Anything Goes, Almost

SUBMITTED BY LEAH VIRSIK

Adobe Art Gallery presents the works of A.R.T., Inc. members in the upcoming exhibit "Anything Goes, Almost," featuring a variety of media including two and three-dimensional art.

A.R.T., Inc. was founded in 1984 as an association for artists to exchange ideas and exhibit their art. Fostering connections between local artists and art enthusiasts, A.R.T., Inc. provides free art demonstrations for people of all ages and displays the work of its members at six venues in Castro Valley. Members' art has been displayed at Bank of the West, Castro Valley Library, Baywood Court Senior Community (three galleries), Gladding Gallery at the Adobe Art Center, and Kenneth C. Aitken Senior Center.

A.R.T., Inc. partners with Hayward Area Recreation and Park District (H.A.R.D.) and provides support to H.A.R.D.'s Adobe Art Gallery through its membership fees, newsletter, website, art demonstrations, hands-on workshops, and social events.

New to the Adobe Art Gallery, our inaugural Artist-in-Residence Program features Philip Denst. Denst will create snapshots of life in acrylic from photographs. From a portrait of a friend on a ferry trip to his cat Sylvester

FRESH LIFELINES FOR YOUTH

A nonprofit organization, based in Milpitas, is whittling away at juvenile crime with a program to prevent criminal activity before it happens, reducing incarceration.

Fresh Lifelines for Youth (FLY) began nearly 20 years ago and, since incorporation in Santa Clara County in 2000, the county has experienced a 77 percent drop in juvenile incarceration rates, according to FLY's Director of Communication Claire Wagner. Nearby, in San Mateo County, where FLY began operations in 2012, incarceration rates have declined 65 percent. In the last three years, FLY has opened offices in Alameda County, serving youth of Fremont, Hayward, San Lorenzo, Oakland, and Berkeley.

California taxpayers shell out more than $200,000 annually to incarcerate a youth, enough for four years at a top-rate university, yet recidivism rates are high: 60 percent nationally re-enter before age 18, and in California, 70 percent are rearrested within three years of release. FLY's cost per client is less than one-tenth the expense of locking up a young person, according to Wagner. Referrals to FLY come from probation departments and public schools, yielding a clientele that is 80 percent male and 86 percent of color from primarily high-crime, low-income areas.

Heart Attacks, Heart Disease—the Difference Between Women and Men

Washington Hospital sponsors important free seminar

Did you know that heart disease is the leading cause of death in women in the United States? Although heart disease has traditionally been associated with men, about the same number of men and women die each year of heart disease in the U.S., according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Most concerning is the fact that almost two-thirds of women who die suddenly of coronary artery disease have no previous symptoms. Worse, the symptoms of a heart attack in women are often not recognized.

How can women learn to identify symptoms—and what steps can they take to reduce their risk of heart attack? Catherine Dao, MD, a board-certified cardiologist with the Washington Township Medical Foundation, will answer these questions and more at a free seminar on Tuesday, February 20, from 1 to 3 p.m. This presentation will be in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium, rooms A and B, Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave.

Dr. Dao will describe the symptoms in women and how they differ from men's symptoms. For instance, while both men and women may experience chest pain and pain in the neck, jaw, throat and upper back, women more frequently experience atypical symptoms such as indigestion, dizziness and nausea, palpitations and shortness of breath, as well as unexplained weakness or fatigue.

According to the National Coalition for Women with Heart Disease, some women mistakenly think that only crushing chest pain is a symptom of a heart attack. This misconception causes them to delay seeking medical help. "If you experience any of the described symptoms, you should seek medical attention immediately," Dr. Dao counsels.

What about risk factors for heart disease? "Advanced age and family history, as well as obesity, diabetes, smoking, high blood pressure and high cholesterol are some of the most common risk factors for heart disease," explains Dr. Dao. "In order to reduce your risk of heart disease, be aware of your numbers, including blood pressure and cholesterol. Also, be sure to exercise regularly, adhere to a heart-healthy diet, and if you smoke, quit. Also, keep your weight down," she advises.

The American Heart Association offers guidelines for a heart-healthy diet and other heart-healthy lifestyle tips at <https://healthyforgood.heart.org/>.

Dr. Dao points out that stress, depression and anxiety can also contribute to heart disease. "You should develop strategies to cope with stress, and consider working with a mental health professional to figure out the causes of your stress," she says. "Find ways to relax, including practicing mindfulness and meditation. Take a critical look at the relationships in your life and disengage from those that are unhealthy."

Catherine Dao, MD, will present critical women's heart health information at free seminar February 20.

Exercise is a vital ingredient for an overall healthy life, notes Dr. Dao. "It helps improve heart, bone and mental health; it can also improve sleep, improve body image, and help lower blood pressure and cholesterol," she says. Dr. Dao advises her patients to engage in 30 minutes of moderate to intense exercise at least five days a week.

When to contact your doctor? "Call your doctor immediately if you're concerned about risk factors and symptoms," Dr. Dao advises, especially since some heart attack symptoms are attributed to other health problems, such as indigestion. Your doctor may administer tests to rule out life-threatening conditions.

To register, or for more information on this free seminar, visit www.whhs.com/events or call (800) 963-7070.

Washington Hospital to sponsor blood drive Tuesday, January 30. Community members are encouraged to donate.

The American Red Cross is making an urgent call for blood and platelet donations of all blood types to help combat a national blood shortage.

Severe winter weather caused January blood bank donations to drop by the thousands. More than 150 blood drives were forced to cancel due to the early January winter storms along the Eastern states, the Red Cross said. “Even temporary disruptions to blood and platelet donations can diminish the availability for hospital patients,” Clifford Numark, senior vice president of Red Cross Blood Services, said in a statement.

Along with winter weather, flu season and the holidays contributed to this severe shortage. When people are ill, they cannot donate and when they are busy preparing for and celebrating the holiday season, they don’t have as much extra time.

The Need

The American Red Cross cites the follow facts to illustrate the need for blood donations.

- Every two seconds someone in the U.S. needs blood.
 - Approximately 36,000 units of red blood cells are needed every day in the U.S.
 - According to the American Cancer Society, more than 1.69 million people are expected to be diagnosed with cancer in 2017. Many of them will need blood, sometimes daily, during their chemotherapy treatment.
 - A single car accident victim can require as many as 100 pints of blood.
 - Blood cannot be manufactured—it can only come from generous donors.
- Right now, the Red Cross says, there is a critical need for type O negative and B negative blood donations. Type O negative blood in particular is needed since it’s the universal blood type that any patient can use. It is, therefore, the blood type most used in serious emergency situations where patient blood type has not yet been determined.

In support of this urgent request, Washington Hospital is hosting a blood drive on Tuesday, January 30, from noon to 6 p.m. “As a community hospital, we are committed to responding to this request. We understand the ramifications of a national blood shortage and we want to help in this important way,” says Laboratory Director, Patricia Hui-Ng.

Making the process simple and convenient is the key to a successful drive. “The Red Cross people are wonderful, but we strongly encourage people to register in advance,” advises Hui Ng.” Registration can be completed online at redcrossblood.org, using the sponsor code WHHS, or by calling (800) 733-2767 and referencing the January 30 blood drive at Washington Hospital. “We appreciate the community members pulling together to donate in this important way,” Hui-Ng adds.

The blood drive will be held in the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium, Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave. Advanced registration is not required, but preregistration will expedite the process.

Motor Coach Industries opens new service center

OF MOTOR COACH INDUSTRIES

Motor Coach Industries (MCI) held an open house for its new Sales and Service Center located in Hayward on November 14, 2017. MCI is a U.S. subsidiary of New Flyer Industries Inc. (NFI Group), the largest transit bus and motor coach manufacturer and parts distributor in North America. “We welcome MCI to Hayward and are tremendously excited about the contributions MCI will be making to our local and regional economy for years to come,” said Hayward Mayor Barbara Halliday.

The new opening comes in response to the rapid growth of high-tech companies like Google and Facebook, who use commuter buses on a regular basis to shuttle their employees between San Francisco and Silicon Valley. “As coach and public transit transportation expands in Northern California, MCI is closer to our customers, bringing the best in service support for models designed for the future,” said Patrick Scully, MCI Executive Vice President of Sales and Marketing.

Hayward’s central location within the Bay Area makes it the perfect spot for buses to roll in for service. The new center, located just off the east end of the San Mateo Bridge, will be same-day service. “We are investing in the very latest diagnostic equipment and technologies with a layout in the shop to get coaches in and out fast, with accurate, reliable repairs to help operators maximize coach uptime,” said Jim Macdonald, vice president of MCI’s Quality and Customer Service Group.

MCI prides itself on its employee training, and offers in person and online technical including the J-Series, which has topped the sales charts for 11 consecutive years, and the D-Series, which is the industry’s all time best seller. And next year, the company is launching its new, clean diesel D45 CRT LE commuter coach that uses an innovative, wheelchair-friendly design to help speed up loading and unloading (which AC Transit plans to use on its new Bus Rapid Transit [BRT] system along

Left to right: Roman Bystron, Parts Supervisor; Mike Albertolle, Manager of Business Development and Service; Matthew Hiibel, Service Manager; and Roland Schauer, Shop Supervisor, at the new San Francisco Bay Area MCI Sales and Service Center in Hayward.

There are an estimated 1,200 motor coaches in operation by public and private operators in the Bay Area, including AC Transit and Golden Gate Transit, with the MCI name on more than half of them. The two-story, 34,000-square-foot Hayward complex at 4120 Point Eden Way is MCI’s second in California (the other is in Los Alamitos) and seventh in North America. MCI owns a total of 31 fabrication, manufacturing, distribution, and service centers across Canada and the U.S., employing over 5,800 people.

able to handle collision repairs, refurbishing, paint and body work, wheelchair lift retrofits, and engine overhauls, as well as preparing new buses for use. Initially, a team of 13 technicians will be on hand from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m., with plans to extend the hours as demand increases.

The Hayward center features the latest coach diagnostic equipment and tooling, with 10 service bays, including a fully automated, state-of-the-art paint booth, and a Kardex vertical carousel storage system that will store over one million parts for coursework through its accredited MCI Academy program. Green technology is a major part of this training, as many of the MCI buses run on alternative energy, including clean diesel, natural gas, and diesel-electric hybrid. Said Mike Albertolle, MCI Hayward Manager of Business Development and Service, “MCI really puts a lot of resources into their employees, so the retention rate is very high. Most of the coaches have two to three computers on them. The electronics are extensive. We’re able to train our people on all the newest technology.”

MCI produces several popular North American coaches, Industrial Boulevard). An all-electric model will be available in 2020.

MCI started as a small Canadian company in 1933 that has gradually grown into the industry leader it is today. Having a Bay Area presence makes sense as commuters look more and more to environmentally friendly ways to move around. Each commuter bus carries about 50 people, so that’s potentially 50 fewer cars out on the roads. Thanks to MCI, the wheels on the bus continue to go round and round.

League of Volunteers (LOV) is holding the 27th annual "An Elegant Affaire" on Friday, February 9 at the DoubleTree by Hilton in Newark. The chef will be serving a gourmet dining experience for the benefit of LOV's popular Arts in Schools Program, which provides in-school multi-cultural performing arts assemblies to the children of Fremont, Newark, and Union City.

Last year's glittering event helped bring performances to over 14,000 young people. Students enjoyed a wide range of assemblies, from Chinese acrobats to African-American and Asian folk tales, folk music and jazz, puppeteers, magicians, California wildlife, BMX shows and much more. The need for this program in our schools is still great. School requests can be met by the success of this year's "An Elegant Affaire" – a time to enjoy fantastic food, fine wine, and fun.

Enjoy the champagne cocktail hour where you will be entertained by Salvador Vazquez on Mexican harp; beer tasting will be available, thanks to Das Brewery. A four-course gourmet dinner with a tantalizing menu will follow: Tomato Bisque soup with basil and herbed croutons; Classic Wedge Salad with blue cheese dressing, garnished with applewood-smoked bacon, blue cheese crumbles, green onions, and red grape tomato halves; and tender Beef Flat Iron Steak with Argentinian sauce served on a bed of Yukon Gold potatoes accompanied by seasonal root vegetables (a vegetarian option is available). The meal is topped off with Chocolate Supreme Cake. Various wines come with dinner.

Besides a fantastic evening of delectable dining, there will be live and silent auctions and a very special drawing. Great prizes have been donated by local mayors, school superintendents, school board members, Teachers Association presidents, county superintendents and other dignitaries. Returning as our MC for the evening, is Rick Geha.

We will also feature wonderful prizes on the non-profit auction site, BiddingForGood; our auction site will be open January 28 through February 16. Check it out at www.biddingforgood.com/LOV.

Tickets are $85 per person or $750 for a table of 10 with table sign. Semi-formal/black tie optional attire. For reservations, call (510) 793-5683 or visit www.lov.org. Reservations are limited to 150. Please RSVP by Monday, February 5.

Reflections on Water The Value of Water

SUBMITTED BY
JONATHAN WUNDERLICH

When we were kids, my friends and I spent a lot of time at the American River skipping rocks and riding bikes. Afterward we would get out the slip-n-slide or go for a swim in a friend's backyard pool—all the while, taking drinks from a garden hose. On summer trips back to my family's farms, lines of irrigation wheels seemed to stretch for miles.

So many of my memories revolve around water. Today, I try to provide my kids with opportunities to create their own water memories. We recently camped at Limekiln State Park at a site where the creek emptied into the ocean. The trip was filled with scenic views, historical landmarks, and a hike inland to an impressive waterfall; but what I remember most is how excited my kids were to play in the creek—it was all they wanted to do!

What I experienced as a boy, and my children are experiencing now without fully understanding it, is the value of water and its contribution to the recreational and cultural activities that enrich our lives. As an employee of the Alameda County Water District, I have an additional perspective on the water we provide to our customers.

If you had asked me as a boy where water came from, I would have replied, 'the sky' or 'the tap.' I simply took for granted the ubiquitous supply of water, never considering water's sources or its system of distribution.

Of course, in reality, water does come from the sky! Most of California's rain and snowfall happens hundreds of miles from the Tri-City area during the cool, wet months of December, January, and February. It travels through rivers, reservoirs, the Sacramento-San Joaquin River Delta, and one last aqueduct before reaching the Alameda County Water District, where the District treats the water, ensuring its safety. Then, the water leaves the treatment plant and enters the distribution system, where it's available at your tap at any time.

One of the things all Californians, not just water professionals, learned during the recent drought was not to take the water cycle for granted—there is no guarantee it will provide all the water we want each year. Fortunately, the Tri-City community demonstrated its ability to withstand drought conditions by meeting and surpassing our water reduction targets.

I recently worked with several California water agencies studying water use during the drought, looking at the effect of watering restrictions and price. For example, communities that used the most water before the start of the drought were able to conserve the most. As a student of economics, however, I was surprised to find that Californians conserved significant amounts of water regardless of price.

