New Outdoor Environmental Education Deck

SUBMITTED BY
CHABOT SPACE & SCIENCE CENTER

Chabot Space & Science Center began construction on a new outdoor environmental education deck on Monday, October 16, 2017 to be completed in the spring of 2018. This addition will add 3,200 square feet of space for public and education programs and feature permanent interactive exhibits. Built with funds from Measure WW, the deck will expand the space adjacent to the large telescope domes at the Northeast end of the Chabot complex between the existing buildings and the access road to the North parking area behind the Center. The Center will be completely open to the public during construction and while the adjacent area will be fenced, visitors will still have access to the telescopes.

Chabot has partnered with the Exploratorium to design the deck to respond to Chabot's need for more outdoor space to accommodate its popular and growing educational programs. The deck will serve as a multipurpose platform for outdoor camping, field trips, First Friday Nights crowds, and to be a venue for 12 interactive outdoor exhibits. The exhibits have been conceived and designed by the Exploratorium to focus on

PLETHOS PRODUCTIONS

Plethos Productions, the first new community theatre company to open in the area in years, has started an Indiegogo campaign to bring Lin-Manuel Miranda's "In the Heights" to Castro Valley and beyond.

Founder and East Bay native, Karin Richey, along with a team of performers, are launching Plethos Productions, a grassroots,

The Indiegogo campaign aims to raise $5,500 before November 11, which is the deadline to pay for the performance license rights for "In the Heights."

Advance Health Care Directive, Important to have, important to update

Whether you are going for a lab test, a routine medical visit with your physician or checking into a hospital, you're often asked this question: "Do you have a current advance health care directive?"

The two key critical elements of this question are "have" and "current," according to Father Jeff Finley, Washington Hospital's Palliative Care coordinator.

It's important to have a current, up-to-date advance health care directive, Fr. Finley says, because your health circumstances may have changed from the time you first filled out the form.

Perhaps the person you designated as the person responsible for making sure your directive is respected and carried out has moved away or died, or is no longer willing to shoulder that responsibility. Perhaps your views have changed on what you wish to have happen if complications arise from illness or surgery, or on end-of-life treatment.

"These and other circumstances require that each of us review and update our directives periodically," Fr. Finley explains. "Once the directive is up-to-date and you are satisfied with its terms, then it should be copied and given to your doctors, the individuals named in the directive and your family members so that they, too, know your wishes," he adds.

The updated directive should be used as a tool to generate a discussion among loved ones about what your wishes really are, he notes. In that discussion, you can explain that having an advance health care directive will relieve your loved ones of the burden of having to make a painful end-of-life decision. This may be important if various family members disagree about what should be done and what you would want.

He also says that often it's best to have the decision-maker or agent named in the directive someone who is NOT a member of the immediate family. "A family member may agree at the time you ask them but then find it's impossible to carry out your wishes as they want you to be with them as long as possible, or don't want to be the one who gives that final instruction when the actual time arrives," Fr. Finley explains.

Fr. Finley recommends choosing someone outside the immediate family: someone you can trust such as a best friend or a business associate — someone you know who will honor your wishes. The key, he says, is to be clear about what you want, talk openly with your family and others close to you (including your doctor) about your wishes, and make sure you have the correct forms and that they are signed and notarized.

Fr. Finley explains that some people may not want to have extended care if the doctors see no hope of recovery. Financial concerns about extended care also may be a concern to some individuals. Others, however, want to make sure that all medical treatments have been explored and don't want anyone making decisions about end of life. These views also are important to include in a directive, Fr. Finley says.

Advance health care directive forms are available in the library at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave. You can also find them online, in many doctors' offices, and in some libraries.

Holiday Weight Gain Can Be Avoided

Beginning with Halloween, the “sweet season” is upon us. The prevalence of chocolates and other sugary treats is soon followed by Thanksgiving and December celebrations, which include traditions of delicious, calorie-filled food and drink.

Many of us look forward to enjoying the foods of the season with great anticipation. But, if you’ve worked hard all year to lose weight or maintain a healthy weight, you may be dreading this season of temptation.

“Most people believe they gain about 10 pounds over the holidays,” said local gynecologist Victoria Leiphart, MD. “The good news is they generally gain less than that. The bad news is they don’t tend to lose the weight after the holidays are over, and those extra pounds stick around.”

According to Dr. Leiphart, studies show 50 percent of the weight people gain each year happens between Thanksgiving and New Year’s Day. Much of it is due to our common habit of eating whatever is in front of us.

“Many of us eat without paying attention – in front of the TV, at our desks, or while driving. And, when we consume mindlessly without paying attention, we eat more,” she asserted. “We need to give more thought to what we are putting in our mouths, and we should do this during the holiday season too.”

Just in time for the holidays, you can learn how to pay attention to what you are eating, which should help you eat less. Come to a free community seminar, “Mindful Eating for the Holidays” on Thursday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. Led by Dr. Leiphart, the 90-minute event will be in the Washington Women’s Center conference room, suite 145, located in the Washington West building next to Washington Hospital. To reserve your spot or for more information, call (510) 608-1301.

The Center for Mindful Eating reports, “Mindful eating is allowing yourself to become aware of the positive and nurturing opportunities that are available through food selection and preparation by respecting your own inner wisdom.”

At the seminar, there will be plenty of interactive discussion about how to avoid gaining weight during the holidays. In addition to benefiting from Dr. Leiphart’s expertise, the small group of participants will learn from each other by sharing what has worked or not worked in their own personal experience.

“We’ll talk about the scope of the problem, how much weight people really do gain, and how to make better eating choices when you’re faced with holiday traditions and temptations,” explained Dr. Leiphart. “I’m not a big believer in eliminating food groups or forbidding certain foods altogether, but we will talk about portion control and how to identify and be aware of your eating cues—like when you’re stressed or bored.”

“Mindful Eating for the Holidays” is part of the Women Empowering Women series. Sponsored by Washington Women’s Center, the group meets monthly to discuss women’s issues related to health and lifestyle.

Dr. Leiphart has practiced obstetrics and gynecology in the Fremont area since 1992. In her practice, she has a strong focus on lifestyle medicine, which includes using exercise, nutrition, and stress management to help prevent and treat illness. She has conducted wellness and prevention talks in the community for the past four years.

New Community Theatre launches in East Bay

The mission of the company is to re-imagine community theatre that is as fresh, innovative, and diverse as the surrounding community. Plethos hopes to accomplish this by recruiting, casting, and selecting shows with inclusion in mind at every level in hopes of featuring the most talented individuals in the community, free from traditional casting barriers.

Within Castro Valley and the five nearest cities, there is less than one community theatre per city. This isn't nearly enough to create year-round opportunities for performers and audience members. Plethos Productions hopes to bring dynamic, thought provoking performances to East Bay audiences.

Beyond "In the Heights," Plethos hopes to offer monthly small stage events such as improv, stand-up comedy, live game shows and sing-alongs at restaurants, vineyards, and other unique locations, primarily in Castro Valley, Hayward, San Leandro, San Lorenzo, and Union City. Additionally we will work towards one to three mainstage productions annually, beginning with "In the Heights" in June of 2018.

Plethos Productions has three benefit events planned to get the company off the ground: a stand-up comedy show on Saturday, November 4, a yoga workshop on Saturday, December 2, and a New Year's Eve Launch Party & Showcase on Sunday, December 31 at Ristorante Di Palermo in downtown Hayward.

At the first fundraising event on November 4, join world famous gold hunting duo Dillon & Dutch as they find comedy gold via five hilarious stand-up comics. Shannon Murphy, Justin Luc, Shanti Charan, Phil Griffiths and headliner Chey Bell will be bringing the laughs, while Doc's Wine & Cheese Shop and other local restaurants will be providing the tasty treats and drinks. Recommended for ages 18 and up.

Drivers For Survivors now covers Central Alameda County

SUBMITTED BY ROSEMARY PETERSEN

Drivers For Survivors (DFS) provides free transportation service and supportive companionship for ambulatory cancer patients, from suspicious findings through completion of treatments. This vital non-profit has served the Tri-City area for nearly five years and has now expanded its service area to Central Alameda County.

This is great news, but it also means DFS needs more volunteer companion-drivers than ever. If you live in Hayward, San Leandro, San Lorenzo, Ashland, Cherryland, or Castro Valley, we are asking you for your help. Also, if you are in Fremont, Newark, and Union City, we continue to need your help as well.

DFS volunteer-companion drivers have provided more than three-hundred cancer patients with well over twelve-thousand rides in under five years. Volunteer drivers are only asked to meet the minimum of providing one ride every three months. The companionship and care that DFS drivers give is more than rewarded by the love and thanks of those people whose lives are affected.

Drivers For Survivors is partially funded by the Alameda County Transportation Commission, through Measure B and Measure BB tax dollars, Federal Transit Administration (FTA) Section 5310, and charitable individuals, organizations, and businesses within the communities we serve and beyond.

If you would like to volunteer, call (510) 579-0535 or email volunteer@driversforsurvivors.org. Visit our website for more information at <http://driversforsurvivors.org/>. For monetary donations, go to <http://driversforsurvivors.org/donate/>.

Compassion Report United Against Hate

MARIE ANNETTE BURKART, SNDDeN

One of Compassionate Fremont's goals is to highlight the goodness in our community. Following the example of the City Council standing in solidarity with other sanctuary cities, Compassionate Fremont is joining other cities in the Bay Area by taking a stand against hate. Compassionate Fremont has made a limited number of posters.

This movement, begun in Berkeley, has been joined by Oakland, Piedmont, Richmond, Castro Valley, Alameda and Albany. Mayor Jesse Arreguin, recognizing that his city has become a free speech battleground said, “we have great concerns that extremists will show up and engage not only in hate speech, but violence. So, we’re standing up to hate.” Berkeley artists Lena Wolff and Miriam Stahl reflect on their work: “[We wanted a] simple, strong statement that affirmed our unity as a city because, in general, most citizens here oppose the kinds of bigotry spreading through the nation since Donald Trump’s election—we wanted to emphasize our unity, which is why we went big and bold in the design in the poster.”

This theme will also be the focus of our next ‘Finding Common Ground’ event on Tuesday, November 7 at the Fremont Public Library. We cannot allow hate to permeate our community and divide us. We must take a stand and renew our commitment to “Treat others the way we want to be treated.” You are invited to hear the personal stories of people in our own community who have experienced hate. This is an opportunity to broaden our understanding of how insidious hatred is, how our neighbors have been targeted and what implications this has for us. Join us.

Man builds 2-story ‘Star Wars’ vehicle replica for Halloween

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PARMA, Ohio (AP) — A two-story, “Star Wars”-inspired Halloween yard display in Ohio should be enough to make any trick-or-treating Darth Vader proud.

Nick Meyer has built a replica four-legged All Terrain Armored Transport, or AT-AT walker, nearly as tall as his Parma home. Meyer tells Cleveland.com he used wood, hard foam and plastic barrels. He says he enjoys the “Star Wars” movies but isn’t a fanatic and simply thought the display would be unique.

