Diwali celebrates good over evil

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS SUBMITTED BY RITU MAHESHWARI

Building on the record success of the 25th Festival of Globe (FOG) India Day celebrations, FOG invites you to celebrate the unique Diwali function at the sprawling Alameda County Fair grounds on October 7. It will be a harmonious blend of Indian culture, religious rituals, dance programs, a showcasing of Indian heritage, and the best fireworks in the Bay Area.

Diwali is one of the most pious and joyous festival celebrated across India and the world. While there are many back stories to why Diwali is celebrated, victory of good over evil is the underlying theme. Diwali is traditionally celebrated on the new moon day in October and is a five-day long festival, with the main event marked by lighting up homes and streets, preparing delicious sweets, and praying to the goddess of wealth, Lakshmi. After the prayers, people visit their friends and families and wish

New Vascular Surgeon Joins Washington Township Medical Foundation

Dr. Sarah Wartman Believes Care for Vascular Disease Extends Far Beyond Surgical Procedures

Sarah Wartman, MD, may have been born in Philadelphia, but she considers herself a “West-Coaster.”

“My family moved to southern California when I was 12,” explains Dr. Wartman, a vascular surgeon who joined Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) in August. “I attended high school in Irvine. Then I went to college at the University of Caifornia, Santa Cruz (UCSC), majoring in molecular, cellular and developmental biology, with a minor in psychology. I liked the fact that it was a smaller school, with smaller classes and more personalized education than other UC campuses.”

During her senior year at UCSC, she took a part-time job as a mental health worker and discharge coordinator at the 7th Avenue Center in Santa Cruz.

That 99-bed psychiatric facility provides 24-hour care to people whom the courts have deemed to be gravely disabled.

Graduating from UCSC with honors in June 2003, Dr. Wartman continued to work at the center while also volunteering at the Santa Cruz AIDS Project (SCAP), a community-based, nonprofit organization providing comprehensive services and programs for people with HIV/AIDS who live in Santa Cruz County. Some of the services offered by SCAP include free and anonymous HIV testing, HIV prevention counseling, and assistance in connecting program participants with local health and social services.

“At the 7th Avenue Center, I was promoted in August 2004 to become the assistant program director and assistant to the director of Nursing,” Dr. Wartman notes. “I also took on additional duties with SCAP in September 2004, serving as an outreach worker and volunteer at their HIV Resource Drop-In Center.”

In addition to her work with the 7th Avenue Center and SCAP, she also had been applying to medical schools, hoping to achieve her long-time dream of becoming a physician. Dr. Wartman enrolled in the George Washington University (GWU) School of Medicine and Health Sciences in Washington, D.C., in the fall of 2005.

“Washington actually starts to feel like a small town after you’ve been there a few years,” she observes. “There was a strong sense of community in medical school. I also spent a lot of time with my roommate, who worked in fundraising for various organizations, so I met interesting people from all walks of life.”

While attending GWU, Dr. Wartman also worked as a research assistant with the GWU School of Public Health on Robert Wood Johnson Foundation’s Commission to Build a Healthier America. “Our objective was to evaluate social disparities in health, identifying health issues related to geography, environment, and socioeconomic status among other factors,” she explains. “Then we presented a report to the commission that could help inform policy to reduce those disparities in people’s health. I got to work with some of the country’s greatest experts in this area of health research. I developed a keen interest in health care policy, and I hope to bring

Diabetes Health Fair Offers Resources and Tips

Fair provides: information booths, expert presentation, cooking demonstration

If you have diabetes, you know how hard it can be to keep the chronic disease under control. Diabetes impacts just about every aspect of your life, and if it's not properly managed, it can cause serious complications like heart disease and stroke. Washington Hospital's annual Diabetes Health Fair provides an opportunity to learn about some of the resources that are available and tips for better managing the disease.

The Washington Hospital Diabetes Health Fair is scheduled for Saturday, November 4, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The event is free and light refreshments will be provided. It will be held at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium, 2500 Mowry Ave. (Washington West), in Fremont. You can register online at www.whhs.com/events or call (800) 963-7070.

"Keeping diabetes under control is critical, but it can be difficult without educational resources," said Vida Reed, certified diabetes educator at Washington Hospital and coordinator of the diabetes program. "When it's not controlled, diabetes can lead to other health problems like heart disease. People may not understand the connection."

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, people with diabetes are twice as likely to have heart disease or stroke than people without the disease. Diabetes is also the leading cause of kidney failure, lower limb amputations and adult-onset blindness.

The event will begin with a health fair from 9 to 11 a.m., with information booths highlighting local resources for people with diabetes. Attendees can talk with diabetes experts from Washington Hospital's diabetes education center and have a free foot exam as well as free glucose and cholesterol screenings (no need to fast).

There will be two speaker presentations. From 11 a.m. to 12 p.m., Dr. Sangeetha Balakrishnan, a cardiologist with the Washington Township Medical Foundation and a member of the Washington Hospital medical staff, will present "Heart Health and Diabetes: What is the Connection?"

Diabetes impacts people of different ages and backgrounds. Washington Hospital will present a health fair to answer questions and provide free screenings.

Anna Mazzei, a registered dietitian and certified diabetes educator at Washington Hospital, will talk about "Quick Meals on a Budget" from 12 to 1 p.m.

Addressing Community Needs

The presentation topics were selected based on community feedback from the most recent Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA), according to Lucy Hernandez, community outreach project manager at Washington Hospital, who helped organize the event with Reed. According to the CHNA, there is an increasing number of community members with diabetes who also have heart disease. Dr. Balakrishnan will provide tips for reducing your risk of developing heart disease.

"High levels of sugar in the blood affect the blood vessels and nerves over time," she explained.

"You have to stay on top of your numbers like blood pressure, cholesterol and glucose. The goals for these target numbers are more stringent for those with an increased risk for heart disease."

Dr. Balakrishnan said people with diabetes have to pay more attention to the signs and symptoms of heart disease. "People with diabetes can have what we call silent heart attacks," she added. "They often don't have the typical chest pains because diabetes can affect the nerves. So they need to be more sensitive to how they are feeling."

Focus groups and surveys conducted for the CHNA also showed that community members with diabetes often struggle to eat healthy. Nutritious foods like fresh produce, fish and lean meats can be labor intensive to prepare compared to fast food and other quick options, according to Reed.

"With the high cost of living in the Bay Area, many families may be struggling financially," she added. "Time is also an issue. People are working long hours and have long commutes to work. We want to offer people some quick, easy recipes they can make on a budget and still eat healthy."

During the cooking presentation, Mazzei will share ideas for convenient, nutritious and budget-friendly meal planning.

Washington Hospital offers a number of support and education services for people with diabetes. To learn more, visit www.whhs.com/diabetes or call (510) 745-6556.

Heritage and family color Jack's Restaurant & Bar

BY DAVID R. NEWMAN

JACK'S RESTAURANT & BAR

John Marcovici sits comfortably in a booth alongside his two brothers, David and Chris, the wall behind them adorned with family photos. We are in their new restaurant, Jack's Restaurant & Bar at the NewPark Mall in Newark. One photo stands out, a black-and-white depicting a proud and happy woman standing in a kitchen. Says John, "That's our mom working in her restaurant, Eleni's, in Clayton. That's where we got our start." John describes the food at Jack's Restaurant & Bar as "Contemporary American Comfort Food with a Touch of Greek." Top sellers include fish n' chips, a Mediterranean plate with chicken skewers, lamb chops, pot roast, mac n' cheese, bananas foster French toast, and "The Moose" (two biscuits topped with yukon gold hash browns, tomato, bacon, country gravy, two eggs and green onion). Says Chris, "Our Greek heritage comes through in the menu and the way our mom taught us the hospitality business." The décor is warm and inviting, the staff upbeat and unpretentious. Says John, "We're very family centered, and we wanted a place where people can come in and feel comfortable, like they're with family or friends." The Newark location opened in April 2017 as part of a major renovation of NewPark Mall. It is the fourth addition to their family of restaurants. Other Jack's can be found in San Bruno, San Mateo, and Pleasant Hill, all serving breakfast, lunch, and dinner seven days a week. While all of their restaurants share the same menu and certain design elements (open floor plan, display kitchen, soft colors), each Jack's is unique. For example, the Pleasant Hill location has an adjoining taproom with 21 rotating taps serving craft beer. The Newark Jack's is their first mall location, with easy access and ample parking. Says Chris, "We don't want it to be a cookie-cutter, chain-type restaurant. We want each one to have its own feel." John nods, "People think of us as a neighborhood restaurant. It's their place." Response to the Newark location so far has been phenomenal. The Marcovici's have not needed to spend much on advertising due to amazing word of mouth and a prime location at the mall's entrance. Says John, "I've never seen a restaurant develop regulars so quickly." And to top it off, they received Newark's 2017 Large Business of the Year Award. Their success story plays out much like a Greek comedy. The young Marcovici brothers were introduced to the restaurant trade at an early age, when, as teens, they were recruited by their parents to help out after school and on weekends, cleaning floors, washing dishes, and waiting tables. They hated it. Says John, "We rebelled and fought with our mom at every turn. It was the last thing we wanted to do." Their experience at Eleni's, however, would prove to be invaluable, especially for David. "I learned by watching a lot," he says. "I loved being in the kitchen." When their mom came down with a case of pneumonia and the head chef came down with "a case of Old Milwaukee," 16-year-old David stepped in. Says Chris, "He was the cook from that point forward." When their parents decided to sell the restaurant, the three brothers rejoiced in their freedom and went their separate ways. David stayed in the Bay Area and worked as a cook, John went off to college, and Chris worked as a nightclub promoter in Los Angeles. Ironically, most of their jobs during this time were in the restaurant trade. Years later, they would reunite to help David manage a restaurant in Daly City called Boulevard Café. Working together, the three brothers realized that they now had enough experience to open their own place. They also realized that they possessed a complementary skill set that was perfectly suited to running a restaurant – David as chef, John as front-of-house management, and Chris as bar/entertainment management. They decided to name their restaurant Jack's, after David's son. They opened their first location in Pleasant Hill in 2010. In 2011 they opened a second in San Bruno. Says Chris, "I didn't agree to be a part of it until they both admitted that it was crazy to attempt. Because if they didn't admit it was crazy, then I knew that they were actually crazy." John chimes in, "And I took it a step further, because around this same time my wife and I had a baby. So that was a good time. That was a lot of [lost] sleep." They opened their third location in San Mateo in 2014. With humor, love, and a few drinks, the Marcovici brothers have persevered through it all. While not as involved in the daily operations of their restaurants as they once were, they still feel that their presence is important and like to be in the mix as much as possible. Says John, "We've discovered that the lessons we learned from our mom are the most important – cook great food and be nice."

Jack's Restaurant & Bar is located at 1029 NewPark Mall Road in Newark. Contact them at (510) 789-0027 or visit online at www.ilovejacks.com.

New Vascular Surgeon Joins Washington Township Medical Foundation

my experience and insights into health care policy to my work in this community.”

