A walk through downtown Hayward these days is a much more pleasant experience, thanks to the efforts of the Hayward Downtown Streets

Team (DST). On any given morning, you might see this band of merry do-gooders, decked out in their bright yellow or green shirts, sweeping the streets clean of litter. To date (they started in July 2016), they have removed over 100,000 gallons of debris, helping the City of Hayward with

Self-reflection. Atonement. Repentance. Together these words can stir our hearts and minds to consider our spiritual health, our relationship to one another, and our condition with respect to that which we hold as divine. They are also the motivating sentiments behind the coming "Days of Awe" of Judaism, namely Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

"Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are bookends, as it were," says Rabbi Avi Schulman of Temple Beth Torah in Fremont, "that set apart a period of reflection and self-inquiry, as well as a turning back to our better selves; it's a time of inquiring into our actions during the past year with

Exercise IS Medicine

Exercise More for Better Health

Most people say: “You should exercise; it’s good for you.”

Dr. Steven Zonner says:
“Exercise is essential; exercise is medicine.”

"If you could take one pill to prevent diabetes, prevent osteoporosis, improve immunity, enhance libido, lower blood pressure, make you smarter, give you more energy, help you sleep better and improve your self-image, wouldn't you do it?," asks Dr. Zonner, a Washington Hospital board-certified Family Medicine and Sports Medicine specialist.

Exercise is that pill, he asserts.

Dr. Zonner will explain how exercise can reduce the effects of diabetes and other illnesses at a free educational seminar to be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, October 5, in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave., Fremont.

This seminar, a part of Washington Hospital's Diabetes Matters Health Education

Program, is open to the public. Individuals and families who live with diabetes are encouraged to attend. Registration is not required.

Diet, medication and exercise are the three legs of the diabetes treatment stool, Dr. Zonner says.

He explains that in type 1 diabetes the body does not manufacture insulin, which is necessary to convert sugar from food into energy needed by the body. Treatment requires the addition of insulin to one's system, usually by means of injections or an insulin pump.

With type 2 diabetes, a patient cannot absorb the insulin his/her body produces. The patient's system then believes it isn't producing enough insulin and continues to produce more insulin. The insulin is there, but just not being used properly.

The patient's body then has excess insulin and sugar from food that is not being converted to energy. The insulin then converts the sugar to fat which means type 2 diabetes patients often gain excess weight even though they don't necessarily overeat. Excess insulin also causes high blood pressure and other diabetes-related problems.

Exercise is the medicine that counters the body's resistance to insulin by opening the patient's insulin receptors located in the muscles. The insulin, and the sugar it is linked to, can then be absorbed by the body to be used as energy.

Exercise is good medicine for other diseases and illnesses, Dr. Zonner notes. He lists numerous types of cancer that exercise — by reducing system inflammation — helps prevent.

Dr. Zonner says “sitting hurts,” explaining that sitting, rather than exercising, produces two times greater risk of diabetes, a 90 percent greater risk of cardiovascular disease and a 49 percent risk of all-cause mortality.

Dr. Zonner recommends that patients consult with their physicians regarding the level and amount of exercise that they should undertake. This is especially important if the patient is more than 40 years old, he says, and high blood pressure, high cholesterol, exertional chest pain or inability to walk briskly are factors.

But, in general, brisk walking for 15 minutes, three to five days per week, along with a pre- and post-stretching program is a good place to begin, working up to five days a week over time.

A diabetes support group, open to all, will follow Dr. Zonner's presentation. For further information about Diabetes Matters and Washington Hospital's other diabetes education programs, see www.whhs.com/diabetes or call (510) 745-6556.

Health education programs are televised on InHealth, a Washington Hospital television channel (Comcast Channel 78) as well as online at whhs.com/inhealthtv.

Free Washington Hospital seminar will reveal how exercise impacts diabetes.

Think Pink Focuses on Breast Cancer Prevention and Treatment Options

October Event Provides Tips for Feeling Better and Staying Healthy

The familiar pink ribbons are a powerful reminder that breast cancer will strike one in eight women during their lifetime, according to the American Cancer Society. October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month and Washington Hospital is inviting local residents to Think Pink on October 19 to learn more about breast health.

Think Pink is a free event that offers the latest information on breast cancer prevention and treatment, living with advanced breast cancer, and tips for feeling better and leading a healthier life. The event runs from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the Tent Atrium at Washington West, located at 2500 Mowry Ave. in Fremont. Light refreshments will be provided. To register, call (510) 608-1301.

“Think Pink is really for everyone – women who are undergoing treatment, survivors and their loved ones, and anyone who wants to prevent breast cancer,” said Dr. Victoria Leiphart, a Washington Township Medical Foundation gynecologist and member of the Washington Hospital medical staff who will emcee the event. “It’s a celebration of the lives of women – and men, because, though rare, men can also get breast cancer – who have been touched by breast cancer.”

This year’s speakers include Anjali Rao, a breast cancer survivor who was diagnosed at age 37. That was seven years ago. Today she is an avid yoga practitioner and teaches the Candlelit Yoga class at the Washington Women’s Center.

Drs. Michael D. Bastasch and Victoria Leiphart enjoy past Think Pink event.

“I want to empower women to talk about cancer in a real way, one that takes into account the struggles,” she said. “I think sometimes people put survivors on a pedestal, saying, ‘You’re so strong.’ We are told to be brave, that courage is important. But we don’t always feel strong,” she continued. “What about the depression, the anxiety and the grief? There is a lot of courage, but also a great deal of vulnerability. With modern medicine, more people are surviving, so there are a lot of survivors out there. Let’s allow each other to be real about the way we feel. I will also encourage survivors to adopt a mind-body practice like yoga to improve their quality of life.”

The Washington Women’s Center offers a free support group the first Thursday of every month where breast cancer patients, survivors and their loved ones can speak freely and honestly, sharing their feelings. It starts at 7:15 p.m.

Other Featured Speakers

Dr. William Dugoni, medical director for the Washington Women’s Center and a member of the Washington Township Medical Foundation, will provide an update on the Washington Women’s Center and some of the services available there. The center offers advanced diagnostic services and an expert clinical staff, along with wellness and support programs for women. The Washington Women’s Center has been accredited by The National Accreditation Program for Breast Centers, a non-governmental, not-for-profit organization that has been established to identify and recognize breast centers providing quality care in the United States.

Dr. David Lee, medical co-director of the UCSF - Washington Cancer Center and a member of the Washington Hospital medical staff, will talk about some of the exciting new developments in immunotherapy.

“Immunotherapy is a fairly new area that offers a lot of promise,” according to Dr. Leiphart. “It involves boosting your immune system so your body can fight the cancer. Right now it’s being used alongside traditional treatments like chemotherapy and radiation.”

Dr. Sunil Upender will offer some of the latest information on the diagnostic imaging used to detect breast cancer, including mammograms. He is a radiologist at Washington Hospital.

“There will also be a presentation from the Director of Food and Nutrition, Clinical Services, Kimberlee Alvani. Her presentation will focus on food as medicine.” Dr. Leiphart added. “There is good evidence that shows diet can affect how you feel going through treatment as well as your risk for recurrence. It’s also about prevention because food can impact your risk of developing cancer in the first place.”

Resources and Support

Think Pink will start with a health fair from 5 to 6 p.m. There will be a number of booths with information and resources for breast cancer survivors and those currently undergoing treatment, as well as women who want to prevent the disease. Several local health organizations will be on hand to answer questions and offer services, including the American Cancer Society and the HERS Breast Cancer Foundation, which supports women who are healing from breast cancer by providing post-surgical products and services regardless of financial status.

Washington Hospital offers a wide range of support and services for women who want to feel better and lead healthier lives, including wellness classes like Mindful Meditation and Yoga, Women Empowering Women, Gentle Yoga for Health and Healing, and others.

Indian Classical Arts

BY ZOYA HAJEE

Among the various forms of cultural music and dances, Indian Classical Arts is a rich part of Indian culture with roots from thousands of years ago; many programs are devoted toward preserving these arts today. Ashwin Srikant, Divya Mohan, Gopal Ravindhran, and Vignesh Thyagarajan founded one such program as high school students in 2012, called Youth Service Through Cultural Arts (YSTCA), which strives to promote music and dance through Indian Classical Arts to raise funds to give back to the community. “[These funds] would be used to support and serve the needy community around us... For us, music has been an integral part of life,” the founders said, “and we wanted to share this beautiful art with others.”

The organization has come a long way from their inaugural event in December 2012. At that first event, they raised $8,050 for the Dominican Sisters of Mission San Jose, a nonprofit organization that supports music in schools for low-income families and underprivileged students. Since then, YSTCA has raised over $75,000 benefiting a wide range of organizations like Indo-American Seniors Association of Fremont, College of Adaptive Arts, Drivers for Survivors, Boldly Me, and ACT for Mental Health.

Current high schoolers on the YSTCA team, Abinaya Srikant, Akshay Venkatesan, Aparna

Thyagarajan, and Ranjani Ravindrabharathy, have organized the 6th annual “Music and Dance Showcase” on Sunday, September 17 at the Shirdi Sai Parivaar Auditorium in Milpitas, where over 150 performers will showcase a large number of Indian Classical Art forms. These dancers and musicians are from various schools in the Bay Area, including InSyncKathak, India Fusion Dance Academy, Sankalpa Dance Foundation, Kuchupudi Art Center, and Sadguru Vidyalaya.

