and competent surgical team.

It is wonderful when results meet expectations. The members of the team at the IJRR were exceptional. Every team member has a role and does it well. I was provided with a prepared binder of information that addressed both pre- and post-surgery timeframes, together with additional resources. I had my left knee operated on in October of last year and by the first weekend in December—seven weeks later—I was playing golf again. In early May of the following year, I competed with 150 other pickleball players in the 2017 San Francisco Bay Area Senior Pickleball Games, taking the silver medal in a mixed doubles event.

Recently, at my six-month checkup, I mentioned to Dr. Sah that my right knee was now bothering me. After evaluating x-rays and an MRI, he suggested I consider the same procedure on that knee. I knew it was the smart thing to do—but I had golfing plans. I was scheduled to be in a tournament the weekend of July 14 and for August, I had organized a four-course/five-day event in Tahoe. Dr. Sah assured me that if we moved quickly, I’d be ready. We scheduled the surgery for the early morning of June 8. After the procedure, I was walking later that day, and yes, I played golf on July 14 and 15 and I look forward to the event in Tahoe.

In all seriousness, whether you enjoy recreational sports or just being active with your family, constant knee pain negatively impacts many aspects of your life. I am lucky to be near 80 years old in 2017 and not in 1960. Fortunately, in this day and age, there are physicians like Dr. Sah who put people back together again, so they can enjoy the activities—the life—that brings personal happiness.

Historic light show shines again

with some of the biggest acts of the day, including the Grateful Dead, Santana, Janis Joplin, and The Band’s first ever public concerts.

In this modern era of computerized lighting effects, Little Princess 109 was charmingly analog. Its 9 – 10 members swirled colored liquids inside old clock faces on up to five overhead projectors, while simultaneously hand-painted slides were shown through 16 slide projectors with spinning color wheels, all augmented by film loops from three movie projectors.

After the demise of the Fillmore West, the light show troupe dimmed its lights too and the members went on with their lives, except for a special reunion show with Santana and Journey at the Cow Palace on New Year’s Eve 1977.

But one member, Jerry Radcliff, 68, couldn’t let it go. From his home in southern Oregon, he started doing one-man shows a couple years ago at local clubs, bars, and Prankster events with a couple of old overheads he ran across. The old group had always kept in touch and even reunited their jug band at their 2012 reunion. Inspired by Radcliff’s boldness, the group was determined to reassemble their old show for their 50th reunion this year.

On Friday, August 4 at the Swiss Park in Newark, Little Princess 109, with liquids, movies, and slides, will once again light up the night, accompanied by Eddy and The Jukers and The Dead Guise. A limited number of tickets for $15 are available through Brown Paper Tickets. Don’t miss this rare opportunity to witness psychedelic history – blink your eyes in the wonderment of what you see, blink again and it’s gone!

Brewer vs. Brewer

SUBMITTED BY
DRAKE'S BREWING COMPANY

San Leandro's Drake's Brewing Company is getting in the ring with Monterey's Alvarado Street Brewery for an epic beer dinner showdown! This (mostly) friendly competition is a battle royale to see who can best pair their signature and rare brews with a five-course prix fixe meal, brought to you by resident food expert Chef Taylor.

This epic altercation of fermentation will be a standoff between Drake's Brewing Co.'s John Gillooly and Alvarado Street's J.C. Hill. Each one will bring four of their very best liquid offerings, allowing you to taste eight delicious brews side by side with your meal, then cast your vote for the best pairing. This special night also marks the debut release of cans of our collaboration beer, Hong Kong Garden. We brewed this Lychee IPA last time we went head-to-head with our friends from Monterey and it was such a hit, we had to bring it back. Who will win our second face off? That's entirely up to you!

$89 price includes five-course private dining experience, with nine beer pairings and open discussion session with the brewers. Service fees, tax and gratuity included. Limited seating available. Visit www.eventbrite.com/e/brewer-v-brewer-drakes-alvarado-street-tickets-36291703462 for tickets.

Film tells story of A-bomb aftermath, compassion, closure

SUBMITTED BY REV. JEFFREY SPENCER

'Paper Lanterns' is the story of two of the 12 American airmen who died in the bombing of Hiroshima August 6, 1945, and the Japanese witness to the bombing who uncovered their stories. The film will be shown August 12 at 1:30 p.m. as part of the free Second Saturday Documentary Series at Niles Discovery Church.

Hundreds of thousands of Japanese died as a result of the atomic bombs dropped on the cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. As an eight-year-old, Shegeaki Mori witnessed the destruction, and as an adult he wondered about the 12 anonymous U.S. prisoners of war. Believing these men were as worthy of remembrance as any of the victims, he began the decades-long research into who they were.

"I believed at the very least the next of kin had to be informed," Mr. Mori explained.

Barry Frechette's film documents Mr. Mori's quest for information and how he shared it with the families of Normand Brissette of Massachusetts and Ralph Neal of Kentucky, helping to bring closure and peace to everyone involved.

The film takes its title from the paper lanterns that are floated down the river in front of the Hiroshima Peace Museum every August 6, symbolizing spirits departing this world for the next.

The Second Saturday Documentary Series is co-sponsored by Niles Discovery Church and the San Jose Peace & Justice Center.

BRICKS BY THE BAY

“Bricks by the Bay™” is one of the largest LEGO® conventions in the Western U.S. and the premier annual display of LEGO brick creations in Northern California. So what exactly is a LEGO® convention, you ask? Bricks by the Bay is a four-day celebration of all things LEGO, where hobbyists, artists, fans and enthusiasts come together to learn, share and play. The convention will be held Thursday, August 3 – Sunday, August 6 at the Santa Clara Convention Center in Santa Clara.

Convention attendees bring their wonderful LEGO brick creations to display. We gather for brick building seminars, LEGO-themed fun and games, and to hear from luminaries and ambassadors of LEGO brick building. The weekend culminates with a public show where we invite the public to come through the 33,000+ square footage of ballroom space to look at our creations on display and buy from our vendors.

The 2017 Bricks by the Bay convention theme is California Dreamin’. Whether it is brick built models of famous California landmarks or other inspired builds that invoke the spirit and history of the Golden State, the attendees’ creations are sure to inspire. So join us this summer, which marks the 50th anniversary of the Summer of Love, and share some love for our favorite bricks!

Park District supports National Monuments

SUBMITTED BY DAVE MASON

On Wednesday, July 5, 2017, the East Bay Regional Park District Board of Directors took action to support California's national monuments. The Board voted unanimously to adopt a resolution outlining their support for protected national monuments and urging President Trump to honor all designated national monuments.

On April 26, 2017, President Trump issued an Executive Order calling for a review of all national monuments designated since 1996 which are over 100,000 acres. The executive order applies to six California monuments: Berryessa Snow Mountain (Napa, Solano and Yolo counties), Giant Sequoia in the southern Sierra, Carrizo Plain in southern San Joaquin Valley, San Gabriel Mountains northeast of Los Angeles and two desert monuments Sand to Snow and Mojave Trails.

“America's protected federal public lands and national monuments belong to all Americans,” said East Bay Regional Park District General Manager Robert Doyle. “The East Bay Regional Park District calls on the President to honor and protect the integrity of all national monuments, as have been designated by U.S. Presidents since 1906.”

The Antiquities Act of 1906 authorizes U.S. Presidents to designate as national monuments any historic landmarks, historic and prehistoric structures and other objects of historic or scientific interest that are located on land owned or controlled by the federal government. Twenty-two such monuments have been designated in California.

“Our nation has a tradition of protecting public lands for the benefit of all Americans,” said Doyle. “California's designated national monuments help define who we are as Californians and as a nation, and help protects these public lands for future generations.”

National monuments and other federal protected public lands also benefit tourism and economic development – supporting thousands of jobs across California and the country. In California alone, outdoor recreation generates $85 billion in consumer spending annually and supports over 730,000 jobs.

California court ruling could speed up bullet train project

A California appeals court earlier ruled in favor of several municipalities south of San Francisco that challenged the high-speed rail project using the state law. The California Court of Appeal sided with Atherton, Menlo Park, Palo Alto and a collection of community groups in ruling that federal law does not trump the California environmental law.

What drug-dealing ‘darknet’ sites have in common with eBay

BY ANICK JESDANUN,
ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP), AlphaBay, the now-shuttered online marketplace that authorities say traded in illegal drugs, firearms and counterfeit goods, wasn't all that different from any other e-commerce site, court documents show.

Not only did it work hard to match buyers and sellers and to stamp out fraud, it offered dispute-resolution services when things went awry and kept a public-relations manager to promote the site to new users.

Of course, AlphaBay was no eBay. It went to great lengths to hide the identities of its vendors and customers, and it promoted money-laundering services to mask the flow of bitcoin and other digital currencies from prying eyes.

Such “darknet” sites operate in an anonymity-friendly internet netherworld that's inaccessible to ordinary browsers. If you've ever found yourself wondering just how they really work, a U.S. criminal case unveiled July 20 offers an eye-opening look.

WHAT IS ALPHABAY?

U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions calls it the largest darknet marketplace shut down in a sting. Darknet refers to the use of various technologies to mask the site's operators and users, allowing buyers and sellers to connect anonymously—to each other and to law enforcement.

Authorities say the site trafficked drugs such as heroin and cocaine, fake and stolen IDs, computer hacking tools, firearms and counterfeit goods. The site also facilitated services such as money laundering and swatting—the practice of making bomb threats and other false reports to law enforcement, usually to harass perceived enemies.

AlphaBay went so far as to hire scam watchers to monitor and quash scams on the site. It had a public-relations manager responsible for outreach to users and the broader illicit-trade community. The site also employed moderators to resolve disputes and refund payments when necessary.

STAYING HIDDEN

AlphaBay hid its tracks with Tor, a network of thousands of computers run by volunteers. With Tor, traffic gets relayed through several computers. At each stop, identifying information is stripped, so that no single computer knows the full chain. It would be like one person passing on a message to the next, and so on. The tenth person would have no clue who the first eight people are.

