Fremont History Through the Ages

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS
JOYCE BLUEFORD

Fremont is a young city of only 60 years, but its significance in history is unbelievable! Ice Age fossils (1.3 million years old) were excavated in the 1930s in the Irvington District, and are known throughout North America as "Irvingtonian." The early Ohlones were attracted to this lush area with fish in fast running rivers, food from native vegetation, and a mild climate. Local warm springs attracted the early Spanish Missionaries to the Mission San Jose area. Early settlers found that the rich, fertile soil could support farms to feed the growing population.

Leland Stanford had his summer mansion in Warm Springs so his guests could enjoy warm mud baths. Niles would grow with its railroads and host one of the first silent films industry studios, Essanay Studios, making Charlie Chaplin and Bronco Billy familiar names.

'Luna Mexicana' showcases Mexican culture

The Day of the Dead, or Dia de Los Muertos, is a Mexican holiday when the community comes together to honor the lives of their loved ones who have passed. The festival involves lively celebrations with food, parties, and activities the deceased enjoyed during their lives. Families make ofrendas, which are altars for their ancestors decorated with the deceased's favorite foods and other items, such as a favorite book or musical instrument. The tradition began over 3,000 years ago in Southern Mexico, a time when indigenous people maintained deep connections with those who died. When the Spaniards arrived, their beliefs were incorporated into pre-Hispanic customs and the holiday was created. The gates of heaven open at midnight on October 31st, and spirits of the deceased can reunite with their families, providing protection, wisdom, and good luck. In honor of this festival, New Haven Unified School District Division of Teaching and Learning and Oakland Ballet Company presents "Luna Mexicana: Day of the Dead Celebration," a theatrical production combining the cultural and artistic aspects of this festival. Luna Mexicana depicts the story of a young woman whose loved ones have passed, but they dance back to life in various forms such as skeletons, skirt-swishing girls, a "deer dancer," and a bride and groom

Help for Understanding Human Papillomavirus (HPV)

Free Seminar on November 9 Explains Possible Health Dangers

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), nearly all men and women will get some type of human papillomavirus (HPV) infection at some point in their lives. The CDC notes that in most cases, HPV infections do not produce any symptoms or serious health problems, and the infections often go away on their own. When HPV does not go away, however, it can cause serious health problems such as genital warts (papillomas) and warts in the throat (respiratory papillomatosis), as well as cervical cancer and other cancers of the vagina, vulva, penis, anus, head, neck and throat.

“HPV is a viral infection transmitted between people through skin-to-skin contact, including sexual contact,” says

Jelriza Mansouri, MD, a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology (OB/GYN) with Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF). “HPV is most commonly spread through vaginal or anal sex, and it is the most common sexually transmitted infection in both men and women. Men and women also can get HPV from having oral sex or performing other sex acts. Because HPV is a viral infection, it cannot be treated with antibiotics.”

To help people understand more about HPV, Washington Hospital is offering a free Health & Wellness seminar on Thursday, November 9, from 6 to 8 p.m. The seminar will be held in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium located in the Washington West Building at 2500 Mowry Ave.

in Fremont. At the seminar, Dr. Mansouri will discuss various types of HPV and offer information about prevention and screening, as well as serious conditions related to HPV infection. While her presentation will focus primarily on OB/GYN concerns, the seminar could be beneficial to men as well as to parents and women in their teens and young adult years. After her presentation, she will answer audience questions.

HPV is actually a group of more than 150 related viruses, and each virus in this group is given a number, called its “HPV type.”

“Only about 40 types of HPV cause genital warts and cancers,” Dr. Mansouri says. “Types 16 and 18 are perhaps the most dangerous, and they are seen in most cases of cervical cancer.

Jelriza Mansouri, MD, will share important HPV information at Nov. 9 seminar

There are a number of other high-risk HPV viruses that can cause cancer. Lower-risk HPV strains, such as types 6 and 11, are more associated with genital warts, which rarely develop into cancer.”

There is no general test to find out a person’s HPV “status” and no way to know which people will develop cancer or other health problems. “There is an HPV test that can be used in conjunction with Pap tests that screen for cervical cancer,”

Dr. Mansouri notes. “We now recommend regular pelvic exams and Pap tests for all women beginning at age 21. Women younger than 21 years of age who experience menstrual irregularities or symptoms of genital infection should be evaluated by a gynecologist.

“In general, the HPV test is not done until at least age 25,” she adds. “From age 25 to 29, we will test for HPV if the woman’s

The Air We Breathe

Hot, Humid Weather Hinders Breathing

Unusually hot, humid weather hit the Bay Area this summer, and the temperatures, combined with pollutants, spurred a large uptick in the number of patients seeking help just to breathe. “We’ve had an increase in patient visits this summer here at Washington Hospital—both urgent care and outpatient visits,” says Jason Chu, MD, a board-certified pulmonologist and internal medicine physician with the Washington Township Medical Foundation. Wheezing, coughing, fatigue, headache, nausea and chest pain were the most common complaints.

In addition to these short-term effects, long-term exposure to poor air quality can have a cumulative effect on a person’s ability to breathe, such as accelerated aging of the lungs, loss of lung capacity and decreased lung function, which can lead to a shortened life span. It can even possibly lead to cancer.

Who is Most at Risk?

The destructive combination of heat and pollutants has exacerbated conditions for those most at risk, including individuals who suffer from asthma, allergies, emphysema, bronchitis, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD)—even cardiopulmonary disease and congestive heart failure. Also at risk are older adults, children under 14, pregnant women, outdoor workers, outdoor athletes and those living close to freeways.

Factors That Inhibit Breathing

Dr. Chu explains that the weather patterns of this past year—the immense amount of rain (which promotes mold growth), wind, and high heat and humidity—have a high correlation with poor air quality. Air quality is adversely affected by many other factors, including particulate matter (microscopic particles of elements such as dust, dirt, soot and smoke) and ground-level ozone (exhaust from cars, trucks and buses) that pass through the upper airways and deposit themselves into the lungs, making breathing difficult.

Even indoor factors, such as fumes from heaters, stoves and cleaning agents, can also affect a person’s ability to breathe freely. Dr. Chu recommends having an air filter (such as a HEPA filter), making sure there is adequate ventilation in the home, and reducing combustion from heating and cooking elements to reduce the number of particulates in the air.

Awareness is Paramount

“We all have to be conscious about air quality and the effects of climate change,” says Dr. Chu.

Outdoor activity during extreme heat can result in respiratory incidents, according to Dr. Jason Chu.

“It is a growing public health concern. This is not a trivial matter. In fact, poor air quality ranks in the top 15 of overall leading causes of mortality worldwide.”

He notes that it takes a multidisciplinary effort to explain and minimize detrimental environmental exposures, “Awareness is paramount,” he says. “As medical doctors, we have a responsibility to know about these environmental factors and to educate our patients about them. There is always more we physicians can do—including regular prevention, screening, diagnosis and treatment of our patients, as well as conducting research.”

Reduce Your Risk of Adverse Respiratory Events

How can you reduce your risk of adverse respiratory events?

First, you can find a daily air quality forecast by calling 1-800-HELP-AIR, or use a smartphone app called “State of the Air.” You can also check the Air Quality Health Index (AQHI) website for your area at https://www.airnow.gov/index.cfm?action=aqi_brochure.index. The AQHI calculates the relative health of the air and divides it into six levels: from good to hazardous.

If the air quality is at an unhealthy level, you should limit outdoor activity during commute hours, and exercise in the early morning or late evening, counsels Dr. Chu. If you have air conditioning, you should run it on particularly hot and humid days. And, if you have trouble breathing, contact your doctor immediately, as health problems can start very early, he advises.

“In fact,” he adds, “if you already have a risk factor, you should see your doctor regularly to manage your condition.”

“Washington Hospital has done good things for our community,” continued Dr. Chu, “This includes hosting community seminars and opening our designated community cooling center on particularly hot days for those who don’t have air conditioning. It’s a nice gesture to help our community members in their time of need.”

If you need help finding a primary care physician or physician assistant, visit the Washington Township Medical Foundation website at www.mywtmf.com and click on the tab for “Find a Doctor.”

The event will be held on Wednesday, October 18 at the Center for the Performing Arts at James Logan High School.

The Division of Teaching and Learning partnered with the Oakland Ballet Company to provide students in the district with an opportunity to get involved in the artistic culture that thrives in the community. Help for Understanding Human Papillomavirus (HPV)

Free Seminar on November 9
Explains Possible Health Dangers

Pap test is abnormal. From the age of 30, we routinely screen women with both the Pap test and the HPV test up to about age 65. We would continue screening older women who have had an abnormal Pap smear or HPV in the past because cervical cancer can still occur after age 65." At the seminar, Dr. Mansouri will expand upon additional diagnostic procedures Preventing HPV infections in the first place is obviously the most advantageous step for women and men to take, according to Dr. Mansouri. "Abstaining from sex is one option, but that's not very practical," she admits. "It's wise, though, to be prudent in choosing your sex partners and to recognize that the more partners you have, the higher your risk of exposure. Using condoms every time you have sex may lower your risk of getting HPV, but HPV can infect areas not covered by a condom, so condoms are not foolproof. Smoking increases the risk of cervical cancer, and there is a high correlation between smoking and other types of HPV-related cancers of the vulva, mouth and throat."

The most effective means of preventing HPV infection is vaccination. Three vaccines currently protect against certain types of HPV, Cervarix, Gardasil and Gardasil-9. At her seminar, Dr. Mansouri will explain the differences.

"HPV vaccines are recommended for all girls and boys, ideally at age 11 or 12," says Dr. Mansouri. "Don't wait to vaccinate until teens start having sex. To be most effective, vaccines should be given long before children are exposed to HPV. For people who were not vaccinated when they were younger, catch-up vaccines are recommended for males up to age 21 and 26 for females. Vaccines also are recommended for people who have compromised immune systems."

To register for the free HPV seminar on November 9, visit whhs.com/seminars or call (800) 963-7070.

Collecting unwanted prescription drugs

SUBMITTED BY STEVE KAY

On Saturday, October 28, the Redwood City Police Department and the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) will give the public its 14th opportunity in seven years to prevent pill abuse and theft by ridding their homes of potentially dangerous expired, unused, and unwanted prescription drugs. Bring your pills for disposal to the Fremont Elks Lodge 2121 at 38991 Farwell Drive. (The DEA cannot accept liquids or needles or sharps, only pills or patches.) The service is free and anonymous, no questions asked.

Last April Americans turned in 450 tons (900,000 pounds) of prescription drugs at almost 5,500 sites operated by the DEA and more than 4,200 of its state and local law enforcement partners. Overall, in its 13 previous Take Back events, DEA and its partners have taken in over 8.1 million pounds—more than 4,050 tons—of pills.

This initiative addresses a vital public safety and public health issue. Medicines that languish in home cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse, and abuse. Rates of prescription drug abuse in the U.S. are alarmingly high, as are the number of accidental poisonings and overdoses due to these drugs. Studies show that a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinet. In addition, Americans are now advised that their usual methods for disposing of unused medicines—flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash—both pose potential safety and health hazards.

THE ROBOT REPORT

Retail service robot debuted in Lowe's stores

BY MARY GANNON

Last fall, Fellow Robots' NAVii autonomous retail service robot debuted in 11 Lowe's stores in the San Francisco Bay Area, marking its entrance into a major retail chain. The national home improvement store rolled out its LoweBot to meet the needs of customers and employees.

LoweBot was developed through a partnership between Lowe's Innovation Labs and Fellow Robots, a Silicon Valley technology company specializing in the design and development of autonomous service robots that worked on Lowe's OSHbot pilot. The partnership was initiated through SU Labs, a Singularity University program that connects corporate innovation teams with startups and other organizations to explore exponentially accelerating technologies and create new sustainable business solutions.

"We designed the NAVii robot to make the shopping experience easier for consumers — simplifying the process of finding the product you're looking for — while also managing the back-end and keeping shelf inventory up-to-date for the retailer," said Marco Mascorro, chief executive officer of Fellow Robots. "Leaving the data and simple recommendations to NAVii allows Lowe's employees to devote their attention to the Lowe's customer, to provide them with thoughtful advice and personalized service."

LoweBot features an interactive screen that customers can use to enter a request. Or customers can ask the robot simple questions, such as how to find a product on a specific aisle, and in multiple languages. This provides more time for employees to focus on delivering project expertise and personalized service. Having the ability to scan inventory and capture real-time data with LoweBot will also help detect patterns or gaps that will ultimately influence business decisions.

Key functions and features of the NAVii platform allow retailers to use the robot to autonomously create a store map and product planogram. The LoweBot scans inventory to determine products that may be out of stock, find price discrepancies and discover misplaced items by using machine learning and artificial intelligence (AI). It also features a dashboard to notify employees of these discrepancies, allowing them to make changes in minutes rather than days or weeks.

Fremont History Through the Ages

On Saturday, October 14, history groups that are preserving artifacts and documents for the public will host an outdoor faire, "Fremont History through the Ages." The event is free and will be held at the California Nursery Historical Park in Fremont. This is a great opportunity to learn about the history of Fremont. Hands-on activities for school age children will help them learn history.