Throughout the day, there will be 15 to 16 performances, featuring Bharatanatyam, Kathak, Fusion, and Kuchupudi dance as well as Carnatic and Bhajans music. Along with group performances, solo dancers as well as a percussion ensemble will exhibit their talent. The event is free; everyone in the community is welcome to watch these performances filled with rich melodies and graceful dances.

This year, the program is raising funds for West Valley Community Services, an agency based in the West Valley communities of Santa Clara County. Their mission is to provide resources such as housing services, food distribution, financial assistance, and family support to fight homelessness and hunger in these areas of poverty. Funds raised by the event will greatly assist the organization to carry out its vision of every person having food on their table and a roof over their head. Donations are highly appreciated; contact contact.ystca@gmail.com for more information on how to contribute.

YSTCA's Music and Dance Showcase is the perfect way to combine the values of preserving culture with the values of generosity and service. Bringing the community together in such a way will enhance the public's knowledge about India's evolution in the classical arts, and provide awareness about fulfilling the basic needs of families in underprivileged areas. Through the support and commitment of the audience members, YSTCA will continue to grow and sustain these community values.

Get Better at Rejection!

By ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

Have you ever been (a) turned down for a job; (b) rebuffed when asking for a date; (c) denied a promotion; or (d) rejected in any way, shape, or form?

Welcome to the wonderful condition of being human if any of the above apply to you. Take heart in knowing that you are in terrific company. Many of our most gifted and admired fellow human beings have been rejected multiple times. J. K. Rowling received “loads” of rejections (I’m quoting the exact word she used) before a publishing company agreed to publish the first Harry Potter book. Theodor Giesel was rejected 27 times before his book was finally published. If Giesel had not been persistent, millions of children would have grown up without the Cat in the Hat.

We like to laud and celebrate the success of people like Rowling and Giesel. However, what is more amazing than their success is their ability to withstand rejection. Rejection is not fun, to put it mildly. In fact, neuroscientists have shown that the human brain processes rejection in a way very similar to how it processes physical pain. Further, our brains release the same painkilling chemical when we stub our toes as well as when we experience rejection. I’ll put all of this neuro-speak in simple English: rejection hurts. You are not imagining things if you feel like you’ve been punched in the gut after you got dumped.

The good news is you can learn to be more resilient in the face of rejection. Think of it as exercising a muscle to make it stronger. It may sound strange, but you can practice and become better at dealing with rejection. Here are some things you can do to exercise your rejection muscle:

First, acknowledge the pain and hurt you are experiencing. As a therapist, I have worked with so many people who have not been allowed to express or even feel their emotions. Don’t do this to yourself! Give yourself the space to recognize how painful the rejection is.

Next, look at your situation as objectively as you can. If you were unsuccessful in getting your dream job, bear in mind that tens, perhaps even hundreds of people wanted that exact job. Even if just ten people applied for the job, you had a 90% chance of being rejected. Moreover, if there’s an inside candidate angling for the job, your chances of getting the job might have decreased to zero. Educate yourself about the odds of getting rejected so that you can be more accepting of the rejection and not take it personally.

One technique I use to prepare myself for rejection is to have a Plan B, a Plan C, and even a Plan D. This means that if Plan A fails, I am already prepared to activate Plan B. One writer who submits her work to journals has a second envelope (her Plan B) all set and ready to be sent to another publisher in case her first attempt fails.

It isn’t trite to say that when one door closes, another opens. Rejection does not mean the end of the entire world or universe (even if it feels like it). Yes, the door to one possibility might be closed for now, but this does not mean that all doors to all opportunities are forever closed. Look for other opportunities and keep in mind that there are always other opportunities. They may not be the same types of opportunities but they can nevertheless be just as fruitful. Sometimes, rejection can even lead to bigger and better things!

The formal meeting starts at 12:00pm with branch announcements, birthday wishes, a sing-a-long, and lunch, followed by an interesting and entertaining guest speaker. Meetings usually end about 1:30pm.

Activities run the gamut from golf, bowling, computers, wine tasting, bridge, bocce, and couples dining out, and more are being added as interest dictates.

The famous consulting detective, Sherlock Holmes, and his friend and colleague, Dr. John Watson, are called in to investigate a most intriguing mystery: what could have frightened Sir Charles Baskerville to death? Is there an ancient curse on the Baskerville family? Is Sir Henry Baskerville, Sir Charles’ young heir, being stalked by a supernatural hound from hell, or a diabolically clever murderer? With a dash of humor, this thrilling story culminates on the fog-bound reaches of Dartmoor, where finally the secret of the hound of the Baskervilles is revealed.

Opening Friday, September 15 and running through Saturday, October 14, the show features Angie Higgins, Tom Shamrell, Joel Butler, Michael

For a more humane
Alameda County

SUBMITTED BY
ERIC MILLS, COMMUNITY

America seems on the brink of a sea-change insofar as our attitudes toward the use of animals in entertainment are concerned, be it in circuses, rine parks or rodeos. In recent months, in the wake of the documentary, ‘Blackfish,’ SeaWorld dropped its orca shows, and outlawed captive breeding of these highly-social animals. Los Angeles and Oakland passed bans on the use of bullhooks on captive elephants, as did several other cities around the country.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus has gone belly-up, thanks in part to years of protests. And earlier this year New York City banned the use of wild animals in traveling circuses and carnivals. To date, some 30 countries around the world have done likewise, including Mexico, Colombia, Costa Rica, Greece, The Netherlands, even Iran—can the U.S. be far behind?

Closer to home, back in 1993, the Alameda County Board of Supervisors passed an ordinance banning two particularly cruel rodeo events: horse tripping and steer tailing, the first such law in the nation. In 1994, California outlawed horse tripping state-wide, another first. Other states quickly followed. That’s progress!

Now it’s time for the Board of Supervisors to amend the current county ordinance, and add several other cruel (and non-sanctioned) events to the prohibited list, amongst them:

Wild-Cow Milking. This brutal event involves two would-be cowboys roping and manhandling a lactating cow to a standstill, milking a few drops into a bottle, then racing to the finish line. (The cows are beef cattle, not dairy, and not used to being handled.) The cows are already highly stressed due to being separated from their babies. One of these poor cows jumped the fence at the 2014 Rowell Ranch Rodeo in Castro Valley, breaking her neck; she had to be euthanized, leaving an orphaned calf. This is also a standard event at the annual Livermore Rodeo.

Children’s mutton-busting event. Dangerous for sheep and children alike. The sheep are terrified, the children often in tears. There are reports of kids with broken arms and knocked-out teeth, as well as injured sheep. New Zealand has banned this event at the recommendation of the NZ Veterinary Association, which deemed the sheep not built to carry the weight. Surely American sheep are no different. Mutton-busting has been featured at the Rowell Ranch, the Livermore Rodeo, and the Alameda County Fair. It needs to go.

Animal ‘scrambles.’ Calves, pigs and chickens are common victims. Hordes of screaming children are loosed on the frightened animals, often babies, putting all at risk. A statement from world-renowned animal behaviorist Dr. Temple Grandin bears repeating: “In assessing criteria for suffering, psychological stress—which is fear stress—should be considered as important as suffering induced by pain.”

It is important to note that rodeo animals are prey animals. As such, they fear for their very lives when roped, ridden, wrestled, chased, dragged or otherwise roughly handled.

These brutal events send a terrible message to impressionable young children about the proper treatment of animals. California Education Code 60042 states that humane education and kindness to animals be taught in the public schools, K-12. These events are a blatant violation of that mandate. Where are the local child protection agencies? Or the responsible parents?

The Hayward Area Recreation & Park District (HARD) has received more than 400 letters from local humane organizations and concerned individuals demanding that these events be banned. Former County Supervisor Gail Steele has testified in favor of the bans, as have several local preachers, all to no avail. An on-line petition posted by ANIMAL PLACE has garnered more than 120,000 signatures to date. For most of the animals, rodeo is merely a detour en route to the slaughterhouse. They (and we) deserve better.

There’s clearly a need for a county-wide ordinance to stop this cruelty. You can write to Supervisor Wilma Chan, president, and members (Bob Haggerty, Richard Valle, Nate Miley, Keith Carson) of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, 1221 Oak Street, Oakland, CA 94612; tel. (510) 272-3812. Ask that these humane issues be put on the agenda as soon as possible.

Health Department launches
marijuana education

SUBMITTED BY COREY EGEL

On September 7, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) launched a health information and education campaign about what’s legal in California and potential health impacts of cannabis use. Senate Bill 94 (SB 94) - Medicinal and Adult Use Cannabis Regulation and Safety Act (MAUCRSA) - makes it legal for adults 21 or older to possess, consume and cultivate cannabis in California. Sale of cannabis from licensed retail outlets will become legal January 1, 2018.

CDPH received funding to develop a campaign, as detailed in SB 94, describing:

- The scientific basis for restricting access of cannabis and cannabis products for persons under the age of 21 years;
- The penalties for providing access to cannabis and cannabis products to persons under the age of 21 years;
- The potential harms of using cannabis while pregnant or breastfeeding; and
- The potential harms of overusing cannabis or cannabis products.

“CDPH engaged in extensive conversations with stakeholders in California and partners in other states with legalized cannabis to target the most vulnerable populations and apply their lessons learned,” said CDPH Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith. “We are committed to providing Californians with science-based information to ensure safe and informed choices.” CDPH has and will continue to incorporate the latest data available into public messages to increase awareness about how cannabis affects bodies, minds and health.

On CDPH’s website (<http://www.cdph.ca.gov/>), individuals can find information about legal, safe and responsible use, and health information for youth, pregnant and breastfeeding women, parents and mentors, and health care providers. CDPH produced fact sheets with safe storage tips and the important things Californians need to know about purchasing and possessing cannabis for personal use. An educational digital toolkit for local governments and community organizations will be available in the future.