I look back at my memories around water with fondness. Hopefully, California's drought experience has given us the habits and tools we'll need to be sure that our grandchildren will have enjoyable memories of water, as well.

Shop with a Cop

SUBMITTED BY UNION CITY PD

Union Landing ended its 2017 year with a great community outreach event called Shop with a Cop. This annual community outreach event is held at our local Walmart, made possible by Walmart Ma nager, Ryan Bieke and a number of other great sponsors. Many thanks to the businesses who routinely partner with us for these wonderful community events.

This last year the Union City Police Officers Association raised money by allowing officers to grow beards for one month in exchange for donations to our Shop with a Cop program. Since the weather was getting cold, many officers jumped on the opportunity to give back to the community, and also stay a bit warmer in December's wintry weather. It was a win-win situation for all involved as the Association raised over $2000 to support local service organizations.

Both financial support and product support is needed to help make these programs great successes. If you are interested in sponsoring an event or partnering with UCPD for community outreach events throughout the year, please contact Community Resource Coordinator, Crystal Raine at (510) 675-5284 or crystalr@unioncity.org. We'd love to have you help us bring Holiday Cheer to deserving families all year long!

Members of the Hayward Area Historical Society are busy putting together a new exhibition that will focus on the forced removal and incarceration of Japanese Americans during World War II. The exhibit will open in March at 22380 Foothill Blvd., Hayward.

Internment of Japanese Americans, starting in 1942, had a profound affect not only on individuals and families, but the entire Hayward area community both during the war and in the years after. The lessons learned from that traumatic era continue to impact all of us today.

To help illustrate the stories of this experience, the historical society is looking for artifacts to include in the exhibition. Artifacts could include suitcases, clothing, identification tags, items made or used in an internment camp such as artwork and other crafts, or photographs and documents. All items will be considered loans to the exhibition and will be returned to the lender at the end of the exhibition.

Anyone who has an artifact that they would like to have included in the exhibition is asked to contact the curator by sending an email to info@haywardareahistory.org or call (510) 581-0223.

Teen collects food, raises money for fire victims

SUBMITTED BY VICTOR CARVELLAS

American High School sophomore Arnab Singhvi, moved by the Northern California wildfire tragedy, started his own campaign to solicit donations for the victims. On his own initiative he went door-to-door collecting food and monetary donations. Phone calls and emails soon poured in with questions, asking how to donate. Singhvi's GoFundMe campaign (<https://funds.gofundme.com/dashboard/this-christmas-for-ca-wildfire>) successfully harnessed the power of social media.

At the Sankat Mochan Hanuman Temple he attends with his family, officials invited him to make an announcement of his intentions, and attendees responded generously.

Altogether, Singhvi collected several dozen grocery bags of food and raised $1,800, which his mother's employer matched for a total of $3,600. In turn, each dollar provided $4 purchasing power to the food bank Singhvi donated to, meaning that $14,400 in food resources was made available to food bank recipients, an amount, says Singhvi, "that gives some sense of satisfaction."

Cost climbs by $2.8 billion for California bullet train

BY KATHLEEN RONAYNE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The estimated cost for the first phase of California's bullet train climbed by 35 percent on Tuesday to $10.6 billion, the latest increase for the ambitious project to run a high-speed rail line from San Francisco to Los Angeles.

The $2.8 billion price hike for a 119-mile (191-kilometer) segment in the Central Valley puts the entire cost of the project at roughly $67 billion, although officials said they hope to recover the newly announced costs later. It was projected to cost $40 billion in 2008 when voters approved bond financing.

"I want the public to count on us to tell the truth, whether it's good, bad or ugly," said Dan Richard, chair of the California High Speed Rail Authority's board. "We're going to do every single thing in our power to drive these costs down."

Some of the fresh costs stem from trouble acquiring the rights of way for the track in the Central Valley. The authority entered into construction contracts before fully securing rights of way in all areas, a decision officials said they wouldn't make again. The decision to enter into contracts quickly was partly due to the need to spend $2.5 billion in federal stimulus money by last fall.

"Much of today was a lessons learned expression," said Brian Kelly, the state's current transportation secretary who was named as the authority's new chief executive Tuesday. "Because they learned these things the hard way on the early contracts they will not repeat them on the later contracts."

Critics seized on the news at the latest evidence the project is destined for failure.

"We now have a set of facts that is so clear that this authority simply is unable to produce the project, and making it up as they go along simply is not a sane approach," said Republican Assemblyman Jim Patterson of Fresno, a city at the heart of the Central Valley train segment. He's asked the Legislature to initiate an audit of the rail authority.

A 2008 ballot measure passed by voters promised a train that would run from San Francisco to Los Angeles in under three hours by 2029, with the track eventually expanding to Sacramento and San Diego.

In October the rail board approved a $30 million contract with DB Engineering & Consulting USA, the U.S. arm of German rail giant Deutsche Bahn AG to design and operate the train from the Central Valley to the Silicon Valley in its early stages.

A fresh estimate on overall costs and possibly the timeline will be included in a business plan the authority must submit to lawmakers this spring. Beyond the bond and federal dollars, money for the train comes from California's cap-and-trade program that taxes carbon emissions.

Outgoing Democratic Gov. Jerry Brown has been a champion of the project because it will be a cleaner and more efficient transportation option.

The candidates vying to replace him have a variety of perspectives on the bullet train, with some arguing it needs a better financing plan. The Legislature may also get a one-time chance in 2024 to reallocate how cap and trade money is spent, which could hurt the rail project depending on the makeup of the Legislature.

Some of that uncertainty made it difficult to recruit a new chief executive after Jeff Morales left the job last summer after five years. Kelly will start the new job next month at a salary of nearly $385,000.

Richard, the board chairman, acknowledged the new governor will need certainty on the project's financing and timeline.

"I do feel that owe it to the next governor to provide a complete package to them of what this program looks like," he said. "I'd like to not have a lot of loose ends when we get to that point."

Startup Grind Fremont – Impressing investors

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

Startup Grind Fremont is back for another fireside chat on Tuesday, January 30, at 6:30 p.m. This time, join us as we learn what investors look for when deciding to invest. Hear from Lili Balfour, founder of Ateller Advisor. Startup Grind Fremont will be meeting at its new location: Peerbuds Innovation Labs, located at 4580 Auto Mall Parkway Suite #121 in Fremont (located on the backside of Unitek).

Lili is the founder of Ateller Advisors, where she has advised more than 100 companies to go on to raise over $200 million. She is the creator and host of Finance for Entrepreneurs, a platform that has educated over 10,000 entrepreneurs around the world. In this highly interactive session, Lili will share how to win over investors by speaking in the language they understand. Participants are encouraged to bring specific questions about their fundraising challenges.

Startup Grind Fremont is the Silicon Valley East chapter of the international business startup community that has hosted more than 2,000 fireside chats across 200 cities and 85 countries! Every month or so, we get our local entrepreneurial community together to mix and mingle, hear from a featured speaker, find mentorship, pursue funding, and gain new customers.

Amazon sweepstakes is narrowed down to 20 competitors

By JOSEPH PISANI AND CHRISTOPHER RUGABER
AP RETAIL WRITER

Amazon's second home could be in an already tech-heavy city, such as Boston, New York or Austin, Texas. Or it could be in the Midwest, say, Indianapolis or Columbus, Ohio. Or the company could go outside the U.S. altogether and set up shop in Toronto.

Those six locations, as well as 14 others, made it onto Amazon's not-so-short shortlist Thursday of places under consideration for the online retailing giant's second headquarters.

The 20 picks, narrowed down from 238 proposals, are concentrated mostly in the East and the Midwest and include several of the biggest metro areas in the country, such as Chicago, Washington and Los Angeles, the only West Coast city on the list.

The Seattle-based company set off fierce competition last fall when it announced that it was looking for a second home, promising 50,000 jobs and construction spending of more than $5 billion. Many cities drew up elaborate presentations that included rich financial incentives.

The list of finalists highlights a key challenge facing the U.S. economy: Jobs and economic growth are increasingly concentrated in a few large metro areas, mostly on the East and West Coasts and a few places in between, such as Texas.

Nearly all the cities on Amazon's list already have growing economies, low unemployment and highly educated populations.

"Amazon has picked a bunch of winners," said Richard Florida, an economic development expert and professor at the University of Toronto who helped develop that city's bid. "It really reflects winner-take-all urbanism."

Among those that didn't make the cut were Detroit, a disappointment for those excited about progress since the city came out of bankruptcy, and Memphis, Tennessee, where the mayor said the city gave it its "best shot." San Diego also failed to advance.

"Getting from 238 to 20 was very tough," said Holly Sullivan, who oversees Amazon's public policy. "All the proposals showed tremendous enthusiasm and creativity."

Amazon said it will make a final selection sometime this year.

Besides Austin, another Texas city made the cut: Dallas. In the South, Miami and Atlanta are being considered.

Officials in cities that made the shortlist took the opportunity to further tout their locations, with Philadelphia's mayor noting "all that Philadelphia has to offer" and officials in and around Pittsburgh citing the region's "world-class talent pool" and other advantages.

Other contenders among the 20 include Denver; Montgomery County, Maryland; Nashville, Tennessee; Newark, New Jersey; Northern Virginia; and Raleigh, North Carolina.

"It's a long list for a shortlist," said Jed Kolko, chief economist at job site Indeed.

He said Amazon may use the list to pit the locations against each other and get better tax breaks or other incentives. Two metro areas, New York and Washington, have more than one location on the list, increasing the competition there, he said.

"It's hard to say whether all these places are in play or Amazon wanted to encourage continued competition," Kolko said.

Amazon did not immediately respond to a request for comment on whether locations would be able to change their proposals or offer better incentives, but said in a statement that it will "work with each of the candidate locations to dive deeper into their proposals."

State and local governments played up the amenities they think make their locations the best choice. Some pulled off stunts to stand out, such as New York, which lit the Empire State Building in Amazon orange.

Some gimmicks didn't work: Tucson, Arizona, which sent a 21-foot cactus to Seattle, did not make the list. Neither did Birmingham, Alabama, which installed giant replicas of Amazon's Dash buttons.

The company had stipulated that it wanted to be near a metropolitan area with more than 1 million people, and nearly all of those on the shortlist have a metro population of at least double that.

Amazon also wanted to be able to attract top technical talent; be within 45 minutes of an international airport; have direct access to mass transit; and be able to expand the headquarters to as much as 8 million square feet in the next decade.

But Amazon also made it very clear it wanted tax breaks, grants and any other incentives.

Boston's offer includes $75 million for affordable housing for Amazon employees and others. Before leaving office Tuesday, Gov. Chris Christie approved a measure to allow New Jersey to offer up to $5 billion to Amazon. Newark is also proposing $2 billion in tax breaks.

But many of the state and local governments competing for the headquarters have refused to disclose the financial incentives they offered. Of the 20 finalists, 13, including New York, Chicago and Miami, declined requests from The Associated Press to release their applications. Toronto's mayor said Thursday that the city offered no financial incentives to woo Amazon.

Several said they don't want their competitors to know what they're offering, a stance that open-government advocates criticized.

Amazon plans to remain in its sprawling Seattle headquarters, and the second home base will be "a full equal" to it, founder and CEO Jeff Bezos has said.

The extra space will give the rapidly growing company room to spread out. It had nearly 542,000 employees at the end of September, a 77 percent jump from the year before. Some of that growth came from Amazon's nearly $14 billion acquisition last year of the Whole Foods grocery chain and its 89,000 employees.

Associated Press writers Josh Cornfield in Philadelphia, Matt O'Brien in Providence, Rhode Island, and Rob Gillies in Toronto contributed to this report. Rugaber contributed from Washington.

Air plan needs monitoring, transparency

SUBMITTED BY JEFF BARBOSA

As California embarks on an ambitious attempt to reduce its greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions to a level that is 40 percent below 1990 figures by 2030, a transparent, thorough analysis of the state's Air Resources Board's (ARB) Scoping Plan is needed to meet the ambitious goals and stay on target, Sen. Bob Wieckowski (D-Fremont) said during a Senate joint oversight committee hearing January 17, 2018.

"California needs its own public, independent, retrospective analysis of our climate change policies and their effectiveness, which will provide the Legislature and stakeholders an opportunity to better understand how ARB comes to its conclusions—the metrics, formulas and assumptions utilized to develop and evaluate the success of our scoping plans and programs," said Wieckowski.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: JANUARY 24 - JANUARY 30, 2018

For All Signs: We are traveling in time toward an eclipse season. The first is the full moon eclipse in Leo which is exactly at 8:27 a.m. on Friday, January 31. The next lunar eclipse is the new moon in Aquarius on February 15, 2018. In ancient times eclipses were believed frightening, heralding negative omens, especially in regions of their visibility. Contemporary astrologers perceive these seasons as periods that relieve critical mass, similar to that of an earthquake. For many of us this month there will be an experience of manifestation or illumination about situations that have been long brewing. It is a time to face facts, but not all of those facts are frightening or negative. Some people experience very positive results of past effort during eclipse periods. Keep in mind that eclipse periods are ‘seasons’ and not to be read strictly for the date given. See your Sun Sign below for clues about the meaning of these eclipses for you. If you know your Ascending sign, you may read for both signs.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): The full moon eclipse is a good time to display your creative work. Bring it out to the open where others can enjoy it. It is also a good time to announce a pregnancy or a change in status of a relationship, such as an engagement. The new moon invites you to explore your contributions to the world, share abundance with others.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): The full moon side of this eclipse season may bring fresh news to light about someone in the family. For example, a pregnancy is announced. The new moon calls upon you to take steps toward beginning something new in your career, even if it feels like a risk. Start your research.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): The full moon brings to light whatever you need to know about relationships to siblings, roommates, neighbors. It also may bring attention to your vehicle in some way. A weird noise becomes a breakdown, for example. Meanwhile the new moon encourages new starts related to higher education, publishing, travel, and spiritual pursuits.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): The full moon eclipse emphasizes your financial circumstances and shines a light on your resources. This may include your skills, your abilities, and your sense of self-worth. The new moon eclipse encourages you to learn more about the world of financial business and resources you share with others, e.g., a spouse’s income.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): The full moon eclipse may have brought you to the point of becoming firm about who you are and who you are not. An issue of identity and declaration of self is at hand. The new moon eclipse represents your inherent need to attend to relationships. Your partner may be starting something that affects both your lives.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): On this eclipsed full moon you may discover or reveal one or more secrets. Dreams and intuition are very strong. Issues of mental health are emphasized. The strength of the interplay between physical and emotional health is apparent. You likely will vow to change any health habits that are not useful.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): The results of contributions you have made to your community become apparent. Your ‘community’ may include organizations to which you belong, your friends, and various connections you have made along the way. A new beginning occurs in the arena of romance or life with children, the territory of play.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): The full moon eclipse shines brightly in your career or the arena in which you contribute to the world. You may see the results of good works or the results of failure to produce. Meanwhile something deep within is searching for a sense of internal security. You may get in touch with family that you haven’t seen or spoken to for a long time.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): The outcome of legal, travel, educational and publishing interests become apparent in this eclipse season. Your work and preparation in any of these areas may be on display. Meanwhile fresh circumstances are beginning related to siblings, neighbors, roommates, or your next vehicle.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): The outcome of your management of any joint resources becomes obvious. That may be issues of debt, partner’s income, insurance or stock holdings. Intimacy shared between you and partner becomes a topic. The condition of each of these things becomes reflected in your sense of self-worth and your desire to improve in the future.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): The activities of your partner are on display. You must recognize and respect his or her moment in the sun. Meanwhile new seeds inside of you are just sprouting that eventually will become a change in your sense of identity. If someone told you now what that would be, you’d be astounded.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): Circumstances at work may be in a state of flux, otherwise called a ‘zoo.’ The state of your health is prominent. Good or bad depends upon how you have been caring for yourself. A new seed is planted in your unconscious that will begin to develop slowly into materialization in your life.