At Fremont History through the Ages, many historical groups will be present, some in historical costume. Visit with Washington Township Museum of Local History, Patterson House from Ardenwood Farms, Niles Depot and Model Railroad, Essanay Silent Film Museum, Children's Natural History Museum, Niles Canyon Railway, Old Mission San Jose, and Country Club of Washington Township Women's Club. These historical groups offer a focus on varying topics of Fremont history such as science, technology, agriculture, film, the Missions, and the local history.

Of interest to almost everyone, Regan's Nursery and LEAF (Local Ecology and Agriculture Fremont) will also be represented.

The history faire will be held on the Great Lawn across from the California Nursery Office Museum. Families can learn about the past and children can win prizes by answering questions at each booth using a "passport." Family fun activities including making roses, branding cattle (but on felt), the Ohlone Staves Game, coloring page of the Fremontia city flower, dirt and plants for children are planned; one group will even have a velocipede on display! Learn about each of the groups and what they offer.

The Fremont Art Association's plein air painters will be scattered throughout the grounds. En plein air is a French expression, which means "in the open air," and is used to describe paintings that have been created chiefly outdoors, rather than in the studio. You will be able to stop and watch them create.

Visitors will have an opportunity to view one of California's famous plein air painters, Maurice Logan's painting of the Vallejo Adobe.

The California Nursery Office Museum hosts a new exhibit on the Roeding Family who purchased the nursery in 1917. It highlights their immigration from Germany, from San Francisco, to Fresno and then to Niles. Their contribution of making the California Nursery Company the largest and most influential nursery on the West Coast will be revealed through photos, artifacts, and video.

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month

SUBMITTED BY
LAUREL ANDERSON

The County of Santa Clara Board of Supervisors proclaimed October as Domestic Violence Awareness Month on Tuesday, October 3, calling on the community to help prevent domestic violence and abuse. The County is encouraging participation in local educational and awareness events and to wear purple or a purple ribbon as part of a nationwide observance to help end this crime.

"We recognize that domestic violence is a serious issue and addressing it involves partnerships and collaboration throughout the community," said Board President Dave Cortese. "That's why we established the Intimate Partner Violence (IPV) Blue Ribbon Task Force and will be implementing its recommendations to prevent and address IPV in our county."

Nearly one in four women in the United States reports experiencing violence by a current or former spouse or boyfriend at some point in her life. In Santa Clara County, there were 178 domestic violence-related deaths between 2000-2016, and already this year 12 individuals have lost their lives to domestic violence.

"Domestic violence affects women, men, and children of all racial, ethnic, cultural, social, religious, sexual orientation and economic groups," said Carla Collins, Interim Director of the County of Santa Clara Office of Women's Policy. "It is not a private matter and we all have to do our part to stop the violence."

Supervisor Mike Wasserman stated, "Every voice who speaks out against violence and abuse, and every person who wears purple or a purple ribbon throughout October is joining us in solidarity and taking a stand against domestic violence."

The County of Santa Clara Office of Women's Policy is encouraging residents to get involved by participating in one of the many Domestic Violence Awareness Month events happening this month. Visit owp.sccgov.org for a calendar of events.

The County of Santa Clara Public Health Department is also participating in activities this month, including national Health Cares About Domestic Violence Day (#HCAADV) on Oct. 11. This awareness event highlights the role of the health care community in identifying domestic violence and linking patients to intervention and resources. Doctors and nurses should ask their patients about domestic violence just as they routinely check for high blood pressure and high cholesterol. Review fact sheet on Santa Clara County Intimate Partner Violence.

Domestic violence is a pattern of behaviors used to maintain power and control over an intimate partner. Santa Clara County residents directly experiencing or aware of someone experiencing abuse can get confidential support by calling one of the 24-hour crisis lines below. In an emergency, call 911.

California becomes sanctuary state as governor signs bill

By JONATHAN J. COOPER
AND KATHLEEN RONAYNE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California Gov. Jerry Brown signed sanctuary state legislation Thursday that extends protections for immigrants living in the United States illegally — a move that gives the nation's most populous state another tool to fight President Donald Trump.

Brown's signature means that police will be barred from asking people about their immigration status or participating in federal immigration enforcement activities starting Jan. 1. Jail officials only will be allowed to transfer inmates to federal immigration authorities if they have been convicted of certain crimes.

"These are uncertain times for undocumented Californians and their families, and this bill strikes a balance that will protect public safety, while bringing a measure of comfort to those families who are now living in fear every day," Brown said in statement.

It was one of several immigration-focused bills that Brown signed Thursday, which was also the final day for young immigrants to renew their permits under the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program that protects them from deportation. Trump intends to end the program if Congress doesn't act on it.

California is home to an estimated 2.3 million immigrants without legal authorization.

The Trump administration said the sanctuary state bill will make California more dangerous.

The state "has now codified a commitment to returning criminal aliens back onto our streets, which undermines public safety, national security, and law enforcement," Devin O'Malley, a spokesman for the U.S. Department of Justice, said in a statement.

The measure came in response to widespread fear in immigrant communities following Trump's election. He railed against immigrants in his campaign and promised to sharply ramp up the deportation of people living in the U.S. illegally.

Democrats hope blocking police from cooperating will limit the reach of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement officers.

The bill "will put a large kink in Trump's perverse and inhumane deportation machine," Democratic Senate President Pro Tem Kevin de Leon said at a press conference in Los Angeles celebrating the signing.

De Leon's bill cleared the Legislature with support only from Democrats. Republicans said it will protect criminals and make it harder for law enforcement to keep people safe.

The bill, SB54, originally would have severely restricted the authority of police officers to cooperate with federal immigration authorities. At Brown's insistence, it was scaled back to allow cooperation in jails.

Police and sheriff's officials, including jail officers, will still be able to work with federal immigration authorities if a person has been convicted of one of about 800 crimes, mostly felonies and misdemeanors that can be charged as felonies. But they will be barred from transferring immigrants to federal authorities if their rap sheet includes only minor offenses.

The changes convinced the California police chiefs association to drop its opposition, while sheriffs — elected officials who run jails — remained opposed. ICE Acting Director Thomas Homan has condemned the measure, saying California is prioritizing politics over public safety.

California's Democratic political leaders have enthusiastically battled Trump and his administration with lawsuits, legislation and fiery public rhetoric, particularly about immigration and the environment.

Among other things, the other bills signed Thursday by Brown will limit federal immigration authorities from entering schools and workplaces without warrants; prohibit landlords from reporting tenants to ICE; and stop local governments from contracting with for-profit companies and ICE to hold immigrants.

Some law enforcement officials say the impact of the sanctuary measure likely will be minimal because it bans immigration enforcement activities that few agencies participate in.

Immigrant rights advocates say it's important to codify restrictions with the force of law while adding new ones. For them, it's a rare victory during Trump's presidency.

The measure was dubbed a sanctuary state bill because it sought to expand so-called sanctuary city policies that have long been in place in some of California's biggest cities, including Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Brown, though, has resisted the label. In his signing statement, he noted the bill does not prohibit ICE from operating in California.

"They are free to use their own considerable resources to enforce federal immigration law in California," Brown wrote.

De Leon put it somewhat differently.

"It won't stop ICE from trolling our streets," he said.

Experts: California hepatitis A outbreak may linger

ASSOCIATED PRESS

(AP)—The hepatitis A outbreak in California that has claimed 17 lives may not have peaked and could take a year or more to abate, health officials said Thursday.

The contagious, liver-damaging illness has infected at least 568 people since November, mainly in San Diego, Santa Cruz and Los Angeles counties.

People without symptoms can carry the illness, and health officials suspect that transients in San Diego County spread it through other homeless populations around the state.

More than 480 cases of the illness, including all 17 deaths, have occurred in San Diego County, which declared a public health emergency last month.

There have been 70 cases in Santa Cruz County, 12 in Los Angeles County and five elsewhere in the state, the Los Angeles Times (<http://lat.ms/2xWRWGL>) reported Thursday, citing state and county health departments.

Some communities have begun vaccinating homeless people, but such preventative efforts may not immediately halt the outbreak.

It's not unusual for outbreaks to last more than a year, said Dr. Monique Foster, a medical epidemiologist with the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Hepatitis A spreads when someone comes in contact with an infected person's feces — sometimes when hands are not properly washed after going to the bathroom or by changing diapers. The virus can then spread through food, objects, sex or sharing drug paraphernalia.

The city of San Diego has responded to the emergency by power-washing streets and installing hand-washing stations. The city says it will open an encampment for the homeless equipped with tents, showers, restrooms, food security and social services.

Santa Cruz County has distributed nearly 1,400 doses of vaccine. However, more cases are likely because it can take up to 50 days for infected people to show symptoms, said Jessica Randolph, the county's public health manager.

"I don't think the worst is over," she told the Times.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: OCTOBER 11 - OCTOBER 17

For All Signs: The cosmos creates several tense aspects this week, one of which is Mars squaring Saturn. The Critic is loose in the streets and its impact began last week. We are all subject to being overtaken by it and could spew toxic criticism everywhere. Stay conscious and don't let it speak through your mouth. Energy will be high and nerves may be a little frayed. Drive defensively and concentrate on the task at hand to avoid fender benders. Pay close attention if you are using potentially dangerous tools and don't press your body beyond its normal physical capacity in any activity. This is the type of aspect that parallels wrenched backs and broken toes. Global conditions may be threatening.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Give careful attention to your car and to any machinery you may be handling. Equipment breakdowns are possible. Of course, they always come at highly inconvenient times. Be prepared with backup or extra parts. Your reflexes are off. Use caution with the world of the physical during this period.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You may back away from a hurtful relationship early in the week. Later your attention turns to personal healing, diet or exercise. For some there will be an improvement in the everyday environment at work. A new person may enter your work arena, who will be helpful and friendly.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): This is a busy week of tending to routine errands and projects. Focus your attention on new habits that will support your physical body and strengthen your mind. Meditation and yoga would be excellent. You may feel a compulsion to clean up files, closets, or other areas of paraphernalia. It is one way of organizing your mind and very useful if you feel frazzled.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Your attention is focused on home, hearth, and family. Family gatherings are likely to be pleasant. The conversation will be cordial and focused on fair outcomes for all. You may have a desire to make improvements in your home that will be beautiful, comforting, or both.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): This week is excellent for activities involving nearby travel, educational pursuits, and play in general. Your mind is unusually creative now. Write the poem that sings in your heart. Spiritual pursuits are given a "go" signal.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): It may be hard to move forward this week, due to challenges concerning property, equipment, health, or family issues. Your reflexes and normal muscle control are out of sync right now, so use special caution and listen to your body. If it says "don't," then pay attention and stop immediately.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): Early in the week you may be reminded of an old wound. The pain is short-lived because on October 14, Venus, your planetary ruler, moves into your sign. She shifts your attention to brighter thoughts of love, romance, and things of beauty.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Finances may be tough at this time. Fortunately, you have the wits required to stretch a dollar a long way. Mercury moves into your sign this week, energizing your need to talk and communicate. Monitor your words because you are inclined to say more than you really want to reveal.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): This is a time in which you will be required to work extra hard just to maintain the status quo. It has already started and will continue for another couple of weeks. You must use your stamina and internal grit to stay with it, but soon this test will be over. Take very good care of your physical self now.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): You must use persuasion to accomplish your aims now. Though you might try, you will find that wielding your power will meet with heavy resistance. Demonstrate the value of your plans so others will be more open to cooperating with your ideas.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): You have a steady mind and hands now. It is a good time to work on a project that requires concentration and careful work. You will find satisfaction this week with the routine activities of life. You may be spending time with older people, whether friends or relatives.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): Your attitude about yourself is not altogether accurate right now. You may think way too much of your ideas, or alternately, you may see yourself as lower than scum. Neither one is accurate and you should probably not make decisions of any importance this week.54

LinkedIn to your next job

BY ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

How do you land a job without responding to a job ad? It seems too good to be true, but it is possible. One way is through networking. For instance, your uncle has a friend who is looking to hire. Your uncle puts in a good word for you. Thanks to him, you get a great job working for his friend. Person-to-person recommendations are invaluable, often resulting in job leads and even offers.

However, there is another powerful way to obtain a job. This method doesn’t require face-to-face interaction, but does require a solid online presence. Many job recruiters and employers are looking at LinkedIn for potential candidates. I am not endorsing LinkedIn, but I do believe it’s a powerful tool for career management. I have personally met people who got recruited for jobs through LinkedIn. One survey found LinkedIn to be the top social media site for job purposes. If you are looking for a job (or promotion), you might want to consider LinkedIn as part of your job search strategy.

Creating an effective LinkedIn profile is much like writing your resume—it requires time and effort. Here are essential steps to craft a superb LinkedIn profile:

1. Before you dive into writing or uploading your photo, take a few moments to figure out your target audience and your objective. Are you trying to catch the eye of a recruiter or a customer? Are you looking for a job or a promotion? Are you wanting to stay in your current industry or are you hoping for a change? You need to be very clear what your goal is to create a profile that will get the attention of your desired audience. Once you have determined your specific audience and objective, compose your profile with these in mind.

2. Avoid writing large blocks of text. These are difficult to read and most people will skip over your long paragraphs. Instead, make your profile readable by using bullets and short paragraphs.