After earning her medical degree in 2009, Dr. Wartman was eager to return to California; she was accepted at the University of Southern California (USC) Department of Surgery as a general surgery resident. During her six-year residency, she served one year as a research fellow in USC's Division of Vascular Surgery and Endovascular Therapy.

In general, vascular surgeons treat problems in the body's veins and arteries. For example, they handle blocked carotid arteries in the neck, problems with the aorta (a large main artery between the heart and the abdomen) and peripheral vascular disease that affects arteries in the legs and feet.

“I had thought I might want to specialize in vascular surgery, but my year of research into vascular surgery confirmed that choice,” she says. “I began fellowship training in vascular surgery at USC in 2015. Although I chose to specialize in vascular surgery, I always have taken a broader view, looking at all aspects of patients' health. Factors such as nutrition, exercise, smoking and diabetes can all affect vascular health. Vascular surgeons do perform surgery, but we also see and treat many patients whose surgical outcomes and vascular health are directly affected by their lifestyle.”

Already board certified in general surgery, Dr. Wartman now is board eligible for certification in vascular surgery. Upon completing her fellowship at USC, she set her sights on returning to the San Francisco Bay Area. Determination and good fortune brought her to WTMF and Washington Hospital.

“When I was in college in Santa Cruz, I often traveled to the Bay Area, and I had my heart set on returning here,” she says. “Some of my family lives in the Bay Area, and others are planning to move here, which is exciting for me because I am very close to my family.”

Dr. Wartman's connection to WTMF and Washington Hospital was a former fellow trainee at USC, Gabriel Herscu, MD. Just as Dr. Wartman was completing her vascular surgery fellowship at USC, Dr. Herscu and his partner in WTMF's vascular care program, John Thomas Mehigan, MD, were looking to expand their practice and add another partner.

“Everything just fell into place at the right time,” Dr. Wartman recalls. “When I interviewed for the job, I was impressed with how everyone at Washington Hospital is connected to the community. That brought me back to my interests in nutrition, health and patient education that were the focus of my work with the GWU School of Public Health. I intend to put that knowledge to work, in addition to my surgical skills, to help provide education that will allow patients to take control of their vascular disease and improve their health. At WTMF and Washington Hospital, the medical team is always looking forward, seeking ways to improve patient care.”

Washington Township Medical Foundation's vascular care program is located at 39141 Civic Center Drive, suite 335 in Fremont. For more information, or to inquire about scheduling an appointment, call (510) 248-1420.

Diwali celebrates good over evil

each other health and wealth. One special feature of Diwali celebrations is fireworks conducted in every neighborhood to spread the joy. Diwali also marks traditional New Year for Indian businesses.

FOG tries to recreate the same traditional fervor in the community by celebrating the festival in the Bay Area. Key features of the event this year are a spectacular fireworks and laser show; all day long cultural programs and kids' contests; jewelry, clothes, and food booths; kids' talent show and animal rides; fashion fest; a dazzling parade; and lamp lighting and recognition of dignitaries.

A special feature this year is "It's a Small World After All" – a kids quiz and knowledge showcase to portray traditions and art from each of the states in India and neighboring countries.

This is intended to impart children with the knowledge of the traditions and history.

To allow access for large parts of the community, ticket prices are kept at a nominal fee. Admission is $5 in advance or $6 at the gate. For more information, call Ritu Maheshwari at (510) 304-5619. Tickets can be purchased from sulekha.com/fog or www.fogsv.org.

Portraits of Refugees

From the front lines: Cal State East Bay lecturer's portraits of refugees on display

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLY HAWKINS

The faces of more than 20 refugee children, alongside their own original artwork expressing their experiences, will hang in the Cal State East Bay gallery this quarter as part of an exhibit from lecturer David Gross.

Called the Inside-Out Project, the images were taken along the Balkan Route in Greece, Bulgaria, Serbia, Hungary, Austria and Germany.

Gross first traveled to Turkey to work with refugees in 2013, and then again in Beirut in 2015. At the time, he focused his attention on children who had made their way to a safe destination. But this year, his project focused on telling the stories of children still on their journeys.

The Inside-Outside Project has two key elements: art classes followed by a portrait session with students, and teacher training to ensure continuation of the lessons. Gross said in Serbia he hired and worked with teachers—some refugees themselves—to lead the art-therapy inspired classroom exercises, which start with deep meditative breathing followed by a guided painting lesson.

"Many of them [in Serbia] said it was the first hour of peace and relaxation they'd had in over a year," Gross said. "It was really rewarding to see that sometimes the smallest things are also the most powerful."

In the next year, Gross is hoping to produce a book of the images and is researching other galleries to display his work. He said that while challenging, his four months abroad were also some of the most rewarding of his career.

"You go from being a journalist where you hope millions of people see your photographs and [creating] change to realizing that by impacting the lives of individual kids, there's power and value to create change in that," Gross said.

Water District hosting Strategic Planning Workshop

SUBMITTED BY SHAREN GONZALES

The Alameda County Water District’s Board of Directors will hold the second in a series of strategic planning workshops on Tuesday, October 10 at 4 p.m., which will focus on topics of water supply, water quality, cost-effectiveness, staffing resources, financial stability and resiliency, and community outreach and engagement. This workshop will include brief staff presentations, discussions, and an opportunity for public comment.

“The Board covered a range of issues in the first Strategic Planning Workshop in September,” said John Weed, Board President.

“We’ll be using this next workshop to begin focusing on the most important issues facing the District in the coming years, and we encourage our customers to join us in these discussions about our future.”

The workshop will include brief presentations from staff on financial issues, staffing, and water supply reliability. A facilitator from The Catalyst Group will moderate the discussion and work with the group to identify key areas for further consideration in the development of strategic goals for the District.

Plans for additional workshops will be made based on the outcome of this workshop.

A third workshop is anticipated in November. Each workshop will be publicly noticed and an agenda will be posted prior to each meeting that will include the meeting date, time and location. For more information on future workshops, please visit www.acwd.org

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: OCTOBER 4 - OCTOBER 10

For All Signs: The planets Venus and Mars will be aligned on Oct. 5, 2017. Venus, the ancient goddess of love, carries broad feminine, receptive, and romantic symbolism. Mars is the warrior god and prevails over masculine territory. The symbolism suggests the conclusion of one relationship and the beginning of another. The conjunction may be symbolic of the beginning and ending of episodes or cycles within a single relationship. The current closing cycle began in November of 2015. This conjunction marks the beginning of a fresh cycle that will last for 23 months. Take advantage of this opportunity to repair rifts and achieve positive closures. Foster non-judgmental attitudes and avoid critiquing. New beginnings in all relationships, whether romantic, platonic, or business, are important now.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Your planetary avatar is Mars, the god of war. He is currently in the sector of work, co-workers, and health. The conjunction described in the lead paragraph represents new things developing in any of these sectors. It probably has already begun within the last couple of weeks. Interest in your health may have you revamping your diet and exercise plans.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): Venus and Mars are meeting in your fifth house of romance, children, and play. You may be beginning something new in one or more of these areas. Perhaps you need to depart a relationship now. At least you will be evaluating whether you are satisfied with these areas of your life. Don't be afraid to ask for a break, if that will help you gather clarity.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): You occasionally confuse what you think with who you are. There are those who will disagree with you this week. Just don't let it become a battle to the death. Your identity is not at stake in this situation. You may not like what is happening, but you can choose a better time later to argue the point.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): You may be applauded for your ethical and moral behavior patterns. Others will let you know your efforts have been appreciated. Slow your regular routine to a pace that feels "right" for you. There may still be work to do, but it does not have to flow at breakneck speed. This is a time when you can get things accomplished without feeling frazzled.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): During this equinox time, changes in your work environment will pressure you to overcome your pride. You must adapt, whether or not this is what you want. Other issues at hand involve siblings or family matters. Vehicles or other equipment that have been overused may break.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): Give special attention to the lead paragraph because Mars and Venus are in your sign again. The last time this happened in Virgo was in November of 2015. Activities of the present may echo back to new beginnings of 2015. There is special emphasis on reorganizing and planning to maintain your good health routines.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): About two weeks ago, you began to realize that there is a crisis of decision in front of you. The subject matter is about property and family matters. It may also include concerns for your physical body. It is an old issue, returning for review. The most important factor is who you really are now and whether you are living an authentic life.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Please note the lead paragraph. The Venus/Mars alignment occurs in your 11th house of friends, organizations, and corporate bodies to which you may be related. Think carefully about what is truly important to you now, at this time in your life. Don't allow old habits or rules from the past to make your decision for you.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You are just at the tipping point between one era and the next in your life. The great effort of the last two years is showing signs of productive growth. You have probably found your niche for the time being and can be content to develop it further.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): The pressure of pending change is making itself known in your work arena. The fulcrum is a situation that may no longer be tolerable. It is true that change is absolutely necessary. Perhaps a shift to a totally fresh solution would take the emotional sting from the situation.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Communications with significant others may be a challenge this week. You could "miss" each other entirely if you are not especially careful about your tone of voice.

Perhaps it is better to save your piece for a better time. Let this one go and don't make a big deal of it. You may feel exhausted from too much supporting of others. Get some rest.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): You may have arrived at a stuck place for the time being and unable to make forward motion. The issue may have to do with finances or other necessary resources that are limited. Hold onto your faith that things will work in your favor soon. The timing is off for a little while before those resources are restored.

Manufacturing Day: Opening doors & minds

SUBMITTED BY NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS
FABRICATORS & MANUFACTURERS
ASSOCIATION

An annual event that occurs on the first Friday of October, Manufacturing Day is a coordinated occasion during which U.S. manufacturers open their doors to demonstrate the potential of modern manufacturing and foster interest in manufacturing careers. Manufacturing Day was created to correct public perception, which doesn't do manufacturing justice.

Manufacturing environments, which include highly trained, well-paid employees who work on state-of-the-art equipment, are commonly thought of as antiquated factories designed for low-skilled workers. Manufacturing Day addresses this misperception by giving manufacturers an opportunity to open their doors and show, in a coordinated effort, exactly what manufacturing is — and what it isn't.

This change in perception is the first step to address one of the main challenges faced by manufacturers today — a gap in skilled labor. By giving manufacturers an occasion to share what they do, Manufacturing Day provides manufacturers with an opportunity to connect directly with job seekers and students and address the skilled labor shortage they face.

Supported by a group of industry sponsors, Manufacturing Day amplifies the voice of individual manufacturers and delivers a coordinated message about common concerns and challenges. The rallying point for a growing movement, Manufacturing Day empowers manufacturers to come together to address their collective challenges so they can help their communities and future generations thrive.

Avocados

By Pat Kite

A friend stated there are now dwarf avocado trees. I got so excited! Despite my yard having no room for an additional twig, I hastened to one of my favorite nurseries. “No such thing,” was the dictum. I must have looked sad. “The shortest avocado we carry is 10 to 12 feet high. Not only that,” the guy added, “but to get a good avocado crop, you need two.” It’s a matter of perspective apparently.