Greenify your resolutions this year with the help of the Fremont Green Challenge!

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

Commit to improving your health and the health of your environment with simple life hacks that have a huge impact. Take 5-10 minutes to create a household profile and select actions that reduce carbon emissions and conserve water. See the actions below that will help cut your carbon waistline and start 2018 on the right foot!

Five Resolutions for You and the Planet

1. Meatless Mondays

The simple act of eating lower down the carbon chain reaps incredible health benefits, reduces emissions, and conserves water. Replacing meat and cheese with plant-based protein (beans, grains, nuts, soy) one day a week with your family is the equivalent of taking your car off the road for five weeks or saving 900 gallons of water per year.

2. Get Outside

Enjoy the great outdoors and avoid traffic by biking or walking to your destination. This will also reduce your emissions and improve your health! Commit to driving 15 miles less every week and save 900 pounds of carbon! Pledge to Bike or Walk more, and make use of the City's Bikeway Map to help plan your next bike ride.

3. Say No to Plastic

Ever wonder where plastic comes from? Our single-use plastic habits come at the expense of burning non-renewable resources like coal, oil, and natural gas. Simple acts such as refilling a reusable water bottle and grocery shopping with a reusable bag make a huge difference. By using reusable and sustainably sourced products you'll help keep plastic out of landfills and our oceans! Learn how to Reduce & Reuse today.

4. Pledge to be Idle-Free

Do you spend a lot of time waiting in your car, like when you pick up your kids? Be sure to turn off your engine while you wait! Thirty seconds of idling uses more fuel than restarting the engine! By reducing idling time in your car, you could cut your carbon footprint by 1,500 pounds while creating better air quality for your community. Pledge to reduce your emissions by Carpooling, Driving Wisely and being Idle-Free in 2018 to lower fuel costs, air pollution, and emissions!

5. Volunteer for a Local Effort

Some actions take a village! Pay it forward to your community in 2018 by joining one of Fremont's various volunteer events. You can find environmentally focused volunteer opportunities through the Fremont Green Challenge newsletters and the Community Action page.

Green Challenge Events: FIERCE Sustainability Dinner, February 2, 2018

Is your high school student interested in sustainability? They should consider joining FIERCE and their kick off Sustainability Dinner (<https://www.fremont-greenchallenge.org/fierces-kick-sustainability-dinner>) on Friday, February 2 from 4:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Fremont Teen Center. Students will enjoy an evening of cooking and eating a delicious and sustainable meal while discussing an exciting sustainability competition.

LEAF Docuseries - January 28, 2018

Join Local Ecology and Agriculture Fremont (LEAF) on Sunday, January 28 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Edison Theatre in Fremont to watch "The Greenhorns," the first documentary of their fundraiser film series event. For $20, you will learn about the Good Food Movement. Purchase your ticket at <https://fremontleaf.z2systems.com/np/clients/fremontleaf/eventList.jsp>. The Fremont Green Challenge team will be tabling, so stop by to say hello and learn more about how you can reduce your impact!

Home & Garden

Purrfect plants for a pet-friendly garden

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

The small Spanish town Trigueros del Valle formally recognized dogs and cats as non-human residents who have the same rights as their human counterparts in 2015. This made a bold statement as to how much people care about their pets. The Bay Area has not gone as far in producing equal rights legislation, but people here care just as much for their animal companions. One way people show their affection is by using plants that are safe for dogs and cats when creating a home garden.

Plants have a wide range of impacts on cats and dogs. They range from being toxic to causing irritation, having no effect to stimulating a euphoric reaction, to providing beneficial vitamins and minerals. Plants that are edible for or toxic to people are not always compatible with or detrimental to cats and dogs.

There is a long list of plants that are harmful for cats and dogs. Both will often eat plant material to relieve an upset stomach; they may even throw up afterward. This does not mean that the plants are poisonous. The ten most commonly used toxic plants in Bay Area gardens are: tulip, daffodil, amaryllis, cyclamen, azalea, oleander, autumn crocus, sago palm, kalanchoe, and the house plant dieffenbachia. This list is not complete. The good news is that most cats and dogs avoid ingesting poisonous plants from the garden.

When researching what plants can be poisonous for a cat or dog, some commonly grown fruits and vegetables are often overlooked. Grapes, raisins, onions, garlic, avocados, and rhubarb are all toxic at some level. Dogs especially should be kept away from areas where these plants are grown in the garden because they are more likely to chew on things.

to dominate the entire landscape; they can be small additions that are barely noticeable to people, but much appreciated by a cat or dog.

Catnip is the first plant any cat-friendly garden should have. Fifty percent of cats are driven into a euphoric frenzy when they eat it. Cat thyme is effective on most cats that catnip has no effect upon. The guidelines for a cat-friendly garden include having a dense cluster of ornamental grasses that cats can hide in, some evergreen shrubs that provide shade in the summer and cover from the rain in the winter, and a sunny location with

Visit the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) website (www.asPCA.org/pet-care/animal-poison-control/toxic-and-non-toxic-plants) for a comprehensive list of plants that are poisonous to dogs, cats, and other pets. The Pet Poison Helpline (www.petpoisonhelpline.com) has plant information as well as a 24-hour Animal Poison Control Center helpline: (855) 764-7661.

There are concepts that can be considered for a pet-friendly garden as well as individual plants. These ideas do not have a ground cover that they can lie on. Grasses derived from oats, wheat berries, barley, and other grain grasses help in dispersing hairballs and aid digestion. Lemongrass has the same benefits as other grain grasses with the added benefit of freshening their breath. Licorice root has many positive health effects; the most noteworthy for older cats is alleviating arthritic pain.

The ground rules for a dog-friendly garden reflect the fact that dogs can be more destructive than cats. Start with larger plants that are flexible, not brittle. Avoid planting thorny plants or grasses with barbed seed heads or foxtails, and avoid taller dense grasses as these can house fleas and ticks. Do not plant in dense clusters. Dogs like to run through pathways; use dense border shrubs to provide a natural barrier for off-limits areas.

One anise plant produces a flower head with 100-plus seeds. Anise seeds are catnip for dogs. Basil and oregano are packed with vitamins and minerals and provide a natural way to supplement a dog's food. Carrots provide a low-calorie vitamin packed treat that also helps clean a dog's teeth. Lavender can be found in many dog treats and shampoos, but many dogs will eat the flowers right off the plant. Dogs love to lay and snack on grass. Grass can aid digestion and combat intestinal worms. Aloe Vera has a taste dogs do not like. Its gel, however, can soothe a dog's hot spot while the unpleasant taste deters them from licking it.

There are a few more plants that cats and dogs can eat for health benefits or as treats, but the ones above can all be found in local nurseries and easily grown in the Bay Area climate.

Designing and planting a small part of a garden for a cat or dog can make a big impact on their health and happiness. A dog or cat might not have the same rights as a person here yet, but a pet-friendly garden will be enjoyed equally by all.

THE ACWD CONNECTION

ACWD Toilet Rebate Program

Did you know that toilets use more water than anything else inside your home, accounting for nearly 30 percent of all indoor water consumption? Replacing old toilets with new water-efficient models can help save water and prevent water waste. If you already own high-efficiency toilets, it is a good practice to regularly check for leaks and fix them as soon possible.

Now is the perfect time to replace old toilets! ACWD offers rebates of up to $100 per toilet if you replace an older (pre-1994) toilet that uses 3.5 gallons per flush or more with a qualifying water-efficient model. The water savings doesn't stop at toilets - we offer a wide variety of water conservation rebates and programs to help our customers save water.

For more information on rebates and water conservation, visit www.acwd.org/waterconservation or call 510.668.4218.

Installing a high-efficiency toilet can save 19 gallons per person per day!

Rock & Blues Artists Take Center Stage

SUBMITTED BY KASSIE SHREVE

Where can you go to enjoy a lively and fun night of rock 'n' roll music, foot-stomping blues and soulful vocals followed by second night of Zydeco sounds that blend Cajun music with rhythm and blues?

Check out The Smoking Pig BBQ Restaurant this weekend in Fremont. The restaurant, on Mowry Avenue near Paseo Padre Parkway, is not only a popular eatery, it's a well-known Fremont musical hot-spot that regularly showcases musicians and vocalists from all over the country.

Rocking the stage this week is Alvon Johnson at 9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 26. One of the most versatile musician, singer and entertainers on the music scene today, Johnson was the 2005 Blues Guitar Player of the Year, the former vocalist for Rock and Roll Hall of Fame group "The Coasters," and regional winner of the Guitar Centers "King of the Blues" National contest in 2006 and 2007.

After a successful tour of Russia in 2014, Johnson was nominated for the Entertainer of the Year Award with the International Music and Entertainment Association when he travels to Russia Johnson is referred to as the "King of the Blues" and the "Ambassador of the Blues." His love and respect for the American art form is shared by large and enthusiastic audiences all over the world.

Meanwhile, taking the stage at 9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 27 will be Grammy-nominated musician Andre Thierry. Winner of West Coast Blues Hall of Fame award for "Best Zydeco Group" in 2008 and 2012, Thierry is a virtuoso on all accordion types, single row, double row, triple row and piano key. He effortlessly plays each instrument to deliver everything from a traditional Creole waltz to a hard driving blues that is his own sound.

Andre Thierry & Zydeco Magic captures the attention of music lovers captivates the soul. If you like to dance, he will have you moving all night long. Zydeco is a musical genre evolved in southwest Louisiana by French Creole speakers which blends Cajun music, blues and rhythm and blues.

Come for dinner and stay for the show.

A Chance to Soar

Executive Director Christa Gannon, a Stanford Law School graduate, founded FLY, thanks to a first-year law school detour to Northwestern University.

At 16, Gannon charted her career to become a prosecuting attorney and put criminals behind bars. The choice fit her straight-and-narrow path growing up in the suburbs, heavily influenced by military values – her father, a Vietnam and Persian Gulf veteran and both grandfathers World War II vets.

Gannon graduated from University of California Santa Barbara where her height and skill contributed to two university basketball championships and earned Gannon top female scholar-athlete from the National Collegiate Athletic Association. She headed for Chicago to study law at Northwestern University, although Stanford was her first choice.

Before stepping inside her first Northwestern law class, Gannon spontaneously signed up to teach law to hardened juveniles inside a maximum-security prison. Gannon says she thought volunteering would be impressive on a resume, plus satisfy her curiosity about prisons.

The decision transformed her life.

Showing up as a volunteer that first day in 1995, Gannon was handed a slip of paper and told, “Teach this.” The fourth amendment. Instantly, she realized “this was a bad, bad idea.” Her feeling of being “the wrong person in the wrong place” intensified as hardened young men walked in. “What did I know, a white girl from the suburbs, that I could teach them?” she wondered. She had never experienced search and seizure, laid out in the fourth amendment. In seconds, she admitted her inexperience and ended tentatively, “Maybe we can learn together?”

She spent 10 weeks working with the young men, 90 minutes a session. A new reality bombarded her, their words reverberating in her head: “If only I had known how much trouble I could get in... If only someone had given me a chance... If only someone had cared, then I wouldn’t be here.” Beneath their hardened exteriors, she discovered kids whose life conditions had trained them to believe that by age 18 they would either be in prison or dead.

When the 10-week session ended, she asked: “What now? What can I do?” The program supervisor tried to reassure Gannon, who found no solace with words: “You’ll figure it out.”

The next year Gannon transferred to Stanford Law School and arranged for law students to teach in the juvenile justice system. She asked incarcerated juveniles how she could prevent others from entering the system. They issued a challenge: Teach at-risk young people the law and consequences of crime so they make better choices; assign someone who cares, a positive role model as a mentor; and create opportunities to give back to the community and change societal views.

In 1998, Gannon received a George Soros Foundation two-year fellowship for post graduate study. She traveled across the nation, learning the best practices in youth development and crime prevention, and implemented a pilot program in Santa Clara County’s public defender’s office.

Serving ages 12-18, FLY is based on the premise that all “children deserve the chance to become more than their past mistakes.”

A 12-week law class forms FLY’s foundational program, taught to youth at high risk for criminal justice system entry and incarcerated youth, eligible for parole. Using engaging, nonjudgmental methods, FLY staff and trained volunteers educate youth on legal system aspects that could pertain to them: police encounters, accomplice liability, vandalism, drugs, gangs, arrest, three strikes, and consequences youth face once involved in the legal system. FLY recruits volunteers 21 and older, attracting a number from law schools and universities, particularly San Jose State University’s Justice Studies Department, as mentors.

FLY reports 86 percent of their youth are not convicted of a new crime during a program year, and 83 percent of eligible high school seniors earn diplomas or GEDs.

Youth viewed at highest risk following the 12-week law class are referred to FLY’s Leadership Training Program, which included 117 youth last year. In leadership training, participants identify “their greatest barriers to living a healthy, productive life.” With a FLY case manager’s support, youth develop action plans to address barriers. They meet bi-monthly for support activities and to plan service learning projects to build and redirect their strengths.

Adult mentor volunteers meet with youth leadership participants weekly to support development of attitudes, behaviors, and ambitions that are crime-free.

As FLY has evolved, a middle school program now works with seventh and eighth graders in high-crime, poverty areas to encourage students to remain in school and out of the criminal justice system. A Reentry Program serves youth in longer term incarceration camps in Santa Clara and San Mateo Counties.

FLY operates with a $6 million budget, a staff of 60, and a volunteer core of 200 to serve 2,000 youth. It receives 30 percent of its funding from governmental entities, 45 percent from foundations, and 25 percent from individuals and corporations. An annual December breakfast showcases FLY and attracts 550 attendees at this fundraising event for the nonprofit that Charity Navigator gives its top, four-star rating.

“Call it divine guidance, gut instinct, whispering of our souls, whatever you want,” says Gannon. “A detour took me in the direction I needed to go and the universe conspired in FLY’s favor.”