3. Consider using a careful selection of multimedia to soup up your profile. Videos or documents can be very effective in making you stand out from the crowd. However, note the word “careful.” Be sure that everything that you upload represents you in the best possible light.

4. Strong recommendations are powerful additions to your profile. Definitely include recommendations from one or two (or even three!) supervisors who are willing to give you excellent reviews.

5. Photos are somewhat of a double-edged sword. On the one hand, a photo can invite biased judgment. On the other hand, a photo makes your profile come alive. Recruiters are also more likely to click on your profile if you have a photo. Of course, be sure to choose a high-quality photo that showcases your professional, yet approachable self.

6. Your headline is a difficult, but extremely important part of your profile. One way to craft a noteworthy headline is to highlight a significant accomplishment or unique skill. Don’t go for a boring “Experienced team-player looking for a new position.” Instead, try to capture the attention of your audience with a memorable (but professional, of course) line.

7. The summary section is the most difficult, yet the most important piece of your profile. Consider the summary your 3-second ad to catch a recruiter’s attention. Whatever you do, don’t skip this section and please don’t write a few tired sentences to fill up the space. Instead, highlight special accomplishments, talents, skills, and qualities that you bring to the table. This is not the time to be modest. Here’s a trick: think about how a loved one would talk about your qualities. Even your Mom’s words can help you with this section!

Following these seven steps will help you create a great LinkedIn profile. One last thing to remember is to update your profile periodically. Perhaps you have learned a new skill or have been given more job responsibility. Be sure to add these accomplishments so that your profile will grow along with your career.

Peanut Butter Drive

SUBMITTED BY RONNIE FONG

Many people in our community struggle with their finances and need some assistance. The Tri City Free Breakfast Program (TCFBP) serves over 32,000 free breakfasts every year and gives away over 9,000 bags of provisions to those less fortunate in our community. Among the provisions included are one-pound jars of peanut butter.

Peanut butter in 1-lb jars provides stable healthy protein that doesn’t need refrigeration and is easily transported. Larger jars will be accepted, but they are not as useful. Bigger jars are too heavy for many of the elderly or homeless to carry. No jelly either, please, since jelly requires refrigeration which many don’t have access to.

At this year’s Peanut Butter Drive, a Make a Difference Day event, we are hoping to break last year’s donation record of 301 pounds. This is an excellent way to communicate with your family about being part of the national Make a Difference Day movement! Homeless Vets welcome vehicles from VTA

SUBMITTED BY LINH HOANG

As part of an ongoing commitment to finding solutions that move you, recently the Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority (VTA) donated four of its community buses to the Homeless Veterans Emergency Housing Facility.

The vehicle donation is a result of ongoing discussions dating back more than six months, when representatives from the Veterans Facility approached VTA after learning that Bus Line 45 was being considered for termination under VTA’s Transit Service Redesign Plan.

“They came to us to help address the veterans’ transportation needs. Upon closer review, we recognized that their needs were unique, specifically regarding weekend service, and concluded that donating a few of our 25-seat vehicles would better serve the facility,” says Chief of Operations Inez Evans.

Typically, VTA auctions off older fleet vehicles when they no longer satisfy industry requirements for public transport. VTA staff identified four community buses that were scheduled to be auctioned off and instead of auctioning them off recommended them for donation to the Veterans Facility. After determining that staff from the Veterans Facility would be capable of driving such vehicles, VTA began the process to donate the vehicles.

The four vehicles are 2008 Eldorado community buses previously used by VTA and have a combined total estimated value of several thousand dollars. Each are 27-feet long with a 25-space seating capacity and can be reconfigured to accommodate up to two wheelchairs.

VTA’s decision to donate these vehicles is based on its ongoing commitment to be more innovative with its approach to address transportation issues in the community. More fleet donations are anticipated in the future, following an evaluation of the requesting organization, as well as availability of vehicles.

THEATRE REVIEW

Creepy fun from kooky Addams Family

By JULIE GRABOWSKI

Practice your finger snapping and don your darkest and dreariest clothes: the Addams family is in town! Based on the cartoon characters of Charles Addams, the creepiest of families returns in a musical comedy about family bonds, secrets, change, and the most powerful of potions — love.

The Addams family's way of life has been consistently rife with unpleasantness and gloom — just the way they like it. But daughter Wednesday has grown up into a young woman whose black and twisted heart now burns with love for Lucas Beineke, a normal boy from Ohio. When she confesses to her father Gomez that she is engaged and begs him not to tell her mother Morticia, Gomez must do something he's never done in 25 years of marriage — keep a secret from his dearest love.

Concerned about how the families will get along, Wednesday arranges for them all to meet for dinner in the Addams mansion. Everyone agrees to be “normal” for the night, and although Morticia claims “normal is an illusion,” she dons an apron and talks of apple pie on the windowsill, while Uncle Fester's idea of normalcy is to appear as a football-playing Elvis. While Wednesday is hoping for a brief and uneventful evening, Morticia insists on playing The Game after dinner, a family tradition “loosely based on the Inquisition” where everyone sips from the sacred chalice and reveals a secret. What will happen to the Addams family when truths are revealed and life as they know it is on the verge of changing forever?

“The Addams Family: A New Musical Comedy” opened to a packed house at Castro Valley's Chanticleers Theatre, director John Baiocchi delivering a fun and engaging evening for Addams lovers and newbies alike. Baiocchi's cast is a lively, compatible unit, helmed by the assured and charming Roger Caetano. Caetano is a natural as family patriarch Gomez, completely at home in the role with plenty of humor. Rhonda Taylor's Morticia is solid, and while there's not much of a spark between Caetano and Taylor, they make a pleasant pair.

C. Conrad Cady is excellent in oddness, his Fester playful and bright and one of the best parts of the evening. His number “The Moon and Me” with the female ancestors is an unexpected highlight; visually and vocally well executed and memorable.

Chloe Angst gives Wednesday a demented aggressiveness tinged with drops of normal that makes an impact. Her voice is outstanding and makes you wish she had more solos like the great “Pulled.” Johnny Orenberg (Lucas) also has an impressive voice, and is a good counterpoint to Angst. Another family notable is Sarah Simmerman, who makes quite the sparky Grandma and has a great scene with her trolly of potions and remedies.

Costumer Stephanie Lauck steals the visual show with the diverse and excellently monotoned outfitting of the creepy ancestors: Conquistador (Taylor Hendricks), Caveman (Kenny Silberberg), Court Jester (Donovan Napoli), Flight Attendant (Jordana Meltzer), Flapper (Jennifer Willis), Bride (Madelynn Crimi), and Saloon Girl (Francesca Cipponeri). The ancestors give a delightful pop to wherever they're haunting and are a wonderful element.

While Michael J. Simons employs a functional and flexible set, it is spartan and appears slapdash in back and purple paint. The leafless family tree at the side of the stage is a nice anchor, but the set would benefit from more interest and dimension. The heretic's chair was a surprising and great piece in the scene between Gomez and Mal Beineke, one of Gomez's collected “instruments of persuasion.” What could be better than “the history of the world told in agony and dismemberment”?

“The Addams Family” literally packs the small Chanticleers stage with entertainment. Morticia claims, “Bright colors are for people with no inner life and no imagination,” and Baiocchi's production indeed shines in the gloom, no additional color needed.

Several of the shows are already sold out and an additional performance has been added on Sunday, October 29 at 7 p.m. Get your tickets soon if you don't want to miss out!

Gomes hosts

Indian Garba dance event

Submitted by ANUSHKA MADHAVANI
Photos by AMIT SINGH

On September 15, Girl Scout troops of John Gomes Elementary School hosted an Indian Garba festival that included both the Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts.

Garba is a form of Indian dance that originated in the Indian state of Gujarat and is mostly performed by women during Navaratri, (also Navratri, or Navarathri), a multi-day Hindu festival celebrated in the autumn. The basics of the dance are singing and clapping rhythmically while going around in a circle.

Everyone was invited to participate in the dance and attempt the Gujarati steps while the sounds of Bollywood musicals supplied a happy beat. Toward the end, many made their own dance moves.

This was not the first time the Girl Scouts have put on this event. Troop 30929 hosted the first garba/dandiya day last year, focusing more on dandiya, a dance that arranges the dancers, holding sticks, in two circles.

Overall, the event was fun and exciting, leaving everyone anxious to do it again next year.

Business Award

Submitted by GUY ASHLEY

Alameda County Administrator Susan S. Muranishi is one of four outstanding women chosen by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to receive its first-ever East Bay Women in Business Awards.

The awards, presented October 6, celebrate women who contribute to the betterment of our community while acting as leaders in their field. Muranishi, an Alameda County native who has served as the County's Chief Executive since 1995, is the first recipient of the award in the Public Service category.

Muranishi has gained a national reputation for strong fiscal management that has allowed the County to thrive—even in difficult economic times that have battered local government budgets. She has championed a transformative Culture of Innovation in which County government has leveraged technology and creative collaborations to operate more efficiently and better respond to residents' rapidly changing needs.

Leading a County of more than 1.6 million residents, Muranishi has also forged public-private partnerships that are spurring economic development and bringing government together with stakeholders in business, labor, philanthropy, nonprofits and community leaders to enhance transparency and tackle pressing issues.

In 2016, the County Administrative Officers Association of California (CAOAC) cited Muranishi's many achievements in selecting her to receive the CAOAC's First Annual County Administrator/County Executive Distinguished Service Award.

The Oakland Chamber's first-ever East Bay Women in Business Awards are the result of nearly 20 years of efforts by the Chamber to promote the social and economic empowerment of women through its East Bay Women in Business program.

Others selected for the Chamber's first East Bay Women in Business Awards were Barbara Morrison, CEO and President of TMC Financing; Julayne Austin Virgil, CEO of Girls Inc.; and Claire Shorall, Manager of Computer Science for the Oakland Unified School District.

Make A Difference Day is Saturday, October 28

Fremont Residents, Families, Clubs, Schools, Faith Communities, and Nonprofit Organizations Join Together for a “National Day Of Doing Good”

The annual Make A Difference Day, sponsored by the City of Fremont Human Relations Commission, Kaiser, Fremont Bank Foundation, CityServe’s Compassion Network, Cargill, and Dale Hardware, is an opportunity for Fremont residents to serve their community in a variety of practical ways. Volunteers can help with activities such as sprucing up parks and community gardens, graffiti removal, beautification projects at participating local schools, yard projects at mobile home parks, trail maintenance, writing thank you notes to veterans, serving at the food bank, feeding the homeless, gathering warm winter clothing for those in need, and much more. Service projects will be available throughout Fremont on Saturday, October 28.

Our City has always considered Make A Difference Day to be a priority. In 2015, Fremont received the “National City Award” and $10,000 from USA Weekend and Newman’s Own for going above and beyond in its efforts. Last year’s event drew more than 1,700 people who served on 100 projects. All of these projects greatly benefited residents, schools, and religious organizations within Fremont. This year, we already have more than 80 projects planned. We encourage Fremont residents of all ages to create a community service project or sign up to volunteer for someone else’s posted project. Opportunities exist for families, for students to earn service hours, and for companies to serve as teams.

If you are unable to volunteer, there are additional opportunities to donate items such as shoes or peanut butter at local drives.

For more information about Make A Difference Day, contact Fremont’s Project Manager Christine Beitsch at makeadifferenceday@fremont.gov or 510-574-2099, or visit the local Fremont Make A Difference Day website at www.MakeADifferenceDayFremontca.com to search, submit, or register for a project. The first 1,000 people who sign up and volunteer this year will receive a free Make A Difference Day T-shirt. Volunteer Counseling Interns Provide Valuable Services Citywide

Each year, the City’s Youth & Family Services (YFS) interns provide counseling to more than 500 local children and families. The counseling interns contribute more than 18,000 direct service hours while working at K-12 school campuses across the Fremont Unified School District. A number of the interns also serve children, adolescents, and families at the YFS main clinic counseling offices located at the Fremont Family Resource Center. Additionally, interns support a counselor located at the Fremont Police Department working to divert youth headed for the criminal justice system. This volunteer workforce saves the City more than $800,000 annually.

All YFS interns are graduate students or post-graduates in counseling, clinical psychology, or social work. Each is committed to volunteering a minimum of 20 hours per week under intense licensed supervision. Many counseling interns bring skills they used in previous careers as teachers, behavioral intervention specialists, attorneys, technology workers, medical providers, and more. A number of YFS interns are also bilingual in Spanish, Mandarin, Hindi, Tagalog, Punjabi, Farsi, Arabic, Vietnamese, Korean, Mandarin and Cantonese, expanding the City’s capacity to serve Fremont’s diverse community. YFS, which is a division of the City’s Human Services Department, has worked diligently over the years to establish close working relationships with local colleges and universities and to establish a solid reputation as an organization that provides outstanding training and support for interns. YFS receives hundreds of applications every year for less than 20 intern counselor placements. YFS interns work in public elementary, middle, and high schools. They serve a wide range of children coping with problems ranging from anxiety, social deficits, truancy, grief, bullying, mood disorders, behavioral disorders, substance use, familial divorce, undiagnosed developmental or learning disorders, immigration adjustments, and trauma. Children may receive support in individual counseling, build skills in small group counseling sessions and improve family dynamics in family and caregiver counseling. By improving the overall school climate, the YFS school-based counseling program benefits even the children who do not receive direct services. Intern counselors partner with principals and teachers to reduce classroom disruptions, combat bullying, improve school attendance, and respond quickly to students in distress. Intern counselors also provide family therapy and assist with parent education classes and workshops to teach parents how to handle common concerns in childhood and adolescence.