He’s not the only Ohioan continuing a habit of massive Halloween yard displays.

In Lorain, Ricky Rodriguez and his wife built what looks like a massive digging machine poking up through their driveway, surrounded by rock debris and skeletons. Rodriguez tells The Chronicle-Telegram that it’s made of wood and took six weeks to create.

LIFE ElderCare speaks about aging and falls

SUBMITTED BY PATRICIA OSAGE AND SHERRI PLAZA

There’s never one day when suddenly we become an “older adult.” Rather, all of us are aging all the time. If we do it with care and knowledge, it’s a wonderful experience.

One way is to prevent injury as we go about our home doing ordinary activities. And that’s because it really doesn’t take much to fall and do some serious harm. Basic moves we’re so used to doing that we don’t even think about — getting up from a chair, stepping into the tub, or even just walking from one room to another — can lead to slips, falls, or stumbles.

When we’re 60-something, that can lead to consequences we do not want: days in the hospital, months doing rehab, or years of lost vitality. However, we are in luck! Because it also doesn’t take much to prevent those kinds of falls.

LIFE ElderCare is a great local resource in fall prevention and can teach anyone age 62 or older in Fremont, Union City, Newark, Hayward, Castro Valley or San Leandro. LIFE is especially good for those who have a hard time getting out to their local community centers for exercise, because LIFE can come to you. LIFE uses a licensed physical therapist, Rachael Morales, to help incorporate balance and strengthening movements into your usual daily activities. LIFE can also walk through your rooms with you to figure out simple fixes, such as better lighting or securing loose rugs to make your home safer.

Some people may need grab bars or shower benches and LIFE can professionally install those as well, free of charge. They do it in partnership with Home Safety Services, a local home modification company.

For this year’s Fall Prevention Awareness Week in late September, Home Safety installed simple, but key, modifications for Vilma, age 80 and Louis Fernandez, age 90, who are enrolled in the LIFE fall prevention program. Those little grab bars can make all the difference between hurt and prevention.

Vilma and Louis practice their exercises regularly, too. They know they are getting stronger: Louis can get out of his chair without any help now, and Vilma noted, “One day I started to lose my balance, but I didn’t fall. It’s because of the ‘angel’ exercise!”

Follow Vilma and Louis’s lead on keeping it safe and strong: Exercise, get your eyes checked regularly, review medications with your doctor or LIFE staff, and change things in your home to make sure it’s a safe place to live.

Contact LIFE ElderCare to learn more about fall prevention and their other great services. They offer a lot to help to improve the quality of life for older adults.

That’s really what everybody wants, regardless of age, right? For details, call (510) 574-2090 or send an email to info@LifeElderCare.org or visit their website at www.LifeElderCare.org.

Harry Potter exhibit marks 20th anniversary of first book

BY DANICA KIRKA
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON (AP), Harry Potter fans owe a debt of gratitude to Alice Newton.

Alice was 8 years old when her father, a Bloomsbury Publishing executive, brought home a new manuscript for her to read.

“The excitement in this book made me feel warm inside,” she scrawled in a note to her dad. “I think it is probably one of the best books an 8/9 year old could read.”

Based on this glowing review, Bloomsbury published “Harry Potter and the Philosopher’s Stone,” launching a literary juggernaut that brought magic to a generation of children.

Alice’s penciled note is part of the British Library’s new exhibition, “Harry Potter: A History of Magic.” The show, which coincides with the 20th anniversary of the publication of J.K. Rowling’s first book, is an unabashed celebration of the stories and their antecedents.

“There are some rich historical traditions behind the magic in the Harry Potter stories, which J.K. Rowling was aware of,” said Alexander Lock, one of the exhibit curators, who added that he was impressed with Rowling’s ability to layer information and offer depth. “They go into the stories and make them so rich.”

The exhibit, which opened Oct. 20, includes Rowling’s outline for the book, her personal drawings of characters and a map of Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry.

It also looks at magic and the nature of belief, revealing that many of the things Harry Potter fans thought were imaginary were based in fact — or folklore. It includes rare books and manuscripts from around the world, together with cauldrons, broomsticks, crystal balls and potion manuals that offer insight into Rowling’s inspiration and how the books came to be.

“I’ve taken liberties with folklore,” Rowling says in a video that opens the show. The show is divided into rooms based on the subjects studied at Hogwarts, the setting for Rowling’s novels following the adventures of Harry, the orphan who learns at age 11 that he is a wizard. Sections include Potions, Herbology, Divination, Care of Magical Creatures and Defense Against the Dark Arts.

Each section touches on the legends and beliefs that Rowling wove into her stories, with historical objects illustrating the scholarship behind the narrative.

The potions section, for example, features a Bronze Age/Iron Age Battersea Cauldron on loan from the British Museum. It sits beneath cauldron light fixtures that flicker in the subdued light and offer the viewer a chance to get into the Halloween-like aura of it all.

There is also a discussion of alchemy, the medieval forerunner of chemistry, and features the Ripley Scroll, a six-meter (yard) long manuscript from the 1500s that describes how to make a Philosopher’s Stone.

Nearby is the tombstone of Nicolas Flamel, a real alchemist who features as a character in Rowling’s first book, and various witch accoutrements. An astronomy display includes a celestial globe made in 1693 — as well as 21st-century augmented reality technology supplied by Google Arts & Culture to help visitors examine the ancient constellations that gave their names to key Harry Potter characters, such as Sirius Black and Draco Malfoy.

Being hosted at the British Library meant the exhibition featured some amazing books — on palmistry, tea leaf reading and, of course, witches.

Tanya Kirk, another co-curator, said working on the exhibit gave her a whole new appreciation of witches. “I think all of the things I learned about witches is that they get quite a bad rap through history, and it was quite hard to find positive accounts,” she said with a laugh. “The Harry Potter books have done a lot to change that.”

The exhibition runs through Feb. 28, 2018 and has already sold some 30,000 tickets — the highest amount of advance tickets ever sold for a British Library exhibition. It will then travel to New York to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the release of “Harry Potter and the Sorcerer’s Stone,” the book’s title in the United States.

Got old phones? Here’s how to reuse, recycle or sell them

BY BARBARA ORTUTAY
AP TECHNOLOGY WRITER

NEW YORK (AP), — It’s natural to get the phone-upgrade itch when the likes of Apple, Samsung and others keep coming out with newer models. And sometimes your old phone is just kaput.

But what do you do with a serviceable but outdated gadget? Rather than relegate an old phone to a desk drawer, consider reusing, recycling or reselling it. Of course, there’s also the option to donate. Here’s a guide for figuring out what you might do with last year’s model (or even older ones).

Donate to charity

Several charities accept old phones as a donation. But these groups probably won’t physically give your old phones to people in need. Instead, they’ll often sell your phone to recyclers and keep the money.

A nonprofit group called Cell Phones for Soldiers will take your “gently used” phone and sell it to a recycling company. It will then use the proceeds to buy international calling cards for soldiers so they can talk to their loved ones back home.

The National Coalition Against Domestic Violence works in a similar manner. About 60 percent of the phones it collects are refurbished and resold. The money goes toward supporting the coalition. The remaining 40 percent of the phones are recycled, according to the group’s website. It pays for shipping if you are mailing three or more phones. The group also accepts other electronics such as laptops, video game systems and digital cameras.

Sell that phone

Once new models come out, older ones will flood onto eBay and other resale sites, so it might make sense to wait a little. How much money you can make off your old phone depends on the brand and how much wear and tear it’s seen.

The resale site Gazelle, for example, is offering $140 for a Verizon-ready Samsung Galaxy S7 in “good” condition. What does “good” mean? The phone has no cracks on the screen or body, powers on and makes calls, and is free of major scratches or scuffs. A “flawless” phone that looks like it’s never been used will land you $15 more. A 128GB iPhone 7 in good condition, meanwhile, will get you $305, at least for an AT&T version. For a Sprint-ready phone, it’s $275.

eBay is a bit more complicated. If you’re already a seller in good standing and meet certain standards, you may qualify for a “price guarantee” promotion that will get you $515.26 for the above AT&T 128GB iPhone. Otherwise, eBay says you can get $280 through the company’s “quick sale” program.

The video game retailer GameStop also accepts old phones for trade-in, offering either store credit or cash.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: OCTOBER 25 - OCTOBER 31

For All Signs: Our largest planet, Jupiter, moved into the sign of Scorpio on October 10, 2017, and will remain in that sign for a full year. Jupiter is the planet of expansion, optimism, philosophy, travel and education. It generally represents improvements and growth in whatever department of life it touches. Its last sojourn through Scorpio occurred during Nov. 2005 through Nov. 2006, so review that era of your life for comparison. Jupiter's change of signs affects everyone, but is perceived in a different way, depending upon the sun and ascendant signs at birth. They both apply, so if you know your ascendant (rising sign), you may read and apply two zodiac signs below. Otherwise check your sun sign.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): During the next year, gain comes to you through areas of shared financial resources. These may include: compensation from insurance or other group holdings, increases in partner's income, sale of property, gains through inheritance or gifts, increase in the value of stocks, bonds or other mutually held property, or tax benefits. Debts owed to you will be paid, whether financial or favors. Intimate life is on the upswing.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): The year brings improvements in all your most intimate relationships. This may be the year to get married or develop a beneficial business partnership. Those with client bases will note considerable expansion. The period is favorable for attracting positive assistance through professional consultants, e.g., doctors, counselors, etc. Travel and/or education are on the increase.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Jupiter will increase the physical vitality, heal anomalies, and offer improvements in work conditions. Relationships to coworkers will be enhanced and equipment may be updated. This is the time to look for a better job (or it may find you). Any type of self-improvement program, but especially those relating to the physical body, will have highly beneficial results. Many will adopt pets.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): The time has come to relax and let yourself remember how to play. All types of creative work will be enhanced and those with children will find greater satisfaction and a more rewarding relationship in the next year. Those who want children or a new love affair will likely be granted their wish. Give yourself permission to explore new possibilities in creative self-expression.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): This year Jupiter will bring improvements to your domestic life. This may manifest in a new home or other property, such as a car. It especially favors home decorating or expansion projects. Domestic problems of the past may be improved or resolved during this period. Opportunities to improve and augment relationships to the family of origin will be presented.

Virgo the 0Virgin (August 23-September 22): During the next year opportunities for travel will probably increase. Relationships with siblings, roommates and/or neighbors will be more rewarding and your overall daily attitude becomes more optimistic. Focus of attention on communication (written or oral) will be highlighted. Educational opportunities are attractive and expanded. You may become a teacher in your field.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): You will likely have improvements in financial income or other personal resources. This may develop either as the result of general good luck or increased effort. Optimistic attitudes concerning money could lead you to overextend resources. Your sense of self-esteem is increased by several notches as you demonstrate what you have learned in recent years.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Jupiter in your sign will lighten any load, renew your sense of optimism and reinforce your self-esteem. Help and cooperation of others will be more available to you, especially if you make your requests in person. The spiritual dimension of your life will improve and travel or education becomes more prominent. The only difficulty with this transit is the tendency for weight gain.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Over the next year any effort toward becoming more acquainted with the deeper parts of yourself will be well rewarded. Positive results can be achieved through psychotherapy, dream work, meditation, hypnosis and/or prayer. Assistance will come to you through unexpected (and possibly mysterious) sources. Your desire to contribute to the greater social good will increase and yield good "karma."