Tor has a number of legitimate uses. Human rights advocates, for instance, can use it to communicate inside authoritarian countries. But Tor is also popular for trading goods that eBay and other legitimate marketplaces won't touch.

To further promote secrecy, AlphaBay accepted only digital currencies such as bitcoin and monero. In doing so, participants skirted reporting requirement that come when moving $10,000 or more in a single transaction. While bitcoin can be traced when converted back to regular currencies, AlphaBay offered “mixing and tumbling services” to shuffle bitcoin through several accounts before the conversion.

Vendors were also required to use encryption for all communications to keep them safe from spies.

MONEY MATTERS

Buyers funded their accounts with digital currencies, similar to loading an Amazon gift card with money. When making a purchase, buyers moved money from their accounts to an escrow. The payment was released to sellers once buyers confirmed receipt of the goods.

AlphaBay took a 2 percent to 4 percent commission, and that added up. The suspect behind the site, Alexandre Cazes, had amassed a fortune of $23 million. As part of the case, authorities sought the forfeiture of properties in Thailand, bank accounts and four vehicles, including a Lamborghini and a Porsche.

City of Fremont implements longer yellow times

SUBMITTED BY CHERYL GOLDEN

During the week of July 31, 2017, the City of Fremont Public Works Department is adjusting the yellow timing for traffic signals across the city to comply with State of California requirements that go into effect on August 1, 2017. The City of Fremont operates traffic signals at a total of 175 intersections.

This effort is similar to Fremont's action taken in 2015 to adjust yellow timing for traffic signals having automated red light enforcement cameras in order to comply with the changes in State law at the time. Fremont operates red-light cameras at 10 locations.

Most of the yellow time changes are along major streets with speeds higher than 35 miles per hour. For example, the yellow time for left turn movements increased from 3.5 seconds to 4.0 seconds along higher speed roadways. On Auto Mall Parkway, the yellow time for through traffic increased from 4.7 seconds to 5.0 seconds.

At two locations, the yellow time decreased slightly. On Mowry Avenue at Farwell Drive and Blacow Road, the yellow time was adjusted from 4.7 seconds to 4.5 seconds. Both intersections have red-light cameras. The reduction in yellow time was made to correct a previous excessive allocation of yellow time for these intersections and to provide a consistent amount of yellow time along the Mowry corridor at multiple intersections. As a result, red-light camera citations will not be issued for violations occurring in the 4.5 to 4.7 second range during a two-month period. However, if someone runs the red light in excess of 4.7 seconds, they may receive a red-light camera citation even during the two-month period.

Fremont is also taking additional steps to enhance safety by increasing minimum yellow times for major streets to the nearest half-second, and by ensuring uniformity in yellow times along a corridor. Some roadway corridors like Mowry Avenue have a variation in operating speeds, which can cause differences in minimum yellow times. Where this occurs, Fremont has increased yellow times to achieve corridor consistency. Overall, the increase in yellow time is expected to enhance traffic safety and aligns with Fremont's Vision Zero goals to eliminate traffic fatalities.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: AUGUST 2 - AUGUST 8

For All Signs: August is the eclipse month this year. We begin this week on August 7, 2017, with a full moon eclipse in the sign of Aquarius which carries the symbolism of that which is good for everyone. The second, a total solar eclipse, occurs on Aug. 21, 2017, in the sign of Leo. That one will be especially notable, because the path of the eclipse crosses the United States, from northwest to southeast. I will write more about it in 2 weeks.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Uranus, the god of change and surprise, turns retrograde in your sign this week. This suggests that you may be backing away from a previous direction, opting out instead of opting in. This planet of individuation has one more year of traveling with you before it changes signs. If you are headed for a significant change in life direction, you will probably accomplish it next spring.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): Don't allow fear and pessimism to interfere with your pleasure in life. If something is nagging at you, take a clear and direct look at it. Is there really anything there, or have you invented your own worry? The blues may be your companion for a couple of days over the weekend, but the cloudy time is short.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): An issue has arisen that brings forth your need to protect home, hearth, and family. The temptation to overspend is strong. Consider what would be fun and interesting that doesn't require a big expenditure. The most important gift is your care and love.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): At the beginning of the week you may be feeling stress related to your lover or a partner, maybe a child. Underneath it all, the issue is tied to your internalized sense of what a woman "should" do or be. Our culture has always struggled with images of the feminine. Is she a caretaker or a seductress?

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): The full moon eclipse on August 7, 2017, occurs in the sector of partnerships and clientele. It is time to illuminate and define your relationships, whether business or personal. Attend to those who rattle chains and complain. Strike a more equal balance between or among you.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): In July I wrote that you are called to protect something or someone. You are the keeper of the flame for now, which means to hold up the spirit and show "the way". It is a sacred duty for the present. Now you are called further to verbalize your care, whether that is in speech or writing. Do not hesitate to answer the summons.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Your open-hearted generosity may lead you to bite off more than you can chew this week. There may be more people at the table than you have plates to serve. Do not worry about what people will think. They are aware you've almost exceeded your limit of tasks to handle. It will all work out.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Listen to the Guardian, who speaks to you from the inside. This is a time in which your Guardian will protect you. It is sometimes hard to pick it out from the voice of Ego. If the Voice is flattering you, set it aside. That is not the true Guardian. The true Guardian offers wisdom, not criticism or flattery.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): If you have been channeling your energy into a project that has positive value for many you may be receiving recognition and applause now. Others are recognizing the value of your efforts. For many, this time frame represents improvements in a job situation or beneficial changes in job conditions.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): You may feel compelled to raise your flag and promote your plans now. Do some self-searching ahead of time to find your own motive. If it is for the good of all, you will gain support from others. However, if you are really after a prize that will simply allow you to preen, let go of it. Your product or idea is not yet ready for exposure.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): The full moon Eclipse occurs in your sign on August 7, 2017. It is possible that you will reveal information that has been hiding in the dark. You may feel compelled to do so for the sake of equality. Check the lead paragraph for more information.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): The Sun is in an uncomfortable aspect to Neptune, your ruling planet. You may not be feeling well. If so, lighten up on your exercise routine and get some extra rest. Stay out of the hot Sun. You or someone else may be guiltling you. Ignore that voice. You don't have to prove anything to pay for your existence.

Your perfect pet may be waiting

SUBMITTED BY CHRIS GIN

Pets and classic cars. What a perfect way to spend a summer afternoon. With that idea in mind, volunteers from the Hayward Animal Shelter are hosting a Hot 'Paw'gust' Nights pet adoption event and fundraising car show on Saturday, Aug. 5.

People who attend the event will have a chance to meet dogs, cats, rabbits and even Guinea pigs available for adoption from the shelter. They also can browse through an exhibit of classic cars and support the shelter by donating a wish-list item. A children's booth also will be available.

Discounted adoption fees sponsored by the Hayward Animal Shelter Volunteers will be just $20 and include spay/neuter, vaccinations and a microchip for each pet. A $17 licensing fee also will apply to dogs adopted by Hayward residents. Doors open at 11 a.m. and admission is free. For details, call (510) 293-7200.

painters, henna tattoos, balloon artists and more, and the fabulous Kid City will amuse the youngest festivalgoers with lively rides and shows.

Artists' booths will showcase handmade works of art crafted by talented artists from all over. From paintings and drawings, to jewelry and clothing, to household decorations and furnishing, every piece of beautiful art sold at the Fremont Festival of the Arts is a unique or rare find with many being one-of-a-kind pieces.

The Gourmet Marketplace will be selling ingredients and condiments such as unique rubs, spice blends and marinades, designer oils and vinegars, and flavorful chutneys and relishes. The ultimate foodie will also appreciate perusing the handmade pastas and jerkies, varietal honeys, seasoned and candied nuts, and a wide variety of delectable desserts. Wine, beer, and margaritas are $5 with the purchase of a $6 festival-branded glass. There will even be fun kids cups for slushies.

In addition, the festival will offer a variety of food for sale, including famous fair favorites such as funnel cakes and Philly Cheese Steaks. Food trucks will be on hand selling the hottest in street food and food-truck cult favorites. Many of the food partners for the festival are run by non-profit organizations that use this opportunity as one of their major fundraising sources each year. Over the past three decades, an estimated $11 million has been raised at the festival for the local communities.

A special Business Marketplace is not to be missed! Festivalgoers can benefit from special deals and promos offered by participants, as well as some free prizes and giveaways. Businesses may include a gym or healthcare facility, a school or newspaper, and an animal shelter or home remodeling company.

The youngest festival attendees will get to experience the fabulous Kid City with activities and performers just for kids. Kid City will feature magicians, jugglers, balloon animals, carnival rides, arts & crafts and so much more.

The Fremont Festival of the Arts is also holding its first ever En Plein Air Contest. En Plein Air is a French expression for "in the open air." This competition invites local artists to create and compete on festival grounds during festival hours. There are three categories of the competition: Painting, Photography, and Chalk Art. All competitions will take place on Saturday, August 5 from 11 a.m. – 5 p.m. A winner will be announced on the main stage at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, and the 1st and 2nd place winners will be on display all day Sunday at the festival. 1st place winners will receive $175 cash and a ribbon, 2nd place winners will receive $75 cash and a ribbon. Winners will be determined by a panel of three judges on the following criteria: skill, composition, and creativity. Registration is $15 per person, per category. But hurry – there are a limited number of slots available in each competition. Visit www.fremont-festival.net/get-involved/en-plein-air-compition/ to register.

