The annual "Cherry Festival" will be held in Downtown San Leandro on Saturday, June 2, marking the 109th anniversary of this fun and exciting event. Honoring San Leandro's heritage as the former cherry-growing capital of the region, the Cherry Festival will take place along West Estudillo Avenue with live music and entertainment, artisans, food and more.

The first cherry tree planted in the San Leandro area was at Southern Farm in 1856. So great was the cherry production that the city became known as the

Hospital’s Mobile Health Clinic Returns to Fremont

In response to the devastating North Bay fires last October, Washington Hospital lent their 36-foot mobile health clinic to the Santa Rosa Community Health Center. The SRCHC provides primary health care and health education to about 27,000 families annually.

The Washington on Wheels (WOW) van provided much needed patient care space to help replace that lost when the Vista Clinic suffered damage. “We responded to Santa Rosa’s urgent call for help in their time of crisis,” says Patti Coffey, the mobile health clinic manager. “Loaning the mobile health clinic to our North Bay neighbors during their time of need is another example of our steadfast commitment to providing quality health care for all, regardless of ability to pay.”

After several months serving the community of Santa Rosa, the mobile health clinic is back in Fremont and preparing to once again serve Tri-City Area residents.

Now that the van is back, preparations are being made to once again provide medical care services to children, adults and seniors in the Washington Township Health Care District. The WOW van is staffed by a licensed nurse practitioner under the direction of Washington Hospital physician Steven Curran, MD, and provides an array of services, including the following:

- Physical exams
- Health screenings for blood pressure, cholesterol and glucose levels
- Nutritional counseling and health education
- Health insurance information counseling
- Occupational medicine

While the van is undergoing a thorough cleaning and maintenance check, hiring of staff is in process. “We hope to be up and running in the very near future, resuming this vitally important community outreach to patients who otherwise may not have access to health care,” says Coffey. To check for updates on when the WOW van will be in your neighborhood, visit www.whhs.com or call please call (510) 608-6175.

The staff of the Santa Rosa Community Health Center bid a fond and grateful farewell to the Washington Hospital mobile health clinic.

Successful Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation Golf Tournament

33rd Annual Tournament Benefits Surgical Services at Washington Hospital

On Thursday, May 3, Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation held its 33rd Annual Golf Tournament at Castlewood Country Club in Pleasanton. The tournament brought together friends and community members to raise money for surgical services at Washington Hospital.

The day featured an 18-hole golf tournament, putting contest, opportunities to win prizes on the golf course, cocktail reception and awards banquet. This year, over 180 golfers enjoyed a spectacular day on the course and 200 guests attended the banquet at the country club.

For 33 years, the golf tournament has raised money for Washington Hospital. The Foundation is pleased to announce it was yet another successful year with proceeds totaling just over $90,000.

Cherry Festival

“Cherry City.” To this day, a cluster of cherries graces the center of the City’s official emblem.

The first Cherry Festival took place in 1909, when cherry orchards covered much of San Leandro. Anticipating a bumper crop of cherries for that spring, the Board of Trade and the City’s luminaries decided to hold the community’s first Cherry Festival on Saturday, June 5, 1909, to promote the city. Miss Bessie Best, the second daughter of Daniel Best (a prominent San Leandro businessperson and inventor), was voted as Queen of the Festival. An estimated 25,000 visitors attended that year – a remarkable figure given the population of San Leandro was just under 3,500 people at the time. Three parades were held throughout the day and 15 tons of cherries were given away. The festival ended with a grand ball.

Cherry Festivals were held throughout most of the early years of the 20th century, except for the years leading to, during, and after WWI. From 1922 to 1931, San Leandro’s Cherry Festivals included music, dancing, parades, and races, and the young woman who sold the most festival tickets earned the title of Cherry Queen. The festival also had a carnival atmosphere and included a three-ring circus, sideshows, and four blocks of concessions. From 1932 to 1971, the Cherry Festival ceased to exist as San Leandro’s once-extensive cherry orchards slowly gave way to industrial and housing development. Then, in 1972, the festival was revived as the City proudly celebrated its bicentennial. The next Cherry Festival was held in 1986, and others were held regularly until 2005.

The Cherry Festival Parade will kick-off the day with the parade route starting at the Boys and Girls Club (401 Marina Boulevard), then proceeding north along San Leandro Boulevard and concluding on Estudillo Avenue at the Cherry Festival grounds. The parade will include floats, music, youth groups, elected officials, and representatives from local schools.

After the parade, attendees are invited to explore the festival, which will feature fun and exciting activities for people of all ages. Artisans will offer unique and hand-crafted items for sale, as well as specially made San Leandro-themed items. This year’s event will continue to offer an abundance of fresh cherries, stone fruits, and cherry baked goods at the farmers’ market, and plenty of fun rides and attractions at the kids’ zone.

Stop by the Cherry Store to pick up some Cherry BBQ Sauce, Cherry Tea, Cherry Festival T-shirts and beer mugs.

Three food sections are available: traditional festival food from a large variety of vendors throughout the region, Bistro at the Casa located on the historic Casa Peralta grounds featuring wine and sangria, and the third section, known as PubPARC, will serve many varieties of craft beer brewed locally by San Leandro’s three major brewers: Drake’s, 21st Amendment, and Cleophus Quealy. Our partners at Food Truck Mafia also will have food trucks stationed within the PubPARC.

