Songkran Festival welcomes Thai New Year

By Zoya Hajee Рнотоѕ ву VICTOR CARVELLAS

Annually in mid-April, the national holiday of Songkran is celebrated in Thailand to mark the new year. Families focus on moving forward; they prepare for the new year by cleaning their homes in hopes of casting away bad luck from the previous year and bringing in good fortune. They also visit Buddhist temples with offerings and listen to the monks as they preach. Water plays a huge role in the holiday, as it serves as a means of expression for the values that Songkran embraces: goodwill, love, compassion, and thankfulness.

Songkran has its origin deeply rooted in a myth that revolves around Nang Songkran, or the Seven Ladies of Songkran. The story is about a four-faced god known as Kabile Phrom who met an intelligent young prince named Thammabal Kumara.

Feeling a Little Sad or Anxious? It May be Time to Get Moving

Most people occasionally experience feelings of sadness or anxiety. But sometimes these feelings can make it difficult to function. Depression and anxiety are two of the most common forms of mental illness, according to the National Institute of Mental Health.

"There is a difference between having a sad day or depressed mood and moderate-to-severe clinical depression," said Dr. Victoria Leiphart, a gynecologist with the Washington Township Medical Foundation who is also a member of the American College of Lifestyle Medicine, which is focused on using stress reduction, nutrition, and exercise to prevent and treat disease. "For those with mild depression and anxiety, there are alternatives to medication that can be very effective."

Dr. Leiphart will discuss some of those alternatives – including psychotherapy, exercise and meditation – at the May 3, "Mental Wellness" presentation, part of Washington Hospital's eight-part mental health education series. She will be joined by Michele Wms-Smith, a senior family advocate with the Family Education and Resource Center.

"Mental Wellness" will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium at Washington West in Fremont. The session is free and open to the entire community. For more information or to register, visit www.whhs.com/events or call (800) 963-7070.

"I will talk about the benefits of some of these alternatives and the research behind them," Dr. Leiphart said. "Studies show that for people with mild anxiety and depression, these therapies work as well as medication."

For those who have moderate-to-severe symptoms and require medication, these alternatives can help improve quality of life. "For many people, it's not one or the other," she explained. "Alternative therapies can be very effective in addition to medication."

Getting Started

Dr. Leiphart said sometimes it can be hard to get started, particularly if you are already feeling depressed or anxious. Washington Hospital's Wellness Center offers classes that can help you get moving.

"You don't need to feel intimidated because the target audience for these classes is not 20-something fitness buffs," she added. "While anyone is welcome, the classes are geared more for beginners or those who haven't exercised in a while and may need help establishing a fitness routine. People with physical limitations can also be accommodated."

Classes include Heartfulness Meditation, Candlelit Yoga, Gentle Yoga for Health and Healing, Tai Chi, and Pilates, as well as Keep it Moving and Ladies Choice exercise programs.

"Washington Hospital has really expanded its health and wellness options over the last five years," Dr. Leiphart added. "It's really wonderful that you can take these classes at the Hospital."

For more information about services offered at the Wellness Center, visit www.whhs.com/wellness or call (510) 608-1301.

Caring for Those with Mental Health Disorders

The final session in the mental health education series, "Family Support: Caring for Those with Mental Disorders" will be presented by Wms-Smith on Thursday, May 17. This presentation will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m., at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium at Washington West. Mental illness can have a significant impact on the families and loved ones of those afflicted. Wms-Smith will talk about local resources so families know where they can turn for support. To register for this free session, visit www.whhs.com/events or call (800) 963-7070.

The Mental Health Education Series sponsored by Washington Hospital has three more seminars: April 19, May 3, and May 17. See whhs.com/events for more details.

Good Health is in Your Hands

Saturday, May 5, 2018 is World Hand Hygiene Day. The World Health Organization (WHO) announces an annual "call to action" to health care workers and this year's theme is "Fight antibiotic resistance—it's in your hands." According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, antibiotic resistance has been called one of the world's most pressing health problems. Overuse and misuse of antibiotics can promote the development of antibiotic-resistant bacteria worldwide, leading to difficulties in successfully treating life-threatening infections and complications such as E. Coli and sepsis, among others.

Dianne C. Martin, MD, an Infectious Diseases physician with the Washington Township Medical Foundation, explains that many people wrongly assume that taking antibiotics for a viral infection—versus a bacterial infection—is effective. "Sometimes we need to explain to patients that taking antibiotics for a viral infection such as a cold or sore throat is not only unlikely to help, but it could eventually lead to antibiotic-resistant infections later," she notes.

"Many infections are spread through person-to-person contact, so it's important to get people to be proactive, starting with simple handwashing; it's an easy thing to do," asserts Dr. Martin. Although it's easy to wash one's hands, it's also vital to do it thoroughly for at least 20 seconds. "It's not only the amount of time spent washing hands that's vital, you need to be sure you wash your whole hand, including the web spaces between your fingers and between your thumbs and index fingers, and the back of your hands, as well as your palms," Dr. Martin explains.

She adds that promoting proper handwashing within the Hospital is as crucial as educating the community. "We have to set an example for our patients; it's important that as health care workers, we all do this together," she says.

In order to spread the word about the importance of handwashing, the Hospital's Infection Prevention Department is hosting a drawing contest for the children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews of all Hospital employees and physicians. "We believe in positive reinforcement, not only in the community, but also within the Hospital," says Ruta Mushell, Washington Hospital's Infection Prevention program coordinator. "We wanted to make this a fun way to learn, and when children learn, they often teach their friends—and even adults—so the lesson is passed along from the children to the rest of the community," she adds.

The contest, whose theme is "Calling All Germ Busters," calls for contestants to draw a picture showing the importance of handwashing at home, at school or within the health care setting. For example, they might draw a picture of themselves washing their hands when they come into the house after playing outside or before lunch at school. They might also draw pictures of nurses or doctors washing their hands or using hand sanitizers.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three winners in each age category and a collage of all the submissions will be displayed in the Hospital's main lobby so that employees, physicians and community members can enjoy (and learn from) it.

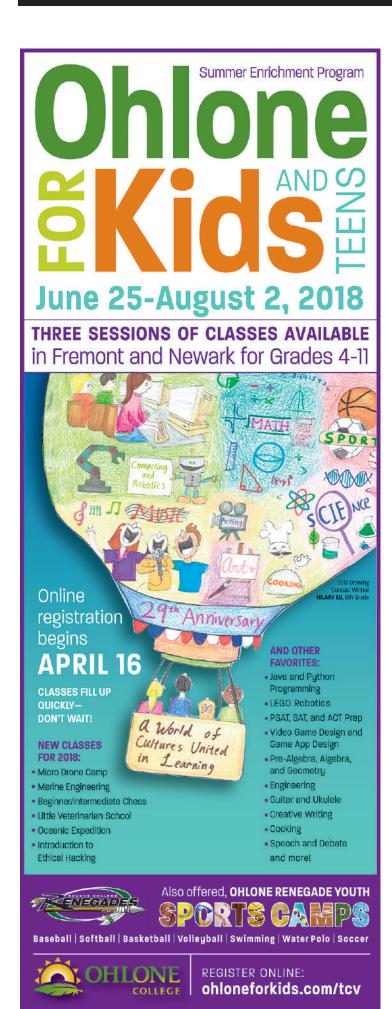

The contest is an example of how organizations—including schools, clubs, or offices—can join the nationwide effort to raise awareness about this important topic.

Songkran Festival welcomes Thai New Year

The prince claimed to understand the language of birds, and Kabila Phrom decided to test this by giving him three riddles, betting his head against the prince's. The answers were unintentionally revealed to Thammabal, causing Kabila Phrom to cut off his own head. However, this head had special powers that could destroy Earth, so the god's seven daughters isolated his head in a cave and presented it with offerings. Each year, the daughters would carry his head in procession around Mount Meru, and this event is known as Songkran.

On April 14 and 15, Wat Buddhanusorn will celebrate this historic festival through traditional activities and ceremonies. This temple was founded in 1983 and has served the Bay Area Theravada Buddhist community ever since. It strives to teach and promote Thai art, language, and culture to interested members of the community.

On Saturday, April 14, community members will begin Songkran celebrations by presenting offerings in the Main Buddha Hall, followed by monks walking ceremonial alms in the central courtyard. Students of the Wat Buddhanusorn Sunday School will then perform Thai classical dance and music. Fish will be released at Ouarry Lakes Regional Recreation Area at 1:30 p.m., and those interested in this activity must meet at the boat dock. Participants can sponsor the release of a bucket full of trout into the lake. During Songkran, animal release ceremonies such as this are considered merit making ceremonies, in which "doing good deeds earns one karma points," as Tim Tararug, Director of Educational Programming, said.

Sunday morning will consist of a bird release ceremony, in which homing pigeons will be released from cages and returned to their lofts — symbolic of releasing these animals into freedom. In the afternoon, the community can take part in the traditional "watering" of Buddha images, monks, and elders as a gesture of humility. This act symbolizes renewal and cleansing to prepare oneself for the new year. As the youth wash the hands of their elders and ask for blessings, they are reminded to pray for their ancestors and recall those who have done good for them. Attendees should prepare to get wet during the watering; the spirit of holiday merriment is shared among all participants through lively water play and drenchings.

The public will surely enjoy these two days full of cultural activities, and many joyous memories will be made with friends and family. Be sure to wish each other well with the Thai New Year greeting, "Sawsadee Pee Mai!"

Participants are requested to carpool to the event as parking spaces are limited. Only designated parking areas are allowed; do not park on neighborhood streets.

TEDx event

SUBMITTED BY DONNA CUMMING

Students at Moreau Catholic High School will have a chance to publicly share their ideas and talents in a special TEDx event planned for Tuesday, April 17 on the school's Hayward campus. The independently organized event is licensed by TED, a national nonprofit organization that is devoted to "Ideas Worth Spreading," usually in the form of short, powerful talks (18 minutes or fewer) and delivered by today's leading thinkers and doers.

At Moreau, students will follow a "Providence and Promise" theme in their presentations. "We wanted our theme to be both specific to our charism as a member school in the larger network of Holy Cross schools, and broad enough to evoke the spirit of our youth in these trying times in our world," explained Bryan Lorentz, a social justice teacher.

"TEDx is a platform for students to share their ideas, journeys, and passions, and that is a rare and exciting opportunity," Moreau's TEDx event coordinator and social justice teacher Mary McInerney added. "The TEDx videos go online and their shared message has a lasting legacy."

Lorentz agreed: "We hope to build a culture of social entrepreneurship informed by Catholic social teaching then present that on stage. "We want our students to see their peer's ideas and talents in action, be inspired to take up the great work left by their forerunners and carry the Holy Cross torch out into the world."

Students will be able to listen to other students and guest presenters during the school day, while a special event is planned for parents, family and friends in the evening with additional guest and student speakers. The evening TEDx event begins with a reception at 6 p.m. followed by the presenters at 7 p.m.

Guest speakers for the evening event include Moreau alumnae Amanda Aguilar, a television reporter in Wichita, Kansas; Del Seymour, founder of Code Tenderloin, a job training program for Tenderloin residents in San Francisco; and Marquis Engle, Program Director of Up on Top, a no-cost after school childcare program located in the Tenderloin.

Student speakers include: Ben Bega, Sravya Balasa, Araceli Berry, Sofia Herrera-Padilla, Ben Jacinto, Gurleen Kaur, Damoni Nears, Jemima Ohwobete, Tyler Piedad, Sarang Raj, Nyah Scott, Onijai Sellers, Supreet Thiara, Arnoldo Valdivieso Martinez and Lucas Zamora.

The evening Tedx event is open to the public and limited to 100 people. Admission is $30 per person and tickets are available by visiting the Moreau website at www.moreaucatholic.org and typing "Tedx tickets" into the search field.

THEATRE REVIEW

Chanticleers delivers warm-hearted 'Little Women'

By Julie Grabowski

A classic tale read by millions the world over, Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women" appeared in 1868, introducing the four March sisters of Concord, Massachusetts. With their father away fighting in the Civil War, the girls experience financial hardship, uncertainty, friendship, love and loss, dreams and responsibilities, all under the watchful eye of their Marmee, who declares, "We March women are invincible."

"Little Women, The Musical" came to the Broadway stage in 2005 with a book by Allen Knee, music by Jason Howland, and lyrics by Mindi Dickstein. The musical tale is currently playing in Castro Valley through May 6.

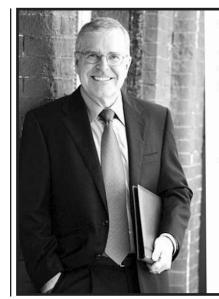

Chanticleers Theatre puts a bright face forward with a warm, feel-good production from co-directors John Baiocchi and Todd Aragon, with a live orchestra under the direction of Luis Zuniga. Baiocchi and Aragon keep "Little Women" light and enjoyable with a solid cast and creative staging. However, the tension and weight that one expects from a time of war and difficult moments in life are absent, making the show feel a bit more uniformly cheery than it should.