Reading can ignite a lifetime passion for learning

SUBMITTED BY TIFFANY FENG

There is no experience that compares to reading a book. It is more than just flipping pages; it is opening a portal to a new world and fantastical landscapes. With each word, readers can absorb lessons of compassion, loyalty, and creativity alongside plucky protagonists or feisty heroes. Reading is timeless, and maintaining interest in it for the next generations is critical.

Aimlessly stumbling over boring sentences can seem tedious to a young student, but not if they have an entertaining guide along with them on the journey. Reading River is a nonprofit organization that believes all children have the power to bring themselves to new levels through creativity and reading.

The local nonprofit offers free reading-tutoring sessions with trained volunteers at the Fremont Main Library, and has been doing so for two years. Volunteers not only read along with students, but they also bring the characters to life with funny voices, interesting questions, and lively conversations.

Every experience is tailored to the needs and interests of the readers. In such a nurturing environment, students can grow and shape their future by being inspired by a character, conquering a difficult word, and becoming more confident with each sentence. The magic of a touching story is powerful. At the end of a meeting, students leave with a new love for reading, one that will last and serve them a lifetime.

Meetings are hosted once a month on Saturdays at the Fremont Main Library. More information and meeting dates can be found by visiting the Reading River website at www.reading-river.org or on the Alameda County Library website.

All elementary students are welcome to sign up. Reading River is also considering expanding to other libraries and increasing the frequency of meetings to help spread the love of reading. If you are in high school or junior high and are passionate about giving back to the community, then come join the family by signing up to volunteer on our website. Come join for endless thrilling stories!

Historic house moves down the street

SUBMITTED BY AL MINARD

Perhaps few people today are aware of the contributions of J. Vernon ‘Pop’ Goold (1897-1989) to Fremont’s history, but he was, in his day, a well-loved and active member of the community. Goold began his career in earnest in the mid-1920s at Washington Union High School teaching physical education. He was named Assistant Dean around 1928 and by 1942 had become both principal of WUHS and Superintendent of the school district.

Most significantly he was highly successful campaigning for bond issues that resulted in five new high schools (at a time when there was only one).

Goold often spoke to P.T.A. groups, the Dads-Sons Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Boy Scouts, and more. He was co-chairman of the local March of Dimes campaign and active in Alameda County school politics. After retirement, Goold remained active in education and civic affairs. In 1962, he was appointed to the Juvenile Justice Commission of Alameda County, a position he held for twenty years. He was on the Board of Directors of the Centerville Businessmen’s Association, served as secretary to the Retired Teachers Association of Southern Alameda County, and was active in the Lion’s Club.

Goold’s residence of 57 years (1932-1989) at 3498 Peralta was considered for inclusion in the California Registry of Historic Resources (CRHR), and, because Goold himself was a significant person for his leadership, a property long associated with him, as the Peralta house was, satisfied part of the CRHR’s criteria. However, significant remodeling in 2003 was deemed to have destroyed the design integrity of the house, disqualifying it from inclusion. For the same reason, it was not eligible for the National Register of Historic Places or the Fremont Register.

When Nuvera Homes chose to build at the site, the company wanted to be a good neighbor and demonstrate its appreciation of the area’s history. Even though the house did not qualify for protections it would have had as a listed CRHR property, the company offered to relocate the Goold house at their cost. At the same time, the representative of a family trust (“Linda”) owning a lot down the street announced interest in providing the house a new home.

In order to move the house, there first had to be a foundation and utilities on the new lot. Initial estimates put the cost at about $100,000, but Nuvera stepped in and found a contractor who would do quality work for less. After approaching several banks and lenders the loan was secured. Still, there were permits to be pulled.

The first was from the City of Fremont Planning Department affirming that the house would fit the lot and stand up to code. Then, because Peralta Boulevard is part of California Highway 84, permits were required from CalTrans and the California Highway Patrol to close the road for moving day. The permits were approved, but only after a six month wait. Next, a tree that covered a portion of the road had to be trimmed and, of course, required another permit.

Tree trimmers came out... and trimmed the wrong tree. Undaunted, on Monday morning, December 11, 2017, Fisher Brothers hooked their truck up to three dollies under the house in preparation for the 500-foot move, even as more trouble loomed in the form of nearby power poles and a very large tree. Across the street hung utility cables 16 feet from the roadway, while the peak of the house measured 24 feet. Work stopped while an AT&T work crew raised the cables with a special clamp. Owing to the orientation of the house and the new lot, Fisher Brothers had to push the house in from the front. A tree blocked the path so a worker with a chainsaw had to be hoisted in a bucket lift to prune it.

With the house directly over the new foundation, the house movers put hydraulic jacks under the house and raised it to remove the dollies. They then used cribbing stacks to set the house down, perfectly level. The men worked almost silently, as if an industrial ballet were being performed to the sound of diesel engines.

By 3 p.m., the Fisher Brothers crew had packed up their gear, the house now in location and level—just a little higher than its final height so the foundation could be poured. Finally, the house was lowered to its new home.

A big thank you to all the people that made this happen. Incidentally, Fisher Brothers has said those were the most hours spent on a move that short.

Want to honor an outstanding woman? Here’s how

SUBMITTED BY ESTHER CONCEPCION

There is still time to submit the names of outstanding local women to be considered for the 2018 Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame. The deadline has been extended to Wednesday, Jan. 31.

Honorees will be celebrated at the 25th Annual Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame Luncheon and Awards Ceremony on Saturday, March 24 at the Greek Orthodox Cathedral in Oakland. The event will be co-hosted by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and the Alameda County Commission on the Status of Women.

For its 25th anniversary, the Women’s Hall of Fame is accepting nominations in a new category: Emerging Leader, which will celebrate young women representing a new generation of leaders. In addition, women will be honored in 12 other categories: Business and Professions; Community Service; Culture and Art; Education; Environment; Health; Justice; Non-Traditional Careers; Science, Technology, Engineering; Sports and Athletics; Philanthropy and Youth.

Over the years, more than 200 women have been inducted into the Alameda County Women’s Hall of Fame. In addition to honoring extraordinary women leaders from Alameda County, the annual event raises funds to provide youth scholarships and supports local nonprofit community partners serving women, youth and families.

Nominations can be submitted by visiting the organization’s website at www.acgov.org/whof/. For details, call (510) 272-6984.

Banking symposium

SUBMITTED BY HAYWARD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The banking industry in the greater Bay Area is not just for accounting and finance majors. The industry needs a wide variety of business talent to thrive. Come hear from a number of banking professionals—some of whom are Bay area university alumni—regarding their needs and discover your niche in the banking profession!

After the Symposium, feel free to network with company professionals looking for talented career-oriented individuals. Dress for success and bring your resumes, cover letters, and references. Let your talent shine!

Speakers will include:

Lynn Fraley, vice-president of human resources for 1st United Services Credit Union

Nelva Samiee, professional mortgage consultant for Diversified Mortgage Group

Kim Ponce, branch manager for Wells Fargo

Banking Symposium
Wednesday, Jan 24

Sunny Question

Why are sunny winter days COLD, while sunny summer days are HOT? Kid Scoop's winter expert Dr. I. Cicle explains it all!

Standards Link: Earth Science: Students know that weather can be observed, measured and described; changes in weather and seasons are affected by the Earth's position

Experiment Tells All

Try this experiment to understand the difference between indirect and direct sunlight.

Keep track of your work on a separate sheet of paper like the Scientist's Notebook.

Stuff you need:

- 2 metal pie tins or flat pans
- a sunny winter day
- watch or clock
- a rock

What to do:

1. Lay one pan flat on the ground in the direct sunlight. (Fig. 1)
2. Tilt the other pan on its side. Lean it against a rock or a shoe. This pan is being hit with indirect sunlight. (Fig. 2)
3. Wait three minutes.
4. Which pan is warmer?

Standards Link: Investigation: Students will make predictions based on observation; answer meaningful questions and draw conclusions.

(Fig. 1) direct sunlight

(Fig. 2) indirect sunlight

SCIENTIST'S NOTEBOOK

Question	Hypothesis	Observation	Conclusion
Which pan do you think will feel warmer after three minutes in the winter sun?	What do you think the answer to the question is? ☐ pan in direct sunlight ☐ pan in indirect sunlight	Which pan was warmer in three minutes? ☐ pan in direct sunlight ☐ pan in indirect sunlight	Was your hypothesis correct? What did you learn from this experiment?

Extra! Extra!

Without the Sun ...

Without the sun we wouldn't have newspapers because newsprint is made from trees and trees need the sun to grow. Look through the newspaper for other things that need the sun to exist.

Standards Link: Language Arts/Research: Use the newspaper to locate information.

Sun Spot Mystery

The sun is covered with spots! Use the spots to solve the mystery questions.

How far is the sun from the Earth?
MM million miles (149.6 million km)

How long does it take the sun to make one complete rotation?
XX Earth days

What is the diameter of the sun?
XXX miles. (1.4 million km)

WARNING! Never look directly at the sun as this can damage your eyesight!

Standards Link: Earth Science: Students know about the sun, planets and stars.

SMART FUN AT HOME

One important thing to understand when you read is cause and effect.

For example, in the legend of Groundhog Day, when the groundhog sees his shadow, he goes back in his burrow. In this case, the effect is that the groundhog goes back in his burrow. That is what happens. What causes him to go back in his burrow? Getting frightened by his shadow.

Try It!

1. With a parent or learning buddy at home, select an article from today's newspaper. Read the headline. Discuss what you think caused the news reported in the headline.
2. The headline usually tells what happened. This is called an effect. Read aloud to your learning buddy the first paragraph of the article. Does this tell you the cause? Read the rest of the article aloud. After each paragraph, stop and discuss what you have learned about what caused the news reported in the headline.

Complete the following:

HEADLINE (effect):

CAUSE(s):

NAME:

NAME OF LEARNING BUDDY:

Standards Link: Reading Comprehension Distinguish between cause and effect in text.

Kid Scoop VOCABULARY BUILDERS

This week's word: HYPOTHESIS

The noun hypothesis means a suggestion or guess not proved but the basis for further study.

The class was asked to test their hypothesis.

Try to use the word hypothesis in a sentence today when talking with your friends and family.

FROM THE LESSON LIBRARY

Who cares about the weather?

Why is the weather report important to different people? Why is it important to a farmer, an astronaut or a fireman? Find an article or picture in the newspaper of a person who cares about the weather. Tell why this person cares.

Standards Link: Reading Comprehension: Understand the main idea and supporting details in expository text.

What kind of caps do snowmen wear?

ANSWER: Ice caps.

Write On! Winter Poem

Write a poem about winter or winter weather.

To download an Advisory Body application, visit www.Fremont.gov/Boardsand-Commissions and review the Resources section at the bottom of the page. You may also obtain an application from the City Clerk's Office at 3300 Capitol Ave., Building A. Please note that the City Clerk's Office accepts applications throughout the year, not just when there are vacancies.

For more information call 510-284-4060.

Applications are kept on file through the end of the calendar year and are reviewed by the Mayor and Council when a vacancy occurs. A current list of applicants is established each year. Applications may be submitted to the City Clerk at any time between January 1 and December 31. These applications may be considered for various vacancies throughout the year; however, on December 31, any remaining applications of these persons not appointed will be void. In order to be considered this year, a new application will need to be submitted.

On November 8, 2016, California voters passed the Control, Regulate and Tax Adult Use of Marijuana Act (AUMA), legalizing non-medical use of marijuana by persons 21 years of age and over, and the personal cultivation of up to six marijuana plants. Under the AUMA, a state regulatory and licensing system was established to govern the commercial cultivation, testing and distribution of non-medical marijuana, and the manufacturing of non-medical marijuana plants. With the passage of AUMA, the City of Fremont was required to amend the Zoning Ordinance to address non-medical marijuana activities.

On June 6, 2017, the Fremont City Council amended the City of Fremont's Marijuana Regulation Municipal Code Section 18.190.307. The amendments allow possession, transportation and cultivation of marijuana to the extent expressly authorized under State law, and bans all other marijuana activities not expressly authorized under State law. The amendments also provide reasonable regulations pertaining to the personal cultivation of marijuana, including the establishment of a local registration requirement through the Fremont Police Department. A prohibition of outdoor cultivation and other measures was adopted to protect adjacent properties from cultivation in a manner that would create fire hazards, visual blight, unpleasant odors, excessive energy use, and other objectionable impacts.

Fremont Police Chief Richard Lucero has established an annual registration procedure for the personal cultivation of marijuana within City of Fremont limits. No person shall commence or continue to cultivate marijuana within the City of Fremont without first registering the site of the cultivation. Registration requires name, address, contact information, age verification and property owner verification and/or notification. To read the City of Fremont guidelines and to register, please visit www.FremontPolice.org/MarijuanaRegistration.

Google for Entrepreneurs
📍 Fremont

Startup Grind Fremont is back for another fireside chat on Tuesday, January 30, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. This time, join us as we learn what investors look for when deciding to invest. Hear from Lili Balfour, founder of Ateller Advisor. Startup Grind Fremont will be meeting at its new location: Peerbuds Innovation Labs, located at 4580 Auto Mall Parkway Suite #121 in Fremont (located on the backside of Unitek).

Lili is the founder of Ateller Advisors, where she has advised more than 100 companies to go on to raise over $200 million. She is the creator and host of Finance for Entrepreneurs, a platform that has educated over 10,000 entrepreneurs around the world. In this highly interactive session, Lili will share how to win over investors by speaking in the language they understand. Participants are encouraged to bring specific questions about their fundraising challenges.

Startup Grind Fremont is the Silicon Valley East chapter of the international business startup community that has hosted more than 2,000 fireside chats across 200 cities and 85 countries! Every month or so, we get our local entrepreneurial community together to mix and mingle, hear from a featured speaker, find mentorship, pursue funding, and gain new customers.

Can't make it to this event? No problem. We have many more events scheduled for the near future. You can find additional information and purchase your tickets here: www.startupgrind.com/fremont.

Accela Citizen
Access

Fremont has launched a new online tool called “Citizen Access,” available at www.Fremont.gov/CitizenAccess. Using the City’s new Accela software, this tool allows community members to easily access multiple permitting services including looking up permit information on a specific property, requesting a building inspection, and submitting a code enforcement concern. With Citizen Access, residents can easily check on the status of a permit application with the record number or the property address. The tool also allows users to schedule a building inspection by creating an account, submit a code enforcement concern using the address of the violation, or look up the status of any record.

The City will continue to implement and share updates on any additional online features as they become available.

Fremont is home to a vibrant community of older adults who stay connected through programs like the Community Ambassador Program for Seniors (CAPS), events like the Four Seasons of Health Expo, and more! If you are an older adult living in Fremont and want to get connected, sign up for our online Age-Friendly Fremont newsletter. Subscribers will receive information about Fremont Senior Center events, volunteer opportunities, trips, and classes. The newsletter also includes helpful resources such as “speaker spotlight” sessions, available appointments and services, and the monthly menu for the Lake Side Café, which is located at the Senior Center.

Email us at seniorcenter@fremont.gov to receive a free monthly copy electronically. You can also access the newsletter at www.Fremont.gov/Senior-CenterNews.