Alameda County Supervisor Scott Haggerty and the Bay Area Air Quality Management District will again co-sponsor a free bike valet service during the festival. In 2016, the event drew an estimated 400,000 visitors, and the bike valet service, operated in partnership with Bike East Bay, provided a secure, efficient and convenient alternative to commuting by vehicle. With the added strain of finding available event parking, festivalgoers can rely on the bike valet to securely store their bicycles, allowing them ease of priority access and the freedom to enjoy the festival. The valet is equipped to accommodate 300+ bicycles at any given time. Scooters and skateboards can also be checked into the bike corral. The bike valet will be located on Paseo Padre Parkway at Mowry Avenue and will be open to accept bicycles from 10 a.m. – 6 p.m. on both days. For more information regarding this free service, contact (925) 551-6995 or Leah.Doyle-Stevens@acgov.org.

Admission to the festival is free. For more information and an updated list of vendors and entertainment, visit www.fremontfestival.net.

Home & Garden

Harness the magic of herbs for homemade cleaners

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS
BY LALITHA VISVESWARAN

Floors, windows, kitchen counters, tubs, sinks, and toilet bowls are just a few in the list that need to be polished, waxed, disinfected, wiped, and scrubbed. More than any other chore, I spend most of my time cleaning and grooming all the various surfaces in my home. The cleaning products available in the market have disclaimers and unpronounceable ingredients. But it is possible to reasonably create your own homemade cleaners with safe ingredients from your pantry. Note that I said "reasonably" because sometimes you need the magic of chemistry and unpronounceable ingredients to get rid of virulent infections or infestations of mold or mildew.

Citrus peels infused in white vinegar makes a deodorizing and refreshing degreasing agent. Collect fallen pine needles to give it an extra boost.

However, it is possible to reduce continual and long exposure to chemicals and possibly toxic ingredients by utilizing the herbal genie in your garden and pantry. Yes, I am talking about my beloved multi-tasking herbs. For food, flavoring, aromatherapy, medicine, and cleaning products, herbs are here again to your rescue!

First, let's open the pantry. Here are a few things that will come in handy:

– White vinegar

Available everywhere, white vinegar is an excellent degreaser. It's somewhat unpleasant smelling but is also an excellent deodorizer and useful for removing soap scum. Vinegar's reputation as a disinfectant is suspect in my books; that's why we need the next ingredient.

One must remember to never use vinegar on stone, marble, ceramic tile, metal, or hardwood floors, as it will eat away the finish of these surfaces. While infusing and storing vinegar with herbs, remember to use only plastic lids and never metallic lids.

– Hydrogen peroxide

Used for wounds and scrapes, hydrogen peroxide can also be used as a disinfecting agent in casual cleaning products.

– Baking soda

When used with vinegar, its cleaning twin, a chemical reaction makes it foam. It is made of really tiny super microscopic particles and hence is a good scouring agent.

– Borax

It cleans, disinfects, and deodorizes. The jury is still out about its safety around children who like to ingest everything they can get their hands on, but as long as you don't ingest it, borax is even better than baking soda.

– Rubbing alcohol (isopropyl alcohol)

Like borax, this is a chemical that must not be ingested. It can be absorbed via the skin. It is great for cleaning, degreasing, and removing stains.

– Substitutions

Often, I use homemade cleaners in situations that aren't right after a major illness or require heavy duty clean up. For weekly maintaining chores, you can substitute plain kosher salt as a scouring agent if you don't have baking soda or borax at hand. I don't like to use isopropyl rubbing alcohol and would rather use regular plain vodka instead.

– Unusual ingredient

I like to keep a bottle of Dr. Bronner's multipurpose Castile Liquid Soap. All soaps use lye and Dr. Bronner's is no exception. But it's gentle and as natural as it can get with the added benefit of light foam and not heavy lather. It's available in most grocers and at health food stores.

– Essential oils

I am often asked if we can substitute essential oils instead of herbs. Yes, you can, but do remember that they are super concentrated. The ratio is approximately 1 drop per 2 – 4 ounces of liquid, which is too much math! Also, why resort to expensive oils when you can rely on our herb allies!

Recipes:

– Toilet Bowl Cleaner

Sprinkle 1/2 cup baking soda inside the toilet bowl. Pour 1/2 cup white vinegar. The bowl will fizz and bubble. Let it rest for 10 minutes; scrub with a brush. If there are stubborn stains on the rim, use 1/2 teaspoon of hydrogen peroxide and wipe it clean.

– Window and Mirror Cleaner

Soak 1 cup fresh sweet-smelling roses in 1.5 cups white wine vinegar for 1 – 2 weeks. You will end up with a rose-colored and infused vinegar. Dilute 1/4 cup of vinegar with 1/4 cup of water in a spray bottle. Add a pinch of cornstarch powder to prevent streaking. Shake and spray. Wipe with cloth after drenching glass surface.

– Thyme Kitchen Counter Cleaner

Infuse 1 cup of fresh thyme in 3 cups of rubbing alcohol for about a day. Strain. Discard herb. Add 1 cup of water to dilute. Add 2 teaspoons of Castile Liquid Soap. Shake. Use to clean counters. (I substitute clear vodka for the isopropyl rubbing alcohol. You can also use rosemary instead of thyme.)

– Ceramic Tile Floor Cleaner

In a glass jar, pour 1.5 cups of white vinegar. This is great if you have a pine tree nearby. Add 1/2 cup of pine needles to vinegar and any saved citrus peels like orange, grapefruit, or lemon. Cover with a non-metallic lid. Let it sit for 1 – 2 weeks. Strain. Dilute 1/2 cup of pine-citrus vinegar in about a gallon of hot water. Mop as usual for citrus and pine-scented squeaky-clean tile floors. Not for use on hardwood floor. Avoid grout.

– Minty Wall Wash

Pick 1 cup of fresh mint from the garden. Make a strong mint tea with 1.5 cups of hot water. After about 20 minutes, strain and dilute with one cup of cold water. Add 1 tablespoon of Dr. Bronner's Castile soap. Dip a rag in the washing liquid and clean walls.

Newark Rotary Club Gives Back to the Community

SUBMITTED BY DAVID ZEHNDER

Each year the Newark Rotary Club conducts a fun-raising crab and pasta feed that typically raises more than $30,000 from sponsorships, a live auction and raffle. The community provides tremendous support during this event which always sells out with more than 550 people attending. During 2017, the Newark Rotary Club provided 28 community grants to local non-profit and school organizations. Grants were awarded to a wide variety of organizations, for example, support of the Newark Days Celebration and funds for a walk-in freezer at the Viola Blythe Center.

Uranus: The Sideways Planet

No other planet in our solar system spins around its axis, orbiting the sun like a rolling ball, the way the planet Uranus does.

Dear Kid Scoop Readers -

On planet Earth, the equator is facing the _____. Not so on the planet Uranus.

For about 42 _____, the south pole of Uranus _____ the sun and has constant sunlight. Gradually, this planet's north _____ will point at the sun and it will have 42 years of _____, while the south pole will be in the _____.

How many rings does Uranus have? Color the spaces with one dot light blue and the spaces with two dots dark blue.

The Rings of Uranus

In 1977, scientists discovered that like Saturn, Uranus also has rings. It has two sets of faint rings.

Uranus cannot be seen from Earth with the naked eye. It was the first planet discovered with the aid of a telescope.

Uranus was discovered in 1781 by astronomer William Herschel. At first he thought it was a comet or a star. Another astronomer, Johann Elert Bode, confirmed that it was a planet and the quest for a name began.

Lighter Weights

If you weigh 100 lbs on Earth, your weight on Uranus would be just 89 lbs. How much lighter would each of these things be on the planet Uranus than they are here on Earth? Do the math.

Elephant
EARTH WEIGHT: 12,000 lbs.
URANUS WEIGHT: 10,680 lbs.
DIFFERENCE: _____ lbs.

Blue Whale
EARTH WEIGHT: 300,000 lbs.
URANUS WEIGHT: 267,000 lbs.
DIFFERENCE: _____ lbs.

Automobile
EARTH WEIGHT: 4,000 lbs.
URANUS WEIGHT: 3,560 lbs.
DIFFERENCE: _____ lbs.

(TRY IT: Multiply any weight by .89 to calculate its weight on Uranus.)

Use this chart to answer these questions.

1. The planet Uranus is about four times the diameter of Earth.
☐ True ☐ False

2. The orbit speed of the planet Uranus is about half that of planet Earth.
☐ True ☐ False

	URANUS	EARTH
DISTANCE FROM THE SUN	1.88 BILLION MILES	93 MILLION MILES
TIME TO ORBIT THE SUN	84 EARTH YEARS	365 DAYS
ORBIT SPEED	14,763 MILES PER HOUR	70,000 MILES PER HOUR
LENGTH OF DAY	17 HOURS	JUST A BIT OVER 24 HOURS
DIAMETER	32,000 MILES	7,926 MILES
NUMBER OF MOONS	27	1

Moon Names

All of the moons circling planets in our solar system are named for Roman gods, except the moons of Uranus. These are named for characters in works by William Shakespeare and Alexander Pope.

Do the math problem under each name. Uranus' moons are the ones with even numbers. Odd-numbered are not a name of one of Uranus' moons.

How Uranus Got Its Name

Sir William Herschel wanted to name the planet Georgium Sidus after King George III. Astronomer Johann Bode suggested keeping with the previous tradition of naming planets after ancient Roman gods. Bode suggested naming the planet for Uranus, the god of the sky. But he made an error. Uranus was not a Roman god! Uranus was a Greek god.

What does Georgium Sidus mean?

Summer is in full swing! Check out all the events in Downtown Fremont scheduled through fall! Grab some gourmet treats at Fremont Street Eats, held every Friday through October 27 from 4:30 to 9:00 p.m. on Capitol Avenue between Liberty and State streets, and stay for fun, music, and festivities.

In August, stop by the Fremont Festival of the Arts on August 5 and 6—the largest free street festival west of the Mississippi, and the Festival of India and Parade on August 12 and 13, an annual celebration of Indian heritage and culture.