The March sisters are a sweet tribe, played with heart and warmth by Chloe Angst (Jo), Riley Hyde (Amy), Heather Warren (Meg), and Jordana Meltzer (Beth). The show clearly belongs to Angst however, whose Jo provides the most zest and interesting character as a passionate writer of "blood and guts stuff" who dreams of being a famous author and able to provide everything her family could want. A nonconformist and ahead of her time in spirit and ambition, Jo declares she is "not built for gowns" and indeed spends most of her time in a pair of burgundy trousers. Angst's enthusiasm and excellent voice are a perfect match for the character and keep her in the spotlight throughout.

Riley Hyde is the picture of cuteness and appeal as Amy but doesn't much fit the disposition Jo attributes to her – "a demon in a child's body" – after Amy burns Jo's story. While such a comment might be going to sisterly extremes, it would be nice to see more of that edge to Amy to create more believable conflict.

Heather Warren is light and pleasing as romantic Meg and is perhaps at her best when facing her first ball experience and the number that follows, "Delighted." The gentle sweetness of Beth is fully embodied by Jordana Meltzer, who also has a striking voice and pairs wonderfully with Angst for arguably the best song of the evening, the touching "Some Things Are Meant to Be."

The girls are shepherded by their Marmee, a warm and attentive Georgia Lee, whose softness, vulnerabilities, and hope are expressed in "Here Alone" and "Days of Plenty."

With all the characters sharing a high degree of sweetness, Judy Beall adds a nice contrast as the exacting Aunt March, whose only concern is proper, ladylike behavior and girls following precisely what society has deemed necessary of them. Beall is sharp and fun, a welcome addition to the family.

In the care of his hard-faced grandfather Mr. Laurence (Matt Beall) and neighbor to the Marches, Darrien Cabreana's Laurie is all easy likability. Though a bit simplistic and not quite up to the vocal task, Cabreana is enjoyable nonetheless, and has a great romp in the playful and fun "Take a Chance on Me" with Angst.

Roger Caetano has presence and is endearing as Professor Bhaer, and Carl R. Smith, Jr. as John Brooke gets a nice moment and shows off a fine voice in "More Than I Am."

Act One and Two get delightful kick-offs as Jo reads aloud her latest story and the characters spring to life on the stage, creating the drama and excitement of "An Operatic Tragedy" and "The Weekly Volcano Press." Francesca Cipponeri is bold and fun in her portrayal of heroine Clarissa in these storytelling moments.

"Little Women, The Musical" is a tender portrait of family, dreams, and perseverance, with the encouraging message that love remains and we can be who we want to be. As Jo says to Aunt March, "Life isn't about society, we don't live for society. We live for what we have inside us. We live to expand our minds, fulfill our dreams and engage in passionate exchanges."

An evening of math and science fun

SUBMITTED BY AVID 8 STUDENTS, THORNTON JR. HIGH

Thornton Jr. High School hosted a Family Math and Science Night (FMSN) for the third time on Tuesday evening, March 13, 2018. Despite the rainy weather, the event went off without a hitch; there was an astonishing turnout. Teachers Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Norling were lead coordinators and had the help of numerous volunteers including fellow teachers and community members. According to Mrs. Thomas, "Math and Science Family Night was created to make math and science more fun."

And fun was had by all! Families had opportunities to participate in a variety of activities such as Connect Four: parents vs. students, cardboard robot hands, and saltwater rainbows. Additionally, Fremont Fire Department was also on hand to explain how they use drones, students from Santa Clara University had a computer science/LED display that families could program, and the American Chemical Society made their third appearance to demonstrate how nitrogen ice cream is made. Of course, you can't make ice cream and not eat it, and that's what many did!

Nine-year-old Lisa Shokoor, whose sister is an 8th grader at the school, said "[I] liked Family Night because there were so many fun things that I went to." Rishabh H., another Thornton student, reported that he'd definitely recommend that people attend next time. Families and future Thornton students can look forward to the next FMSN in 2020.

A representative from the American Chemical Society, along with a student volunteer, make nitrogen ice cream to the delight of surrounding families.

Facebook: most users may have had public data 'scraped'

By Barbara Ortutay ASSOCIATED PRESS TECHNOLOGY WRITER

Facebook's acknowledgement that most of its 2.2 billion members have probably had their personal data scraped by "malicious actors" is the latest example of the social network's failure to protect its users' data.

Not to mention its seeming inability to even identify the problem until the company was already embroiled in scandal.

CEO Mark Zuckerberg told reporters on April 4 that Facebook is shutting down a feature that let people search for Facebook users by phone number or email address. Although that was useful for people who wanted to find others on Facebook, it turns out that unscrupulous types also figured out years ago that they could use it identify individuals and collect data off their profiles.

The scrapers were at it long enough, Zuckerberg said, that "at some point during the last several years, someone has probably accessed your public information in this way." The only way to be safe would have been for users to deliberately turn off that search feature several years ago. Facebook had it turned on by default.

"I think Facebook has not been clear enough with how to use its privacy settings," said Jamie Winterton, director of strategy for Arizona State University's Global Security Initiative. "That, to me, was the failure."

The breach was a stunning admission for a company already reeling from allegations that the political data-mining firm Cambridge Analytica inappropriately accessed data on as many as 87 million Facebook users to influence elections. Over the past few weeks, the scandal has mushroomed into investigations across continents, including a probe by the U.S. Federal Trade Commission.

"The FTC looked the other way for years when consumer groups told them Facebook was violating its 2011 deal to better protect its users. But now the Cambridge Analytica scandal has awoken the FTC from its long digital privacy slumber," said Jeffrey Chester, executive director for the Washington-based privacy nonprofit Center for Digital Democracy.

Neither Zuckerberg nor his company has identified those who carried out the data scraping. Outside experts believe they could have been identity thieves, scam artists or shady data brokers assembling marketing profiles. Zuckerberg said the company detected the problem in a data-privacy audit started after the Cambridge Analytica disclosures, but didn't say why the company hadn't noticed it — or fixed it earlier.

Facebook did not immediately respond to a request for comment April 5 on when it discovered the data scraping.

In his call with reporters, Zuckerberg said the company had tried "rate limiting" the searches. This restricted how many searches someone can conduct at one time from a IP address, a numeric designation that identifies a device's location on the internet. But Zuckerberg said the scrapers circumvented that defense by cycling through multiple IP addresses.

The scraped information was limited to what a user had already chosen to make public - which, depending on a person's privacy settings, could be a lot - as well as what Facebook requires people to share. That includes full name, profile picture and listings of school or workplace networks. But hackers and scam artists could then use that information — and combine it with other data in circulation — to pull hoaxes on people, plant malware on their computers or commit other mischief.

Having access to such a massive amount of data could also pose national security risks, Winterton said. A foreign entity could conceivably use such information to influence elections or stir up discord — exactly what Russia is alleged to have done, using Facebook and other social media, in the 2016 presidential elections.

Privacy advocates have long been critical of Facebook's penchant for pushing people to share more and more information, often through pro-sharing default options. While the company offers detailed privacy controls — users can turn off ad targeting, for example, or face recognition, and post updates that no one else sees — many people never change their settings, and often don't even know how to do it.

The company has tried to simplify its settings multiple times over the years. Winterton said that for individual Facebook users, worrying about this data scraping won't do much good — after all, the data is already out there. But she said it might be a good time to "reflect on what we are sharing and how we are sharing it and whether we need to."

"Just because someone asks us information, it doesn't mean we have to give it to them if we are not comfortable," she said. Winterton added that while she no longer has a Facebook account, when she did she put her birth year as 1912 and her hometown as Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. Neither is true.

Online retailers create their own brands

By Joseph Pisani ASSOCIATED PRESS RETAIL WRITER

In Andrea Bright's home, Kleenex tissues, Charmin toilet paper and Glad trash bags have all been replaced by one brand: Prince & Spring.

Never heard of it? It's the 3-year-old house brand from Boxed.com, one among many new lines from online retailers vying to be the next private-label juggernaut. Think Costco's Kirkland Signature or Kroger's Simple Truth, but for online shoppers only.

Online retailers are creating their own brands for the same reason brick-and-mortar stores have long done so: They make a bigger profit, and the items help attract and keep customers. Jet.com launched Uniquely J last fall. Amazon now has Wickedly Prime, AmazonBasics and several other brands. And one new website, Brandless.com, has gone even further. Adamant that it's not a private label, it nonetheless sells only its own goods such as toothpaste, tampons and trail mix.

For shoppers, who may see the new brands atop their search results, the online-only store labels can offer cost savings on basics, organic items they can't find in nearby stores, or a change from products they see everywhere.

Bright, an academic counselor from Mattoon, Illinois, started buying Prince & Spring products about two years ago. They cost less, she says, and she finds them to be "very good quality."

Since online retailers don't have store shelves, they find other ways to get their labels in front of customers. Sites design packaging that pop on screens (Jet, for example, hired a tattoo artist for Uniquely J coffee labels). Some use organic ingredients or recycled materials to stand apart, while others ship boxes of free samples to hook shoppers.

In a box from Jet last December, Rachel Simpson got freebies: two Uniquely J sauces, including a Sriracha one. "That was a pleasant surprise," says Simpson, a data entry clerk who lives in Jonesboro, Arkansas. She frequently buys another brand of Sriracha from Jet, as well as other condiments.

Jet analyzes customer data to decide what free samples to send and what products to make. Sriracha is a hot seller, but it didn't have an organic version, so it created one for Uniquely J.

Jet says it started to work on Uniquely J before the site was bought by Walmart Inc. in 2016. But while you can find Walmart's private-label brands on Jet, you won't find Uniquely J in Walmart stores. "We evaluate that all the time," says Dan Hooker, who's in charge of the online retailer's private brands. "But right now, it's an exclusive Jet.com offering."

Amazon blurs the line. When it bought Whole Foods last year, it added the grocer's 365 store brand to its site immediately. Wickedly Prime soups showed up at its new Seattle convenience store, and AmazonBasics smartphone chargers are at its physical bookstores.

Store brands typically start out selling frequently bought products, such as toilet paper and napkins, and grow from there. Prince & Spring did that, and now plans to add laundry detergent, almond butter and bottled water.

To make store brands, retailers find manufacturers who can produce the items they want, says Woochoel Shin, a marketing professor at the University of Florida's Warrington College of Business. But sometimes it's the big brands that also make the privatelabel goods — something many don't want to advertise.

"If consumers knew that, who would buy the national brand product?" says Shin, who has studied store brands.

Kimberly-Clark, the maker of Kleenex tissues and Huggies diapers, says the private-label goods it makes account for less than 5 percent of its sales, but it won't say which retailers it works with. Asked on a conference call in January about increasing competition from Amazon's Mama Bear diapers, Kimberly-Clark CEO Thomas Falk answered a different question: "We haven't confirmed that we are making Mama Bear; we really don't talk about any privatelabel relationships."

Amazon says it can't say who makes its diapers, and Kimberly-Clark did not respond to a request for comment. No matter who's making them, the new online entries increase the pressure on big brands, which have already been dealing with the growth of private-label brands in stores.

How much of an effect are the new online brands having? Amazon, Boxed, and Jet wouldn't give sales figures. But brick-andmortar retailers show that store labels can be very lucrative.

The owner of Albertsons, Safeway and other supermarkets says its O Organics label recently surpassed $1 billion in annual sales, its fourth brand to do so. Kroger's Simple Truth has passed the $2 billion mark. And wholesale club Costco says Kirkland-branded nuts, milk and other goods made up about a quarter of its $129 billion in annual sales.

Online-only brands are taking inspiration from well-known store brands in other ways. Boxed, often described as the online version of Costco since both sell bulk-sized items, looked to Costco when it needed to come up with a name for its house brand, says Jeff Gamsey, Boxed's vice president of private brands.

The company considered Prince & Greene, the cross streets of Boxed's old New York office and a nod to Kirkland, named for the Washington city where Costco was once based. But someone realized that Prince & Greene had the same initials as Procter & Gamble _ the maker of Charmin and Bounty, and the very company the brand would be competing with. Greene was replaced with nearby Spring Street.

As for Brandless, don't take the name too literally. "We're a new kind of brand," says co-founder and CEO Tina Sharkey, who says she doesn't consider it a private label because the site doesn't sell any other brands. Its biggest selling point: Everything on the site costs $3, whether it's the organic virgin coconut oil or the tissues made of sugar cane and bamboo grass. Sharkey says Brandless makes money on every item by working with manufacturers directly. "Nothing costs us more than $3 to make," she says.

Since the company launched last summer, it has more than doubled the number of items it sells to 250. It doesn't reveal sales figures, but says within 60 hours of launching, it received orders from all 48 states that it ships to.