Car navigation tech brings new twists and turns to driving

Meeting set to discuss traffic relief along Dumbarton corridor

Schwartz believes that cities facing technology-driven traffic problems will ultimately need to start charging tolls to use their roads during certain times of day. The congestion pricing would be like the system already used in some lanes on many California highways. Cameras could be used to identify cars and charge vehicles registered outside a city's limit, Schwartz said.

Disney streaming service just got a lot bigger

BY TALI ARBEL
AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

NEW YORK (AP) — Disney is adding more firepower to its upcoming streaming service. Its “Star Wars” and Marvel comic-book movies will be included in the service, making it the only way to stream those movies on demand in the U.S. as part of a monthly subscription. A price hasn’t been announced yet, but the service is expected in late 2019 after Disney’s current deal with Netflix expires.

Previously Disney announced the inclusion of just Disney and Pixar movies and Disney TV shows. Adding the “Star Wars” and Marvel movies could make the new service appealing to teenagers and adults, not just families with young children. The Marvel movies include the “Avengers” and “Guardians of the Galaxy” franchises. The service will also have original Disney movies, TV series and shorts. Disney CEO Bob Iger said thousands of TV episodes and hundreds of movies will be available, though shows from Disney’s ABC network aren’t coming to the service. Disney said last month that it was considering moving “Star Wars” and Marvel to the new service, but a decision wasn’t announced until last week. Disney’s offering is one of many online film and TV options coming from entertainment and tech companies, with more in the works. Disney, for example, is also launching an ESPN sports streaming service early next year. It won’t replicate what’s on ESPN, for now, so it’s expected to be somewhat niche.

Healthy Living Festival

AT THE Oakland Zoo

Healthy Living Festival supports senior care

SUBMITTED BY UNITED SENIORS OF OAKLAND AND ALAMEDA COUNTY

Promoting health and wellness for adults over 60, the “Healthy Living Festival” (HLF) returns to the Oakland Zoo with health screenings and resources, music, medication take back, the sights and sounds of the zoo and more! The Healthy Living Festival is a free event and has grown in 14 years to become the largest older adult focused health related action event throughout Alameda County. “For seniors and those who love them,” the HLF draws an average of more than 2,200 participants countywide each year. Travel training and transportation will be provided to and from the event, and attendees will enjoy several opportunities including a Zoo Walk, 100 information and resource booths in the zoo’s upper parking lot, socializing amongst one another, and a healthy lunch. A raffle will also be held, prizes including two sky box tickets to a Warriors basketball game in the 2017-2018 season, two luxury box tickets to an Oakland Raiders game in the 2017 season, and gift cards in the amount of $150, $100, and $50. The drawing will be held at the festival; winners need not be present to win. Raffle tickets are $2 a ticket or $10 for a book of 6. This event is presented by United Seniors of Oakland and Alameda County (USOAC), a grassroots, multi-ethnic, intergenerational nonprofit organization dedicated to empowering older adults to address the issues that affect their quality of life. As a community-based organization, United Seniors has an established track record of fighting for the rights of older adults throughout Alameda County for more than 25 years. They collaborate with the disabled communities, youth, senior service providers and others, and have over 7,000 members, including individuals, chapter, and affiliates throughout the county. Seniors look forward to the HLF year after year as an informative and active day out. The festival involves a lot of walking and encourages participants to be physically active. If you have a medical condition and/or have mobility challenges, please consult your doctor and/or bring an attendant to assist you. Pre-registration is required. Please visit www.usoac.org to print out a registration form in advance, or forms will be available to register onsite. Wristbands will be issued to HLF participants, which will give them free admission into the zoo as well as a free lunch. Additional information and direction will be provided upon registration. Translators will be available. Shuttles courtesy of Supervisor Nate Miley will be picking up seniors at different locations throughout the county; if you would like to get picked up, call United Seniors to let them know your location. There will be a nominal charge to ride the shuttle. Ride AC Transit Line #46 to the Oakland Zoo on Thursday, September 21 and receive a Family Four Pack of Oakland Zoo Passes to use at a later date. Passes are limited so get there early! For more information, please contact United Seniors at (510) 729-0852.

Sudoku:

Fill in the missing numbers (1 – 9 inclusive) so each row, column and 3x3 box contains all digits.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: SEPTEMBER 13 - SEPTEMBER 19

For All Signs: The asteroid Vesta moves into the sign of Libra on September 18. Vesta represents the Vestal Virgin of Roman times. She is the keeper of the sacred flame and devoted to maintaining the spirit of individuals as they pursue their creative growth. She is associated with the flame that is carried to the Olympic Games, representing strength and fair judgement for all. Libra is the sign of fair justice, relationships and negotiation. These topics will become prominent in the news during the next two months. There will be no room for cheating because Vesta holds the scales.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Details and nits may follow you around all week. It's a nuisance but a necessary part of accomplishing your goals at the moment. The Ram prefers to force things into place, but occasionally they require tenacity and concentration. Action moves slowly under these conditions but it is a necessary phase of your work.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): Follow your instincts about where you need to be, particularly if that includes a new social situation. Then give attention to whomever or whatever new enters your life. You are on schedule to find a new guide, mentor, or teacher who will help steer you toward the next direction in your life.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Your focus shifts to matters of home, hearth, and family. Things of the past may float up in your mind for reflection. If this occurs, ask yourself what you learned from the former experience. It probably would help you now. Family concerns may occupy your attention. It is a good time to open important discussions with those most important to you.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): During the next couple of weeks it would serve you well to attend social gatherings and generally put yourself "out there." One or more people are likely to enter your life who help you make the connections that need to come next. It is possible that you encounter a potential for romance or general good fortune.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): Aspects suggest that you are evaluating the outcome of something that began in the fourth quarter of 2016. It may be a relationship or a work of creativity. You are prone to have a negative point of view with this. Make an effort to see this through kinder eyes and wait a couple of weeks. Your attitude may change.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): This is a good week to bring fruition to a home improvement project that was conceived in the fall of 2016. Saturn always gives us what we deserve. If you have put work and time into your effort, you will be rewarded. If not, you may be hit with a need to repair property.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): You have highly favorable aspects this week. Don't stay home. Go out with friends and groups. You will be noticed and welcomed wherever you go. New people who come into your life at this time may become teachers or guides on your next path. Or perhaps you will have the opportunity to guide others. Please read the lead paragraph.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Mars is one of your planetary avatars. This week it is overcoming Mercury, the communicator and message maker. Mars is prone to be too quick to strike and you may discover sharp remarks in your mind or among your friends. Remember that we often regret that which is said in haste. "If you can't say something nice, don't say anything at all."

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You have been steadily working on a new, more stable identity for the last two years. At this time one of your projects is nearly ready for its display. You can see the result of your effort and others will notice it as well. It involves your career or direction in life and likely will give you reason to be proud.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): You may be pestered by memories of times in which you felt you failed or somehow didn't meet expectations. Ask why you need to review this now. Is there something to be gained here? If it is simply repetition of old fear tapes, take what you really need to remember and toss the rest away.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): A critic is following you. This may be a voice from the past or perhaps it is you beating upon yourself. On the surface you may perceive it as your partner's voice, but the problem for you is that old tapes cause you to believe you are not worthy. Your soul is valuable. You do not have to prove yourself "worthy" of another's judgment.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): A false accusation or a rumor about you or your partner may cause you considerable worry at this time. The probability is that it is based only upon the assumption of a third party. The reason you worry is that you and one or more significant others are not communicating well. Concentrate on productive communications and don't carry this "fact" around in your heart.

County to fight for DACA Youth

SUBMITTED BY
JANICE ROMBECK

Santa Clara County is poised to take whatever actions necessary to protect recipients enrolled in the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program from losing their jobs, education opportunities and dreams of professional careers in the United States.

Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors President Dave Cortese reaffirmed the county's support for DACA at a news conference on Sept. 5 just after U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions announced the end of the program which started during the Obama-era to protect from deportation young undocumented immigrants brought to the U.S. as children.

"The lives, dreams and futures of thousands of DACA recipients are not a bargaining chip for this administration to play with,"

Supervisor Cortese said. "I remain committed to them and to their cause. I urge every DREAMer (Development, Relief and Education for Alien Minors) out there to remain resilient and hopeful. We will not go down without a fight."

Cortese said he had asked County Counsel James Williams to bring to the board a menu of legal actions that could be taken against the Trump Administration to keep the program intact. The County will also champion legislation that protects DACA individuals, and, in the short term, address the immediate needs of DACA youth and young adults through the County Office of Immigrant Relations and the Behavioral Health Services Department. Those services include legal workshops, financial opportunities and mental health counseling.

Support for DACA was also echoed by other speakers at the news conference at the County Government Center, including DACA recipients Mitzia Martinez and Kevin Gaytan, Supervisor Cindy Chavez, County Executive Jeffrey Smith, Chief Operating Officer Miguel Marquez, Deputy County Executive David Campos, South Bay Labor Council Executive Officer Ben Field, Hispanic Chamber of Commerce representative Mimi Hernandez and Asian Law Alliance Executive Director Richard Konda.

There are 24,000 DACA recipients in Santa Clara County, according to the Migration Police Institute; more than 200,000 DACA recipients in California, according to the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services; and about 800,000 across the nation.

For more information, contact the Office of Supervisor Dave Cortese at (408) 299-5030.

Playground volunteers sought

SUBMITTED BY
DIONICIA RAMOS LEDESMA

The bars, swings, seats and ladders for a new children's playground at Park Elementary School in Hayward will soon be in place. All that's needed are helping hands to assemble the structures for the kids to enjoy.