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): Effort invested in organizational or group social causes will be returned in bounty. Networking with friends and acquaintances may play an active role toward helping you attain personal goals in life. Relationships with stepchildren (and more generally to other people's children) will improve and become a source of pleasure. Corporate financial resources may increase.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Any reasonable effort in the areas of profession, career or social status should meet with favorable results during the next few months. There may be additional travel, or educational/teaching opportunities associated with career endeavors. Relationships to superiors will be more supportive. Opportunities develop to improve relationships with the family of origin.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): Jupiter augurs improvements and good fortune through any or all of the following: legal or ethical issues, contacts with foreign lands or people who live at a distance, the internet, higher education, teaching, publishing and long distance travel. Events of the next year will broaden your perspective on all of life and expand your sense of connection to a larger circle.

Study: Lower-income kids give more time to TV, digital media

BY LYNN ELBER
ASSOCIATED PRESS
TELEVISION WRITER

LOS ANGELES (AP), Children in lower-income families spend more time watching TV and using electronic devices than kids in more affluent homes, according to a survey released Oct. 19.

The report by the nonprofit group Common Sense Media on the viewing habits of more than 1,400 children nationwide age 8 and under found that less-affluent youngsters spend nearly three-and-a-half hours daily watching TV and using varied devices including smartphones, tablets, laptops and video game players.

By comparison, kids in higher-income homes spend just under two hours on such activities. The offspring of better-educated parents also spend less time with media (1 hour, 37 minutes) compared with children of those with less education (2 hours, 50 minutes).

“Before we can begin to understand the impact of media and technology on kids and families, we have to better understand their attitudes and behaviors,” James P. Steyer, the nonprofit group’s CEO and founder, and Reveta Franklin

Bowers, chair of its board, said in a preface to the report.

The survey found that Latino parents expressed the most concern about what their children are exposed to in media, including sex, violence and racial and gender stereotypes. African-American parents voiced somewhat less concern, with white parents expressing the least worry among ethnic groups. Most parents overall said their children’s use of digital media helps boost learning and creativity.

The time youngsters spend reading or being read to has remained steady at 30 minutes daily, compared with previous studies in 2011 and 2013. But fewer than half (43 percent) of children under 2 are read to each day, counter to the American Academy of Pediatrics recommendation that reading to kids should begin at infancy to help develop language and literacy skills.

Nearly half (49 percent) of children are watching TV or using electronic media shortly before bedtime, contrary to the academy’s recommendation of an hour gap between such activities and sleep.

According to its conclusion, the survey “should not be read as a judgment on the quality of children’s time with media; rather, it is a snapshot of how media and technology are infused into daily life. Additional experimental and qualitative work is essential to better understanding the full implications of children’s media use.”

Other key findings:

- Children 8 and younger spend an average of 2 hours, 19 minutes daily with screen media, about the same as in prior study years. TV gets the lion’s share, 58 minutes, but mobile has risen rapidly from 5 minutes daily in 2011 to 48 minutes in 2017.

- The “digital divide” is narrower but still exists between more and less affluent families. Home computers and internet access were found in 72 percent and 74 percent, respectively, of low-income homes, compared with 97 percent and 96 percent for higher-income families.

- In a surprising twist, children pick “old-fashioned” paper books over digital reading. Only three of the 29 minutes that kids spend reading each day are on electronic devices.

HISTORY

Mysterious explosion of 1935 leveled school

John Muir School as it appeared in 1934, just about a year before it was destroyed by fire.

By JOHN CHRISTIAN

Around 3:15 a.m. on the morning of April 26, 1935, gasoline vapors and superheated fire extinguishers erupted in a blast that rocked Hayward residents. John Muir School had burst into flames, but two patrolling Hayward police officers reported it at once.

The Hayward Fire Department arrived in a flash, but to their horror, no fire hydrant stood within reach. The nearest one was blocks away on Jackson Street. As firefighters fought the flames they witnessed “huge columns of heavy black smoke mushroom into the sky after each explosion.” After a few hours the fire was out, but Muir was a total loss. Nobody was in the building and no injuries were reported.

An investigation led Hayward Fire Chief Manual Riggs to conclude, “there is no doubt that...the blaze was of incendiary origin.” In other words—arson. Riggs told the paper he believed a fire set just minutes before at the Oakland Speedway (now the site of Bayfair Mall) was set by the same arsonist to draw Hayward’s Fire Department out of town before setting Muir School ablaze. Many people were interrogated but the arsonist was never found, and Riggs’ theory was never proven.

At the time of the Muir explosion, the Great Depression was making it made it difficult for the school district to hire workers. To clean up the rubble, the district turned to California’s State Emergency Relief Administration (SERA). More than 20 SERA workers took down the charred remains of the 1922 school house to clear the way for the school’s rebuilding.

The cost to rebuild the school was going to be $75,000. School administrators knew they could not ask residents (reeling from high unemployment) to ante up more tax dollars, so the school district petitioned the Works Progress Administration (WPA), that eventually provided most of the needed funds.

E.P. Whitman, selected to be designer of the new John Muir School, already had several schools to his credit, as well as the Hayward City Hall on Mission Boulevard. Perhaps the most important feature of the new school was a 4-inch, high pressure fire hydrant installed just a short distance from the entrance.

The new John Muir School opened November 1936, welcoming students and the community alike. Even in the depths of the Great Depression, Hayward residents took pride in the new school—turning a tragedy into a celebration of civic achievement.

If you are interested in researching local history please visit the Hayward Area Historical Society at 22380 Foothill Boulevard in downtown Hayward. Visit our website haywardareahistory.org or call (510) 581-0223 for more information.

My Will and My Life

Original play at Broadway West

SUBMITTED BY MARY GALDE

“My Will and My Life” is an original play by Harry Cronin about a beloved Franciscan priest, Father Mychal Judge. He was the Chaplain for the NYC Fire Department on September 11, 2001 when the World Trade Center was attacked. He was the first registered death of 9/11. Mychal was killed at Ground Zero doing what he had dedicated his life to doing, trying to selflessly relieve suffering and comfort others. He was also an alcoholic in recovery and worked tirelessly to help other alcoholics achieve sobriety.

The play takes place at an AA meeting in NYC, close to Ground Zero a few weeks after 9/11. George is reluctantly speaking at the meeting. He has been asked to speak in the place of Father Mychal, who had been scheduled to speak that night. George is a NYC fireman and was with Mychal when he was killed. George takes us on a journey that brings to life his relationship with Mychal; Mychal had helped George get sober and face other challenges in his life, including dealing with being a closeted and tortured gay man.

The play focuses on spirituality as an instrument of healing and the myriad ways in which human beings can help each other. It is a beautiful authentic story that honors the memory and work of Mychal Judge, exploring the power of love and compassion as an instrument of service. The play explores the connection between honesty, humility, and redemption.

Directed by Christopher P. Kelly, John Tranchitella will be performing “My Will and My Life” at Broadway West on Friday and Saturday, November 3 and 4. The play is a fundraiser for Broadway West and admission is just $10 at the door, with refreshments included.

Russia-backed Facebook page colored with hot-button phrases

By RYAN NAKASHIMA AND LARRY FENN, ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP), What does Russia-sponsored political influence look like on Facebook?

An Associated Press analysis of the content on a now-shuttered Facebook page called “Being Patriotic” shows it’s colored with words like “illegal,” “country” and “American” and phrases like “illegal alien,” “Sharia law” and “Welfare state.”

“Being Patriotic” was among 470 pages and accounts that Facebook shut down in recent weeks in response to a congressional probe into Russian meddling in last year’s election.

While Facebook says it deleted the posts this week, the AP was able to perform a content analysis based on the 500 most popular posts on the page, which was one of six Russia-influenced Facebook pages examined by Jonathan Albright, research director at the Tow Center for Digital Journalism at Columbia University.

Albright downloaded posts and metrics including the pages’ followers and interactions using Facebook’s analytics tool, CrowdTangle. The company has since disabled that functionality for deleted posts.

Alameda County Library investigates cybersecurity incident

SUBMITTED BY ALICIA REYES

The Alameda County Library is investigating a cybersecurity incident involving the names and addresses of an unknown number of library patrons. On September 11, 2017, the Library was contacted by perpetrators who provided a list of approximately 35 Library patron names and addresses. The perpetrators claimed to have this information for the Library’s entire database of users, and threatened to sell the information.

The data provided to the Library did not contain additional personal information that the Library collects, such as birthdate, driver’s license number, or e-mail. The Library never collects social security numbers, financial or credit/debit card information, or medical information. The Library reported the incident to law enforcement and is continuing to investigate exactly how many library card holders are affected.

“Library patrons and taxpayers have every right to expect that their personally identifiable information is protected. We are committed to finding out how this happened and to prevent it from happening again. We are in communication with other public libraries to help raise awareness of this potential threat to public library systems,” said Cindy Chadwick, County Librarian.

Alameda County Library has mailed letters to the 35 known affected patrons and has set up a dedicated page on its website to provide updates about this incident. Library patrons can visit <https://www.aclibrary.org/content/frequently-asked-questions> for more information.

East Bay hoopsters volunteer at food bank

SUBMITTED BY JASON BROWN

Members from the Cal State East Bay men’s basketball team recently joined with the Alameda Food Bank to help provide healthy foods to low-income residents of the area.

The Food Bank was founded in 1977 by a group of concerned local citizens who saw the need in the community for a source of free food for those in need. Junior point guard Juwan Anderson enjoyed his opportunity to give back to the Alameda community. “I love being able to help the less fortunate and making an impact in the bay with my teammates” said Anderson. “It is creating that bond and memories we will never forget.”

Originally the Food Bank operated out of a closet in the back room of a church. Two or three volunteers served an average of 35 individual recipients per month during the few years that the Food Bank closet was open. As word of the Food Bank’s services spread within the community, the number of recipients and volunteers steadily increased.

Today, more than 150 volunteers work with the food bank to serve more than 5,600 individual recipients from the facility’s 2,200-square-foot main distribution center and its 10,000-square-foot warehouse.

The food bank is at 1900 Thau Way in Alameda and is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and the second, third and fourth Saturday of each month, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. For details, call (510) 523-5850.

Home & Garden

Live it up with living walls

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

A jungle is lush and alluring. A concrete jungle is an urban area that can be harsh, unattractive, and devoid of greenery. The East Bay is far from being a concrete jungle, yet there is a sense that it might be heading that way with the explosion in development. Fortunately, there are living walls that put the emphasis back on the “jungle” rather than the “concrete” chunk of the word.