Each of the participating school campuses contributes approximately $9,200 per year to receive mental health consultation and direct services which would be valued at more than $64,000 per year in the private sector. The program also receives MediCal insurance reimbursement if children and their families are eligible. For more information about the YFS intern program contact Laurie Linscheid, MFT, Clinical Supervisor at 510-574-2100 or llinscheid@fremont.gov, or visit www.Fremont.gov/YFS.

Roving Artists showcase 'Near and Far'

SUBMITTED BY ROBIN WORTHINGTON

Almost everyone takes a camera along on a trip. But artists are likely to add paints, colored pencils and sketchbooks to their travel gear. There's nothing to match the joy of sketching on the spot. After painting the sparkling sandy beach, the field of sunflowers or the local market day, the artists can return again and again to the sights, smells, and tastes of the journey.

Roving Artists will share their travel images, "Paintings Near and Far," at their 11th showcase of paintings from October 1 through October 31, at Mission Coffee Roasting Company, 151 Washington Boulevard, Fremont.

The Roving Artists are a local group of women who have enjoyed the joys of paintings for 17 years. Members rely on each other for inspiration and critiques of their work. Each month a theme or style of painting is chosen and the resulting pieces are shown and discussed at the following meeting.

Members of the Roving Artists are Judy Anglin, Lois Haselby, Katherine Latson, Susan Olsen, Maria Grazia Romeo, and Robin Worthington.

Potted plants provide powerful purification

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

Plenty of unlikely pairs can be found on the Internet. A monkey that rides a pig, a dog that sleeps with his baby owl best friend, and a giraffe and ostrich that are inseparable. NASA and houseplants are another unusual match up.

NASA partnered with the Associated Landscape Contractors of America to conduct a study to see how well certain houseplants can absorb carbon dioxide and filter certain chemicals from the air. The 1989 study looked at the biofiltering of six pollutants that are found in the air outside and inside homes and buildings: benzene, formaldehyde, trichloroethylene, xylene, toluene, and ammonia. A chart of air filtering plants was produced from the study.

The NASA study inspired many others that acknowledge the ability of some plants to remove not only the six harmful toxins in the original study, but other household chemicals that contaminate indoor air as well. Toxins are released from carpets, cleaning supplies, glues used in flooring and furniture, and in certain plastic and rubber materials.

Subsequent studies also found that the microbes living in the potting soil might be responsible for more air purification than the plant. However, the best filtering results seem to come from the plant and soil microbes when they live together in a mutually supportive environment. A healthy soil lays the foundation for a plant to thrive and do what it does best, which is to help purify the air in homes and office buildings.

Spider plant (Chlorophytum comosum)

This is a very drought tolerant option that performs terrifically in a hanging pot where it purifies the surrounding air. Eliminates formaldehyde and xylene.

Dracaenas

There are more than 40 different species of Dracaenas that come in a wide variety of forms and sizes. They work endlessly at scrubbing the air, even though many do not require a lot of light, water, or care. Eliminates benzene, formaldehyde, trichloroethylene, xylene, and toluene.

Palm trees

Palm trees make great indoor plants because they are easy to care for and thrive in pots. The Dwarf Date Palm scored highest among indoor palm trees in removing toxins from the air. However, the Bamboo Palm, Areca Palm, Lady Palm, and Parlor Palm are attractive runners-up. Many eliminate benzene, formaldehyde, trichloroethylene, xylene, toluene, and carbon monoxide.

Rubber plant (Ficus elastica)

This rubber plant has deep green glossy leaves and an interesting form that easily makes it formaldehyde, trichloroethylene, and carbon monoxide.

Golden Pothos (Epipremnum aureum)

This powerful air-cleaning vine is easy to care for. Cuttings can be taken and easily rooted to provide purification in other rooms as well. Eliminates benzene, formaldehyde, xylene, toluene, and carbon monoxide.

Boston fern (Nephrolepis exaltata)

The Boston fern likes humidity and moisture. It is an excellent choice for a bathroom plant where a lot of cleaning chemicals are used. This lush, purifying plant will scrub the air after the bathroom has been cleaned. Eliminates formaldehyde, benzene, and xylene.

Chrysanthemums (Chrysanthemum morifolium)

Chrysanthemums, sometimes called mums, are the most productive flowering plant when it comes to filtering the air. Eliminates benzene, formaldehyde, xylene, and ammonia.

Determine where an air cleaning plant might be placed before purchasing it. The majority of plants used indoors come from sub-tropical and tropical environments where they do not depend on direct sunlight to survive. This gives many of them the ability to thrive indoors. Many of the purifying plants listed above, however, require varying levels of light. Consult the label for the light requirements to see if the location is the correct choice.

Potted plants have far less soil to work with than plants in the ground. An organic indoor potting soil that has some compost in it is the best choice for most of the indoor plants listed above. Palms are the exception, and an organic palm planting mix should be used. Organic potting soils are important because they will have high levels of the soil microbes that account for much of the air purification. Adding a little compost annually to the container, fertilizing according to the label, and repotting every other year will help keep the microbe levels high and healthy.

A standard formula of one to three plants in eight or 10-inch pots for every 100 square feet has been adopted as the number of plants needed to effectively purify the indoor air. This number is attributed to experiments following NASA's original 1989 study.

Plants are amazing in many ways. Plant lovers are learning more about plants just as NASA learns more about the universe. Purifying the air is just one more reason to have plants around.

Daniel O'Donnell is the co-owner and operator of an organic landscape design/build company in Fremont. www.Chrysalis-Gardens.com the focal point of a room. No one would ever guess it is working hard to clean the air. Eliminates formaldehyde, trichloroethylene, and carbon monoxide.

Peace lily (Spathiphyllum)

The peace lily is not a true lily but has a beautiful flower that looks like a lily. It will even let you know when it is thirsty. When it needs water and a break from removing toxins from the air, the leaves will droop. Eliminates benzene, formaldehyde, trichloroethylene, xylene, and ammonia.

English ivy (Hedera helix)

Used outside it can be an invasive plant, kept indoors it efficiently captures meddlesome air particles. Eliminates benzene,

SILICON VALLEY

The inaugural “Tails & Ales” is a pet and family-oriented festival that gives people and animals of our community an opportunity to celebrate each other and our pets in support of Humane Society Silicon Valley (HSSV). Attendees can bring their friendly, on-leash pets to the event, held on Saturday, October 14 at the Google Crittenden Campus.

Based in Milpitas, HSSV is an independent, privately funded, 501(c)(3) non-profit organization serving people and pets for over 85 years. As an independent non-profit organization, HSSV does not receive funding from Humane Society of the United States, ASPCA or state and federal government entities. HSSV offers quality adoptions, affordable spaying/neutering, vaccinations, microchipping services, pet care services and education programs to enhance the human-animal bond. Established in 1929, HSSV has adopted more than 500,000 animals into permanent, loving homes. Animal welfare is their top priority and their mission is to save and enhance lives.

NBC's Sam Brock will emcee Tails & Ales and Uzette from Alice Radio will make a special appearance. Festival features and activities include pet costume contest, food trucks, breweries and wineries, live music by Legally Blue, pet-friendly vendors, educational activities, pet-friendly crafts and activities, and family-friendly activities. Visit the Doggie Fun Zone with your four-legged companion, or teach your pet a trick with HSSV Dog Trainer Cecilia Sternzon of Canine Higher Learning. Take the kids to get their face painted or make a tie dye T-shirt. Check out local boutiques and vendors including Artisan Animals, Botanic Organic, Brindle Market,

Dr. Kamiya, Vice President of Medical Operations, HSSV

Farm Fresh To You, ImagiNature Jewelry, Janet Wolf Ceramics, Kristina Micotti Illustration, League of Crafty Canines and more.

Take a break from activities to sample the offerings of Firestone Walker Brewing Company, Hermitage Brewing Company, Lagunitas Brewing Company, Redwood Coast Cider, Taplands, and Tsingtao Beer, or wine lovers can get a taste of Byington Vineyard & Winery, Hook & Ladder, and C.G. Di Arie Vineyard & Winery. Pair your beverages with selections from The Cookout Fish & Chips N' More, Sugar Tree Sweets & Treats, Twister Food Truck, Mona's Fruits, and Live Food and Fresh Juices.

And for more fun, round up your cameras, grab your cell phones and pull out your old photo albums! Submit photos of your current pets, beloved past friends or your favorite foster in the Online Photo Contest. Enter as many images as you want and turn your pets into stars! Submit photos in three categories: Dog, Cat, and Rabbit or Pocket Pet. The winner in each category will be announced at Tails & Ales. In support of the animals and programs at HSSV, a minimum $25 tax-deductible donation is required for each photo submission. Site visitors are asked to vote a minimum of five times, at $1 per vote. All participants who achieve 200 votes or more for their photo entry will receive a Tails & Ales hat which you can pick up at the event The Photo Contest is a fun way to celebrate your pet while raising money for the animals and people that rely on HSSV. Meet the Mighty Oak Tree

Oak trees make good shade trees because they grow tall and wide enough to create a big canopy that you can sit under on a hot, sunny day.

A canopy is a covering, either natural or man-made.

In winter, many kinds of oak trees, being deciduous, lose their leaves. During that time when sunlight is especially precious for warmth, the oak tree's leafless branches let the sun shine through.

Oak Trees and Native Americans

Oak trees provided more than shade for the first Americans. Their fruit, known as acorns, were an essential source of food for Native Americans from coast to coast.

The acorns were ground into a meal that was used to make mush or pounded with meat, fat and berries to make pemmican, a paste that dries into chewy, nutritious strips.

Standards Link: History: Students understand the daily life and values of Native American cultures.

Don't Eat That Acorn!

Don't pick an acorn and try to eat it right off the tree. It is full of chemicals called tannins that taste terrible and could make you sick. Before acorns can be used to make food, the meal must be carefully prepared.

How many acorns can you find on this page?

Acorn Gathering Game

With a friend, take turns drawing a horizontal or vertical line between two dots. Completing a square is worth 1 point. If there's an acorn in the box, that's worth 5 points.

Making Acorns Safe for Eating

Read the steps that Native Americans followed to remove tannins from acorns. Then number the pictures in the correct order.

1. Shell the acorns by splitting the outer shell and removing the light-colored inner nut.
2. Grind the shelled acorns into a fine meal.
3. Scoop the pounded meal into a basket.
4. Rinse the acorn meal with hot water to wash away the tannins. The meal must be rinsed at least ten times, or more if cold water is used.
5. Add water to the leached meal and stir with a hot rock lodged into a looped stick.
6. Add berries, seeds or dried meat for flavor.
7. Eat!

Compound Collectors

For five minutes, look through the newspaper or your newspaper's website for compound words. Then have a friend try. Who found the most compound words?

Standards Link: Vocabulary Development: Identify and read compound words.

In a Nutshell

Nutshell is a compound word. Draw a line from each acorn cap to a nut to form compound words.

Oak Tree Exercises

Pretend you are a mighty oak tree and give these exercises a try.

Curl up into a tight ball like an acorn. Then slowly start to stand up, stre-e-etching your arms as far as you can, like branches on a growing oak tree.

Whoa! You're now in a big wind storm. Lean as far as you can to one side, then the other.

Now it's fall. Shake, shake, shake those dead leaves off!

Use a stack of books in each hand to pretend some kids built a tree fort in your branches. How long can you hold the books up?

Standards Link: Physical Education: Use a variety of basic and advanced movement forms.

Kid Scoop-doku

Complete the grid by using all the letters in the word ACORN in each vertical and horizontal row. Each letter should only be used once in each row. Some spaces have been filled in for you.

Celebrating Filipino American History Month

BY DAVID R. NEWMAN

In November of 2009, both the United States House of Representatives and Senate passed laws (House Resolution 780 and Senate Resolution 298) officially recognizing October as Filipino American History Month in the United States. To commemorate this time of year, the East Bay Chapter of the Filipino American National Historical Society (FANHS) is teaming up with the Pilipino-American Society for Education (PASE) to hold a free celebration at Itliong-Vera Cruz Middle School in Union City on Saturday, October 14.

FANHS has been organizing Filipino American History Month celebrations in the Bay Area since 2009, but this is the first time that an East Bay location has been chosen, and the first collaboration between FANHS and PASE. Says James Sobredo, President of the East Bay Chapter of FANHS,

“The New Haven Unified School District has played an important role in celebrating the Filipino American legacy by being the first and only school district in the United States to name a school after Filipino-Americans.”

It was in 2015 that Alvarado Middle School in Union City officially changed its name to Itliong-Vera Cruz Middle School as a tribute to historic labor leaders and Filipino-Americans Larry Itliong and Phillip Vera Cruz, who co-founded the United Farm Workers Union (UFW) in 1962, along with Cesar Chavez and Dolores Heurta. Says Tracie Noriega, President of PASE, “We want kids to know that their ancestors have contributed to history, and we eventually hope to have all points of view in the textbooks.”