Officials from the Hayward Unified School District are looking for volunteers to join an assembly team that will build the playground on Thursday, Oct. 26 at the school, 411 Larchmont St. About 125 volunteers are already committed to the project, but about 75 more are needed.

Volunteers must be 18 or older and will participate in numerous tasks during the work day including putting together playground structures, mixing concrete and moving mulch. Participants should wear comfortable clothes and closed toe shoes. Gloves, goggles and other safety items will be provided and child care will be available for those who needed it. Volunteers will receive breakfast, lunch and a T-shirt to wear during the project.

The playground build project will happen rain or shine and is a joint venture between the school district and private companies CarMax Foundation and KaBOOM.

For details, or to RSVP, call Carol Rivera at (510) 723-3875 or send an email to criveragarcia@husd.k12.ca. Online registrations can be made by visiting the project website hosted by KaBOOM at www.tfaforms.com/4630806

Pet Doors

Your new best friend

BY DAVID R. NEWMAN

PETDOORS.COM

Are you tired of having to get up to let your dog or cat outside? Do you worry about what to do with your pet when you go on vacation? Are you tired of paying for the expense of a dog walker? If these questions strike a chord, it may be time for you to invest in a pet door which can provide unparalleled freedom and happiness for both owner and pet alike.

As legend has it, Sir Isaac Newton is accredited with inventing the pet door. He allegedly cut two holes in the wall: one for his adult cat and a smaller one for the kittens. Imagine his surprise (and embarrassment) when the kittens followed their mother through the same hole! Of course, modern pet doors are much more than a hole in the wall (or door). Many have highly durable plastic or aluminum frames with vinyl flaps, which help keep out the

if they move, they set one up almost immediately because it makes life so much easier. If you have an active life, you don't have to worry if a meeting goes longer or take your kids someplace because your pets will have access to go outside and relieve themselves. Also, dogs like to go out all the time, if they hear a squirrel for example, but then they're back in two minutes, then back out again... and on and on. After a while it becomes a big pain in the butt for the owner."

A pet door can also provide an escape route in the event of a fire.

wind, rain, and bugs while keeping the heat or cool air in.

Steven Lieberman of Pet Independence has been selling and installing pet doors since 2011. He says, "Anyone who's already had a pet door,

And for those pet owners who use dog-walking services to give their dog a break during the day, a pet door can be a less costly alternative. It can also cut down on your energy bill, since every time you open your door to let your door. Electronic models, geared towards cats and small dogs, are activated by your pet's microchip or collar sensor, especially helpful when trying to keep your other pets inside, or when trying to prevent varmints from entering.

Where you place your pet door is another important consideration, and varies greatly depending on the house layout and how you use your home. The most common and economical solution is to install one in a standard wood or fiberglass door that leads out to the backyard. Sometimes homeowners replace the entire door with a new door that includes a pet door. This way, when they move, they can put the original door back. Wall units are another solution, but often require an exterior platform or ramp to be constructed to account for the height difference from exterior ground to floor level.

Sliding glass doors are a popular location as well. Again, owners can replace the entire glass pane with an insert that includes a pet door (do not try to cut a hole in a sliding door as they are made of tempered glass and will shatter!), or they can install an insert into the track. This is a vertical glass panel with a pet door at the bottom that runs the height of the door and affixes to the frame. The downside to this option is the decreased space for the door opening.

Wherever you place your pet door, it's very important to get the right size opening for your pet. A key measurement is from their front feet to the top of their shoulders. Herrera suggests making a cardboard cutout to test out on your pet, ensuring that there is enough room from top to bottom and side to side. You also need to take into consideration the height of the step over (the lower area between the floor and bottom of pet door), especially with multiple pets. Smaller or elderly dogs may struggle where larger dogs just gallop right over.

The freedom and happiness provided by a pet door often far outweigh the cost and effort of installation. They really are the cat's meow.

FAIR OR FOUL

Has this ever happened to you?

After a long day of schoolwork and play, Tom was tired. He couldn't wait to rest and watch his favorite TV show. Just as he got settled, his sister walked in and flipped the channel to a different show. Tom felt angry! How would you feel? What would you do? Tom knew this was the time to STOP and think about what he would do next.

He knew that the next thing he said or did could make the conflict worse. This would be a foul. Look at the fouls described on the FOUL card. Do they sound familiar?

Fair enough?

Common Ground

Finding ways that groups of people are the same often helps them to find a resolution to their conflicts. Find an example of a conflict in the newspaper. Make a list of the ways the people on both sides of the conflict are the same. How could these similarities lead to a resolution?

Standards Link: Health/Conflict Resolution: Students know how negotiation and collaboration can be used to resolve conflicts.

Get Through the Bully Maze

Many, many children are bullied everyday. These children can feel lost in a maze made up of bad feelings – sad, stressed, embarrassed, nervous, depressed, helpless. These feelings can make it hard to do well in school and to make friends. Experts say that there is something that can help a child who has been bullied. To find out what that is, complete the maze. The letters along the correct path of the maze spell the answer!

Heat Wave becomes teaching moment

ARTICLE BY DOUG WHIPPLE,
GOMES ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Friday, Sept. 1 was one of the hottest days in Fremont's recorded history. With the help of PTA members at Gomes Elementary School that hot day became a real teaching moment for the students. The PTA shopped for and purchased 880 small bottles of water, and then, with the help of custodians loaded the bottles into the school's refrigerator.

During the lunch break the next school day, each Gomes student was given a chilled bottle of water by a PTA volunteer. Students also participated in a short explanation about their body's need to stay hydrated by drinking water. Finally, students participated in a "toast" with the water and chanted, "Hydrate! Hydrate, Hydrate!"

It was a good learning experience on a hot day.

Chrysanthemum Stories

By Pat Kite

Chrysanthemums are our autumn protest of winter. They are everyplace, inexpensive, in pots, with colors to match any room, any mood. Depending on who is arguing, chrysanthemums originated in China. Confucius wrote about them in 500 B.C. He referred to historical records. According to Confucius, chrysanthemums were meditation flowers. The name comes from “Chu hua,” translated as “October flower.”

It is a noble plant, highly regarded, and was once the emblem of the old Chinese Army. Time marches. In 400 A.D. Buddhist monks carried chrysanthemums to Japan. The Emperors were extremely impressed. Not only did chrysanthemums symbolize the sun, the orderly way petals opened symbolized perfection. It became the national flower in 910 A.D. Today, the Japanese imperial coat of arms displays a 16-petaled, golden chrysanthemum. (Some interpret this as a “Rising Sun,” but it is a chrysanthemum.)

Of course, there is another story of this plant’s travels; readers tell me they like a story, so onwards. Twelve maidens and twelve young men of the highest Chinese nobility were sent by ship to find the “Herb of Youth” for their Emperor. The youths carried bamboo baskets of golden chrysanthemums, China’s most precious product, to trade for the magic herb of longevity. Alas, the seas were stormy, and the vessel ran aground. The voyagers planted their chrysanthemums, and settled down to build an empire. This, according to legend, became the Empire of Japan.

The plant kept traveling. The first chrysanthemum to reach Europe arrived in 1688. The plant entered America in 1798. The Chrysanthemum Society of America held its first exhibit in 1902. Hybridization continues. There are colors galore, and the

Days of Awe proclaim a time for renewal

the idea of making right our relationship with God and with others.”

Rosh Hashanah means the beginning or head of the year (it will be Year 5778 on September 20). Days of the Jewish calendar begin at sunset; the two-day celebration begins with Erev Rosh Hashanah on the evening on the first day of Tishrei, the first month of the civil year, one of four different year cycles ordained by Jewish Law. Rosh Hashanah’s biblical name, Yom Teruah (day of shouting/blasting), refers to one of the primary customs associated with the celebration, namely the blowing of the ram’s horn, or shofar.

Other Rosh Hashanah customs include attending synagogue services and reciting special liturgy about teshuva (repentance) and enjoying festive foods. Eating apples dipped in honey celebrates the bounty of the harvest coinciding with the season, and invokes a “sweet new year.” Circular challah loaves reflect nature’s annual cycle. Some congregations practice Tashlich, the casting of bread on the water symbolizing the dispatch of past transgressions. Memories of loved ones past is kept alive with visits to cemeteries.

The Talmud says that on Rosh

Hashanah three books are opened wherein the fate of the wicked, the righteous, and those of an intermediate class are recorded. Names of the righteous are immediately inscribed in the book of life and sealed “to live.” The intermediate class are allowed a respite of 10 days, until Yom Kippur, to reflect, repent and become righteous; the wicked are blotted out forever.

In the month of Elul, prior to the Days of Awe (Yamim Nora’im), Jews are supposed to begin self-examination and repentance. Every morning, except on Shabbat, the shofar is blown to call listeners from their spiritual slumber and alert them to coming judgment.

In the days following Rosh Hashanah, the faithful turn their attention to repentance and reconciliation. The prayers of Yom Kippur heal the rift between individuals and God. Trespasses against others require personal reconciliation. According to the twelfth-century Rabbi Maimonides, four important steps must be taken:

- Verbally confess your mistake and ask for forgiveness.
- Express sincere remorse, resolving not to make the same mistake again.
- Do everything in your power to right the wrong and appease the person who has been hurt.

• Act differently if the same situation happens again.

On Yom Kippur, the judgment entered in the three books is considered final. This day is, essentially, an individual’s last appeal and last chance to change the judgment, to demonstrate repentance and make amends.