Regular avocado trees are about 40- feet high. Dwarf tree translates, to me, as five-feet high. No such item. Apparently, the confusion comes from the term “Dwarf.” Designed for large containers, the Wurtz avocado, also called “Little Cado,” is a dwarf avocado variety reaching 10-feet-high. Another reaching this height is “Holiday.” Apparently, Little Cado will yield approximately 12-ounce fruit within three years. If you decide to try this yummy avocado, the recommendation is to get a very large container, such as a wine half-barrel with ample drainage holes. Use good potting soil. For the first year or so, keep soil moist. Not wet, not dry—moist. No windy areas, either. Though you will get avocados with just one tree, a better crop comes with a buddy. Since dwarf trees can be pricey, do search the Internet for instructions and reviews.

The word avocado has Aztec origins and the ancient description derives from its pear-shaped or round fruits that grow in pairs.

A funny tale: apparently avocados weren’t selling well in the 1920s. What to do? A lively public relations person huffily put out a mass release insisting rumors of avocado’s gifts as an aphrodisiac were “insidious and slanderous.” Of course, sales immediately increased.

Do you want to try an avocado plant from seed? Wash and dry the seed. Put three toothpicks around the seed, about midway. Put in a narrow-neck container. Balance the pit so its broad end is below the water line. Keep the seed out of direct sunlight until you see roots in two to six weeks. Change water often. After roots form, transfer to a pot filled with potting soil. Now onto a nice sunny window. Do not let it dry out. It makes a nice houseplant.

Eating notes: Some folk refrigerate whole avocados. Some argue about this, one faction saying it turns an avocado into mush. The other faction says refrigeration just stops the ripening process. Should you want only an avocado section, air darkens the rest quickly. If you are holding out for a dinner salad, several texts recommend sprinkling with lemon juice to stall discoloration. Another cooking author puts the cut avocado in a clean cottage cheese or similar container, along with an onion slice. Sounds like a fun science project.

St. Anne’s Episcopal celebrates new Rector

Submitted by Therese Gain

St. Anne’s is having a party and all of Fremont is invited! The celebration is for the installation of the Reverend Stephen Trever as the new Rector at St. Anne’s Episcopal Church. Officiating at the Installation will be the Bishop of the Diocese of California, the Right Reverend Marc Andrus. In honor of the event, Stanford professor and St. Anne’s choir director Giancarlo Aquilanti has composed several original choral pieces that will debut at the celebration. Following the Installation, there will be a reception on the St. Anne’s labyrinth with refreshments and music.

Reverend Trever, a native of Florida and graduate of the Yale Divinity School, brings an unusually ecumenical and community-centered perspective to his ministry. He has pastoral experience with both Buddhist and Jewish communities, and brings deep theological understanding and interfaith perspectives that will serve the parish well. Reverend Trever and his family recently relocated from Berkeley and are enjoying getting to know the diverse Fremont community and parishioners. In reflecting on his new role in Fremont, Reverend Trever says, “we have been blessed to accept this call to St. Anne’s. Fremont is a wonderfully rich and diverse community and we are happy to call it our home. I am particularly happy to be serving such a warm congregation, dedicated to demonstrating God’s love for all through hospitality and service.” St. Anne’s will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 2018. The parish is excited about this new chapter in its history and looks forward to joining with the larger community in Fremont to celebrate and welcome its new Rector. According to Senior Warden Chip Koehler, “we are blessed to have Stephen and his family join St. Anne’s. We conducted an extensive search for a new Rector and are excited that Stephen has accepted our call. His diverse spiritual experience, education, preaching style, and personality are perfect for St. Anne’s and the local religious culture of Fremont.”

Talented writers shine in Flash Fiction Contest

Submitted by Al Minard

This year’s Flash Fiction Writing Contest winner was published in last week’s edition of Tri-City Voice. This week, Second Place entry, “The Goodbye Hug” by Richard Lau follows:

The Goodbye Hug

“I gotta go, Mom.”

She smiled as she always did, her eyes reflecting part sadness, part brave tenderness in not letting it fully show. The farewell choked him, as always, the words refusing to stay down.

“I’d like to tell you when I can see you again, but...”
“You know I’m always happy to see you, dear.” the mother replied.
“It’s just that...I’m worried if I give you a specific time, you...you might not be there.”
“I’ll always be here for you, son.” came the reply, full of sunshine and confidence that only a mother possesses.
“I know, Mom. I know.” His tone was hard and bitter, as an unappreciated soldier or a child who grew up too soon. He knew what was coming next.

It was 2075. His mother would have been 112 years old. Thirty-seven years ago, her personality, manner, thoughts, and facial expressions had been scanned into a personality media file.

But it was outdated software running on even older hardware. None of it was compatible with the breakthrough of reliable permanence that occurred just three years after his mother passed away.
And so the mother’s image on the screen flickered, as the corrupted and disintegrating portion of the mother’s profile was reached.
“Come give mummy a-hug, a-hug, a-hug...”
He hit ESCAPE, but there was none from the heartbreak.
Still, he wrapped his arms around the tablet, longing for the softness and warmth of flesh that the plastic and metal frame refused to give.

Exterior siding

We've got you covered

It's not surprising that many people wait years before finally upgrading or replacing the siding on their home. It is, after all, a major undertaking, mainly because siding is critical to your home's structural integrity. It also keeps your interior moisture and insect free, and can greatly improve your home's curb appeal. Thanks to recent innovations in materials, financing, and online design tools, a project of this magnitude can be a relatively painless process, and the results will almost certainly have you beaming with pride.

Siding material varies greatly by region, from the traditional wood, stone, brick, or stucco, to newer materials like vinyl, fiber cement, or metal. Historically, most homes in the Bay Area were built with wood siding, from the early Victorians to the more modern Ranch Homes and Eichlers. Wood is a naturally beautiful product, and is especially resilient during earthquakes. Stucco also features prominently in California, especially in Spanish-style homes.

In more recent years, modern materials like vinyl and fiber cement have become much more popular. Advancements in the industry have led to a great variety of colors and styles that can imitate the look of wood (and stone), while costing less and lasting longer (with warranties up to 30 years). Says Jack Cooper of Custom Exteriors in Pleasanton, "Wood isn't as good as it used to be, so it doesn't last as long, and the paint often fades after a few years now. You can replace virtually everything that is done in wood with something that is maintenance and trouble free. And it's impervious to fire and termites. People are very happy with the results."

Vinyl siding is one of the most affordable options, and has dominated the market for the last 10 years. It comes in over 300 colors, and can often be installed over existing material. But vinyl is slowly losing out to fiber cement in the Bay Area, mainly because more people are interested in eco-friendly solutions. Whereas vinyl siding is 80 percent polyvinyl chloride (PVC), a type of plastic, fiber cement siding is made from sand, cement, and wood fibers. Fiber cement needs to be painted, or you can purchase it with the color baked in.

Stucco, another popular choice, is made of cement, sand, lime, and water. It can be molded into a wide variety of textures and patterns and can be colored to match any hue. It usually is applied in three coats and lasts forever. This is a very labor-intensive material however, and the process can take from four to six weeks. Compare that to a vinyl, wood, or fiber cement project that only takes two to three weeks. And Cooper warns homeowners to landscape later, as stucco contains lime that can kill plants.

When considering options, keep in mind that all siding material comes with an R-value that measures the energy efficiency of the material. The higher the R value the better the thermal insulation. For example, stucco siding has an R-Value of .4 while insulated vinyl has a 2.0 – 3.0 R value. Also, some companies, like Custom Exteriors, offer online visualization tools that can help you see what your home will look like in different colors and styles.

The cost to have new siding installed on your home can vary greatly, with the average price ranging anywhere from $20,000 – $80,000. Says Chris Spilly of American Home Renewal, "There are so many different variables that can affect the price. When we give a free estimate, we come out to your house, roll our sleeves up, and take a good look."

Spilly warns homeowners that what may initially seem like a straight forward job may turn into something more, as removing old siding often reveals dry rot, wiring that is not to code, and the need for better insulation. Also, you may decide that you want new windows and doors to match the new look. Another factor affecting the overall price is the cost of permits, which, according to Cooper, can be up to 10 percent of a project's value (except for stucco – considered a very good paint job).

Since installing new siding is considered a way to improve your home's energy efficiency, homeowners may want to consider a Property Assessed Clean Energy (PACE) financing program like CaliforniaFIRST, which allows customers to pay the money back through their property taxes. For more details, visit www.renewfinancial.com/product/californiafirst.

So, whether your home exterior needs upgrading, you want a brand new look, or you're just tired of constant maintenance, installing new siding can give your home a new shine while giving you peace of mind.

The Ohlone Humane Society (OHS) Wildlife Rehabilitation Center is celebrating their 18th year of assisting orphaned and injured wildlife in the Tri-Cities. Thanks to our members, community support, and very hard working volunteers, we have saved thousands of animals.

Why would the wild critters of the Tri-Cities need rehabilitation? When wild animals get sick, injured, or orphaned they need a place to go for medical help; they depend on assistance from wildlife rehabilitators. Wildlife rehabilitators are trained, skilled, and licensed people who provide care to wildlife in need. In the past, we have received orphaned ducklings whose mother was killed by a car, a Red-Tailed Hawk who had a bullet injury to her wing, and a nest full of baby birds that fell from a tree while it was being trimmed.

Caring citizens and trained wildlife rehabilitators are the solution to a wild animal's second chance at life. Our reward is when we release a rehabilitated animal back into the environment to live the healthy life it deserves. Every volunteer and caring citizen who walked through our doors in 2017 made an enormous, positive footprint on our planet.

Join us at our "Open House" on Saturday, October 7 and see first hand what a wildlife hospital looks like beyond the lobby! The event is free and open to all ages. Learn about our local wildlife, take a behind the scenes wildlife hospital tour, do some nature crafts, and meet the ambassador animals of Sulphur Creek Nature Center.

If you have found an injured or orphaned wild animal do not attempt to feed it. All wildlife creatures have special diets. Until you can bring it to our wildlife hospital, please place the animal in a box with a paper towel on the bottom. Place the box in a quiet, stress free area away from noise, pets, and children. To report an injured or orphaned wild animal, call (510) 797-9449.

Help our wild patients and bring a donation to the Open House:

- Safeway gift cards (used for purchasing produce for our animals)
- Pet supply gift cards (used to purchase animal habitat items and food)
- Bleach
- Laundry Soap
- Unscented Kleenex
- Toilet paper
- Medium and large latex gloves
- Small and large trash bags
- Paper towels
- Heating pads
- Kitchen sponges

New Baby Welcomed at Oakland Zoo

SUBMITTED BY ERIN HARRISON

Oakland Zoo announces the arrival of a new baby baboon, Kito, a male born the morning of September 2, 2017. This marks the eighth baboon birth in four years, bringing the troop's total to sixteen and officially one of the largest baboon troops at a U.S.

Zoo. Oakland Zoo's animal care team has cultivated this successful baboon care program through positive reinforcement training and enrichment, in addition to a large and naturalistic habitat, which has in turn encouraged much natural and social group behavior in the large troop.