Sharkey attributes the demand to young people ready to shed big brands. ``Millennials don't want to buy the products that they grew up with and their parents use," she says.

34 Ask (7)

For All Signs: Saturn turns retrograde on April 17 for the next 5-and-a-half months. This happens every year. While direct, Saturn represents the Taskmaster within us all. He is also the Judge or the Teacher. When he turns retrograde, we are given time to think about what we 'should' do and prepare for the time that we will do it. Then he turns direct again and it is time. We must fulfill whatever is required or the consequences will materialize in the last quarter of this year. Since he is in the sign of Capricorn, we must clarify our political positions, or our personal rules in the world 'out there'. What will be our responsibilities to society and how do we want to behave under the new conditions that began in December, 2017?

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20):This spring is exploding right on your doorstep. There is a sense of general chaos among corporate bodies and it appears to include you in a personal way. Take a fresh look at where you want to direct your attention. Use this month to let go of past hurts and take a deep breath of healing

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): This is a time in which your partner is on your side and things are flowing well between you. It is a good period for coming to agreement on circumstances that have been issues in the past. You may be especially enjoying music or the arts together. Intimate moments bring you closer together now.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Matters in relation to friends, acquaintances, and your social circle are in flux. You may be awaiting the outcome so you will know how to proceed after the changes occur. It may be time to add to your network.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Follow your instincts about where you need to be, particularly if that includes a new social situation. Then give attention to whomever or whatever new enters your life. You are on schedule to find a new guide, mentor, or teacher who will help you toward the next direction in your life. Or you may become the guide for others.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): You are in a handicapped spot right now. You may have legal or ethical issues on your plate. The Powers That Be are running the show and almost any move you make outside of the box will be challenged. For the time being you are surrounded. Accept this with grace for the present. Better times are coming.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): Your attention shifts to matters of shared resources for the next three weeks. 'Resources' include time, things of material value, energy and sexuality. The territory is wide, ranging from the mundane study of the budget, to investments, and even to important discussions with partners over the need for greater intimacy.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22):

You likely will have favorable results by dealing with taxes now. Debts owed to you will be paid. Positive yields due to savings, stocks, and insurance policies will give you a stronger sense of stability and security. Activities involving older people, property, and antiques are favored.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): It is of paramount importance that you control your mouth this week, especially in the work arena. Although you have an opinion about whatever is happening, let it go and say nothing unless asked for it. Being 'right' is not as important as maintaining human relations. This is not a good time to argue.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Listen to the Guardian, who speaks to you from the inside. This is a time in which your Guardian will protect you. It is sometimes hard to pick it out from the voice of Ego. If the Voice is flattering you, set it aside. That is not the true Guardian. The true Guardian offers wisdom, not criticism or flattery.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): A new project or relationship that began at the first of this year is now up for review. The time has come to grow it or let go. In order to grow it you must put considerably more resources into it. That could be time, money, or energy. Do not commit until after Mercury turns direct on April 15, 2018. Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18):

Please see the lead paragraph. The cluster of planets I describe includes your avatar in the solar twelfth house sector of the unconscious. Stay aware that you may fall into periods of beating yourself without real warrant. That will take you down an unhealthy road that robs you of energy. It is not necessary. Don't listen to that voice.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): You may have been told that you are too sensitive for your own good. Early this week it is especially easy to take stressors onto your back that belong elsewhere. If you feel fatigued, bored, or depressed, you probably have done this. Maintaining emotional and physical boundaries is good for your mental health.

Celebrate artichokes

By Pat Kite

Once upon a time I grew an artichoke. Well, not exactly. I bought a pre-started artichoke plant at a local garden center. Visions of fresh artichokes, boiled, then slathered in butter and mayonnaise filled my brain. Everybody knows fresh is better. Unfortunately, as the plant grew, I saw a little purple pom-pom forming. Artichoke pom-poms make splendid cut flowers. My taste buds warred with my garden motto. The pom-poms won.

If you want homegrown edible artichokes, you must sever them before they approach seniority. Each little edible pointy piece is actually a flower bud. This is the part you pull off, dip in something tasty, and slurp. When you pull off the edibles, what remains is the base. This is the 'heart' of the artichoke, a special treat. However, if you forget to clip the stems, the buds will become flowers, big purple flowers that look lovely in a vase.

To use for décor, cut the stems as long as possible. Rubber band two or three stems together at the base. Tie a string to this base. Then hang the group upside down in a warm dry place with good circulation. After about three weeks, you can use for décor.

I never thought of artichokes as international travelers. History remains vague, but ancient Greek texts mentioned them as far back as the eighth century BCE. Wild artichokes can still be found in North Africa. Improvement tinkerers began in Sicily. Then on to many hybridizers, including the Arab world and Muslim Spain. When Catherine de Medici left Italy to marry King Henry II of France, she took artichokes along with her. Dutch voyagers introduced artichokes to England. By 1530, Henry the VIII grew them in the palace gardens. Immigrants from France, accompanied by artichoke plants, came to Louisiana; Spanish immigrants brought artichokes to California.

Time to celebrate. California produces nearly 100 percent of the American artichoke crop. In 1922, the first artichoke shoots were planted in Castroville. The 2018 Castroville Artichoke Food & Wine Festival is June 2 and 3 at the Monterey County Fair and Event Center. Did you know that, back in 1948, Norma Jean Mortenson, later known as Marilyn Monroe, was California's first honorary Artichoke Queen?

Varieties somewhat available: Green Globe (USA, South Africa), Violet de Provence (France), Violet d'Algerie (Algeria), Baladi (Egypt), Criolla (Peru), Nato (Argentina), Verda de Palermo (Sicily), Bayrampasha (Turkey), Blanca de Tudela (Spain). There are more.

Plants generally require full sun, but in our area, they can do with some shade. Several people I know grow artichokes. "Easy," they say. "Been doing it for years." I buy them in little jars. Very tasty.

Japan-made Al Robot to Interact with Guests at New Seattle Restaurant

Plenty USA, Inc., operator of the popular Santouka Ramen chain in the U.S., plans to launch a new version of Japan-made AI communication robot, SOTA, in the American market.

The company has announced that the North American launch of the latest version of SOTA will be at JUNKICHI, a robatayaki izakaya restaurant in Seattle's Capitol Hill neighborhood scheduled to open on April 15, 2018. An earlier version of the robot has been in use at the Santouka Ramen restaurant in University Village.

SOTA will be placed atop tables. The AI robot was developed to be able to recognize

SUBMITTED BY PR NEWSWIRE faces, help customers, and make media many times. The sure communication with the servers goes smoothly.

> A camera in SOTA's head connects images to Microsoft Azure's FaceAPI service to allow the robot to recognize faces. Because it can remember faces, SOTA will be able to adapt to repeat customers. Guests can also use a smartphone app to make SOTA speak. SOTA has a number of prepared lines it delivers, but it can be told to say all sorts of things via Microsoft Azure's Text to Speech service, meaning SOTA can have guided conversations with your table in real time.

SOTA is already a fixture at a Japanese izakaya restaurant and has been featured in the Japanese restaurant using SOTA say it gets special requests to reserve tables with the AI robot. The restaurant reports a 10% jump in sales since it started using SOTA.

Plenty USA, Inc. is opening its first authentic robatayaki izakaya in the U.S. after launching the popular Santouka Ramen chain. Robatayaki is a traditional style of izakaya restaurant. Fresh meat, fish, and vegetables are charcoal-grilled right in front of the customers and served piping hot out of the fire as it has been done in Japan for centuries. The JUNKICHI robatayaki izakaya will also serve an original ramen dish produced by Santouka.

Hugelkultur creates extra planting space

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY DANIEL O'DONNELL

One of Mark Twain's many insightful quotes was, "Buy land, they're not making any more of it." The lack of open space and the continually rising price of land in the East Bay seem to support Twain's perspective when it come to building houses and apartment buildings. However, some creative gardeners are making more land when they want extra planting space. Maybe someone should have told Mr. Twain about hugelkultur.

Hugelkultur, pronounced hoo-gul-culture, is a German word that means mound cultivation. The term first on it. The woody mound had also created a larger surface area to allow more plants to grow. Today, the term hugelkultur has been expanded to include the method used to create the planting hill.

Different from a mound made with soil, a hugelkultur bed is essentially a multilayered compost pile with a soil layer on top for growing plants. There is no fixed size; they can be very large at seven or eight feet high and fifteen feet long, or as small as three feet high and six feet long. There are slight variations in the techniques used to create a hugelkultur as well as some recommended sizes and shapes, but all of them have the same goal.

appeared in a 1962 garden brochure written by a devoted gardener Herrman Andrä. He describes a woody debris pile found in the corner of his grandmother's garden where there was an assortment of plants growing

A hugelkultur begins with gathering the organic plant materials that will be used in its construction. Some may have to be purchased, but many can be gathered from the garden. One of the many benefits hugelkultur can provide is the ability to use materials that are onsite, which is an important factor in sustainability. This "green waste" would have otherwise been put in the green bin and transported to a composting facility, using energy and creating pollution that could have been avoided. The items include tree stumps, logs, branches, twigs, leaves, plant trimmings, food scraps, manure, soil, and mulch.

Once the location, shape, and size of the hugelkultur are decided, construction can begin. Lay the items with the largest biomass down first. This would include any tree stumps or logs. Next, layer any branches on top followed by smaller sticks and twigs. Water the layers well at this time. Water is an essential component needed to start the composting process, which will provide the optimal environment and greatest nutritional benefits for the plants growing on the hugelkultur.

Lighter plant clippings, manure, leaves, and kitchen food scraps can be used to fill in the air gaps and create the next layer when the mound's woody base shape and size look appropriate. Moisten again and top the mound with at least four inches of soil followed by a layer of mulch.

A hugelkultur will need to cure for several months before it can be planted. The mulch will help deter weeds from sprouting and help it retain moisture. Additional water will be necessary; the amount will depend upon whether the hugelkultur is in the sun or shade and the air temperature.

A wide variety of plants can be grown on a hugelkultur, although many farmers and home gardeners use them for growing herbs and vegetables. The structure will sink over time as the wood breaks down and will need to be reconstructed if it is used for rotating vegetable crops.

No reconstruction is necessary if the plants used are permanent. A hugelkultur bed has many other benefits than being able to use materials from the garden. It will stay warmer than the ground for the first couple of years, which encourages plant growth and extends the growing season. The gradual breakdown of the layers provides a steady and healthy source of nutrients for the plants. The gaps left from decomposition of the twigs and branches create pockets that increase aeration promoting root health and supporting soil microorganisms. Hugelkultur beds also sequester a significant amount of carbon into the soil.

Possibly the greatest benefit for the East Bay is the water savings a hugelkultur can provide. As the bulkier logs lose their density, they become like sponges. They absorb and store large amounts of rain water in the winter, greatly reducing or even eliminating the need for irrigation. This also allows for them to be used in challenging areas that have compacted or rocky soil, poor drainage, or are nutrient deprived.

Twain also said, "The secret of getting ahead is getting started." Starting a hugelkultur project after the next big garden clean-up will put you well ahead of the preparation needed for planting next year's garden.

THE ACWD CONNECTION

April is California Earthquake Preparedness Month

It is important we take measures to prepare for an earthquake given California's geology and history of quake activity. April marks the anniversary of the Great 1906 Earthquake and is a reminder to prepare our families and homes for an earth-shaking catastrophe.

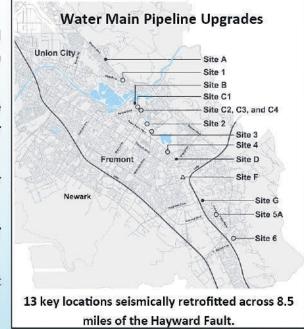

ACWD is preparing, and although 'The Big One' may rumble the Hayward Fault causing unavoidable water disruptions, the District to date has invested nearly $33 million to seismically upgrade water storage and pipeline infrastructure to help safeguard our community and water supply.

Over the next 25 years, ACWD is committing approximately $250 million to renew water distribution mains with near-term projects for healthcare, schools, and critical customers.

With a service area covering 100 square miles, emergency supply containers are strategically located throughout the Tri-Cities so our crews can quickly spring into action following a quake.

An earthquake may be unavoidable - preparation is key! Learn how you can be earthquake-ready at www.acwd.org/emergency-preparedness.

Measure AA is expected to generate $25 million annually for San Francisco Bay restoration over the next 20 years. Funding from this voter-approved measure will allow for the restoration of thousands of acres of natural habitat for wildlife, support our local economy, improve access to public lands, address flooding issues, and create thousands of new jobs.

The Authority's Governing Board seeks six individuals to serve on the Independent Citizens Oversight Committee. The Committee has three main roles: 1) Annually review the Authority's conformance with Measure AA; 2) Review the Authority's audits and expenditure and financial reports; 3) Publish an annual report of its findings, which will be posted on the Authority's website.