While many have heard of Chavez and the Mexican struggle for workers rights, few realize that Filipino-Americans were extremely important to the labor movement, and in fact spearheaded initial efforts. The landmark 1965 Delano grape strike was organized by the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee (AWOC), a predominantly Filipino-American group, which later merged with the National Farm Workers Association (NFWA) to form the UFW.

The Union City event will also commemorate the 70th Anniversary of the 1947 U.S. Military Bases Treaty, which led to massive recruitment of Filipinos in the U.S. Navy, and subsequent mass migrations to San Diego, Hawaii, Norfolk/Virginia Beach, and Guam. This included Alameda and Mare Island in the Bay Area. As a result, Filipinos are the largest Asian-American group in California (according to the 2010 Census). Bay Area cities with high percentages of Filipinos include San Francisco, Daly City, Vallejo, and Union City.

Keynote speaker Raymond Townsend, former Warriors basketball player and the first Filipino in the NBA, is set to kick off the celebration. Also attending will be Alameda County Supervisor Richard Valle and Philippine Consul General Henry Bensurto, Jr. The honorable Rob Bonta, California State Assemblyman, 18th Assembly District, will also be represented.

Performances and demonstrations will be presented by the Little Manila Dance Collective, Dragons Den Mixed Martial Arts, American Center of Philippine Arts Rondalla Ensemble, Anak ng Bayan Dance Group, Danza Azteca Grupo Olin Anahuac, Kulintang Academy, Mighty4, Viva Gala Dance Studio, and the Mabuhay Folkloric Society for Filipino Folk Dances.

Food vendors, book and craft vendors, children's art, and historical displays will round out the offerings, including a traveling exhibit from the Filipino American National Museum. Says Sobredo, “We want the community, especially the middle school and high school kids, to come celebrate and embrace their Filipino American culture and heritage.”

This year marks the 35th Anniversary of FANHS, which has 33 chapters nationwide, including five in the Bay Area (San Francisco, East Bay, Alameda, Vallejo, and Santa Clara). The FANHS Museum is located in Stockton.

PASE began in the early 1990s in the New Haven Unified School District, one of many community groups formed by then superintendent Guy Emanuele. It is the only one still standing, and provides support to students and teachers alike. They help with curriculum writing, outside projects, and provide over $10,000 in scholarships for Filipino-American seniors every year.

Bay Fair TOD Plan workshop October 18

SUBMITTED BY TERESA MEYER

The City of San Leandro is hosting a community workshop to present the Draft Bay Fair Transit-Oriented Development Specific Plan on Wednesday, October 18 from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at the Senior Community Center, located at 13909 East 14th Street. The City is seeking public input on the Draft Plan and the related Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR), released at the end of September.

The Draft Plan and EIR, the latter a requirement of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), reflects the culmination of extensive public outreach and feedback throughout 2016 and early 2017 from local residents, businesses, property owners, City boards and commissions, as well as the City Council. The Draft Plan provides a sustainable mixed-use vision for the half-mile area in and around the Bay Fair BART Station within the City limits. Contents of the Draft Plan include development standards, design guidelines, proposed zoning changes, transportation/ infrastructure improvements, financing and funding strategies, and implementation programs.

“I’m eager to hear from the public on the Draft Bay Fair TOD Plan. My hope is that constructive community feedback further refines the Plan into a stronger future blueprint for the area,” said Mayor Pauline Russo Cutter.

The City of San Leandro received a $440,000 planning grant from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission to prepare a TOD specific plan for the Bay Fair area. The City Council also appointed a 21-member Community Advisory Committee (CAC) in early 2016. The CAC is scheduled to review the Draft Plan/EIR on Monday, October 23, at 6:00 p.m. in the Senior Community Center, which the public is welcome to attend.

This is the second community workshop related to the Bay Fair TOD Plan. A first community workshop occurred in September 2016 at the onset of the public planning process. The Draft Plan and EIR are available for public viewing on the City website (www.sanleandro.org) and as well as in the Main Library and the Community Development Department in City Hall.

For additional information, or if translation services and accommodations for persons with disabilities should be needed at the October 18th community workshop, please contact Tom Liao, Deputy Community Development Director, at (510) 577-6003 or tliao@sanleandro.org. It is appreciated if accommodation requests are submitted at least 72 hours prior to the event.

Ruby's Place, an emergency shelter for survivors of domestic violence and human trafficking, is celebrating its 45th anniversary this year. To mark the celebration during National Domestic Violence Awareness month, Congressman Eric Swalwell and Alameda County District Attorney Nancy O'Malley are hosting an event on Thursday, October 19.

Located in Hayward, Ruby's Place is California's first incorporated domestic violence shelter founded by a group of concerned citizens in 1972 and one of the few shelters for survivors of human trafficking serving in the Bay Area. Ruby's Place provides emergency shelter and supportive services in their 42-bed emergency shelter, 24-hour crisis line, case management, therapy, children's program and supportive transitional housing. They also serve over 300 low-income individuals per year in the shelter and additionally over 4,000 through the crisis line and no-fee Community Outreach Program. Future plans to expand services will be announced at the event.

The iconic San Francisco Ferry Building is the venue for this celebration. Food is provided by leading Bay Area restaurants including Rintaro, Baia Pasta, C'Era Una Volta, Lucia's Pizzeria in Berkeley, Acme Bread, Cow Girl Creamery, INNA Jam, Frog Hollow, Boccalone, Emporio Rulli, Guittard Chocolates, Pig in a Pickle, and many more! Drake's Brewery of San Leandro, Fort Point Beer Company, and Thirsty Bear from San Francisco will be pouring beer. Wineries include Frogs Leap and Cru9 Wines.

The event is sponsored by Symantec Corporation, Selerum, Fremont Elks Lodge #2121, Kaiser Permanente, Hayward Ace Hardware, and J. Glynn & Company among others. Event production is by DPEM Event Marketing.

Monarch butterfly

SUBMITTED BY ADRIENNE DE PONTE

Flying thousands of miles at speeds of up to 25 miles per hour and a mile high in the sky, Monarch butterflies return annually to the same trees at the San Leandro Marina and hunker down to spend the winter. Learn about the life cycle and mysterious migrations of the Monarch butterfly from a butterfly expert. After a brief talk, take a short walk to see large clusters of butterflies on the Eucalyptus trees. This is one of only two places in Alameda County to witness this natural phenomenon with a naturalist guide! Wear comfortable shoes that can get a bit dirty. We'll walk a few blocks to the site on paved surfaces, then on grass to view the butterflies. Bring binoculars or borrow some of ours! Weekday school programs and other group trips are available on a limited basis. The overwintering site is not open to the public.

Only registered participants can enter the site. Programs occur rain or shine.

Bear In Mind Exhibit

SUBMITTED BY SHOSHANA FRANCIS

Over the centuries, the relationship that Californians have had with the grizzly bear is one of dualities—expressed in fear and fascination. Although now extinct in the state, the grizzly has long been a central character in California's history. Illuminating the story of the grizzly is the exhibition “Bear In Mind: The Story of the California Grizzly” which opened at Milpitas Library on October 4.

The California grizzly possessed characteristics that we hold dear: independence, adaptability, resourcefulness, intelligence, and strong maternal care. Yet human interaction with the bears was misguided, intolerant, and violent.

Scientists estimate that 10,000 grizzlies once lived in California, perhaps the densest population of brown bears on the continent. However, through increased human settlement, loss of habitat, and hunting, by the early1900s the California grizzly had vanished and could only be seen on the state flag. Although the loss of the California grizzly was a tragic lesson, we are not too late to save other threatened and endangered species.

Today, California grizzly bears only exist in our imaginations as symbols of things desired and things lost. Since the mid-1800s, the grizzly has been used as an icon, advertiser and entertainer, making the image of the bear a familiar one to most people. Little physical evidence remains of the grizzly bears that once roamed California. It is through stories, artifacts, striking images, and hands-on activities that the “Bear In Mind” exhibition provides an in-depth look at the history and science California's most revered and feared animals.

The “Bear In Mind: The Story of the California Grizzly” exhibition is based on the Heyday Books publication, Bear in Mind: The California Grizzly by Susan Snyder, as well as The Bancroft Library exhibition of the same name.

Currently scheduled for installation at more than 17 museums across the state over the next three years, “Bear In Mind” will continue at Milpitas Library through December 15.

The “Grizzly” exhibition is produced and toured by Exhibit Envoy. The exhibition was developed in concert with The Bancroft Library, University of California, Berkeley and Heyday Books. Exhibit Envoy collaborates with California institutions to create and tour smaller, affordable, high quality exhibitions that enhance civic engagement and human understanding. This exhibition was supported by the William Randolph Hearst Foundation with additional funds from the Bank of the West.

Educators named County Teachers of the Year

Kevin-Gorham

Stephanie-Taymuree

SUBMITTED BY AUTUMN KING

At the 28th annual Alameda County Teacher of the Year Awards Ceremony, teachers Kevin Gorham of Alameda Unified School District and Stephanie Taymuree of Oakland Unified School District were selected to represent Alameda County to compete for the title of 2017-18 California State Teacher of the Year.

Mr. Gorham teaches AP government and economics and leads the student-run radio station at Encinal Junior & Senior High School. On winning this award Gorham says, “Without teachers taking time out of their day to make sure I was on track, I don't know where I would be today. If I can make a difference like those teachers did for me, then I'm going to live a great life.”

Mrs.Taymuree works with students with special needs in the Technology & Augmentative Communication for Learning Enhancement (TACLE) program at Oakland's Redwood Heights Elementary School. She notes, “I am a teacher because I love children and I love being able to help them love themselves. I am excited and honored to receive this award and share it with all of them.”

The pair were selected from the 18 Alameda County district winners, after submitting an extensive application for panel review.

“Each year, we are honored to host this event in celebration of the district winning teachers,” said L. Karen Monroe, Alameda County Superintendent of Schools. The celebratory event, hosted at the Castro Valley Center for the Arts held October 5, 2017. Eighteen district winners were recognized for their dedication and commitment to the impactful work they do with students.

2017 district winners in Alameda County:

Alameda County Office of Education - Veronica Aguilar, Burke Academy

Donations to Abode now matched by Sobrato Foundation

SUBMITTED BY CHRIS DE BENEDETTI

Abode Services, the Bay Area's leading provider of supportive housing services to homeless people, is pleased to announce that it has received from the Sobrato Family Foundation a challenge match grant that will allow donors to double the positive impact of their gifts.

With this grant, contributions from new donors, those who increase a recent gift, or donors who have not given to Abode within the last 12 months will be eligible to be matched by the foundation.

The Sobrato Family Foundation helps low-income, at-risk communities that are underserved and blocked from opportunities by language and economic barriers, as well as other obstacles.

“This challenge match grant lets supporters increase their effect and make even more of a difference in the lives of the families and individuals we serve,” said Abode Services Executive Director Louis Chicoine. “We are thrilled that the Sobrato Family Foundation's generosity is making this grant possible and extending the reach of our community services.”

Funding from the foundation will help support programs at Abode Services that improve the lives of more than 4,800 people each year, including 1,200 children. These programs are helping vulnerable people in Alameda, Santa Clara, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, and Napa counties escape the crisis of homelessness and work toward self-sufficiency.

Abode Services has been awarded Charity Navigator's top four-star rating for accountability, transparency, and fiscal management for 12 consecutive years.

“We strive to ensure the hard-earned dollars community members contribute are utilized in the best way possible,” Chicoine said. “We know that people donate to us because they want to help us with our mission of bringing an end to homelessness.”

To learn more about Abode Services or to make a match-eligible donation, visit www.abodeservices.org. Donations can also be mailed to Abode Services, 40849 Fremont Blvd., Fremont, CA 94538.

I need a Forever Home

We are full to the brim of cats and kittens.
We have no open cage space. To try and make some room we are going to be offering $20 cat adoptions to qualified homes through the remainder of October.

Lancelot is a sweet, quiet 6 month old kitten with stunning black and white Turkish Van markings. He's a little shy and likes to cuddle to feel secure. He just needs a little extra TLC to help him blossom into a confident kitty. Info: Hayward Animal Shelter. (510) 293-7200.

Pongo is a sweet, English Spot bunny with silky-soft white and black fur. He loves hay and greens and is quite active and curious. Pongo is neutered and ready to join your family as an indoor bunny. Info: Hayward Animal Shelter. (510) 293-7200.

Scholarship Semifinalist numbers rise

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) high school students were once again well-represented among the approximately 16,000 National Merit Scholarship semifinalists for 2018 named September 13th. In all, 175 FUSD students (an increase of 52 from last year), representing four of the District's comprehensive high schools, were on the list, helping Fremont post the 2nd-highest number of semifinalists (176) among cities in California, trailing only San Jose (278).

"Our students continue to impress us on a regular basis with their abilities and achievements both in and out of the classroom," said FUSD Superintendent, Dr. Kim Wallace. "We are so proud to see our students raise the bar so significantly in the number being named semifinalists – as well as lifting Fremont to such a prominent position among California cities."