The fun doesn't slowdown in September! Labor Day weekend starts with the Future Fremont Block Party on Capitol Avenue, Saturday, September 2, from 12 to 7 p.m. Enjoy live music, food, games, and provide feedback on what you want for the future downtown temporary plaza. Then, as the weather cools down, catch a flick under the stars at Downtown Date Night on September 22, and bring the kids to Trick or Treat on Downtown Safety Street on October 20.

For more information on these events, visit www.Fremont.gov/Downtown.

Habitat for Humanity Looking for Volunteers

Earlier this month, the City of Fremont partnered with Habitat for Humanity East Bay/Silicon Valley to hold a Groundbreaking Ceremony for the new Central Commons project at 4369 Central Avenue. The 30-home development gives low-income families the opportunity to own their own home in Fremont.

Habitat for Humanity is now looking for volunteers to help build the new homes. Every hour volunteered will help 30 limited-income families own a home and build stability and self-reliance for themselves and their children. Experience is not required to volunteer, and Habitat for Humanity provides all instructions and equipment. Volunteer opportunities are also available for company and group team building.

For more information and to sign up, please visit www.Fremont.gov/CentralCommonsVolunteer.

Niles Boulevard Bridge Construction Update

Work to replace the Niles Boulevard Bridge connecting the City of Fremont and Union City continues to progress. The new bridge is being built immediately south of the existing bridge, which will remain open throughout construction. The project is anticipated to be completed in fall 2017.

Traffic shifts will be required to transition traffic off the old bridge and onto the new bridge. The first shift will occur the week of July 31st and will involve moving eastbound traffic onto the new bridge, while westbound traffic temporarily remains on the old bridge. Once construction between the bridges is completed, all traffic will shift to the new bridge in a temporary alignment so that the old bridge and embankments can be removed. Once this is complete, traffic will be placed in its final alignment.

Weekday and weekend night work to demolish the old bridge is scheduled to begin the week of August 24 and continue through the first week of September. This work is scheduled to take place from 1 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Weekend and weekday night work is necessary due to the short time windows available for the construction team to conduct operations over the BART tracks. This work is conducted Monday through Friday 1:45 a.m. to 3 a.m., Saturday 1:45 a.m. to 5 a.m., and Sunday 1:45 a.m. to 7 a.m.

As with any major construction project, it is important to note that anticipated work dates and times are subject to change due to weather, unforeseen conditions, and/or the availability of on-site Union Pacific Railroad flaggers and BART safety monitors.

Changeable message boards near the project site (in each direction) notify roadway users of upcoming weekend night work dates and times. Advance notice of future weekend, night and/or noisy activities will be provided as work is scheduled. Weekly updates are posted on the project website at www.nilesblvdbridge.com. Community members can also sign up to receive weekly message updates by emailing nilesblvdbridge@fremont.gov, or by calling the project Construction Info Line at 510-355-1502.

Call to Artists and Sponsorship Opportunities

The deadline for the City of Fremont boxART! program to request submissions to transform our traffic signal control boxes with compelling and creative imagery has been extended to September 15, 2017. We are looking for innovative artists to enhance the utility boxes in a dramatic and new way.

This is a tremendous opportunity for forward thinking artists to let the community see your work. Hundreds of people will drive or walk by the boxes daily. In addition, photographs of the boxes will be displayed on the City of Fremont website and other venues with your name and contact information.

ELIGIBILITY: San Francisco Bay Area residents

THEME: The theme for Phase 4 is "Agriculture – Past/Present". Fremont's agricultural history is rich with ranching, farming, nurseries, milling and canning industries, and more. While the city has evolved into its hi-tech identity, agricultural industries and community gardening endeavors continue to thrive. Artists are encouraged to provide their own interpretations.

DEADLINE FOR PROPOSALS: Friday, September 15, 2017

STIPEND: $650, which includes material costs.

There are also sponsorship opportunities available for each boxART! By sponsoring a traffic signal control box, citizens, businesses, nonprofits, and places of worship are actively participating in bettering our community.

For more information on the program, including sponsorship opportunities, visit www.Fremont.gov/boxart or contact Program Manager Susan Longini at boxart@fremont.gov or 510-494-4555.

Habitat Restoration Days for Sabercat Creek

Love nature and serving the community? Join the City of Fremont's Environmental Services for a day of habitat restoration work on Sabercat Creek on Saturday, August 5 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Volunteers will assist with removing invasive plants, sheet mulching, and providing care for native plants. Planting additional native plants may also take place. This work will help increase native plant diversity, and improve food and shelter for wildlife. No experience is necessary. A habitat steward will guide you through the projects along Sabercat Creek in Sabercat Historical Park.

Volunteers of all ages are welcome, and a signed waiver form is required for each participant. Children under 12 years old must be accompanied by an adult. Habitat stewards will guide you through the projects.

Come dressed for the weather and prepared to get dirty (sturdy, closed-toe shoes/boots, long pants, hat, sunscreen, and long-sleeved shirt are recommended). Bring a signed waiver form, a reusable water bottle, and community service hour forms, if applicable. We'll provide tools, some gloves, and water to refill bottles. If you wish to bring your own gloves or tools, please label them.

For complete details and to register visit www.Fremont.gov/SabercatRestoration. Be sure to check the location on the map, and print the map and waiver form. For more information, or to arrange a large group work day, contact Sabrina at ssiebert@fremont.gov or Barbara at bsilva@fremont.gov, or call the Environmental Services Division at 510-494-4570.

Five Branches University integrates medicines of East and West

By VICTOR CARVELLAS

Over the last several decades, Americans have steadily continued to acknowledge the value and efficacy of Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM), and more medical students each year are seeking avenues to explore and gain proficiency in this rich tradition. Over time, replicable studies demonstrating TCM’s efficacy and sound scientific principles have bolstered the medical community’s interest in integrated medicine, the uniting of multiple health care paths, including those of East and West.

In response to the growing acceptance of TCM, Five Branches University was instituted in 1984 in Santa Cruz, and was one of the first TCM schools in the US. In 2003 Five Branches University (FBU) opened a school and clinic in San Jose. This month, in another step forward, FBU will inaugurate its newest facility on August 12.

The name of FBU reflects the five disciplines taught there: Acupuncture, which uses fine needles to balance the yin and yang energies of the body; her-bology, the use of plants and minerals to address variety of symptoms; Tuina massage, a form of physical therapy that targets tendons, muscles, and organs using energy channels and pressure points; energetics, including medical qigong, tai chi, and meditation); and Chinese dietary medicine, a millennia-old understanding of the relation between food and health. FBU offers two main degree programs: Dual First Professional Doctorate and Masters degree in Traditional Chinese Medicine, and Post-Graduate Doctoral Degree in Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine.

Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) has a long and rich history, and is one of the oldest literate and continuously practiced forms of medicine in the world. It evolved from over 2000 years of clinical observations and reflects the Chinese cultural legacy and values of longevity and wellness.

The first written documentation on traditional Chinese medicine is the Hung-Di Nei-Jing (Yellow Emperor’s Cannon of Internal Medicine). It is the oldest medical textbook in the world, originating between 800 BCE and 200 BCE, and lays a primary foundation for the theories of Chinese medicine summarizing and systematizing the treatments and theories of medicine, including physiology, pathology, prevention, diagnosis, treatment, acupuncture, meridian theory, and others.

In the early twentieth century, China’s government, intent on sweeping modernizations, sought to replace traditional Chinese medicine with Western practices. However, by the time of Mao’s leadership, the dearth of medical established, and several of the traditional texts were recovered, edited and republished.

Today, Five Branches University is institutionally accredited by the Accreditation Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine (ACAOM), which is the recognized accrediting agency for freestanding institutions and

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention: “70 percent of all deaths are due to chronic disease, and the cost of chronic care exceeds $1.5 trillion a year, or 75 percent of all medical expenses. Only a fraction of our budget is spent on prevention and health promotion, despite evidence that prevention can do much to reduce the burden of chronic disease.” TCM is poised has a well-known and established success rate for managing chronic pain. Recently the National Certification Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine (NCCAOM)®, which has long advocated non-pharmaceutical treatments, commended the Joint Commission, an independent, not-for-profit organization that accredits nearly 21,000 health care organizations and programs in the United States, for its new pain management standards. Effective January 1, 2018, Joint Commission accredited hospitals will be required to provide nonpharmacological pain modalities, including acupuncture (by licensed practitioners).

On August 12, Five Branches invites the public to an exciting inaugural day where interested people can attend demonstrations and lectures to discover how TCM can provide a healthy services provided fertile ground for the reestablishment of traditional Chinese medicine. By the 1950s, acupuncture and herbal medicine had become standard, and several hospitals opened clinics to provide, teach and investigate the traditional methods. Beijing, Shanghai and Nanjing became the centers of research.

The Cultrul Revolution, however, once again denounced the past, and medicine was not spared. It wasn’t until 1979 that the National Association for Chinese Medicine was colleges of acupuncture or Oriental medicine that offer such programs.

The goal of five branches is to work with western medicine to provide healthcare for the whole person. One of TCM’s strength’s is its emphasis on prevention. This stands in contrast to what many perceive to be the weakness of the Western system, that it is reactive and responds only when disease arises. Even as many health care institutions have begun to address prevention, the UCLA Center for East-West medicine cites statistics from the,

to accommodate Western medicine in an integrated approach that appreciates the strengths and weakness of both modalities. “In the future,” says Aaron Lee, L.Ac., fellow at FBU, and Peer Advisor, “we want an integrative approach coupled with cooperative attitude. There are things each medicine can and can’t do.”

Recently, stories of prescription opioid addiction have revealed the downside of pharmaceutical pain management. Acupuncture, in contrast, lifestyle. Featured subjects include qigong, healthy cooking with Chinese herbs, and free consultations and treatments by FBU faculty, senior interns and alumni.

String quartet vibrant for a cause

SUBMITTED BY JOEY’S STRINGS

The Summer Band and Orchestra Program of Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) provided an opportunity to showcase the talents and hard work of its musicians at Chabot College on Saturday, July 22. Among the instrumental ensembles that performed was Joey’s Strings.