Oakland-born soul and R&B singer-songwriter Goapele will headline this year’s entertainment. In between touring the world, Goapele has released four full-length albums and collaborated with a diverse array of heavy hitters such as Snoop Dogg, E-40, Eric Benét, Soulive, and Jeff Bhasker. A film and television mainstay, she has landed high-profile syncs in “Sparkle,” “Honey,” “90210,” and many more.

The City has collaborated with Bike Walk San Leandro and Cherry City Cyclists to offer free valet bike parking throughout the duration of the event. Forego the hassle of finding parking and take the family out on a bike ride to the festival!

Successful Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation Golf Tournament

33rd Annual Tournament Benefits Surgical Services at Washington Hospital

The tournament is held in memory of Gene Angelo Pessagno, a founding member of the Washington Hospital Healthcare Foundation and longtime Fremont business owner. Through the years, Laura Pessagno and her family have generously supported the tournament and the Hospital. Laura is a charter member of the Washington Hospital Service League and has been a volunteer for 63 years.

Helen Kennedy, president of the Foundation, expressed her appreciation of the many people involved. “We appreciate our sponsors and golfers who support the Foundation and Hospital year after year,” she said.

“We also thank our volunteers who give their time to help at registration, on the course and at the banquet. Foundation Honorary Trustee Rod Silveira stepped up as our emcee and did a fantastic job!”

The Golf Tournament Committee has been chaired by Lamar Hinton for more than 10 years. Each year, Lamar works with the committee members to ensure a successful and enjoyable event. “We couldn’t do this without the Foundation staff and all of our golf committee members giving their time and efforts with the tournament,” said Hinton. “We appreciate all of our volunteers including Nesly Moquette and Marlene Weibel, who both give so much of their time to help keep the tournament organized and running smoothly.”

The awards ceremony followed dinner. The winner of the Corporate Challenge Cup, with a score of 55, was the foursome from Fremont Bank, consisting of Mike Wallace, Bobby Jones, Kevin Smith and Steve Rivera. Mike Wallace is also the president of the Washington Township Health Care District board of directors.

Castlewood Country Club has two golf courses, the Valley Course and the Hill Course. In the open division, the men’s team with the lowest score on the Valley Course was

Josh Thurman, David Names, Brett Niles and Ted Otto. On the Hill Course, the winning team was Russell Ross, Mikey Ross, John Groenewold and Bob Stafford. The women’s team with the lowest score on the Valley Course was Gina Martini, Alania Souza, Romey White and Barbara Fleming. On the Hill Course it was Pam Russo, Cindy Fujiwara, Renee Lovely and Jaime Vargas. There was a tie for the winning mixed foursome on the Hill Course between foursome Walt Stahl, Karyn Ruma, Ed Fayen, and Robert Alfieri and foursome Patrick Ranoa, Ed Correa, Jennifer Tong and Nehemiah Palazzo. The winning mixed foursome on the Valley Course included Tracey Bender, Greg Paler, Michael Tong and Chong Tseng.

Longest Drive winners on the Hill Course were Matt Kraft and Kathy Adams. On the Valley Course the longest drive winner was Basil Barouki. Most accurate drive winners were Danny Dang and Greg Mosher. Andrew Earls and Sonja Hyman won the closest to the pin contest on the Hill Course and Garry Jackson and Gina Martini won it on the Valley Course.

A great time for golfers and a generous donation for surgical services at Washington Hospital—a sure win-win.

Community plaza opening

SUBMITTED BY ZACH LEWIS

Public Space Authority (PSA), in partnership with the City of Fremont and Filco Events, is excited to announce the arrival of Town Fair Plaza (TFP) (<https://townfairplaza.com>) to downtown Fremont (at 39100 State St). TFP is a temporary community space driven by a vision to celebrate and cultivate local culture and creativity with an eclectic and engaging format that offers something to everyone. TFP will hold a grand opening with the first ever Tri-City Night Market on June 16th, 2018 (details TBA).

“We believe that quality public spaces act as the glue of urban environments, facilitating dialogue, creativity and the proliferation of local culture,” said PSA’s director, Zach Lewis. PSA started with a few events last fall that drew out thousands of people to tell us what they wanted to see in the plaza. After receiving thousands of votes and attending dozens of community meetings to collect input, PSA decided to build in the following amenities: food trucks, a local craft beer garden with over 60 local beers (under a 60’ wide geodesic dome), a gaming zone with bocce ball, an imagination playground, ping pong and a multi-use court (among many other elements of play), a 9-hole mini golf course, a makerspace for youth and adult workshops, maker meetups and retail pop up shops, a stage for live performances, a mini outdoor library/hammock lounge, moveable furniture, and more.

PSA’s programming will include monthly night markets, live performances several nights a week, festivals celebrating local food and drink, craft fairs, and more. PSA has also forged relationships to bring an ice skating rink this fall from On Ice, a summer STEAM camp for kids by LVL UP, a work out boot camp by Barbell Gym, and more. TFP has a lease to operate through April 2019, with the possibility to extend based on the construction schedule for Civic Center Plaza.

Accurate and Fair Assessments

We need an Assessor who respects property owners and taxpayers. There has been essentially no change in the leadership or management at the Assessor’s Office for the past twenty years, and it is time to jump start this slow moving bureaucracy.

I am NOT a bureaucrat. I am a real estate tax law attorney, specializing in state and local taxation. I have worked directly with the Assessor’s Office and have firsthand experience with the office. As a no-nonsense problem solver, I have successfully appealed inaccurate assessments, helping many residents and business owners keep their homes and businesses.