THE CITY OF FREMONT'S HUMAN SERVICES DEPARTMENT is very proud to assist older adults in obtaining information and support. One popular program is called "Care Coordination". This Aging and Family Services program is a collaborative process between an older adult, his/her family and our multi-disciplinary team to meet an individual's health, financial, and social needs. The overall goal is to provide individualized support in the Tri-City area so people can continue to live safely and well at home. Experienced Human Services staff, often called Care Coordinators, will make home visits to complete a thorough assessment and care plan and then provide regular follow-up over the phone or in person. Some common examples of care coordination services are helping with medical insurance and figuring out benefits, finding transportation alternatives, assessing home safety and then providing for modification, obtaining needed services, connecting to resources, and understanding recreational and social activity options. Call our multi-lingual Senior Help Line (English, Mandarin, Spanish and Farsi) to talk to a care coordinator at 510.574.2041 and/or email Aging and Family Services at AFS@fremont.gov for more information.

Neil Diamond tribute band brings power and sparkle

SUBMITTED BY CASTRO VALLEY ARTS FOUNDATION

Super Diamond delivers a glittering show performing Neil Diamond's power ballads and up-tempo hits of the last 30 years. Leader Randy Cordero (aka Surreal Neil) describes the band as "Neil Diamond on steroids." Not just a cover band, Super Diamond creates their own version of Diamond's songs incorporating contemporary riffs by Guns N' Roses, KISS, and AC/DC. Break out your vintage sequins, bell bottoms, platform shoes and party on when Super Diamond comes to the Castro Valley Center for the Arts on Saturday, January 27. For tickets or more information, call (510) 889-8961 or visit www.cvartsfoundation.org.

LEAF presents documentary film series

SUBMITTED BY NORMAN HODGSON

To celebrate its 10th anniversary, Local Ecology and Agriculture Fremont (LEAF) is presenting a series of environmental documentary films on sustainable agriculture. All events include a sampling of local food, followed by the screening and a Q&A. "The Greenhorns" begins the series on Sunday, January 28. This film is about the Good Food Movement, featuring local farms and policy makers finding grassroots solutions to growing local food systems and economies. The Q&A will have young farmers from Sunol's Feral Heart Farm, who collaborated with the director/producer of the film. What are the bees telling us? On Sunday, February 25 you'll find out in "Queen of the Sun." Winner of numerous awards, this documentary takes a profound look at the global bee crisis, with an interview by Berkeley's famous foodie Michael Pollen. Learn about urban agriculture from the Bay Area to the East Coast on Sunday, March 25 with "Edible City: Grow the Future," a fun, fast-paced journey through the local Good Food Movement. Films will be screened at the Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum. Buy your ticket early to secure a seat in this small historic theater! Tickets are $20 each or $45 for all three films. Proceeds benefit LEAF's C.R. Stone Garden, where volunteers grow veggies for donation to the Tri-City Volunteers Food Bank. For more information about LEAF or to register for the film series, visit <https://fremontleaf.org>.

Community Garden Project Needs Volunteers

SUBMITTED BY JENNIFER TIBBETTS

The Kenneth Aitken Senior Center has an exciting project to start the New Year- our Community Garden Project! We are partnering with the Area Agency on Aging, Alameda County Public Health Nutrition Services and City Slickers Farm to provide garden plots at the Senior Center for seniors to grow their own food. On Thursday, January 25th at 10 a.m. we are having our build day at the Senior Center. We need five volunteers to help build and assemble two planter boxes, prepare soil/compost for seeds/plants, and install a drip irrigation system alongside Senior Center & City Slickers Staff. All help is needed and appreciated. Call Jen at 510-881-6742 to reserve your spot.

Craft your Elevator Pitch

SUBMITTED BY ALLIE KING

Imagine you walk into an elevator and are surprised to find the hiring manager for your dream job. You have 30 seconds to tell them about yourself and make them want to learn more. This is the art of the "elevator pitch." A good, short elevator pitch is an immensely useful networking tool — you can use it anywhere, not just in an elevator. City Speech Toastmasters will host a free public speaking workshop where you can create, practice, and fine-tune your own personal elevator pitch. After a keynote speech and how-to presentation, each workshop participant will compose their elevator pitch, try it out in a small group, give and receive feedback before presenting it to the entire workshop group. Toastmasters International is a non-profit organization that has helped people improve their public speaking and leadership skills for over a century, and City Speech Toastmasters is a local chapter centrally located in Fremont. Admission is free, but reservations must be made online at <http://bit.ly/EP-TCV>. To learn more about the local Toastmasters club, visit their website at <https://cityspeech.toastmastersclubs.org/>

Park It

By NED MACKAY

Coyotes and you

Recently, while we were watching a coyote from a distance at Briones Regional Park, some other hikers expressed concerns to me about potential danger to themselves and their pet dogs.

Coyotes may be seen more frequently in coming weeks, because this is near the season when the animals den up and give birth to pups. At that time, they become more protective and territorial.

There are lots of coyotes in Bay Area open spaces. They can be found in almost every regional park, from the inland hills to the shores of San Francisco Bay. And they've been spotted trotting down streets in suburban neighborhoods.

I walk in the parks a lot, and though I don't often see coyotes themselves, I often see their distinctive scat, which has a lot of fur mixed in it from the small rodents that comprise their basic diet. Really, they are pretty much omnivorous. Through their eating habits, they help to control the population of animals such as rabbits, ground squirrels, skunks and raccoons.

Like dogs and wolves, coyotes are members of the canid family. They resemble smaller, skinnier versions of a German shepherd dog. Tan in color, they have long snouts and bushy black-tipped tails. They are very intelligent, adaptable animals.

Though they look like dogs, coyotes are wild and may occasionally be aggressive. If you are walking with your dog in open land, and see a coyote approaching, it's best to call your pet back to you and put it on leash. If a coyote follows you, make loud noises to scare it away. I have heard of no instances of coyotes attacking people in the regional parks.

For the benefit of both species, coyotes need to remain wary of humans. So, coyotes should never be given handouts or be fed unintentionally by leaving pet food or garbage where they can get to it. Especially if you live near open space, feed your pet indoors and use trash containers with lids that clamp shut.

It's also advisable to keep pets such as cats, rabbits and small dogs indoors. If allowed to run free outside, they can become prey for coyotes. Large dogs should be brought indoors after dark and should not be allowed to run loose. Coyotes can and do mate with domestic dogs.

For more information about coyotes, check out the California State Fish and Game website, www.wildlife.ca.gov/keep-me-wild/coyote.

If you like taking nature photos with your I-phone, you'll enjoy a program from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 27 at Big Break Regional Shoreline in Oakley.

Naturalist Cat Taylor will show some simple tricks for better results, and share them through a group critique. Bring a charged phone and a cord.

Big Break is at 69 Big Break Road off Oakley's Main Street. Call (888) 327-2757, ext. 3050 for information.

The resident snakes at Black Diamond Mines Regional Preserve in Antioch will have their day in the sun on Sunday, Jan. 28. Naturalist Eddie Willis will show the snakes and describe how they survive, in a program from 1 to 3 p.m. He'll be in the parking lot at the end of Somersville Road, 3.5 miles south of Highway 4. For information, call (888) 327-2757, ext. 2750.

An ensemble of puppets will act out natural history stories during an electrifying show from 1 to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 27 at Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley. Puppet masters are interpretive student aides Laura Graham and Josh Armosino. It's a great show. The venue is the auditorium in Tilden's Environmental Education Center, located at the north end of Central Park Drive. For information, call (510) 544-2233.

Low tide exploration is the plan for Family Nature Fun hour from 2 to 3 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 27 and 28 at Crab Cove Visitor Center in Alameda. The center is at the end of McKay Avenue off Central Avenue. Call (510) 544-3187.

Coyote Cubs is a program series at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont, designed for kids ages 3 to 5, accompanied by a parent or caregiver. The kids play games, explore the park, and make a craft, led by naturalist Francis Mendoza and the interpretive staff.

California Indian games will be the activity on Monday, Jan. 29. Meet at the visitor center at 10:30 a.m.

Coyote Hills is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road. There's a parking fee of $5 per vehicle; the program is free. Call (510) 544-3220.

For a complete list of programs and activities in the regional parks, visit the website, www.ebparks.org.

Pope Francis in his Laudato Si' encyclical linked social justice with environmental justice. Authentic ecological discussions and solutions must acknowledge the needs of the poor along with the needs of Mother Earth. All life is connected.

Globally women and girls suffer disproportionately the crushing impact of poverty—a reality recognized by the United Nations. How can local communities and the Dominican family work to empower women locally and around the world? St. Rose Hospital Christmas Baby

SUBMITTED BY GLORIA LARA

For the past five years, one of the St. Rose Hospital family, Gayle Mallon, has knitted a Christmas cocoon for the first Christmas baby. This year's St. Rose Hospital Christmas Baby belongs to Brenda Ramos of Hayward. Baby Ramos was born at 6:56 a.m. at St. Rose Hospital in Hayward. She weighed 8 pounds, 4 ounces.

Gayle Mallon is the wife of Robert Mallon, a member of the St. Rose Hospital Foundation Board of Directors since 2007. Mrs. Mallon started crocheting pumpkin baby hats in October 2010. "It has brought me such pleasure to do this. Often times, families will let me know that they have kept those hats for years as memories of the blessed event," said Gayle Mallon when asked why she knits the hats. Several thousand baby hats have been crocheted by her for the babies at St. Rose Hospital and for many in the community since.

St. Rose Hospital is thankful for the hard work of Gayle Mallon and congratulates Brenda Ramos on the birth of her baby girl.

Greene Repeats as CCAA Women's Basketball Player of the Week

SUBMITTED BY STEVE CONNOLLY

On the strength of a career-high 24-rebound performance on January 11th, Cal State East Bay forward Morgan Greene has repeated as California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) Women's Basketball Player of the Week for Jan. 8-14, the conference office announced January 16th.

This is the second career Player of the Week award for Greene, who becomes the first CSUEB basketball player to capture the honor back-to-back weeks since the Pioneers joined the conference in 2009.

The redshirt sophomore averaged 16.0 points and 16.5 rebounds while shooting 60 percent from the field as the Pioneers split their home weekend with Cal State San Marcos and UC San Diego.

Greene's career-best rebounding mark came in a 77-63 overtime victory over the Cougars, in which she also contributed a team-high 19 points. That was her 13th double-double of the season, which leads the CCAA and ranks No. 2 in the nation.

Fremont Skater Makes Olympic Team

By Terry Terzian, Special to the Tri-City Voice

The Olympic dreams of one young Fremont native became reality when 18-year old Karen Chen skated two strong performances at the recently-concluded 2018 Prudential U.S. Figure Skating Championships to earn the bronze medal and a trip to Pyeongchang, South Korea, site of next month's Winter Olympics.

Last year's national champion, Chen learned she had been selected for the Olympic Team a couple of hours after her free-skating performance. "When I received the text around 11:30 p.m., I screamed, I jumped up, and I was exhausted too, but I had just enough energy to scream and my mom looked at me and she was like, 'Is this it,' and I'm like, yes, it is and I was in complete shock!" Chen said. "The anticipation really killed me and I was for sure a little bit worried about what the decision was, but again I just stayed so focused on the positives and I knew that I had no regrets."

2018. All told over 100,000 spectators attended the 10 days of competition. Skating two virtually flawless performances and earning the gold medal was 19-year old Bradie Tennell of Carpentersville, Illinois. Rounding out our Ladies' Olympic Team is the silver medal winner in San Jose, 24-year old Mirai Nagasu, of Arcadia, California.

Left off the team was one of the pre-event favorites for a spot, 3-time national champion 26-year old Ashley Wagner of Alexandria, Virginia. Wagner placed fifth in the short program and, although edging Chen in the free skate, still placed a final fourth overall, just a couple points behind Chen.

"We are very happy with the team," said U.S. Figure Skating President and International Selection Committee member Sam Auxier. "The selection process was pretty straightforward for the committee to make the selection."

Born in Fremont, Chen's family has split time between Fremont and Hayward. Her father is a software engineer, and her one sibling, Jeffrey, 15, also skates competitively. Karen represents the Peninsula Skating Club in San Jose and trains primarily in Riverside, CA, under the watchful eye of veteran coach Tammy Gambill.

When not gliding across the ice, Karen enjoys painting, drawing, and other arts and crafts. She also does a good amount of her own skating choreography.

In the senior men's event, the Bay Area has another reason to celebrate. 17-year old San Jose native Vincent Zhou recovered from a fifth place in the short program with a strong free skate to earn a bronze medal and punch his ticket to the Olympics.

The winner of the men's event was 18-year old wunderkind Nathan Chen of Salt Lake City. Armed with an arsenal of quadruple jumps Chen is a potential gold medal winner at the Olympics. Earning the silver medal with the free skate of his lifetime was 26-year old Ross Miner of Boston.

The selection of the men's Olympic Team was a controversial one. Miner was left off the team in favor of 28-year old Adam Rippon of Scranton, Pennsylvania. Rippon faltered in the free program finishing fourth overall but due largely to a stronger competitive record was awarded the third spot on the Olympic Team.

Of great note was the performance turned in by 12-year old skating prodigy Alysa Liu of Richmond. In winning the Junior Ladies title, Liu displayed a jumping mastery rivaling many of the senior ladies. Liu trains at the Oakland Ice Center. Watch for her name in the years to come!

Lady Colts use speed and ball control to beat Lady Huskies

The James Logan Colts (Union City) Girls Junior Varsity basketball team beat the Junior Varsity Lady Huskies of Washington High School (Fremont) January 19th by a lopsided 46-27 margin. The score, however, was not indicative of the hard fight in the paint area between the teams. With team injuries hampering their effort, the Lady Huskies made a valiant effort but were unable to even the match with the Lady Colts.

New train cars now in service

SUBMITTED BY BAY AREA RAPID TRANSIT

BART’s new Fleet of the Future train is here. The very first customers to ride the new train cars boarded the train at MacArthur Station January 19, 2018, as it made its inaugural passenger run. The new cars feature a wide spectrum of improvements over BART’s legacy fleet, currently the oldest fleet in the nation. The Fleet of the Future cars are:

- Quieter: micro-plug doors help seal out noise and a new tapered wheel shape will provide a quieter ride
- Cooler: cooling systems distribute air directly from the ceilings, making it more comfortable for standees on hot days
- Comfortable: padded seats will have lumbar support and are covered with wipeable fabric for ease of cleaning
- Easy to use: routes are color coded like the BART system map, and next stop information is readily available via automated announcements and digital screens.

Perhaps the most notable difference is that the new cars have three doors on each side instead of two which will allow for quicker on-and-off boarding.

This is important as BART works to improve its capacity to carry more passengers; since BART first ordered 775 new rail cars in 2012, ridership has grown 14 percent.