Joey lived in Florida and passed away in 2014 at the age of 10 due to kidney cancer. There have been very few cases of pediatric kidney cancer, and considerable resources are required for medical research in the hope of eventually finding a cure. Joey’s family established Joey’s Wings Foundation in honor of his memory to foster awareness of kidney cancer as well as raise funds for ongoing research.

Joey’s Strings, featuring Mission San Jose High School students Jade Zhang and Julian Tso, and Irvington High School students Rachel Ho and Sophia Shih, was founded last year in Fremont to raise funds in partnership with Joey’s Wings Foundation. Since Joey loved to play violin, the students thought it would be fitting to support the Foundation through performing string music.

To date, the group’s performances have generated about $2,000. To find out how you can support pediatric kidney cancer research, please visit <http://joeywings.org/>

Fremont artist’s work on display at state capitol

ARTICLE AND PHOTO SUBMITTED BY JEFF BARBOSA

When Fremont artist Peter Langenbach surveys the world, he sees a lot of opportunities to display his irreverence through his various works of art. Now, Langenbach’s “Enduring the Winter of Discontent,” a polychromed wood carving with characters on stilts amid the growing threat of sea level rise, is on display at the California State Capitol.

State Senator Bob Wieckowski (D-Fremont), the chair of the Senate Environmental Quality Committee, chose to highlight Langenbach’s work as part of the California State Senate Contemporary Art Collection. Senators pick an artist from their district to have their art displayed in the two rooms where members caucus, the Maddy Lounge and the Cox Clubhouse.

“There’s an enormous amount of creativity and diverse scenes from the various regions in California,” Wieckowski said of the art displays. “Two years ago, the art work I chose focused on drought. With the many reports coming out about the need to prepare for sea level rise, this year’s piece is very topical. He also incorporates recycled material into his work, which I appreciate.”

Langenbach said reusing materials in his art forces him to be more creative, even if it is more challenging. For 35 years he taught middle school in the New Haven Unified School District before retiring in 2007. His art has been displayed in venues throughout the Bay Area and he enjoys being involved with Oakland and Fremont’s Windows on Art projects, where vacant storefronts are turned into temporary art galleries.

Langenbach also works with his wife, Maureen, on Day of the Dead installations at the Oakland Museum, SOMA in San Francisco, Meeks Mansion and Sun Gallery in Hayward, and Niles Main Street in Fremont.

Senator Wieckowski represents the 10th District, which includes southern Alameda County and parts of Santa Clara County.

Park It

BY NED MACKAY

A Native American village existed for several thousand years at what is now Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont. In consultation with Ohlone descendants, East Bay Regional Park District has constructed a traditional shade structure, pit house and sweat house at the village site.

Park naturalists conduct frequent free tours of the reconstructed village, on a half-mile walk through a marsh teeming with wildlife, starting at the visitor center.

There’s a tour from 10 a.m. to noon and another from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., both on Sunday, Aug. 6. And there’s a tour from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on Aug. 19. All are led by Kristina Parkison.

The village site needs frequent care to clean, weed and renew its structures. If you’re willing to help, there’s a volunteer day scheduled from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 19. The park staff will provide snacks, water, gloves, tools, and a program about the site’s significance.

Volunteer day is for ages 12 and older, accompanied by parents, and registration is required. To volunteer, call 888-327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to course number 17381.

Coyote Hills is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There’s a $5 parking fee. For information, call 510-544-3220.

Speaking of the Ohlone, they used tule rushes to construct shelters, boats and baskets. There’s a tule basket-making workshop from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 19 at the Environmental Education Center in Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley.

Naturalist Trail Gail Broesder will help participants make small baskets from tule plants.

The activity is for ages 10 and older; registration is required, and there’s a fee of $10 per person ($12 for non-district residents).

For information and registration, call 888-327-2757, select option 2, and refer to course number 17553.

The Over-The Hills Gang is an informal group of hikers ages 55 and older who explore various regional parks in search of exercise, history and fun.

Trail Gail will lead the gang on a mostly flat hike from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 8 at Point Pinole Regional Shoreline in Richmond. The park is notable for its history of dynamite manufacture. It’s also scenic and pleasant on hot summer days.

Meet at the new park entrance at the end of Atlas Road. Take the bridge over the railroad tracks to the parking area. For information, call 510-544-2233.

Evening hikers at Black Diamond Mines in Antioch will experience sounds of the night in a program from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 5, led by naturalist Kevin Damstra. The group will listen for noises that reveal the presence of various animals.

The program is for ages eight and older. It’s free, but registration is required. To register, call 888-327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to program number 17532.

At Big Break Regional Shoreline in Oakley, it’s arachnid adventure time from 2 to 3 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 6. Drop by the visitor center for some spider lore and spider-themed activities.

Big Break is at 69 Big Break Road off Oakley’s Main Street. For information, call 888-327-2757, ext. 3050.

East Bay Men's Track earns All-Academic honors

SUBMITTED BY
STEVE CONNOLLY

The Cal State East Bay men's track and field team was recognized as a 2017 United States Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA) All-Academic Team, the organization announced July 27, 2017.

The Pioneers were one of 76 Division II men's programs across the country to claim the honor, which awards teams that achieve at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average. They join Humboldt State and UC San Diego as the only three honorees from the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA).
Just 10 track and field squads in the entire nation posted a higher GPA in 2016-17 than the Cal State East Bay men, who finished at 3.25.
The USTFCCCA also announced its individual All-Academic honorees, and freshman Pedro Cruz was among the 301 Division II male athletes to capture the award. It is an historic accomplishment for the rookie from Arvin, Calif., as he becomes the first Pioneer in the CCAA era to make the list.

To earn individual All-Academic status, student-athletes must compile a cumulative GPA of at least 3.25 and reach a provisional or automatic qualifying standard for NCAA Championships.
In addition to his exemplary work in the classroom, Cruz turned in one of the best seasons by a rookie runner in the school's history. His NCAA provisional time of 30:48.81 in the 10,000 meters ranks as the third-fastest in program history, and he also owns the fifth-best 5,000 meter time on the school's all-time list (14:54.44).

East Bay women add Pepperdine guard Kayla Blair

SUBMITTED BY
STEVE CONNOLLY

Cal State East Bay head women's basketball coach Shanele Stires has announced the addition of 5'9" guard Kayla Blair (Fairfield, Calif.), who will transfer from Pepperdine University to compete as a junior for the Pioneers in 2017-18.

"I have had a tremendous relationship with Kayla, her high school coach, and her family for a number of years," noted Stires. "I recruited Kayla when I coached at USEF, and she chose Pepperdine. This opportunity to coach her is a rare second chance to share in the journey of a passionate and hard-working basketball player."

Blair spent the last two seasons with the Division I Waves, competing in all 61 of the team's games. During that time, she made 23 starts while averaging 3.8 points and 2.2 rebounds per game. Blair finished fourth on the team with 27 steals as a freshman, and she scored a career-high 17 points in a game against Santa Clara last February.

Prior to that, she was standout prep player at Vanden High School in her hometown of Fairfield. Blair led the Vikings to four straight Solano County Athletic Conference titles, and captained the program to its first ever 30-win season and Sac Joaquin Section championship as a senior. She scored over 1,000 points in her high school career and was named SCAC Most Valuable Player and Fairfield City Player of the Year in each of her final two seasons.

"Kayla quickly hit it off with our team on her visit, and she will give us terrific experience coming from the West Coast Conference," Stires added. "We will look to her experience as a seasoned Division I player and an incoming junior to give us leadership on the court and in the locker room. Kayla is selfless, hard-working, tough, and wants to prove that she can play with the best. Her versatility, ability to shoot the three, get the ball to the rim, and defend multiple positions on the floor make her a 'swiss army knife.' We are thrilled to have her join our family here at East Bay."

Blair adds an impressive injection of talent to a CSUEB program coming off back-to-back California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) championships, and she bolsters an incoming class for the Pioneers that already includes two of the top junior college players on the West Coast in Gabby Vigil and Savannah McGill.

Volleyball team claims academic award

SUBMITTED BY STEVE CONNOLLY

For the second straight year, the Cal State East Bay volleyball team has earned the American Volleyball Coaches Association Team Academic Award.

The Hayward team is one of 822 squads across the nation and 118 women's programs at the Division II level to claim the honor, which recognizes collegiate and high school volleyball teams that displayed excellence in the classroom by maintaining at least a 3.30 cumulative team grade-point average.

The 2016-17 Pioneers posted a 3.38 collective GPA for the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. They were one of just three teams in the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) to earn the Team Academic award, joining Stanislaus State and San Francisco State.

This honor caps off an impressive 2016-17 season for Pioneer Volleyball in the classroom, during which the team boasted eight CCAA All-Academic honorees and one recipient of the CoSIDA Academic All-District award. Cal State East Bay also turned in its most successful year on the court since 2011 last fall, and qualified for the CCAA tournament for the first time in program history.

With nearly the entire 2016 core returning, including all four All-CCAA honorees, the Pioneers are looking to improve again during 2017. The start of the new season is just over a month away, as Cal State East Bay opens its schedule by hosting the annual Route 92 Showdown, which runs Sept. 1-2 at Pioneer Gymnasium on the university's hillside campus in Hayward.

The Mission San Jose Little League Junior All-Stars (MSJLL) defeated the Niles-Centerville Little League (NCLL) in one of the most exciting District 14 Junior All Star championships in recent history. These two teams faced each other three times in the span of one week. MSJLL will advance to the Section 3 Junior Sectionals hosted by District 57 in Pleasanton.

On July 3, the two teams faced each other for the first time in the winner's bracket where MSJLL came from behind with a 2-run deficit, to a 9-3 victory and secured a spot in the Championship game. NCLL fell to the elimination bracket and beat the Warm Springs Little League All-Stars 9-6 to earn their shot at the Championship.

