Put on your boots and get ready to saddle up – it's time for the 98th Annual Rowell Ranch Rodeo! Join folks from around the region as they gallop over to Castro Valley to celebrate the western lifestyle with a variety of events, including a chili cook-off, parade, cowgirl picnic, bull bash, and the rodeo itself.

It all kicks off Friday evening May 11 with the Chili Cook-Off, an event hosted by the Rotary Club of Castro Valley and held at Rowell Ranch Rodeo Park in Dublin Canyon. Over 20 teams will compete for prize money and bragging rights. It's sure to be a routin' tootin' good time for all!

The next day, come see the 36th Annual Rowell Ranch Rodeo Parade, also hosted by the Rotary Club. Spectators will be treated to a variety of floats, marching bands, car clubs, and horse contingents as community groups strut their stuff down Castro Valley Boulevard. Over 50 entries will be on display in this volunteer-run celebration of the region's rural roots. It's also a chance to see Becka Savery, this year's Rodeo Queen, a 24-year-old from Hayward who will help promote the rodeo in the coming year.

All Strings Attached

In "All Strings Attached" on Friday, May 11, the Music at the Mission Chamber Players become symphonic in scale (though not in size), taking advantage of Old Mission San Jose's acoustics to shake the roof off with a daring program of large-scale works that include Dvorak's joyful Serenade for Strings in E Major, Mendelssohn's masterpiece Octet in E-flat, and Golijov's massive chamber piece for two string quartets and double bass, "Last Round." With the heightened connectivity and creative interplay of this exceptional chamber ensemble, playing all out and totally committed – "all strings attached" – the experience promises to be a knockout!

The strings, virtuosos all, are Steve Huber, violin; Christina Mok, violin; Matt Szemela, violin; Eugenia Wie, violin; Ivo Bokulic, viola; Emily Onderdonk, viola; Michael Graham, cello; Adelle-Akiko Kearns, cello; and Bill Everett, double bass.

"This last concert of the year is a program of works that demands the largest grouping of chamber musicians that we have had in a single concert. It is demanding both physically and emotionally for all of our players and I am so excited about presenting these three dynamic works featuring the majority of our Music at the Mission Chamber Players, all in one concert," declared Music at the Mission's General Director Aileen Chanco.

Barbecue Season is Here

Learn How to Prepare Healthier Summer Meals

Summer is almost here and that means it's time to start grilling. But instead of hamburgers, hot dogs and steaks, consider some healthier barbecuing options.

“There are a lot of alternatives to grilled meats,” said Lucy Hernandez, Community Outreach project manager at Washington Hospital. “We really want to focus on grilled vegetables and other healthy options this summer.”

You can learn how to cook healthier meals this summer at an upcoming Washington Hospital Health and Wellness seminar. “Fresh Summer Foods: Cooking Demonstration” is scheduled for Friday, June 1, from 1 to 3 p.m. It will be held at the Conrad E. Anderson, MD, Auditorium, 2500 Mowry Ave. (Washington West) in Fremont. You can register online at www.whhs.com/events or by calling (800) 963-7070.

The seminar will be presented by Anna Mazzei, a registered dietitian and certified diabetes educator at Washington Hospital. She will give tips for eating healthier this summer and provide a cooking demonstration.

Washington Hospital started offering cooking demonstrations to the entire community through its Health and Wellness program two years ago, according to Hernandez. Before that, cooking demonstrations were limited to diabetes classes and other health conferences. According to the most recent Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA), there is an increasing number of community members with diabetes who also have heart disease. Eating healthier can help reduce the risk of heart attack, stroke and other serious complications.

“We wanted to reach a wider audience with our cooking demonstrations,” she added. “The CHNA also found that while community members want to learn how to eat healthier, they also want to eat some of the traditional foods they enjoy. We serve a large number of first-generation and recent immigrants, so we want to make sure our cooking demonstrations offer relevant tips that people can take home and use in a practical way.”

Fresh Produce is Abundant

Summer is a good time to learn to cook with more vegetables and fruits. Fresh produce is abundant, and there are farmers markets held in nearly every community.

“We really want to bring more color to the plate,” Hernandez said. “We want to move away from the standard barbecue foods as well as the traditional side dishes like potato salad and macaroni salad. They are full of mayonnaise, which contains a lot of saturated fat.”

Hernandez encourages people to visit their local farmers market and buy locally grown produce. It's best to buy them at different stages of ripeness, she said. The fruits and vegetables will continue to ripen, so they can be enjoyed in stages for several days.

“Be sure to mix it up when buying fruits and vegetables,” she added. “Select a variety of colors to ensure you are getting a wide range of healthy nutrients. Most farmers markets have samples. Be sure to try things you've never had before.”

Mazzei will provide some delicious recipes for incorporating more vegetables and fruits into your summer meals, as well as some practical tips for barbecuing them.

For example, spraying the barbecue with a nonstick cooking spray before placing fruits and vegetables on the grill can make removing them much easier. It's best to have the heat up high and then turn it down right when you put them on. It sears them, but with the heat down they won't have a tendency to stick.

“There are so many easy and colorful ways to eat healthier,” Hernandez added. “Grilling is great. Fresh, seasonal salads can be delicious. Fruit smoothies are refreshing on a hot summer day. It's just a great time to enjoy simple, healthy foods.”

For information about other programs and services at Washington Hospital that can help you live a healthier lifestyle, visit www.whhs.com. Call (800) 963-7070 to register to attend the cooking demonstration.

Area Residents Get Access to Specialized Cancer Treatment at Washington Hospital

A diagnosis of cancer can be scary—and the journey through tests, treatments and follow-up appointments can be complicated and overwhelming. On top of all that, many patients must endure long travel to other cities for their care as well as long waits for appointments.

For the past 16 months, however, Tri-City Area residents have had access to highly specialized cancer services and specialists right here in their community. As part of an affiliation between Washington Hospital and UCSF Health, the UCSF - Washington Cancer Center offers patients access to the advanced technology, pioneering research and academic resources of a nationally renowned medical center without having to leave their community.

“This collaboration gives our patients access to cutting-edge therapies—such as immune therapy treatments—coupled with personalized care and services, as our physicians and staff members work closely with specialists from UCSF,” says Richelle McCarthy, director of the oncology program at Washington Hospital. “Our doctors are able to work as a team with UCSF physicians on behalf of the patients, including participating in collaborative clinical discussions like tumor board.”

Shudong Zhou, a Tri-City resident who was diagnosed with colon cancer and liver metastasis last March, confirms that the collaboration has enhanced his care. Immediately after his diagnosis, he was referred to the cancer center, where his doctor (David Lee, MD, a board-certified oncologist with the UCSF Medical Center) consulted with professors at UCSF to develop a treatment plan.

His liver and colon surgeries were performed at the UCSF Medical Center, and he received other treatments and follow-up care at the cancer center. “It was great,” Zhou says of his care. “One thing that was nice is that I could have the biopsy and chemotherapy done here in Fremont, which saved me a lot of time and extra paperwork.”

He adds that getting his chemotherapy at Washington Hospital’s infusion center made his experience not only more convenient, but also more personalized. “The infusion center is run really well,” he says, noting that he could call the staff anytime he had questions and they were always extremely responsive. “The two chemo nurses responded to my questions almost immediately, and the people there are very nice. I felt really at home. When you’re sick, any problem can be added stress,” he explains.

The UCSF - Washington Cancer Center is planning future expansions of cancer services in Fremont. In particular, the center is in the process of developing a clinical trial office locally. McCarthy explains that participating in a clinical trial offers patients who haven’t responded well to certain therapies the opportunity to explore other treatments that could advance their well-being. “Our goal is to identify developing treatment options in a safe clinical setting,” she notes.

“Due to our collaboration with UCSF, our patients will continue to benefit from cancer innovations in the most comforting, convenient environment possible, without having to leave their community. This is an extension of our strong commitment to providing optimum care to district residents,” McCarthy says. Visit www.whhs.com/UCSFCancer for more information.

Rodeo

After the parade, you may want to mosey on over to the rodeo grounds for some good 'ole fashion Team Sorting, a fun, free event where local celebrities are paired with experienced cowboys and cowgirls, and together attempt to herd cattle into a corral. This is followed by a BBQ tri-tip dinner and dance with live music.

The festivities continue at the rodeo grounds the following week with the 7th Annual Cowgirl Picnic on Thursday, May 17. Janet Lemmons, owner of Rowell's Saddlery in downtown Castro Valley and rodeo board member, loves this event. "It's a ladies' luncheon that is served by cowboys, ranchers, and firemen. It's a wonderful lunch, and it's so beautiful out there with the big oak trees and picnic tables." There is also a raffle and silent auction. All proceeds go towards a Cowgirl Spirit Scholarship, awarded every year to any high school senior girl who exhibits strength and conviction of purpose. Says Lemmons, "Anyone can apply. You don't have to be horse-oriented. The only criteria is that you truly believe in what you're doing." Over $10,000 has been awarded to date.

More events follow, all leading up to the Rowell Ranch PRCA Pro Rodeo and Junior Rodeo on Saturday and Sunday. Although thousands of rodeos are held every year across the country, only about 600 are sanctioned by the Professional Rodeos Cowboy Association. Events include team roping, barrel racing, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, steer wrestling, and bull riding. A Special Partners portion of the program allows children with mental or physical challenges to participate in simulated rodeo events. Folks can also get a behind-the-scenes tour if they sign up for the Cowboy Experience.

Says Lemmons, "It's a tough life for most cowboys. They usually have to pay their own way – gas, food, lodging, animal care, etc. They do it because they love it, and they live it. There's a camaraderie. They're competing against each other, but they're helping each other along the way." Spring is an especially busy time, with several rodeos occurring across the state. Many participants try to hit a many as they can on any given weekend.

Lemmons' sons are both active in junior rodeo, and one of them helps her in the store, hand tooling leather saddles. It's a family operation, like the rodeo itself, which started back in 1925 on Harry and Maggie Rowell's ranch. After Harry's death, Maggie sold the land to the Hayward Area Recreation & Park District (HARD) with the stipulation that they make it available every year to the rodeo. A non-profit was formed in 1977 to preserve their legacy.

The parade has certainly evolved over time. Originally held in Hayward, it was discontinued and later brought to Castro Valley. Says Cliff Sherwood, longtime rotary member and one of those responsible for its revival, "There was no parade in town at the time. We looked at it as a way to provide community service and to celebrate our rodeo culture."

The rodeo and HARD have been under heat in recent years from animal rights groups, who say that the wild cow milking and mutton busting events are cruel and unnecessary. In March of this year, however, the HARD board voted 4-1 to keep the events.

Yes siree bob, the Bay Area may be known for its fast pace and high tech innovations, but hidden amongst the foothills lie several big ranches run by generations of ranchers, cowboys, and cowgirls. The Rowell Ranch Rodeo is a celebration of this slower, friendlier way of life. And you heard that straight from the horse's mouth.