“I am thrilled our riders finally get a chance to ride in these cars they helped design,” said General Manager Grace Crunican. “These state-of-the-art cars represent a new chapter for BART. Commuters and casual riders alike will notice a huge improvement in their experience.”

For the initial phase of carrying passengers, the new train will run on the Richmond to Warm Springs/South Fremont line during non-peak hours Monday-Friday (9am-3pm and 8pm until Midnight) and on weekends. It will run during commute hours and on all the lines once it has had some time out in the system carrying riders.

BART will get its next delivery of new cars in February. Over the next several years, production will ramp up to a rate of 16-20 new cars per month. The balance of new train cars is scheduled to be delivered before the end of 2022.

Dave Cortese ends board presidency

BY RHODA J. SHAPIRO

Dave Cortese feels blessed to have served as President on Santa Clara County’s Board of Supervisors for three consecutive years. At his last Board of Supervisors meeting as president, on January 9, Cortese gave a departing presidential speech before Supervisor Joe Simitian was welcomed as incoming President.

After joking about how the biggest change will be the removal of the word “President” from his LinkedIn profile, Supervisor Cortese spoke of how meaningful it was for him to chair the board, especially during the past year.

“I truly feel blessed to have served as President of this board. And to have chaired this board for four of my nine years as a member of the Board of Supervisors...and the last three of those years consecutively,” said Supervisor Cortese. “I want to thank my colleagues one more time for giving me all of those opportunities, but particularly the opportunity to preside over this past year. Because this past year really became an opportunity for the Board of Supervisors here in Santa Clara County to share with the rest of the nation, and perhaps the rest of the world, our values...”

In a year full of twists and turns, among them the Trump Administration’s attempts to repeal Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), Supervisor Cortese has had his hands full. In October of 2017, Santa Clara County, along with Service Employees International Union Local 521, filed a lawsuit against the Trump Administration and their plans to eliminate DACA. Recently, U.S. District Court Judge William Alsup responded to the lawsuit by ordering a temporary block of the DACA repeal.

“...we were really called out just about a year ago to respond with our best moral compass to challenges to our very way of life, our way of thinking, our design for living, here in Santa Clara County,” said Supervisor Cortese, right before thanking his colleagues, along with county management, staff, and attorneys. He also thanked his own staff for all the support and “heavy lifting over the last nine years.”

After his speech, Supervisor Cortese made a motion to elect Joe Simitian as President, as well as Cindy Chavez as Vice President. The motion was seconded by Supervisor Mike Wasserman. It passed unanimously.

In his very first action as President, Simitian came up to the microphone to thank Supervisor Cortese...and hand him a special present.

“Dave has led us through what I think we could all agree were both challenging but very productive times,” said incoming President Simitian. “There’s always the question when you step away from a particular function or role, can you let go? Can you particularly let go of the gavel? So, in order to make sure that my colleague doesn’t have gavel withdrawal problems, we have a ceremonial gavel [for him].”

Simitian then handed Cortese the gavel.

Resources for undocumented immigrants

SUBMITTED BY CHUCK FINNIE

The City of Hayward announced today it has updated its online resources and policy guide addressing concerns of undocumented immigrant residents. The updated website reiterates the city’s commitment to inclusiveness and equal treatment of all residents regardless of immigration status. The contents include links to support services tailored to our local and regional immigrant community, including a legal hotline (510) 241-4011. We invite suggested additions to this information—which can be sent by email to our public information officer at pio@hayward-ca.gov.

Task force targets downtown area for cleanup

SUBMITTED BY THE CITY OF HAYWARD

The Keep Hayward Clean and Green Task Force is bringing its annual program of monthly community clean-up and beautification events to downtown with a replanting, litter collection and graffiti removal project at Five Flags, set for Saturday, Jan. 27.

Five Flags open space — bisected by Foothill Boulevard and bordered by D and Main streets and Mission Boulevard — is the gateway to downtown Hayward from the south and needs a little care and attention.

Much of the original landscaping has eroded. Plants, shrubs and trees are suffering, litter is building up and public fixtures are graffiti-covered.

Starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 27, the representatives from the city Maintenance Services Department will be on hand with a landscaping plan, new plantings, other materials and equipment. City maintenance workers will team up with Task Force members and Hayward community members who want to get involved and volunteer for a few hours to pick-up, clean-up, and bring new love and luster to this central location in the heart of our city.

After the work is finished by about noon, participants are encouraged to share their experience on social media, using the hashtag #HaywardBeautiful — and to stick around, take a stroll and visit downtown Hayward merchants, restaurants, bars and cafés.

Volunteers can save time by pre-registering through the City of Hayward webpage at www.hayward-ca.gov — but anyone and everyone is welcome to show up and sign up at the event.

The event location is accessible from BART Hayward station. Parking is limited at the Five Flags lot so participants arriving by car may use the lot at nearby Sun Gallery at 1015 E. Street. Ample nearby street and garage parking also is available.

The Keep Hayward Clean and Green Task Force was formed by the City Council in 2007. It has 30 members who are appointed to four-year terms. Its mission is to improve the environment and enhance the visual appearance of the City of Hayward through the joint efforts of individuals, volunteer groups, businesses and municipal resources.

Meetings are held at 7 p.m. the fourth Thursday of every month in City Hall Conference Room 2A at 777 B Street. Monthly clean-up and beautification events take place the fourth Saturday of the month at various locations in the city. For details, visit the Hayward webpage at www.hayward-ca.gov and typing “clean and green task force” into the search field.

OPINION

WILLIAM MARSHAK

In some areas of our country, introduction of diverse customs, lifestyles, dress and physical features may be a random and rare occurrence with dramatic impact on affected communities. Although culture wars are evident in the current national dialogue, our area has been preparing for a transformative world view of social and political changes for decades. It has not been easy for many residents; some fled, others adapted. Open dialogue has revealed significant distrust of our political system to accommodate this change. Will it protect those immersed in a sea of uncertainty, accommodating their livelihood and standard of living?

The issue of whether to turn outward or inward has been manufactured for the current political climate. Since isolationist sentiment emerged prior to two world wars, our communities have been faced with decisions that force us to examine the essential fabric of our nation. Do we honor our ancestors who, for the most part, immigrated to a “land of opportunity”? These folks were proud people who many considered outcasts and undesirable, but passed their essential character to descendants, building the mighty nation we live in today. For those already embedded within an existing structure, the threat of new and different heritage and ideas was terrifying, but look what this mongrel mix of humanity created? There are few that will deny the result was a vibrant and powerful force that became a beacon for others struggling with oppressive tactics and restrictive strategies.

Our communities are entwined in a web of change, some of it in progress for a long time. There are highly visible moments that accentuate and bring awareness but much happens in our day-to-day lives with only minor ripples in our lives. The Greater Tri-City area has transformed from rural and agricultural to a suburban/urban environment. With it has come significant social and political changes... we have survived and thrived! Although there is plenty of anxiety and fear when the world transforms around us, it also challenges our better selves to rise to the test.

With this election year comes uncertainty but also opportunity. Fremont will begin its evolution to a district system of representation; other communities will be asked to decide whether current elected officials should be reelected or replaced. This is our system and, through all of its flaws, remains as a binding contract between the electorate and those who ask to serve. Personality cults are separated from this system, allowing a free exchange of ideas that fosters dissention and debate. This is not a comfortable time, nor should it be.

This discomfort is our heritage and can be found from the earliest days of this country during the American Revolution and words of Thomas Paine in 1776:

“THESE are the times that try men’s souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands by it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly: it is dearness only that gives every thing its value.”

As this year progresses and voices are raised in strident statements and rebuttal, it is our responsibility to listen and learn as much as possible to make informed and rational choices. We carry a proud and rebellious heritage that has been unafraid to welcome the best people and attributes of our world, even when hidden behind petty jealousies, prejudice and despotism.

Pledges of loyalty to our country and its promise extends to its ideals, not a particular individual or party, rather a system that values individuals and human rights over blind obedience. A portion of Emma Lazarus’ poem, written in 1883, inscribed on a plaque placed on the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty has served as a beacon, not just for the United States of America, but for humanity at large. In this year of strife, discord and political posturing, it still rings true:

*“Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door.”*

That light shines in all directions and, hopefully, will continue to radiate a full 360 degrees.

County of Santa Clara challenges repeal of Net Neutrality protections

SUBMITTED BY
MARÍA LETICIA GÓMEZ/LAUREL ANDERSON

The County of Santa Clara filed a petition on January 16, 2018 for review in federal court challenging the Trump Administration's unlawful repeal of net neutrality protections. Filed by the Office of the County Counsel with assistance from Stanford Law School's Juelsgaard Intellectual Property and Innovation Clinic, the petition seeks to preserve fair and open access to the internet.

"The FCC's decision to repeal the net neutrality rules harms start-ups, small companies and other businesses that rely on a level playing field to compete," said Supervisor Joe Simitian, President of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors. "It also hampers development of cutting-edge Internet technologies, and threatens the public's ability to engage in the digital town square. The County is committed to protecting this important right."

Net neutrality rules prohibit broadband internet service providers from discriminating against lawful internet traffic—generally by blocking it or slowing it down—for financial or other reasons. In 2015, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) issued formal rules protecting net neutrality. These rules offered critical protections for County residents, start-ups, small and large business, and County government.

The County has made substantial investments in systems that provide critical health, welfare and safety services over the Internet, and a reversal of the FCC's net neutrality rules threatens the ability of County residents to access those and other critical web-based services. On December 14, 2017, the FCC (now chaired by Trump appointee Ajit Pai), announced its decision to reverse course and eliminate its net neutrality rules. That same day, the County declared its intent to file a lawsuit challenging the decision.

Last Thursday [January 11, 2018], the FCC released its final order abandoning the rules. The County filed a "protective" petition for review as a precautionary move to preserve the County's procedural rights in the litigation.

"The FCC's repeal of the net neutrality rules is unlawful and threatens the continued existence of the free and open Internet," said Santa Clara County Counsel James R. Williams. "The County provides many critical services to its residents through the Internet, and we will fight to ensure that the FCC's unlawful actions do not undermine access to these and other vital online resources."

Marijuana Guidelines and Registration Requirements

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

On November 8, 2016, California voters passed the Control, Regulate and Tax Adult Use of Marijuana Act (AUMA), legalizing non-medical use of marijuana by persons 21 years of age and over, and the personal cultivation of up to six marijuana plants. Under the AUMA, a state regulatory and licensing system was established to govern the commercial cultivation, testing and distribution of non-medical marijuana, and the manufacturing of non-medical marijuana plants. With the passage of AUMA, the City of Fremont was required to amend the Zoning Ordinance to address non-medical marijuana activities.

On June 6, 2017, the Fremont City Council amended the City of Fremont's Marijuana Regulation Municipal Code Section 18.190.307. The amendments allow possession, transportation and cultivation of marijuana to the extent expressly authorized under State law, and bans all other marijuana activities not expressly authorized under State law. The amendments also provide reasonable regulations pertaining to the personal cultivation of marijuana, including the establishment of a local registration requirement through the Fremont Police Department. A prohibition of outdoor cultivation and other measures was adopted to protect adjacent properties from cultivation in a manner that would create fire hazards, visual blight, unpleasant odors, excessive energy use, and other objectionable impacts.

Fremont Police Chief Richard Lucero has established an annual registration procedure for the personal cultivation of marijuana within City of Fremont limits. No person shall commence or continue to cultivate marijuana within the City of Fremont without first registering the site of the cultivation. Registration requires name, address, contact information, age verification and property owner verification and/or notification. Please visit the Fremont Police Department's Marijuana Registration webpage to read the City of Fremont guidelines and to register.

California governor considers one-tunnel water plan

BY ELLEN KNICKMEYER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Jerry Brown’s administration is proposing scaling back his troubled plans to redo California’s water system, releasing a new plan that would build only one tunnel to ship water from Northern California instead of two, and put Southern and central California water agencies directly in charge of designing and building it.

The state posted the revised proposal late Friday on a state website that solicits bids for state contracts, saying for the first time that it was considering postponing one of the two tunnels indefinitely and asking potential contractors for engineering and other services to say how they would handle a one-tunnel project instead.

Lisa Lien-Mager, a spokeswoman for the state, said Tuesday that “no decision has been made to change the project.”

Brown had been pushing to launch construction of two giant $16 billion water tunnels to better secure water supplies for farms and cities to the south before he leaves office this year. The project, which would be California’s biggest water project in decades, last year failed to gain enough support from local water agencies that would benefit from the project and pay for it.

Environmental groups have opposed the original twin-tunnel project, fearing Southern California water agencies would use the 35-mile (55-kilometer) tunnels to drain too much water from the Sacramento River, above its delta with the San Joaquin River.

The Sacramento is the state’s biggest river and a vital supplier of fresh water to the San Francisco Bay, part of the largest estuary on the West Coast of the Americas.

Brown and other project supporters say the tunnel project would modernize California’s current, outdated north-south delivery system, where pumps and overall water withdrawals are blamed for the steady dwindling of native fish and other wildlife that depend on delta water. Brown’s father, then-Gov. Pat Brown, oversaw building of that water project in the 1950s and 1960s.

The revised state proposal talks of building the tunnels in stages, with one of the four-story-high tunnels built now, and the second tunnel at some unspecified time. The new proposal also would cut the number of intakes pulling water from the Sacramento River, from three to two.

Water contractors have previously said they were considering paring the project from two tunnels to one, in hopes of more easily winning support for a smaller project. The newly posted revised state proposal marks the first time the state has publicly put such a proposal in writing.

The state did not immediately release a revised cost for the scaled-down proposal.

Osha Meserve, an attorney working for Northern California farmers opposing the project, said the revised proposal makes “more clear the project they want to do is a failure. Now they’re trying to morph into something else.”

Scaling down to one tunnel would make the project more affordable. Also, some environmental groups that oppose the two-tunnel plan have been receptive to the idea of one tunnel, if it takes less water than a bigger project and is operated carefully.

Project opponent Restore the Delta said any one-tunnel project would require new environmental studies and applications. Another state water agency whose approval is necessary for the project, the state Water Resources Control Board, is watching the discussions on a possible scaled-down project, and would take any project changes under consideration, spokesman Tim Moran said.

Bob Muir, a spokesman for Southern California’s giant Metropolitan Water District, the project’s main backer along with the Brown administration, referred questions to the state and to an association of state water contractors.

Water districts choosing to buy into the project would manage the design and build of the tunnels, including choices on contractors, rather than the state’s Department of Water Resources.

Lien-Mager, the state spokeswoman, said state water officials would retain “a strong oversight and supervisory role” over building of any eventual water project.

Metropolitan, which supplies water to almost half of California’s 39 million residents, so far has been the main water agency to say a single tunnel could work, helping assure a more reliable water supply for its urban Southern California customers.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Microbrewery ordinance

Mayor Lily Mei sent a letter [to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors] on behalf of the City [of Fremont] to the Board of Supervisors, to oppose the proposed microbrewery ordinance. The Mayor is asking the county to host a community meeting in Fremont on the ordinance. The City doesn’t want to have inebriated patrons of microbreweries just outside the city limits on winding rural roads. City police and fire would handle service calls.