The Board seeks committee members from all four Bay Area regions (North Bay, East Bay, South Bay and West Bay) with special subject matter expertise. Each member of the Independent Citizens Oversight Committee must possess expertise in one or more of the following:

- Water quality
- Pollution reduction
- Habitat restoration
- Flood protection
- Improvement of public access to the San Francisco Bay

• Financing of these objectives.

Jazz Fest

This month, Cal State East Bay will present its annual Jazz Festival with special guest artist, three-time Grammy-winning percussionist Terri Lyne Carrington. The festival features an evening concert with Carrington and the East Bay Jazz Orchestra Friday, April 13 and two stages on Saturday, April 14 where a variety of talented middle school, high school, and college jazz bands will perform for the public while being adjudicated. Carrington will also perform on Saturday.

The festival format is a late development in the history of jazz. This uniquely American music, largely the result of experimentation and sophisticated innovation by African-American musicians, has spent much of its life in small clubs, bars, and other intimate settings. Not because this was where the musicians preferred to play, but because that's where the jobs were, where jazz formed the soundtrack to drinking, dining, and dancing. The great jazz districts of the past, such as Fillmore Street in San Francisco, Central Avenue in Los Angeles, and Greenwich Village in New York City, all attest to the fact. Concert settings, such as auditoriums, theaters, and concert houses weren't as available to jazz musicians, most often because of the color of their skin.

One of the great breakthrough moments in jazz history, therefore, was the establishment of the Newport Jazz Festival, first held in Newport, Rhode Island, in 1954. The early popularity of the event underlined jazz's acceptance across racial boundaries. Even though the white socialite environment of Newport offered a degree of resistance to the influx of the younger audience that jazz attracted, subsequent years saw the festival changing venues multiple times because annually increasing numbers of concertgoers put a strain on existing facilities.

Newport became the model for many famous subsequent festivals across the country. The Monterey Jazz festival debuted in October of 1958, the first Playboy Jazz Festival happened in 1959, and in 1967, the famous Montreaux Jazz Festival arrived on the shores of Lake Geneva in Switzerland.

The Cal State Jazz Festival is somewhat unique because the adjudicative aspect of the event focuses attention on jazz education, a topic important to headliner Carrington, an instructor and ensemble leader at the esteemed Berklee College of Music in Boston.

Carrington, the first female artist to win a Grammy for Best Jazz Instrumental Album, has been in the music business more than 40 years, first having made a name for herself as a whiz kid prodigy, who at age 10 was the youngest musician in Boston to ever get a union card. Magazines featured her, and TV shows employed her. Icons in the jazz world have played with her, including Herbie Hancock, Wayne Shorter, Al Jarreau, Stan Getz, David Sanborn, Woody Shaw, Cassandra Wilson, and countless others.

In 2005, Carrington returned to her hometown where her alma mater conferred an honorary doctorate and appointed her a professor. She holds the position of Zildjian Chair in Performance in the Berklee Global Jazz Institute. She is also the Artistic Director for both the Beantown Jazz Festival and Berklee Summer Jazz Workshop, and Co-Artistic Director of The Carr Center of Detroit.

Reviewers have acclaimed all eight of Carrington's albums. Her 2015 release, "The Mosaic Project: Love and Soul," featured an exclusive cast of female singers and musicians. Said James Reed of the Boston Globe, the album "is so good that the performances and the caliber of musicianship overshadow any distinctions based on gender or even genre. It doesn't need to come with an ingenious backstory; it just needs to be heard."

As an educator Carrington realizes the difficulty of teaching the unteachable essence of improvisation; however, she also says, "I think education creates a solid foundation for people that really want to learn the music, but it's just a foundation. You have to do a lot more work to become a great player or a great writer or whatever you're trying to do ... Just because you [get the foundation], that doesn't automatically put you in the jazz community. I tell my students that is a process of self-discovery. There's a lot of work to do after the foundation is laid but it gives you a head start."

As a female in the jazz world for four decades, Carrington has had time now to consider the relationship between women and jazz. "At this stage of my career," says Carrington, "I find myself speaking more about gender and equity, issues we've faced with this music all along.

"I've had a great career, but that's not good enough; it's not about the exceptions, it's not about being accepted into a boy's club, it's about changing the environment to be more welcoming to women. I take ownership of this music, it's my music, and a lot of women don't get to that point."

Jazz as it stands today embodies a simultaneous acceptance of all the developments that have made it what it is. The blues, traditional jazz, bebop, fusion, free jazz, Afro-Cuban, and more all find their way into today's recordings. "I think this is a really exceptional time," says Carrington, "because so many people have had permission to merge indigenous music based on their cultural background, traditional music—if that's where their heart is—as well as the things they grew up listening to, be it indie rock, or R&B. This kind of genre merging is very exciting."

Concertgoers to the East Bay Jazz Festival are sure to encounter a variety of styles, but if anything is true about the music, in the words of Terri Lyne Carrington: "Once you get bitten by the jazz bug, you're there forever."

Partners and presenters for 2018 include The Scott Family Amazeum, Black Girls Code, Fixit Clinic, Howtoons, Noisebridge, Original Scraper Bike Team, Play-Well TEKnologies, Project Ember, Tinker Kitchen, Today's Future Sound, Wonderful Idea Co., Kijani Grows, Cere Davis, Eastbay Astronomical Society, The Museum of Art and Digital Entertainment, Art in Action, The Ninety-Nines, OSHPark, and Rock & Roll Auto Recycling. Tinkerfest is sponsored by United Airlines and AT&T, with additional support from Rock & Roll Auto Recycling and OSHPark.

A hallmark area of Tinkerfest is the popular "take apart" zone where tinkerers can see, touch, and learn how something works by assisting in dismantling it. This year the take apart area will include two cars. Other activities will include a giant Lego© city build, a learning to solder workshop, how to safely use power tools, how to deck out your bike, cardboard city, creating your own stop motion animation movies, programming and playing with robots and

"Science is sometimes perceived as complicated, technical, and only for highly-trained professionals, when the truth is, actually 'doing' science can be creative, inspiring, super fun," says Chabot Space & Science Center Executive Director Adam Tobin. "Everything around us in the human-made world comes from science and the creative process of tinkering leads to scientific discovery, understanding, problem-solving and a whole lot of entertainment. Come join us for a day of taking things apart to see how they work, putting them back together to see if we can, learning how video games, cooking, fashion and robots work!"

Activities include: Black Girls CODE

By reaching out to the community through workshops and after school programs, Black Girls CODE introduces computer coding lessons to young girls from underrepresented communities in programming languages such as Scratch or Ruby on Rails. Their interactive activity will give participants the opportunity to program and play with round robots. The hands-on experience will bring coding to life while showcasing how fun it is to learn the fundamentals of computer science.

Project Ember

Project Ember's team teaches kids how to safely use professional power tools, announce a surprise design challenge, and unleash imaginations in design sessions. Then we build it, test it, improve it, play with it, ride on it, and show it off. Though every session and challenge is unique, one thing is guaranteed: kids will always be able to get in, climb on or operate creations of their very own design.

The Original Scraper Bike Team

The Scraper Bike Movement offers youth a sustainable group of peers that is positive and motivating, expanding and enlightening young people's perspective on life through fixing and painting bicycles and supporting youth entrepreneurship. Tinkerfest participants will learn how to deck out their bicycles.

Tinker Kitchen

Tinker Kitchen is a makerspace in the Mission District in San Francisco with all the kitchen cooking gadgets imaginable. Join them at the kitchen, swap cooking tips with other food hackers, learn cool new things, and embark on your own cooking adventures!

Fixit Clinic

Fixit Clinic, based primarily in the San Francisco Bay Area, provides guided disassembly to help people learn to fix their broken stuff. Bring your broken stuff to the clinic; Fixit Coaches will help you evaluate the problem, lend you to tools to attack it, and teach you how to use them.

Howtoons

Engage with hands-on projects that empower kids to unleash their creativity and learn through play, understanding the science behind toys they build themselves. Designed for kids 7-12, each kit comes with everything they need to create, learn, and play, plus a comic book story and bonus content. Howtoons will showcase and demo their most popular kits.

Play-Well TEKnologies

Join Play-Well TEKnologies for a giant Lego© city build! Imagine what your future city might look like and put your engineering skills to the test.

Today's Future Sound

Join Today's Future Sound for a live interactive beat making workshop in the Megadome. This experience will exhibit the music and skills they teach students and community members across the San Francisco Bay Area and around the world. DJs and beatmakers will pull kids from the audience to program drums and play percussion instruments, with an instruction on sampling and remixing classic tracks.

The Museum of Art and Digital Entertainment

MADE is a 501c3 nonprofit dedicated to the preservation of video game history and educating the public on how video games are created. Our goal is to inspire the next generation of game developers. Stop by and play Oakland Minecraft.

REMAGINATION with Art in Action

Children will use their ingenuity and creativity skills by joining forces with others to imagine, design, engineer, and build a large-scale version of Dahlsen's Totem using found objects. Every child will have a chance to add a lasting and personal touch to the Totem and will leave with their very own Kuriosity Krate to explore more at home.

Join us for the beloved musical theater classic "Fiddler on the Roof" that tells the story of author Sholem Aleichem's Tevye the Milkman, who struggles against poverty, bigotry, and the changing conventions of a new century while remaining faithful to his personal relationship with God. In this culturally and historically accurate depiction of the fictional Ukrainian-Jewish settlement of Anatevka, we meet Tevye, his wife Golde, his five daughters, and the colorful inhabitants of his Shtetl, or village. We experience the characters' joys and sorrows of surviving in early 20th century Czarist

Russia, where their lives are "as shaky as a fiddler on the roof!" Familiar songs include "If I Rich Man," "Matchmaker," "To Were a Life," and

"Sunrise, Sunset."

The original 1964 musical was the creation ot Broadway legends Jerome Robbins and Harold Prince, songwriters Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, and book writer Joseph Stein. It won nine Tony Awards including Best Musical and was the first Broadway musical to surpass 3,000 performances. In 1971, it was adapted into an Oscar-winning film.

Irvington Conservatory Theater has been presenting award-winning theater for over four decades. Boasting professional sets and costumes, a live student orchestra, and a diverse cast of highly talented student performers, this timely and faithful rendition of a Broadway classic is sure to please people of all ages and faiths. Your body needs the oxygen in the air to live. You can live for days without food or water, but only a few minutes without air.

How does oxygen get from the air into your body? It enters through a special body system called your respiratory system.

The respiratory system includes your mouth and nose. That is the part of your body that you use to bring air into your body. Then the air goes down a tube called a trachea to your lungs.

Fremont Holds 2018 State of the City Address on March 28

On March 28, Fremont Mayor Lily Mei delivered this year's State of the City address at a luncheon hosted by the Fremont Chamber of Commerce at the Fremont Marriott Silicon Valley.

Mayor Mei outlined the City's achievements in 2017 and its goals for the year ahead.

Here are a few of the highlights:

• This November, residents will vote in the first district-based election in Fremont, moving away from at-large city elections. Information on districts and which seats are up for election in 2018 can be found at www.Fremont.gov/DistrictElections. Also, a new Council District locator tool was introduced for community members to plug in their address to determine which district they live in.

- · Decreasing residential burglaries in neighborhoods remains a priority for the Fremont Police Department, and thanks to their efforts, Fremont has seen an overall reduction of 62 percent since 2011. In 2017, there was a 32 percent decrease.
- The Fremont Fire Department deployed first responders to the devastating fires throughout California and hurricane responses across the country and Puerto Rico. Locally, the newly created Office of Emergency Services educated over 2,600 residents about emergency best practices at community events.
- The City achieved a 70 to 90 percent traffic reduction in residential neighborhoods by implementing changes to signal timing, commute period turn restrictions, and other measures. Improvements

- are planned for Interstate 680 and 880 through Fremont and include Express Lanes to ease traffic congestion.
- Startup Grind is in its third year, and provides an opportunity to enhance Fremont's entrepreneurship eco-system. Fireside chats are taking place on a monthly basis.
- The City's sustainability efforts are well underway; by replacing 15,000 streetlights with energy-saving LEDS, and completing a host of other energy and water saving projects, the City will collectively save $13 million over the life of the new fixtures.
- · Fremont's new Rent Review Ordinance is now in effect, and the newly formed Rent Review Board will shepherd fair and equitable resolutions for both renters and landlords.

- Fremont joined the World Health Organization's global network of Age Friendly cities to better meet the needs of our aging residents and launched a monthly online newsletter.
- · Local activity by Lennar, Sobrato, Toll Brothers, Tesla, and Valley Oak Partners is anticipated to bring over 8,000 potential new jobs and 4,000 residential units to the Warm Springs District.

• This Spring, the City will activate the site at Town Fair Plaza in Downtown Fremont with flexible programming; the site will be managed by Public Space Authority. The City encourages community members to share thoughts on the type of programing and activities they'd like to see when it opens daily.