Newark Memorial competes in Rocketry Challenge

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY ROBBIE FINLEY

A team of Newark Memorial High School's (NMHS) brightest students are headed to the nation's capital to once again compete against 101 other schools in the 2018 Team America Rocketry Challenge (TARC) Saturday, May 12.

It is as awesome as it sounds: teams of students from around the country will descend upon Washington, D.C., with single-stage rockets of their own design and two raw eggs. Each team must successfully launch their rockets and have them reach an altitude of either 775 or 825 feet, dependent upon a coin toss on the day of the challenge. Each launch is evaluated by flight altitude and duration, as well as its ability to protect its egg payload within the allotted 41-43 second timeframe after liftoff. Rockets are made of various lightweight materials, with commercially-made rocket motors. Teams must persevere over not only each other, but potential structural or design flaws and a number of other potential complications. "Communication failures, minor disputes, funding limitations, time constraints, etc. add to the challenge of rocketry," said Ayush Jain, NMHS Rocketry Club's co-president. "But we always push through, and it is all more than worth it," he added. This complex challenge exposes the students to engineering, aerodynamics, meteorology and other STEM [Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics] and STEAM [Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, Mathematics] disciplines.

The students will pack up and head out for a busy week of travel, test launches, the Rocketry Challenge itself, sightseeing, and, of course, some studying. The day of TARC will be quite long, with each of the 102 teams launching at designated points throughout the day. Prizes are varied and significant: the winning team moves on to the International Rocketry Challenge in London to square off against three winning teams from challenges in the UK, France, and Japan. The top 10 teams share $100,000 in scholarships and prizes, and the top 25 teams are invited to submit proposals to join NASA's (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) Student Launch Initiative, a highly competitive program that gives teams exposure to research and development with the Space Launch System.

Newark Memorial's Team Shmee (officially, Team 8) couldn't be any readier for the challenge. Though Newark Memorial's rocketry teams have made the journey to TARC a number of times in the past, this year was drastically different for the club, as their longtime advisor left at the end of the last school year. Such a seismic shift in the club's dynamic forced its members to step up and take on new responsibilities. "It's been a seamless transition," said Matt Hacker, the club's new advisor. He added, "They are a group of friends, good camaraderie." Ten of the club's 35 members will be making the trek to TARC this year.

"Most of the year was us just making it work, so we're pretty proud of that," Jain said. This year, the Rocketry Club members had to lobby the school district for the club's budget and other logistical issues that arose throughout the school year, such as finding a new home for their workshop. "One thing I've gotten out of the club is that communication is key. You can't always have it your way," said Arianna Reyes, the club's other co-president. She added, "We make it work."

Team Shmee is almost entirely comprised of seniors, with one freshman in the mix. If their heart and determination are any indication, there's little doubt that Team Shmee will find itself in the top rankings at TARC. "To paraphrase the words of our principal Grace Huerta, the goal of everything we do is to leave whatever we touch in better condition than before. The aim is always to improve, to do better and be better," Jain said.

The team is a very tight-knit group of dynamic individuals. "You meet so many people and it forms like a family," said Kaeleigh Taylor, the team's freshman. The benefits of rocketry go beyond critical thinking derived from the disciplines involved in creating and launching a rocket. "You learn a lot in Rocketry that is transferrable to many fields," said Team Shmee Captain Aaron Valadez, continuing, "There's a creative side to explore. This club helps you express that." Team member Diego Carrillo added, "It's a team effort, you all come together and work hard; you need to know your limits." Their dedication is demonstrated by weekly launches at the Ohlone campus in Newark every Saturday.

Kicked off in 2002 as a one-off event to celebrate the centennial of flight, the Team America Rocketry Challenge has persisted due to its immense popularity and has been recognized by NASA [National Aeronautics & Space Administration], the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), senators and astronauts alike. Newark Memorial's Rocketry Club is grateful for the support they have received from teachers, companies, parents, and mentors of the Newark community in their journey to TARC. "Without the support of those around us, we would never be even close to where we are today," they said.

It's never too late to make a career change

BY ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

Meet Ruth Flowers—or her DJ alter-ego—Mamy Rock. For her job, she dons star-power sunglasses, sequined headphones, rap star bling, and sparkly outfits that allow her to dance on stage. Her typical workplace might be in front of thousands of young people pumping their fists and screaming her name. Her DJ gigs have taken her to Belgium, Austria, Italy, Singapore, Ibiza, and France. She gets to experience luxury hotels on her world adventures. Sounds like an unbelievable dream job, doesn't it?

Here is what is even more unbelievable: Ruth did not have any DJ experience when she decided to become a DJ. Her previous jobs included teaching and selling fabric; moreover, Ruth was 68 years old when she decided to become a DJ.

I love to tell Ruth's story because she is an example of someone quite ordinary who does something extraordinary late in life. Hers is a story of a silver-haired grandma who did not limit herself to being what society believes a silver-haired grandma can (or should) do. Ruth is a shining example that it's never too late to make a career change.

If you're in the second act of your life but feel you have not reached your potential, you might consider a second career that not only brings you extra income, but enjoyment, satisfaction, purpose and meaning as well. A recent survey provides some useful insights for those seeking a satisfying career later in life.

According to a survey of older workers conducted by the Urban Institute, 67 percent of clergy members who are 62 and older reported that they really enjoy going to work. With this finding, the Urban Institute pronounced clergy worker as the top favorite job for older workers. (Interestingly, clergy workers typically rank high in job satisfaction in surveys with workers of other ages as well).

Other favorite occupations include: teachers, supervisors, farmers, ranchers, teacher assistants, child care workers, and counselors. The last job comes with a caveat though: some older counselors reported that they really enjoyed going to work while a small percentage (10 percent) reported the exact opposite. Interestingly, the least favorite job among older workers is customer service representative. More than a quarter of the older workers surveyed reported they did not really enjoy going to their jobs as customer service reps. Other jobs that did not bring enjoyment were security guards, laborers, and construction equipment operators.

As you contemplate your second act, think of the following big picture questions:

- What do you want to do in your second (or third) act?
- What would you love to do but were too afraid to try?
- What would you regret not doing?
- What talents remain to be expressed in your life?

Ruth Flowers had no regrets when she embarked on her DJ adventure. She has said it was one of the best things she had ever done. She passed away in 2014 leaving behind fans who had enjoyed her music and been inspired by her. On the subject of career change, her words provide inspiration and motivation: “I expect I've got friends who think I'm quite insane, but they can do what they wish, and I'll do what I wish. If you can't do what you want to at my age, when can you?”

Dvorak's Serenade is a beautiful way to begin a spring concert. It flows delightfully with a current of happiness and optimism, lightly flavored by the lively Bohemian folk dances the composer enjoyed throughout his life. The Mendelssohn Octet is, in a word, brilliant. It is breathtaking, a sophisticated symphonic work of "near diabolical complexity" (Michael Morrison, AllMusic). Performed by Music at the Mission Chamber Players, it promises to be an extraordinary experience.

"Last Round" is a fantastic way to close the concert and the season. The title, borrowed from a short story about boxing by Julio Cortázar, imagines a chance "for the spirit of the last great tango composer, Astor Piazzolla, to fight one last time."

The work's Argentinian composer Osvaldo Golijov goes on to describe it as "a sublimated tango dance. Two quartets confront each other, separated by the focal bass, with violins and violas standing up as in the traditional tango orchestras. The bows fly in the air as inverted legs in crisscrossed choreography, always attracting and repelling each other, always in danger of clashing, always avoiding it with the immutability that can only be acquired by transforming hot passion into pure pattern."

There will be a Pre-Concert Talk at 7:15 p.m. before the concert begins at 8 p.m.

Concert ticket holders are also invited to meet the artists at the After-Party Reception sponsored by J. R. Griffin Construction, held at Mission Coffee. Details and concert tickets are available online or at the door.

Restaurant Stroll

SUBMITTED BY UNION CITY
LIONS CLUB

On May 17 the Union City Lions Club is inviting everyone to their 9th annual Restaurant stroll. Each $20 ticket entitles the bearer to an appetizer or small plate at 17 different restaurants in the Union Landing Shopping Mall featuring cuisines from around the world, including Chinese, Cajun, sushi, Italian, and much more!

Funds raised by this event help the Lions in their goal of improving the visual health of our community. In 1925, Helen Keller enjoined the Lions Clubs of America to pick up her cause: "The opportunity I bring to you, Lions, is this: To foster and sponsor the work of the American Foundation for the Blind. Will you not help me hasten the day when there shall be no preventable blindness; no little deaf, blind child untaught..."

Today, Lions Club programs here and abroad bring vision screenings and financial aid to young and old. Last December, for instance, St. Anne's Parish Hall provided the location for a preliminary screening in Union City. Everyone six months and older was checked for astigmatism, myopia, amblyopia (lazy eye) and more. Lions also sponsor a vision screening for Head Start kids, as many as a hundred at a time. Kids who may need to see an optometrist are given vouchers to help pay for an examination.

The Restaurant Stroll is one of the most fun and successful fundraisers of the many Lions Club events throughout the year. Bring your friends or come meet new ones, but don't miss out on this foodie-friendly happening! Purchase your tickets online and then, on May 17, meet up at the Union Landing Starbucks at 5:30 p.m.

Campaign uncovers deceptive youth tobacco marketing

SUBMITTED BY COREY EGEL

In an effort to combat the tobacco industry's latest marketing strategies aimed at getting youth hooked on nicotine, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) today launched a new 'Flavors Hook Kids' campaign.

The campaign warns parents and concerned adults about the increasing availability of flavored tobacco products targeted to teens. The campaign also highlights how easy it is for kids to purchase flavored tobacco products online.

"Flavors disguise the harshness of tobacco and make smoking seem harmless, when we know it's not," said CDPH Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith. "Innocent sounding e-cigarette flavors like Cherry Crush and Cotton Candy could lead to a lifetime of nicotine addiction."

More than 80 percent of youth who have tried tobacco products started with a flavored product—there are more than 15,500 e-cigarette flavors on the market.

Also increasing in popularity among teenagers are new e-cigarette devices called 'pod mods.' One in particular, JUUL, looks like a flash drive. It is easily hidden from parents and teachers because of its deceptive design. Each JUUL cartridge contains the same amount of nicotine as an entire pack of traditional cigarettes.

"We encourage parents to talk to their kids about the significant risks of nicotine addiction and tobacco use—which can impact brain development and cause asthma and respiratory disease," said Dr. Smith. "There's simply no safe level of tobacco consumption, and it is far too easy for teens to get interested and hooked due to the tobacco industry's deceptive tactics."