Krista (age 21) and Martijn (age 16 and the troop's leader) are parents to baby Kito. This is their fourth baby together, and they are once again proving themselves great parents to their growing family. Kito is adjusting wonderfully to his surroundings and is integrating very well with his older siblings. Mom, Krista, is keeping a close eye on him as older siblings are very curious about their little brother - zookeepers say they are showering him with affection and desperate to play with him.

"We are happy that Oakland Zoo has helped the genetic diversity of Hamadryas baboons in the U.S. Martijn and Krista came to Oakland Zoo years ago from Emmen Zoo in the Netherlands as recommended by the Species Survival Plan to increase diversity in the US population. Our troop has been thriving here and their expanding family is a great testament to that," said Andrea Dougall, Zoological Manager at Oakland Zoo.

Hamadryas baboons live in complex social structures. An adult male will have several females in his "harem" which he will protect in exchange for exclusive breeding rights. The females will develop relationships as well and assist each other with child rearing. While the males are not as involved as the females in rearing the infants, they are good fathers who will protect their offspring and as they get older they will sometimes play with them or otherwise allow them to join in their activities.

Oakland Zoo's baboons can be seen daily by the public from 10:00am - 4:00pm at the Baboon Cliffs exhibit, located down the hill from the African Veldt. The Baboon Cliffs Exhibit opened in the fall of 2009 and is approximately 8,100 square feet in size. It includes a cascading waterfall, climbing structures, a spacious area for the baboons to roam, a night house facility, and offices for Zoo staff. Guests are able to observe all sixteen of the baboons from a large viewing deck.

Columbus Day

Trade Made the World New

Columbus' landing changed both the European and the American continents forever. The Spanish called the Americas the "New World." But the Americas – both North and South – were not "new." They were old continents just like Europe, Asia and the others.

However, the trading between the continents that resulted from Columbus' trip made the entire world new. It brought many changes to people and places all over the world.

Columbus' sailors traded buttons and tools for Native American hamacas (hammocks). These made excellent beds on board ship.

Trading hamacas was just the beginning. Corn and potatoes were also new to the Europeans. They became important foods in both Europe and Africa.

Unfortunately, Europeans also brought new diseases to the Americas. Diseases such as smallpox, measles and the flu eventually caused the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Native Americans.

What's hiding in the hull?

Columbus Day is celebrated in the USA on the second ^{Monday} ~~Munday~~ in October. The date was selected to be near the date in 1492 when Christopher Columbus landed on an eyeland near the present-day Bahamas.

Columbus was sponsored buy King Ferdinand II and Queen Isabella of Spain. His crew sailed on three ships: the Niña, the Pinta and the Santa Maria. Columbus was looking for a faster root to the Indies, the medieval name for Asia. The quicker route would have made trading for valuable spices easier. Instead, he landed on what we now know is part of North america.

Columbus made three more trip to what was called the West Indies. He died in 1506, still believing he had landed in Asia. Amerigo Vespucci's voyage along the cost of South America in 1501 convinced most explorers of that time that a large continent existed a cross the Atlantic. But Columbus didn't believe that. He still thought he had found a new route to Asia.

Keeping fresh water on the Niña, the Pinta and the Santa Maria was an important job. When they set out to sea, Columbus and his crew didn't know how long it would be until they would be able to get more fresh water.

School District discusses 'Horse Property'

By RHODA J. SHAPIRO

At last week's Fremont Unified School District board meeting, a discussion centered upon how to proceed with the "horse property" went on into the late hours. Located at 35068 Fremont Blvd., the property spans a total of 33 acres; in July of 2016, the Board of Trustees gave direction to build both a middle school and elementary school upon it.

Many from the community spoke about issues they've been facing due to overcrowded schools. Some expressed an urgent need to expedite the design and building process of the "horse property."

"The current American attendance area requires a really good, proper school with proper education, safety, and health facilities for the children today. If we cannot give it to them today, we need to be looking at how we can provide it to them two or three years down the line. Convenient redistricting is not the answer. These children need your help today," spoke one Fremont resident, a mother of two.

The current plan was to design a small elementary school, which could accommodate 300-600 students, and a two-story middle school, with a capacity of 2400 students. The design process is estimated to go on for about 24 months, and will cost $10.6 million. Since all funding isn't there to begin construction of the actual building, an application would also have to be submitted under Proposition 51. Estimated funding that the district is eligible to receive from the state for these projects is $60.3 million. A decision to push forward on the "horse property" must be made soon, or else access to those funds could be lost.

"We have zero dollars in the budget to build this school. We don't even know if we're going to finish the schools that we have on line. We're committed to the voters to convert five middle schools, at a cost somewhere of $250 million when it was first put to the voters three years ago which has probably escalated somewhere to $300 million now," Trustee Larry Sweeney said.

He was referring to Measure E, approved by Fremont voters in June of 2014. The Measure is a $650 million general obligation bond initiative toward improving and updating schools.

The two schools under discussion were Thornton Middle School and Centerville Middle School, which both have pressing needs, and are part of a long-range facility plan for future conversion.

"I'm just trying to figure out why we're here when we haven't honored our commitment to the voters?" Trustee Desrie Campbell asked at one point.

Earlier in the evening, Associate Superintendent Raul Parungao gave a thorough presentation on growing school sizes and current capacity guidelines. Trustees had discussed setting guidelines for middle schools at a capacity of 1500, much lower than the original plan of building a new middle school with a 2400 student capacity.

"To answer your previous question about why we're here...I think if we go back in the previous direction of 1500...and I did the calculation...if you use 1500 capacity for each middle school, we would need six middle schools overall. And so I think it's important to have the discussion because the size would be used to determine how many middle schools we really need," said Mr. Parungao.

Building a larger middle school on the horse property, along with modernizing Centerville and Thornton, wouldn't require construction of additional middle schools.

President of the Board Ann Crosbie felt that plans to develop the "horse property" should continue.

"If we don't ever have a vision, then we never get any farther than putting out fires on our current properties. Children are crowded into schools that are too big. There's only so much that the land can do," President Crosbie stated.

At the end of the discussion, board members all voted on a motion brought forth by Trustee Sweeney, who proposed that whatever ultimately happened to the "horse property," all benefits of the front 22 acres would go toward the American attendance area. If things change and other attendance areas have more pressing needs, the Board can always vote at a later time to direct the benefits elsewhere.

The motion passed 3-2, with three "ayes" from Trustees Sweeney, Shao, and Campbell.

Prevent the flu this season by getting a flu shot

SUBMITTED BY COREY EGEL

The California Department of Public Health (CDPH) urges Californians to get the influenza (flu) vaccine in September or October ahead of the arrival of influenza season.

In California, flu usually begins to increase in late November or December. It takes a couple of weeks after vaccination for the body to respond fully, so now is the time to get vaccinated to have the best protection before the flu season begins.

"Getting vaccinated is the best protection against flu illness," said

CDPH Director and State Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith. "You can prevent missing work or school, visits to the doctor or hospitalizations, and protecting others from coming down with the flu."

A person with flu may be contagious and infect others before they even feel sick.

For the second year, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) only recommend injectable flu vaccines. The nasal spray flu vaccine (live attenuated influenza vaccine or LAIV) is not recommended for use this season due to concerns about the effectiveness.

Each year, flu causes millions of illnesses, hundreds of thousands of hospitalizations and, sometimes, thousands or tens of thousands of deaths in the United States.

To reduce this risk, CDPH recommends the annual flu vaccine for everyone six months of age and older. While anyone can get flu, pregnant women, children under five, adults 65 years of age and older, and people with chronic conditions such as heart disease and asthma are particularly at risk for flu-related complications. Flu shots are needed every year to maintain the greatest protection because the vaccine changes each season to match the circulating viruses.

Common symptoms of the flu include fever or feeling feverish, a cough and/or sore throat, a runny or stuffy nose, chills, fatigue and body aches. Children may also have nausea, vomiting or diarrhea.

To stop the spread of flu and other respiratory illnesses, you should also:

- Stay home while sick and limit contact with others
- Cover your cough or sneeze with your sleeve or disposable tissue
- Wash hands frequently and thoroughly with soap and warm water, or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer

- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth

CDPH encourages Californians to contact their health care provider, physician's office, clinic or pharmacy about obtaining the flu vaccine. Some local health departments may also offer low- or no-cost flu immunizations.

For more information about the flu, visit CDPH's website (www.cdph.ca.gov). For the flu vaccine location nearest you, visit www.flu.gov.

Mexican Sugar Skull Art Class

Artist Diego Marcial Rios will be teaching several Mexican Sugar Skull Creation and Decorating classes during the fall of 2017. On Saturday, October 14, Rios will be teaching at the well-known Mexico Tortilla Factory in Newark. The two-hour class will be limited to 10 – 12 attendees, and all materials are provided by the host.

Breathtaking colorful sugar skulls have long been part of the Mexican culture. Beautifully decorated sugar skulls are often used as decorations on graves and altars during Dia de los Muertos (Day of the Dead). Dive into the rich history of the sugar skulls tradition alongside internationally acclaimed artist Rios, who will deliver a brief historical summary of the sugar skull art media during the Spanish colonial period in Mexico. There will also be a summary of the origin sugar art in Italian culture and how and why this unique media was introduced to native people of Northern America. Once you have got the basics down, roll up your sleeves to create and hand paint your own unique, expressive work.

You will learn the ingredients and application techniques necessary to decorate a sugar skull, and be briefly introduced as to how to make your own simple molds out of silicon. Blank sugar skulls, frosting, and other decorations will be available for attendees to use. Personalize your own sugar skull; let your imagination run wild!

Mexican Pan Dulce will be available to eat as a snack during workshop time.
Tickets are $20 and must be purchased at the inside counter at the Tortilla Factory. Contact Rios with any questions at diegomarcialrios@gmail.com.

Only the nose knows

The fun new sport of K9 Nose Work

PHOTOS COURTESY OF DIANE BAGAOISAN
PHOTOGRAPHY

Sniff. Sniff. What's that smell? You may not know, but your dog surely does. A fun, new sport called K9 Nose Work challenges dogs to use their super sniffing

Jill-Marie O'Brien, founders of the National Association of Canine Scent Work (NACSW), whose experience with training detection dogs for narcotics and explosives led them to realize that perhaps this training would also work well for everyday pets. In 2009 they held their first official NACSW Trial in Southern California. Later that year they started a pilot program in the powers for good. This fast growing activity simply taps into a dog's natural hunting instinct to help them locate and identify odors, which can dramatically boost a dog's confidence level while strengthening the bond between owner and pet.

Most competitive dog sports like agility training, obedience training, and dog showing can rely heavily on the handler trying to control the dog's actions, telling the dog what to do, when, and where. "What I love about Nose Work is a dog gets to be a dog! They get to do what they do naturally and you get to come along for the ride," says Josette Kimes, who teaches K9 Nose Work classes throughout the Bay Area, including those taught through the Union City Community and Recreation Department.