The full presentation from Mayor Mei's State of the City address is available at www.Fremont.gov/StateoftheCity.

Earth Day Fair 2018

Celebrate Earth Day 2018 with the City of Fremont! Bring your family, friends, and bicycles to take part in the festivities on Saturday, April 21, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Washington West Building located at 2500 Mowry Ave. The event is free and fun for the entire family.

The Earth Day Fair is filled with children's arts and crafts, eco-entertainment, games, a bicycle rodeo, free bicycle valet parking and basic tune-ups provided by a local bike shop, and educational booths. You can also learn more about how to reduce your household's carbon footprint by signing up for the Fremont Green Challenge. This online tool, found at www.FremontGreen Challenge.org, helps you find ways to decrease your energy and water consumption, reduce waste, and protect the environment, all while saving money!

This Earth Day event is brought to you by the City's Environmental Services Division and Washington Hospital. For more information visit www.Fremont.gov/EarthDay or call the Environmental Services Division at 510-494-4570. See you there!

Saddle Up at Fremont's Earth Day Fair

Bike East Bay will be hosting a Family Cycling Rodeo at Fremont's Earth Day event Saturday, April 21, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Certified instructors will lead children through fun games, safety drills, and skills building. Participants will learn:

How to Perform a Bicycle Safety Check Proper Helmet Fitting

Communication Skills with Other Road Users How to Navigate Safely Through Intersections Obstacle Avoidance

Bicycles and helmets will be provided for children, or they can bring their own. All minors must be accompanied by an adult to participate.

New Interactive Map for Development Activity in Fremont

The City's Community Development Department recently launched Civic Insight, an interactive map that plots major development (vertical construction) permit activity throughout Fremont over the past 10 years. It includes building, engineering, and planning permits. Users can search by address, permit number, neighborhood, street name, and/or time period. To get started, visit www.Fremont.gov/CivicInsight.

To research minor permit activity such as solar, home occupation, and encroachment permits, use the City's Citizen Access online tool at www.Fremont.gov/CitizenAccess.

Fremont Receives California Park & Recreation Society Awards

The City of Fremont Community Services Department is proud to announce awards received from the California Park & Recreation Society

First, the Aqua Adventure Waterpark received the CPRS Statewide Award of Excellence in Marketing and Communications for the City of Fremont's "Are You Ready Kids?" digital media commercial with Comcast Spotlight promoting summer fun in the family-friendly community waterpark. Aqua Adventure fully recovers all costs and supports the Community Services Department's goal of "Parks Make Life Better."

Non-Profit partner, Math Science Nucleus, Inc., received the CPRS District 3 regional award for Outstanding Non-Profit Partner in grateful recognition and significant contributions toward the spirit of "Parks Make Life Better" and the missions of parks and recreation. Dr. Joyce Blueford of Math Science Nucleus received the CPRS Statewide Award for 2017 Champion of the Community. The City partners with Math Science Nucleus in programs including earthquake exhibit tours, hoot owl walks, and interpretive and educational programs sharing the archaeological importance, rich history, and natural resources in Fremont.

Upcoming District-Based City Council Elections

In November 2018, City of Fremont voters will participate in the first district-based election when four City Council seats will be up for election. Fremont voters will select from City Council candidates who live in their districts only. Councilmembers will be elected according to the following timetable:

Voters residing in Districts 1 through 4 will be casting a vote for their Council representative in 2018. In more detail, this includes District 1 (Northwest portion of the city-two-year term), District 2 (Central North portion—four-year term), District 3 (Central portion four-year term), and District 4 (Eastern portion-fouryear term). In the November 2020 election, voters in Districts 1, 5, and 6 will each elect a City Councilmember and voters citywide will elect the Mayor, which remains an at-large position.

In an effort to assist citizens in determining which Council district they reside in, Fremont's Geographic Information System (GIS) Division has developed the Council District Locator. This online tool allows citizens to enter their addresses into an interactive map to identify the Council district number assigned to that specific location. Residents can access the Council District Locator at www.Fremont.gov/CouncilDistrictLocator.

For more information on how this district-based election system originated and how it will affect voters, please visit www.Fremont.gov/DistrictElections.

Grey wolves have new home at Oakland Zoo

SUBMITTED BY ERIN HARRISON

A pair of gray wolves have settled into their habitat at Oakland Zoo's California Trail. The two wolves, Sequoia and Siskiyou, arrived in late December; however, due to the nature of wolves being skittish and shy, zookeepers allowed them to adapt to their new home slowly. Additionally, zookeepers have been conducting 'Wolf Acclimation Sessions' for the past month. The process includes groups of volunteers, docents, staff, and zoo members visiting the wolf exhibit at scheduled times, in an effort to get the wolves used to people watchers. Zookeepers believe the two wolves are now camera-ready for a press debut.

The wolves are five years old and were relocated to Oakland as part of a conservation partnership with Oakland Zoo and California Wolf Center. The partnership includes an agreement where Oakland Zoo helps support the Wolf Center's Range Steward program, a program that supports wolves, livestock, and people thriving on the landscape together. Sequoia and Siskiyou are animal ambassadors for wolves in the wild and the successful gray wolf comeback in California.

"California Wolf Center is honored to be working with Oakland Zoo to provide a dynamic new home for the gray wolves Sequoia and Siskiyou. We are excited for this pair's respect and connect with the Gray Wolf, their species having been extricated from our state out of misunderstanding and fear," said Amy Gotliffe, Oakland Zoo's Conservation Director. This pair will also represent the exciting return of the Gray Wolf to California, and how Oakland Zoo, California Wolf Center, and California ranchers are teaming up to protect and restore this important species."

Sequoia is a male wolf and was born at the California Wolf Center. He is described by zookeepers as very sweet with a dominant personality. Siskiyou (female) was born at McCleery Buffalo Wolf Foundation in Montana. According to zookeepers, the five-year-old pair appears to be getting along very well. Wolves, unlike dogs, mate for life; therefore, they take time to develop relationships. Oakland Zoo hopes Siskiyou will have a litter of pups next year. Creating a pack is important to the emotional health of wolves. Pups born to the pair will remain at Oakland Zoo, in the same habitat as their parents.

"Siskiyou and Sequoia are making quite a home for themselves in their new two-acre habitat," said Darren E. Minier, Assistant Director, Animal Care, Conservation, and Research at Oakland Zoo. "We're happy to care for these two special individuals, and excited for the family pack they'll create together. They are stunning ambassadors for their counterparts in the wild, and future in the Bay Area and have the utmost faith in Oakland Zoo staff to provide an extraordinary life for these animals," said Christina Souto, California Wolf Center's Director of Marketing and Communications.

Telling Sequoia and Siskiyou's story and the return of the gray wolf to California is an important conservation message Oakland Zoo is dedicated to sharing with the public. The human-wildlife conflict is, and will continue to be, an important conservation message to Zoo visitors. It should be noted that both of these wolves were born in captivity and did not come from the wild.

"Our hope is Sequoia and Siskiyou will inspire people to we're excited to share them and their stories when California Trail opens this June!"

Zookeepers confirmed the wolves have each created seven-day beds throughout their exhibit, ensuring they have a variety of comfortable sleeping options. The two-acre wolf habitat at Oakland Zoo's California Trail is complete with a pool, trees, dens, and plenty of cover for these naturally reclusive animals. The California Trail at Oakland Zoo opens to the public in June 2018.

Music director honored

Newark Symphonic Winds director Richard Wong was recently recognized for his work with the nonprofit orchestra that brings live music programs to the Tri-City community. Following the orchestra's spring concert on March 31, Wong was given a Certificate of Recognition by the office of the California State Assembly Kansen Chu, who represents the 25th District located in Milpitas.

The spring concert was performed by 50 orchestra members in the Newark Memorial High School Theatre and elicited waves of emotions from various generations of audience members as they were transported by the winds through

Melodies included works from "The Phantom of the Opera" by Andrew Lloyd Webber, selections from the Disney movie "Moana," arranged by Jay Bocook. Also performed was Toto's "Africa" by David Paich and Jeff Porcaro, and selections from the Broadway classic "West Side Story" by Leonard

Richard Wong and Kansen Chu

Bernstein. Finally, performing a bit of Dixieland music, was the Newark Saxophone Quartet, composed of Maurice LaFleur, Steve Leitner, Andy Ehling and Jim Carter.

Next up is the Newark Symphonic Winds Summer Concert set for 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, June 2 at the Newark Memorial High School Theatre. For details, visit the group's website at www.newarksymphonic.org.

RESOLVED: THE AMERCAN DREAM IS DEAD. DO YOU AGREE?

Join Fremont AAUW and the Irvington High School Debate Team to hear a parliamentary-style debate on the topic.

> Tuesday, April 17, 7:00-8:30 P.M. Fremont Main Library Fukaya Room

The One Book, One Community Read project chose Behold the Dreamers by Imbolo Mbue as the featured book of the year to implement AAUW's year-long study of immigration.

The main characters of the book, Behold the Dreamers, the reunited family of Jenda Jonga, from Cameroon, West Africa, had achieved part of their dream—they were living in New York, working, or going to school on a student visa, and applying for their green cards.

BUT, would their small children be allowed "the opportunity to grow up in a magnificent land of uninhibited dreamers"?

> Is America such a land, or is The American Dream Dead?

Public forum on Prop 13 law planned

SUBMITTED BY MARIAN HANDA

Helen Hutchison, President of the League of Women Voters of California, and Ben Grieff, Campaign Director and Spokesperson for Evolve, will speak at a forum on The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2018, a ballot initiative designed to reform Prop 13. The Forum will be held Thursday, April 19 at the Hayward City Council Chambers.

Proposition 13 was passed by California voters in 1978. It limits the increase in property valuations to 2 percent annually and market value reassessment can only occur with change of property ownership. However, a loophole in the law allows big businesses to pocket billions of dollars annually.

The forum is sponsored by the League of Women Voters Eden Area. Admission is free and open to the public. For details, send an email to Rita Duncan, Program Co-Chair, League of Women Voters Eden Area, at freemyheart@yahoo.com.

Chabot excels at international meet

Track & Field

SUBMITTED BY MATT SCHWAB

In a shining event for Chabot College and the Track and Field program, the Gladiators hosted the San Francisco Distance Carnival at Gladiator Staudium on March 30-31. The massive meet drew 105 schools from 35 states and Canada, highlighted by the fastest 10-kilometer run in the world this year by Mauricio Gonzalez from Columbia with a time of 28 minutes, 13.49 seconds.

Chabot coach Kyle Robinson says the meet was by far the biggest in its 10-year history, with more than 3,000 participants. "It was awesome," Robinson said of the spectacle. Chabot Gladiator athletes appeared to rise to the challenge with inspired efforts. "Chabot had a phenomenal weekend on the track," Robinson said.

Gladiator sophomore
David Frisbie took the
CCCAA NorCal lead in the 5k with a time of 14:54, No. 3 on the Chabot top 10 list behind
Ted Quintana and Olympian
Doug Padilla. Chabot's Nick
Pepares punched his ticket to the NorCal Championships with a Javelin toss of 46.3 meters. He is now the conference leader in the event.

Chabot's Jordan Kirby ran a seasonal best in the 800 (1:55.90), and Jamie Guzman did the same in the 400 hurdles (1:08.4). Freshmen Thomas Gallagher and Lucas Vigil also qualified for the NorCal meet in the 5k, running 15:49 and 15:54. Dante Johnson had a huge personal best in the 100 (11.15).

Roman Johnson was the lone Chabot athlete at Stanford Invitational last week. He took sixth in the 100 Invitational and ran an NorCal leading time of 10.58. He is the second fastest 100-meter runner to don a Chabot Jersey.

Lacrosse

Spartans halfway there

SUBMITTED BY SHERRI ROHDE

At the halfway point of the season, the Fremont Spartans 14U team is on a roll! 6-0 overall (in conference play they are 3-0). In the Rookie division, Fremont is ranked second to the Walnut Creek Warriors White team, also a perfect 4-0 against Rookie division opponents. Their first-place ranking is due to defeating stronger divisional opponents than Fremont, although the Warriors White are 0-3 against Veteran division opponents while Fremont has defeated both Veteran division teams they have played so far.

Last season, the Spartans U14 went 6-6 in the regular season, but played strong in the 2-game post season, taking down both tournament opponents. Two major reasons for the improved performance: a jump in roster size from 13 to 19, including an infusion of younger players from the Junior 12U level plus new recruits joining the ranks, (primarily from Thornton Middle school after the coaches led a successful series of four after-school camps during Spring and Fall 2017 semesters).

In addition to having enough players to last all four quarters, the attack unit has jumped massively in productivity this year, with over 54% of the team's 126 offensive points (sum of goals and assists), compared to the previous season's 30%. The team's strong performance at the faceoff dot remains unchanged at 72%. Finally, despite playing less overall defense (with the ball spending more time on the offensive half of the field) the team's defensive output has increased from an average of 26 points per game (sum of ground balls and take-aways) to 38 this season. Coach John Wallace notes that even when the ball does get turned over or the opponent's goalie make a save, the Spartans' smothering ride has gotten the ball back 66% of the time before the opponent has even had a chance to play offense.