A living wall is a form of gardening that is vertical. A living wall can cover an entire facade of a multistory building, the total run of a fence, or a small section of an interior or exterior wall. Any living wall transforms a lifeless structure into a living and functional art piece, regardless of its size or location.

Outside, a living wall can provide shelter for birds and a fresh habitat for bees and butterflies. A large living wall can mitigate the heat on a wall exposed to direct sunlight, helping to keep the inside of the building or house cooler. It also provides added insulation on colder days that helps to keep warm air inside. A living wall elevates the quality and appeal of any outdoor space. If it faces a public street or square, it allows the community to enjoy it.

An interior living wall can help purify the air and raise humidity levels in a room. This helps to alleviate dry skin, sore throats, and other respiratory ailments. Studies have shown interior plants reduce people's stress and fatigue levels as well improve their overall mental health. An interior living wall makes a creative and dramatic focal point to any room.

All living walls take time to maintain, but the level of maintenance depends on the choice of plants. The easiest exterior living wall to create and maintain is a clinging vine. The vine is planted in the ground and has tiny aerial rootlets that have disc-like adhesive tips that attach themselves into micro crevices of a stucco, brick, cement, or any other masonry wall. These allow the vine to climb and eventually cover a facade. Creeping fig (Ficus pumila) is a slow growing clinging vine that is easy to care for and an attractive choice.

Using other plants for a living wall will require some sort of wall planter. There are many interior and exterior living wall planter options. The best three are Woollypockets (www.woollypockets.com), Vplant plastic wall planters (www.modularlivingwalls.com), and Grovert planters (www.buylivingwalls.com).

A Woollypocket planter is a breathable felt planter made in the USA from recycled materials.

They come in two different sizes: A single planter measures 15 inches tall and 24 inches long, a triple planter measures 15 inches tall and just over five feet long. Each planter has grommets at the top for easy installation with a drill. A living wall is created by attaching the desired number of planters to the space that the creation is to occupy. Once attached to a wall or fence the planters are filled with soil and planted. Woollypockets have an optional impermeable moisture barrier.

Vplant wall planters are V-shaped plastic planters that easily hook together to create a living wall. Each modular planter is 12 inches long, 12 inches wide, and six inches high. They come in white, brown, black, and green. The Vplant wall planter's geometric shape allows them to be assembled in many different patterns on a wall. They can be used indoors and outdoors, and their generous width makes them easy to plant in once hung.

Grovert planters are living wall planters that have individual planting cells that angle down in the back to help avoid soil runoff. They come in a variety of different sizes that can be mounted next to each other to created different size displays. Govert also has smaller planter options that are set in different frames that make them a true piece of living art.

Plants used in any living wall will need to be selected based on their intended environment. The soil sections are parallel to the ground in Woollypockets and Vplanters. These planters are ideal for trailing and upright plants. The Govert planters have a soil surface that is almost perpendicular to the ground. This makes them ideal for planting compact succulents and mosses that form a tightly-knit surface.

Soil is heavy and requires extra support for a living wall, which means additional work and expense. Lyngso Garden Materials in San Carlos (www.lyngsogarden.com/products/light-weight-roof-mix) provides an organic rooftop soil that is created with different growing media that do not absorb water. This reduces the overall weight of the living wall.

All living wall planters are compatible with drip irrigation systems. They are also designed for simple hand watering. Mixing in a liquid fertilizer according to the plants' specifications makes feeding them an easy process as well.

It is a harsh reality that the East Bay is going to continue to be developed with a high density of homes and buildings. A living wall cannot completely hide urban development whether on a residential fence or a high-rise condominium building, but it can soften its edges.

THE ACWD CONNECTION

When weather cools and days are shorter, turf and landscapes require less water. Now is the time to turn down irrigation timers because your lawn and garden needs less water compared to summer months. And remember to turn off your sprinklers when it rains; seasonal irrigation adjustments help save water and money.

Did you know that fall is actually the ideal time to plant your water-efficient garden? By planting during fall, you can take advantage of winter rains and your garden will be ready for springtime.

Need some ideas for your own garden? Come check out our newly designed Water-Efficient Landscape Demonstration Garden to get some gardening inspiration and ideas for both residential and commercial customers located at 43885 S. Grimmer Blvd., Fremont. Visit www.acwd.org/gardening for additional information and online gardening tools.

There are projects of all sizes to choose from. Visitors to the Make a Difference Day website (www.makeadifferenceday.com) can search for projects by zip code. Alongside more traditional activities like planting trees and painting schools, volunteers can package pajamas and diapers for helping young mothers, or raise awareness for breast cancer by snapping a selfie in a tutu (www.makeadifferenceday.com/dashboard/project/world-record-dare2tutu).

Each year, TEGNA awards $140,000 total in grants to 13 National Award winners and one All-Star Award winner with the most inspiring Make A Difference Day Projects, as decided by a panel of judges. Grantees are then free to direct prize funds to charities of their choosing.

Three years ago, the City of Fremont won one of the National City Awards. In fact, Fremont leads the region's efforts on Make A Difference Day with over 100 projects planned this year. During her six-year tenure as Make A Difference Day project lead, Christine Beitsch has seen a dramatic rise in the number of volunteers, from 100 to over 3,000. “My favorite part about our city participating in Make a Difference Day,” says Beitsch, “is that I see clearly how residents serving together erase the divides in our community and cultivate a deeper sense of compassion for what really matters. What scares you?

Halloween Phobias

A phobia (pronounced FO-bee-uh) is an extreme fear of something. Are these things you should really fear, or are they things that just need a little more understanding?

A fear of pumpkins is called cucurbitophobia!

A fear of ghosts is called spectrophobia!

Web Walkers

They're creepy and crawly. And every one of the 40,000 types of spiders (arachnids) in the world have fangs and venom. But most spider venom won't really harm people. The fear of spiders is called arachnophobia.

If you just can't stand spiders, there's really only one continent on Earth that is spider-free. (You'd better bring a heavy coat, though). Circle every third letter to find out the name of this continent.

Watercolor

demonstration planned for art group meeting

SUBMITTED BY SUSAN HELMER

Watercolor painter Rafael DeSoto, Jr. will be the featured guest artist at the Fremont Art Association meeting Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Rafael will be demonstrating his watercolor techniques for painting old wood, rust, and distressed surfaces. He has developed a process involving bold washes and unique, single-stroke brush work to mimic patinas on various surfaces for obtaining painterly results. Shadows and highlights will be strategically applied to various surfaces to make the final painting snap into focus.

DeSoto has been an artist for as long as he can remember. Most of his traditional art training came from his father, a renown and extremely talented New York City illustrator during the mid-20th century. He has worked in a variety of mediums over the years but has found watercolors to be his passion because they always challenge his abilities and force him to be spontaneous. His favorite subject matter includes landscapes, still-life, figures, and portraits.

DeSoto conducts art workshops in his San Carlos studio as well as local venues like University Art in Redwood City and San Jose. He is a member of the Santa Clara Watercolor Association, The Sequoia Art Group, and the Santa Cruz Art League.

DeSoto was a graphic designer and art director for large companies in Silicon Valley during the last 30 years, creating visual communications for print, video, and presentations. Now he is painting full-time while accepting commercial contracts on a limited basis.

Chung Yeung

A JOYOUS CELEBRATION OF ANCESTORS

SUBMITTED BY MARCIE RUSSELL

Chung Yeung Festival, also known as Autumn Remembrance, takes place on the ninth day of the ninth month of the Chinese lunar calendar. The festival is a day to respect and remember ancestors, a practice widely valued by the Chinese.

The practice of ancestor worship is based on three beliefs:

- That a person's good or bad fortune is influenced by the souls of his or her ancestors
- That all departed ancestors have the same material needs they had when alive
- That the departed can assist their living relatives

Chung Yeung begins with a traditional blessing from Buddhist and Taoist monks. Then, 'grave-sweeping' honors the departed by cleaning up the grave and taking the opportunity to make sacrifices of special paper money and paper winter clothing. Afterwards, lion dancers scare away any lingering evil spirits who might want to make mischief. Finally, the Berkeley Kite Wranglers will return with amazing giant flying creatures. Octopi, manta rays, geckos, bears, and more have been known to appear overhead.

Between 500 and 1000 attendees participate each year and come from all backgrounds. It is customary to bring food, chrysanthemum wine, or tea, and picnic onsite. Come and enjoy this ancient tradition that remains today an important part of cultural life in the Chinese community.

Think Fremont

Make a Difference Day is Saturday, October 28

Fremont Residents, Families, Clubs, Schools, Faith Communities, and Nonprofit Organizations Join Together for a "National Day Of Doing Good"

The annual Make A Difference Day, sponsored by the City of Fremont Human Relations Commission, Kaiser, Fremont Bank Foundation, CityServe's Compassion Network, Cargill, and Dale Hardware, is an opportunity for Fremont residents to serve their community in a variety of practical ways. Volunteers can help with activities such as sprucing up parks and community gardens, graffiti removal, beautification projects at participating local schools, yard projects at mobile home parks, trail maintenance, writing thank you notes to veterans, serving at the food bank, feeding the homeless, gathering warm winter clothing for those in need, and much more. Service projects will be available throughout Fremont on Saturday, October 28.

Our City has always considered Make A Difference Day to be a priority. In 2015, Fremont received the "National City Award" and $10,000 from USA Weekend and Newman's Own for going above and beyond in its efforts. Last year's event drew more than 1,700 people who served on 100 projects. All of these projects greatly benefited residents, schools, and religious organizations within Fremont. This year, we already have more than 80 projects planned. We encourage Fremont residents of all ages to create a community service project or sign up to volunteer for someone else's posted project. Opportunities exist for families, for students to earn service hours, and for companies to serve as teams.

If you are unable to volunteer, there are additional opportunities to donate items such as shoes or peanut butter at local drives.

For more information about Make A Difference Day, contact Fremont's Project Manager Christine Beitsch at makeadifferenceday@fremont.gov or 510-574-2099, or visit the local Fremont Make A Difference Day website at www.MakeADifferenceDayFremontca.com to search, submit, or register for a project. The first 1,000 people who sign up and volunteer this year will receive a free Make A Difference Day T-shirt. Keep up-to-date on the Make A Difference Day Facebook page for all the latest information at www.Facebook.com/FremontcaVolunteer.

New Electric Vehicle Chargers in Downtown Fremont

Did you know that Fremont's 94539 zip code is home to more electric vehicle (EV) drivers than any other zip code in California? The City of Fremont is proud to house so many EVs and is excited to announce the installation of more dual-port charging stations in our city!

Nine charging stations (supporting 18 parking spaces) along Capitol Avenue between Paseo Padre Parkway and State Street are now operational. The chargers are open to the public and charge a fee of $1.50/hour. These nine stations add to the existing six chargers on Capitol Avenue between State Street and Fremont Boulevard to supply a total of 30 EV parking spaces in Downtown Fremont.