The Championship game was held on July 8 at Vallejo Mill School, home of Niles-Centerville Little League. Niles-Centerville started the game with a 7-run rally in the first inning. MSJLL chipped away at the lead and closed the gap to 7-5 at the middle of the third inning. NCLL added three runs in the bottom of the third to make it a 10-5 game. MSJLL attempted to make a comeback in the top of the seventh inning but fell short 10-7. NCLL won a huge and emotional game as they forced a "winner take all" game to be played on the following day.

The deciding game was held Sunday, July 9 at Vallejo Mill School. Again, NCLL drew the home team and home field advantage. This time, MSJLL started the game strong by scoring four runs in the top of the first inning. NCLL responded with two runs in the bottom of the second inning making it 4-2. Mission answered with two runs of their own in the top of the third making it 6-2. NCLL answered with four runs in the bottom of the fourth, tying the game at 6-6. Great defense prevailed in the fifth inning as neither team scored a run.

NCLL held MSJLL scoreless in the top of the sixth. In the bottom of the sixth, NCLL scored on a single to centerfield making it a 6-7 game. In the top of the seventh, down 1 run and three outs away from losing the Championship, MSJLL needed a rally. Amazingly, a walk, a single and an intentional walk loaded the bases with no outs. A perfectly executed suicide squeeze gave Mission the tying run. Two more runs were scored on a balk and sacrifice bunt making it a 9-7 game at the end of 7 1/2 innings

Down to their last three outs and down two runs, NCLL put their first batter on with a single to centerfield. With two outs and the tying run at home plate, NCLL grounded out to second base with a final score of 9-7. Congratulations to NCLL and MSJLL on a terrific All-Stars season.

Team members include Caovinh Nguyen, Ayush Dutta, Sayan Jain, Robi Aslami, Justin Wey, Jainam Shah, Matthew Kinoshita, Krishan Sharma, Neel Desai, Jase Ushiro and Matthew Okino. The team is coached by Bobby Kanno and Harold Kinoshita and managed by Gary Ushiro.

E-bikers to hit East Bay trails

SUBMITTED BY
DAVE MASON

On Wednesday, July 5, 2017, the East Bay Regional Park District Board of Directors voted unanimously to implement a one-year E-Bike Pilot Program on three regional trails in the Park District. The program will last through July 2018 and includes plans to conduct outreach on specific trails affected to make sure users are informed about the program and share the trails with their fellow users appropriately.

The outreach effort will include gathering information about users’ views, perceptions and experiences. Park District employees will be performing user counts, monitoring usage, and conducting surveys on the trails covered by the pilot program.

The pilot program applies to three Park District trails and only covers Class 1 & 2 electric motor-assisted E-Bikes. All existing regional trail rules, including the current 15 mph speed limit, will remain in full effect during the pilot program.

Class 1 & 2 E-bikes includes bikes with fully operable pedals and electric motor of less than 750 watts.

The three trails authorized by the pilot program are the Contra Costa Canal Regional Trail in Contra Costa County, the Alameda Creek Trail in Alameda County and the Iron Horse Trail running through both Contra Costa and Alameda Counties.

The Park District has an active “Green Transportation” network of paved trails that connects users to transit, school and work sites, and the District was recently awarded $10 million from the U.S. Department of Transportation to expand these trail connections.

There has already been an increase in bicycle commuting via our trails and E-Bike users will likely continue the trend, which will help reduce traffic congestion on roadways, advance green transportation modes, and improve access for those with physical limitations. E-bikes are not just used by commuters, however. Many seniors and individuals with disabilities are opting for a bicycle that can do the pedaling when they can’t. These types of bikes provide new mobility opportunities to people who need extra assistance.

In 2015 the Governor signed Assembly Bill 1096 modernizing electric bike regulations for trails on state parks and authorized local jurisdictions to update their rules for allowing E-bikes on their own local trails. In developing the pilot program, the Park District engaged community stakeholders and user groups to obtain feedback and input. The final proposal approved by the board was endorsed by the Park District’s Park Advisory Committee.

Fremont mayor honored at leadership conference

More than 200 elected officials, community and business leaders, entrepreneurs and students recently gathered in Washington, D.C. to attend a conference and student scholarship gala hosted by the International Leadership Foundation (ILF).

Fremont mayor Lily Mei was among elected officials at the event which was co-hosted by the Coalition of Asian American Business Organizations (CAABO). The ILF is a non-profit organization that promotes the civic engagement, leadership empowerment, and economic prosperity of the Asian Pacific American community (APA).

During the July 20 event, Mei was among 10 members honored for their professional achievements and dedication to the improvement of the APA.

Among notable speakers at the event were U.S. Secretary of Transportation Elaine Chao; Norman Mineta, former U.S. Secretary of Transportation; and U.S. Congresswoman Barbara Comstock.

Mei has lived in Fremont since 1994 and was elected mayor in 2016.

Fremont respects its elders

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

The City of Fremont has joined the World Health Organization (WHO) Global Network for Age-Friendly Cities and Communities. This network is a group of cities and communities worldwide making an effort to meet the needs of their older residents.

To gain a better understanding of the specific needs in Fremont, the City’s Human Services Department conducted 30 focus groups throughout the city and held an open community dialogue in April. More than 1,000 residents shared ideas and the City is now working on detailed action steps that will increase its age-friendly efforts in areas such as transportation, volunteer opportunities, health and wellness, outdoor spaces, and housing.

The City of Fremont is working with other Bay Area cities that also believe an age-friendly city is a livable city for all. This initiative is supported by AARP. For more information, contact Karen Grimsich at kgrimsich@fremont.gov or (510) 574-2062.

#LifeLibertyLibraries - Community partnerships that promote democracy

BY CINDY CHADWICK PH.D.

What does economic development have in common with libraries? We already knew the answer as we headed to the Urban Library Council (ULC) Partners Conference (www.urbanlibraries.org) last week with Fremont’s Chief Innovation Officer Kelly Kline in tow. Among other things, libraries are on the front lines of developing a workforce, whether that includes increasing literacy, providing maker spaces, serving as a resource for entrepreneurs, or hosting small business seminars.

Libraries have always played a starring role when it comes to the cornerstones of democracy. However, our partners may not realize and fully appreciate the extent that libraries are embracing change as they prepare for the next century of their work. Work that has grown tremendously in scope to encompass nothing less than bridging a massive equity gap and creating a safe place for the civil exchange of ideas. Partnerships will be imperative and ours represents one of many that ranges from museum directors, to mayors, to educators, to community organizations, to public health institutions.

Our Philadelphia location lent itself to some historical gravitas. We were visited by none other than Alexander Hamilton (a popular guy right now) who reminded us of his immigrant roots and the importance of perseverance. His question to us was weighty, “Who are the modern day Hamiltons and how can we assist them in forming relationships to help them succeed?” We also visited the National Constitution Center, which is committed to non-partisan conversation. We tested the Interactive Constitution app, which examines all 80 constitutional clauses and provides viewpoints from liberal and conservative scholars for each.

Philadelphia’s own public library, Free Library of Philadelphia (www.freelibrary.org), is a partnership case study. This public space has “transformed the city from the inside out,” noted Philadelphia Managing Director Michael DiBerardinis. Philadelphia has struggled with race, class, and poverty, and libraries are a “leading example of a pathway to equity.” Working with the Penn Foundation and Knight Foundation, the City has embarked on a “Rebuild Initiative” to invest in civic assets. “Informed and engaged cities are the foundation of democracy,” says Knight’s Patrick Morgan. The private sector has played a role too. Gerard Sweeney, president and CEO of Brandywine Realty Trust, says that buildings such as libraries serve as connection points. “Civic acceleration happens when you bring people together from many walks of life.”

Political leadership, particularly at the local level, was a major focus at the conference. Mayor Chris Coleman of St. Paul, Minnesota shared his insights on building a robust library partnership in his city that, among other things, has made library cards available to all school-age children. He defines leadership as the ability to express a vision and then develop a team to implement it (preferably one that “plays well with others!”) He cites livability as a primary driver, which is unattainable without opportunity for all, a value that is supported by libraries. “New buildings are nice,” he says, “but it’s what’s inside the buildings that counts.” Coleman sees education as an increasing focus for mayors across the country. “We need to think about our kids as an investment in infrastructure.”

Other partnerships worth noting include:

- South Philadelphia has a library facility housed within a children’s hospital in partnership with University of Pennsylvania Center for Public Health Initiatives. Based on a Pew Research Center study showing that 34 percent of the city’s library patrons were looking for health information and that residents visit libraries more often than their physician’s office; this new facility leverages the strengths of both institutions. Related assets include a culinary literacy center and an edible alphabet program for recently-arrived refugees.
- Evansville, Indiana has a public education and library partnership to operate a “Community Inquiry Lab” that works with teachers to try new programs, both physical and digital, explore community questions, and build life skills.
- The Baltimore library system partners with the League of Women Voters to achieve a strategic plan goal of being an “instrument of democracy” through election night programming and ongoing community forums on social justice issues.

These themes can be applied anywhere. Leverage partner expertise and connections to build capacity; seize opportunities to change dynamics of perceived culture and actual physical spaces; and ultimately, seek systemic longevity that will outlast personal relationships.

Fremont’s city and library partnership is nascent, but shared values and common goals ensure that opportunities for collaboration will be plentiful.

OPINION

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Visualization has been a useful technique for achieving success in a wide range of human endeavors. For instance, athletes are often taught to visualize their goals and patterns leading to victory. Business too has used the concept as a practical method of achieving success in sales and marketing. The process is one of anticipation and proactive action rather than simply reacting to what has already happened.

In the political realm, visualization of goals is an important tool as well. It is important to build upon common ideas that may not necessarily be practical or achievable but represent an idea of, in a perfect world, the objective. At the local level, we are faced with a complex problem of growth and its sidekick traffic. Not only does internal expansion of housing within our boundaries work toward solving a housing shortage, but it exacerbates traffic snarls threatening mobility. More residents represent more commuters through our environment.