Six games remain in regular season play, four versus divisional opponents, and two versus veteran squads. The second half will start with a rematch at Alameda vs the rookie Attack team, followed by a trip back to South San Jose to face West Valley's veteran Red Hawks Black.

The Fremont Spartans Lacrosse club is the ONLY youth lacrosse club between Alameda and San Jose and has teams for several age groups. For more information, visit: www.fre-lax.com

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Teacher unrest is an issue in the forefront of news these days but not a new occurrence. Although some may dismiss it as limited and solely a wage issue, disputes of this nature should be viewed as a serious indictment of our civic responsibility. Education is not only the foundation of our future society but a critical, basic building block of democracy. The fundamental premise of mandatory public education is to assure continuation of free and open rational thought, religion and debate for all residents and citizens. Without a basic, universal understanding of the political, moral and historical context of our ethical and political system, leadership falls solely to those who either rise to or seize power by whatever means and subsequently can rule without regard for others; decisions are based solely on selfish desires. Those with dissenting opinions are subject to ridicule, demeaning taunts and suppression. This is the bedrock of totalitarian societies.

Education, root of democracy

Without commitment to the basic necessity of a well-educated public that serves as a thoughtful and vigilant electorate sharing diverse perspectives, our society is not only in imminent danger but comes perilously close to descending into divisive chaos and a brutal, dictatorial regime. Those on the front lines of a constant struggle to balance freedom of thought and action with law and order are our teachers - at all levels of education. Money, prestige and power should be earned by them and, subsequently, accorded to all educators; we cannot build a strong nation and world with a selective and therefore weak foundation of primary schools. Our political lives and future depend on a strong, well-compensated, highly educated and motivated cadre of educators.

In a fast-changing world, filled with new ideas, innovations and technology, a poorly prepared team of teachers will only retard the growth and creativity of our youth. The term "best and brightest" is often applied by politicians to those selected for leadership positions but must be applied to our teachers as well. We should not only expect but demand and reward primary and secondary level teachers in accordance with their prime importance to continuation of our way of life. It is shocking to hear about the disregard for standards and compensation in many sections of our country, state and communities that has led to ignorance, intolerance and emotional detachment from reality. The chaos and revolt within and outside the education community is a signal that cannot be ignored.

As a result, there should be and can be a revolutionary adjustment of teacher standards accompanied by significant pay increases along with the idea of sabbatical leave for all educators – not just university professors - to revive their own expertise and vigor. Teaching is a tough profession and requires skillful, knowledgeable and professional strength to meet the demands of children and their world. While basic values need to be preserved, the advent of a digital and virtual revolution and its fast pace must be matched by a blend of relevance and basic, time-tested principles.

There is no more political sector of our community than education. It is infused in personal living rooms, public classrooms and social interaction – that is where we learn to receive and interpret information, then respond in appropriate ways. Without the formal and informal guidance of parents, institutions and civil organizations, the concept of "us" dissolves into "I" and "me" without controls. Let's work to elevate our schools - public and private - to the highest community status and demand that respect, support and compensation become and remain as the number one priority to ensure continuation of our way of life.

Plant Marigold for Bees

We had a surprisingly cold March, so frost is still possible. Watch the weather forecasts and only plant summer veggies like tomatoes, peppers and eggplant when the chance of frost is over.

This month sow flowers. Bees are attracted to alyssum, bachelor buttons, calendula, cosmos, forget-me-nots, marigolds, snapdragons, sunflowers, sweet peas, verbena, and zinnias. Did you know bees cannot see red? Choose varieties with their favorite colors: bright blue, violet, white, yellow and orange.

from Troop 111 have been working every weekend since February. They've dug up the

for irrigation pipes.

The new planters will be finished in time for late spring planting. There are standard planters (4'x12'x18') available for rent. If you are interested in renting a planter, contact LEAF Center Garden Supervisor leafgardensup@gmail.com

Frozen out

Over 60% of our tomato and flower starts we sowed perished in that bizarre freeze at the end of February so we had to sow seeds all over again. We're waiting for some warm sunny days to grow, grow, grow our little seedlings in time for our big veggie seedling sale at Earth Day on Sunday, April 22nd. Our customers tell us they get fantastic results with our seed starts!

YouTube tries to crack down on conspiracy videos

ASSOCIATED PRESS

YouTube says it's cracking down on conspiracy videos, though it's scant on the details.

Conspiracy videos abound on YouTube, whether it's about the Earth being flat or school shootings being staged. YouTube, its parent Google, Facebook and Twitter are all facing challenges with the spread of misinformation, propaganda and fake news.

YouTube CEO Susan Wojcicki said at a conference on March 13 that the company will work to debunk videos espousing conspiracy theories by including links to the online encyclopedia Wikipedia. In a statement, YouTube said that the links will include other "third-party sources." But it isn't identifying any.

The company says the move is part of a broader initiative at YouTube to crack down on misinformation but did not give details on what else is in the works.

Phillip John Utic

June 24, 1929 - April 1, 2018

Phil Utic lived a rich life as a wonderful family member, personable and respected public water utility manager, and giving community participant for many years in his home state of Wisconsin and adopted home of California. He was always known and loved for his continually upbeat attitude, good-natured demeanor, generosity and service to others.

Phil was born and raised in Oshkosh, Wisconsin to Elmer and Rose Utic, one of six siblings. He served as a corporal in the US Army in Korea from 1951 to 1953, during which he struck up a pen pal friendship with Janet Peabody, fondly remembered as the woman who was to become his wife and mother of their four children. After returning from Korea, he attended the University of Wisconsin and earned his degree in Civil Engineering. Phil and Jan married and began raising their family in Oshkosh before moving to Green Bay, where the family lived until 1980. Phil's work as general manager of the water utility opened up an opportunity for Jan and Phil to move to California, settling in Fremont. Phil worked as a manager at the Alameda County Water District until his retirement in 1991.

Phil had an active retirement, volunteering at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Fremont, St. Vincent de Paul, in various capacities in the Lions Club, with Meals on Wheels and VIP Rides, the Food Bank, and serving on the Water Board. Over the years, frequent family meals and gatherings with Phil provided a cornerstone of warmth and unity for his children, grandchildren, nephew Bill and his wife Dianne Martin of Fremont, and extended family. His wife Jan unfortunately passed away in 2003. Phil later had the good fortune of building a relationship with Joan Pucci, a friend from church, and their eventual marriage. Phil enjoyed happy years with Joan and her family until he passed away on April 1.

Kittens need families

SUBMITTED BY FREMONT PD

Many kittens come into the shelter during the spring and summer months who are too young to place up for adoption. We try and place the young babies with foster families until they reach eight weeks of age and/or are determined ready for adoption. Each season is different and hard to predict, but on average we place more than 50 kittens with foster families each year. Some babies need bottle feeding and some may need medication. In some cases, we get small litters with one or two and other times we get larger litters of five or more. What is consistent is that they all need lots of socialization and love!

Obituary

Charles N. Wilkins Jr. M.D.

May 8, 1924 - January 13, 2018

Resident of Fremont

The noble profession of the Family General Practitioner has sadly become a lost art and one of Fremont's founding GP's left us on January 13, 2018. Charles (Charlie) N. Wilkins, Jr. M.D, began his practice in 1963 at the corner of Paseo Padre and Mowry. Country life was still much a part of this city with streets lined in cherry and apricot orchards, family businesses were flourishing, and a brand new hospital was built at the center of town. A doctor's life revolved around the care of his patients 24 hours a-day, and Charlie loved caring for not just his patient, but the entire family. Dr. Wilkins was known for his caring bedside manners. Through spending time with his patients and talking, Charlie was able to piece together and diagnose alignments that were not always obvious. Looking past just the individual and digging into family history and problems, he could piece together a diagnosis. He delighted in bringing babies into the world, being a family doctor, and assisting in surgeries. As a country doctor, payment for services often involved a lot of bartering: eggs, meats, lumber, or discounts on services, bringing him a fortune in friendships that would last a lifetime.

In the beginning, Charlie the first of identical twins and his brother, James, were born May 8, 1924 in Philadelphia. Known as double trouble from their very first steps they sought out the world together testing their trikes out on the dining table, fishing and canoeing at a family cabin in New Jersey, playing tricks on teachers, double dating, and forming childhood friendships with a gang of 8. At 18, Charlie enlisted into the Army Aircorp to serve his country in World War II. Through the infantry, 94th Chemical Mortar Battalion, Coast Artillery and finally as a Lieutenant in the Navy Medical Corp, Charlie embraced a passion for learning and protecting life.

While finishing his medical training at Hahnemann Medical College to become a Family General Practitioner, he set his sights on a girl he'd known growing up, Myrtice Hurd. Charlie and Tice had a wonderful 62 year marriage that gave the world 4 wonderful children, 10 grandchildren, and 7 great-grandchildren.

Through this marriage, Charlie and Tice sought to make this world a better place. They saw a need in Fremont for a youth counseling service. With the support of a Cal State University Hayward (East Bay) professor and student interns, they started the Washington Township Counseling Services – in the back of his office. This was the first counseling service to open in Fremont and was offered free of charge. Charlie and Tice also became certified by the county to provide emergency foster care to children and teens who had run away or were in need of temporary care. They took in almost 40 children.

Charlie was also proud of the many organizations he belonged to: he was a life-long supporter of the Boys Scouts, earning his Eagle Scout award along with his twin brother, assisting in scouting activities throughout his life, and being proud to not only see his son, but two grandsons become Eagle Scouts. In 1948, Charlie joined the Masons and maintained his Philadelphia membership for 70 years in addition to his memberships with the Centerville Masons, Scottish Rites and Shriners. He also loved to socialize with friends from SIRS, Cybergeezers, the Fremont Senior Center, members of his church, and a steadfast group of local doctors who shared his compassion for life.

Charlie and Tice devoted their lives to a love for service, family, friends, travel, and their little rescue dog, Scruffy who lit up their lives for 19 years.

Charlie has now joined his wife, Tice, daughter Robin, and brother James. He is survived by his daughters Wendy and Mary, son Charles; son and daughter in-laws George, BJ, Jim and Karen; his adored grandchildren (and their spouses): Jessie Winsted, Jenny Wilson (husband Sean), Nancy Weaver (husband Jason), Cheech Patane (wife Kayla), Jason and Chris Sikkel, Charlie (fiancée Emily), Andrew, Sunni, and George Wilkins in addition to 7 great-grandchildren Olen and Arlo Blomberg, Georgia and Charlie Wilson, Lincoln Weaver, Addison and John Patane, devoted sister, Frances, along with his extended family Vicki and Edward Winsted. He also had many nieces whom were very important to him, in addition to his good friends Tim and Karen Hood and Valerie Schreijer. He will be missed by all.

Join Charles' family in celebrating his life at a memorial service on Saturday April 14, 2pm at the United Church of Christ, 38255 Blacow Road, Fremont.

In lieu of flowers, Charles' family requests help to carry on his work through donations to Sulphur Creek Nature Center, your local animal shelter in memory of Scruffy, your favorite educational group, or to an Alzheimer's organization.

Obituary

James Arthur Conard

November 2, 1932 – April 5, 2018

Resident of Fremont

James Arthur Conard, longtime resident of Fremont, passed peacefully at home on April 5, 2018 surrounded by family. He was 85.

He was born in Minnetonka, Minnesota. He served in the Navy from 1950-1954, planted roots in Oakland, and married the love of his life, Nancy, in 1955. They moved to Fremont in 1959 and the family still resides in the same home where their children grew up.

He and his beloved wife Nancy built the most loving family together — they were the truest of soul mates and deeply in love. They were joyfully married for 63 years; his eyes still sparkled at the sight of her and he would hold her hand whenever they were near each other. They spent countless anniversaries and family vacations by the water in Carmel, their favorite place in the world. He loved neighborhood block parties and for their entire marriage, opened their home to anyone, including their children and grandchildren's friends. Longtime Fremont residents fondly remember him as a friendly face at the local grocery store in Glenmoor, Fremont Market. He was generous and kind always, and took care of his father and mother in-law in their final years. As an amature artist, he found great joy in oil painting.

He was handy with all sorts of tools -- he once sewed a corduroy

coat for his daughter on his own (which encouraged his wife to learn to sew), and built the addition to his house with more stamina than kids half his age. He was a master at completing jigsaw puzzles and winning board games. He had a green thumb and loved to work in his garden that blossomed full of flowers for years. His grandchildren and great grandchildren called him "Buddy," and he happily spent his retirement with them playing in the backyard on the swingset and in the playhouse he built for them.