The General Manager of EBRPD, Robert Doyle, also wrote to the Board expressing concern that “the proposed microbrewery ordinance will allow the development of significant infrastructure in parcels zoned for agriculture as a “by right” permitted use without the need for public hearings or public comment.” The park district notes that the access roads at Vargas Plateau are “narrow and difficult to negotiate.”

A modification to the ordinance stated “adequate public road access and capacity in order to provide safe access for the public and emergency vehicles.” However, several Fremont residents opposed the ordinance at the Planning Meeting in Oakland on January 9. They stated both Morrison Canyon and Vargas Roads are “narrow, dangerous and substandard.” A project on Vargas Plateau designed to produce beer and wine, for consumption on-site could endanger those who walk, bike or drive on the roads.

Mission Peak Conservancy attended the meeting to provide input and to support the request for a public hearing in Fremont. We are grateful for the intervention of Supervisor Valle, who supports the community meeting. Fremont residents deserve to have input on this ordinance.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

University naming inaccurate and unfortunate

January 2018 brings us to the 13th anniversary of the inaccurate and unfortunate CSU “Hayward to East Bay” name change. A CSU city/county to regional and/or wide name change was without precedent before January 2005. Since January 2005, it has not been duplicated even though there are several CSUs whose state-wide, nation-wide popularity and student draw better qualify them than CSU in Hayward for a regional and/or wide name.

2005, the first year of the name change, I asked all the CSU presidents, all the student newspapers, and all the local newspapers two questions: Keeping in mind the recent “Hayward to East Bay” campus name change, have your CSU presidents ever requested a local to regional, narrow to wide name change? Have your CSU presidents ever blamed the host community for low enrollments?

No one – CSU presidents, CSU student newspapers, local newspapers - reported a regional/wide campus name change effort. None reported blaming the host community.

2005 thru 2017, no CSU has initiated a local to regional, narrow to wide name change, nor blamed its host community for low enrollment.

Each of the 23 CSUs has its positives and negatives, pros and cons, plusses and minuses. Hayward’s balance sheet of assets and liabilities and the nearby places that may be reached by car or public transportation is probably as favorable as any among the 23 CSUs.

I believe that the 22 other CSUs, and their host city and county leaders, Bakersfield thru Stanislaus, would have stood up for their community names with more courage and tenacity than Hayward. I also believe that Alameda and Contra Costa County cities and unincorporated areas would have done so. They would have vigorously and persistently spoken up for their names and questioned an imposed, pseudo “regional” name for “their” CSU.

Let’s review California State College/University in Hayward before the “Hayward to East Bay” name change:

- Cal State’s first two presidents did not initiate building student residences on campus nor a dining commons.
- Cal State’s third president proposed two alternative projects for the site where student residences and a dining commons stand today. Had the twin proposals been built, the site would have been lost for student residences, a dining commons and residents’ parking.

The first proposal was for data storage hotels with reflecting cladding that would have blinded Grandview Ave. homeowners on sunny days. The second proposal was for low cost housing for young university, young public agency employees and K-12 teachers. I attended the separate public meetings at the Student Union. I heard the senior administration’s presentations and the campus neighbors’ searching questions.

Neither proposal gave priority to student residences nor to a dining commons in the name of enrollment growth.

Add:

- 1) January 2005, the absence of any CSU-wide criteria for distinguishing “regional” from “non-regional” CSUs.
- 2) January 2018, the CSU Trustees still have not adopted any criteria for “regional” and “non-regional”

How could “Hayward to East Bay” in the name of enrollment growth be honestly proposed then? Honestly sustained now? It could not. It cannot.

Evidence leads to arrests in neighborhood shooting

SUBMITTED BY
GENEVA BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

After an intensive investigation Fremont Police have arrested three suspects from a shooting that occurred at a residence on Summit Drive near Mello Street in the Northgate neighborhood.

Police officers were dispatched to the area at 2:43 a.m. Sunday, Jan 7 on the report of a shooting. When they arrived, officers found two men suffering from gunshot wounds. The victims, both in their 40s, said that just prior to the shooting, they were inside their residence in the 3000 block of Summit Drive when they heard noises outside and went to investigate.

Outside, they found four people in process of burglarizing a vehicle in their driveway. When the victims confronted them, one of the suspects brandished a handgun and shot each victim at least once. The suspects fled on foot and abandoned a vehicle at the scene. Meanwhile, the two victims were taken to a trauma center where they were treated for non-life-threatening injuries.

Police set up a perimeter around the area with assistance from Union City Police and Alameda County Sheriff’s personnel and K9 units, but were unable to locate the suspects. However, the suspects left several pieces of evidence behind which helped led investigators to a homeless encampment around Grant Street and Almaden Avenue in San Jose.

Police searched the area and eventually identified two suspicious tents and obtained a search warrant. Three suspects were detained and taken to the Fremont Police Department for more questioning, and later arrested and booked into the Fremont jail the evening of Jan. 7.

The three suspects, identified by police as Sugey Garcia, 20, of San Jose; Jennifer Cabrera, 18; and Alfredo Carabes, 24, were charged with attempted murder, using a firearm, robbery and vehicle theft.

Further investigation showed that a fourth suspect fled the scene on foot before the shooting, but after being confronted by the victims. Detectives are still trying to identify and locate the fourth suspect.

Police are asking that anyone who has information that may help with the investigation to call the Fremont Police Crimes Against Persons Unit at (510) 790-6900 or send an email to Det. Nordseth at snordseth@fremont.gov.

Pedestrian killed in traffic collision

SUBMITTED BY GENEVA BOSQUES,
FREMONT PD

A workplace traffic collision on Wednesday, January 10 left a 30-year-old man dead in the loading dock area of a business on the 5900 Block of Stewart Avenue in Fremont.

Fremont Police and Fire Department personnel responded to a report of a traffic collision between a pedestrian and a tractor trailer at 7:59 p.m. Through the investigation, officers determined that a 30-year-old driver was backing a company tractor and trailer into a loading dock and was being guided by a male employee who was standing behind the vehicle.

The driver finished backing up to the loading dock and unhooked the trailer. About 15 minutes later, the driver discovered the man who had been standing behind the vehicle pinned between the end of the dock and the parked trailer. The trailer was reconnected to the tractor and moved to free the pedestrian, who was unresponsive.

Drugs and alcohol are not believed to be factors in the collision. The Alameda County Coroner responded and took custody of the deceased man. Fremont Police traffic officers are investigating the incident as a vehicle vs. pedestrian fatal collision. This is Fremont’s first fatal traffic collision reported in 2018.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to please call the Fremont Police Department’s Traffic Unit at (510) 790-6760 or send an anonymous tip by texting TIP FREMONTTPD followed by your message to 888-777, or via the web at <https://local.nixle.com/tip/alert/6216337>.

Community Police Academy

SUBMITTED BY LT. ARIEL QUIMSON

The Fremont Police Department is currently recruiting for the Winter session of our Community Police Academy. Have you ever wanted to learn more about the Fremont Police Department? Now is your opportunity! We have a few spaces left for our next session.

Beginning Tuesday, February 13, 2018, the Fremont Police Department will start the 41st Community Police Academy session.

The free program is 44-hours and will take place over the course of 12 sessions. The academy will generally meet one night a week on Tuesdays from 7:00 p.m. - 10:0 p.m. and one or two Saturday classes may be scheduled to accommodate specialized training. Participants will learn about topics such as police selection and training, internal investigations, criminal law, patrol operations, communications, crime prevention, crime analysis, firearms training, critical incidents, narcotics, gangs, traffic enforcement and much much more.

Space will be limited to approximately 30 students and applications will be taken on a first come first serve basis until January 18 at 5:00 pm, or when 30 applications are received. To learn more about the academy and to sign up please go to www.fremontpolice.org/communitypoliceacademy.

If you have any questions, please contact program administrators Lt. Ariel Quimson at Aquimson@Fremont.gov or Lt. Brian Shadle at Bshadle@fremont.gov.

Recruiting for teen Police Explorer Program

SUBMITTED BY LAUREN BACA

The Fremont Police Department is currently accepting applications for the teen Explorer Program.

The Fremont Explorer Program is a fun and safe way for teenagers to learn more about the field of law enforcement. Explorers participate in various activities such as community events, ride-alongs, traffic control, building tours and school visits. In addition, Explorers are required to attend weekly meetings at the Police Department. This program gives teens an understanding of various law enforcement careers and helps them decide whether or not to pursue a career in law enforcement.

All new Explorers are required to attend a one-week Explorer Academy in southern California (August 2018).

If you are between the age of 14 - 18 and think that you might be interested in learning more about becoming a Police Explorer or having a future career in law enforcement, please visit the Department's Explorer Volunteer web-page at: <http://www.fremontpolice.org/Explorers>.

Applications will be accepted through February 9, 2018 at 5:00 p.m.

Friday, Jan. 12

Two suspects walked into the Walmart Store on Albrae Street and allegedly stole electronic items. When the suspects were confronted by employees outside of the store, the male suspect threatened violence. Both suspects fled the scene in a blue/green Jeep Grand Cherokee. The first suspect was described as a black man, between 50 and 60-years-old, wearing a black sweater and black pants. The second suspect was described as a white woman, about 50-years-old, wearing a black long-sleeved shirt, and grey sweatpants.

Saturday, Jan. 13

A large Air BNB party got out of hand at a home reportedly rented by a 16-year-old girl on the 37100 Block of Mission Boulevard. About 250 people were in attendance. No arrests were made, but it took police a long time to clear the home of party goers.

Officers were dispatched to a home that that reportedly "exploded" in the 48400 block of Ursa Drive. Officer Manrique arrived and found the home fully engulfed in flames. The fire had compromised the gas supply and several smaller explosions occurred. Numerous other officers arrived and took up perimeter posts, evacuated several nearby homes and assisted Fremont Fire Department in numerous ways. The case is under investigation.

Monday, Jan. 15

A victim was selling an iPhone X via the Offer Up app. A suspect contacted the victim and asked to meet in Fremont to buy the phone. When the victim handed the suspect the phone, the suspect pepper-sprayed the victim and fled with the phone. The victim chased the suspect and called the police. The suspect ran into a store and hid inside the bathroom. Officers cleared the store and convinced the 18-year-old suspect to surrender. He was arrested on suspicion of robbery. Sgt. Sanchez supervised the incident and Officer Calvin and Field Training Officer Samayoa conducted the investigation.

Officers responded to a call of a vehicle injury collision where one of the drivers ran from the scene. Officers set up a perimeter with Officer Kennedy responding with his trailing dog and Fremont Fire Department personnel with a drone. As officers were setting up a search with the K9 and the drone, Officer Gigliotti detained a possible male suspect walking nearby. Witnesses positively identified the man as the driver.

The 26-year-old suspect appeared to be under the influence of alcohol. He was taken to a hospital for medical clearance and then taken to Santa Rita Jail. Sgt. Zambonin supervised the investigation

Wednesday, Jan. 17

A Fremont detective was injured at approximately 2:10 p.m. while investigating an occupied stolen vehicle in the City of Hayward. The case started earlier in the day when detectives investigating a stolen vehicle followed evidence to the area of Broadmore Avenue and Larchmont Street in Hayward. A woman driving the vehicle shifted into reverse and rammed an unmarked Fremont police car. A female passenger fled from the vehicle and began running with a second Fremont detective in pursuit. Meanwhile, the driver continued to hit police vehicles as she maneuvered her way out by hopping a curb and driving into a grassy area where she collided with the running passenger and the Fremont detective chasing her. She continued to drive until police vehicles blocked her and took her into custody near Austin and Huntwood avenues. The injured detective was taken to a hospital with a moderate injury; the injured female suspect was taken to a hospital in stable condition. An investigation is ongoing. Thanks to the Hayward Police Department for their assistance.

Traffic accident leaves elderly woman dead

SUBMITTED BY
SAN LEANDRO PD

Police in San Leandro are investigating an early morning collision between a passing vehicle and a pedestrian at the intersection of East 14th Street and Fairmont Drive that left an elderly woman dead on Friday, January 12.

Just before 7 a.m. patrol officers were dispatched to the scene and found a woman in the roadway suffering from significant injuries after she was apparently struck by a passing vehicle. Officers and medical personnel attempted life-saving measures on the victim, however she was pronounced dead at the scene.

Witnesses said the woman was standing at the bus stop on East 14th Street, possibly waiting for the bus. The woman then stepped off the curb and into the roadway when she was struck by a passing vehicle in the traffic lane.

"This is an active traffic investigation, but I can say that visibility may be a factor in the case," said Lieutenant Isaac Benabou. "It is dark in those early morning hours but in today's case, visibility was even more restricted due to the fog. Our sincere condolences go out to the victim and everyone involved in this tragic accident."

The identity of the victim is not yet being released pending notification to the victim's family by the Alameda County Coroner's Office. The driver of the vehicle remained on scene and is cooperating with the police investigation.

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CATHERINE BROSNAN PANCONI AKA CATHERINE BROSNAN CASE NO. RP 18 887845

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Catherine Brosnan Panconi or Catherine Brosnan
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Patricia Dombrink in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.
The Petition for Probate requests that Patricia Dombrink be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on Feb 20, 2018 at 9:31 am in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King Jr Way, Berkeley CA 94704.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PUBLIC SALE (Probate Code 10300, 10304) SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF ALAMEDA

Case No. RP16802219

Estate of Jack R. McDaniel, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT: Subject to court confirmation by the above-entitled Superior Court, on or after February 20 2018 at 9:30 AM in Department 201 or thereafter within the time allowed by law, the undersigned, as administrator of the estate of Jack R. McDaniel, will sell at a private sale to the highest and best net bidder on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned all right, title, and interest of said Decedent, in the real property located at the address commonly known as 36940 Olive Street and 36944 Olive Street, and more particularly described as follows: Lot 23 of Block 23, Northeast of the Southern Pacific Railroad Tracks, According to "Map of the Town of Newark, Alameda County, California", filed May 6, 1878 in the Office of the County Recorder of Alameda County and of Record in Map Book 17, Page 10, APN 92-30-20-03 The sale is subject to current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights-of-way, easements of record, and the encumbrances thereon, to be satisfied out of the purchase price. The property is to be sold on an 'as is' basis, except as to title. Bids or offers are invited for this property, and must be in writing and may be received at the offices of NORTON BASU LLP, attorneys for the personal representative, at 5201 Great America Parkway, Suite 320, Santa Clara, California 95054, or may be filed with the Clerk of the Superior Court, or may be delivered to Josanne Dolley, Administrator, 2055 Blue Boy Lane, Reno, NV 89521, at any time after first publication of this notice, and before making said sale. Any person interested in bidding on the subject property must appear at the time and date set forth below. The property will be sold on the following terms:

1. This is an all cash sale to the decedent's estate. 2. Seller is the court-appointed fiduciary under Alameda County Superior Court No. RP16802219. As the court appointed fiduciary for this estate, Seller has little information concerning the property, and, therefore, the property is sold in its present condition based solely upon Buyer's independent investigation and knowledge and information supplied by the Buyer's agents or representatives, excluding any agent or representative of the Seller. The Seller makes no warranties, guaranties, or representations concerning the property, its condition, usage, or suitability for any use or purpose whatsoever. The property is sold in its 'as-is' condition and the Buyer is Solely responsible for any and all conditions of the property. Similarly, all personal property, improvements and fixtures, if any, included in this sale are bought in their 'as-is' condition, with no representatives or warranties whatsoever by Seller or her agents. 3. Escrow shall be opened at Old Republic Title Company, 20980 Redwood Road, Suite 160, Castro Valley, CA 94546. 4. Escrow shall close within 10 days of the escrow holder receiving a copy of the order confirming sale. 5. Any over bidder shall present a 10% deposit by a certified check. The successful bidder shall pay the balance of the purchase price in all cash upon close of escrow following confirmation of the sale by the Superior Court. 6. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses, and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of recording of the conveyance. Examination of title, recording of conveyance, transfer taxes and any title insurance policy, shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers of the property. The undersigned reserves the right to refuse to accept any bids.