As your Assessor, Phong La will:

- ✔ Ensure assessments are accurate, treating taxpayers and property owners equitably to prevent overpayment.
- ✔ Help families keep their housing affordable by ensuring fair taxation.
- ✔ Explore ways the Assessor’s Office can help to increase affordable housing in the county.
- ✔ Make the Assessor’s Office more efficient and transparent by digitizing files and reducing costs.
- ✔ Partner with non-profit legal aid organizations to provide assistance to taxpayers at the Assessor’s Office.
- ✔ Take the Assessor’s Office to neighborhoods by opening satellite offices in East, West, and South county, providing better access and real estate/financial planning workshops.
- ✔ Work with the State Board of Equalization to simplify the forms small business owners must fill out.

Super spellers headed for Scripps National Spelling Bee

SUBMITTED BY ALAMEDA COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION

Three super spellers from Alameda County schools are in the national spotlight as they compete in the National Scripps Spelling Bee qualifying round in Washington D.C. Dublin’s Anisha Rao, the Fallon Middle School student, who has won multiple Alameda County spelling bees and recently finished third in the state, will be in the nation’s capital along with Piedmont’s Anabel Loucks and Fremont’s Ojas Vatsyayan.

All three students are participating for the first time in the Scripps national qualifier, which will open with more than 500 students from around the country. The top 40 spellers nationally will move on to compete in the national finals, which will be televised on ESPN on May 31. Preliminary rounds will also be televised on ESPN networks. Broadcast times can be found at www.spellingbee.com.

Anisha is a 7th-grader who started participating in spelling bees in the third grade. She won the Alameda County Elementary Spelling Bee in 2015 and the Alameda County Middle School Spelling Bee in 2018. She was a runner-up in the State Elementary Spelling Bee in 2016 and finished third in the State Middle School Spelling Bee this spring.

Anabel is an 8th-grader at Piedmont Middle School. She has competed in her school’s spelling bee since the 3rd grade; this is her first foray into the Scripps regional spelling bee. Anabel is an avid reader and member of her Piedmont’s robotics team.

Ojas is a 6th-grader at Weibel Elementary School. He has been participating in school and district spelling bees for the past three years. He entered the Scripps Regional Spelling Bee for the first time this year and finished 44th out of 200 contestants.

We will be rooting for our local students as they hope to spell their way out of the preliminaries and into the finals! More Spelling Bee News!

Vivian Le, who was the Alameda County Elementary Spelling Bee winner, moved on to a top-five finish at the State Elementary Spelling Bee competition earlier this month. The fifth-grader from Glenmoor Elementary in Fremont Unified advanced through nine rounds to secure her high finish!

How best to quit your job

BY ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

There will likely come a time in your work life when you’ll have to break up with your company in order to move on with your career or life. You might even have to go through these break ups multiple times over the course of your work life. When you contemplate having The Talk with your boss, you might feel a whole spectrum of unpleasant emotions, including nervousness, anxiety, fear, and dread. At the same time, you might also feel positive feelings like relief, happiness, anticipation, and pride. Your boss might have a mixed bag of emotions as well. She or he might feel panicked, betrayed, relieved, or even angry when you announce you are leaving. As they say, breaking up is hard to do; but, there are ways to do it to make it easier and less stressful for you, your boss, and your company.

People leave jobs for all kinds of reasons. Some of these reasons are professional, such as better pay and advancement, and some are personal, such as health, pregnancy, family concerns, disenchantment with the company, stress, toxic work environments, or dislike of the boss.

Whatever your reason for saying goodbye, try to maintain an attitude of respect, professionalism, and dignity from the moment you submit your resignation to the end of your last workday. I realize this may feel like an impossible undertaking if you hate your boss and coworkers. But think about this for a second: no matter how justified your anger, unleashing your frustration will not do you any good in the long run. You never know when you or your partner or your children will cross paths with your boss and co-workers. If and when that time comes, you would be glad you chose the high road. Do your best to be your best work self during your last days on the job.

Your first step would be to schedule an in-person meeting. I know that people have quit their jobs or announced their divorces via text, email, or even Twitter, but a tried-and-true face-to-face meeting is still the best way to convey the news that you are going to leave. It is standard to give two weeks’ notice. However, if you have a very specialized role that requires experience and knowledge, you may want to give more than two weeks’ notice so that your company won’t be left in a lurch. Your boss might panic at losing a good employee. You can ease the sting by offering to help recruit and train a replacement. But be careful not to offer unlimited help to your boss till the end of time!

There is no need to go into detail for your decision; keep it simple as possible. If you are leaving because your boss is a jerk, resist the temptation to rub it in his or her face. It may bring personal satisfaction to launch into a tirade, but you won’t earn points for professionalism. Don’t burn bridges, even if you hate your boss with a passion. If possible, express your gratitude for the opportunity to have worked for your company and your boss.

Your boss might try to persuade you to stay or even make a counter-offer to entice you to stay. Be prepared for how you will respond should this happen. Think through the ramifications of accepting your boss’s counter-offer. If you accept the offer to stay, you might feel obligated to stick to your present company, even if a better offer comes along. At the same time, you don’t want to burn any bridges with the other company that offered you a job.

Don’t slack off during your last weeks of work. Leave your colleagues and boss with a positive last impression of you. Again, you never know when your paths might cross again or when they might be asked to give an informal evaluation of you.