He belonged to the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, and Fremont Arts Association. He was a faithful parishioner of Holy Spirit Church in Fremont, and regularly volunteered with Special Religious Education (SPRED), Italian Social Group, Ladies in Stitches, Share Christmas, Healing Mass receptions, and the welcome committee.

He is survived by his beautiful wife Nancy; his children Lisa and her husband Michael, Mark and his wife Patty, Kurt Sr. and his wife Karen, and Julie and her husband Muayyad; his grandchildren Neil, Justin, Matt, Amy, Kurt, Aaron, Brian, Lyla, Shadi, and Majdi; his great grandchildren Anthony, Krystabell, Camille, Caitlin, Emilie, Heidi, Cora, Bradley, Raina, Braeden, Noelani, Kaileigh, McKenzie, Tristan, Christian, Mia, Isabella, Geneveve, and Killian; great great grandchild Jasiah; and his brother John. He was preceded in death by his great grandson Christopher, mother Muriel, sister Connie, and nephew Craig.

Visitation Wednesday, April 11, 5-8pm at Fremont Chapel of the Roses, 1940 Peralta Blvd, Fremont with a vigil serivce 6:30pm. Funeral mass Thursday, April 12, noon at Holy Spirit Church, 37588 Fremont Blvd, Fremont. Burial to follow at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, 26320 Mission Blvd, Hayward.

Percussionist wins young artist competition

SUBMITTED BY STEPHANIE TALARICO

Fremont resident Chin-Li Sophia Lo has been selected as a winner of the 2018 Yamaha Young Performing Artists (YYPA) competition.

The annual program honors emerging 18- to 22-year-old artists for their extraordinary talents in jazz, classical and contemporary genres, and is conducted by the Band and Orchestral division of Yamaha Corporation of America, the world's largest musical instrument manufacturer. Lo is one of only 11 musicians selected nationwide to earn this distinction in 2018.

"For 30 years, the YYPA program has been a significant opportunity for young musicians who are embarking on a career as a professional musician, and one of the most visible ways that Yamaha offers unrivaled support for music education," said John Wittmann, director of education and artist relations, Yamaha. "We are pleased to honor Sophia at this early phase of her development as an artist and watch as she builds upon the YYPA legacy to lead a promising future."

Lo is pursuing a bachelor's degree in Music Performance at the Jacobs School of Music of Indiana University studying under Kevin Bobo. She previously studied with Galen Lemon. Her passion for music was first discovered at the age of six with the Ju Percussion Group. She was a member of the California Percussion Ensemble and performed many concerts in the San Francisco Bay Area, Taiwan and China, and toured with the El Camino Youth Symphony in central Europe.

She has placed in many competitions including the Percussive Arts Society California Chapter Marimba Competition and the Great Plains International Marimba Competition. In 2016 and 2017, she won first place in two divisions at the Mid-Missouri Percussive Arts Trophy Marimba Competition. Most recently, she participated in Double Exposure, a contemporary media festival collaborated by students of IU's film and music departments.

Lo and the other 2018 YYPA winners each receive an all-expense-paid trip to the YYPA Celebration Weekend, which will take place during the Music for All Summer Symposium, to be held at Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, from June 25-30. There, the winners will attend workshops and clinics designed to help them launch a professional career, garner media exposure via the Internet and perform in front of thousands of people with international trumpet soloist and long-time Yamaha Performing Artist, Allen Vizzutti.

Have you ever wondered how the men and women of law enforcement are trained to do their jobs? What does a police officer's job entail or why do they wear all that "stuff" on their belts? All these questions and more will be answered during the Milpitas Police Department's upcoming 2018 Citizens Police Academy.

Through a series of lectures and staged scenarios citizens in the three-week course will be provided with hands-on training similar to what officers receive in the police academy. Courses will range from Crime Scene Investigation (CSI), Canine Program, "Run, Hide, Fight" Philosophy, DUI Detection, Building Searches, Human Trafficking, and other topics.

The three-week course will meet 6 to 9:30 p.m. consecutives Tuesdays and Thursdays starting May 8 in Milpitas. Snacks will be provided. Because space is limited, advance registrations are strongly recommended, and should be made by calling Sgt. Bryan Hinkley at (408) 586-2527.

Give blood during National Volunteer Month

SUBMITTED BY NATIVIDAD LEWIS

The American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood during National Volunteer Month this April. Donating blood is a simple way for those who are short on time to make a life-changing difference.

Kay Whaley knows the impact of blood donations. When she was 9, she was in an accident and received many transfusions. That experience inspired her to become a blood donor. "It takes about an hour of your time and could save the life of a friend, neighbor or even family member," she said. "It doesn't cost you anything and is the greatest gift you could give."

Volunteer donors are the only source of blood products for those in need of transfusions. Donors of all blood types are needed to help meet patient needs this spring.

Make an appointment to donate blood by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App (https://www.redcrossblood.org/bloodapp), visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). All those who come to donate from April 9 to May 13, 2018, will be entered to win one of three $1,000 gift cards to a national home improvement retailer, courtesy of Suburban Propane. (Restrictions apply. More details are available at RedCrossBlood.org/Lets-Do-More.)

Monday, April 2

At 8:16 p.m. Officer Catassi was flagged down by a female who said she was just the victim of a strong-arm robbery near Fremont Boulevard and Bidwell Drive. During the incident the victim's iPhone 8 and purse were taken. The suspect was described as a black woman about 35-years-old. She was wearing a blue shirt and blue jeans and a scarf was covering her face. The suspect got into a vehicle, possibly driven by a second female suspect.

Tuesday, April 3

At 1:04 p.m. officers responded to a report of a confrontation between two motorists on Brophy Drive. A witness told officers that both drivers were seen swerving and cutting each other off. The female driver pulled into a driveway and the male driver parked his vehicle and exited with a machete in his hand. The male suspect pointed the machete at the female and swung it toward her. Some of the incident was captured on cell phone video. When the witness approached, the male suspect got back in his vehicle and began to drive away. The witness followed the suspect until officers arrived and located him on Mildred Drive where he was positively identified and arrested on suspicion of brandishing a weapon and assault with a deadly weapon. The machete was found in the front seat of the vehicle and collected for evidence. The suspect was booked into the Fremont Jail.

Wednesday, April 4

At 2:41 a.m. Officer Dubowy was dispatched to a report of a man passed out in his vehicle with the engine running near Mowry Avenue and Farwell Drive. A records check showed that the man had an outstanding warrant; he also was in possession of heroin. The suspect was arrested.

At 5:06 p.m. officers were called to the Jack in The Box eatery on the 43900 block of Osgood Road to investigate an armed robbery. The suspect, described as a black man in his 30s, walked in and demanded cash, while pointing a gun at employees and threatening them if they didn't comply. The employees complied with the demand and the suspect fled. He was wearing a black sweater and black pants and was armed with two handguns. The employees were shaken up and the business closed for the rest of the evening.

At 6:39 p.m. multiple officers were sent to a residence on the report of an assault with a deadly weapon in the 4600 block of Stafford Avenue. A female caller had alleged that her female roommate stabbed her and her dog. Arriving officers determined the call was a hoax and that there have been ongoing issues at the residence between the roommates. The roommate, who has a long history of causing disturbances and calling police with false claims, left the house on foot along with her dog. Several officers searched the area and found her near Blacow Park. The officers at the scene obtained evidence that the roommate had battered another resident, leaving a mark on her skin and vandalized personal property of the homeowner. The 46-yearold woman was arrested on suspicion of battery and vandalism. She was booked into Santa Rita County Jail.

Thursday, April 5

At 6:47 p.m. undercover police officers spotted a suspect who had active felony warrants for illegal possession of a firearm and probation violation riding as a passenger in a vehicle. Patrol officers were called to the scene to make a traffic stop. When the driver stopped, the passenger fled the vehicle on foot toward an Arco gas station near the intersection of Fremont Boulevard and Nicolet Avenue. At 6:52 p.m. officers broadcast a notice that the suspect was pointing a firearm at them and possibly firing in their direction. Police opened fire and struck the suspect who fell to the ground. Arriving Fremont Fire Department paramedics pronounced the suspect dead at the scene. A revolver with extended casings was found at the suspect's side. No officers or citizens were injured during the incident. The suspect's name has not been released. The case is under investigation by the Fremont Police Department and the Alameda County District Attorney's Office.

Suspect faces multiple attempted murder charges

SUBMITTED BY GENEVA BOSQUES, FREMONT PD

A 27-year-old Fremont man is in custody and charged with three counts of attempted murder stemming from a shooting incident in a north Fremont shopping center on Friday, March 30.

The incident started at 2:47 a.m. when patrol officers were dispatched to a reported shooting near a McDonald's restaurant in a shopping center on the 3900 Block of Decoto Road. Officers found three people who were reportedly targets of the shooter, but they were not injured. The victims told officers the incident started as a verbal argument with the suspect in the restaurant drive-through lane. The suspect drove up to the victim's vehicle and fired 12 rounds striking the vehicle in multiple locations. After the shooting, the suspect fled the area at a high rate of speed.

Detectives from the Fremont Police Department's Investigations Unit, Street Crimes Unit, Special Investigations Unit, and patrol officers quickly coordinated efforts to locate the suspect vehicle and driver. Using video surveillance from nearby businesses and automated license plate readers on the street, police got a description of the vehicle. Eventually, police found the vehicle in the 35000 block of Magellan Drive and began a surveillance.

At 1:10 p.m. officers saw a man that matched the description provided by the victims walk toward the vehicle, and they stopped him. He was positively identified and arrested by members of the Fremont Police Department's SWAT Team. Police identified the suspect as Allan Shu, 27, of Fremont.

A search warrant was served at Hsu's residence and various items of evidentiary value were seized, including several firearms and ammunition. Additional physical evidence tied Hsu to the shooting. Hsu was booked into Fremont Jail on suspicion of attempted murder.

On Monday, April 2, the case was submitted to the Alameda County District Attorney for review and charging. Investigation into the case is ongoing. Anyone with information about the case is asked to contact Fremont Detective Brent Butcher at (510) 790-6800 or send an email to Bbutcher@fremont.gov. The City Council finds that cancellation of the development agreement (the "Agreement"). Including all amendments thereto, attached as informational Items "1" through "4" to the March 20, 2018 City Council staff report for PLN2018-00129, is consistent with the general plan, any applicable community or specific plan, and the zoning ordinance, and would advance the public health, safety, and general welfare for reasons stated in the staff report.

SECTION 2. CANCELLATION OF AGREEMENT The Agreement is hereby cancelled by mutual consent based on the developer's fulfillment of all of the terms and conditions contained in the Agreement and completion of construction of the project to which the Agreement relates.

SECTION 3. CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT COMPLIANCE

The City Council hereby determines that the action to cancel the Agreement is exempt from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) because the activity does not meet the definition of a "project" as defined by CEQA Guidelines Section 15378. AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF FREMONT,
Amending Fremont Municipal Code chapter
10.05 TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

Amending Fremont Municipal Code chapter 10.05 TRAFFIC REGULATIONS
THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF FREMONT DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
Section 1, FMC §10.05.390 amended
Sec. 10.05.390 lnapplicability of truck routes to public utilities, railroad corporations, school buses and pickup trucks.
The provisions of Sections 10.05.370 and 10.05.380 shall not apply to:
(a) Passenger buses under the jurisdiction of the public utilities commission.
(b) Any vehicle owned by a public utility which necessarily is in use in the construction, installation, or repair of any public utility.
(c) Any vehicle owned by a railroad corporation (as defined in California Public Utility Code Section 230) which necessarily is in use in the construction, installation, or repair of any railroad facility.
(d) School huses while carrying students to card facility. (d) School buses while carrying students to and

(f) Transfer, operator and contractor trucks, including trucks hauling recyclables, leaving and returning from the transfer station/materials recovery facility at Boyce Road.

Section 2. CEOA

The City Council finds, under Title 14 of the California Code of Regulations Section 15061(b) (3), that this ordinance is exempt from the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEOA) because it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that the exemption of railroad corporation vehicles from the restrictions of the truck route ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment as the amendment clarifies an existing truck route exemption for public utility vehicles. The Council therefore directs that a Notice of Exemption be filed with the Alameda County Clerk in accordance with the CEOA Guidelines.

Hands-free law

SUBMITTED BY SGT. SEAN HENEGHAN, MILPITAS PD

Police agencies throughout the Bay Area and California have a message for motorists: "Put your phone down. Just Drive!"

While law enforcement officials acknowledge that cell phone use by motorists is down in California 10 years after the state "handsfree" law went into effect, they also say that distracted driving remains a serious safety challenge in California. To call the public's attention to the problem, April has been designated as Distracted Driving Awareness Month statewide.

Police departments in Milpitas, Newark, Fremont and Union City are joining law enforcement agencies throughout the state during April and focusing on enforcing the "hands-free" law along with awareness efforts by the California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS). As part of the campaign, Friday, April 13 has been designated as a statewide enforcement day when law enforcement agencies will step up distracted driving enforcement activities. In addition, the California Department of Transportation is putting distracted driving messages on the changeable message signs on freeways.