Without a clear understanding of goals, it is difficult to respond to these challenges with anything other than a temporary, band-aid approach. General Plans, Park Master Plans and the like are government's attempt to visualize an ideal community. These are important as dynamic and representational attempts to achieve an ideal society. Responding to immediate concerns without an eye on the long-term answer is nothing more than a brief respite without a concrete and comprehensive endgame.

Fremont is creating a Mobility Task Force to address traffic – automobile, bicycle, pedestrian - concerns and this is a good step forward. However, the first issue to address is what vision the City and other local communities have for the future of transportation. Vision Zero, a goal of perfect traffic control and safety is a good start. When an ideal scenario is created, solving practical problems does not become easier, but it does help to create a pattern of solutions designed to conform to and move in a coordinated direction.

The Mobility Task Force [should be a commission; this is not a short-term problem] needs to move beyond a standardized vision of the future. It should consider a broader and more specialized context. For instance: Does the City see mobility within its boundaries without individual automobile ownership? Will residents be without the need or desire for private ownership of cars, instead relying on services within walking distance, bicycle travel, mass transit, automated vehicles, Uber-style private transportation? If so, how does this affect plans for streets, traffic signals and automotive-related economies? If this is the vision, what is the goal? If, however, we visualize a future of private automobile ownership, albeit different in form, should emphasis be placed on maximizing technology for such travel? What would this look like?

The same can be said for housing. Is the future vision one that includes housing for every resident regardless of income or circumstance? Immediate fixes such as some variation of rent control may be an interim solution, but what is the ideal situation? To visualize intermediate stages of housing remediation, what is the final goal? Should emphasis be placed on better mass transportation from outlying areas that are able to accommodate large numbers of moderate income housing? Or should planning emphasis be to integrate working families of modest means into existing, but rapidly decreasing prime real estate acreage? How can access to commerce and livelihood be assured? Where will schools enter the mix? How do parents assure safe passage for students?

To facilitate a comprehensive and integrated plan of action, visualization of ultimate goals can be the first step. The Mobility Task Force is a good beginning; its scope should extend to the types, placement and effects of housing on movement within the City as well. We need to define our ideals to implement creative and practical steps to stretch toward them.

Social Security and Medicare are lasting sources of independence

SUBMITTED BY MARIAELENA LEMUS, SOCIAL SECURITY PUBLIC AFFAIRS SPECIALIST

In July, communities everywhere celebrated our nation's independence with fireworks, family, and friends. A strong community fosters independence because we help each other recognize our full potential. It is just such independence Social Security has been helping people maintain for over 80 years; Medicare has been doing the same for over five decades.

Most people first become eligible for Medicare at age 65. For many older Americans, this is their primary health insurance and without it, they might not enjoy an independent lifestyle. Medicare can be a little confusing to newcomers so we've broken it down into segments. The four parts of Medicare are as easy as A, B, C, and D.

- Part A (Hospital Insurance) helps cover inpatient hospital care, skilled nursing care, hospice care, and home health care. Most people get Medicare Part A premium-free since it is earned by working and paying Social Security taxes.
- Part B (Medical Insurance) helps cover services from doctors and other outpatient health care providers, outpatient care, home health care, durable medical equipment, and some preventive services. Most people pay a monthly premium for Part B. Some high-income individuals pay more than the standard premium. If you don't enroll in Medicare Part B during your initial enrollment period and then decide to do so later, your coverage may be delayed and you may have to pay a higher monthly premium for as long as you have Part B.

• Part C (Medicare Advantage) allows you to choose to receive your health care services through a provider organization. This plan includes all benefits and services covered under Part A and Part B, usually includes Medicare prescription drug coverage, and may include extra benefits and services at an extra cost. You must have Part A and Part B to enroll in Part C. Monthly premiums vary depending on the state where you live, private insurer, and whether you select a health maintenance organization or a preferred provider organization.

- Part D (Medicare prescription drug coverage) helps cover the cost of prescription drugs. Many people pay a premium for Part D. However, people with low income and resources may qualify for Extra Help to pay the premium and deductible. If you don't enroll in a Medicare drug plan when you're first eligible, you may pay a late enrollment penalty if you join a plan later. You will have to pay this penalty for as long as you have Medicare prescription drug coverage. To see if you qualify for extra help visit www.socialsecurity.gov/prescriptionhelp.
- Will you be age 65 soon? Even if you decide not to retire, you should apply for Medicare. You can apply in less than 10 minutes using our online Medicare application. Visit www.socialsecurity.gov/medicare to learn more about applying for Medicare.

THEATRE REVIEW

StarStruck gets its groove on with lively 'Footloose'

BY JULIE GRABOWSKI

Ren McCormack lives by the lively beat of his Chicago home and his dancing feet. But when he and his mother find themselves in financial straits after being abandoned by his father, they must leave the big, bold, and never boring city to move in with his aunt and uncle in a small town. Everyone is suspicious of the new boy, and Ren is despondent over the lack of movies, malls, and anything to do. When he breaks out some dance moves at school, he is quickly informed that dancing is forbidden in the town.

Living in the shadow of a deadly accident that happened five years ago, the Reverend Shaw

Moore has the residents of Bomont laced up tightly against the dangerous influences of drinking, drugs, rock and roll, and dancing. Though he has a handle on the town, he can't control his willful daughter, Ariel, who challenges his rules. As one who has always turned to dance for release and joy, Ren sets out to change the closed-minded town and get approval for a school dance. The time has come for healing and a return to life; and for people to realize that dancing is not a crime.

Delivered with exceptional style and flair, StarStruck Theatre presents "Footloose," a Tony Award-nominated musical based on the 1984 movie starring Kevin Bacon. Producer and director Lori Stokes is a master at orchestrating a large cast and creating engaging, finely executed productions, and "Footloose" is another notch in her belt. Staging, vocals, and excellent choreography courtesy of Lillian Kautz harmonize for a thoroughly entertaining evening. Recognizable songs and new additions make a great soundtrack, expertly delivered by the 11-member orchestra under the direction of Nancy Godfrey.

James Misa is an easy and likable Ren who definitely has the moves, perhaps best showcased in the exuberant "I Can't Stand Still." Ally Abonador puts on the attitude as rebel Ariel and delivers the necessary spark. What doesn't spark, however, is the romance between the two, the relationship never really elevating beyond comfortable friendship.

The strict Reverend Shaw Moore is given heart by Nick Jordan Saud who creates more of a concerned and world-weary man instead of an outright tyrant.

Isabel Garcia (Rusty), Mehaa Mekala (Urleen), and Aija Le (Wendy Jo) are a lively and fun trio of friends that never fail to get the laughs. All have excellent voices and impress in one of the show's best numbers "Somebody's Eyes," and Garcia packs an impressive punch on her own in "Let's Hear It for the Boy." Together with Abonador, the girls deliver another winning number in "Holding Out for a Hero," which makes great use of Isaac Gordon as white-clad dream cowboy.

While entertaining, David Kautz's Willard comes off as more of a character than an actual person, and sets him a bit out of balance with the other performances. Kautz does have a wonderful gift for physical comedy, which is on full display in "Let's Hear It for the Boy."

Simi Sen (Ethel) and Anne Marie Salgado (Vi) give the show strong and relatable mothers, and have a moving duet in "Learning To Be Silent." Despite the brief appearance, Sierra Bolar is a memorable delight as the roller skate-wearing Burger Blast proprietor Betty Blast.

Stephen C. Wathen's set design is fluid and flexible, his mobile pieces creating easy transitions between diverse locales like the church, the Moore's kitchen, gas station, school, gym, and Burger Blast restaurant. A fixed bridge in the background anchors the set, and the use of scenic backdrops completes the excellent visuals.

While dealing with some serious themes, "Footloose" is an exuberant, playful show that encourages opening up, letting loose, and celebrating the gift of life.

Carjacking suspect pursued through three cities

SUBMITTED BY SAN LEANDRO PD

Around 10:30 p.m., July 24th, the San Leandro Police Department received a 9-1-1 call from a person who'd just been carjacked near Bank of the West, 1601 Washington Avenue. Dispatchers provided field units with the victim vehicle description and a San Leandro PD officer located it in the area of Callan Avenue and Bancroft Avenue. The officer attempted to stop the vehicle and a pursuit ensued.

The pursuit started in the north end of San Leandro, continued through East Oakland, up onto the I-580 freeway, westbound, where the suspect lead officers on several freeways, subsequently going west through the Webster Street tube into Alameda. The suspect eventually abandoned the vehicle in a parking lot in the area of Webster Street and Buena Vista Avenue.

Utilizing the Alameda PD's K-9, a team of officers searched an apartment complex, where the suspect was last seen. Unfortunately, the suspect was not located.

The victim of the carjacking was not injured during the incident.

National Night Out is coming to Milpitas

Members of the Milpitas Police Department along with a host of community groups are busily preparing for National Night Out neighborhood parties and events throughout the city.

Held each year in August, the National Night Out campaign is an effort designed to heighten crime and drug prevention awareness, strengthen neighborhood spirit and community partnerships with police. The nationwide program was founded in 1972 and today involves more than 16,000 communities from all 50 states, U.S. territories, Canadian cities and military bases worldwide. In Milpitas, the event will take place on Thursday, Aug. 3.

The typical way for people to participate in National Night Out is to organize a block or neighborhood party where neighbors can get to know each other better and build a community bond which sends a strong message to criminals that the community members are looking out for each other and reporting suspicious activity in their neighborhood. Milpitas residents have used the occasion as a tool to initiate local Neighborhood Watch Groups. Individuals also can also participate by leaving their porch light on supporting the stand against criminal activity.

In Milpitas, police officers will make visits to the parties and neighborhood get-togethers where they will network with residents, distribute crime prevention materials and answer community safety questions. The best time for parties is 6 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Milpitas residents who would like to host a party, or to make sure police know about a party already planned, should contact Officer John Muok at (408) 586-2526 or send him an email at jmuok@ci.milpitas.ca.gov.