On the day of Yom Kippur, no work is to be done. (Famously, LA Dodgers pitcher, Sandy Koufax, sat out on Game 1 of the 1965 World Series for Yom Kippur.) Celebrants fast for a 25-hour period, abstaining from food and water from the evening before Yom Kippur to just after night fall on the day. The point of fasting is to reconnect people with their ability to overcome the needs of the body, to affirm that choice is more powerful than the flesh, and that individuals have the ability to act for reasons higher than simple survival. As Rabbi Schulman says, fasting “indicates our ability to overcome our natural inclinations.”

(For people for whom fasting would be a health risk, the injunction is lifted. For instance, children under the age of nine and women who have just given birth are not permitted to fast, even if they want to. For tips on safe fasting, visit <http://www.jewfaq.org/fasttips.htm>)

Most of Yom Kippur is spent in the synagogue in prayer, as the liturgy, with five services beginning with the Kol Nidre, is more extensive than for any other day. In the concluding service, Neilah, the ark containing the Torah is kept open throughout the service, and celebrants must stand. The tone of urgency in the prayers of this service makes some feel there is a closing of the gates, a last chance for the congregation’s prayers to reach the ears of God.

Many in the Jewish community urge others to make their fasting more meaningful by directing their attention to the hungry of the world and donating the amount of money equivalent to a day’s food to a hunger awareness/advocacy organization. If money is a problem, consider asking friends and family to save unused coupons for food and household products, which can be donated to organizations that provide food and necessities for people in need. A timely choice would be the Jewish Federations of North America who are currently helping people still reeling from Hurricane Harvey (<https://www.jewishfederations.org/>).

For Jews and non-Jews alike, self-inquiry and a concern for others are the foundations of what it means to live a meaningful life. As Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur approach, it is a good time to evaluate where we stand.

Student-founded nonprofit provides STEM-based tutoring

SUBMITTED BY YOUTH SCIENCE ENTHUSIASTS

Bubbling chemical reactions and explosive experiments are near and dear to the heart of Samir Jain, a junior at Mission San Jose High School in Fremont. Two years ago, Jain founded Youth Science Enthusiasts (YSE), a nonprofit organization that represents his love of science and passion for tutoring.

Today, more than a hundred students are enrolled in five YSE locations across the East and South Bay. Recent rapid growth in YSE enrollment reflects the current trend in students’ interest in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) fields as possible career choices.

YSE is making a difference. Not only was YSE recently recognized in Bay Area Parent magazine, but Bowman Elementary in Hayward produced its second school science fair inspired by Jain’s dedication. One of Samir’s students developed an electric car for his science fair project, which he took to the Hayward district science fair last May. Ace Charter School in San Jose started its first school science fair, inspired by Jain’s leadership in science education.

Jain also works with Alum Rock Library in San Jose where he and his volunteers perform experiments and provide explanations for children of all ages. For more information, visit www.youthscienceenthusiasts.org

Sidewalk Improvement Projects Underway in Six Fremont Park Locations

The City of Fremont is currently working on concrete walkway improvement projects at six local park sites that will impact public access to these Fremont trails: Brookvale Trail, Sabercat Historic Park, Central Park Boat House, Plaza Park, Aqua Adventure Waterpark, and Northgate Community Park. The Brookvale Trail, Sabercat Historic Park, Central Park Boat House, and Plaza Park projects will include the replacement and/or resurfacing of the existing concrete walkways, providing stronger and more durable surfaces that require less upkeep and maintenance, and allow for longer lifespans. Most of these areas will be enclosed with construction fencing during the construction duration and will be temporarily unavailable to the public. The Aqua Adventure Waterpark sidewalk project will include construction of a new sidewalk linking the waterpark with the Central Park entry adjacent to the Nature Learning Center and Large Picnic Area A. This portion of the walkway, including adjacent parking spaces, will be enclosed with construction fencing during the construction duration, but temporary pedestrian access will be provided. Northgate Community Park will also be receiving concrete sidewalk and landscape improvements. Other noteworthy updates to these park projects include: At Brookvale Park, where the construction area is fenced off, the City is working with the contractor to provide fenced access to cut across the site during Brookvale Elementary School hours. At the Central Park Boat House and Aqua Adventure Waterpark, the project is providing detour signs and accessible path of travel to maintain access. Plaza Park, and the impacted sections of Northgate Park along Rowland Drive, and Sabercat Historic Park, from Pine Street to Becado Drive will be closed during construction. Construction at these locations is scheduled through December. However, if sites are completed early, the City will open them for public use. The City of Fremont appreciates your patience as we work to make these park improvements, and apologize for any inconveniences these temporary closures may cause. For additional information, please contact City of Fremont Landscape Architect Rico Lardizabal at 510-494-4743 or rlardizabal@fremont.gov.

California Coastal Cleanup Day is September 16 fabulous coast and waterways. If you are interested in participating, please pre-register at www.Fremont.gov/Coastal-CleanupDay to guarantee a spot. Please note the City does not allow anyone under the age of 6 to participate in this event. Attend Future Fremont Block Party in Downtown Fremont on September 16

Weigh in on future programming for Downtown Community Center plaza

Downtown Fremont is on the rise! The former Town Fair Shopping Center buildings are scheduled to be demolished in mid-September in preparation for the development of the future Downtown Community Center (Phase 1 of the Civic Center project). The demolition will take approximately three months; however, construction for the Downtown Community Center is not anticipated to begin until summer 2019. Therefore, in an effort to continue to contribute toward creating an active and vibrant Downtown for residents to enjoy and connect with, the site will be transformed into a temporary plaza by the placemaking curators, Public Space Authority (PSA). PSA will work with the City to create a temporary plaza that will include food trucks, outdoor games, public art and music, a beer garden, maker space, and regularly scheduled community events. The plaza will open in April 2018 and pilot concepts that can later be integrated into the permanent plaza designed for the new Downtown Community Center. The first event hosted by PSA is the Future Fremont Block Party on Saturday, September 16, from 12 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Capitol Avenue, between State and Liberty streets. The family-friendly block party will feature live music, food, local makers and artist vendors, and interactive exhibits designed to gather community input on the vision for the future Downtown Community Center plaza. For more information visit www.Fremont.gov/Downtown or www.sanjosemade.com/future-fremont-block-party.

Park It

Coastal Cleanup

Every fall at about this time, East Bay Regional Park District volunteers participate in the annual California Coastal Cleanup, a statewide effort to collect litter and recyclables from public shorelines.

This year's cleanup will be from 8:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Sept. 16. Volunteers will convene at Carquinez Strait and Martinez Shoreline in Martinez, Point Pinole and Point Isabel in Richmond, Crown Beach in Alameda, Martin Luther King Jr. Shoreline in Oakland, Hayward Shoreline in Hayward, and Lake Del Valle south of Livermore.

The Park District will provide snacks, water and trash bags. It's a great family activity; volunteers 15 years old and younger must be accompanied by an adult.

Registration is required. For information and registration, call (510) 544-2515.

Also at Carquinez Strait, naturalist Kevin Dixon will lead a "Family Night" stroll from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 16, starting at the Nejedly Staging Area, which is on Carquinez Scenic Drive just past Alhambra Pioneer Cemetery in Martinez.

It's a chance to meet your neighbors and enjoy an easy walk, suitable for strollers, wheelchairs and all ages, with beautiful views of the strait. For information, call (510) 544-2750.

Along with turning leaves and cooler weather, another harbinger of fall in the natural world is spider activity. Naturalist Trent

Pearce will explore the phenomenon with a series of spider safaris, all from 3:00 to 4:30 p.m. in various regional parks.

The group will search for orb weavers, wolf spiders, mygalomorphs (another kind of spider), and the ever-popular tarantulas.

There's a safari on Saturday, Sept. 16 at Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley, starting at the Environmental Education Center. Another is on Sept. 30 starting at the Crockett Ranch Staging Area of Crockett Hills Regional Park in Crockett, led by Anthony Fisher. It's back to Tilden's Environmental Education Center on Oct. 1, and the last safari starts at the Tilden Steam Train on Oct. 29.

For information on any of the spider safaris, call (510) 544-2233.

Astronomically speaking, another sign of fall is the autumnal equinox, when the sun is over the equator and the day and night are of equal length. It occurs this year on Sept. 22.

Naturalist Trail Gail Broesder will lead a hike in search of signs of impending fall from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 17 at Briones Regional Park near Orinda. Meet at the Alhambra Staging Area on Reliez Valley Road near Martinez. The hike is for ages eight and older. For information, call (510) 544-2233.

The biggest trees in the world are the subject of a program by naturalist Michael Charnofsky from 10 a.m. to noon on Sunday, Sept. 17 at Roberts Regional Recreation Area in the Oakland hills.

On a 1.5-mile walk, Michael and the group will search for evidence of a redwood tree that was 32 feet in diameter, and visit the site of the Blossom Rock Trees that were visible from San Francisco Bay.

Meet at the park's main entrance, which is on Skyline Boulevard about a mile north of the intersection with Joaquin Miller Road. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

There's a hide and seek of sorts in the works at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont, orchestrated by naturalist Kristina Parkison.

Kristina's Curiosity Cart, filled with wonders of cultural and natural history, will be hidden somewhere within the park during programs from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 16, and 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 30. Find the cart and enjoy learning about its contents.

Coyote Hills is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There's a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. For information, call (510) 544-3220.

And there's all kinds of information about East Bay Regional Park District programs and facilities at the district web site, www.ebparks.org.