The sport of K9 Nose Work was created in 2007 by Ron Gaunt, Amy Herot, and Bay Area, where Kimes became a certified instructor.

K9 Nose Work not only stimulates a dog physically, as do most sports, but mentally as well. As their highly efficient sniffer breathes in odors (there are over 300 million olfactory receptors in their noses, compared to about six million in us), an area of their brain called the olfactory bulb (40 times larger in dogs than in humans) processes these scents at an astonishing rate. Sniffing, for dogs, is a prime part of their survival instinct.

As a result, people have seen vast improvements in their pet's behavior through K9 Nose Work, especially with reactive dogs who bark a lot, suffer from separation anxiety, or are afraid of strangers or new places. Says Kimes, "When dogs are searching for something with their nose, the outside world falls away and they are able to focus. They're not scared anymore. It builds a lot of confidence, and people like seeing that difference in their dogs."

Kimes teaches four classes that run four to five weeks each: Introduction to Nose Work, Introduction to Odor, Continuing Odor Nose Work, and Advanced Odor. In Introduction to Nose Work, dogs are trained to find hidden cookies under boxes and are rewarded with food or toys. Says Kimes, "There's training going on for both parties – training the dog to communicate with the handler, and training the handler to understand the communication of the dog."

In Introduction to Odor, the search skills they learned from the first class are combined with odors – specifically birch, anise, and clove – essential oils that are applied to Q-tips and placed in "hides," small tins that can be hidden almost anywhere. Continuing Odor Nose Work builds on their skills with harder "hides" and Advanced Odor trains them for timed competition.

Nose Work classes are open to everyone. Says Kimes, "I've had blind dogs, a blind and deaf dog, dogs with three legs, and dogs with wheelchairs. We get all ages, too – the oldest dog was 14. And we get all sizes – Pugs, Yorkies, Boston Terriers. Any dog can do it because it's a survival skill. And the handlers don't have to be super fast. I get a lot of elderly handlers." The only requirements are that the dogs have some obedience training and that they be crate trained, since the dogs practice by themselves while the rest of the class waits for their turn.

Kimes and her dog Elsa, a rare breed called an Entlebucher, have competed in several Nose Work (NW) Trials, local competitions sponsored by the NACSW. In these events, dogs need to correctly identify odors in each of four scenarios – interiors, exteriors, vehicles, and containers. There are three main levels that competitors can title in: NW1, NW2, and NW3. Winning three NW3 titles gives you Elite Status, which Kimes has done. Every two years there is a National Invitational where members with the highest trial scores compete.

In recent years, the sport of K9 Nose Work has seen phenomenal growth nationwide, and many other organizations now offer it, including the American Kennel Club (AKC). And unlike tracking or search and rescue training which require a lot of equipment, Nose Work can be done anytime, anywhere, with just a few simple props. Says Kimes, "It's something that becomes fun for the dog. They look forward to it, they enjoy it, their brain likes it, and they win. They always get their cookie."

The next session through Union City Community and Recreation Department starts Wednesday, October 11. The cost is $125 for residents and $140 for non-residents. For more information, call (510) 675-5329 or visit www.noseworkfun.com. To register online, go to www.unioncity.org/crs.

THEATRE

Spooky 'Addams Family'

comes to Chanticleers Theatre

SUBMITTED BY
GEORGIA BARNES

A magnificently macabre musical comedy, “The Addams Family: A New Musical Comedy,” will open on Friday, October 6 at Chanticleers Theatre in Castro Valley. The show was created by an award-winning team that includes authors Marshall Brickman and Rick Elice (“Jersey Boys”), and composer-lyricist Andrew Lippa (“The Wild Party”). Directed by Chanticleers Theatre’s Artistic Director, John Baiocchi, the production promises to delight audiences with humor, an original story, song and dance, and all your favorite Addams Family characters.

In the kooky, upside-down world of the Addams family, a grave crisis is brewing. It is every father’s worst nightmare but in reverse. Daughter Wednesday, the ultimate Princess of Darkness, has grown up and fallen in love with a “normal” young man, Lucas Beineke, from a quite respectable Ohio family—not even remotely fiendish! Worse, the romance seems to have turned the steadfastly gloomy Addams girl downright cheery, leaving her family very worried and distressed. Comic chaos reigns when they host a dinner for Wednesday’s new boyfriend and his parents so they can become better acquainted with the entire Addams family.

Chanticleers’ production stars many well-known Bay Area actors: Rhonda Joy Taylor as Morticia, the vampiric matriarch of the Addams clan; Roger Caetano as Gomez, her devoted husband; Chloe Angst as Wednesday; Riley Hyde as Pugsley; C. Conrad Cady as Uncle Fester; Sarah Simmerman as Grandma; Darien Cabreana as Lurch; Johnny Orenberg as Lucas; and Matthew and Judy Beall as his “normal” parents.

A band of spirited ancestors from diverse past generations also haunt the scenes. Their singing and dancing, like that of the main characters, is a special treat, brought to the stage under the expert direction of two noted Bay Area theater professionals: music director Luis Zuniga and choreographer Todd Aragon. The ancestors include Taylor Hendricks, Donovan Napoli, Kenny Silberberg, Jordana Meltzer, Jennifer Willis, Madelynn Crimi, and Francesca Cipponeri.

“The Addams Family, a New Musical Comedy” opens with Chanticleers’ traditional complimentary hors d’oeuvres, desserts, and beverage gala on October 6 and runs through November 5. Curtain time for Friday and Saturday evening shows is 8 p.m. and Sunday matinees start at 2 p.m. (no show on October 8). General admission is $25, and $20 for seniors (60+)/students/military. On Bargain Night, October 7, all tickets are $18. The Chanticleers Theatre FlexPass (gives you four tickets to use anytime during the season) is $85 general and $68 seniors/students/military. Call (510) 733-5483 or go to www.chanticleers.org for reservations/tickets.

‘After Spring’ documents struggles of Syrian refugees, aid workers

SUBMITTED BY
REV. JEFFREY SPENCER

Tents stretch as far as the eye can see on a dusty plain in Zaatari, Jordan, the largest of the camps for Syrian refugees.

‘After Spring,’ the October Second Saturday Documentary Series offering, follows two refugee families striving to preserve their dignity and the aid workers struggling to keep the sprawling camp operational. The free film will be shown October 14 at 1:30 p.m. at Niles Discovery Church, 36600 Niles Blvd. at the corner of Nursery Ave.

The 80,000 residents of Zaatari, the fourth largest ‘city’ in Jordan, are improvising ways to avoid despair in what is now the sixth year of the Syrian war. Director Ellen Martinez and Executive Producer Jon Stewart point out in the film that more than half the camp’s population is under the age of 18. More than 5,000 babies have been born since the camp opened in July 2012.

After the screening, a moderated discussion will be led by Janah Kadah, a Syrian American student who recently returned from visiting refugee camps in Greece, Italy and Lebanon.

The Second Saturday Documentary Series is co-sponsored by Niles Discovery Church and the San Jose Peace and Justice Center. Learn more about the series at <http://bit.ly/1710ssds>.

Cal State East Bay opens third food pantry

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLY HAWKINS

Hungry students at Cal State East Bay will now have a third location where they can receive food donations through the university’s Pioneers for HOPE program.

The HOPE pantry at the Hayward campus was the first of its kind for the university and opened in fall of 2016. A second pantry was started at the Concord campus soon after and a third at the Hayward campus’ library will open next week. To date, the two pantries have served more than 50 students and additional students have come forward to seek help with housing needs due to the program’s increased exposure.

According to a study released by the California State University chancellor’s office, one in 10 of the CSU’s 460,000 students is homeless. In response, several campuses including Cal State East Bay launched food pantries, distributed hygiene kits and started clothing drives.

The library pantry was funded through a gift from Sacramento City Councilman and Cal State East Bay alumnus Allen Warren, and a ribbon cutting ceremony took place on September 27 at 10 a.m. A ceremony for the Concord pantry has been rescheduled for October 3 at 3 p.m. after a flood canceled the original event earlier this year.

According to Alex Baker, case management coordinator at Cal State East Bay, HOPE is looking forward to expanding its services and meeting more needs through the library location, which will be open 24 hours.

Seniors chess classes gain in popularity

SUBMITTED BY
NORCAL HOUSE OF CHESS

Over the summer of 2017 and into his senior year, Niranjana Ramamurthy, a senior at Mission San Jose High School has been conducting chess classes for seniors at the Fremont Senior Center. He is a part of NorCal House of Chess, a chess grandmaster and has been playing the game since he was five years old.

Inspired by an article that discussed how playing chess could help senior citizens stay focused and combat mental diseases such as Dementia and Alzheimer’s, Niranjana decided to volunteer at the Senior Center.

The class is extremely popular with around 25 seniors participating every week. Currently Niranjana has helped many of his students advance from beginner to intermediate level. His sincere hope is to help all his students reach the advanced level by the time he leaves for college next Fall. Everyone in the class is upbeat and optimistic as they make great progress week after week.

Through his chess classes, Niranjana has created a micro-community within the larger Senior Center community. He has found the experience to be very rewarding!

THEATRE REVIEW

Young actors give spirit to ‘Annie’

BY JULIE GRABOWSKI
PHOTOS BY
JOSH MILBOURNE

From the popular comic strip created in 1924 to a radio show, movies, and the heights of the Broadway stage, most everyone knows the story of a spunky little redhead named Annie.

One of several girls living at the New York Municipal Orphanage, 11-year-old Annie endures endless chores and required declarations of love for their awful caretaker Miss Hannigan. With an unsinkable spirit and a persistent belief that the sun will come out tomorrow, Annie’s hope resides in one half of a locket that her parents left with her when she was dropped off at the orphanage as a baby. Despite the passing years, Annie dreams her parents will return to claim her with the other half of the locket, and she will finally have a family at last.

Her life takes a completely unexpected turn when she is chosen to stay in billionaire Oliver Warbucks’ home for the Christmas holiday. When Warbucks wants to make the temporary situation permanent by adopting Annie, questions rise about the fate of her parents and he agrees to use his powerful connections to try and find them. Imposters come out of the woodwork to claim their little girl and the $50,000 reward that comes with her. But schemes are foiled, the truth revealed, and Annie gets her happily ever after.

Stage 1 Theatre brings the wonderful music and spirit of “Annie” to Newark through October 15. Making her Stage 1 debut, Elliana McKean is a bright and likable Annie with a strong and assured voice that handles the beloved songs with ease. Aisla Villareal is a charming and adorable Molly, and all of the orphan girls make a lively, enjoyable band that creates the most interest in the show (Florence Pedersen, Jaezali Silva, Sofia Zuniga, Oviya Anbu, Samantha Leber, Rylynn McKean, Sophia Pinto). The girls clearly give their all and have fun with “Hard Knock Life” and “Fully Dressed.”

While Director Sue Ellen Nelsen has done well with her orphan cast, she delivers a production that rides on tradition and familiarity. The shanty town set for Hooverville and the Hour of Smiles sign are nice elements, but the show relies on music to carry the entertainment. Anne Milbourne as Warbucks’ secretary Grace fulfills the attributes of her character’s name and is the most pleasing of the adult actors. Michael Campbell also creates presence and believability as Lieutenant Ward and President Roosevelt.