The City remains committed to providing additional opportunities for residents to charge their vehicles throughout Fremont, further encouraging the transition to EVs and decreasing community greenhouse gas emissions.

I need a Forever Home

We are full to the brim of cats and kittens.
We have no open cage space. To try and make some room we are going to be offering $20 cat adoptions to qualified homes through the remainder of October.

Curly is a 5 month old kitten with luxurious black fur, huge green eyes and black and white whiskers. He's been waiting patiently for a loving forever home since June. Curly would love a home where he can sit in the sun, and have a comfy lap to lounge on. Info: Hayward Animal Shelter. (510) 293-7200.

Singer is a 7 month old sweetheart who's loving and outgoing. He's also a wonderful vocalist (hence the name). Looking for a conversationalist? Look no further than this love bug. Meet Singer at the PetsMart adoption center, Bayfair Mall in San Leandro. Info: Hayward Animal Shelter. (510) 293-7200.

Festival celebrates importance of science

BY ZOYA HAJEE

Science and technology are among the various fields that affect the quality and pace of daily life. In the Bay Area, thousands of scientists work every day to discover the mechanisms of the world, and members of the community have a responsibility to be informed about recent findings and inventions. However, with restricted access to the labs and facilities in which this work occurs, it becomes difficult to remain engaged in this exploration of the world. The “Bay Area Science Festival” combats this issue through the organization of over 50 events targeting more than 50,000 participants, many of whom have limited access to scientific resources. Eight years ago, four cities collaborated to form a science festival as an experiment to see if a celebration of science in the community would be possible. Before long, the Science Festival Alliance, composed of UC San Diego, Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Museum, The Franklin Institute, and UC San Francisco, received funding from the National Science Foundation to develop this festival as a form of informal science education. The Bay Area Science Festival then became part of a growing movement of the celebration of science across the country. As of last year, there were 247 organizations in the festival hosting exhibits and planning the event, including NASA, Berkeley, and Stanford. Held this year from October 26 – November 11, the Bay Area Science Festival strives to encourage youth to explore the role of science in the world outside of the classroom and convey the message that the investment and support for scientific resources is crucial. “[The science festival] is an opportunity to do hands-on activities, learn something new, and meet students, faculty, and staff who are passionate about answering questions about the world around them and often using what they learn to help others,” said Dr. Danika LeDuc, Associate Dean of the College of Science at Cal State East Bay. “Events like these are meant to demystify STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) and show how these fields are exciting and connect to each and every one of us.” On Saturday, October 28, the community is invited to attend the Bay Area Science Festival’s “Discovery Day” at Cal State East Bay. Participants can explore around 50 attractions, including a Chemistry Magic Show, Fossil Casting, Robot in Action, Computer Simulation, and many other hands-on activities, experiments, and lectures. Various scientists and engineers will be present to guide participants through their demonstrations and talk to the community about the latest ongoings in their work. There will be activities for participants of all ages; the event is an opportunity for everyone to rekindle their curiosity and enthusiasm about science. “In today’s society, politics seem to demean scientific findings,” said Festival Director Kishore Hari. “This is a way to meet your neighbors, these scientists and engineers, that are working hard to improve our way of life.” Through meaningful interactions with scientists in various fields of science, participants will understand the importance of science in daily life and be inspired to pursue STEM fields in the future. Admission and parking to the event is free; all members of the community are invited to interact with professionals and experience the exciting phenomenons of science. Cal State East Bay has hosted this festival since 1974, and has continued the tradition biennially. They believe it is their responsibility to promote this engaging form of learning, as science is not restricted to what students learn in the classroom. “Science impacts our daily lives in a variety of ways, including through the technologies we use, our health care, and how we interact with the natural environment,” said Dr. Jason Singley, Dean of the College of Science. “Understanding science is part of being an informed and contributing member of society.” Attending Discovery Day allows the community to remain knowledgeable about scientific findings and connect with others to engage in a dialogue about the importance of science in everyday life. To learn more about Discovery Day, visit www.csueastbay.edu/science-festival. For more information on the Bay Area Science Festival and all local events, visit www.bayareascience.org.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Right on! Mr. Reimer

As a 1979/BA and 1981/MS graduate of CSUH [Cal State University Hayward], along with my daughters, “85/BS and ’88/BS, we were incensed to receive an application to order (payment required) a new diploma with CSUEB [Cal State University East Bay]. President Norma Rees was responsible for the name change, and in an article dated January 27, 2005, Peter Y Hong of the Los Angeles Times, lists her ‘reasons.’

- “The campus president, Norma Rees, pushed for the school between San Jose and Oakland to adopt the new name, which she says better reflects the region it serves.

- University officials also claimed that the city of Hayward’s lingering, but no longer deserved, reputation as a run-down postwar suburb hurt the campus’ image. Many locals and students are incensed that the Cal State Board of Trustees unanimously approved Rees’ proposal.

Hayward residents see the change as an insult to the blue-collar roots of the city. Bring back CSUHayward!

Clay demonstration highlights art association meeting

ARTICLE AND PHOTO SUBMITTED BY
GAIL NOETH

Highlighting the Golden Hills Art Association’s next meeting on Thursday, Nov. 2 will be a clay demonstration by artist Eileen Morrison. Morrison was born in China but grew up in Taiwan. Being an artist was her sole dream from a very early age. Her vision has always been on the beautiful landscapes of China and the United States. She loves setting down on canvas or other art forms, such as ceramics, the fantastic shapes, colors and dramatic beauty of these countries. She began her art career at the age of 7, studying Chinese watercolor under the guidance of Professor Fu Chuan-fu, one of Taiwan’s top watercolor artists. In conjunction with her studies of watercolor and oil painting during the 1960s, she also studied ceramics in Taiwan. In 1987 Morrison relocated to the United States and began studying at Ohlone College in Fremont. She graduated with honors and a Fine Arts degree in 1991. She received certificates in both ceramics and painting in 1993. At the same time, she worked on perfecting glass fusion techniques. She also worked as an assistant in the college arts department until her retirement. Currently Morrison continues her work in ceramics, glass and painting at her studio at her home. She is a member of the Olive Hyde Art Guild and an exhibiting member of the Associate Ceramic Glass Association (ACGA). She also teaches various art courses at a private grade school in Fremont.

Supervisor Cortese remembers Day on the Bay 2017

SUBMITTED BY
JANICE ROMBECK

Before the 8th Annual Day on the Bay slips into memory, I want to take a moment to say thank you to those who organized, produced and supported another successful event.

First, I and my staff owe the deepest gratitude to our guests—the nearly 10,000 who came to Alviso Marina County Park on October 8 by car, bicycle or on foot to enjoy the multicultural festival.

Our event is multicultural because we reach out to many diverse groups and agencies to provide entertainment and to join our Resource Fair. And we're planning to reach out to more next year. We want to be truly representative of the vibrant cultures and communities that make up Santa Clara County.

But the real measure of a multicultural event is in the diversity of those who attend. Walking through the crowd and seeing people representing all ages and ethnic and cultural groups, backgrounds and walks of life, reminded me that we live in a very special place. That's something to celebrate.

A special thanks also goes to the County Parks Department for the hard work in planning, setting up and managing 2017 Day on the Bay. Thanks also to the Santa Clara County Firefighters for grilling the 4,500 free hamburgers and veggie burgers.

For the second year, I joined Bike to the Bay along with dozens of other bicyclists who rode the 8.5 miles to the festival along the Guadalupe River Park Trail. Thank you to San Jose Bike Party for organizing Bike to the Bay and to the Silicon Valley Bicycle Coalition for operating the Bike Valet service.

Next, thank you to all the volunteers who came from local high schools, community colleges and the Silicon Valley Career Technical Education Fire Science and Law Enforcement Program. They were ready to jump in to whatever we needed. Starting from 7 a.m., they helped sign in our Resource Fair participants and unloaded their boxes, operated our water stations and pumpkin patch, distributed the hamburgers and veggie burgers, and helped set up and break down the canopies and tables, and whatever else came up throughout the day.

And we're so thankful to have our special volunteers who served as emcees on our stages: Sam Van Zandt, Jona Denz-Hamilton and Megan Williams. And also, a big thanks to Mix 106/94.5 Bay for promoting our event.

Thank you to all the others who volunteered their time and talent to make our event a success, including the performers who danced, sang and made music at our Pumpkin and Trail stages, and to the 130 nonprofit organizations, government agencies and County Departments who provided information about their services and made some important connections with festival guests. Thank you to our Public Health Department for providing the flu shots.

We're also grateful for the generosity of our donors who provide the giveaway prizes, and again this year, Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Education and Recreation provided our kayaks and supervision as our guests paddled along the Alviso waterway to the Bay.

We couldn't put on this event every year without our generous sponsors. We are so grateful for their support. Thank you to our Gold Sponsors: Santa Clara County Firefighters, Santa Clara County Public Health, Mix 106/94.5 Bay, San Jose Bike Party, McDonald's, Santa Clara Family Health Plan, El Observador, Bytes & Notes and the Health Trust.

I also want to thank the Sheriff's Office, Park Department staff and George Mayne Elementary School for letting us use their parking lot.

Believe it or not, we're already planning 2018 Day on the Bay, so please let me know what you liked and what you think we could do better. You can contact my office at 408-299-5030 or email me at dave.cortese@bos.sccgov.org.

ASYLUM INMATES OVERRUN NEWARK NEIGHBORHOOD FOR HALLOWEEN

SUBMITTED BY DARIN DINIS

If you’re looking for something spooky to do this Halloween, check out one of Newark’s favorite scary attractions. Newark’s annual haunted house is under construction and will be available for all to experience. Always a huge fan of Halloween, creator, Darin Dinis, brings scary magic to the holiday. To inject new life into the perennial day of spooks and ghouls, Dinis constructs a neighborhood haunt out of his workshop on Munyan Street. This is not an overnight effort, he typically starts planning and construction as early as June.

This is the fifth year of this haunted holiday tradition. Each year the attraction is created around a different theme; this year, “Asylum for the Insane” will welcome trepidation-rid-dled visitors.

The Asylum will be “accepting inmates” on the 27th, 28th and 31st starting around nightfall. Admission is free but donations are accepted. Donations go to St. Jude’s Children’s Hospital, and toward maintaining the haunt.

Little children are welcome, but the Asylum is best suited for ages 7 and up. Parents are advised to use their best judgement.

The Asylum is waiting to greet new friends and renew old acquaintances alike!

Police hosting Prescription Drug Take Back Day

SUBMITTED MILPITAS PD

On Saturday, Oct. 28, the Milpitas Police Department is partnering with the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) on its 14th National Prescription Drug Take Back Day. The event is designed to give the public an opportunity to prevent pill abuse and theft by ridding their homes of potentially dangerous expired, unused, and unwanted prescription drugs.