The Irvington Vikings (Fremont) varsity squad beat the Arroyo Dons (San Lorenzo) 55-6 on September 8th in an overall good performance from both the offense and defense. From the start, the Vikings offense opened gaping holes in the Arroyo line and revealed good pathways for runners. Although the Dons tried to fight back, they could not slow the Vikings juggernaut.

Niles Canyon closed to motor vehicles on September 30

Full access to hikers, bicyclists and runners

For the second time in three years, Alameda County and numerous other public agencies are hosting the Niles Canyon Stroll and Roll, to give pedestrians full access to the scenic roadway and to raise public awareness about a proposal to build a new public trail through the Canyon.

Hosts include Alameda County Supervisors Scott Haggerty and Richard Valle, East Bay Regional Park District, California Department of Transportation and others examining proposed public trail through scenic, historic Niles Canyon.

A 6.4-mile stretch of Niles Canyon Road between Old Canyon Road in Fremont and Main Street in Sunol will be closed for seven hours on Saturday, September 30, to allow hikers, runners and bicyclists to have full access to the road without automobile traffic. Staff from Alameda County and the East Bay Regional Park District will also be on hand with visual displays and other information to help the public understand a proposal to build a recreational trail through the canyon.

Parking in Sunol is located at 11600 Pleasanton-Sunol Road. Parking in Fremont is at Quarry Lakes Regional Recreation Area, 2100 Isherwood Way. Participants are encouraged to use public transportation. Free shuttle service provided to and from the Fremont BART station during event hours.

Rights or Right

Cities face an enormous challenge when property values skyrocket and landowners yield to the premise that bigger is better. When ownership rights and neighborhood character move in opposite directions, it is often up to city government to mediate a misalignment of goals. As land has become more valuable in our communities, maximizing space and profit realized from location and construction has driven some owners to insert what have been called “mega-homes” into otherwise modest neighborhoods. Introduction of large, 2-story homes adjacent to existing single-story homes may be inappropriate in character, block sight lines, sunlight and access to solar energy and create privacy concerns. How can this be regulated, yet retain important property ownership rights?

The City of Fremont is now wrestling with updating its zoning and design guidelines for residential construction throughout the City. At its City Council meeting on September 5th, councilmembers heard several alternatives introduced by Staff with a bewildering array of terminology and concepts including setbacks, lot coverage, massing, solar installation, balconies, remodel vs. demolition, floor and ceiling height and much more. How should regulations address Floor Area Ratio (FAR) that compares usable floor area to lot size? In the case of a remodel, should initial size of the existing home be used to calculate FAR (including a second floor, if desired)? How is FAR calculated if an Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU) is anticipated or exists? How will home orientation affect shadows and seasonal obstruction of potential solar energy production? If a second story is anticipated, what percentage of the first floor can be covered? How will proposed construction fit in with neighboring homes?

Ten alternatives allowing “ministerial design review” were presented to the Council; a separate proposal was advanced by Councilmember Bonaccorsi. Although there appeared to be basic agreement among the Council about privacy concerns and community character, the enforcement and review process raises questions. As explained by Community Development Director Jeff Schwob, ministerial review allows staff to judge if rules and standards are met. If so, a permit will be issued. If the design of a plan does not meet codified restrictions, applicants can request a discretionary review, requiring a public notice and hearing to show “the intent was met in a different way.” Mr. Schwob noted that there has only been one example of discretionary review in Fremont’s history.

Questions about the administrative staff role when applying standards was raised by Councilmember Bacon. In situations that require interpretation of an ordinance, does the final decision rest with a staff member or legislative review? In either event, there is bound to be controversy since ownership might be nine tenths of the law, but the final tenth of zoning and design ordinances spell the difference. The balancing act for Fremont’s City Council is a tightrope, but should it err on the side of neighborhood character and, in the words of the General Plan, respect Fremont’s neighborhoods as the “building blocks” of the community.

Policy 4-1.2 of the Community Character section of the General Plan says, “Neighborhoods Maintain and enhance Fremont’s identity as a city of neighborhoods. Planning and design decisions should define neighborhood edges and gateways, build neighborhood pride and recognition, and strengthen the physical qualities that make each neighborhood distinctive. The intent is to preserve the desirable qualities of each neighborhood while allowing them to evolve, grow, and adapt over time.” This is a mouthful and somewhat nebulous. Exactly what does “evolve” mean in the context of an established neighborhood of older, primarily single-story dwellings? Is a mega-home evolution or destruction? The City Council has an obligation to define neighborhood character as best it can and eliminate ambiguity. When new neighborhood zoning and design guidelines are revisited in October, a definite line should be drawn to guide staff and developers. While some neighborhoods have official recognition and protection from radical design intrusion, others are waiting for a city-wide decision to limit the invasion of meg-homes in their midst. At the end of this process, someone will be unhappy. Will profit triumph?

Australian teen’s feet bloodied by mystery sea creatures

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP), A teenager who went for a swim at a Melbourne beach and emerged with his feet covered in blood has stumped marine experts. Sam Kanizay’s legs felt sore after playing a game of football on August 5, so he decided to soak them at the beach. About 30 minutes later, the 16-year-old walked out of the water with his feet and ankles covered in what looked like hundreds of little pin holes that were bleeding profusely. Upon returning home, his parents promptly took him to the hospital.

Kanizay’s father, Jarrod, said hospital staff had no idea what kind of creature could have caused the injuries. So Jarrod went back to the beach the following night with a pool net full of meat and captured the animals he believes could have been responsible. He took a video of dozens of the tiny bug-like creatures chomping on the chunks of meat. “What is really clear is these little things really love meat,” he said. Jeff Weir, executive director of the Dolphin Research Institute, believes the teen may have been attacked by crustaceans called amphipods, which usually eat decomposing plant and animal scraps.

But Thomas Cribb, a parasite expert from the University of Queensland, said it would be very unusual for amphipods to cause such extensive bleeding. “It’s not a parasite I’ve ever come across,” he said. Meanwhile, marine expert Michael Brown believes the small bugs eating the meat in the video could be jellyfish larvae. “I’ve never seen anything like this,” he told Channel Seven’s Sunrise program. Sam was still hospitalized on August 7, but had been taken off antibiotics.

Police officers corral loose pig - jokes ensue

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WOOLWICH TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP), Police in New Jersey were put to the test over the weekend when they were called to catch a loose pig. Three Woolwich Township police officers responded to a call about a mischievous pig roaming a neighborhood the morning of Saturday, August 12. Police said three officers used a makeshift lasso and dog treats to lure the pet pig back into its owner's yard. In a self-deprecating Facebook post, the Woolwich Township

Police Department quipped, “No pig(s) were hurt in the process.” The department also invited commenters to make their best “pig/bacon/cop” jokes. The department’s piggy post has received more than 700 likes and 70 comments. One commenter asked if the pig could become the station’s new mascot. Several said the post made them want to move to the township. Another commenter wrote, “Way to bring home the bacon, fellas.”

East Bay Parks News

BY DENNIS WAESPI

Niles Canyon Stroll & Roll

Niles Canyon Road, Highway 84, is a scenic and historic route that follows Alameda Creek down the canyon between the towns of Sunol and Fremont.

The road has exciting potential for a multi-use regional trail that would connect several East Bay Regional Parks, while allowing for both recreational use and alternative commuting. To promote the idea of a new, non-motorized trail through Niles Canyon, Alameda County Supervisors Richard Valle and Scott Haggerty sponsor the Niles Canyon Stroll & Roll event, which started in 2015.

This year the Stroll & Roll will be on Saturday, Sept. 30. From 7 a.m. to 8 a.m. the road will be closed to all vehicles and open only to cyclists. Then from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. the road will be open to all pedestrians and bicyclists to stroll and roll through. The Park District will have an information booth at the Fremont end of the road.

Parking will be available at two locations at the Fremont end of the Stroll & Roll: Quarry Lakes Regional Recreation Area on Quarry Lakes Drive, and the Fremont BART station on Bart Way. BART of course has the added advantage of non-vehicular public transportation to the event.

It’s always lots of fun, so come on out and enjoy a motor vehicle-free experience through a beautiful canyon.

As recent weather conditions and air quality have reminded us, we are approaching the height of the fire season.

In cooperation and coordination with other emergency service agencies, the East Bay Regional Park District maintains a high level of preparedness in case of wildfire, especially along the urban interface where open space lands adjoin residential neighborhoods, in the Oakland/Berkeley Hills and elsewhere.

Along with other fire departments, the Park District reacted immediately last month when an automobile accident started a fire off Grizzly Peak Boulevard above Berkeley. The prompt multi-agency response prevented spread of the fire to structures in Tilden Regional Park and the University of California.

The Park District has a corps of a dozen full-time firefighters, headquartered at Tilden Park. Reinforcing them are several dozen “industrial volunteers,” park district employees with other job titles who are also fully trained as firefighters when the need arises. Fire engines and other equipment are in place at locations throughout the District, ready for use in an emergency. The two District helicopters act as aerial spotters to help direct ground units, and are equipped with Bambi buckets for water drops. The Park District also has sent strike teams to help fight out-of-district fires in other parts of the state.

With all this in place, it is still critical for park visitors to be extremely careful with fire. Smoking is not allowed anywhere in the regional parks. Barbecue cooking is permissible at the barbecue stands provided in picnic areas. Except when and where restricted, portable barbecues are allowed, but only on lawn areas, not in dry grass.

If a fire or other emergency occurs, please cooperate with any instructions from firefighters, rangers, police, lifeguards and other emergency personnel. With the public’s help, we can experience another safe and successful fall in the regional parks.

Speaking of fall, Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont will host its annual Harvest Festival from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on day, October 7 and Sunday, October 8.