The music is where it’s at with “Annie,” delivered by a live 24-member orchestra, and you will indeed find at least one of the charming and memorable songs cycling through your head and sprouting from your lips. For those who have only experienced the show through a TV screen, Stage 1 gives you the opportunity to sample the beloved musical live and support the talents and hard work of our local theatre community.

Cursive Writing Class keeps skill alive

SUBMITTED BY
ABDUL JABBAR MOHAMMED MAJ

In today’s technologically advanced world, where the computer is the essential writing tool, the role of handwriting seems to have lost its significance. Handwriting, though, reflects one’s personality. Consider as well that all official documents are valid only with a handwritten signature. Mastery of cursive writing, as taught in Muvafika’s Writing Class this October, can be a source of pride and an exercise in patience and control.

Cursive writing has almost disappeared in many schools around the country, but California and a few other states are keeping it alive. Arizona recently approved a requirement that public schools must teach cursive handwriting, and in 2015, Arkansas passed a similar law requiring cursive handwriting be added to the curriculum of all schools. Other states like Georgia, Kansas, North Carolina, and Tennessee teach cursive writing, as well.

For parents who want their children to excel at cursive, Muvafika’s Cursive Writing is a year-long program with five levels and is designed for ages 6 – 10. Level one runs every Saturday from October 7 to October 28 from 1 to 2 p.m. Online registration is highly recommended. (Present your proof of registration and check in by 12:50 pm on the first day of class or your spot may be released to wait-listed students.)

New elementary school to be named in honor of Lila Bringhurst

BY RHODA J. SHAPIRO

Deeply committed to the preservation of local heritage, buildings, and artifacts, Lila Bringhurst dedicated many years to serving and transforming the community of Fremont. She served as President of the Mission San Jose Restoration Committee, as well as the Mission San Jose Chamber of Commerce, Mission San Jose Rotary, and the Local History Museum Guild.

Brian Killgore, Fremont Unified School District superintendent’s designee of the Naming Committee, gave a presentation on the list of three recommended names for the school; along with Lila Bringhurst, Milicent Shinn, child psychologist, and Olive Hyde, historian and conservationist were considered.

“As you may have noticed, they are all women. This was not done intentionally. After our votes of all our candidates on the short list, these were the three candidates that got the most votes,” Killgore said.

After the public hearing opened, family, friends, and members of the community spoke about the profound impact Lila made on Fremont, and why her name should be chosen.

“She’s an excellent choice for the naming of the school. Because she’s a contemporary figure. She exemplifies a strong, dedicated, and passionate woman who approached life wanting to make a difference for all of those around her,” said Patricia Schaffarczyk of the Museum of Local History.

Former Mayor of Fremont Gus Morrison also came up to speak about Lila. “I think I first met her in 1982 when the city council had foolishly decided to eliminate the Historical Architectural Review Board, and she joined us in referendum to reinstate it. It’s still there. She moved and restored the Chancery, the priest’s house in Mission San Jose,” Morrison said. “...And your report said that she led the fight for the train statue. She paid for the train statue.”

Lila’s daughter, Amy Crane, also noted how passionate Lila was about education. After graduating from the University of California, Berkeley, Lila became a teacher at Ohlone College. Amy also mentioned that her mother wrote a book about Fremont history, and had been instrumental in setting up the Local History museum in Fremont.

“I think it’s awesome to have somebody that the school children can look up to, that they can see things that she’s done... that they can realize that what they do in their own little life matters and makes a difference,” Margo Layton, Lila Bringhurst’s oldest daughter, told the room.

Earlier in the day, a groundbreaking ceremony was held at the new school site. Lila Bringhurst will be the first woman to have a school named after her in the city of Fremont.

Family and friends of Lila Bringhurst gathered for a photo after the decision to name the school after Lila was announced. The future looks bright for the James Logan Colts (Union City) as their junior varsity team beat Washington's Huskies junior varsity (Fremont) 44-0 on September 29th. It didn't take long for the Colts to take control as they immediately took a commanding lead using offensive speed and a dominating defense. The young Huskies squad tried to find an answer but were outmaneuvered in every quarter of the contest.

Moreau senior Garret Kaleo Lee has been recognized as an Academic All-American water polo player by USA Water Polo. Kaleo said he was honored and grateful to be recognized not only for his play in the pool but also for his efforts in the classroom.

Close to 1,000 athletes were honored for their achievements in the classroom and the pool with nearly 775 receiving Outstanding Achievers awards for 4.0 GPAs, including Kaleo.

Kaleo is one of the founding members of Moreau's water polo program, established three years ago. He is the team's goalie, but most recently as he trains his replacement, he has ventured out of the goal and scored 7 goals and 5 steals in two of the team's matches last week.

He said he is interested in playing water polo in college. To that end, he joined a USA water polo team this past year and in the spring and summer competed in the Junior Olympics tournament at Chapman College.

Several schools have since contacted him to play water polo in college, including the University of Toronto. He is investigating several D3 and D2 colleges; he could receive academic and athletic scholarships at these schools. He said his dream school is the University of the Pacific in Stockton.

As for the Moreau water polo team, Kaleo said, "he is proud of how the team has developed and enjoys his leadership role as a captain." As the goalie, he "coaches" in the pool as his job is to direct the team. By the end of the match, he can barely speak as his voice is barking commands and directing the players throughout the match.

There was little to cheer about for Washington Huskies (Fremont) fans on September 29th. Following a lopsided score in the preceding junior varsity game, the varsity fared no better. The James Logan Colts (Union City) were in total control throughout the game, leaving the field with a 52-0 victory. Although the Huskies gave a valiant effort in the second half, the Colts answered every challenge.

Hayward among five new What Works Cities

SUBMITTED BY JASON GREEN

Results for America recently announced that five new cities have been selected to join What Works Cities: Baton Rouge, LA; Cary, NC; Fayetteville, NC; Hayward, CA; and Winston-Salem, NC. Launched by Bloomberg Philanthropies in April 2015, What Works Cities is the largest philanthropic effort to improve the effectiveness of local governments by enhancing their use of data and evidence. With today’s new cities, the initiative is now partnering with 90 cities across the country that are home to more than 28 million people in 37 states and have annual budgets exceeding $96 billion. The initiative will partner with 100 cities on a rolling basis through 2018.

“Data is one of the best resources at cities’ disposal for effectively solving challenges and driving progress,” said Simone Brody, Executive Director of What Works Cities. “We’re supporting city leaders to maximize the use of their data to make more informed decisions, develop stronger programs and services and better serve their communities.”

Cities are teaming up with What Works Cities’ expert partners to develop the skills to apply data-driven tools – including performance management, randomized control trials and results-driven contracting – to their most pressing challenges. A report released by the initiative earlier this year showcases progress cities have made in areas from improving public safety to increasing vendor diversity in contracting.

Planned projects in the five new cities include:

- Baton Rouge, LA, will develop a data-driven framework to track progress in housing recovery efforts related to the August 2016 flooding in the state. The City will also engage community stakeholders while developing an open data policy and exploring opportunities for residents to use municipal data.
- Cary, NC, will support the research and development of a citizen contact center by strengthening the collection and analysis of call data, and will also develop an open data policy.
- Fayetteville, NC, will use performance analytics to improve stormwater management efforts, a priority for the City since the impact of Hurricane Matthew in 2016.
- Hayward, CA, will upgrade its ability to manage and open data, with a focus on improving safety and quality of life by curbing illegal dumping.
- Winston-Salem, NC, will apply data-driven tools to its six strategic focus areas, starting with making neighborhoods more livable. The City will also create an open data policy, and develop a performance management framework that empowers staff to make more data-informed decisions in all areas of city government.

About Results for America’s mission is to make investing in what works the “new normal” so that when policymakers make decisions, they start by seeking the best evidence and data available, then use what they find to get better results. For more information, visit results4america.org.

THINK SILICON VALLEY EAST

Ankur Jain on Preparing a Startup

BY SHILPI SHARMA

On August 29, 2017, StartUp Grind Fremont featured yet another influential speaker: Ankur Jain.

Ankur is an entrepreneur, inventor, co-founder, and investor, and has worked across a range of sectors including healthcare, financial services, and technology. He is currently the managing partner at Emergent Ventures, an early-stage venture capital firm.

In his talk, Ankur shared solid strategies he learned on his journey through the startup world, such as how to prepare startups for early-stage funding, as well as guidance on how entrepreneurs can use “inner management” as a foundation for kicking off their startup journey.

Attendees gained valuable insights from both the venture capitalist and startup perspectives. Shared vision and shared passion, for instance, are of the utmost importance in ensuring the long-term success of a startup partnership. He encouraged startups to “understand your bias,” or in other words, see your company through the eyes of others. He also explained the importance of reaching out to the right investor. Some angels are interested in you; others are interested in your idea.

Ankur cited the top four qualities he looks for when deciding to fund startups: the ability to perform, a unique viewpoint, leadership experience (especially the ability to inspire others), and a clear understanding of the company’s strengths and flaws. While Ankur meets many smart people in his line of work, he is always looking for “openness.”

Startup Grind Fremont is the Silicon Valley East chapter of the international business startup community. The next event will be held at EFI in Fremont on Wednesday, October 25, featuring David Ehrenberg, who will share “How to Manage Your Startup Financially Well.” For more information or to register for this event, go to www.startupgrind.com/fremont. See you there!

OPINION

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Oh, Say Can You See?

*Do not go gentle into that good night,
Old age should burn and rave at close of day;
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.*

Written about old age and death, it can easily be juxtaposed with the situation in which we, as a community of people, now find ourselves. Just as Dylan urged a vigorous and spirited battle with mortality, so should we rage against the inhumanity and arrogance of the living when confronted with fear of change and unnamed but insinuated others.

When Francis Scott Key wrote what would become the national anthem during the War of 1812 in a battle for Ft. McHenry, there was more than just a flag at stake. The flag was a symbol of those who defended the right of a newly proclaimed country in conflict with a mighty world power. The United States of America was created to allow a clear set of freedoms for its citizens. If the battle was won by Americans but the flag had burned during the fight, would those in the fort have been punished for allowing such a breach of protocol? I don't think so. The flag was and is a symbol, but not the core or content of those ideas.

Men and women (and children) have fought and died to preserve this nation and preserve a primary belief, allowing everyone to be free to express their opinions. Breaking with the rule of a monarch and supreme authority, the idea of a citizenry free to express its ideas without fear was heresy for many... unfortunately, even today. That ideal is not solely expressed by a bit of cloth or song, rather within the hearts and minds of its citizens.

The Star-Spangled Banner lyrics and anthem were not mandated at official events until 1916 and it was not until 1931 that the song was declared a "national anthem." Does that mean that prior to that time citizens and those who attended such events were unpatriotic? For that matter, how many us know more than the first stanza (verse) of the song? For those ignorant of this as I was, there are four stanzas. Do you know them? If not, are you less patriotic? Who mandates how many stanzas should be memorized to become a true patriot?