E-cigarettes are the most common tobacco product used by youth in the U.S. In 2016, 13.6 percent of California high school students reported using tobacco products, and more than half (8.6 percent) reporting using e-cigarettes, including pod mods. Research has shown minors can successfully buy e-cigarette products online 94 percent of the time.

The new 'Flavors Hook Kids' campaign appears in seven languages including English, Spanish, Mandarin, Cantonese, Korean, Vietnamese and Tagalog. Learn more at <https://www.flavor-shookkids.org/>

Robot fast-food chefs may cook up industry change

BY MATT O'BRIEN

ASSOCIATED PRESS TECHNOLOGY WRITER

Robots can't yet bake a soufflé or fold a burrito, but they can cook up vegetables and grains and spout them into a bowl — and are doing just that at a new fast casual restaurant in Boston.

Seven autonomously swirling cooking pots — what the restaurant calls a "never-before-seen robotic kitchen" — hum behind the counter at Spyce, which opened May 3 in the city's downtown.

Push a touch-screen menu to purchase a $7.50 meal called "Hearth." A blend of Brussels sprouts, quinoa, kale and sweet potatoes tumbles from hoppers and into one of the pots. The pot heats the food using magnetic induction, then tips to dunk the cooked meal into a bowl. Water jets up to rinse it off before a new order begins.

Is this a robot chef or just another high-tech novelty machine? Experts differ, but more such automation is likely headed for the fast-food sector in coming years. A report last year by the McKinsey Global Institute said that food preparation jobs are highly vulnerable to automation because workers spend so much time on predictable physical tasks.

Currently, there's one big thing holding back the chefbots: "The human labor also tends to be lower-paid," said McKinsey partner Michael Chui, making it less economical to automate those jobs. But that could change as businesses develop cheaper and more efficient robot chefs.

Spyce has those, and automated order-taking kiosks to boot, although it still employs plenty of humans. Founded by four former MIT classmates who partnered with Michelin-starred chef Daniel Boulud, the restaurant has hired people to do the trickier prep work — parboiling rice, rinsing and chopping vegetables, cutting meat and reducing sauces in an off-site commissary kitchen. It also employs a handful of people for customer service and to garnish the robot-cooked blends with fresh toppings.

But the mesmerizing machinery, equipped with dozens of motors, sensors and moving parts, is the real draw.

"The openness of the design was something we knew we wanted from the beginning," said Brady Knight, a co-founder and engineer. "It is kind of a show. It's fun to see what's going on behind the scenes. We didn't want to hide anything because we think what we made is pretty cool."

While food processing machines are prized for their speed and hygiene — "our robot doesn't get sick," Knight said — they have a harder time handling the complexities of fresh food.

In Mountain View, California, the founders of Zume Pizza spent years tinkering with a robotic kitchen that can form pizza dough, apply tomato sauce and transfer the pizza in and out of the oven. Other jobs that require more dexterity and judgment — such as layering on toppings — are left to humans, and the robot only performs tasks it can do dramatically better, CEO Alex Garden said.

Garden said his philosophy is that "automation exists to improve the quality of human life," so he invests savings from the increased productivity in higher wages for employees and higher-quality ingredients for customers.

Spyce's founders said they chose a relatively simple type of meal — grain bowls — and avoided trying to use robotic arms. With each "degree of freedom," a robotics term for movement on a joint or axis, more things can go wrong with the machines, they said. "Butchering is pretty hard to do," said Chui, the McKinsey partner. "On the other hand, machines do a pretty good job of taking the kernels out of corn and a lot of sorting tasks."

Spyce has generated enthusiasm among downtown Boston office workers, though technology experts in a city known for spawning robotics startups aren't sure what to call it. "I really wouldn't consider that a robot," said Tom Ryden, director of Boston-based startup incubator MassRobotics, who reserves that definition for a device with the ability to react to its environment.

"It can't make decisions," Ryden said of Spyce's auto-pot. "It can't say something's cooked too long. There's no feedback loop. It's just an automated system." But Ryden said he's still eager to join the lunchtime crowds in trying it out.

Artificial Intelligence workshop

SUBMITTED BY DAVID LINNEVERS

Fremont's very own Northwestern Polytechnic University is offering an AI workshop focusing on Knowledge, Reasoning, and Uncertainty. As a Polytechnic University, Northwestern understands the importance of staying relevant. Engaging some of the most talented instructors in the field, along with cutting edge bachelor's and master's degrees, the university is dedicated to educating and preparing the next generation of Silicon Valley's creative thinkers and problem solvers.

A highly skilled team of AI professionals will lead the workshop, starting with concepts of knowledge, reasoning, planning, and uncertainty, then looking at the activities of a Data Scientist, learning about Neural Networks and Deep Learning, and how all of this is applied to images and text.

The AI workshop will alternate between presentations and programming exercises. The programming exercises are not required but do require use of a laptop with Python 3 installed. Experience in Python would be very helpful. If workshop attendees do not have these skills, they are welcome to pair up with someone who does. The workshop will also be using a number of concepts of probability, statistics, and linear algebra.

NPU's curriculum continues to evolve and includes current tech trends and programming areas, such as AI, to ensure its students graduate with the highest levels of knowledge, skills and tools for success. We offer direct hands on experience in all of our courses, driven by our professors and instructors, and students land outstanding jobs. U.S. EPA levies fines in the East Bay

SUBMITTED BY
MICHELE HUITRIC

On April 26 the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board announced that the East Bay Municipal Utility District (EBMUD) and five East Bay communities will be assessed $389,300 in penalties for violating the terms of a 2014 settlement designed to prevent untreated sewage from entering San Francisco Bay.

“East Bay communities made commitments to upgrade aging sewer infrastructure to protect the waters of San Francisco Bay and surrounding communities,” said Alexis Strauss, EPA’s Acting Regional Administrator for the Pacific Southwest. “We’re taking this action to ensure diligent attention to renewal of wastewater infrastructure.”

“Protecting San Francisco Bay is a top priority of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board,” said Executive Officer Bruce

Wolfe. “That includes ensuring compliance with agreements reached with East Bay MUD and the East Bay communities to prevent sewage spills that contaminate the bay. We will continue to monitor compliance with the 2014 settlement, which will benefit the entire region.”

Under the 2014 Clean Water Act settlement, EBMUD and seven East Bay communities paid a $1.5 million civil penalty for past sewage discharges and agreed to assess and upgrade their 1,500-mile-long sewer system infrastructure over a 21-year period. Since that time, 720 miles of sewer have been inspected and about $80 million has been spent to rehabilitate nearly 100 miles of sewer pipe.

The parties are being assessed the following penalties for violations of the settlement that occurred between September 22, 2014, and June 30, 2017:

- City of Oakland - $226,500 - Failure to prevent sanitary sewer overflows from reaching waters and failure to repair acute defects within one year.
- EBMUD - $134,000 - Failure to prevent sanitary sewer overflows from reaching waters and failure to meet effluent limitations for chlorine and coliform.

- Stege Sanitary District (serving El Cerrito, Kensington, and a portion of Richmond) - $26,800 - Failure to prevent sanitary sewer overflows from reaching waters.
- City of Alameda - $1,200 - Failure to prevent sanitary sewer overflows from reaching waters.
- City of Albany - $400 - Failure to prevent sanitary sewer overflows from reaching waters.
- City of Berkeley - $400 - Failure to prevent sanitary sewer overflows from reaching waters.

When wastewater infrastructure is not properly maintained, untreated sewage can escape and be discharged to the bay. Older sewer systems in particular can be overwhelmed during rainstorms, releasing untreated sewage. In addition to polluting waterways, untreated sewage can spread disease-causing organisms, metals and nutrients that threaten public health. Sewage can also deplete oxygen in the bay, threatening fish, seals and other wildlife.

Run to Remember honors fallen peace officers

SUBMITTED BY JONATHAN LANCE

The California Peace Officers Association (CPOA) invites everyone to participate in a very special event that honors those who have lost their lives in the line of duty, while making our lives safer. The 10th Annual Run to Remember 10K Run & 5K Run/Walk will be held on Saturday, May 12, at Shadow Cliffs Regional Park, Pleasanton. This is an extraordinary way to salute those who have given the ultimate sacrifice, while at the same time supporting their families and co-workers who are left behind to cope with the tragic loss.

The Run’s 10K & 5K Walk & Run courses are made up of small rolling-hill trails that run throughout the scenic Shadow Cliffs Regional Park. The Kid’s 1-mile run is laid out through a portion of the park’s lawn area. All proceeds from this family-oriented event will go directly to the Concerns of Police Survivors (C.O.P.S.) (California Chapter), a non-profit organization whose sole mission is to assist with the rebuilding of lives of surviving family members and affected co-workers of law enforcement officers killed.

Trophies will go to the top 5K and 10K male and female finishers, with medals given three-deep in designated age groups in the 5K and 10K runs for both male and female participants. Special awards will also be given to all kids participating in the Kids’ Fun Run (ages 12 and under).

Entry fee will include the always-popular commemorative T-shirt, beverages, awards ceremony. Kids love to play in the law-enforcement vehicles that are brought out and made available to explore. Also, the traditional nearby fly-over and landing of the East Bay Regional Parks’ search and rescue helicopter is always an exciting part of the event. Kids always enjoy checking out and sitting in the cockpit as parents snap photos. There will be a variety of food trucks will be on hand throughout the morning.