Attractions will include corn picking, magic shows, old-time music and crafts and cider pressing.

Ardenwood is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard off Highway 84 in Fremont. Tickets to the festival cost $10 for adults, $8 for seniors, $6 for children ages 4 through 17, and free for 3 years and under. Parking is free. For information call (510) 544-2797.

Bear tears off car bumper to reach doughnuts

ASSOCIATED PRESS

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo. (AP), A bear trying to get doughnuts ripped off the bumper of a car used to deliver doughnuts in Steamboat Springs, Colorado. A report by the Steamboat Pilot & Today newspaper said that Todd and Kim Robertson awoke early May 22 to a black bear trying to break into their delivery vehicle. There were no doughnuts inside it at the time but Kim Robertson says the smell that had lingered in the car appeared to have attracted the bear. The bear made its attempt as the car sat parked in the couple's driveway. Police officer John McCartin said he smelled doughnuts standing outside the damaged vehicle. He joked: “I guess if anyone is an expert about this, it's us.”

Downtown Streets Team transforms lives their goal of zero waste entering the waterways through city storm drains by 2022.

Elisa Wilfong is the City of Hayward's Water Pollution Control Administrator. "The mandate is to stop trash from entering the San Francisco Bay and polluting the water. The City has been implementing a number of activities to achieve this goal, one of which is to promote and foster volunteer cleanups on the streets and in the creeks. Downtown Streets Team has been wonderful to help us with this goal. They have manned the streets in the greater downtown area as well as many of the ancillary streets that are consistently dirty from trash."

But DST is about much more than transforming cities – it's about transforming lives. Founded in Palo Alto in 2005 by former Napster CEO Eileen Richardson, the nonprofit, peer-based work experience program was her way of combating homelessness in a region where housing rates have skyrocketed. There are now DST branches located throughout the Bay Area, including Sunnyvale, San Jose, San Rafael, Novato, San Francisco, and Santa Cruz.

Hayward DST currently operates with 20 team members and two staff – Project Manager Julia Lang, and Jade Milburn, who covers case management and employment services. Their contract with the City of Hayward and Downtown Business Improvement Area (DBIA) includes cleaning streets Sunday through Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m.

In exchange for volunteer hours, team members receive basic needs stipends in the form of gift cards. This unique work experience program also offers help with housing, job applications, driver's licenses, social security cards, eye glasses, doctor appointments, criminal record clearance, and more. Says Lang, "We provide a very positive and safe community that motivates people to reach their next steps in life, and that helps them gain self-sufficiency."

Meetings are held every Tuesday at the Hayward Area Historical Society (HAHS) and are open to all. Says Lang, "This is their platform to share their voice with their community, and to share successes and resources." Lunch is provided, and new members are encouraged to stop by and put their name on a waiting list. To qualify, participants need to be over 18 years of age and homeless, or at risk of becoming homeless.

Another important part of the DST model is that team members share their stories with schools, churches, social organizations, and business associations. By educating the public about their plight, they hope to change a system often skewed toward those with wealth. According to DST, the main reason people become homeless is job loss, but there are many other reasons, including a traumatic event, inability to pay for needed health care, or a criminal background. There are over 100,000 homeless individuals in the State of California, which represents 20 percent of all homeless people in the United States.

Team member Denise has been with DST Hayward for over a year. She manages a group that helps clean Memorial Park (next to the Hayward Plunge) through a partnership with the Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (HARD). She also helps out at the First Presbyterian Church in Castro Valley where she runs several programs, including free breakfasts, laundry, and overnight parking (providing a safe place to park for those who sleep in their cars). Says Denise, "DST Hayward has been wonderful. It's truly like a family."

While only in operation for a year, DST Hayward is expanding fast. They have recently signed a contract with the City of Hayward to create another team in the Tennyson Corridor. To help fund this expansion, DST is hosting their first annual "Swing for the Team" golf and footgolf tournament with a goal of raising $7,000. The fun-filled event is taking place Friday, September 22 at the Mission Hills of Hayward golf course, and will feature wine tasting, snacks, a raffle, silent auction and prizes.

Plans are also in the works with Alameda County Supervisor Nate Miley to expand into the unincorporated communities of Cherryland and Ashland; there has been a lot of interest from other East Bay cities as well. Says Lang, "I've seen so many people change over time through this program... their heart and their perception of themselves. They feel valued by other people, and that helps them value themselves, which is at the core of motivation. It makes you feel like you deserve something better."

The Swing for the Team event is $45 per golfer, wine tasting included, or $25 for just lawn games and wine. To register, go to www.streetsteam.org/golf.

Police launch Pink Patch Project

UNION CITY POLICE DEPARTMENT

In recognition of Breast Cancer Prevention and Awareness Month, coming in October, police in Union City recently launched a Pink Patch Project.

The goal of the project is to raise funds to further the research, treatment, and care of those who are or who have battled cancer. To help make that happen, Union City Police and the Union City Police Officers' Association jointly designed and produced a commemorative pink shoulder patch which all uniformed personnel will wear during October. The patches also are available for purchase by the public, with funds going toward cancer research, treatment and education.

This is the first year Union City police have participated in the event which is a collective effort of law enforcement agencies across the nation. The idea behind wearing the pink shoulder patch is to generate discussions about cancer and to educate the public about the fight against cancer and the importance of early detection and treatment of the disease.

A limited quantity of the pink commemorative Union City Police patches can be purchased through October at the Union City Police Department, 34009 Niles-Alvarado Road. The cost is $10 each, payable by cash or check.

For details about the Union City Pink Patch Project contact Officer Russell Orlando at rorlando@unioncity.org or at (510) 458-3727. Online updates will be posted on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter; search for alamedacountypinkpatchproject.

Sexual Battery suspect sought by police

SUBMITTED BY
LT. MATIAS PARDO,
UNION CITY PD

Police in Union City are on the lookout for an unidentified man suspected of sexually assaulting a woman on a walking trail in the early morning hours of Monday, Sept. 4.

At about 6:30 a.m. police said a woman entered the Union City walking trail located near Kohoutek Way and Union City Boulevard. She was soon followed by an unknown man who approached her and said, "Be my friend." He then grabbed various areas of the woman's body.

Police believe the man was scared off when he heard the voice of a police dispatcher over the woman's cell phone. The woman told police that she had seen the man on the same trail on several different occasions, and each time he asked her to be his friend.

The man is described as a Hispanic or Filipino in his late 20s to early 30s, approximately 5-feet-7-inches tall with brown eyes, dark hair, and a dark complexion. The woman told police that each time she has seen the suspect, he was wearing a worn a T-shirt, basketball style shorts and tennis shoes.

Police created a composite sketch of the suspect and are circulating it throughout the region, hoping that someone recognizes the man and notifies police. Anyone who can identify the suspect is asked to email Detective Angela Fonseca at AFonseca@unioncity.org. Anonymous tips can be left on the tip line at (510) 675-5207 or sent via email to tips@unioncity.org.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

Zoos, Parks Service release frogs

SUBMITTED BY ERIN HARRISON

Oakland Zoo, San Francisco Zoo, National Park Service, and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service partnered for a third year in efforts to save the endangered mountain yellow-legged frog from extinction in the wild.

About half of the critically-endangered frogs released were raised at Oakland Zoo, in quarantine from tadpoles, as part of a “head-start” program to help ensure their survival in the wild. In the wild, these frogs are victim to non-native predators and the deadly chytridiomycosis (chytrid) fungus, a highly-infectious, deadly disease that has caused the decline or extinction of more than 200 of the world’s amphibian species in recent decades. The program involves growing the tadpoles into healthy juveniles and inoculating them to boost their immune response to the fungus.

The fungal disease has been present in Asia, South America, and Africa for approximately a century, but has spread to almost every continent in recent decades, likely due to the worldwide exportation of amphibians.

Oakland Zoo raised 99 of the 215 healthy young frogs (from tadpoles) that were transported by helicopter and released into lakes in Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks over the last two weeks of August.

“Our collaboration with biologists and several government agencies has given us the opportunity to inoculate these frogs against the deadly disease that has already wiped out 90% of this species in the wild. We are honored to be able to make a real difference in the conservation of this species,” said Margaret Rousser, Zoological Manager at Oakland Zoo.

The release indicates the success of the program, now in its third year and ongoing. The program looks to continue and succeed as other groups of tadpoles are salvaged and brought to Oakland Zoo for more head-starting next month.

The Mountain Yellow-Legged frog has been listed as endangered by the International Union for Conservation of Nature, or IUCN, since 2014.

“This partnership has been critical to the recovery of the mountain yellow-legged frog,” said Sacramento Fish and Wildlife Office Field Supervisor Jennifer Norris, Ph.D. “We’ve been able to maximize the expertise of each partner to successfully recover and relocate over 400 frogs over the past couple years alone.”

“These frog reintroductions are the result of close collaboration and effort by many partners,” said Danny Boiano, Aquatic Ecologist at Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks. “However, the expertise provided by the zoos has been instrumental to the success of being able to return so many frogs to the wild.”

The conservation collaboration between the National Park Service, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and zoos is helping to save a native California species and give it the opportunity to thrive and repopulate in the wild. Seeing flourishing frogs in healthy habitats is the ultimate goal of the rescue for recovery, so future generations are able to experience and learn about these animals first-hand.

Fremont Police Log

SUBMITTED BY GENEVA BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

Friday, Sept. 1

Police officers passed out cold water to community members on this very hot day.