Do I shed a tear when hearing the anthem? I readily admit that I do. Do I stand when the anthem is played and the pledge is given? Yes. But, do I demand that everyone do the same? That is not what our founders and those who fought against tyranny asked me to do. Rather, to this day, they ask me to feel pride in our ethics and shoulder the responsibility to carry out their ideals and to rage against those who would defile and tarnish their memory through dictatorial and authoritarian means. To demand that all must think alike and do what is determined by an individual or powerful group undermines what they believed and diminishes our collective soul.

It all starts with each resident, citizen and all within our national borders – and beyond. As Dylan would say: "Rage, rage against the dying of the light"

Oh, say can you see?

Sister Marjorie Wakelin, SHF, died peacefully at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of the Holy Family in Fremont after a long illness on September 27, 2017, at the age of 86. She was born Marjorie Josephine Wakelin in Santa Barbara, California, and entered the Sisters of the Holy Family from the Cathedral of St. Mary in San Francisco on July 2, 1949, at the age of 18. She was known in religion as Sister Eucharista until changing to her baptismal name.

in San Mateo from 1991-2002. She served as Executive Director for the Northern California branch of the Interfaith Center for Corporate Responsibility from 1983-1988.

Sister Marjorie was passionate about justice for the poor, a concern reflected in her work at ICCR as well as throughout her parish work and life in community. As pastoral associate, she also worked with the dying, and wrote in a reflection on life, death and dying in 2006: "I have always loved color and music and dance. Council comments centered on appreciation for the taskforce. Most disagreed with the recommendation to withdraw from Urban Shield, citing recent changes with Urban Shield and a need to stay engaged, to affect change from within. Bill expedites housing for homeless

JANICE ROMBECK

Santa Clara County would benefit from AB 932, a bill that, if enacted into law, would allow the County to expedite the construction of housing for homeless families and individuals if an emergency is declared.

The Bill was introduced by state Assembly Member Phil Ting, who represents areas of San Francisco, Broadmoor, Colma and Daly City, and co-authored by Senator Jim Beall, who represents Santa Clara County. It was approved by the State Legislature and is awaiting Governor Jerry Brown's signature.

"I encourage Governor Brown to sign Bill 932," said Board President Dave Cortese. "This emergency measure will give us the flexibility to create emergency and permanent housing on land owned or leased by the County because we are experiencing a housing crisis. I thank Senator Beall for his work in having the County included in this legislation."

Besides the County, the legislation would apply to Cities of Berkeley, Emeryville, Los Angeles, Oakland San Diego and the City and County of San Francisco. It would be in effect until January 1, 2021.

If signed into law, the County could pass an ordinance declaring a shelter crisis that would suspend planning and zoning procedures and, instead, propose minimum health and safety standards for structures used to shelter homeless residents. The draft ordinance and a shelter crisis plan would need approval from the state Department of Housing and Community Development, and the County would also need to submit annual reports to Legislative committees

Alameda County gains control of State Route 185

SUBMITTED BY TOMASA DUEÑAS

Assembly Bill (AB) 333, by Assemblymember Bill Quirk (D-Hayward), that transfers ownership of a portion of State Route-185 (SR-185) within unincorporated Alameda County from Cal Trans to the county has been signed into law.

The section of SR-185 running along sections of Mission Boulevard and East 14th Street in unincorporated Alameda County is currently owned and maintained by Caltrans. The condition of the roadway along this portion of SR-185 is deteriorating due to lack of maintenance. "Beyond issues of pavement quality and age, community members have been vocal about ongoing and unaddressed issues such as graffiti, garbage and general poor conditions around the roadway," explained Assemblymember Quirk.

The county is working diligently to improve conditions along SR-185 through a multiphase plan. Alameda County Public Works Agency is in the process of designing Phases II and III along the portion of SR-185 that AB 333 seeks to have relinquished to the county. Proposed improvements include bicycle and pedestrian facilities, pavement rehabilitation, pedestrian scale lighting, utility undergrounding, landscaping, and streetscape improvements.

Daniel Woldesenbet, Director of Alameda County Public Works Agency is thankful to Assemblymember Quirk for sponsoring AB 333, "which relinquishes State Route 185, a commercial corridor that cuts through the unincorporated communities of Ashland and Cherryland. This relinquishment will allow for greater flexibility in the implementation of specific plans adopted by these communities as well as the implementation of safety and beautification projects along the East 14th Street corridor."

"I am appreciative that the state has relinquished control of the street to Alameda County. This is no longer a state highway and a relic of the past. The county can take steps to improve traffic calming and development in an efficient, timely, and proactive manner that best serves the current interest of the community. This action serves the public interest and I am thankful to Assemblymember Quirk for making it happen," said Alameda County Supervisor, Nate Miley, whose district runs along SR-185.

"Alameda County has been diligent in listening to the concerns of the community regarding the problems along SR-185. The signing of this bill gives the county the authority to move forward with projects that will increase pedestrian access, cycling and safety. This is one of my most important bills this year because it's one that my constituents and locally elected officials worked with me to get signed," said Assemblymember Quirk upon learning his bill was signed.

AB 333 goes into effect January 1, 2018.

The Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) announced $22,024,005 in funding to California through the Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting Program (MIECHV Program). These funds will allow California to continue to provide voluntary, evidence-based home visiting services to women during pregnancy, and to parents with young children up to kindergarten entry.

"Evidence-based home visiting programs help children get off to a better, healthier start," said HRSA Administrator George Sigounas, MS, Ph.D. "Today's awards allow states to support local agencies in providing home visiting services that meet the needs of families in their own communities."

"The MIECHV Program helps parents and caregivers connect with services and resources and improve the skills they need to support their families' well-being and provide the best opportunities for their children," said HRSA Associate Administrator for Maternal and Child Health Michael Lu, M.D., M.S., M.P.H. "In these voluntary programs, trained nurses, social workers, early childhood educators, or other trained professionals meet regularly with expectant parents or families with young children in their homes, building strong, positive relationships with families who want and need support."

Nationwide, $342 million in funding was awarded to 55 states, territories, and nonprofit organizations. For more information on HRSA's Home Visiting Program, visit <http://mchb.hrsa.gov/programs/homevisiting>

Celebrate Women!

SUBMITTED BY
WINIFRED THOMPSON

Hayward City Hall will be the site of the first Northern California Pen Women Art show – “Celebrate Women!” – in the John O’Lague Galleria, October 2 – November 17. Celebrate Women! presents outstanding works from 60 very accomplished artists, writers, and musicians, some of whom have won international acclaim.

In 1897, three well-known women writers were shunned by their male counterparts in Washington, D.C. The disgruntled ladies formed the National League of American Pen Women (www.nlapw.org), which promotes women writers, artists, and musicians. Nationwide, over 1,300 members meet at 73 branches for support and inspiration.

This first regional exhibit hosted by the Diablo/Alameda branch showcases local and area artists representing many media. “Women who joyfully share their passions and talents leave a creative mark on society and a positive impression on the world,” says Northern California President Dorothy Atkins. The Diablo/Alameda branch has annual art shows and gives cash awards to students.

Certificates of appreciation from National President Virginia Campbell will be presented by Northern California President Atkins to the Mayor of Hayward Barbara Halliday and the Hayward City Council; Supervisors Nate Miley, Dist. 4; Richard Valle, Dist. 2; and Wilma Chan, Dist. 3 in appreciation of their support for the arts in the greater Hayward area.

Well-known artists featured in the show include Jill Adler of Stockton, who produced a beautiful video showcasing the wide variety of media used by local and regional artists in this exhibit. See it on YouTube by searching “Celebrate Women! Art Show.” Debbie Patrick, chosen as Artist of the Year in the Marin County Fair this summer, will exhibit “Backstage,” and Pleasanton watercolorist and teacher Charlotte Severin will exhibit “Celebration” painted on yupo paper.

The reception is Friday, October 6 in Hayward City Hall, and popular Celtic singer and harpist Margaret Davis of the Margaret & Kristoph duo will perform.

Celebrate Women! is sponsored by the Hayward Arts Council (HAC), which stimulates community interest in visual and performing arts, promotes opportunities for artists to exhibit, and encourages public participation in free art demonstrations. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
PAUL MICHAEL PARKER
CASE NO. RP17875942

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Paul Michael Parker

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Cathy Sargent in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.

The Petition for Probate requests that Cathy Sargent be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on November 1, 2017 at 9:31 am in Dept. 202 located at 2120 Martin Luther King, Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

At 12:13 a.m. Officer Harvey and Officer Austin responded to Motel 6 (north) regarding a security guard who was reportedly bitten by a motel room occupant’s dog. Officers arrived on-scene and learned the security guard had responded to the room to fix a leak. The dog (a Boxer) was on a leash when he was in the room. The occupant/owner said that the security guard was bit on the hand when he got too close to her dog as he was leaving. The bite caused punctures and a laceration. He requested an ambulance and was transported to a local hospital for treatment after his injuries were photographed. The occupant/dog owner was able to maintain control of her dog and kept him confined to her room. The owner was very cooperative and allowed officers to investigate the incident and photograph the dog. During the interaction, the dog appeared very protective of its owner. Officer Harvey authored this report and reported the dog bite was not serious and there was no need to seize the offending animal. The report was forwarded to Animal Services.

Saturday, Sept. 23

At 8:58 a.m. Officer Tatola initiated a traffic stop on a vehicle near Brown Rd. When the vehicle stopped, the driver did not have a driver’s license. When asked if he was on probation or parole, he said he was not. Upon conducting a records check, officers learned he was on searchable probation and had an active misdemeanor warrant out of San Jose for drug related charges. Officer Tatola assembled a team of personnel and took the driver back to his motel room for a search. More than three ounces of methamphetamine and a handgun were located inside the room. The 32-year-old adult male, San Jose resident was arrested and booked into Fremont Jail.

At 6:49 p.m. a patron was enjoying a cup of coffee and charging her iPhone in the area of Mowry/Blacow while sitting inside a coffee shop. While she was in the store, she had left her phone unattended charging at a power charging strip. Sometime between 5:55 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. her phone was taken by a suspect who fled the store. The suspect was described as a black male adult, 6’ tall, stringy hair wearing gray pants and a checkered shirt. Investigated by CSO Spencer and his FTO CSO Allen.

At 6:27 p.m. a 35-year-old adult female driver crashed into multiple cars and knocked down a light pole in the area of Washington and Meredith. She fled the scene on foot and was eventually detained a few blocks away (Fairlaine Dr. and Middlefield Ave) by a CHP officer who was first on scene. Witnesses ID’d her as the driver and she was arrested for DUI. A special thanks to CHP for their assistance!

At 9:30 p.m. Officer Chan investigated a robbery where a suspect walked out of the Walmart on Albrae St with a $900 television. When he was contacted by a store employee he produced a handgun and pointed it at the victim. The suspect left with the 50” TV. The suspect is described as a 20- to 30-year-old male, black, approximately 6’0” tall, 200 pounds, and last seen wearing a bulky green jacket, and baggy jeans. The suspect vehicle was described as a silver or gray, Honda Accord.