The entry fee for the 10K or 5K Walk/Run is $45.00. The Kids’ Fun Run is $25.00. Download the event registration form at <http://onyour-markevents.com/Applications/2018CPOAREG.pdf>

- For All Signs: We continue to focus on the planet Uranus, which is making an entrance into the sign of Taurus this month. Uranus is also known as Prometheus and is the only planet in the solar system that rolls on its belly. One side of the planet is always directed at the sun. Essentially, he breaks the rules of planetary protocol. In mythological stories, Prometheus defied Zeus’ orders and stole fire from the sun to share it with humankind. He represents the renegade in our psyche, the one who does not color within the lines, the one who is rebellious and
- can also be expressed as ingenuity. He can act as an anarchist who breaks rules just because they are there. Or he can represent a special genius that we offer in service to the world. Some individuals are more ‘connected’ to this energy than others, as you can imagine. Those who choose to follow their special genius are in some way helping humankind to evolve, to stretch and grow. At its highest level, Uranus operates as the intuitive mind that connects the dots to form fresh, new ideas. His best side is always in favor of social justice.
- Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): Irritability and a tendency to short temper may be your companions this week. Beware the temptation to obsess over minor issues. Take especially good care of your body at this time. You are in a physically low cycle and subject to accident or minor injuries with tools, or vehicles. Don't press your body beyond its cooperation.
- Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): Financial matters interfere with your forward progress. Do what you can and wait for a better time for completion. You need to take a break and give your mind a chance to clear. A weekend away might do you a world of good.
- Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Surprises, shifts of direction and unexpected twists and turns will likely litter your path this week. Make up your mind at the beginning that you can manage whatever comes your way, so you won't be thrown off balance. Then enjoy your travels.
- Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): Give special attention to unusual messages or to new people who enter your life during this time. A ‘teacher’ crosses your - path in the form of a person, a book, or the right message that will steer you in the next favorable direction.
- Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): Although there are pebbles in the road, you are continuing on the right path for you. Have faith and take your time. Be careful with your steps and give attention to details. The Powers that be are in your corner.
- Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): Mercury is your ruling planet. This week it shifts into your house of exploration, travel, the internet, publishing, education, and matters of the law. You probably will experience increased energy when dealing with these areas. You have a need to broaden your mind and move to a big picture perspective.
- Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): You may fall into uncomfortable circumstances. You wouldn't have chosen to take this trip, but your people skills may be exactly what is needed. You have a balanced sense of justice and can manage, even though you would rather not.
- Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): It's been awhile, but you have aspects that favor relationships now. You may want to engage a family member in serious conversation on a touchy subject. If it still looks cloudy, let it go for another period. Don't take the chance of going off on a rant which will only make things worse.
- Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Any effort toward becoming more acquainted with the deeper parts of yourself will be well rewarded. Positive results can be achieved through psychotherapy, dream work, meditation, hypnosis, or prayer. Assistance will come to you through unexpected (and possibly mysterious) sources. Your Guardian Angel is right at your side. Listen to your instincts.
- Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): This is a time of complicated circumstances for you. So many things are happening that it may be a challenge to maintain everything. Messages are mixed, and many contradict each other. Move carefully and check
- yourself for errors along the way. These few weeks it is especially important not to make mistakes.
- Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Uranus, the current star of the planets, is one of your avatars. You may be considering a household move or remodel. Circumstances around you may pressure you to change your mindset. Normally you are not fond of big change, but the time is upon you. Don't say no until you have seriously considered what the world is bringing now.
- Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): Jupiter offers improvements and good fortune through any or all of the following: legal or ethical issues, contacts with foreign lands or
- people who live at a distance, the internet, higher education, teaching, publishing and long distance travel. Events occurring at this time will broaden your perspective on all of life and expand your sense of connection to a larger circle.

Much ado about moss balls

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY
DANIEL O'DONNELL

Sometimes the glass is half full and sometimes it is half empty. Sometimes there is no pot that can fully complement the grandeur of a prized plant. Other times it is the ornate container that demands attention and the plant is the accent to accompany it. Maybe a glass will always be viewed as half full or half empty, but in the case of Kokedama moss balls, neither the planter nor the plant steals the show. They merge to create one stunning art piece.

Kokedama is a subset of bonsai. “Koke” translates from Japanese as moss, “dama” translates as ball. A Kokedama moss ball is clay soil rolled into a sphere, covered with moss, and used as the medium to grow a plant. The moss ball can be grapefruit-size ball can be formed. Akadama is more expensive than other planting soils but is prized for its ability to retain water and nutrients while remaining permeable.

Peat moss and akadama are nonrenewable resources that are slowly dwindling. They should be used sparingly, if at all. Clay mixed with peat moss, akadama combined with compost, or the East Bay's own heavy adobe soil blended with compost and lava rock can make great alternative soils that have less negative environmental impact.

The Kokedama is ready to be planted once a grapefruit-size ball is formed. Moss will dry out and burn up in direct sunlight; this means that the plants chosen for the Kokedama display need to be ones that do not require long periods of sun exposure or direct sunlight. They should also be used and will perform spectacularly. However, the moss will have to be misted two or three times a day since the Kokedama's soil will have to be kept drier for succulents to survive.

To plant the moss ball, strip the chosen plant's roots of any soil and soak them in water for a few minutes. Break up the previously rolled mud ball and reshape it around plants that have root systems that spread. A hole can be made in the Kokedama ball if the plant has a single taproot and the soil can then be reshaped.

Next, wrap the ball in sphagnum moss that has been soaked in water. Sphagnum moss can be purchased at most nurseries, garden centers, or craft stores. Secure the moss to the ball using string, twine, or wire. Moss can be grown on the Kokedama ball if a particular type is desired by using a homemade mixture. Put a handful of the desired moss in a blender along with a cup of buttermilk and water and blend it until smooth. It can then be painted onto the Kokedama planting medium. Moss will grow within a week or two if the ball is kept moist.

Kokedama moss balls are living art pieces. They are often hung so they create interest in midair and are placed on trays when displayed on a table or shelf. They can also complete the final scene of a dramatic display in a glass vase. Kokedama are truly something to admire regardless of where they end up.

Care for a Kokedama moss ball is rooted in past proven techniques more than in a calculated watering schedule. The best way to figure out if the moss ball needs water is by its weight. Soak it in water for 10 minutes if it feels light and then strain it in a colander until it stops dripping and put it back where it lives. An organic liquid fertilizer can be added to the soaking water once a month.

Kokedama moss balls create spectacular focal points, inspire the imagination, fill up otherwise empty spaces, and guarantee that your glass will be not just half full, but overflowing with compliments.

suspended in the air, placed in a glass container or on a decorative plate. Kokedama moss balls are a centuries old form of garden art that is relevant to modern day gardening. They are also easy to make.

Traditional Kokedama moss balls are made with a 7:3 ratio of peat moss and a volcanic clay-like mineral from Japan called akadama that is a soil used in bonsai. The two components are gently mixed with water until a shallow rooting since there is a limited area for them to grow, unless bonsai root pruning and root training techniques are practiced. The plants should also be able to tolerate damp and humid conditions.

Ideal plants to use include, but are not limited to, mint, bromeliads, ferns, pothos, philodendrons, ivy, peperomia, spider plants, and other tropical plants that are grown indoors here. Many succulents can be

Tesla posts record quarterly loss as cash burn accelerates

By TOM KRISHER

ASSOCIATED PRESS AUTO WRITER

Tesla posted a record $709.6 million net loss in the first quarter and burned through $745.3 million in cash while struggling to crank out large numbers of its Model 3 mass-market electric car.

The loss and cash burn announced May 2 raised questions about the company’s future and whether it will be able to pay all its bills by early next year without more borrowing or another round of stock sales.

Tesla said its net loss amounted to $4.19 per share. Excluding one-time expenses such as stock-based compensation, the company lost $3.35 per share. Revenue grew by 26 percent from a year ago to $3.4 billion.

The giant loss in a critical quarter for the 15-year-old company fell short of Wall Street estimates. Analysts polled by FactSet expected an adjusted loss of $3.54 per share. Revenue, however, exceeded estimates of $3.28 billion.

In April, Tesla said it wouldn’t need to return to markets for more capital because it expected to generate cash from sales of the Model 3. But it has had trouble getting them out the door to several hundred thousand people who put down $1,000 deposits to order one.

Moody’s Investor Service downgraded Tesla’s debt into junk territory back in March, warning at the time that Tesla didn’t have cash to cover $3.7 billion for normal operations, capital expenses and debt that come due early next year. At the end of last year, the company had a total of $9.5 billion in long-term debt.

“The negative outlook reflects the likelihood that Tesla will have to undertake a large, near-term capital raise in order to refund maturing obligations and avoid a liquidity shortfall,” Moody’s wrote in a note to investors. Tesla Inc., has had only two profitable quarters in its nearly eight years as a public company.

The key to raising cash to cover expenses is production of the Model 3 mass-market electric car, which starts at $35,000 but can easily top $50,000

Purity, spirituality, and charity practiced during Ramadan

The holy month of fasting or Ramadan begins on Tuesday, May 15. Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic calendar and is observed by Muslims worldwide to commemorate the revelation of the Quran to Muhammad around 610 A.D. According to Islamic belief, the Quran contains the exact words of God, and Muhammad is among the prophets chosen by God to act as messengers.

Ramadan is one of the Five Pillars of Islam, a series of formal acts of worship fundamental to Muslim life. The five pillars include shahada (faith), salat (prayer), zakat (charity), sawm (fasting), and hajj (pilgrimage to Mecca). During Ramadan, Muslims fast from dawn to dusk each day, with the exclusion of those suffering from illness, travelling, elderly, pregnant, or breastfeeding. Two meals are served: Suhoor before dawn and Iftar at sunset, the main meal of the day. Dates, soups, kebabs, rice, samosas, sweet drinks, fruit, nuts and other prepared meat and vegetarian dishes are traditionally served at Iftar. Aside from fasting, Muslims also refrain from any vices, impure thoughts or immoral behavior. Ramadan ends Thursday, June 14.

Observances in the greater Tri-City area: Ramadan is one of the most spiritual and holy months in the Islamic calendar. At the Khalil Center, we want our community to reach maximum benefits. We are hosting a Spirit of Ramadan workshop on Saturday, May 12; come by the Union City Headquarters for a workshop that highlights the importance of giving due attention to our mind, body, and soul during this blessed time taught by Jabir Tarin, MFT candidate. This event will be split into three parts - presentation, discussion, and a Q&A period - and will cover a variety of topics, including the effect dhikr has on quality of worship, the physical impacts of fasting, mindfulness, and the epiphanic realizations brought about by fasting.

Hostas

BY PAT KITE

I don’t know why I bought three Hostas, since I had no idea what they were. Like other plant people, I attended the Home and Garden Show. Among the displays, there was a lady selling packaged Hosta rhizomes. Already having a cartload of other plants, I tried to ignore the offering. Useless. So, I glanced at the labels. All of them mentioned Shade or semi-shade. The only empty spots in my overgrown back yard are in full shade. So, I picked three of the abundant offerings. Now I know something about Hostas. Let me share.

There are over 3,000 Hosta varieties, ranging in size from miniatures, happy in small pots, to those achieving three feet in height and six feet in width. According to references, all Hostas are very hardy. Parentage is from Asian countries, but hybridization is ample. Alternate names are Plantain Lily, Giboshi, Funkia, and Niobe. They don’t need oodles of water, but they are happier if watered regularly in dry summers. Medium-size green leaves are most common, with some having yellow, gold, or white margins or speckles. Bell-shaped midsummer flowers can be purple, lavender or white, and are quite attractive. A few are fragrant, such as August Lily (Hosta plantaginea). Some species are described as ‘vigorous’ and some are ‘slow-growing.’

Some folks have entire gardens made up solely of Hostas. Because of hybridization and misnaming, it is best to see the growing plant before you buy. To do this, you might consider going to a Hosta specialist. Better yet, look up American Hosta Society on the Internet. If you don’t do Internet, write to AHS Membership Secretary, PO Box 7539, Kill Devil Hills, North Carolina 27948.

Hostas are perennial, but they do sleep during the winter. There are few disease or insect enemies, but deer, rabbits, voles, slugs and snails can be a pest. Hostas with thicker or waxy leaves are more resistant to slugs and snails. A gardener suggestion is strewing sand lightly around the Hostas.