After you have notified your boss, be sure to tell your colleagues that you are leaving. Don’t just disappear on them! Ask your colleagues for their contact information so you can keep in touch with them. Once you have left the company, you will no longer have access to your (and their) work emails. On your last day, you can also send an email thanking your colleagues and bosses for the opportunity to work there. Consider writing personalized notes to those whom you were especially close to at work.

Make this a personal goal when you quit: leave a last positive impression with your boss and your co-workers. By doing so, you can start your new job with the confidence that you ended last your job on a strong note.

Warm Springs BART extension honored

SUBMITTED BY BAY AREA RAPID TRANSIT

The California Transportation Foundation (CTF) has named BART’s Warm Springs Extension as its Project of the Year for 2017. The CTF awards recognize the best projects, people, and organizations in California’s transportation industry. This year’s winners were selected from among more than 90 nominees.

“This is a tremendous honor not just for BART but for everyone who was a partner in making the Warm Springs Extension a reality,” said BART Warm Springs Capital Program Group Manager Paul Medved. “The Warm Springs/South Fremont Station is already drawing more than 3,000 riders a day; a number that is sure to grow as economic development in the South Fremont area continues and when enough Fleet of the Future vehicles arrive to support two-line service.”

BART’s Warm Springs Extension includes 5.4 miles of new track that extends from the Fremont Station to the new Warm Springs/South Fremont Station. The project came in at more than $100 million under the original budget of $890 million.

The new station includes 2,082 parking spaces, including 42 solar-powered electric vehicle charging stations. The station is fully accessible to pedestrians and bicyclists, and includes bike lockers, elevators, and escalators, along with Braille signs and a distinctive, tactile path to aid riders with disabilities.

“The project is the result of partnership and trust,” said BART Director Tom Blalock, who serves Fremont and was a leader in making the extension a reality. “The more than 2,000 parking stalls at the Warm Springs/South Fremont BART Station represent cars that have come off the roadways reducing congestion.”

Environmental sustainability is also an important part of the new station which boasts solar panels installed on the roof of the station and on several parking lot canopies that produce more than enough energy to meet the station’s daytime power needs.

BART has installed bioswales throughout the parking lot that naturally filter silt and pollutants in surface run-off water before it enters the bay watershed. A section of the trackway features an underlayment of shredded “tire-derived aggregate” that both mitigates operational vibration and has taken approximately 130,000 car tires out of the waste stream. The project also constructed a beautiful 10-acre wetland habitat area next to Fremont Central Park to mitigate some of the project’s biological impacts.

The Warm Springs/South Fremont Station welcomes visitors with a large open plaza and rotunda. The station’s dramatic glass art, entitled “Sky Cycles,” is the largest art installation in the BART system. Warm Springs/South Fremont is BART’s 46th station and officially began passenger service in March 2017.

FDA warns teething medicines unsafe

BY MATTHEW PERRONE
ASSOCIATED HEALTH WRITER

Federal health officials warned parents on May 23 about the dangers of teething remedies that contain a popular numbing ingredient and asked manufacturers to stop selling their products intended for babies and toddlers.

The Food and Drug Administration said that various gels and creams containing the drug benzocaine can cause rare but deadly side effects in children, especially those 2 years and younger.

The agency has been warning about the products for a decade but said reports of illnesses and deaths have continued. Now, it wants teething products off the market, noting there is little evidence they work.

“We urge parents, caregivers and retailers who sell them to heed our warnings and not use over-the-counter products containing benzocaine for teething pain,” said FDA Commissioner Scott Gottlieb, in a statement.

One major manufacturer, Church and Dwight Co. Inc., said it would discontinue its four Orajel teething brands, including Baby Orajel and Orajel Medicated Teething Swabs. The FDA said it will take legal action against other companies that don’t voluntarily comply as soon as possible.

Benzocaine is also used in popular over-the-counter products for toothaches and cold sores in adults, including Orajel and Anbesol and generic drugstore brands. Products for adults can remain on the market but the FDA wants companies to add new warnings. Church and Dwight will continue to sell its other Orajel products, the company said in a statement.

Benzocaine can cause a rare blood condition linked to potentially deadly breathing problems. The pain-relieving ingredient can interfere with an oxygen-carrying protein in the blood. Symptoms include shortness of breath, headache and rapid heart rate.

The American Academy of Pediatrics does not recommend teething creams because they usually wash out of the baby’s mouth within minutes. Instead, the group recommends giving babies teething rings or simply massaging their gums to relieve pain.

The FDA issued warnings about the teething products in 2006, 2011 and 2014, but it did not call for their removal from the market. Officials reviewed 119 cases of the blood disorder linked to benzocaine between 2009 and 2017, including four deaths, according to the FDA.

The FDA action comes more than four years after the consumer advocacy group Public Citizen petitioned the FDA to stop sales of teething products. The agency faced a deadline next week after Public Citizen sued the FDA to force a response to the petition.

Uber ends self-driving program in Arizona after fatal crash

BY MICHAEL LIEDTKE
ASSOCIATED PRESS
TECHNOLOGY WRITER

Uber is pulling its self-driving cars out of Arizona, a reversal triggered by the recent death of woman who was run over by one of the ride-hailing service’s robotic vehicles while crossing a darkened street in a Phoenix suburb.

The decision announced May 23 means Uber won’t be bringing back its self-driving cars to the streets to Arizona, eliminating the jobs of about 300 people who served as backup drivers and performed other jobs connected to the vehicles.