"California's distracted driving laws have been saving lives for a decade now," said former State Senator Joe Simitian, who authored the state's hands-free and no-texting laws. "Every day, somewhere in California, someone is sitting down to dinner with their family who wouldn't have made it through the day without these laws on the books. That's tremendously

Traffic officers have issued hundreds of thousands of citations over the past three years to those texting or calling on a hand-held cell phone. Recent legislation now makes it illegal to use smartphone apps while driving.

Since 2011, OTS has conducted an observational study of handheld cell phone use every year. "This year's study on the use of handheld cell phones and texting shows a decrease over past years; however, more work needs to be done to target those who were observed to still be breaking the law," said OTS Director Rhonda Craft. "The best way to put an end to distracted driving is to educate all Californians about the danger it poses. We will do this through enforcement and education efforts like our new advertising campaign "Just Drive," reminding drivers to put down their phones and focus on the road."

Preliminary 2017 data also shows nearly 22,000 drivers were involved in distracted driving collisions in California, a decline from the more than 33,000 drivers involved in distracted driving collisions in 2007, the last full year before the hands-free law went

"It seems like smart phones are a normal part of people's daily routines now, and it's common for people to be texting, making phone calls, and checking social media throughout the day," said Chief Armando Corpuz of the Milpitas Police Department. "But, doing these things while behind the wheel can have deadly consequences. Eliminating distractions while driving can help make our roadways safer for everyone."

The Milpitas Police Department has the following safety tips:

- If you receive a text message or need to send one, pull over and park your car in a safe location, but 'never' on a freeway. Once you are safely off the road, it is safe to text.
- Designate your passenger as your "designated texter." Allow them access to your phone to respond to calls or messages.
- Do not engage in social media scrolling or messaging while

• Cell phone use can be habitforming. Struggling to not text and drive? Put the cell phone in the trunk or back seat of your vehicle until you arrive at your destination.

As part of the campaign in Milpitas extra traffic officers will be on duty from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, April 13 in locations throughout the city that have shown high numbers in traffic collisions. Violators will be stopped and cited with fines set at $162 for first time offenders. This campaign is funded by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety, through the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Rent Review, Landlord Fee to be Discussed

In response to the rapidly rising cost of rent in the Bay Area, including the City of Fremont, the Fremont City Council voted to replace the previous rent review process on October 3, 2017. The Rent Review Ordinance went into effect on January 1, 2018 and provides a process for tenants and landlords to address concerns about rent increases in the form of consultation and/or mediation. In addition, if the rent increase is more than five percent in any 12-month period, either party may request a public hearing before the Rent Review Board. Unlike rent control, the recommendations resulting from the rent review process are non-binding.

On December 5, 2017, the Fremont City Council authorized the setting of an annual per unit fee on all residential rental units in order to cover the costs of administering the new ordinance. On April 10, 2018, the Fremont City Council will consider the adoption of a $24 per unit fee for Fiscal Year 17/18 at their regularly scheduled Council meeting that begins at 7 p.m. at Fremont City Hall, 3300 Capitol Ave., in Fremont. For more information on the new Rent Review Ordinance, please visit www.Fremont.gov/RentReview. If you have any questions, please call (510) 733-4945, or email rentreview@fremont.gov.

Presentation Ball begins 132nd Pentecost Festival

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY EDDA RIVERA

Holy Spirit Church's parish history is rich with Portuguese and Catholic heritage. Part of that beautiful heritage is expressed in the Holy Spirit Church Festival or Festa.

The 132nd Pentecost Festival celebration begins with the Presentation Ball on Saturday, April 14 in the Parish Center. This gala affair is an elegant dinner and dance with the theme of "Carnival in Rio." The 2018 Festival Queen and the Honor and Senior Courts are presented to the parish community during this festive evening. The queen's role is symbolic. She represents the parish community and the virtues of St. Queen Isabel of Portugal, whose life was devoted to the Holy Spirit and the poor. This year's Festival Queen is

2018 Festival Queen Clara Rivera

Clara Margarita Rivera, with Honor Maid Brianna Roberto, 1st Side Maid Angelina Paglieri, and 2nd Side Maid Chiara Bonaccorsi.

The annual Holy Spirit Church Festival will take place on Sunday, May 20 with a procession on the church and festival grounds led by Grand Marshals Deacon Charles and Mrs. Sherri Glover. The procession begins at 12 p.m. and proceeds into the church for the 12:30 p.m. Coronation Mass. Pastor Reverend Kenneth Sales embraces this and invites all parishioners and the community to participate in our annual Holy Spirit Church Festival.

The mission of the church festival is to support the multi-cultural parish community in cherishing the rich history and faith-filled tradition the church was founded on, which unites all through the Catholic faith.

Queen Clara Rivera and her parents Gus and Edda Rivera are very grateful for the opportunity to be involved in this long and time-honored tradition of recognizing St. Queen Isabel and the Holy Spirit.

Citizens become scientists to track oak tree deaths

SUBMITTED BY MATTEO GARBELOTTO

Twenty-three communities will come together for the 11th annual Sudden Oak Death (SOD) Blitz surveys this spring from San Luis Obispo to Mendocino Counties in an effort to help researchers track the spread of the pathogen that causes SOD (Phytophthora ramorum).

"SOD Blitzes are key to California's sudden oak death monitoring program. Without the help of countless blitz citizen scientists, we would be ill informed as to where the pathogen is present and active throughout the populated areas of California's impacted counties. Thanks to their help, we can maintain a pulse on the ebb and flow of pathogen spread, which enables communities and homeowners to make informed decisions about where preventative treatments should be focused and how to manage for the pathogen to help protect at-risk oaks. With no known cure, prevention is primary," said Matteo Garbelotto, UC Berkeley faculty who runs the Blitzes.

People living or recreating near areas known to be impacted by SOD are encouraged to participate in a Blitz. Volunteers with a smartphone should bring it to the training with the free 'SODMAP Mobile' app already installed as it can help in identifying potential collection locations.

Symptomatic California bay laurel and tanoak leaves generally precede oak infections and are often the first sign that P. ramorum is in a location. Participants will be trained to identify and collect symptomatic bay and tanoak leaves as well as tanoak twigs and record sample locations. All materials necessary for sampling will be provided during training sessions.

SOD Blitz samples will be taken to the UC Berkeley Garbelotto lab to determine the presence or absence of the pathogen. Results will be posted online in the fall to SODMAP (www.sodmap.org) and to the SODMAP Mobile app (www.sodmapmobile.org). These two tools are updated annually with laboratory-confirmed (positive and negative) landscape findings and can be used to help inform people as to the presence and risk of SOD at a given location.

SOD is a serious disease that is caused by an invasive pathogen that is killing tanoak, coast live oak, California black oak, Shreve's oak, and canyon live oak trees in California. It is the primary cause of tree mortality in coastal California, with more than 5 million trees having died in since its discovery in the mid-1990s. Even though it is a water-loving organism, the pathogen still spreads, albeit more slowly, in drought years.

SOD Blitzes are made possible by the work of local volunteers, along with funding from the PG&E Foundation and the USDA Forest Service, State and Private Forestry. For more information on Sudden Oak Death and P. ramorum, go to the California Oak Mortality Task Force website at www.suddenoakdeath.org.

One-hour SOD Blitz weekend training sessions run through May 19. For location and time details go to www.sodblitz.org or call Matteo Garbelotto at (510) 410-7058. Trainings are free. Attendees should bring mobile devices or GPS units if they have them.

Foundation supports breast cancer patients with love

HERS (Hope, Empowerment, Renewal, and Support)
Breast Cancer Foundation is hosting their 9th annual "People with Purpose" gala in Pleasanton to raise awareness about breast cancer and the services they provide to survivors. HERS is also celebrating their 20th anniversary as an organization.

HERS Breast Cancer Foundation was started in 1998 by Tricia McMahon, Cheryl A. Maloney, and Nancy J. Vital. Their mission is to provide post care services and products to survivors of breast cancer who are low-income, uninsured, or underinsured.

Tina Fernandez Steckler, Executive Director of HERS Breast Cancer Foundation, said the organization began with McMahon recognizing the need to fit women for bras. She held her fittings at a consignment store in Fremont. In 2004 McMahon connected with Washington Hospital Healthcare System CEO Nancy Farber about finding a space for the HERS Foundation. There was an empty retail store next to Washington Hospital and they ended up donating the space to HERS. "It's a huge thing for the hospital to have done for us which is wonderful," said Annette Lewellyn, Program Director for HERS.

Steckler explains how the location of their office was a seamless spot. Just down the hall from their center is the women's center where patients are seen by breast care specialists and nurse navigators. Right next door is a lymphedema clinic. "The thought was to have this organization here in the building where it was just a few steps instead of having the patient get into a car and then take a trip to access products," Steckler said.

Breast cancer is already a tough life change for everyone involved. HERS Breast Cancer Foundation has three charitable programs that offer emotional and physical help and support to breast cancer survivors from the moment they are diagnosed. One is called We Support YOU Survive, offering breast cancer survivors with bras and breast prostheses. The program has had 500 clients since it started in 2009 and supported 62 percent of its clients who had a mastectomy.

The Lymphedema Project provides survivors with compression garments for any form of lymphedema. Lymphedema is a breast cancer side effect that can happen after surgery. According to HERS, lymphedema can be the feeling of numbness and discomfort in the arm, hand, or chest. The condition can sometimes lead to an infection. Survivors can develop mild to severe lymphedema and 30 percent of breast cancer survivors can get the symptom. The program started in 2010 and has served over 900 clients.

The Hair with Care program is for survivors that began or just finished chemotherapy and may have lost some hair. Certified cosmetologists provide emotional support while they help style and adjust the wigs. This program started in 2011 and has helped 250 clients. This service and product is only available at the Fremont office.

A patient can receive any of these products or services by obtaining a prescription provided on the HERS Breast Cancer Foundation website. Patients can get assistance in getting a doctor's prescription by contacting the foundation. "We hold their hands throughout the whole process too. It's a hand-holding experience and guidance with compassion and caring and a lot of love behind it for each individual," Lewellyn said.

Once the prescription is received, a patient makes an appointment with a certified breast cancer specialist and a licensed cosmetologist for a fitting.

Lewellyn said products are either given to them that day or through a special order.

Most of these services are not fully covered by a patient's insurance. That's where HERS step in. The organization also does the billing, where products not covered by a patient's insurance are covered by the foundation. "It's a service that we offer that's really significant," Steckler said.

"Women who go through breast cancer because they are so overwhelmed with surgery, all the pre-op appointments, they're gonna lose their hair, they're gonna start chemotherapy, they have to go through radiation, there's just so much in their heads that they can't comprehend everything. So, we do all the billing for them. They don't have to worry about that, which is really nice," Lewellyn said.

People with Purpose, a Pink Tie Gala is a recognition of local community leaders that have made significant contributions to bring awareness to breast cancer and support survivors. The gala will have a three-course dinner, cocktails, award ceremony, dancing, and a silent and a live auction. Bay Area TV news station anchor Heather Holmes, KTVU FOX 2, will be the master of ceremonies. Honorees who have made significant contributions to the foundation will be awarded that night. 2018 honorees are Joseph Alalay, Team District 10, Fundraiser (Hope Award); Freska, KOIT Radio Host (Empowerment Award); Castlewood Women's Golf Club (Renewal Award); and Elizabeth Barron, Volunteer and Former HERS Board Member (The Harriet Despeaux Award, formerly Support Award).

The event raises money for the services offered through the foundation, including the We Support YOU Survive bra and prostheses program. Funds will be raised through ticket sales, sponsorships, and silent and live auction proceeds.

Tickets can be bought at the HERS Foundation offices, by calling (510) 790-1911, or by emailing hersinfo@hersbreast-cancerfoundation.org. Last day to purchase tickets is April 20.

Get hooked on Fishing!

SUBMITTED BY THE CITY OF NEWARK

Izaak Walton, the great apologist of fishermen everywhere and author of the 1653 bestseller, 'The Compleat Angler,' said, "No life is so happy and so pleasant as the life of the well-govern'd angler." Walton would have agreed with the proposal that fishing exercises some of our best qualities, such as patience, self-reflection, and even mercy.

If you would like to introduce your kids to this "innocent recreation," as Walton put it, reel in the coming opportunity in Newark at Lakeshore Park on Saturday, April 14. Throughout this fun and informative morning, fishing experts from the Tri-City Anglers will give basic lessons on knot tying, casting, how to bait the hook, and fish handling techniques. Bring your own pole or use one of our loaner poles.

Children under 8 years old must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Parents are asked not to fish during the youth fishing time. The lake will be planted with fish for the event. California fish and game laws will be enforced and fishing is limited to youth 8 to 16 years old during the Fishing in the Cities program.