To give some idea of variety, here’s a few: ‘Francee’ gets to 15 inches, white border on dark green leaves. Dwarf form ‘Blue Cadet’ has blue-green leaves. ‘Fragrant Gold’ gets to 18 inches and can tolerate some sun. Leaves are pale yellow. ‘Patriot’ has green and white leaves, gets to 22 inches high. ‘Tiny Tears’ only reaches three inches high and six inches wide. ‘Vanilla Cream’ is only five inches high, ideal for pots. There are also those getting quite wide. In my local garden, the three

Kid Scoop Together:
SAFE FUN IN THE SUN

Think about important summer safety tips for kids (bike safety, pool safety, sun safety, etc.)

Select one of the tips. Then list three steps to help kids follow this safety tip. Write the tip and then illustrate it in the boxes below.

SUNBURNS!

OUCH! Hot fun in the summertime can be painful! Too much fun in the sun can burn your skin.

How does the sun burn skin?

Normal skin cells.

Cells that get too much sunlight swell and fill with blood.

This turns the skin red and makes it hurt.

Find: • banana • watermelon • moon • dolphin • car • bat • bowling ball • crocodile • ice cream • octopus

To burn or not to burn?

Everybody has tiny grains of color called melanin in their skin.

Melanin grains are like a screen. They protect the body from the burning rays of sunlight. Everybody's skin makes melanin. Melanin grains are brown. When your skin is exposed to the sun, it makes more melanin. That is why your skin gets darker when you play in the sunshine.

Different skin types

Tanya has a lot of melanin in her skin. Andy and Melody have a little. Amy has very little. Some parts of Amy's body make more melanin than others. These dark spots are called freckles.

Everybody needs to protect their skin from the sun. Even people with lots of melanin will burn. Their skin won't burn as fast as Amy's, but it will burn.

Fremont Welcomes Community Feedback to Inform Mobility Action Plan

The City of Fremont is gathering community feedback on local transportation and mobility challenges. Due to the recent spike in residential through-traffic and increased usage of navigation apps, the City is seeking input from the community in order to develop the most efficient, timely solutions for its Mobility Action Plan. Guided by the Mobility Task Force, the Plan is a community-developed, 5-year framework for regional advocacy and local action to relieve traffic congestion, improve multimodal local circulation, reduce major traffic crashes, and adapt to new transportation technologies.

Fremont is calling on community members to share their thoughts via an online survey conducted on the City's online civic engagement forum, Fremont Open City Hall. Community members will be shown information on the portal about Fremont's transportation challenges, what the City is already doing to address them, and what is planned for the future. They can then share their input on each of the topics which will later be incorporated into the broader Mobility Action Plan. In addition to the survey, Fremont will also be hosting public Mobility Action Plan pop-up workshops in the coming weeks. Stay tuned for more scheduling information. Visit www.Fremont.gov/OpenCity-HallMobility to take the survey, which will run from April 20 to June 20. There are 16 questions in the survey and it should take approximately 10 minutes to complete.

For more information about the Mobility Action Plan visit www.Fremont.gov/MobilityActionPlan.

An Enchanted Evening in Paris. . . Oh, La, La

BY JOHNNA M. LAIRD

A program that began 48 years ago as a church ministry has grown into a multiservice agency, offering a comprehensive safety net to help low-income families in San Leandro and surrounding communities. Davis Street Family Resource Center, which incorporated into a nonprofit agency in 1990 after its launch as a food outreach program by San Leandro's First Christian Church, has become a one-stop center to fight poverty and provide assistance to people in need of medical, dental, and mental health care as well as assistance with almost every aspect of life. Davis Street operates programs that provide food and clothing as well as make referrals for financial, housing, and employment assistance, offering both short and long-term aid to improve quality of life.

Each day about 850 children receive childcare services through five centers that Davis Street operates and through in-home services that the resource center administers.

"The mission of Davis Street is to improve health, address poverty, and increase the overall quality of life," says Daniel Johnson, Operations Director. "We accomplish our mission by providing strategic assistance through a variety of integrated services that identify, focus, and build on our clients' natural strengths."

Annually, about 12,000 primary care clinic visits are made to Davis Street Family Resource Center, which offers medical, dental, and behavioral health services; about 13,000 people receive food and clothing annually. Davis Street opened its full-service medical clinic in 2014 with 13 exam rooms and three dental chairs, earning the nonprofit federal designation as a qualified health center. The clinic operates Monday through Friday with a staff of four full-time doctors and two full-time dentists and is a sanctuary facility, treating people regardless of immigration status.

Prior to a renovation and the clinic opening, health services were available at Davis Street through a volunteer effort of doctors and nurses providing care to low-income and undocumented individuals. Davis Street made space available, and RotaCare provided primary healthcare services for people with limited access to medical care. Currently, RotaCare continues to offer free medical care one day a week, on Thursdays. RotaCare began in 1989 when Dr. Mark Campbell, with the backing of his Rotary Club in Campbell, identified the need for healthcare services in his area. RotaCare opened its first clinic on the site of the former Agnews State Hospital, a site that has now closed, but clinics operate in several Bay Area cities.

The volunteer-driven RotaCare will be honored at Davis Street Family Resource Center's annual gala on Wednesday, May 16 for its years of service, meeting acute medical needs of thousands of uninsured and poverty-stricken people dating back to June 1995 when it first partnered with Davis Street. RotaCare plans to end its partnership with Davis Street after 2018, now that the resource center has a full-service clinic.

This year's gala is themed "An Enchanted Evening in Paris. . . Oh, La, La," and is expected to attract more than 200 attendees, giving them a taste of the City of Light without having to leave the Bay Area. French decorations and a French-themed ice sculpture will adorn the Dunsmuir-Hellman Estate in Oakland where the event takes place, starting at 5:30 p.m. with themed drinks at a hosted cocktail hour followed by can-can dancers entertaining. Consumers from Stepping Stones, a program serving adults and children with developmental disabilities and a subsidiary of Davis Street, will stroll a fashion show runway later in the evening.

Dinner and a dessert bar will be followed by a silent auction packages that include a trip to Mazatlán and game tickets to see the Oakland A's and the San Francisco Giants. Gala proceeds will benefit all Davis Street programs, including its nutritional training program in that teaches how to prepare meals to get and stay healthy.

Johnson says the clinic serves a large, diabetic population that suffers with hypertension. "It's a nutritional education program where people learn about vegetables that they are not familiar with. They learn to read labels and to be healthier." Johnson recalls one diabetic husband and wife that took the training together and a few months later returned to report that they no longer needed medication after changing their lifestyle.

More than 1,000 volunteers assist throughout the year at Davis Street, including Alameda County firefighters and San Leandro's Police Department handing out a meal, canned food and new toys during the holidays. "It's a fresh turkey, fresh produce and canned goods, and not just one toy for children but a stocking, an education toy and one that is larger. Nobody goes without. The impact this makes on families, relieving holiday stress, it's one of the best things to see," says Johnson, who is also seeking more volunteers throughout the year for the food and clothing programs and for the holiday outreach that gears up in September.

For gala tickets, call (510) 347-4620 ext. 104 or visit www.davisstreet.org.

Jingle is a happy young bunny with luxurious, soft fur. She doesn't mind being handled and enjoys having her ears and back stroked. She also loves hay, greens and an occasional piece of carrot. She looks forward to having room to hop around and explore. This sweet girl would be a wonderful indoor only pet. More info: Hayward Animal Shelter. (510) 293-7200.

Fremont Writers host poet and blogger Martha Clark Scala

SUBMITTED BY
KNUTI VANHOVEN

Sometimes Life seems to have forgotten you're there. Sometimes it sends so much drama you're overwhelmed, but is it possible to take those moments, as well as anything else you experience, and turn it into art? Poet, Artist, and Blogger Martha Clarke Scala's work proves that the answer is a resounding "Yes!"

At the May 26th meeting of Fremont Area Writers, Clark Scala's topic will be 'Happstance as Muse.'

When the other members of her original family died within just one decade, Clark Scala turned to the arts as her refuge. "Creative projects," she says, "saved me from despair." "Today," she adds "I give voice to my grief—and also my joys—in prose, poetry, photographs, and videos."

She describes her blog 'Out on a Limb' (at www.marthaclarkscala.com) as an exploration of ways to maximize joy in life. "It's not," she adds, "that I have joy all figured out. This blog is as much a meditation for myself as for you."

How does she do it? She'll share her methods at Fremont Area Writers (FAW) meeting on Saturday, May 26. Please join us for an afternoon of sharing and learning!

Broadway West presents farewell production

SUBMITTED BY MARY GALDE

Broadway West Theatre Company presents their farewell production, "All in the Timing," a collection of one-act plays by David Ives. This critically acclaimed, award-winning evening of comedies combines wit, intellect, satire and just plain fun.

"Like sketches for some hilarious, celestially conceived revue. The writing is not only very funny, it has density of thought and precision of poetry... 'All in the Timing' is by a master of fun. David Ives spins hilarity out of words." —The New York Times.

Broadway West's production is directed by Paula Chenoweth, Mary Galde, Ross Harkness, Angie Higgins, John Rutski, and Jim Woodbury, and features Alma Pasic-Tran, Adam Weinstein, Ambra DeLash, C. Conrad Cady, Dawn Cates, Doll Picotto, Ivette Deltoro, Jim Woodbury, Keenan Flagg, Kyle Smith, Laura Morgan, Mike McHone, Sara Renée Morris, Spencer Stevenson, and Tom Shamrell.