Uber had suspended testing of its self-driving vehicles in Arizona, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Toronto while regulators investigated the cause of a March 18 crash that killed 49-year-old Elaine Herzberg in Tempe, Arizona. It marked the first death involving a fully autonomous vehicle, raising questions about the safety of computer-controlled cars being built by Uber and dozens of other companies, including Google spin-off Waymo.

Uber still plans to build and test self-driving cars, which the San Francisco company considers to be critical to maintaining its early lead in the ride-hailing market. This as Waymo and other rivals prepare to enter the field with robotic vehicles that may be able to offer cheaper fares.

In a statement, Uber said its self-driving cars will return to Pittsburgh this summer. The company said it is focusing its efforts to build self-driving cars in that city as well as in San Francisco, although it didn’t make a commitment to bring its robotic vehicles back to the streets of California, where it no longer has a permit to operate them after allowing its license in that state to expire earlier this year.

About 550 Uber employees will remain in Arizona working on its other operations in the state, including its traditional ride-hailing service with cars driven by humans responding to requests made through a mobile app.

Uber brought a fleet of self-driving cars to Arizona at the end of 2016, just days after the vehicles were banned from California for not having the proper permits at that time.

California’s action prompted Arizona Gov. Doug Ducey to send out a derisive tweet to persuade Uber to bring its self-driving cars to his state. “This is what OVER-regulation looks like!” Ducey wrote.

Ducey prohibited Uber from continuing its tests of self-driving cars after Herzberg was run over, a ban that a spokesman said remains in effect. “The governor’s focus has always been on what’s best for Arizonans and for public safety, not for any one company,” said Ducey spokesman Daniel Scarpinato.

The fatal collision involving Uber’s self-driving car added to the headaches vexing CEO Dara Khosrowshahi as he tries to repair the damage done by a regime led by his predecessor, Uber co-founder Travis Kalanick. The company is trying to recover from a wave of revelations and allegations about rampant sexual harassment in Uber’s workforce, a cover-up of a massive data breach, dirty tricks and stolen trade secrets.

Khosrowshahi has promised he won’t allow Uber’s self-driving cars back on public roads again until he is convinced the vehicles are safe. That won’t happen until Uber completes “a top-to-bottom safety review,” according to a statement the company issued Wednesday. As part of that process, Uber hired Christopher Hart, a former chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, to review its self-driving car program.

Meanwhile, Waymo is preparing to launch a ride-hailing service in Arizona that will pick up passengers in robotic cars that won’t have humans to take control if the vehicle malfunctions. The service is supposed to begin before the end of this year.

Senate seeks welfare boost in California budget talks

By JONATHAN J. COOPER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

At California budget windfall should be used in part to boost monthly welfare grants, university funding and efforts to address the state's housing and homelessness crisis, state Senate Democratic leaders said on May 23.

They spoke ahead of upcoming budget negotiations with the Assembly and Democratic Gov. Jerry Brown, "The state of California's fiscal outlook is the strongest it has been in a generation," Senate President Pro Tem Toni Atkins, D-San Diego, told reporters at briefing with Sen. Holly Mitchell, a Los Angeles Democrat who leads the budget committee.

Atkins and Mitchell say state funding, particularly for safety net programs, hasn't kept up with the higher cost of delivering services. Their plan would phase in a boost in monthly payments to people in poverty through CalWorks, the state's welfare program. The average grant for a family of three would rise from approximately $700 to about $1,000 a month at a cost of $1.5 billion a year.

The Senate's $140 billion general fund budget proposal is about $2 billion more than Brown's revised spending plan released earlier this month. The Senate is using rosier assumptions that peg the surplus about $2.6 billion higher than Brown, who was already projecting the state's largest surplus since at least 2000.

Their plan sets up a showdown with Brown, who is preparing to leave office and has taken a hard line against new ongoing spending commitments that he says the state can't sustain over the long term.

"I'll certainly look at any measure, but I'm trying to leave the most responsible budget I can to the next governor," Brown said when he released his spending plan on May 11. "I'm going to be reluctant to embark on programs that will continue and will grow into the future." Brown wraps up his fourth term in January.

The Senate plan, like Brown's, would fill the state's rainy-day fund to 10 percent of general fund revenue. It would also create a separate reserve fund — starting at $1 billion — intended to specifically protect safety net programs that see a spike in need when revenue dips during economic downturns.

The Senate also would boost funding for the University of California and California State University by higher levels than Brown. They'd also spend $4 billion over four years for subsidized housing and services for the homeless.

In the Assembly, Democrats have prioritized an expansion of Medi-Cal, the state Medicaid program, to cover young adults living in the country illegally. Lawmakers have until June 15 to approve a spending plan for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Small business tax seminar

SUBMITTED BY NANCY TUBBS

The Alameda County Small Business Development Center (SBDC) will host '2018 Tax Law Changes for Small Businesses - What You Need to Know Now' on Wednesday June 6. The new tax law represents the biggest overhaul of the tax code in 30 years. Many provisions have a significant impact on small businesses. Don't wait until the end of the year to understand how these laws impact you. Advance planning may save significant amounts in your taxes. In this seminar, we will discuss:

- Tax implications of different business structures (LLC, C and S Corp).
- How does the pass-through deduction affect small businesses?
- Changes in personal and corporate tax rates.
- Changes in the treatment of certain business expenses.
- Planning opportunities now to prepare for tax season.