Setting the pace for FUSD was Mission San Jose High School with 91 semifinalists – the most of any school in California for the fifth-consecutive year. Irvington High School placed 49 students on the list (an increase of 30 from 2017), followed by American High School with 27 (+12) and Washington High School with eight (+3). After submitting applications demonstrating their academic record, community service, leadership, employment and honors/awards received, these FUSD students will join other semifinalists nationwide competing for 7,500 scholarships worth more than $32 million. Those selected as National Merit Scholarship Finalists will be notified in the spring.

Approximately 1.6 million high school juniors from 22,000 schools were considered for the 63rd National Merit Scholarship Program through their performance on the 2016 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test. To become a Finalist, the Semifinalist and his or her high school must submit a detailed scholarship application, in which they provide information about the Semifinalist's academic record, participation in school and community activities, demonstrated leadership abilities, employment, and honors and awards received.

A Semifinalist must have an outstanding academic record throughout high school, be endorsed and recommended by a high school official, write an essay, and earn SAT® scores that confirm the student's earlier performance on the qualifying test. Merit Scholar designees are selected on the basis of their skills, accomplishments, and potential for success in rigorous college studies, without regard to gender, race, ethnic origin, or religious preference. Fourteen FUSD students were named 2017 National Merit Scholarship Finalists last year.

National Merit Scholarship winners of 2018 will be announced in four nationwide news releases beginning in April and concluding in July. These scholarship recipients will join more than 323,000 other distinguished young people who have earned the Merit Scholar title. Visit www.nationalmerit.org for more information.

Automobiles banned in Niles Canyon... for one day

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY ROELLE BALAN

Imagine a beautiful two-lane highway one can walk, run, and bike on without any oncoming traffic. That's how participants experienced the "Niles Canyon Stroll & Roll," an event held September 30, 2017.

The Stroll & Roll closed Highway 84 from 7 a.m. – 2 p.m. Road closures included Mission Boulevard to Niles Canyon Road in Fremont and Niles Canyon Road and Palomares Road. Main Street and Niles Canyon Road and Main Street to Westbound onramp were also closed for the event.

Alameda County Supervisors Scott Haggerty and Richard Valle started the event in 2015; 2017 marked its second year. As for why it took two years to organize another Stroll & Roll, "...there's a lot of costs that go into closing the road...it's not something we could do everyday, and even doing it every two years is tough," Haggerty said. Costs to close the canyon include hiring police and fire personnel to patrol the event, permits, insurance, and Caltrans charges. An estimated $80,000 to $100,000 is required to organize the event.

The Stroll & Roll was a sample of what would it be like to have an open road that pedestrians and bicyclists could use to commute and for leisure. If participants enjoyed this event, they are in luck. An initiative, supported by Haggerty and Valle, would build a Class 1 trail that would traverse Niles Canyon.

"Our constituents want to see more bike projects, they want to see us put in more trails, people are commuting more via bike, and this is a great connection between Sunol and the Tri-Valley," Haggerty said about the trail. "This trail can act as a function for people moving to work not only that but also act as a trail of leisure. As we look to build this Class 1 trail, it's both for leisure and will function as a trail that will get people to work." Haggerty also said many people support the building of the trail.

According to the Fremont Police Department, over 10,000 people showed up at the first Stroll & Roll, and numbers were high again this year - a 6.4 mile stretch of road – each way.

James Lung, Acting Battalion Chief for the Fremont Fire Department, talked about how this year was a little different from the previous event. From 7 a.m. – 8 a.m. the trail was only open to cyclists. Lung said some cyclists wanted to record a personal record, so this was the time to do so. "For people that are trying to set their personal records, we let them go first," he said.

The safety of all participants was in good hands at the open road stroll, as bike medics and police officers were biking along the trail. California Highway Patrol, Fremont Police Department, the Fremont Fire Department, and the Alameda County Fire Department in Sunol were at the event making sure everyone was safe.

Haggerty said that people approached him to ask if they can not only have the event every year, but every weekend. "People enjoy having access to the canyon, and it's something they want to see us do as often as possible," he said. "The canyon is extremely beautiful, and people enjoy having the opportunity to take some time when they travel through it. This gives them the opportunity to travel through the canyon safely."

Valle talked about how the recent death of a bicyclist at the Niles Canyon Highway motivated him to try to make trails safer for the public. "We immediately started to think about why so many people love riding their bicycles through the canyon when it's so perilous," Valle said. "There's no connector between the bay trail and the Sunol trails, and the trails out to the Tri-Valley."

Valle explained that the Niles Canyon Highway is a good choice for a trail, especially because the Alameda Creek Trail already runs alongside the road. "This is the obvious connector because it follows Alameda Creek," Valle said.

Fineman & Hurd

SUBMITTED BY BRASK CONCERTS

Called a “Fresh folk/rock/pop duo with gorgeous harmonies, exquisite blend of acoustic instruments and insightful lyrics that speak directly to the heart...” by the Monterey County Weekly, Alisa Fineman and Kimball Hurd bring their talents to Fremont’s Mission Coffee on Saturday, October 14.

Fineman’s background in sacred and world music adds a compelling component to the duo’s repertoire. Awarded Champion of the Arts 2011 by the Arts Council for Monterey County, Fineman is complemented by Kimball Hurd who is a multi-instrumentalist on guitar, mandolin, mandola, slide guitar and banjo as well as being a Bammie Award-winning singer/songwriter. Hurd is also known for his role in the California trio, City Folk, which Brask Concerts has also booked.

In the years since they joined forces, their talents have earned them national acclaim and invitations to perform at such showcase events as the Kate Wolf Music Festival, Strawberry Music Festival, Sisters Folk Festival, Kerrville Folk Festival, Austin’s South by Southwest, the High Sierra Music Festival, and the Moab Folk Festival. As an added dimension, Fineman and Hurd have also performed as members of the Cabrillo Symphonic Chorus at Carnegie Hall.

Fineman, who has several CDs of secular music, has released her first CD of Jewish music. Called “Closing the Distance,” it features her own interpretations of some Jewish classics plus some original songs. On the album Fineman sings in Hebrew, Ladino, and English with two guest vocalists, Elias Lammam and Shabda Kahn, singing in Arabic. To quote Peter Yarrow of Peter, Paul and Mary: “Alisa Fineman’s CD is a marvelous addition to the contemporary voices who continue to give life and vitality to the Jewish tradition. Alisa’s heart is as warm as her superb voice.”

Fineman is the cantorial soloist at Congregation Beth Israel in Carmel. She also performs with the Bay Area ensemble Ya’Elah.

“We first heard them perform at Pacific Grove and loved their harmonies,” said concert organizer Wayne Brask. “Alisa had a very small pump organ that she demonstrated before using in the performance for a couple of songs. We find things like that very interesting and beautiful.”

Celebrate nature by exploring your creative side! Whether it’s browsing artwork by local artists, crafting animals out of paper, or creating animal-shaped yummy treats, there’s something for everyone at the “Arts and Crafts Nature Festival.” In celebration of National Wildlife Refuge Week, Don Edwards San Francisco Bay National Wildlife Refuge will be hosting several activities on Saturday, October 14. A fun-filled, free day, you’ve got a range of choices: origami workshop, nature quilt, create a fish print tote bag, family bird walk, get creative with wildlife-shaped desserts, or take a salt marsh walk. The 2017 California winning Junior Duck Stamp art will also be displayed.

Let family walks become a shared time of nature learning. On the Family Bird Walk, we’ll begin by helping kids create their personal bird watching field guides, and then head out onto the trails to find those birds. A limited number of binoculars are available to borrow. Recommended for children ages 5 – 10. Reservations required. Register at <http://donedwardsfamilybird.eventbrite.com> or call (510) 792-0222 ext. 362.

Become a Jr. Refuge Ranger to celebrate National Wildlife Refuge Week! Our Jr. Refuge Ranger program is an introduction to the Don Edwards SF Bay National Wildlife Refuge from its wildlife to its plants. You’ll taste pickleweed while you learn about endangered species. Jr. Refuge Rangers will participate in several fun hands-on activities in order to earn their badge at the end of the program. Dress in layers – we’ll be going on a nature walk. Best suited for ages 8 – 11. Reservations required. Go to <https://jrrefugerangelalviso.eventbrite.com> or call (408) 262-5513 ext.104.

Lanphoon Art Center Exhibit

SUBMITTED BY ARLENE LUM

Lanphoon International Art Center and the Asian Community Cultural Association present a free art exhibition on Friday, October 13 at the San Leandro Main Library. The event will feature a display of artwork from a group of artists from China: Yasuro Matsumine, Lanmei Cheng, Yingchun Gao, Tianlan Guo, Maoping Xu, Junwei Zhang, Yuefeng Hu, Lidong Li, and Qiang Meng. Three of the artists – Yingchun Gao, Maopin Xu, and Junwei Zhang – will be demonstrating the art of Chinese calligraphy and will be giving away the calligraphy to guests who stop by.

Famous artist Lanmei Cheng established Lanphoon Art Center in 1979 at Tainan City, a municipality in Taiwan. It is dedicated to the development of contemporary art, education, and international art exchange. The participating artists had an exhibit earlier in the year in Southern California, but the San Leandro exhibit is the first time they have shown their work in the Bay Area. The Asian Community Cultural Association is co-hosting the event with Lanphoon Art Center as a cultural exchange activity. This exhibit will expose the local community to some of the contemporary artists from China.

This event is free and is open to the public.

The Washington Huskies (Fremont) started strong, finding weakness in the Newark Memorial Cougars defense on October 7th, leading to a 33-13 victory. Wasting no time, the Huskies offense exploited the Cougars need to bolster their front line with a defensive back and leave pass lanes open. Following the half, the Cougars offense started to click but it was too late to even the score. Final: Huskies 33, Cougars 13.

Fourth-grader is national, international jiu-jitsu champion

SUBMITTED BY DIONICIA RAMOS LEDESMA

Dania Silva, a fourth grader at Southgate Elementary (Hayward), began to practice Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu when she was five. Today, she is a top-ranked athlete in the sport looking to defend her national and international titles. Her drive is also present inside the classroom where she excels in math. Dania's love of martial arts began when she started practicing Taekwondo at the tender age of three. She made a natural transition to Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu (a martial art and combat sport) and immediately fell in love with it. The young athlete has been training in the sport for four years and competing for three and a half of those years. She won silver in her very first competition, and in the last few years, Dania has captured every major title in the sport. Her doting father, Sergio Silva, ascribes his daughter's success to her tenacity and discipline. "She has a high standard for herself and she doesn't like to lose," states Mr. Silva. In her short competitive career, Dania has competed in over 60 tournaments—that's 150 matches—and has only been defeated four times. Video of her matches show a young girl transformed into a fierce competitor as she outmaneuvers her opponents on the mat. Dania trains 4-5 days a week for 2-3 hours a day while still finding time to play with her pets, including a dog named Bella. Her competitive nature spills over into academic pursuits. "Dania puts forth 100% effort on each and every assignment. She absorbs the instruction as if each and every lesson is of the utmost importance," states her teacher, Mr. Brad Ward. "She is very well-liked by her peers, many of whom have no idea their classmate is a word-class competitor," said Ward. In 2016, the young Silva was ranked number one in the world. Now, at nine years old, she competes in older age groups given her domination. Earlier this year, Dania took first place at the International Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu Federation (IBJJF) Championships, a title she has won once before. She went on to move up in age group and still captured gold at the American National Kids IBJJF Jiu-Jitsu Championship in July. Now Dania is preparing to compete at the US Open Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu Tournament on November 4th and 5th, the same tournament where she has won top honors for the last three consecutive years. Sergio Silva shuttles the family around to competitions as far away as Las Vegas and Long Beach. Dania isn't the only Silva family member skilled in Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu. Her older brother Leo, a student at Hayward's Mt. Eden High School, is also a national champion. Dania gave her first television interview after winning the Kids World International in 2015. She recognized that her matches would get tougher, but in her soft-spoken nature seemed ready for the challenge. Jiu-Jitsu is a lifelong journey that requires athletes to train indefinitely to remain dominant in the sport. Dania has shown the determination needed to pursue this rigorous road. Those that know her have no doubt about her ability to face this challenge. "It is an honor to have Dania Silva at our school," says Brian White, Dania's principal at Southgate Elementary. "She is a phenomenal athlete, but more importantly she is an outstanding person and role model for others."

Cal State East Bay receives Campus Compact grant

SUBMITTED BY
KIMBERLY HAWKINS

In the wake of new information that will impact undocumented students, Cal State East Bay is collaborating with the City of Hayward on a project to generate conversations about immigration.

“We hope [our program], Book to Action: Immigration, will enable residents to voice concerns about local and national issues related to immigration, create a supportive environment for open dialogue, and allow residents to express their opinions related to the city of Hayward’s commitment to an inclusive, equitable and compassionate community,” said Andrea Wells, community partner coordinator for Cal State East Bay’s Center for Community Engagement.

In the 2017-18 school year, Cal State East Bay freshmen will read, “In the Country We Love: My Family Divided” by Diane Guerrero, and the book will also be used to engage more classes, the broader campus and the local community through other events throughout the year, including two keynote speeches by the author, book discussions and community conversations and activities.