"All in the Timing" opens Friday, May 11 and runs through Saturday June 9. Shows are at 8 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays with 3 p.m. matinees Sundays May 27 and June 3. A

Pool Championships

CYNTHIA PHILLIPS

Craig Nicholson of San Leandro captured 17th Place in Black Tier Skill Level 6-9 of the American Poolplayers Association's (APA) 2018 9-Ball Shootout, held during the 2018 APA Poolplayer Championship April 25-29 at the Westgate Resort & Casino in Las Vegas. Nicholson qualified for the 9-Ball Shootout after winning the regional competition held in October (9-Ball) and March (8-Ball) at California Billiards in Fremont. Although Nicholson previously qualified for regionals in 2016 and 2017, this year he actually won the trip to the National Poolplayer Championship. Nicholson, 47, has been playing pool over 25 years, but has been a member of APA for three years. Nicholson is a quality assurance manager of a flooring company and married Cindy Kassab on April 21, 2018 in Castro Valley. They immediately headed to Las Vegas for their honeymoon so Nicholson could compete in both the 9-Ball Shootout and 8-Ball Classic. Nicholson was one of only 396 amateur poolplayers to qualify for the championship, the nation's most rewarding 9-Ball singles tournament—offering guaranteed cash and prizes totaling over $175,000! Nicholson finished in 17th Place, earning additional cash and prizes including an Action Commemorative Championship Cue, Commemorative Duffel Bag, Commemorative Action Cue Case, and a Commemorative Prize Bundle of pool gear, totaling over $1,000 in cash and prizes. Entrants pay a one-time fee of only $20 to qualify for the tournament. Nine other members of Heart Of The Bay Pool League also competed in Las Vegas. Their final standings are as follows: Alex Almendral of San Lorenzo and Craig Nicholson tied for 65th place in the 8-Ball Classic. The Brothers with Robert Battinich of Castro Valley and Ken Collins of Patterson finished 129th place in the 9-Ball Doubles Championship. 8 Ball Ballers with Brad Ashmore of Alameda and Robert Soule III of San Leandro finished 129th place in the 8-Ball Doubles Championship. Mini-mania tournaments (mini's), limited to 8-32 entrants, were started hourly during the championships and several members entered them. Alex Almendral finished 2nd place (winning $60) and 5th place in 9-Ball mini's. Robert Battinich finished 3rd in 3 9-Ball mini's and 5th in an 8-Ball mini. Richard Dickerson of Alameda finished 3rd in an 8-Ball mini and 5th in a 9-Ball and 8-Ball mini. Ken Collins of Patterson finished 5th place in 2 9-Ball mini's. Kaye Syhongpan of Hayward competed in 2 9-Ball Mixed Doubles mini's with Brain Mark and Kevin Bui, both of Fremont, finishing 17th place in both. Cal State East Bay placed three student-athletes on the 2018 All-California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) Softball Team, which was announced May 4th. Juniors Courtney Leyba and Bailee Glover were named to the Second Team, while sophomore Jennifer Palmares earned an Honorable Mention. Leyba was outstanding for the Pioneers, taking over as the everyday centerfielder in her third season. The Huntington Beach native led all CCAA players with seven triples, and she finished as East Bay's team leader in batting average (.341), on-base percentage (.410), slugging percentage (.480), hits (59), walks (19), total bases (83), and stolen bases (10). She posted 16 multi-hit games and was red-hot to finish the season, batting .483 over her last nine games. Glover had a breakout year in her first season as a two-way player. The Reno, Nev. native established herself as regular in the Pioneer lineup, starting 45 games as the designated player. She finished second on the team in doubles (10), fifth in runs batted in (16), and sixth in hits (31). The junior was also impressive in the circle, leading the team with eight victories in 20 appearances. She posted a 2.91 ERA in conference play and a 3.28 mark for the season, more than a full run lower than her ERA in 2017. Following an impressive freshman campaign last year, Palmares steered clear of the dreaded sophomore slump, starting all 55 games in 2018 as CSUEB's shortstop and leadoff hitter and finishing second on the team with a .311 batting average. The Elk Grove native led the CCAA with 19 doubles. She also ranked fifth among CCAA players with 59 hits and tenth with 36 runs scored. Palmares was one of the toughest hitters in the league to strike out, fanning just 10 times in 213 plate appearances.

Volunteers Sought for Coyote Hills Project

Volunteers are a tremendous help to the East Bay Regional Park District in its efforts to maintain quality parklands for public enjoyment. You can help to enhance the beauty of Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont by volunteering for a project from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Saturday, May 12.

Volunteers will plant willow, cottonwood and sycamore saplings under the direction of ‘Doc Quack,’ aka Dave Riensche, the park district’s certified wildlife biologist. The Doc is renowned for his enthusiasm and energy. It should be a fun morning. Participants will earn a ‘Wetland Partners’ patch.

Meet in the overflow parking lot adjacent to Coyote Hills’ entrance gate kiosk on Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. Registration is required. To register, call (888) 327-2757. Select option 2 and refer to program number 21343.

Memorial Day, which is on May 28 this year, marks the start of the summer season in the East Bay Regional Parks. Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont will celebrate the holiday with free entry to all. Parking is free, too.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. the farm will bustle with activities including farm chores, train rides, tours of the Patterson House, old-time lawn games and visits with the farmyard animals.

Ardenwood also plans Katie Train Activities Day from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 2. Katie is the park’s little green locomotive, and the event is designed especially for children ages 2 to 6 years. The kids will be able to ride the train, play engineer, operate wooden train layouts, color a picture of Katie, and build using child-sized tools, among other activities.

Fee for the event is $7 each for ages 2 and older, free for age one and under. This is in addition to Ardenwood’s regular admission fee. Parking is free.

Ardenwood is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard, just north of Highway 84. Call (510) 544-2797 for information.

Back at Coyote Hills, don’t miss the Butterfly and Bird Festival, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 3. Besides up-close interaction with the birds and ‘flying flowers,’ the festival will offer information on how to create a wildlife-friendly habitat in your backyard, educational speakers, photo presentations, family hands-on activities, garden tours and music. Call (510) 544-3220. Since this year is the 50th anniversary of Coyote Hills Regional Park, there will be cake.

Coyote Hills also has Discovery Days, a drop-in program from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Saturday and Sunday in May. Because of the 50th anniversary, there’s a special exhibit honoring the park’s rich history. At 10:30 a.m. there’s a presentation on the park’s early days.

Come at 1:00 p.m. over Memorial Day weekend for guest speakers focusing on different aspects of the park’s history. Learn about the area’s salt production history on Saturday, ecology on Sunday, or Ohlone involvements on Monday.

Mother’s Day is May 13, and Sunol Regional Wilderness will mark it with a ‘Marvelous Moms’ hike from 10 a.m. to noon, led by naturalist Ashley Adams. This is a moderate, three-mile walk for the whole family, during which Ashley will talk about nature’s marvelous moms.

The park is at the end of Geary Road off Calaveras Road, about five miles south of I-680 and the town of Sunol. There’s a parking fee of $5 per vehicle; the program is free. Call (510) 544-3249 for information.

There are lots of other programs scheduled as spring turns into summer in the regional parks. For a complete listing, check out the park district website, www.ebparks.org.

The Huskies began their attack early, scoring two runs and adding to the score over the next three innings. Although the Titans tried to stem the tide, they were unable to generate momentum even loading the bases in the bottom of the fifth inning. A great defensive Huskies play by third baseman Stevie Murata (23) killed the drive, ending any threat. Final score: Huskies 2, Titans 1.

In concurrent action, James Logan Colts met the Moreau Catholic Mariners and moved into a three-way tie for the League lead with an 8-3 win. With just five games left in the regular league season, the lead is up for grabs.

Ohlone College seeks bond oversight committee members

SUBMITTED BY OHLONE COLLEGE

Two local, civic-minded individuals are being sought to join the Citizens’ Bond Oversight Committee at Ohlone College. The Oversight Committee reviews the implementation of the Measure G Bond program to ensure the funds are allocated appropriately. For compositional balance on the committee, the district is seeking one business representative and one community-at-large representative. All committee members must live within the boundaries of the Ohlone Community College District, which includes all of Fremont, Newark and a portion of Union City.

Committee members attend quarterly meetings to review reports of bond fund expenditures by the college district, presents the Board of Trustees with reports outlining their activities and conclusions regarding Measure G Bond proceeds, and informs the public of the district’s progress on Measure G activities.

Measure G is a $349 million bond measure, passed by voters in Nov. 2010, which authorizes funding for needed repairs, upgrades, and construction projects primarily on Ohlone College’s Fremont campus.

All bond measures for educational facilities in the state are required to have an oversight committee comprised of independent citizens that review and approve expenditures of bond funds to ensure that they are spent according to the provisions of the bond. The Citizens’ Bond Oversight Committee is appointed by the Ohlone College Board of Trustees to work with the college.

Applications for the seats can be downloaded at www.ohlone.edu/go/bondapply or mailed to Ohlone Community College District, Administrative Services Office, 43600 Mission Blvd., Fremont, California, 94539. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled. For details, call (510) 659-7307.

OPINION

WILLIAM MARSHAK

At the May 1st meeting of the Fremont City Council, a stalemate between a developer and the council centered around access, school and other fees, significant changes to the proposal and absence of a deed-restricted moderate-income (Below Market Rate – BMR) unit in a 13-unit market-rate residential subdivision. Proposed for a small commercial parcel bordering Mission Boulevard in the Niles Community Plan Area, the developer argued that the infill residential project would be a significant improvement over the existing, poorly maintained vacant lot. They cited four years of study that preceded the hearing. Although the developer had reduced the number of units and height from three stories to two and added a closing cost veteran discount, councilmembers were reluctant to allow the development to advance, suggesting further refinement and study before re-hearing the request at a later date.

Compounding this dilemma was notice from staff that the number of changes to elements of the General Plan is limited and since two Land Use Element changes ad been approved previously and other proposals would be forthcoming this year (including an additional request on the same council calendar), a substantial delay for the developer would result. Statements by the developer repeatedly underscored what they considered the financial hardship of including a moderate-rate unit. In the end, the developer yielded and asked for consideration if Planning Commission recommendations, guaranteed level 3 school fees, affordable housing fees and a moderate-rate unit, were included in the agreement. Council voted to approve although Vice Mayor Vinnie Bacon did not support the proposal.

It has become apparent that in the midst of a “housing crisis” of the Bay Area, alarm bells are loud and continuous. The problem is that many developers have opted for in lieu fees rather than sacrifice profits to create what is laughably called affordable housing. When a recent comment about starter homes indicated that prices in the range of $800,000 - $900,000 fit into that category, the issue of a housing market gone amuck is evident.

Although the term in lieu, when applied to development fees is sometimes misinterpreted as an equal replacement, it doesn't come close. The difference is timing. When in lieu fees, even if equivalent, are substituted for ready-to-occupy housing, the time difference between them means that the cost of replacement housing rises and access to affordable housing is delayed until a suitable location and builder can be found. People who need housing cannot wait for years to stand in line for a chance to put a roof over their heads. By the same token, it is unfair for developers to be misled for years during a planning stage and find themselves standing on shifting ground when finally presenting a development to the Planning Commission and City Council. Guidelines should be tough, but fair so there is a clear, early indication of what will be allowed.

This dichotomy is part of the reason that State regulations are becoming onerous and intrusive. While local jurisdictions should have the right and obligation to enforce building standards and land use within their boundaries, the probable outcome should also be clear from the outset of a development. If the consensus of our civic leaders is that further residential development should be skewed toward BMR Housing, developers need to be informed of these restrictions prior to moving ahead with significant time, money and effort. Also, pricing of BMR housing is unrealistic for the majority of those who are simply trying to achieve the American Dream of home ownership. Disingenuous housing prices under the guise of affordable should be exposed for what they are – absurd. Either in lieu fees should be steep enough to offset the reduction of truly affordable housing or deleted for all but extremely small developments.