People are encouraged to bring their unneeded medications for disposal to the Milpitas Police Department between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Most prescription drugs, including pills and patches are eligible for the event, however liquids, needles or sharps cannot be accepted. The service is free and anonymous, with no questions asked.

This initiative addresses a vital public safety and public health issue. Medicines that languish in home cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse, and abuse. Rates of prescription drug abuse in the U.S. are alarmingly high, as are the number of accidental poisonings and overdoses due to these drugs.

For more information about the disposal of prescription drugs or about the Oct.28 Take Back Day event, go to the DEA Diversion website: <http://www.deadiversion.usdoj.gov/>

EPA moves to rescind Obama plan to slow global warming

BY MATTHEW DALY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP), – The Trump administration is moving to roll back the centerpiece of President Barack Obama's efforts to slow global warming, seeking to ease restrictions on greenhouse gas emissions from coal-fired power plants.

In a plan expected to be made public in coming days, the Environmental Protection Agency declared the Obama-era rule exceeded federal law by setting emissions standards that power plants could not reasonably meet. The Associated Press obtained a copy of the 43-page document, which underscored President Donald Trump's bid to revive the struggling coal industry.

The EPA's new proposal would make good on Trump's campaign pledge to unravel Obama's efforts to curb global warming and follows Trump's promise to pull the United States out of the landmark Paris climate agreement. Nearly 200 countries have committed to combat global warming by reducing carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases that contribute to global warming.

The EPA won't prescribe an immediate replacement to the plan, but will seek public comment on whether to curb climate-warming emissions from coal and natural gas power plants.

A spokeswoman for EPA Administrator Scott Pruitt declined to comment Friday on the authenticity of the leaked document but said the Obama administration “pushed the bounds of their authority so far” that the U.S. Supreme Court issued a stay to prevent the Clean Power Plan from taking effect.

“Any replacement rule that the Trump administration proposes will be done carefully and properly within the confines of the law,” EPA spokeswoman Liz Bowman said.

The Obama administration's cost-benefits analysis of the Clean Power Plan was “highly uncertain” in multiple areas, Bowman said, vowing that the Trump administration will present a range of scenarios to the public “in a robust, open and transparent way.”

Obama's plan was designed to cut U.S. carbon dioxide emissions to 32 percent below 2005 levels by 2030. The rule dictated specific emission targets for states based on power-plant emissions and gave officials broad latitude to decide how to achieve reductions.

The Supreme Court put the plan on hold last year following a legal challenge by industry and coal-friendly states.

Even so, the plan has been a factor in a wave of retirements of coal-fired plants, which also are being squeezed by lower costs for natural gas and renewable power and state mandates promoting energy conservation.

Repealing the Clean Power Plan without a timeline or a commitment to propose a rule to reduce carbon pollution “isn't a step forward, it's a wholesale retreat from EPA's legal, scientific and moral obligation to address the threats of climate change,” said former EPA Administrator Gina McCarthy.

While the Supreme Court has concluded that EPA is obligated to regulate greenhouse gases, “this administration has no intention of following the law,” said McCarthy, who led the EPA when the Clean Power Plan was completed. “They are denying it just as they are denying the science. They're using stall tactics to defer action, ignoring the courts and the demands of the American people.”

Industry groups cheered the planned repeal, saying it would reverse regulatory overreach by Obama and McCarthy.

“The Clean Power Plan represented an unlawful attempt to transform the nation's power grid ... and raise costs on American consumers,” said Hal Quinn, president and CEO of the National Mining Association.

The Obama-era plan would have sharply reduced the number of coal-fired plants, making the grid more vulnerable to reliability concerns and increasing costs with “trivial environmental benefits,” Quinn said.

The new plan will save an estimated 240 million tons of annual coal production and safeguard more than 27,000 mining jobs and almost 100,000 additional jobs throughout the supply chain, he said.

In the leaked document, the Trump administration argues that repealing the Clean Power Plan could spare an estimated $33 billion in compliance costs in 2030, arguing that the Obama administration overstated the rule's potential health benefits.

Previously, the EPA had estimated that by 2030 the Clean Power Plan would prevent 90,000 asthma attacks and up to 3,600 premature deaths a year.

The leaked document casts doubts on those numbers and says the EPA plans to perform updated modeling and analysis of health benefits and other impacts of the rule.

Liz Perera, climate policy director for the Sierra Club, said repealing the Clean Power Plan “is about one thing and one thing only: helping corporate polluters profit.”

The plan was first reported by Bloomberg News.

As the regular season draws to a close, every game is critical for high school league standings as all local teams try to qualify for the North Coast Section post-season tournament. However, some games take on added importance such as the annual game between the San Lorenzo Rebels and Arroyo (San Lorenzo) Dons. On this occasion, the game is not for all the marbles, but a double-size helmet with each team’s logo imprinted on opposing sides of it. In keeping with the emotional importance of the game on October 16th, both teams were ready for the challenge and battled to the final seconds to hold the helmet for the coming year. In a back and forth contest, the Rebels finally found a few weak spots in the Dons defense late in the game and captured the prized helmet and bragging rights for the year. The Dons promise another spirited battle next year, but for now, post-game jubilation belonged to the Rebels. Final score: Rebels 20, Dons 13.

The Moreau Catholic (Hayward) Mariners varsity football team and John F. Kennedy (Fremont) Titans played a pivotal game for both teams on October 20th. The Mariners came out on top 50-12 and, with the win, took a one game lead in Mission Valley Athletic League standings. Just two games are left in the regular season and the Mariners will have home field advantage in the first round of the upcoming North Coast Section tournament. Faced with a determined Titans squad, the Mariners’ offensive line was up to the challenge and took control from the start, moving down the field, opening holes in the Titan defense and scoring 22 points in the first quarter. The second quarter was no better for the Titans as the Mariners added another touchdown and led at halftime 29-0. Although the second half showed promise for the Titans, a continuing offensive attack by the Mariners added to the deficit and was insurmountable. Final score: Mariners 50, Titans 12.

Coast Guard pulled man from failing duct-taped boat

ASSOCIATED PRESS

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP), Ducks do well in water. A duct-taped boat? Not so much. Broadcast station KTOO reported that the U.S. Coast Guard picked up a 32-year-old man and his dog from an inflatable, duct-taped watercraft when it started to take on water on June 7 in Gastineau Channel near Juneau, Alaska’s capital city.

The Coast Guard reported in a release that the duct-taped boat was homemade. And, the guard said the man, who was not identified, was not wearing a life jacket. An off-duty Coast Guard member saw the unsafe craft and called it in. The Coast Guard delivered the man, dog and boat to Douglas Harbor in Juneau.

Suspect arrested in Mother’s Day fatal traffic collision.

SUBMITTED BY SGT. DANIEL O’CONNELL, FREMONT PD

On September 22, 2017, Fremont Police Traffic Investigators arrested a 22-year-old male for gross vehicular manslaughter. in the May 14, 2017, fatal traffic collision that killed a high school student. On Sunday, May 14, 2017, at approximately 2:30 a.m., 18-year-old Shane Marcelino and her mother were stopped in their Toyota Yaris, on Fremont Blvd. in the left turn lane at Darwin Dr. Shane’s mother had just picked her up from the Logan High School prom and they were returning home. Robert Carroll, a 22-year-old, was driving a Chevy Malibu north bound on Fremont Blvd. and was approaching the intersection of Darwin Dr. As Shane’s mother turned left into the intersection, Carroll’s vehicle traveling north on Fremont Blvd. collided with them. Fremont Police, Fremont Fire, and Paramedics Plus personnel responded to the scene. Shane succumbed to her injuries and was pronounced deceased at the scene. Her mother was transported to a trauma center with serious injuries. The Fremont Police Traffic Division was called out and took over the investigation. At the conclusion of the investigation, it was determined that Shane’s mother had a green signal light and Robert Carroll ran the red-light. At the time of the collision, Robert Carroll was traveling at over 100 mph north bound on Fremont Blvd. Evidence also determined Robert Carroll was driving while intoxicated.

The case was presented to the Alameda County District Attorney’s Office and Robert Carroll was charged with gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated and driving under the influence causing injury, all of which are felonies. A $200,000, warrant was issued for Robert Carroll’s arrest. On Sept. 22, 2017, at approximately 5:30 p.m., officers from the Fremont Police Traffic Division and Special Investigation’s Unit located Robert Carroll in Hollister, California and took him into custody without incident. Robert Carroll was transported to the Fremont Jail where he was booked and later transferred to Santa Rita Jail. Shane Marcelino was an 18-year-old high school senior who had just attended her high school prom to celebrate her high school years. This was the beginning of her adult life, but tragically she was killed by a drunk driver on Mother’s Day.

WILLIAM MARSHAK

An old saying, “The devil is in the details,” has been true for centuries. While lawyers get a bad rap - some of it deserved - they are typically the folks charged with either protecting or evading responsibility through the written and spoken word. Along with specific elements of a statement, intent and accuracy are also of critical importance. Contracts and agreements are often carefully written to include, exclude or ignore important possibilities. Throughout our lives, contracts of words in the thousands confront us and we blithely sign on the dotted line, hoping that these words don’t come back to bite us where it hurts such as in “hell or high water” agreements that demand payment no matter what circumstances may occur.

In government, as in private life, there is heavy reliance by elected officials on staff to sift through the details of an agreement. Can we expect our representatives to give more than a cursory glance over details of lengthy agreements? We do; and even though council/board meetings may suffer periods of interminable questions, we have hired our representatives to use their expertise and common sense to ask and receive answers from those who have prepared and/or presented findings or contracts. However, there is a limit to this and meetings should not be prolonged by repetitive or inane queries that have already been addressed in reports. Sometimes, “quick questions” are not quick and should not be categorized as such. And, in some cases, could have been answered without courtroom theatrics leading to mind-numbing, eye-glazing pedantic oratory. If council sessions turn into an arduous hike through details, maybe staff is not in tune with our representative’s concerns and priorities. On the other hand, council concerns can be real and must find a delicate balance between protection and micromanagement.

In a recent Fremont City Council meeting, a little of each was on display. When confronted with a staff report (responding to previous council direction) to update citywide zoning standards, councilmembers were involved, in tune and contributed in a spirited and reasonable discussion. However, a follow-up agenda item dealing with the creation of a Community Facilities District lapsed into a confusing and unsatisfying question and answer session led by Councilmember Bonaccorsi. Discourse on details should have been resolved previously with much less discussion and more clear-cut answers. Eventually, even Bonaccorsi, a seasoned litigator, grew weary and it fizzled out, concluding with council approval. Did this item illuminate citizens or simply point to a communications problem between council and staff? When the council welcomes two more councilmembers through future district elections, time management will become even more critical than it is now. Such intensive questioning sessions need to be closely monitored.