Join Tax Attorney Vivian Yuan in collaboration with a CPA to hear about the updates to the tax law and how it affects your small business. Vivian is a principal and owner of Yuan Law Firm and has over 18 years of experience in taxation and business law.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: MAY 30 – JUNE 5, 2018

For All Signs: Mercury continues to be the star of the cosmic show this week. Last week I wrote about the multiple aspects from Mercury. There were seven and this week there will be another seven. The theme of communications continues to dominate. That refers to anything oral or written, notes or messages. Don't believe everything you hear until you have confirmation from another source.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): You are given new information about the state of your physical being. It will be encouraging and energizing. If you are having any kind of medical procedure it should be very good and helpful to you mentally and physically.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You may be tempted to overindulge this week, so tighten your resolve if you are on a self-improvement program. Give yourself a break in another area so you won't feel self-abused. Your imagination and creativity are strong right now and you may be drawn to participate in the arts or music in some way. It will be refreshing.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Travel or a vacation away will give you the breather you need. After you have had a break from a tense situation, go back and start again with an open mind. This is a week that will stroke your ego and help you celebrate your life.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): This week is favorable for travel, socializing, romance and relationships to children. Your fantasy and dream life is productive and worthy of thought. Artistry and creativity are strong suits at this time. Express yourself in colorful mediums. You don't have to be a genius, just enjoy it.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): You are in a reasonably good place with yourself at this time. Your heart and mind are flowing together. You have no conflict between your feelings and your thoughts about those feelings. This is a time for reflection on important subjects. You can make good decisions now.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): You are thinking fast and the wheels are rolling forward in your life. Others like your ideas and want to help you manifest them. This is a good time to study any material because your thoughts are flowing.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): You have several aspects that favor romance, the arts, and things of beauty. You may be the happy recipient of small gifts, compliments or favors from others. Your mind wants to wander in the world of fantasy, daydreams, good books, and music. It is not a great week for getting things done, but you will enjoy the journey.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Early in the week an opportunity to expand your social life brings smiles. You may be invited to a party or you might meet someone new. This aspect is from Venus, goddess of love and creativity. The muse may be at your side as you produce a particularly creative idea or solution to a problem.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): You are in an optimistic and generous frame of mind. You may party a little (or a lot). The temptation is to overdo on anything that seems positive and fun. If finances are an issue, leave the credit cards at home to prevent you from making impulsive purchases. If you really want that item, it will be there tomorrow.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): Changes may be occurring in your primary relationship. One or the other of you is probably trying to hang onto what is familiar. Changes and growth must be allowed to happen or the relationship will become stale. Let things flow naturally. Don't jump to conclusions or make problems bigger than they are.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): This looks like a week in which you really want to say your piece, but you have a sense that would be a bad idea. This is correct if you feel so upset that you can't present your case with a clear rationale. If you organize your thoughts and present them with confidence, you could accomplish an improvement.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): This is a wonderful time to travel and especially to be on the water. Events of this week trigger your sense of compassion and draw you into the need to assist in the healing of another. As you live into this experience, you will discover that having compassion also heals you. Your spirit is lifted. Don't ignore the call.

BUTTERFLY AND BIRD FESTIVAL

a Master Composter will give a talk about the importance of composting. A talk about butterflies will be given by North American Butterfly Association, and a lepidopterist will discuss butterflies and moths. Entertainment can be found with the music of Betsy Stern and a puppet show by Magical Moonshine Theater; a food truck will provide Indian Cuisine for hungry visitors.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of Coyote Hills, and special exhibits in the Visitor Center will chronicle the history of the land the park is on today, along with a commemoration speech and celebratory cake cutting.

One of the most celebrated highlights of the festival is a tour of the famous nectar garden, created by naturalist Jan Southworth in 1998. Southworth read an article about the number of butterfly species found in the San Francisco Bay Area in the 1940s and 1950s and discovered that while there had been 70-100 species living in the region during that time period, the number had dropped to less than 12 species when she conducted her research. She found that many biologists recommended people start urban gardens as restoration projects to provide human experience for interacting with wildlife in the Bay Area. Southworth's primary goal was to create habitats for the slowly disappearing butterflies and birds of the Bay Areas. The first festival was initiated to inform people how to create wildlife-friendly habitats and gardens in their own backyards and encouraged them to plant native plants to attract native pollinators and birds. The festival aimed to forge a connection between the people and nature.

The festival has been handled by Naturalist Dino Labiste for over 10 years, who wanted to expand the information the festival provided and increase the focus on education about developing gardens for habitats. Labiste worked as the naturalist for the City of Pleasanton and was involved in several restoration programs before joining Coyote Hills Regional Park. He first became involved in conservation and naturalism when he started backpacking throughout California. "You can feel that connection when you're out there in the wilderness," he says. "I started doing a lot of hiking and I felt that same connection. I took a naturalist's program and I could see the enthusiasm and passion he had... and encouraged me to pursue my passion for nature."

He spoke about the park's garden, saying, "People come to make that connection with nature. We're surrounded by urban housing now; Fremont is growing immensely with increasing population. Housing surrounds our park now. It gives a lot of these communities an opportunity to come down and enjoy nature and bring that nature back to their houses with these gardens."

Labiste's aim for the festival remains similar to the original intention: encouraging people to interact with nature and create wildlife-friendly habitat gardens. He also expressed a desire to bring back species that have disappeared from the area by building habitats for them, saying, "We need the homes in the city for people, but we should also have homes for the animals."