Officers were dispatched to the Safeway at the Hub for a female who had locked herself in the bathroom and was refusing to exit. She was also running the water and yelling at anyone who came near the restroom. She refused to obey commands and it was necessary to force the bathroom door open. No force was used on the female and she was arrested for being under the influence and resisting arrest. Sgt. Kindorf managed the incident and Officer Wong is the reporting Officer.

Monday, Sept. 25

Officers investigated a residential burglary in the 3400 block of Manchester Co. A victim returned home after being away for several days and found his home ransacked. Suspect(s) entered through rear slider. Loss is money and jewelry. Investigated by CSO Goralczyk.

Officers investigated a residential burglary in the 43000 Dubal Ct. The reporting party called to report that he saw someone jumped into his neighbor’s yard last night (2200 hours) but he did not call the police. The neighbor yelled at the subject and the subject fled. The victim was out of town for 2-days and when he returned home he saw the glass to the rear sliding door was shattered. Investigated by CSO Wilske.

Tuesday, Sept. 26

At 12:00 p.m., Officer Carter spotted a vehicle in the parking lot located in the 46100 block of Landing Parkway with the wrong license plates and the VIN covered. He set up surveillance on the vehicle and contacted a 44-year-old adult male getting into the vehicle. The vehicle was not stolen, but the male went to jail for displaying the wrong license plates.

A 38-year old adult male was robbed of his backpack in a parking lot located in the 46800 block of Mission Blvd. The suspect was a white male, 25-30 years old, 6’02”, 175 pounds, thin build, short curly blonde hair, wearing a gray long sleeve shirt and gray sweatshirt. He was armed with a folding knife. The suspect got into a dirty, older green pickup truck with a crew cab occupied by three other males.

Officers were dispatched to a bank in the 3100 block of on Stevenson Blvd concerning a male and female trying to cash a fraudulent check. When the officers arrive on scene they contact both parties. A 38-year-old adult male, Hayward resident and a 29-year-old adult female Hayward resident were both are taken into custody and a search of their vehicle uncovered multiple pieces of equipment to make fraudulent checks. Det. Foster was contacted and helped Officer Vucurevich with the investigation.

Wednesday, Sept. 27

At approximately 10:00 a.m., a felony hit and run occurred at Blacow/Mowry. The driver and passenger of the suspect vehicle fled north in a shopping center.

Multiple units arrived on scene and assisted the female victim driver who had complaints of pain. Multiple witnesses came forward leading officers to one of the suspects who had discarded his shirt and was walking on the Mowry Ave. overpass at I-880. Other witnesses guided officers to the area of Farwell/Troy where the second suspect was ultimately located. Both suspects were identified and the driver went to jail for felony hit and run and the passenger for being under the influence of a controlled substance. The case was investigated by Traffic Officer Piol and supervised by Sgt. Farmer and Sgt. Sanchez.

At 10:24 a.m., officers responded to the area of Westinghouse Dr. after workers located a suspicious device in the rear parking lot towards the railroad tracks. Officers evaluated the device and Sgt. Farmer determined an ACSO EOD (Bomb team) call out was warranted. ACSO EOD responded and used a controlled detonation to secure the device. There was a second spent device nearby. The source could not be identified and ACSO EOD collected both devices for further examination. Case documented by Officer Tucker.

Fremont PD received multiple calls from separate reporting parties at the California School for the Deaf regarding seeing a mountain lion on the campus. CHP sent a double unit car to check the campus and FPD officers checked the surrounding area of the school. Officers did not locate a mountain lion (or other large cat) on or near the campus. There were no additional calls from residents throughout the shift.

Autumn is here and we are ready to learn! Our Gomes spirit is out in force especially on Fridays as students and teachers wear their Gomes Gopher logo-wear and shades of Gomes Green! Before school started Mrs. Bass showed the teachers and staff how to make the best tie-dyed designs. With her leadership and guidance fun was had by all as creativity and discovery abounded. Each shirt is different and we all couldn’t wait to see the results as we donned our Green tie-dyed shirts together!

As Halloween is nearing we remember what Charlie Brown got in his candy bag when he said, “All I got was a bunch of rocks!” We know what to do with those rocks Charlie Brown! We can paint them bright colors and write messages of kindness for someone to pick up and read! We can rock their world and beautify Gomes at the same time! Staff members painted their rocks with their own individual flair using many colors and ideas! Each classroom will join their teachers and paint their own messages and favorite colors to make “Happy Rocks” soon.

Love, Learn, Lead together is what we will continue to strive for as the school year begins anew. Gomes provides learning opportunities that educates the whole child, and the whole educator! One of our eight Great Traits centers on kindness this month and we can’t wait to rock your day!

Volunteer Counseling Interns

Each year, the City’s Youth & Family Services (YFS) interns provide counseling to more than 500 local children and families. The counseling interns contribute more than 18,000 direct service hours while working at K-12 school campuses across the Fremont Unified School District. Interns also serve children, adolescents, and families at the YFS main clinic counseling offices located at the Fremont Family Resource Center. Additionally, interns support a counselor located at the Fremont Police Department working to divert youth headed for the criminal justice system. This volunteer workforce saves the City more than $800,000 annually.

All YFS interns are graduate students or post-graduates in counseling, clinical psychology, or social work. Each is committed to volunteering a minimum of 20 hours per week under intense licensed supervision. Many counseling interns bring skills they used in previous careers as teachers, behavioral intervention specialists, attorneys, technology workers, medical providers, and more. A number of YFS interns are also bilingual in Spanish, Mandarin, Hindi, Tagalog, Punjabi, Farsi, Arabic, Vietnamese, Korean, Mandarin and Cantonese, expanding the City’s capacity to serve Fremont’s diverse community.

YFS, which is a division of the City’s Human Services Department, has worked diligently over the years to establish close working relationships with local colleges and universities and to establish a solid reputation as an organization that provides outstanding training and support for interns. YFS receives hundreds of applications every year for less than 20 intern counselor placements.

YFS interns work in public elementary, middle, and high schools. They serve a wide range of children coping with problems ranging from anxiety, social deficits, truancy, grief, bullying, mood disorders, behavioral disorders, substance use, familial divorce, undiagnosed developmental or learning disorders, immigration adjustments, and trauma. Children may receive support in individual counseling, build skills in small group counseling sessions and improve family dynamics in family and caregiver counseling. By improving the overall school climate, the YFS school-based counseling program benefits even the children who do not receive direct services. Intern counselors partner with principals and teachers to reduce classroom disruptions, combat bullying, improve school attendance, and respond quickly to students in distress. Intern counselors also provide family therapy and assist with parent education classes and workshops to teach parents how to handle common concerns in childhood and adolescence.

Each of the participating school campuses contributes approximately $9,200 per year to receive mental health consultation and direct services which would be valued at more than $64,000 per year in the private sector. The program also receives MediCal insurance reimbursement if children and their families are eligible.

For more information about the YFS intern program contact Laurie Linscheid, MFT, Clinical Supervisor at (510) 574-2100 or llinscheid@fremont.gov, or visit www.Fremont.gov/YFS.

Fremont Unified ACT scores top in State state average every year in English, Mathematics, Reading, Science and Composite. FUSD students also improved on their scores from 2016 in every category.

In addition, ACT-tested students at FUSD again topped the state percentage of scores exceeding college-readiness benchmarks in English Composition, Algebra, Social Science and Biology, boosting their 2016 percentages by at least three percentage points in every subject.

“Our students continue to make us proud when it comes to proving their college readiness in a variety of subjects – as well steadily showing improvement and growth from year to year,” said FUSD Superintendent, Dr. Kim Wallace. “I congratulate our students for their fine performance and our staff for providing the curriculum and support to place them in the best position to succeed.” The ACT college readiness assessment is a curriculum- and standards-based educational and career planning tool consisting of tests of educational development in English, mathematics, reading and science that assess students’ academic readiness for college. In 2017, 783 FUSD high school students took the ACT – an increase of 30 from the previous year. Visit www.act.org for more information.

SCULPTURES

by Pancho Jiménez

Having a background both in art and history, Jiménez is greatly influenced by ancient art and artifacts found in the architectural ruins of Mesoamerica. He is fascinated by their symbols and hieroglyphs, which lend themselves to various interpretations. He is also “intrigued by their mystery of meaning,” and attempts to capture that mystery in his art, in an effort “to bring that eternal presence of the past to the present, to inspire reflection on contemporary time and place.”

Jiménez became interested in ceramics and sculpting at a very young age, after realizing that he had a passion for it and could excel more in art than in any other academic subject. He chose to work with clay not only because of its artistic and pragmatic use from the very beginning of human history, but also for its malleability and versatility. For Jiménez, the simple shapes of geometry – circles, triangles, and squares – that he draws from ancient art forms constitute the basis of a universal, visual language that is timeless.

Jiménez had to change course mid-way through his career. His earlier work, inspired by pre-Columbian art, was characterized by meticulously carved patterns on large geometric ceramic sculptures, often monumental in scale. This creative process took a toll and eventually led to a repetitive motion injury, forcing him to move from a reductive approach to an additive one.

He began repurposing commercial clay molds representative of their time periods. Each of these forms, used for “tchotchkes or decorative arts” revive memories, associations from the past, having different meanings for different people based on individuals’ experiences. “Melting into one another, these images suggest a dreamlike state,” Jiménez says, where ideas and emotions come in and out of focus. He “recontextualized” these forms into simple shapes, evoking emotional response from his viewers as they explore “the elusiveness of dreams and memory” and their interpretations.

Over the years, Jiménez’s vocabulary has evolved, with a definite shift in his style, yet maintaining the inherent meaningfulness. The original fascination with symbols derived from the ancient culture, is now supplemented by inspiration from contemporary lifestyle. In his series “Biographies” he focuses on the individuals, “who they are and what events, concerns, experiences, and memories may have shaped them.” His more recent works speak of current world issues. The series “Weapons” elicits reflection on the violence and the tragic loss of human life that is ongoing in the present times.

Jiménez’s work has been exhibited extensively in the San Francisco Bay Area and nationally. His solo exhibition “Excavations and Interpretations” at the Triton Museum of Art last year was immensely successful. Three of his pieces were sold at the opening night to become part of the permanent collections at the Crocker Art Museum in Sacramento, the Autry Museum in Los Angeles, and the Triton Museum in Santa Clara. It was an unprecedented event.

He has been featured in Ceramics Monthly and numerous publications, including “The Ceramic Design Book,” “Extruded Ceramics,” and “500 Ceramic Sculptures.” Jiménez is currently a Senior Lecturer at Santa Clara University where he has been teaching ceramics since 1999. When asked what drives him to do this work, he says “there’s something magical about creating something that has never existed before.”

We invite you to come witness his work first-hand and meet the artist at a reception on Friday, October 6. The exhibition will remain open until November 4.