Amy Anna Jimenez was born July 30, 1962 in San Francisco, CA and grew up in Fremont. She entered into rest April 30, 2018, after a ten-year long struggle with breast cancer. She died peacefully in her home among her family.

Amy was survived by her husband of 11 years Bud Ruby, daughter Meagan Kralian (Nathan), son Nicoli Gorbunoff (Christianna), Beloved grandmother to 3 grandchildren Ema, Nikolai, Ava. Loving sister to Laura Lee, Lisa Keene, Gina Curley and Bruce Worrall. Beloved Father Gary Worrall, survived by many nieces and nephews and preceded in death by her mother Kiyoko Worrall.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Rodeo: Just say no!

Rodeo season is upon us, yet we seem on the brink of a sea change regarding the use/abuse of animals in "entertainment": e.g., recent bans on orca shows at SeaWorld; elephant bullhook bans; the demise of the Ringling Bros. Circus. Only this week, a 600pp study in Montreal deemed rodeos to be both inhumane and a violation of anti-cruelty laws. Can the U.S. be far behind? For most rodeo animals—horses and bulls included—rodeo is merely a detour en route to the slaughterhouse.

Nor is rodeo a true sport. "Sport" denotes a competition between willing, evenly-matched participants. Rodeo does not qualify. Much of rodeo is bogus from the git-go. Real working cowboys never routinely rode bulls, or wrestled steers, or rode bare-back, or practiced calf roping (babies!) as a timed event. Nor did they put flank straps on the animals, nor work them over with painful "hotsots" in the holding chutes. Some "sport"!

Truth be told, rodeo is a macho exercise in domination, closely related to the sexual harassment stories (and worse) of women now swamping the media. It needs to stop. As Gandhi famously wrote, "The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are treated."

Court Orders Disclosure of Records

SUBMITTED BY FIRST AMENDMENT COALITION

In an important win for government transparency, a Santa Clara Superior Court judge has ruled [filed April 27, 2018] that the city of Milpitas must release documents relating to allegations of serious misconduct by former city manager Tom Williams. The city originally withheld the documents based in part on a “reverse California Public Record Act” lawsuit filed by Williams more than a year ago.

Judge Sunil Kulkarni’s order ends Williams’ “reverse CPRA” lawsuit by vacating a temporary restraining order that has been in place for the past year. Williams obtained the order by rushing into court with his reverse CPRA claim before the public or the press had a chance to argue for the release of the documents.

FAC sued on June 2, 2017 to challenge Williams’ lawsuit and force Milpitas to release the records. The previous month, FAC had requested records relating to accusations of poor performance and misconduct by Williams, including allegations that he used a city credit card to pay personal legal bills. (Williams has denied these charges.)

Judge Kulkarni’s recent order is tentative, meaning the court could change it based on objections from the parties, who have 15 days to tell the court if they object. After that time, the order becomes final. Courts rarely change much of substance in tentative rulings.

“We are grateful these records will finally be released, but they should have been made public more than a year ago, when newspapers first asked for them under the CPRA,” said FAC Executive Director David Snyder. “The fact that it took so long for this information to become public highlights the enormous problem posed by reverse CPRA lawsuits.”

Under a “reverse CPRA” action, any individual claiming to have an interest in government records sought by a CPRA request can preemptively seek to prevent the release of those records, sometimes before the person who originally requested the records has a chance to contest the “reverse CPRA” action.

Nothing in the California Public Records Act explicitly allows “reverse CPRA” lawsuits. Until 2012, FAC and many others maintained they were prohibited under the law. However, that year the California Court of Appeal decided that such lawsuits are permissible. As a result, journalists and others who request records under the CPRA increasingly find their efforts thwarted by third parties — often before the original requester of the records even has a chance to show up in court and argue for access.

FAC is represented in the Milpitas case by James Chadwick and Julie Bauman of the Sheppard Mullin law firm. To view the court order, visit: <https://drive.google.com/file/d/1K0NVrJ3q4-rE51QBoG7YEGf0C7LwhhLP/view>

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

A Proposed State Tax on Drinking Water is Pending in Sacramento

It often comes as a surprise when residents of our region — where access to clean, safe drinking water is seen as a basic right — learn that many Californians cannot obtain safe water when they turn on a tap.

In a state that is an economic powerhouse, and with a history of water engineering marvels, this fact is unacceptable. There is widespread agreement on the need to address this issue and correct it. As with many important issues, however, there is less agreement on the best way to do so.

One proposed solution is pending in the state Legislature. The administration of Gov. Jerry Brown has proposed a new state tax on drinking water. Local water customers would see the new tax on their bills, and the money collected by local water agencies would be sent to Sacramento for distribution to the communities facing water issues.

Supporters of the tax say California needs to create a Safe and Affordable Drinking Water Fund, to protect hundreds of thousands of state residents who are exposed to unsafe drinking water in their homes. The $110 million needed each year should come, supporters say, primarily from residential and business customers of local water agencies. Other, smaller sources of revenue would include agricultural fees, including a fee on the sale of fertilizers, a key cause of nitrate contamination in rural areas.

Opponents of the bill are asking whether ordinary customers of water agencies are the best source of the millions needed. Water customers in California have been asked to bear significant rate increases over the past decade, as drought and other supply issues have driven costs to record highs. At rate hearings in our community and elsewhere, ratepayers in our region have made it clear that they are carrying a heavy load already.

In the communities of Fremont, Newark and Union City, the proposed tax would add as much as $8 to each bimonthly water bill customers receive.

Representatives of local water agencies are suggesting other funding sources that would avoid this addition to customers’ bills. These include options such as available federal funds earmarked for safe drinking water needs, packaged with the proposed agricultural fees and a small amount from the state’s general fund. Other proposals call for the creation of a protected trust fund using revenue from this year’s budget surplus.

There is no argument about whether California needs to address this problem and ensure all Californians have access to safe drinking water. But, the discussions underway on this issue have significant ramifications for water customers throughout the state, who should know that a statewide tax may be placed on their water bills. Newark is Hot

SUBMITTED BY VALERIE BOYLE

Newark Mayor Alan Nagy delivered his State of the City Address on April 19th at the DoubleTree by Hilton, Newark-Fremont. Members of the business community, City of Newark representatives and elected representatives filled the ballroom to capacity. Guests were welcomed to the festive sounds of the “Newark Saxophone Quartet.”

In a Snapshot: Newark is Hot! Mayor Nagy spoke of his love of history and anything Newark. He emphasized his desire to preserve Newark’s rich heritage and the warm, small town atmosphere residents say they love, as well as his commitment to planning and developing the community with an eye towards a sustainable future.

Location, location, location - Newark’s proximity to major tech hubs as well as highways is a major reason why businesses and developers are locating to Newark. Newark is on the cutting edge of technology with businesses in the computer tech, bio med, and life science industries. Also, residential and commercial development is providing a variety of housing options and greatly expanded job opportunities.

Nagy noted some of the commercial development projects over the last year. Companies Newark has welcomed include ATUM, a well-known biotechnology engineering firm, Mission Linen Supply, a state-of-the-art facility projecting up to 400 employees when at full-scale operation, Sprouts Farmers Market, and Lucid Motors, an electric car startup which doubled the size of its offices, moving their headquarters to Newark, adjacent to their design center. And DeVry University that moved its local campus to Newark.

Panattoni Development Company which specializes in industrial, office, and build-to-suit development has plans that include the construction of three advanced manufacturing buildings. Adjacent to the Pacific Research Center is Kateeva, whose innovations in OLED technology have redefined digital screens. Kateeva expanded its Newark headquarters by 75,000 sq. ft., with a total footprint to 150,000 sq. ft.

One of the premiere projects in the City is the transformation of NewPark Mall. AMC-IMAX, John’s Incredible Pizza and Jack’s Restaurant and Bar were among the first new major tenants, followed by 24 Hour Super Sport Fitness facility. The mall continues to expand with the recent addition of Vinum Wine Bar; more openings are scheduled in 2018. Surrounding the mall, the “Greater NewPark Area,” is also active. Staybridge Suites will open in late 2018 and Springhill in 2019. Holiday Inn and Suites will begin construction soon, to open in 2019, and Lazy Dog Restaurant plans to open by the end of 2018.

Nagy ended the address by talking about City sponsored projects: dog parks, a skate park, all-weather turf fields at the Silliman Sports Complex, and the renovation and upgrades recently completed at the George M. Silliman Community Activity Center. Old Town Newark is also targeted by a City planning process to revitalize the commercial area. And last, but not least, underway is design work on a new Civic Center including a modern police operations center, a world class library and an efficient and accessible City Administration building. It is anticipated construction will begin summer 2018 with occupancy in the Summer/Fall 2020.

Nagy reported that the City’s budget is balanced - with a projected surplus for the current fiscal year, including a positive economic forecast for the City that projects solid economic and revenue growth. A close eye will be kept on the State’s budget and its associated unfunded mandates, rising employer pension costs of CalPERS and continued financial strain on California municipalities. Newark is optimistic about navigating through these issues.

The Chamber is proud to partner with the City of Newark in presenting this annual event and appreciates the presentation prepared by the city team and Mayor Nagy. Our most sincere thanks to our event sponsors: Major sponsors include Integral Communities, Kaiser Permanente, Trumark Homes, Lion Newark Shopping Center, Washington Hospital Healthcare System, Cargill, Republic Services, DoubleTree by Hilton Newark-Fremont, Ray’s Crab Shack, Bay East Association of Realtors, and William Lyon Homes, with supporting sponsorships from PG&E, Masonic Homes of California, Pacific Realty Partners, AC Transit and Tri-City Voice.

Teen Police Academy

SUBMITTED BY
SGT. BRYAN HINKLEY,
MILPITAS PD

Have you ever wondered how the men and women of law enforcement are trained to do their job? How a police department operates? Why do police officers wear all that “stuff” on their belt? All these questions and more will be answered during the Milpitas Police Department’s 2018 Teen Police Academy.

The Teen Police Academy is a free 12-hour course, which starts on Tuesday, July 10, 2018 and concludes on Thursday, July 12, 2018. The academy will start at 10:00 A.M. each day and conclude around 2:00 P.M. The Teen Police Academy is based on a series of lectures and staged scenarios to allow students to experience what police officers go through at the police academy. Courses will include exposure to the Canine Unit (K9), internet crimes, SWAT, crime scene investigation, juvenile traffic laws, juvenile DUI, exposure to the use of force simulator, surviving an active shooter, basic force options, and other topics of interest. Lunch will be provided all three days of the academy.

In order to participate in the Teen Police Academy, you must be a high school student currently residing in Milpitas. All Teen Police Academy applicants will be required to complete an interview prior to confirming their selection to participate in the academy.