Mission Trail fire warns of dry season dangers

FREMONT FIRE DEPT.

At 6:59 p.m., on July 24, 2017, The Fremont Fire Department responded to a reported vegetation fire on the main trail to Mission Peak from the Stanford Ct. parking lot. Fremont Fire responded with 7 four-wheel drive fire engines, a water tender, and two Battalion Chiefs. While responding, companies saw visible smoke and flame. A special call was made to East Bay Regional Parks District and California Department of Forestry (Cal Fire) for assistance. Cal Fire responded with 3 additional engines, a helicopter, 2 firefighting aircraft, and a Battalion Chief. East Bay Regional Park responded with 1 engine, 1 water tender, and two overhead supervisors.

Once all the apparatus made it up the trail, a progressive hose lay of over 1000' was made on both the left side and the right side to contain the fire. Aircraft made several retardant drops to control the spread of the fire. The trail itself was congested with hikers but no one was injured or in immediate danger from the fire. All hikers were moved to a safe area from the fire. The spread of the fire was contained within 50 minutes and several hours of control work followed. There were no injuries to Firefighters or Civilians. The scene was released to East Bay Regional Parks District for observation and fire watch.

The Fremont Fire Department would like to thank its citizens for their cooperation while hiking on the trail during this fire. This contributed to the overall safety of all involved.

Friday, July 21

At 6:57p.m. dispatchers received a 911 call that someone had just shot a bullet from a vehicle into a house in the area of Sunstar and Northwind Terrace. Multiple officers responded. After searching the area officers found a man suffering from what appeared to be a non-life threatening single gunshot wound. The man was uncooperative with officers. The incident may have occurred as part of a drug deal; an investigation is continuing.

At 10:14 p.m. while Officer T. Roberts was patrolling in Niles, he met two people, Frank Torrano, 28, of Newark, and Joaquin Beza, 26, of Fremont. While talking with them, Roberts learned both are on probation and Beza had an arrest warrant. During a search, both were found to have burglary tools in their possession. Both were arrested without incident.

At 11:48 a.m. officers responded to a report of a missing person in the 40700 block of Grimmer Boulevard. The caller described the person as a developmentally challenged woman who was non-communicative. At noon, arriving officers saw Cheuk Li, 77, of Fremont being detained by local residents. Witnesses told officers the missing woman and Li were in the backseat of Li's Subaru Outback with the doors locked and windows rolled up and they suspected sexual battery. Li was taken to police headquarters and interviewed by sexual assault detectives where it was learned he had a previous sexual battery conviction and was ordered to register as a sex offender. Based on the new incident and witness statements, the Alameda County District Attorney's Office has charged Li with kidnapping, two counts of sexual battery and dependent adult abuse. Anyone with information about the case is asked to call Detective D. Rodriguez at (510) 790-6900.

The clerk told police that three suspects entered the store and attempted to steal a case of beer. The clerks tried to stop the suspect and a fight started. One of the clerks was hit in the eye by a windshield wiper and also possibly suffered a broken finger during the struggle. The suspects ran out of the store. Officers searched the area but did not locate them. An investigation is continuing.

Shortly after 11 p.m. a large party on Jamestown Road. was occurring. The gathering started out small, but grew after word spread on social media and several uninvited guests arrived. As two of the invited guests were walking outside, four suspects in black hoodies approached them. Two of the suspects had handguns and robbed the guests at gunpoint taking several person items. An investigation is continuing.

Monday, July 24

At about 12:35 p.m. officers responded to a report of a rollover vehicle collision in Niles Canyon, west of Palamares Road. Arriving officers found the vehicle occupied by a woman who was pronounced dead at the scene. Witnesses told officers that the driver and passenger of a second vehicle that had been struck by the driver just moments before the fatal collision. Officers learned the driver, a 59-year-old Pleasanton woman, had been driving eastbound in Niles Canyon and was tailgating the vehicle in front of her. She weaved within the lane in what appeared to be an attempt to pass the driver. In doing so, she rear-ended the vehicle causing the driver to lose control and go down an embankment. The vehicle stopping short of reaching the water. The driver and passenger in the vehicle suffered non-life-threatening injuries. The female driver sped away from the scene of the collision at a high rate of speed, continuing eastbound. As she went under a train bridge, her vehicle moved into the westbound lanes, while still driving eastbound. The driver swerved to avoid a collision with a westbound motorist and went up the embankment of a rock wall, causing the vehicle to flip over and land on its roof. When medical personnel arrived at the scene, she was pronounced dead. Niles Canyon was closed between I-680 and Mission Boulevard to allow investigators to work the scene for several hours. Niles Canyon reopened at 7:00 p.m.

High school senior helps in elders' emergencies

SUBMITTED BY
SRIYA KUDARAVALLI

Sriya Kudravalli's grandfather recently suffered a heart attack. When paramedics arrived, Kudravalli's grandmother, who doesn't speak English, couldn't give paramedics vital information about the grandfather's health history. Concerned that other senior citizens might face similar circumstances, Kudravalli, a senior at St. Francis High School, started a nonprofit organization called VialofLife4All. The organization provides forms to senior citizens to be filled out with important medical information (such as allergies, blood type, current medications) and stored in a Vial of Life bag. The Vial of Life unit is then placed where paramedics or first responders will find it in an emergency.

Kudravalli has helped around four hundred senior citizens in Newark, Hayward, Oakland, San Ramon, Dublin, and Sunnyvale. She will be at the Fremont Senior Center on Thursday, August 3, and in the Ruggieri (Union City) Senior Center on Wednesday, August 16. For more information, contact Sriya at srik20@gmail.com

Camacho named chief executive officer

SUBMITTED BY
MARTY GRIMES

On Thursday, July 27, the Santa Clara Valley Water District Board of Directors selected Norma Camacho as the chief executive officer of the water district. Camacho has served as interim CEO since March 2016. “Ms. Camacho has demonstrated her ability to lead this complex organization through major challenges in reducing flood risks, providing a reliable water supply and protecting our watersheds,” said Board Chair John L. Varela. “The board has great confidence that our new CEO will help us provide the vital services our community needs and expects.” “I feel honored to be chosen to lead this dynamic organization at a crucial time in its history,” said Ms. Camacho. “With major investments in water supply infrastructure, environmental work and flood protection improvements in our near future, it’s a challenging, yet exciting time for all of us who work every day to serve the people of Santa Clara County.” Prior to her appointment as interim CEO, Ms. Camacho was the district’s chief operating officer for Watersheds Operations. She joined the water district in March 2012. Ms. Camacho has more than 25 years of long-range planning, program development, finance, and capital projects experience. Before she joined Santa Clara Valley Water District, she was the director of the Ventura County Watershed Protection District, directing day-to-day operations of a 142-person organization with a budget of $59 million. Prior to that position she served in the Ventura County Executive Office as deputy executive director of finance and budgets. Ms. Camacho holds a bachelor’s degree in civil engineering (structural) from Stanford University. She is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Public Works Association. She currently serves on the Board of Directors for the California Urban Water Agencies, WaterReuse, Bay Area Council, the Silicon Valley Organization, and San Jose Evergreen Community College Foundation. She is also a member of the Santa Clara City Managers’ Association and the Bay Area Water Agencies Coalition.

All-terrain Wheelchair Awarded to U.S.Army Veteran

SUBMITTED BY
ALYSSA AUGER

Continuing its mission of supporting hometown heroes, Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation recently awarded a life-changing equipment grant to U.S. Army Veteran, Sgt. Christian Valle.

Sgt. Valle received an all-terrain wheelchair valued at $16,000 to help him regain his mobility and provide the independence to safely participate in outdoor recreational activities with his family. While on patrol in Balad, Iraq, a passing vehicle threw a mortar round and grenade at U.S. soldiers. The blast of the grenade, which exploded a few feet away from Sgt. Valle, led to the severe injury and eventual amputation of his legs. He spent over a year undergoing multiple leg surgeries and intense physical therapy. “It feels great to know we’re helping Sgt. Valle on his road to recovery since his return home from Iraq,” said Meghan Vargas, Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation senior manager of foundation development. “Firehouse Subs guests might not realize the spectrum of people they’re helping when making a donation to the Foundation. We’re very thankful to be able to give back to our first responders, as well as our armed service men and women who risk their lives every day for us.” Despite losing both legs, Sgt. Valle continues to give back to his community and country, working as a dispatcher at Alameda County Fire Department for nine and a half years. Residents and Firehouse Subs guests are invited to join the celebration and see firsthand how their generous contributions have come full circle to help a hometown hero in need. “Thank you to Firehouse Subs for such a wonderful chair,” said Sgt. Valle. “This chair will give me the freedom to pretty much go anywhere I want to go, no matter the terrain. Thank you to everyone involved and to Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation. I am very lucky to have been chosen to receive this all-terrain chair.” Attendees of the award event included Sgt. Valle, as well as Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation Senior Manager of Foundation Development Meghan Vargas, Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation Manager of Finance and Compliance Gina Brown and Firehouse Subs Area Representative and Franchisee Scott Kinner. Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation was founded in 2005 in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, when Firehouse Subs co-founders, Chris Sorensen and Robin Sorensen, traveled to Mississippi where they provided food to first responders and survivors. As they traveled back to Florida, they knew they could do more and Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation was born with the mission of providing funding, life-saving equipment and educational opportunities to first responders and public safety organizations. Since its inception, the non-profit organization has granted more than $28 million to hometown heroes in 46 states, Puerto Rico and Canada, including more than $700,000 in California. Each restaurant recycles leftover, five-gallon buckets, available to guests for a $2 donation to the Foundation. Donation canisters on register counters collect spare change, while the Round Up Program allows guests to “round up” their bill to the nearest dollar. Grant allocations are made possible thanks to the overwhelming support of Firehouse Subs restaurants and generous donors.