The battle between form and function in bath design

By Anna Jacoby

Recently, my husband and I traveled to Florida to visit our son. We splurged on a nice hotel, with a room overlooking the beautiful Atlantic Ocean. The view was indeed beautiful, but the bathroom, however, while attractive to look at, was very poorly designed. I design bathrooms for a living and have certainly learned a few things along the way about the battle between form and function. In my opinion, this bath was a glaring example of what happens when form wins out over function. The result was a bathroom that was very impractical, awkward, and uncomfortable to use.

If you're embarking on a bath remodel this year, here are some things to consider so you don't make the same mistakes as the designer of this hotel bathroom.

The Tub/Shower

Problem: Our hotel bathroom featured a huge soaking tub that was also the shower. At first glance, it looked very inviting. But as I tried to use it, there were some issues. Soaking tubs are very deep—about 20" in height on average, and some are even taller. This makes getting in and out of them difficult for some people (especially for someone like me, who is only 5 feet tall.) For many people, lifting a leg this high off the ground to get in and out is tough. This tub had a ledge to sit on, but it was very wide (about 9"), and tall, and there was nothing to hold on to, like a grab bar, for example, to help lift myself over and into the tub. I am able-bodied and physically fit, but for anyone with any physical limitations at all (like my height), this would be a very difficult situation. My husband's assessment: "If you are comfortable stepping over a saw-horse and into a deep hole, then this kind of tub is for you."

Solution: If you're considering a deep soaking tub, please be aware of this height issue, and think about how you will be getting in and out of it. At the very least, install a grab bar nearby—everyone will benefit from that at some point. Ideally, a soaking tub separate from the shower is the best scenario, but many bathrooms are not large enough to accommodate both. In many bathrooms I work on, people are forgoing the tub altogether, preferring a large walk-in shower instead.

Privacy

Problem: Another design element that made this bathroom awkward (even for a married couple like us) was that the wall separating the tub and vanity area from the bedroom area was made entirely of clear glass. There was no privacy at all. Anyone in the shower was on full display on the bedroom side. This might not bother some people, but I'm guessing that most folks prefer a bit of privacy.

Solution: While this wall of glass was indeed attractive-looking, a simple solution would be to install a window covering on the bedroom side, which could be lowered when privacy is desired.

The Sink

Problem: The designer of that bath thought a tall vessel sink would look nice, and I agree that it did. However, the vessel sink was installed on a standard height vanity cabinet, so the sink was much too high off the ground. The edge of the sink was literally up to my chest, which made for a very awkward experience brushing my teeth.

Solution: To accommodate a vessel sink, the cabinet must be made shorter to make up for the height of the sink. If your vessel sink is four inches tall, for example, the vanity should be no more than 32" in height. Unless you are very tall, aim for a finished height of no more than 36" for the sink and the cabinet. If you are short like me, a finished height of 34" might be more comfortable.

There were other issues also, such as no towel bars at all near the shower or the sink, terrible lighting, and glossy, slippery tiles on the floor. But on the upside, this bathroom provided the topic for this month's column!

Family Fest celebrates 30 years of Music for Minors II

MFMII President Carol Zilli

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY VICTOR CARVELLAS

Music for Minors II (MFMII) invites you to its annual "Family Music Festival" taking place at Niles Town Plaza on Saturday, June 2. Three stages featuring children's performance groups will entertain with singing, dancing, and an instrumental performance. The event is hosted by the acclaimed duo RJ and Lori, and special guests are expected to delight young and old. This exciting and interactive event is the perfect place to find out what MFMII is doing for kids in our schools.

Founded by Carol Zilli in 1988, MFMII's mission is to "nurture the love and literacy of music in children's classrooms and lives and provide performance opportunities for them in the schools and community." MFMII trains musical "docents" and assigns one docent to a classroom where he or she gives one half-hour lesson per week throughout the school year. The program is oriented to transitional kindergarten through first grade, but opportunities exist for older kids as well. Lessons teach singing, rhythm and movement, and provide exposure to music instruments. Lesson plans—besides being purely fun—are adaptable to aid in reinforcing subjects currently under study. In one class, the animal of the week was the llama.

"I taught the class two songs with llamas," says docent Nidhi Garg, "and the children just loved it."

MFMII owes its staying power to president Zilli's sheer love of music and commitment to music education. In 1987 Zilli was playing piano for her son's class at Hacienda School in Fremont when she discovered one of the students had been to Music for Minors (MFM) across the bay. Curious, Zilli investigated, eventually becoming a docent herself. When Zilli started bringing MFM to Niles Elementary, she received encouragement from MFM executive director Deanna Stock to start a similar program, which is today's MFMII.

Zilli began with one class at Niles Elementary, but as parents wanted to get more involved, she trained docents herself. As the demand grew she arranged with Ohlone College to feature the docent training course, which she taught for 20 years. As the cost of tuition rose, Zilli decided to offer training for free, and divided it into 22 two-and-a-half hour sessions. Today the course has been streamlined to 11 sessions.

Speaking to Zilli about the role of music in kids' lives sparks her enthusiasm. She is quick to point to research that indicates the study of music builds neuron bridges between the right and left halves of the brain thus integrating them. "The corpus callosum [vital for communication between the brain's hemispheres] is bigger in individuals who study a musical instrument," she says.

"I've emphasized the research recently because that's where the culture is. We give [administrators] the science to bring them in, but then the heart of the music speaks for itself." In many schools, the arts, especially music, have to show benefits to justify the time. Zilli spends much of her time giving presentations that demonstrate the cooperation, positive mental attitude, and self-expression children display when studying music. "Teachers tell us that socialization improves, that academics improve when we come to the classroom," she says.