At 11:20 a.m. Officer Balcorta and Field Training Officer Singh conducted a security check at the Centerville Train Depot for a wanted male who had an outstanding warrant. Officers spotted the 32-year-old man near the tracks off Baine Avenue. The man saw police and fled on a bicycle, then dumped it and fled on foot near the church at Hansen Avenue and Dusterberry Way. A perimeter was set up and a K9 Search team assembled with Fremont Fire responding with a drone. The man was found and arrested on suspicion of theft, appropriation of lost property, resisting arrest, possession of a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia and a failure to appear warrant

Saturday, Sept. 2

Dispatchers received a call from a man at an address on Ashton Place saying that his friend had drowned in the pool. Officer Berrier arrived on the scene first and provided first aid and CPR until the Fremont Fire Department arrived and provided medical aid for 30 minutes before pronouncing the 37-year-old man dead. It’s believed that the victim suffered from a medical emergency while in the deep end of the swimming pool and drowned.

At 3:35 a.m. officers were dispatched to the 40600 block of Fremont Boulevard on the report of a carjacking. The suspect entered the victim’s vehicle and tried to drive away. The victim attempted to stop him by crawling through the open driver window. He fell out and was struck by the vehicle as it fled. The victim was transported to a trauma center for treatment. The suspect was described as a white man, between 18 and 22-years-old, with a buzz cut. The 2010 Lexus with California license plate 6NEG799 is still missing. Case investigated by Officer Koehler.

Sunday, Sept. 3

At 3:49 p.m., officers were dispatched to Safeway in the Franciscan Center shopping center in Warm Springs on the report of an attempted robbery. Two suspects utilized three bags to steal alcohol. A clerk followed the suspects to the parking lot and confronted them near their vehicle. The female suspect punched the clerk in the face and then fled with the male suspect in a 2004-2005 Gold Lexus sedan with white paper plates. Estimated loss is more than $1,000 in alcohol. Case investigated by Officer Gigliotti.

At 9:50 p.m. officers were dispatched to a late reported strong- arm robbery. The suspect attempted to rip the chain off the neck of a male victim near an apartment complex in the 39600 block of Fremont Blvd. The victim followed the suspect and recovered part of the chain. The suspect was last seen entering a white 4-door sedan after the brief chase. Investigated by Officer Latimer.

Tuesday, Sept. 5

At 2:40 p.m. officers were dispatched to the 5300 block of Tanglewood Park Drive. An employer became concerned when and employee failed to show up for work. Officers went to the home and received no answer at the door. After speaking with an acquaintance, they learned the occupant had not been well. They entered the home to check on the welfare of the person and found the 49-year-old man had died. After conducting a preliminary investigation, a deputy from the Alameda County Coroner’s Office responded and took over the death investigation.

At 10:15 p.m. officers were dispatched to a battery and brandishing a firearm call which occurred in a parking lot in the 43600 Block of Pacific Commons Boulevard. A female victim was inside a vehicle when a male suspect hit her in the head and brandished a firearm. The suspects were gone when officers arrived. Paramedics responded and treated the victim for minor injuries at the scene. The case is under investigation.

The start of a new school year is filled with possibilities and promise, excitement and anticipation. This year, for the third year in a row, the Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) is continuing to deliver on its promise to Fremont voters by celebrating the start of the 2017-2018 School Year with the opening of two new classroom buildings at Brookvale and Patterson Elementary Schools. Each campus received a two-story eight-classroom building.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony for the Patterson Elementary School project is set for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 12 at 35521 Cabrillo Drive, Fremont. The public is invited to attend. A previous ceremony was held Monday, Sept. 11 for celebrate the project at Brookvale elementary. “Our community is fully committed to our students and schools,” said Dr. Kim Wallace, FUSD Superintendent. “These buildings represent the community’s investment in our students and their commitment to public education. We look forward to celebrating these milestones and many more together.”

Through Measure E, the $650 million school facilities bond passed by Fremont voters in 2014, the district has received 48 additional classrooms throughout the district with new buildings at Azevada, Mattos, Brookvale, Patterson and Warm Springs Elementary schools, and a new math and science building at Irvington High School. Another eighteen classrooms are under construction at American High School, and scheduled for completion in January 2018. All five of the district’s junior high schools will be undergoing major modernization and new construction as part of the middle school conversions projects, and the creation of a new science building for Washington High School was approved by the Board of Education in January. In addition to the modernization and new construction to address overcrowding, Measure E is upgrading electrical wiring to current safety codes; fixing or repairing leaky roofs, aging plumbing and restrooms; removing asbestos and replacing flooring; and upgrading information technology (IT) throughout the district to provide optimal 21st century learning environments. Cabaret & Desserts

GEORGIA BARNES

The Silver Lining is an all-female cappella group, formed over six years ago by Lisa Silver. Their fundraising journey started when Lisa’s dear friend, Barbara, was diagnosed with a rare form of cancer. Lisa decided to bring a variety of musically inclined ladies together to create the singing group, with the intention of raising money in the fight against this dreaded disease. In a six-year period, on a very part-time basis, the group has raised close to $80,000! Why “The Silver Lining”? There are two ways to look at cancer, as well as life – glass half full or half empty. Barbara always lived with that “glass half full” attitude up until the day she left this world. Lisa cannot cure cancer, but she can fundraise.

The Silver Lining and Chanticleers Theatre present the fourth annual “Afternoon of Cabaret & Desserts” event on Sunday, September 24, the main fundraiser for The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society’s “Light the Night Walk.” The walk is held every fall and its mission is to build awareness of blood cancers as well as raise money for research and support of patients and their families. The Silver Lining continues to sing in the hope that “someday” will be today, and the word “cancer” can be eradicated from our vocabulary all together. Please join us at Chanticleers Theatre in Castro Valley for an amazing afternoon of incredible entertainment, including vocalists, dancers, comedians, impersonators, and a phenomenal R&B act called Project4Band. Your ticket price of $30 includes the show, unlimited decadent desserts, and one free raffle ticket for the opportunity to win some exciting prizes (must be present to win)! Additional raffle tickets can be purchased at the door for $1 each, or $20 for as long as your arm! There will be separate pricing for a special Grand Prize – a Disneyland package including admission to Disneyland and a two-night stay at the Worldmark Resort in Anaheim (valued at approximately $800). Raffle tickets for the Grand Prize are $5 each, or 5 for $20 (need not be present to win). Imagine going to Disneyland for a fun weekend getaway and telling everyone it cost you $5! All proceeds are donated to The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society. Tickets for the Afternoon of Cabaret & Desserts and for the special Grand Prize raffle can be purchased online at tinyurl.com/SilverLining-Cabaret, or bought at the door on the afternoon of the event. For more information about the Light the Night Walk, visit www.lightthenight.org.

Downtown Fremont Block Party

Downtown Fremont is on the rise! The former Town Fair Shopping Center buildings are scheduled to be demolished in mid-September in preparation for the development of the future Downtown Community Center (Phase 1 of the Civic Center project). The demolition will take approximately three months; however, construction for the Downtown Community Center is not anticipated to begin until summer 2019. Therefore, to contribute toward creating an active and vibrant Downtown for residents to enjoy and connect with, the site will be transformed into a temporary plaza by the placemaking curators, Public Space Authority (PSA). PSA will work with the City to create a temporary plaza that will include food trucks, outdoor games, public art and music, a beer garden, maker space, and regularly scheduled community events. The plaza will open in April 2018 and pilot concepts that can later be integrated into the permanent plaza designed for the new Downtown Community Center.

The first event hosted by PSA is the Future Fremont Block Party on Saturday, September 16, from 12 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Capitol Avenue, between State and Liberty streets. The family-friendly block party will feature live music, food, local makers and artist vendors, and interactive exhibits designed to gather community input on the vision for the future Downtown Community Center plaza. For more information visit www.Fremont.gov/Downtown or www.sanjosemade.com/future-fremont-block-party.

SUBMITTED BY ARLENE AND MIKE FRAZIER

It took months of planning for our trip to Madras Oregon. The reason... an event a mere two minutes and three seconds long. But what an event— a total eclipse of the sun.

Upon arriving in Madras, Orgeon on August 20, (the day before the eclipse) we stocked up at a local supermarket, where, according to a cashier, visitors from all over the world had been doing the same.

Temperatures in the eclipse-viewing fields around the town were brutally hot, but the evening cooled off nicely. On the morning of the eclipse, skies were clear, with some low clouds sailing past around 8 a.m. Visibility was good, thanks in part to the Governor's temporary ban on campfires. Forest fires in central Oregon had been clouding skies but cleared in time to view the eclipse.

At 10:19:36 a.m., the wind rose and the temperature dropped as the eclipse achieved totality. "It was like a light switch," said Mike. The crowd gasped as the corona burst into view. Suddenly planets and stars were visible. The corona was unexpectedly large and bright, an extremely bright white color with subtle hints of blue and green. It was an unworldly sight! A solar flare shot out and enhanced the show. As the moon's shadow gradually receded to reveal the solar disc once again, someone in the crowd began playing "Here Comes the Sun."

Once the eclipse was over, euphoria gave way to the ugly truth that most everyone needed to get back to work the next day. Though fellow eclipse-fans (and even their dogs) proved to be considerate and friendly, getting out of the field and back onto the road proved challenging!

Many whose schedules weren't so pressing stayed parked for several hours. Even so, delays first estimated to be 20 minutes to two hours turned into seven hours. Rest areas were mobbed, and people who couldn't wait to get to the 'traveler services' were, well, using the roadside. For us, the trip of two-and-a-half hours going north (from their Northern California campsite) took 12 hours going south.

Despite all the hardships, the trip was worth it. "The experience was once in a lifetime."