If you want to learn more about your police department and engage with some of your police officers, then we encourage you to sign up today — space is limited. Contact Sergeant Bryan Hinkley at (408) 586-2527 for more information.

TO THE EDITOR:

Rodeos must end

Everyone who cares about animals agrees: It’s time to put rodeo out to pasture. While all rodeo events – zapping cattle with electric hotshots so they’ll charge out of the chute, twisting calves’ necks and violently slamming them into the ground, and viciously spurring horses into bucking – an easy place to start would be to eliminate the most gratuitous events: “wild cow milking contests” and “mutton busting”. These spectacles must end. The Alameda County Board of Supervisors must not follow in the shameful steps of the Hayward Recreation & Park District’s board of directors, who gave the OK to continuing these cruel events.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Tap an app in the garden

I am writing to express my interest in the gardening technology highlighted in this article [Tap an app in the garden, Tri-City Voice, May 1, 2018, pg. 13] especially in light of controversy associated with current technology. While opinions surrounding technology differ from person to person, I believe this article showcases how technology can be used as a helpful tool for society.

Amid the cyber security hacking, data breaches, and major political influences along with countless other controversial issues associated with technology, it is nice to read an article centered around the good that can be done with it.

I’ve recently taken an interest in gardening and could use all the help and advice I can get. Knowing that there are applications available instantly that allow me to advance my gardening hobby highlights the good in technology.

I was particularly intrigued by the app PlantSnap which uses facial recognition. In general, facial recognition has taken some heat in the news for fears of compromised privacy or widespread use of this technology in law enforcement or marketers. Knowing that this feature can be beneficial for the general public, in this case gardening help, is encouraging.

Additionally, as a babysitter, I have found that it can be incredibly difficult to peel kids away from their favorite television shows. This article highlights another app, Gro Garden, that provides educational fun, a concept that many parents and teachers are quite fond of, by allowing kids to learn about sustainable gardening. I am grateful for the developments of apps like these that both children and their parents can be happy about.

All in all, I believe it is crucial that we hold tight to the positives that come along with technology. It is easy to associate the major technological developments with a dystopian future where the negative impact prevails; however, we can still fall back on technology’s use as a tool to aid in the cultivation of new passions - like gardening.

Statewide Ballot Measures

Proposition 68

Put on ballot by Legislature
[SB 5 (Chapter 852, Statutes of 2017), De León]

Authorizes $4 billion in general obligation bonds for: parks, natural resources protection, climate adaptation, water quality and supply, and flood protection. Fiscal Impact: Increased state bond repayment costs averaging $200 million annually over 40 years. Local government savings for natural resources-related projects, likely averaging several tens of millions of dollars annually over the next few decades.

Pro www.YES68CA.com
Against lance.christensen@sen.ca.gov

Proposition 69

Put on ballot by Legislature
[ACA 5 (Resolution Chapter 30, statutes of 2017), Frazier]

Requires that certain revenues generated by a 2017 transportation funding law be used only for transportation purposes and generally prohibits Legislature from diverting funds to other purposes. Fiscal Impact: No direct effect on the amount of state and local revenues or costs but could affect how some monies are spent.

Pro YesProp69.com
Against ASM.CA.GOV/Bigelow

Proposition 70

Put on ballot by Legislature
[ACA 1 (Resolution Chapter 105, statutes of 2017), Mayes]

Beginning in 2024, requires that cap-and-trade revenues accumulate in a reserve fund until the Legislature, by a two-thirds majority, authorizes use of the revenues. Fiscal Impact: Beginning in 2024, potential temporary increase in state sales tax revenue, ranging from none to a few hundred million dollars annually, and possible changes in how revenue from sale of greenhouse gas emission permits is spent.

Pro www.YesOnProposition70.com
Against www.stopprop70.org

Proposition 71

Put on ballot by Legislature
[ACA 17 (Resolution Chapter 190, Statutes of 2017), Mullin]

Provides that ballot measures approved by a majority of voters shall take effect five days after the Secretary of State certifies the results of the election. Fiscal Impact: Likely little or no effect on state and local finances.

Pro Kevin.Mullin@asm.ca.gov
Against gary.wesley@yahoo.com

Proposition 72

Put on ballot by Legislature
[SCA 9 (Resolution Chapter 1, Statutes of 2018), Glazer]

Permits Legislature to allow construction of rain-capture systems, completed on or after January 1, 2019, without requiring property-tax reassessment. Fiscal Impact: Probably minor reduction in annual property tax revenues to local governments.

PUBLIC NOTICES

interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Alicia G. Trevino aka Alicia Trevino
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Mariam Trevino Ramos in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.
The Petition for Probate requests that Mariam Trevino Ramos be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.)
The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on May 29 2018 at 9:31 A.M in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King, Jr. Way, Berkeley, CA 94704.
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Celebrate school heroes

SUBMITTED BY
DIONICIA RAMOS

A grand celebration will be held in Hayward for 41 heroes that support their school communities across the city. The “Hayward Hero Dinner” honors those who go above and beyond the call of duty to enrich the lives of Hayward’s students. Heroes include volunteers, parents, custodians, administrative staff, teachers, aides, or anyone who supports students in our local schools.

Each year, all schools in the Hayward community (public, private, charter) are invited to select a “hero.” A hero is someone who exemplifies kindness, integrity, selflessness, and continually goes above and beyond their usual duties for the betterment of the school and the students. The event initially launched in 2009 when the Hayward Education Foundation hosted a lunch for these heroes, with 14 guests in attendance. This year, over 600 are expected to attend the dinner in support of the heroes, including Hayward’s mayor, members of the Hayward City Council, and elected officials from across Alameda County. The event has grown to become the largest sit-down dinner in the city.

The dinner will be held at the California State University, East Bay gymnasium and will include participation from the Hayward Police Department and Hayward Fire Department. Guests compete with schools sitting at other tables in friendly rivalries touting their school spirit. Organizers will also be collecting donations for the Hayward Unified School District’s food pantry.

This year, the event will take place during Teacher Appreciation Week. This national recognition week seeks to promote appreciation for our nation’s educators. The Hayward Education Foundation is an accredited non-profit 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to helping all Hayward students succeed by providing teachers with the resources necessary to support, enhance, enrich, and strengthen educational activities and experiences in ways that existing funding cannot. Leadership Fremont Class Project Reception

CHRIS DE BENEDETTI

The Leadership Fremont Class of 2018 invites you to its Sunrise Village Kick-off Kitchen Reception on May 10, to celebrate the completion of its project fundraiser that will benefit Abode Services. The leadership program is designed to inform future Bay Area leaders about a variety of important public and private organizations within their community.

As part of the leadership class’ Hometown Recipe for Hope project, class members at the reception will present Abode with a donation that will pay for state-of-the-art kitchen equipment, appliances, and supplies for Sunrise Village Emergency Shelter. The shelter, built in 1993, was Abode’s first permanent program site. A quarter-century later, it continues to provide essential safety net services to hundreds of families and individuals each year.

Abode Services would especially like to thank Washington Hospital Healthcare System, the fundraising project’s Platinum Sponsor, whose generous donations have done so much to help those living at the shelter. We also thank Cargill, Kaiser Permanente, and Amy Wilhelm for co-sponsoring this project. We greatly appreciate the many other individuals who contributed to the project and helped make it possible.

“The Leadership Fremont Class of 2018 is continuing a strong tradition of doing impressive work and good deeds for this community,” said Abode Services Executive Director Louis Chicoine. “We thank class members, the Fremont Chamber of Commerce, and our supporters for giving so much to help those in our programs.”

The Leadership Fremont Class of 2018 is accepting donations for the project until May 15. You can give by going online at www.go-fundme.com/FLA2018-ABODE, or by mailing a check to Abode Services, 40849 Fremont Blvd., Fremont, CA 94538. Hidden Treasures. Local Talent

To Georgiani Mathey, “the quality and value of the materials are just as important as the color, composition, and overall content of the work.” Her art derives from nature, looking for interesting color interactions between landscapes and people.

The soft look and transparency of watercolors make it a preferred medium for many artists. Sandra Clark began painting plein air landscapes using watercolors over 60 years ago. Painting outdoors for her is like visiting with friends, and she loves the experience of being focused on the beauty and liveliness of nature. Inspired by the 19th and 20th century artists and French Impressionists, Jeff Ishikawa started painting in watercolors “because his best friend at the time did.” He considers himself a realist, with the primary goal of trying to capture the light and mood of the subject in his paintings.

Kiyoko Penso also likes to maintain a sense of reality so that the viewer can relate to her paintings. She has enjoyed art from grade school through college but went back to painting post retirement. Starting off with watercolors after taking some classes, she switched to acrylics about six years ago. Her work is small in scale, but detailed.

Another very realistic and detail-oriented artist, Shone Chacko learned scratchboard art on his own and likes to draw wild cats and wolves. In 2016, he made a resolution to draw something new every day, which led him to make 366 pieces in one year – an incredible achievement by any standard. Mostly working in oils, Vasanthi Victor is also a self-taught artist, who started off with figurative abstracts. Later, inspired by the hills and palms in the area, she expanded her repertoire to include landscapes.

Color is an essential element of art and is used as a predominant means of communication by many artists. Prajakta Mahajan, a computer engineer who has always been inclined towards art, loves to work on “anything which she can express with colors!” Patricia Moran likes to express her experiences and feelings with bold, primary colors and shapes. Much of her work “appears childlike in its directness and spontaneity, but it is the process that interests her.” Likewise, abstractionist Anshoo Tikoo Zutshi uses color as a language to explore and articulate her feelings and emotions.

Through her travels in the East, Durba Sen has come to love the color and fragrance of spices and flowers, and the celebration of life. She uses paper-mache, sand, wax, texture paste, and fibers, along with oils and acrylics to create paintings that are abstract in nature, and intense in color. Hetal Anjaria, who is inspired by the traditional Indian paintings, works with a variety of mediums to bring out vivid colors representing the lively atmosphere in India.

Using art as therapeutic meditation, Mamta Kumar rediscovered her childhood passion a few years ago. It is a healing ritual that kept her from drowning in depression. She draws her inspiration from nature and captures the moments on canvas with oil paints in vibrant colors. Part of the reason why Mary Sullivan likes to paint in oils is its “richness of color.” Painting beautiful roses from her garden is what she enjoys the most.

Thomas Cory, on the other hand, uses acrylics for his artwork. Drawing and painting have been an integral part of his entire life. Even though Cory has painted landscapes and portraits, his primary focus seems to be “birds set in compositional tension.” Two of Don Ramie’s acrylic paintings to be displayed depict the panoramic views of Fremont during the last ice age from about 1 million B.C. He was commissioned for these interpretive signs after the largest ice age fossil deposit in the United States was found at Sabercat Creek.

With so much to offer, this exhibit will be a treat for all art enthusiasts. The show remains open until Saturday, June 9.