This year, the collaboration is receiving funding from Campus Compact, a nonprofit organization focused on working to advance public purposes of higher education. Through a special fund at the nonprofit called the Fund for Positive Engagement, 40 grants were awarded nationwide to colleges and universities working to bridge divisions among people and groups.

According to Campus Compact, the Fund for Positive Engagement is a direct response to the divisive and destructive climate in the United States that took shape during the 2016 campaign and has continued in its aftermath.

“We wanted to create an incentive for colleges and universities to come up with creative responses to the challenges they are seeing,” Andrew Seligsohn, president of Campus Compact said. “We have been hearing from our member colleges and universities that students and community members cannot hold conversations with people with differing political views. Immigrant and Muslim students are afraid to express their views. Many community members see universities as completely separate universes with different values. We invited our members to propose steps to break through those divides, and we are excited by the proposals that came back.”

The selection process was highly competitive, as Campus Compact received nearly 300 submissions from institutions across the country. Proposals were judged based on the strength of the idea, its practicality, and the degree to which it will be possible to measure success, among other criteria.

California bullet train staff recommend German operator

By KATHLEEN RONAYNE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP), The agency overseeing California’s bullet train project is recommending a U.S. subsidiary of a German rail company to design and operate a Central Valley train segment in its early stages.

The California High-Speed Rail Authority’s board of directors will vote Oct. 19 on whether to approve DB Engineering & Consulting USA for the $30 million early operating contract. The company is the U.S. arm of Deutsche Bahn AG, which is owned by the German government.

Chinese, Italian and Spanish companies also competed.

The authority is tasked with building a high-speed train from Los Angeles to San Francisco by 2029, a $64 billion project.

It sought bids for an early operator with experience running high-speed trains to design stations and tracks, estimate ridership and plan revenue collection.

Connections

amenities. Real estate professionals have known this mantra for many years... location, location, location. We can all give examples of businesses with poor locations that have failed again and again. If access is difficult or potential patrons are too far removed, the business suffers. The same can be said of residential development when land value is determined by location. Why the disparity between home prices in the Bay Area and other parts of the country? Location.

Within a city, location can be a significant factor. For instance, the terminology of living either on the "right side" of the tracks or "wrong side" often referred to residential areas defined by railroad tracks. The same can be said for neighborhoods without formal and visual cues.

So, what does this have to do with our cities that may not have right or wrong sides of a railroad track? As our living and working spaces become more concentrated and plans for new developments are unveiled, connections for all modes of transportation – mass transit, automobile, bicycle, pedestrian - have become critical factors. A major development (Pacific Commons South) adjacent to Pacific Commons in Fremont was discussed at the October 3, 2017 Fremont City Council meeting. Amid glowing projections and lavish praise for the new industrial complex – flexible, job generator, modern day advanced manufacturing campus, etc. – was the basic issue of accessibility and connectivity with the rest of the City, even the existing Pacific Commons, literally next door. While building a beautiful business "campus" is laudable, it needs to be an asset rather than a traffic liability. Those commuting to and from as well as spending breaks and lunch hours should have easy access to nearby amenities.

As discussion progressed, many connection issues remain unresolved. Questions of how employees would be linked to mass transit, leisure facilities, restaurants, etc. were raised with few if any answers. Shuttles, pedestrian and bicycle connections are being considered but no clear solutions surfaced. The assistance of the new Mobility Task Force was a good idea from the council. This problem is an ongoing factor for new and redevelopment projects, one of the major reasons this group should have been created as a commission rather than a time limited task force. This error should be rectified.

Many safety pedestrian/bicycle concerns are being addressed by the City of Fremont. Striping, pylons, speed bumps and detours are helpful to realize the Vision Zero concept of safety for all public conveyance including pedestrian activity. However, public comments at the meeting indicated that there is still a long way to go. While innovative development will propel Fremont and its environs to greater stature in the Bay Area, infrastructure connections will remain at the heart of its success. Let's work on connecting the dots with a Mobility Commission.

As a kid, I used to love "connect the dots" puzzles. What initially looked like a series of random dots, when connected correctly, formed a recognizable image. At times, the actions of government are similar to a giant connect the dots puzzle that can ultimately make sense but sometimes just remains as random dots, each distinct but without coherent connection to other substantive actions.

There are well-known examples of government graft and waste such as roads to nowhere and bridges that have no rational reason for existence. States are famous for gerrymandering congressional districts to gain an advantage for the political party in power, assuring election of the favored over challengers to the status quo. Either socially, politically or in a more material sense, practical and rational connections are important to our daily lives.

When brought to the local level, connections within and between various locales spells either success or disaster when planning to renew or create civic

Tesla Model 3 production falls short of targets in Q3

BY DEE-ANN DURBIN
AP AUTO WRITER

Tesla Inc. missed its third-quarter production goals for its new Model 3 sedan, leaving customers and analysts to wonder if the company will meet future targets for the hotly anticipated electric car.

Tesla said it delivered 220 Model 3 cars in the quarter. It has produced a total of 260 Model 3s at its Fremont, California, factory since production began in early July.

At that time, Tesla CEO Elon Musk tweeted that the company should be making 100 Model 3s in August and "above 1,500" in September. He also said the company would likely be making 20,000 Model 3s per month by December.

But Musk also warned, in late July, that Tesla would go through "at least six months of manufacturing hell" as it ramped up production of the Model 3. He said there is always a risk of machines breaking down or suppliers not coming through with parts.

On Monday, Tesla blamed "production bottlenecks" for the slow rollout. But it said it was confident it could fix those issues.

"It is important to emphasize that there are no fundamental issues with the Model 3 production or supply chain," the company said in a statement. "We understand what needs to be fixed and we are confident of addressing the manufacturing bottleneck issues in the near-term."

More than 500,000 people are on a waiting list to get a Model 3. The car, which is half the price of Tesla's previous models, is critical for the company's goal of moving from a niche manufacturer of luxury cars to a mainstream automaker.

Akshay Anand, an analyst at Kelley Blue Book, said vehicle production is one of the most complex tasks a company can undertake, and he noted that Tesla had slow production ramp-ups for its previous vehicles, the Model S sedan and Model X SUV.

"This is just one quarter, but if production misses continue into the fourth quarter and even beyond, Tesla will be in a much more precarious position since their future largely relies on the Model 3 being a success," Anand said.

Despite its issues with the Model 3, Tesla said it delivered a record number of vehicles in the third quarter. The Palo Alto, California-based company delivered 26,150 vehicles in the July-September period, up 4.5 percent from the same quarter a year ago. A little over half of those were Model S sedans; the rest were Model X SUVs and the handful of Model 3s.

Tesla said it expects to deliver about 100,000 Model S and X vehicles in 2017, which would be a 31 percent increase over 2016.

Tesla's shares fell 1 percent to $336.79 in after-hours trading.

California transit agency fined $220,000 in workers deaths

BY PAUL ELIAS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Northern California judge fined the Bay Area Rapid Transit agency $220,000 on Friday for the deaths of two workers accidentally hit by a commuter train.

Laurence Daniels, 66, and Christopher Sheppard, 58, were killed in 2013 while inspecting a track east of San Francisco. They were inspecting the track as the agency was scrambling to restore limited service with managers serving as drivers amid a workers strike.

The train that struck the two workers was operated by a trainee with no direct supervision in the cab, the judge found. The driver slammed on the emergency brake and tried to hit the button to sound the train's horns but instead pressed a button that controls the doors.

The transit agency was using a safety procedure called "simple approval," in which track inspectors were responsible for their own safety and determined they could clear the track within 15 seconds of an approaching train.

BART has since eliminated that policy. BART trains are now required to stop if a worker is within six feet of the track. BART has also said it has improved communications between drivers, track inspectors and the control center.

The two workers had their backs to the train when struck in violation of agency safety rules. One member of inspection crews is always supposed to be watching for trains.

The California Public Utilities Commission sought the fine and three years of probation after determining the transit agency's safety rules and procedure were inadequate. BART will have to pay an additional $440,000 if it violates terms of its probation, which include tightening its safety rules and submitting more detailed safety reports.

"These are serious and egregious violations, particularly in view of the fact that they were violations committed by BART's top level veteran managers, reflecting BART's organizational and management culture and attitudes," the administrative law judge's decision reads.

BART spokeswoman Alicia Trost said the transit agency is still deciding whether to appeal. "We put into place safeguards to minimize human error and brought on additional safety-related positions," Trost said.

BART has paid the family of Daniels $300,000 to settle a wrongful death lawsuit. It's unknown if Sheppard's family has filed a lawsuit.

Canine Inspectors protect State's agriculture

SUBMITTED BY GUY ASHLEY

The Community Development Agency's Agriculture Canine Inspection Team continues to intercept unmarked parcels containing agricultural commodities infested with harmful exotic pests that can damage agricultural and natural environments both locally and around California.

Recently, Agricultural Biologist and Canine Handler Lisa Centoni, and her canine partner 'Cosmo,' a black Labrador mix, detected a package of kaffir limes from Florida containing two deadly citrus plant diseases and invasive insects. The Alameda County Canine Inspection Team found the unmarked package during their routine parcel inspections at the Oakland Post Office. County Agricultural Inspectors examined the package, and found the shipment to be in violation of multiple quarantines and contaminated with insects and possible diseases. The kaffir limes were identified as having Citrus Canker (Xanthomonas axonopodis pv citri), Huanglongbing (Candidatus Liberibacter asiaticus), and two types of invasive scale insects.

Citrus Canker is a bacterium that causes lesions on citrus fruit and leaves, and fruit production decline. The disease is widespread in citrus-producing regions of the world, including Florida. Fortunately, it has not been found in California. Citrus Canker can be spread by wind-driven rain, people carrying infection on their person, landscaping equipment, and by movement of infected plants and fruit.

Huanglongbing (HLB) is also a bacterial disease of citrus. HLB, also known as citrus greening or yellow dragon disease, restricts the flow of nutrients within the plants causing blotchy yellowing of leaves, asymmetrical-bitter fruit, and stem dieback. This disease has been found in Asia, Florida, and a few trees in Southern California. There is no known cure for HLB; infected trees usually must be removed and destroyed. Unlike Citrus Canker, the spread of HLB can be stopped if the vector is eradicated. The vector, Asian Citrus Psyllid (ACP), is a tiny insect that carries the disease from one infected plant to another as it feeds. The insects have been found in several areas within California, including Oakland and Fremont. Quarantine areas have been established around these areas to restrict movement of the pests.

Protecting California's $47 billion industry from invasive pests is a primary responsibility of California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA) and the California County Agricultural Commissioners. With the increase movement of commodities and the ease of travel, California's first line of defense against invasive pests is inspecting agricultural commodities as they enter the State and reacting to new pest finds before they become established.

Cosmo and Lisa are one of 14 Agriculture Detector Dog Teams throughout the State. The Dog Teams enhance the inspection of plant products entering California at parcel facilities. For more on the California Dog Team program visit, <https://www.cdfa.ca.gov/plant/dogteams/index.html>.

What can you do to help? When mailing agricultural products, mark your packages with contents and growing origin. Comply with agricultural inspectors requesting to inspect your product.

Do not move backyard fruit, vegetables, and plants into and out of California without proper agricultural clearance. Ask family and friends to refrain from sending care packages containing fruit, vegetables, and plants from other states and countries. When buying agricultural products online, ask shippers if their product is certified to enter California. For more information call your local Agricultural Commissioner's Office.

Legislation to protect immigrants signed into law

SUBMITTED BY AMERICA'S VOICE
EDUCATION FUND

Governor Jerry Brown signed SB 54, the California Values Act, into law October 5, 2017. This landmark legislation ensures that state and local law enforcement agencies focus on fighting crime rather than deporting immigrants. It ensures hard working immigrants throughout the state can interact with state and local authorities so that all can thrive; it encourages immigrants to report crimes and serve as witnesses to reduce crime; and it promotes a welcoming climate to those who have moved to California to pursue the American Dream.

As Gov. Brown said, "These are uncertain times for undocumented Californians and their families, and this bill strikes a balance that will protect public safety, while bringing a measure of comfort to those families who are now living in fear every day."

State Senator Kevin De Leon, a leader behind the passage, stated: "The California Values Act will limit immigration enforcement actions at public schools, hospitals and courthouses where all California residents should feel safe, regardless of immigration status," he said. "I want to thank Governor Brown for his engagement on SB 54 and his understanding of its importance to the millions of California residents it seeks to protect."

All-in-white party night ready to delight!

BY JULIE HUSON

GIVE TEENS20

X-Box design engineer. Marriage and family counselor. Radio voiceover artist. Doctor of cardiovascular medicine. These careers and many others are within reach for teens seeking guidance on their futures. Short, professionally filmed clips of the people who hold these jobs are just one resource provided by GiveTeens20, an organization formed in 2008 to provide youth with ways to discern paths into adulthood.

Kathy Laidlaw, the driving force of GiveTeens20, hopes this year's "All-in-White Masquerade Night" on Friday, October 20 will exceed the previous year's event profit of $30,000. Laidlaw underscores the mission of GiveTeens20: "The money raised makes possible a future where teens will have access to in-class presentations that help them choose future goals and align those goals with increased academic effort in high school."