Dealing with the devil of detail is tricky stuff. There is plenty of literature addressing skillful debate to determine the outcome even when a contract is considered unassailable. The Devil and Daniel Webster, a short story by Stephen Vincent Benet first published in the Saturday Evening Post in 1936, chronicles an encounter with “Mr. Scratch” and a result that is all but certain. A New Hampshire farmer has made a deal with the devil for seven years of prosperity and a three-year extension. At the end of that period, his soul is forfeit to the devil. When the devil comes to collect following the term of the contract, the farmer has second thoughts. He calls on Daniel Webster, a famous orator and lawyer, to negotiate his release. Despite a rigged jury of miscreants, the superb defense of Webster voids the contract. All done with words, emotion and reason beyond that of ordinary persons.

While we don’t expect our representatives to match Daniel Webster’s verbal elegance, we can expect attention to the matters at hand in a reasonable and efficient manner. If lengthy discourse is necessary, then protection of the public is paramount and time will be well spent. However, when matters that do not involve the devil or reach to the soul of our community are considered, staff and council should be prepared for thorough, yet succinct discussion and debate.

Governor orders speedy recovery from wildfires

By JANIE HAR ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP), California Gov. Jerry Brown issued an executive order to speed up recovery as fire authorities say they’ve stopped the progress of wildfires that have killed at least 42 and destroyed thousands of homes in Northern California.

The wind-whipped fires that started Oct. 8 swept through parts of seven counties and is the deadliest and most destructive series of blazes in California history. The fires hit hard the wine country counties of Napa and Sonoma.

Brown issued an order Oct. 18 that allows disrupted wineries to relocate tasting rooms and suspends state fees for mobile home parks and manufactured homes. The order extends the state’s prohibition on price gouging during emergencies until April 2018 and expedites hiring of personnel for emergency and recovery operations.

Meanwhile, crews continued to battle a blaze farther south that broke out Oct. 16, sending smoke to the nearby college beach town of Santa Cruz and injuring seven firefighters. By Oct. 19 it had grown to more than 300 acres and the number of houses under threat had doubled to 300. Seven firefighters sustained minor injuries, stymied by the steep and rugged terrain.

Fireworks complaints prompt reminder from police

SUBMITTED BY
GENEVA BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

Recently, we have received a few complaints about fireworks. We want to remind Fremont residents and businesses that the sale, possession, and use of all types of fireworks are banned within the City of Fremont.

The ban includes the “safe and sane” variety of fireworks (sparklers, fountains, flowers, etc.) that are legal in some other cities. The ban, in effect since December 1986, has helped reduce the number of injuries, wild-land and structure fires caused by fireworks in the City of Fremont.

In California, possession of illegal fireworks is considered a misdemeanor, which is punishable by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $1000 or by imprisonment in a county jail for up to one year.

Anyone who is found to be in possession of enough illegal fireworks, may be guilty of a felony and punished by a fine up to $5000 and/or imprisonment in a state prison or county jail. Parents may be held liable for any damages or injuries caused by their child’s use of illegal fireworks.

Obituary

Regina LePiane

Resident of Fremont

August 24, 1926 ~ October 5, 2017

Our Best Friend, Our Mom
Regina was born to James J. and Harriet A. Dahl in Oakland CA. They moved to San Leandro. She graduated from San Leandro High at 16, and graduated from Cal Berkeley at 20. She took a job for Kaiser Steel Co in Oakland as an Accountant, which she excelled at. At St Mary’s Church dance club in SF she met Eugene LePiane, a former air force officer and electrician for NASA and they were married on April 18, 1953. In 1958 the young couple moved to Fremont CA to start a family. Our mom loved the wide open spaces and farming fields of a young Fremont. When her first child was born she decided to leave her successful accounting job to raise a family. 2 more children would follow over the years. She went to work at Capwells Dept. Store when it opened in Fremont in 1968, which she enjoyed. She loved her coworkers, many fun stories, and remained there for 25 years, retiring in 1993. Our mom ”dedicated’ her life to her children, always there to comfort, teach and inspire us. Whether it was camping at Feather River Camp in Quincy CA, hiking Mission Peak, biking Alameda Creek Trail or simply taking a picnic, mom was most happy when it involved her children being with her. Our mom also became a ‘favorite mom’ to our school friends too as she was famous for her home baked cookies and pies from scratch. Two of her passions were her ‘expert’ gardening in the yard and listening to her opera. We would consecutively spend a week every summer for 30 years at our favorite cabin in Strawberry CA (Tuolumne County). Mom loved the mountains, especially the Sierras. In her later years following a devastating stroke in Oct 2008, she inspired us all by her determination to trudge on and not let the physical and speech barriers of that stroke keep her from walking. She pushed on and was inseparable from her walker. She faced many other health issues, yet always soldiered on, mostly to be around for us kids. But it was to be her final 2 year battle with breast cancer that would prove to be her hardest. Even in her last days mom would ask us to join her in the backyard. Mom passed away in the early morning of Oct 5 2017, her 3 kids by her bedside. She is predeceased by her parents James J and Harriet Dahl, brothers Jim Jr, Ken and Ron, and husband Eugene. She is survived by her daughter Christina, and sons Andre and Loren, all of Fremont.

Vivianlee Ronquillo Tonry

(Resident of Union City)

November 13, 1925 – October 17, 2017

Vivianlee lived a remarkable life of nearly 92 years, leaving a touch of warmth and love with everyone she met. She left her birthplace of New Orleans, LA in the late 1940s to marry her husband, Alvin Tonry (dec. 1975), also of New Orleans. They lived in Millbrae, CA until 1968 and then moved to Union City. Vivianlee worked for love in her community for most of her life. She volunteered and supported the Sisters of Notre Dame at St. Dunstan Elementary School in Millbrae. Upon moving to Union City, she became a founding member and dedicated officer of the Ladies Guild of Our Lady of the Rosary Church, where she served until her death. Vivianlee also worked as office manager and administrative assistant for a variety of companies. She was always first point of contact with the public because of her amazing people skills. Her finest work by far was that of a mother and grandmother. Friends and family have always described Vivianlee as a “southern belle” – gracious, giving and gorgeous. Her name is a blend of her mother, Vivian Kiley (dec. 1972) and her father, Lee Ronquillo (dec. 1976). Her collection of “Gone with the Wind” memorabilia and affection for Mardi Gras are no coincidence. While she loved her S.F. 49ers, she kept a close eye on her N.O. Saints. Vivianlee is survived by her daughter, Donna Tonry and her two grandchildren, Veronica Loera-Ano (Chad Ano) and Christopher Culverwell, all of San Jose. She adored her four beautiful great-grandchildren, William (19), Cole (9), Viviana

(8) and Georgia-Grace (5). Her “extended family” includes her many loving friends of the Ladies Guild of Our Lady of the Rosary Church and her incredibly devoted neighbors, Vilma and Ricardo Pichardo and their children. Vivianlee will be dearly missed by her family and many friends. She and her daughter wish to extend their sincere appreciation to Dr. Dianne Martin, Dr. Rohit Sehgal and Dr. Prasad Kilaru for their kind, compassionate medical care and friendship for many years. Please help us lay Vivianlee to rest. Services will be held on Monday, October 23, 2017 at Chapel of the Roses, 1940 Peralta Blvd. Fremont, at 6:30 p.m. (viewing 5:00 – 8:00 p.m.). Mass will be offered at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, October 24 at Our Lady of the Rosary Church, 703 C St., Union City, followed by burial at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, 1051 Harder Rd., Hayward. A reception follows at Our Lady of the Rosary Hall. You are invited to wear Mardi Gras colors to all services – purple, green or gold, if you like.

Suspect charged in attempted murder case

Jermona Cummings

SUBMITTED BY SAN LEANDRO PD

A San Leandro man has been charged with attempted murder following a late-night fight outside a convenience store. The case stems from an incident that occurred around 10:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 2 when Jermona

Cummings, 34, engaged in a fist-fight with another man outside the Quick Stop market located at 206 Marina Boulevard in San Leandro.

During the fight, Cummings produced a knife and began stabbing and slashing the victim. Even as the man lay wounded, Cummings continued the attack, but fled the scene before police arrived.

The man sustained serious injury and was taken to a local hospital for treatment. San Leandro Police detectives responded to the incident and began investigating, eventually learning that the incident had been captured on store surveillance cameras. Within a short amount of time, investigators identified the suspect and tracked down his address.

On October 4, Cummings was arrested by San Leandro police detectives at his home. Evidence from the crime scene was also located and secured. "Due to the diligent work of our detectives, we were able to quickly identify the suspect and bring him to justice," said San Leandro Police Lt. Isaac Benabou.

The case against Cummings has been turned over to the Alameda County District Attorney's office. Cummings has been charged with attempted murder, assault with a deadly weapon and aggravated mayhem. Cummings is being held without bail at Alameda County's Santa Rita Jail in Dublin.

SUBMITTED BY LT. MATIAS PARDO, UNION CITY PD

Monday, Oct. 9

At around 10:30 a.m. Officer Trainee Truong and Officer Paul were dispatched to a Union Landing business on the report of a theft. A suspect entered the store, stole several electronic items, and challenged employees while simulating a weapon in his waistband. It was determined that the same suspect committed similar robberies in stores across the Bay Area. The 21-year-old Oakland resident was identified and arrested by another agency, and admitted to committing the crimes in Union City and other locations.

Tuesday, Oct. 10

At around 12:20 p.m. Officer Moreno was dispatched to the report of an armed robbery that had occurred in the 1600 block of Decoto Road. The victim said he felt something solid touch his back, and heard someone demand all his belongings. He put his backpack, wallet and phone on the ground, and left the area without looking back at the suspect.

Swift police work leads to arrest of an armed robbery suspect

SUBMITTED BY SAN LEANDRO PD

On Sunday, October 8, 2017 around 9:00 p.m., a man taking a stroll on W. Juana Ave. in San Leandro was robbed of his cell phone. The suspect abruptly snatched the phone away from the victim's hand as he was walking. Next, the suspect brandished a handgun and further demanded the victim's wallet. When the victim stated he did not have a wallet, the suspect fled the area.

A description of the suspect was provided to police as they arrived on scene. During the investigation, San Leandro Police officers learned of another robbery that just occurred in a neighboring jurisdiction. The description of that suspect matched the suspect in our case. In addition, the suspect was seen fleeing the other robbery in a specifically described vehicle.

The victim was able to log onto his phone's GPS and detected its location in a neighborhood in East Oakland. San Leandro Police officers responded to that location in Oakland to search for the suspect vehicle and or the victim's phone.

Upon searching, officers located the suspect's vehicle parked at a residence. A short time later, the suspect, 27 year-old Akram Abdullah, appeared and was detained by officers. A "lost" beacon was sounded on the victim's phone which was then located inside of the suspect's vehicle. In addition, a replica firearm was located and several other stolen items recovered from other robberies in neighboring communities.

"The use of technology greatly assisted our officers in quickly determining the general location of the stolen phone," said San Leandro Police Lt. Isaac Benabou. "From there, great police work led officers to actually finding the suspect and recovering many victims' stolen items."

The suspect has been charged by the Alameda County District Attorney for armed robbery and possession of stolen property. Abdullah is currently being held at Santa Rita Jail in Dublin.