TRUSTEE SALES

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE TS No. CA-17-782215-RY Order No.: 170371560-CA-VOI YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 4/28/2006. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 to the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state, will be held by duly appointed trustee. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, and thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. BENEFICIARY MAY ELECT TO BID LESS THAN THE TOTAL AMOUNT DUE. Trustor(s): JUAN PATRICIO AND LEONIDA PATRICIO, HUSBAND AND WIFE AS JOINT TENANTS Recorded: 5/11/2006 as Instrument No. 2006188371 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of ALAMEDA County, California; Date of Sale: 2/13/2018 at 12:00PM Place of Sale: At the Fallon Street emergency exit to the Alameda County Courthouse located at 1225 Fallon St., Oakland, CA 94612 Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $677,624.03 The purported property address is: 36523 CHERRY STREET, NEWARK, CA 94560 Assessor's Parcel No.: 092-0001-009-07 NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien, if you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.altsource.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-17-782215-RY. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE THE TRUSTEE WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH, CASHIER'S CHECK DRAWN ON A STATE OR NATIONAL BANK, A CHECK DRAWN BY A STATE OR FEDERAL CREDIT UNION, OR A CHECK DRAWN BY A STATE OR FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, A SAVINGS ASSOCIATION OR SAVINGS BANK SPECIFIED IN SECTION 5102 OF THE FINANCIAL CODE AND AUTHORIZED TO DO BUSINESS IN THIS STATE: All right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described as: More fully described in said Deed of Trust. Street Address or other common designation of real property: 34329 Xanadu Terrace, Fremont, CA 94555 A.P.N.: 543-458-046-00 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address, or other common designation, if any, shown above. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, and thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $ 788,282.74. Note: Because the Trustee reserves the right to bid less than the total debt owed, it is possible that at the time of the sale the opening bid may be less than the total debt. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary of the Deed of Trust has executed and delivered to the undersigned a written request to commence foreclosure, and the undersigned caused a Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. Border wall models thwart US commandos in tests

BY ELLIOT SPAGAT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

A U.S. official says rigorous testing of prototypes of President Donald Trump's proposed wall with Mexico has found their heights should stop border crossers.

Military special forces based in Florida and Customs and Border Protection special units spent three weeks trying to breach and scale the eight models in San Diego, using jackhammers, torches and other tools.

An official with direct knowledge of the results said they point to see-through steel barriers topped by concrete as the best design. But the official says a report on the testing of each design does not pick an overall winner or rank them.

The official spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because the information is not authorized for public release.

Milpitas names new city manager

SUBMITTED BY THE CITY OF MILPITAS

Following a national recruitment to find a permanent City Manager, the Milpitas City Council found a candidate that is just the right fit.

At its Tuesday, Jan. 16 meeting, the City Council unanimously voted to appoint Julie Edmonds-Mares to the job, replacing Interim City Manager Steve Pangelinan, who retired Jan. 16. “Julie is a seasoned and community-oriented leader with the right experience necessary to engage our richly diverse community. Her experience working with a variety of stakeholders to provide excellent municipal services will serve the Milpitas community well,” said Vice-Mayor Marsha Grilli.

Edmonds-Mares has more than 30 years of experience in the public, private, and academic sectors. She comes to Milpitas from the City of San Jose, where she has worked since 2007 and is now Deputy City Manager.

Previously, Edmonds-Mares served as Director of the San José Department of Parks, Recreation, and Neighborhood (PRNS). During her tenure in PRNS Edmonds-Mares championed strategic change to provide quality programs, facilities, and natural resources while ensuring good stewardship of public funds.

Before coming to San José, she worked for the City of Tucson, Arizona for nearly 12 years as Deputy Director of Budget and Research, Assistant to the City Manager, and Human Resources Administrator.

Edmonds-Mares holds a bachelor's degree in business management and a master's degree in education. In addition, she is a graduate of the Southwest Leadership Program in Public Policy Management from the University of Arizona's Eller College.

“We are delighted to have Julie joining our City of Milpitas team. Her extensive leadership skills, professionalism, commitment to transparency, and innovation will help our organization earn the trust of our community and deliver the services they deserve,” said Councilmember Bob Nuñez.

Edmonds-Mares' starting date in Milpitas is still being negotiated, but is expected to be soon. Meanwhile, the City Council has tapped Dianne Thompson as Interim City Manager.

Edmonds-Mares said she's looking forward to getting to know and serve the Milpitas Community. “Milpitas is a vibrantly diverse community, and I am looking forward to building on its strengths. Together, we will work for sustainable growth and development while balancing community objectives, remain focused on protecting public safety, enhance our natural environment, and nurture families,” Edmonds-Mares said.

“It will be my honor to serve the Milpitas Council, and partner with the community to further the quality of life for the City.”

Join the Fremont Green Challenge!

Commit to going green this year with the help of the Fremont Green Challenge! The City of Fremont is excited to offer this online platform that provides information on how to reduce your emissions, conserve water, and save money. By joining the Challenge, you are committing to improving your health and the health of your environment by making minor adjustments in your day-to-day activities that can offer benefits to your budget.

How does it work? First, visit www.FremontGreenChallenge.org and take about 5 to10 minutes to create a household profile. Then, sign up for actions that you would like to take this year to reduce your carbon emissions and conserve water. As your household adopts these green actions, you will receive customized savings. You can also team up with neighbors to compare green stories and impacts.

To keep you informed about eco-friendly actions, programs, and events, the City has also developed an accompanying Fremont Green Challenge Newsletter. This monthly email features tips for going green, timely tax credits and rebates, and upcoming workshops and volunteer opportunities. Sign up today at www.Fremont.gov/FGC-Newsletter.

Senior Center Selling Crab Feed Tickets

VITA Program Offers Free Tax Preparation to Community

Tax season 2018 is here. The Fremont Family Resource Center’s (FRC) Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program provides free, quality tax return preparation assistance and electronic filing for eligible individuals and families with a household income of $54,000 or less annually. IRS-certified volunteer tax preparers will help eligible taxpayers claim their maximum refunds, such as the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC), which can amount to as much as $6,318 for a family with three or more qualifying children.

FRC VITA also provides access to asset building or income support resources such as public benefits, low or no cost bank accounts, and financial education. VITA falls under the City of Fremont Human Services Department’s SparkPoint Program and has helped more than 24,000 families receive more than $37 million in tax refunds since 2002. FRC VITA’s main location is at the Fremont Family Resource Center, 39155 Liberty St., Building EFGH, in Fremont. It will be open Wednesdays and Thursdays from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m., and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. starting Jan. 24, 2018 through April 13, 2018. The deadline to file is April 17, 2018. FRC VITA will be open April 17 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. to assist filers. VITA services are also offered at the New Haven Adult School, Tri-Cities One Stop Career Center located at the Ohlone College Newark Campus, and Tri-City Volunteers.

Music educator honored

During its annual conference on Jan. 13, the California Music Educators Association (CMEA) Bay Section selected Fremont teacher Greg Conway as the recipient of its 2018 Outstanding Music Educator Award.

The award is the latest in a string of honors Conway has received during the past two years, including the CMEA Bay Section Gilbert T. Freitas Award for Excellence in Instrumental Music Education (2016), and the CMEA Richard L. Levin Orchestra Educator Award (2017), honoring excellence in orchestra education and given to one music educator statewide each year.

Greg Conway received 2018 Outstanding Music Educator Award.

Conway is director of Instrumental Music at Hopkins Junior High School in Fremont. During his time there, Conway has continued the tradition of excellence in the school’s band program, which has consistently received superior ratings at CMEA Festivals and other competitions throughout the state.

During this school year, Conway is directing three concert bands, two string orchestras, two jazz ensembles, and a full orchestra, involving 370 seventh and eighth graders — about one-third of Hopkins’ student population. In addition, Conway teaches two advanced elementary ensembles for sixth graders, and coordinates five other elementary-level classes designed for fourth to sixth graders of the Mission San Jose Attendance Area of the Fremont Unified School District.

Born and educated in Castro Valley, Conway graduated from Castro Valley High School in 1997, and attended California State University, Hayward, where he earned a B.A. in music with an emphasis in Music Education and saxophone performance, as well as a teaching credential in music.

Conway has directed bands and orchestras at summer programs in San Mateo, San Leandro, and Fremont. For the 12th year this summer, he will be directing the Symphonic Band of the Jenny Lin Foundation Youth Music Program, which has been offered to all Bay Area high-school students free-of-charge for more than 20 years.

Having served on the CMEA Bay Section Board of Directors since 2006 as an area representative, Conway is now the Large Group Festival Coordinator. Since the establishment of the CMEA All-State Band and Orchestra Festival in 2013, both flagships of Hopkins — Wind Ensemble and Advanced Orchestra — have been invited to participate in the event each year, along with a dozen of top-performing groups in California.

Thanks to the directorship of Conway, both groups received the top ratings every year at the All-State Festival, including an un precedented perfect score of 100 by the Hopkins Advanced Orchestra in 2016. The Advanced Orchestra also performed at the California All-State Music Education Conference in 2012 and 2017.

Dance for Freedom

Raises human trafficking awareness

SUBMITTED BY
VERA R. CIAMMETTI

January is National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month. Almost 21 million people are trafficked each year worldwide, with approximately 18,000 victims in the U.S. According to the FBI, the San Francisco Bay Area is a top hub for human trafficking.

Ruby’s Place is Alameda County’s premier emergency shelter for survivors of domestic violence and human trafficking, serving all of the Bay Area. Located in Hayward, Ruby’s Place’s mission is to provide prevention and supportive services to the community and people impacted by domestic violence, human trafficking, or homelessness.

Join us at our “Dance for Freedom” Zumba event to increase awareness and raise funds to help Ruby’s Place provide shelter and services for human trafficking victims. The event will be held on Saturday, January 27 at the Castro Valley Moose Lodge. Tickets may be purchased online at www.rubysplace.org for $20 pre-sale or $25 at the door the day of the event. All ages and fitness levels are invited, and refreshments and souvenirs will be provided.

Learn more about the free services offered at Ruby’s Place by visiting www.rubysplace.org or by calling the office at (510) 581-5626 or the Hotline at (888) 339-SAFE.

On December 27, 2017, at about 9:51 a.m., a Milpitas Police officer located an unoccupied Hyundai Elantra, which had been reported stolen from the City of Santa Clara, parked in the Walmart parking lot located at 301 Ranch Drive. Officers observed a man, later identified as Juan Sanchez- Navarro, a 33-year-old San Jose resident, attempting to leave in the stolen car and stopped him in the parking lot.

As the officers were giving Sanchez-Navarro verbal orders, he attempted to flee on foot through the parking lot but was captured shortly thereafter by pursuing officers. Sanchez-Navarro was taken into custody without further incident.

Officers searched the stolen car and recovered a monetary donation box which had been stolen on December 25, 2017, from the St. John’s Church in Milpitas. Juan Sanchez-Navarro was also in possession of burglary tools and a glass pipe that is commonly used to smoke controlled substances. A Milpitas detective was able to link Sanchez-Navarro to the burglary of the church.

Juan Sanchez Navarro was booked into the Santa Clara County Jail for automobile theft, burglary, possession of stolen property, burglary tools, drug paraphernalia, and resisting arrest.

If you have any information regarding this investigation, you are encouraged to call the Milpitas Police Department at (408) 586-2400. Additionally, the information can be given anonymously by calling the Crime Tip Hotline at (408) 586-2500 or via the Milpitas Police Department website at: <http://www.ci.milpitas.ca.gov/crimetip>

At around 1:30 p.m. Officer Rodriguez and Officer Lanier were dispatched to business on the 30000 block of Industrial Parkway on the report of a male who was harassing customers. The officers met with the suspect and determined he had an active stay away order from the store; the suspect also possessed stolen items from the store. Jason Fivecoat, 42, of Union City, was arrested on suspicion of trespassing, shoplifting, and possessing stolen property.

Thursday, Jan. 11

Around 6:30 a.m. a victim reported that he was walking through Town Estates Park on Andover Drive when an unknown man struck him on the side of his head with a sharp object.

Friday, Jan. 12

Sometime between 7:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. a residential burglary occurred on the 5100 block of Capitola Way. Someone smashed a rear sliding glass door and entered the residence. Taken were electronics and jewelry. Two suspects were seen fleeing on a black scooter similar to a Vespa. The first suspect was described as a white or Hispanic male in his mid-20s, about 5-feet-8-inches tall with a heavy build. The second suspect was described as a white male in his mid-20s.

Proterra, a revolutionary company committed to providing modes of cleaner, eco-conscious transit, designed the bus, which can run up to 200 miles on a full charge; double-charging it would bring that amount up to 400 miles.

Currently, around 54% of VTA’s buses are diesel hybrid electric, and plans to replace the majority of their 214 diesel buses with either diesel hybrid electric or full electric buses are well underway.

“Public transportation and consumer demands are always evolving,” Perez also wrote in an email. “While our goal is to have a Non-Direct Zero Emissions Fleet by 2040, we’ll continue to focus on providing the safest and most reliable transportation solutions for the public.”

For now, VTA hopes to introduce five electric buses by the end of the year, with plans to bring in a total of 35 electric buses over the span of two years.

On January 16, Santa Clara Valley Transit Authority (VTA) unveiled a new all-electric bus in Milpitas’ City Hall parking lot. Councilmember Bob Nuñez, who recently joined VTA’s board, had requested that the zero emission vehicle be showcased for Milpitas residents to see and experience for themselves.

When asked why electric buses were being introduced into VTA’s fleet, Public Information Officer Holly Perez wrote, in an email, “These electric buses are ‘Non-Direct Zero Emission’ vehicles, resulting in significantly less emissions being generated.