The huge special event space at Campo di Bocce of Fremont will be the setting for another bewitching evening for teens and adults. Clothed in whites, beiges, and metallic tones, partygoers are promised an evening of food and fun for just $50 a person. A teen area will feature a human checkerboard game, and an "over 21" casino will offer poker and Pai Gow. In addition, guests will be served refreshment from a carving station, along with pasta and salad. Bogle wines and DasBrew beers of Fremont are the official wine and beer sponsors and will have a presence at the event.

Auction and raffle prize offerings include a week in Jamaica in a fully staffed luxury home for ten. A weekend drive to Arroyo Grande in a car provided by Magnussen Lexus comes with tickets for the Carol King Tribute concert. Laidlaw promises there will be tickets for sporting events, and Giants memorabilia will be available for bidding. Chroma Photo Booth, a professional company specializing in capturing the fun on film, will set up a picture station complete with cameras, photographers, props, and backdrops.

All money raised will be invested back into the organization to fund and make available more resources for teens. Laidlaw knows that GiveTeens20's presence on the web is the most effective mechanism for reaching a large audience of users. But she notes that "one on one" coaching "takes things to a personal level," so GiveTeens20 also provides in-school presentations with months of consistent follow-up to build relationships with teens looking for direction and encouragement.

GiveTeens20 hosts a web presence packed full of free resources. More than 35 video interviews with successful individuals working in a broad variety of careers provide personal and educational advice to help teens discern direction after high school. Practical advice on how to apply for jobs, prepare and dress for interviews, and even how to use silverware at a formal dinner can all be found at an easily navigated website.

"We help kids connect the dots to get to the next spot," Laidlaw says. The board and staff at GiveTeens20 are inspired to work for young people who, for a variety of reasons, get overwhelmed by the thought of life after high school and might just give up, unless coached and supported by this inspirational organization.

Laidlaw encourages anyone to offer expertise to the organization. Or put on your pale togs and come to the October 20 event to show your support. You may wonder, why "all-in-white" as the party theme? Laidlaw enthuses, "It's magical with everyone in white. It creates a beautiful room." But she encourages guests to don whatever neutral tones are available in party wear and come out for a fun time. "You can wear beige, or cream, or linen," she says, but the folks behind GiveTeens20 above all want you to just come!

GOVERNMENT

CITY OF FREMONT
SUMMARY OF ADOPTED
ORDINANCE NO. 13-2017

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF FREMONT REPEALING FREMONT MUNICIPAL CODE CHAPTER 9.60, RESIDENTIAL RENT INCREASE DISPUTE RESOLUTION AND REPLACING IT WITH A NEW CHAPTER 9.60, RENT REVIEW ORDINANCE AND ADDING A NEW ARTICLE XV TO CHAPTER 2.20, RENT REVIEW BOARD

On September 19, 2017, the Fremont City Council introduced the above ordinance. It would update Fremont Municipal Code (FMC) Chapter 9.60, Residential Rent Increase Dispute Resolution (RRIDRO) with a new Chapter 9.60, Rent Review Ordinance and add a new Chapter 2.20, Rent Review Board to strengthen the existing rent increase dispute resolution process and create a rent review board.

The changes to Chapter 9.60 streamline the dispute resolution process by making it a two-step rather than a three-step process by combining the existing conflict resolution and mediation processes into a single consultation or mediation process followed by review by a city rent review board. The new provisions of Article XV to Chapter 2.20 create a rent review board that will consist of five members including two landlord representatives, two tenant representatives, one neutral member and one city representative. The board will review rent increases that exceed 5% in any 12 month period.

The ordinance also provides for notice of the rent review process to be provided to tenants along with a notice of rent increase. The notice will be translated into the most commonly used languages within the City. In addition, the ordinance includes stronger provision to prevent landlord retaliation against tenants for engaging in the rent review process and to require good faith participation in the process. The ordinance will be reviewed annually by the City Council.

This Ordinance was adopted at a regular meeting of the City of Fremont City Council held October 3, 2017, by the following vote, to wit:
AYES: Mayor Mei, Vice Mayor Jones, Councilmembers: Salwan and Bonaccorsi
NOES: Councilmember Bacon
ABSENT: None

A certified copy of the full text of Ordinance No. 13-2017 as adopted is available for review upon request in the office of the City Clerk, 3300 Capitol Avenue, Building A, Fremont.

Mobile home fire claims two lives

SUBMITTED BY AISHA KNOWLES,
ALAMEDA COUNTY FD

On Thursday, September 28, 2017 at 5:27a.m., Alameda County firefighters responded to a fire at 285 Santa Susana Street in San Leandro at the Mission Bay Mobile Home Community. Firefighters arrived within five minutes to find a double-wide mobile home fully engulfed in flames.

During a search of the residence, firefighters located two deceased adults, a female and male, in the rear of the home. The 1-alarm fire was extinguished within 15 minutes of firefighters arriving at the scene and was contained to the mobile home, with some minor exterior damage to neighboring mobile homes.

The fire investigation, led by the Alameda County Fire Department (ACFD) in collaboration with the San Leandro Police Department, is ongoing. For fatal fire investigations it is standard practice for ACFD Fire Investigators to work closely with the local law enforcement agency to determine the cause and origin of the fire.

The Alameda County Fire Investigation Task Force was also requested to assist with the fire investigation. Task Force representatives from the Alameda County District Attorney's Office, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), Alameda County Sheriff's Office (UAV Team), and the Sunnyvale Department of Public Safety responded to help with the fire investigation.

There were no additional reports of injuries to firefighters, community members, pets or public safety personnel.

The City of San Leandro Building Department, PG&E, Paramedics Plus and the Alameda County Sheriff's Office Coroner's Bureau also responded to assist with components of the overall fire response.

Fearless things to know about your social security number

BY MARIAELENA LEMUS, SOCIAL SECURITY PUBLIC AFFAIRS
SPECIALIST

While many of us look forward to Friday and our weekend plans, certain cultures consider Friday an unlucky day. Moreover, people suffering from triskaidekaphobia are truly terrified of the number 13. Combine the two facts and it's not surprising that Friday the 13th has a frightening reputation.

While superstitions play an important part in the Friday the 13th jitters, we offer a different approach to this "unlucky" day with 13 fearless things to know about your Social Security number and card.

1. Your Social Security number is your link to Retirement or Disability benefits since we use it to record your wages and earnings.
2. There is no charge to obtain a Social Security number and card. This service is free.
3. We keep your records confidential and don't disclose your number to anyone, except when the law requires, or when your information connects you with other government health or social services programs.
4. To prevent identity theft, keep your Social Security card in a safe place with your other important papers and be careful about sharing your number. If asked for your number, find out why your number is needed, how it will be used, and what happens if you refuse to provide it.
5. While you need a Social Security number to get a job or for other services, you often don't need to show your Social Security card. Many organizations can verify your Social Security number directly with us.
6. If your Social Security card is lost, you can replace it up to three times a year with a lifetime limit of 10 replacement cards. Legal name changes and other exceptions will not count toward these limits.
7. You can request a replacement Social Security card with the ease and convenience of our online services if you have a 'my Social Security' account and meet our qualifications. Visit www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount.
8. If you suspect someone is using your number for work purposes, contact us to report the problem so we can review your earnings and verify that our records are correct. You also may view your annual earnings by accessing your Social Security Statement, one of the many services available with a 'my Social Security' account.

9. If you suspect someone is misusing your number to create credit or other problems for you, report the identify theft with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) at www.identitytheft.gov or by calling 1-877-IDTHEFT. We also recommend that you contact the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) if fraudulent tax refunds or reporting is involved, quickly file a complaint with the Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3) at www.ic3.gov, and monitor your credit reports.

10. The nine-digit Social Security number was initiated in 1936 for tracking workers' earnings over the course of their lifetimes for benefits, not with the intent of personal identification. Since 1936, we have issued over 30 different versions of the Social Security number card.

11. Until June 2011, the first three digits of a Social Security number were determined by the geographical region in which the person lived. Numbers were assigned beginning in the northeast and moving westward. Residents on the east coast often have lower numbers than those on the west coast. Any number beginning with 000 will never be a valid Social Security number.

12. Beginning in June 2011, we assigned Social Security numbers randomly, which protects the integrity of the Social Security number, eliminates the geographical significance of the first three digits of the Social Security number, and extends the longevity of the nine-digit Social Security number.

13. Since November 1936, we have issued 453.7 million different numbers and there are approximately 420 million numbers available for future assignments. We assign about 5.5 million new numbers a year.

Fear not, if you properly protect your Social Security number and card. Information about applying for a Social Security card, name changes, identity theft, and other answers to frequently asked questions is available at www.socialsecurity.gov, or by calling us toll-free at 1 (800) 772-1213 (TTY 1 (800) 325-0778).

Day of the Dead celebrates life

SUBMITTED BY
MARCESS OWINGS

Each autumn, the Hayward Area Historical Society explores the various aspects of Day of the Dead through traditional and contemporary altars and art. Interest in Day of the Dead has grown steadily over the years since Chicano/a activists and artists introduced the celebration to California audiences in the 1970s. The festive holiday is celebrated throughout Mexico, Central America, and much of the United States, but similar holidays exist in cultures throughout the world. It has become a fusion of traditional Mexican elements mixed with modern themes and materials.

This year's exhibition explores symbols and the items used or represented most often in Day of the Dead art and altars. Such items as sugar skulls, water, the arch, marigolds, candles, butterflies, papel picado, and pan de muerto are just some of the things seen in Day of the Dead exhibitions, but it isn't always understood why they are used or what they represent. The exhibition opened September 30 and will be on view at the HAHS Museum of History & Culture through November 26.

"As a historian, I find the tradition and history of the celebration fascinating as it pertains to a particular culture. As a human, I find the meaning and beauty of the celebration captivating. As a curator, I find the exhibitions thought provoking and beautiful. As a California native with roots dating back to the Spanish and Mexican periods, I am learning about a part of my heritage," says HAHS Curator Diane Curry.

Complementing the exhibition are two programs. On Saturday, October 14, families are encouraged to drop in between 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. for "History for Half Pints: Day of the Dead" where kids of all ages will have the opportunity to decorate their own sugar skulls to add their home altars. Other related crafts and activities will also be available.

On Saturday, October 28, Day of the Dead specialist Bea Carrillo Hocker will address the Pre-Hispanic concept of death as portrayed in the paintings and sculptures of Mexico's early artists, the impacts of Spanish Catholicism on indigenous funerary rites, and offer insights into the present-day pageantry of Day of the Dead along with the reclamation of these traditions by Mexican Americans. Following the presentation will be a Jumping Jack Workshop where attendees will have the opportunity to create a toy similar to those sold during Day of the Dead festivals. Funding for the Day of the Dead programs is generously provided by Bertie Nebenzahl and Ruth Talley.

The HAHS Museum of History & Culture is located at 22380 Foothill Boulevard in Hayward. Admission is now free thanks to a generous grant from the Edward E. and Donna L. Martins Foundation. Diamonds in Education Gala

Annual gala helps students and teachers shine

The New Haven Schools Foundation (NHSF) is thrilled to present its highly anticipated annual gala fundraiser, which supports quality student activities and educational programs. NHSF's 6th annual gala, "Diamonds in Education," promises to be another spectacular and fun-filled evening for guests.

Gala tickets are priced at $100 per person and admission includes a buffet dinner, espresso, and dessert, as well as $1,000 in casino chips for guests to use to try their luck at classic casino games, such as blackjack and roulette. A VIP table of ten can be reserved for $1,250 and comes with extra amenities and a prime table location to make the evening extra special. The event will take place at the Mirage Ballroom in Fremont on Saturday, October 21.

Something new at this year's event is the introduction of a new element, to honor the inspirational individuals we call "Diamonds in Education." This year's honorees are Don del Pilar (Guy Emanuele Service Award), the City of Union City (Tom Kitayama Business Award), Tina Bobadilla-Mastel (Teacher of the Year), and Susan Glenn (Classified Employee of the Year).

All proceeds from the event go toward supporting classroom innovations, educational enrichment, and college scholarship programs. The New Haven Schools Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that works within the community to make exceptional student programs possible. Financial support comes from businesses and foundations, as well as parents, educators, and civic leaders. NHSF provides assistance at every grade level, and reaches every school in the New Haven Unified School District.

Innovations in Education provides funds for classroom programs that create high impact learning experiences for students. Project: Enrichment funds programs which allow students to explore and develop skills in extracurricular programs, and the Brian Kelly Tutoring Fund provides grants for academic tutoring programs. But the NHSF's crown jewel is its hugely successful Pathways to Success program, which last year offered $135,000 in scholarships to graduating seniors from the following schools: James Logan High School, Conley-Caraballo High School, Decoto School for Independent Studies, and New Haven Adult School.

These programs are why fundraising events like the gala are so important. The continuity of such programs is vital to the preservation of the New Haven School District's efforts to develop and empower its students and educators. Maintaining the foundation's productivity and success is no small feat and its board members are committed to helping the organization accomplish its mission and goals. They hope to encourage, engage, and inspire teachers and students of New Haven School District by providing them with opportunities to succeed. Come support them and join the foundation on October 21 at the Diamonds in Education gala.

Must be 21 years and older to attend. Tickets and sponsorship information can be found at www.nhsfoundation.org.