The maximum proposed total assessment for the District for Fiscal Year 2017/18 is $19,777.38. The assessment proposed to be charged to individual parcels is based on the size of the parcel and the number of units. The maximum assessment for each single-family unit is $91.14. The assessment rates were established based on the number of residential units planned for the District area, also factoring in the total acreage and the benefit to all parcels. Maximum assessment rates will be adjusted annually based on the Consumer Price Index or three percent (3%), whichever is greater.

For further particulars you may refer to the Resolution of Intention and the Report for the District on file with the City Clerk at 37101 Newark Boulevard, Newark, CA. Inquiries about the improvement proceedings will be answered by the Public Works Director or the Assistant City Engineer at (510) 578-4671.

Any interested person may file a written protest with the City Clerk at the address given above at or before the time set for the public hearing. Each protest must contain a description of the property in which the signer is interested (property address or Assessor's Parcel Number), sufficient to identify the property. If there is a majority protest, defined as ballots submitted in opposition to the annexation out-weight the ballots submitted in favor of the annexation (ballots weighted according to the proportional financial obligation of the affected property), the assessment shall not be imposed.

If you challenge the action of the City Council on this matter in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City Clerk at, or prior to the public hearing.

Google parent leads $1B Lyft investment, deepening Uber rift

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP), Google's parent company is throwing its financial support behind ride-hailing service Lyft, deepening its rift with market leader Uber.

Alphabet Inc., which gets most of its money from Google's digital ad network, is leading a $1 billion investment in Lyft that values the privately held company at $11 billion. The investment is being made through Alphabet's CapitalG venture capital arm.

Lyft is still far smaller and worth far less than Uber, another privately held company whose investors have valued it at nearly $70 billion. But Uber has been enmeshed in internal strife amid management upheaval and allegations of rampant sexual harassment.

Google was an early investor in Uber, but now its self-driving car spin-off Waymo is suing Uber for the alleged theft of its secret technology.

Arrest made in sexual assault with a deadly weapon

SUBMITTED BY LT. RAJ MAHARAJ, MILPITAS PD

After an extensive investigation, police in Milpitas have arrested a suspect in who may be connected to a pair of sexual assault and assault with deadly weapon incidents.

The investigation started just 4 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 26, when Milpitas police officers were called to the Baymont Inn and Suites at 66 S. Main St. to regarding a reported sexual assault. A 21-year-old woman said she was forced to engage in sexual acts with a man wielding a knife.

The victim described the man as an African-American male, 20-30-year-old and between 5-feet-6-and 5-feet-8-inches tall, weighing between 135 and 145 pounds, and wearing a yellow reflective safety vest. The man stole cash from the victim and tied her up before fleeing from the area. Officers checked the surrounding area but did not locate the suspect.

Then, on Monday, Oct. 2, at about 9:18 p.m. Milpitas police officers responded to another report of an African-American male, wearing a green construction safety vest, who had brandished a knife at a 19-year-old victim at the Brookside Inn, located at 400 Valley Way. The victim managed to escape by jumping out of a second-floor window and called 911. Within minutes Milpitas police officers located Shandon Travalis Lawson, 26, of Fremont, who matched the suspect description, in the parking-lot of the Brookside Inn.

Eventually, police detectives connected Lawson to both incidents and made an arrest. Lawson was booked into the Santa Clara County Jail on suspicion of rape, oral copulation, robbery, assault with a deadly weapon, strangulation, criminal threats, false imprisonment, assault with the intent to commit a felony, and possession of a controlled substance.

The Little Bookshop that could

BY DAVID R. NEWMAN

On Friday, September 29, Hayward's newest independent bookstore, Books on B, held a ribbon-cutting event to celebrate its grand opening. A crowd of over 300 people gathered outside the entrance to hear shop owner, Renee Rettig, give her thanks to the community for their support. Also on hand were Assemblyman

Bill Quirk, Congressman Eric Swalwell, Hayward Mayor Barbara Halliday, and several other Hayward City Council Members, including Sara Lamnin, Francisco Zermeno, and Al Mendall.

Inside the cozy space, people were treated to cake and champagne, while those outside listened to tunes by the Hayward High marching band. All of this to celebrate the woman who kept the dream alive for book lovers across the city. Said Mayor Halliday, "There are so many people in this city who care about books and did not want to lose our bookstore on B Street." Hayward Poet Laureate Bruce Roberts heralded, "A bookstore rises out of the ashes like a phoenix!"

Rettig's love of books began practically at birth. "My mother read to me before I was the size of a peanut. She poured her love of reading into me and from then on, there was nothing better than being cuddled up and looking at a book, eventually picking out the words, and taking over the parts. I WAS Laura Ingalls Wilder. I WAS Charlotte." By the end of kindergarten, Rettig had read every book in the school library.

As soon as she was old enough to ride BART, Rettig started hanging out in Berkeley, home to several independent bookstores, including Cody's, Black Oak Books, Shakespeare & Co., and Pegasus. Says Rettig, "I was amazed that this was the way the world could be, where people would gather and exchange ideas in a literary environment, and where I could use a normal voice and not be shushed."

As a college student in the 1990s, Rettig began frequenting

The Book Shop. When a Help Wanted sign appeared in the window, Rettig was there. The owner, Hank Maschal, puffing away on a cigarette, asked her one question: "We sell witchcraft, do you have a problem with that?" Rettig's reply: "It takes all kinds to make a world?" Maschal: "You start Sunday." Says Rettig, "I loved it. It gave me a better education, in every field possible, than I was getting in my classrooms."

To help pay for renovations, Rettig has raised over $70,000 through an Indiegogo campaign. Formerly Goldhor's Optometry, the space was completely torn down and restored to its original footprint. The new bookstore is light and airy, with a high ceiling and skylight. Artwork adorns the walls above the bookshelves, all saved from The Book Shop. A local carpenter volunteered his time to create the front counter, which was repurposed from an old desk found on site.

Across the street stands the now empty Book Shop, where Rettig managed for over 20 years. This Hayward institution, which feet – but Rettig plans on rotating her inventory more often). The owner of the empty bank on the corner offered space for storage. And then Jerry Egusa offered Rettig space in a building he owns, and the rest, as they say, is history. Says Rettig, "It was the best Christmas Story ever!"

Leticia Garcia Bradford, a long time Book Shop customer and published writer, gives voice to what those in the community all feel, "There couldn't be a better person to have taken on this role. She has a big heart. She's brilliant." Congressman Swalwell also voiced his pride, "We're excited to see B Street continue to thrive, and to see a small business owner realize her dream of having her own store and to open it up with support from the community."

The success of Books on B is a success for independent book stores everywhere. As online sales continue to dominate, communities like Hayward are coming together. Says Bradford, "We should all be really proud. Hayward is the city that refused to lose its bookstore."

Rettig plans to host events like storytelling and author signings. Also, for a donation of $1,000, she will dedicate a shelf to a person or cause of your choice. Says Rettig, "My main goal is to unlock the reader within. We all have a book to read."

Construction begins on

observation as a basic, human-scale tool of science. It will encourage visitors to use their senses to expand their personal understanding and experience with the natural world.

“Construction of our new Observation Deck is yet another step forward in what has been an exciting and transformative year for Chabot,” says Chabot Space & Science Center Executive Director Adam Tobin. “From community-based programs such as our popular First Friday evening events and our first annual ‘Tinkerfest’ to our hands-on educational programs such as Project Create and our new Summer Camps, Chabot continues to create innovative, fun and unique opportunities for kids and adults to experience the joy of science and the wonders of the world around us.”

Interactive exhibits featured as part of Chabot’s new Outdoor Environmental Education Deck include:

Sound Observatory

The Sound Observatory is an environmental sound experience that samples the universe at all scales. Sonified earthquakes, quarks and songbirds are all at the fingertips of visitors willing to spend some time observing the universe with their ears.

Sky Station

At the Sky Station, visitors will use a variety of tools to notice and investigate the conditions of the daytime sky and atmosphere around them.

Sky Mirror

Sky Mirror, situated at the upper most point of Sky Station, reflects the conditions of the sky on a highly polished mirror. Visitors are able to shift the angle of the mirror to reflect different parts of the sky, noticing just how multifaceted this massive canvas can be.

Sky Mosaic

At Sky Mosaic visitors try to match shades of color in different sky images while learning how the water content and direction of the sun can dramatically impact the colors we see.

Pinhole Cameras

Pinhole cameras are a simple and elegant display of light. Focusing light onto a frosted screen produces an upside-down version of the world. The pinhole cameras will be arrayed in the Sky Station to maximize multiple views and coordinated play through gaps in the structure. Variations include flip up doors and cameras that can focus on multiple focal planes.

Lab Bench

At the Lab Bench, visitors can examine materials from the landscape under mounted magnifying glasses. Each station will include an area for sketching observations, recording micro details, or taking rubbings. The lab bench allows for a prolonged investigation of materials that we often breeze by at a glance. Pine needles, grass, local flowers and rocks will take center stage.

Heat Camera

The stationary Heat Camera allows visitors a window into a sliver of the light spectrum that is otherwise unavailable to the human eye – infrared. A camera sensitive to infrared light picks up the heat emitted by visitors on the deck and displays it as a color image on a large screen. Warmer objects emit more infrared light than cooler ones, and different parts of the body are often different temperatures, as revealed by the camera. Similar to the stationary Heat Camera exhibit, the portable heat camera exhibit allows visitors to see a color image of the infrared spectrum.

Daily Log

The Daily Log will act as an introduction to the deck, grounding visitors in experience of observation, documentation, and exploration. This dynamic display will be populated with information about terrestrial happenings, celestial events, and local information gathered by Chabot staff and volunteers.

Mounted Scopes

Four different rail mounted scopes with adjustable viewing tools will be scattered throughout the deck for visitors to explore. A combination of binoculars, monoculars, and a cell phone spotting scope will facilitate interesting terrestrial, solar and celestial observations during both the daytime and nighttime.

Big Dipper

The Big Dipper exhibit will help illustrate how we perceive the night sky on Earth. From one vantage point on the deck, visitors will be able to see the Big Dipper constellation clearly. From the side, however, visitors will see that the “stars” that make up the big dipper do not exist in the same plane but are in fact and all at different depths from the viewer. To highlight this further, a small model that can be viewed at multiple angles will accompany this exhibit.

Sun Observatory

The Sun Observatory is a flexible platform for safe and in-depth investigations of the sun. This exhibit is built around its heliostat – a tool that tracks the sun’s movement throughout the day and funnels light through a scope. Around the edges of the heliostat, visitors will be encouraged to use beams of sunlight to investigate the different properties of the electromagnetic spectrum through open-ended play at Sunlight Island. Prisms, lenses, filters and other tools will be used. In addition, the exhibit will use a solar projector that will project a live image of the sun onto a screen below.

Telescope Pad

The telescope pad is isolated from vibrations of the deck, making high-magnification observation possible.