MFMII also provides exposure to youth-oriented entertainers like Charlotte Diamond and Red Grammer. Either through attracting children to their concerts and getting them turned on to music or helping raise funds through ticket sales, "we wouldn't have been around this long without them," says Zilli.

Performing duo RJ and Lori also sit on the MFMII Board of Directors. For more than 30 years they have spread "Kids' music with a GROOVE" all over the Bay Area. Their brand of kid-accessible music has earned them numerous awards, including recognition by the State of California and two Emmys for their work in children's television.

Volunteers like RJ and Lori and Garg are the backbone of the organization. The quality of involvement and instruction has a special nature "when it comes from the heart," says Zilli.

Garg currently teaches two first grade classes weekly but is hoping for as many as seven next year. "Teaching music is the highlight of my day," she says. Garg's enthusiasm and patience are extraordinary, and she clearly loves what she's doing; likewise, the children respond positively with their attention and smiles. "I had no formal training, so I was apprehensive. Could I do that? But by the end of the training," says Garg, "I was ready! I couldn't wait to get into a classroom."

There are six MFMII resource centers, one at James Leitch School where Garg teaches. They are stocked with binders full of songs, puppets, instruments, educational charts, and more—everything the teachers need, provided for free. Six thousand dollars from the School District and the Candle Lighters helped establish the first resource center at Niles Elementary in the 1990s.

Each resource center serves itself and neighboring schools where MFMII teaches, of which there are "36 or 37," says Zilli. "We have 99 docents serving 5,000 kids a week."

Even at $10 per child (about $250 per classroom) some schools are hard-pressed to find the funds. Still, "We've never turned down a request for our program because of money," says Zilli.

If music in our schools is important to you, come out and show your support for MFMII on June 2. This event will open your eyes to the gift that music is, both to our children and the volunteers who teach it.

Pilots take to the sky at Hayward Air Rally

HAYWARD AIR RALLY

High-flying excitement returns to Hayward June 21-24 as the 54th annual “Hayward Air Rally” kicks off at Hayward Executive Airport. The rally is a cross-country challenge that covers 500 miles, beginning in Hayward and concluding in Reno. While one might think that this is a contest of speed, it is actually a contest of skill, in which the pilot with the best fuel management and navigation skills (to include checkpoint identification and predicted time) will come out on top. Once the race concludes in Reno, those who place in the contest’s many categories will be awarded trophies or cash prizes at the awards banquet and dinner. The winning airplane will win a cash prize and be featured in the next year’s rally logo design.

Rally proceeds are used to fund up to two scholarships for Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) Air Academy students. EAA Air Academy is a series of weeklong camps for students 12 – 18 years old, where students are engaged in a variety of aviation activities at the EAA headquarters in Oshkosh, WI.

The event was originally staged in 1965, with the rally destination set in Las Vegas. It shifted to Laughlin, NV in 1997, Palm Springs in 2007, Bend, Oregon, in 2009, and then to EAA’s home in Oshkosh for the rally’s 50th anniversary. The current destination has been in place since 2016.

VICTOR CARVELLAS

The Tri-Cities’ own 50 musician symphony, the Newark Symphonic Winds, will treat the community to an evening of wonderful symphonic music under the direction of Richard Wong on Saturday, June 2.

The evening’s performance begins with musical themes from the overture to “The Magic Flute” composed by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. Our next piece will be a lovely, somewhat haunting composition, “Oblivion,” by Astor Piazzolla. Next will be “Marche des Parachutistes Belges” (March of the Belgian Paratroopers) by Pierre Leemans. We’ll end the first half of our performance with Tchaikovsky’s very recognizable “1812 Overture.”

The second half of our performance will begin with the wonderful music of the extremely talented Newark Woodwind Ensemble featuring Myra Downs (flute), Simone Williams (oboe), Kathy Vork (clarinet), Blossom Santiago (horn), and Adam Williams (bassoon). Once the symphony returns to the stage we’ll get you swaying in your seats with “Street Tango” by Astor Piazzolla followed by Philip Sparke’s solemn “The Sun Will Rise Again” – a tribute to the victims of the Japanese earthquake and tsunami of March 2011. We’ll then perform Dmitri Shostakovich’s “Waltz No. 2” and end the evening by getting your toes tapping to Sammy Nestico’s wonderful arrangement “Salute to American Jazz.”

We are once again extremely fortunate to have this performance sponsored by the Fremont Bank Foundation. As always, the concert is free of charge and no tickets are necessary. Simply come and enjoy the evening with us – and be certain to bring your family and all your friends! We often have full house attendance at our performances; therefore, please plan on arriving somewhat early to get the seating you prefer.

Teen Tech Help

SUBMITTED BY
PATRICK BROGAN

Teen Tech Help is at the Newark Library. Formerly Tame Your Tech, the new service officially began Saturday, May 19. It offers, every Saturday, a reliable teen volunteer who helps people of all ages with their technology questions. This can include questions about library eBooks, a smartphone, a laptop and more.

Patrick Brogan, Teen Librarian, started the same service at the Lafayette Library (Contra Costa County Library) in 2012 and the program saw a lot of success there. “The service was so successful at Lafayette because of its media coverage and word of mouth,” Brogan said, “that it started to see regulars who eventually became technologically proficient on their own.”

Brogan hopes that the new service will not only assist patrons with their technology questions but empower them as well. The Teen Tech Help volunteer, a high school student, brings with him knowledge of the Mac, PC, iPhone and Android platforms. He is also trained in all the library’s technological offerings including library computers, laptops, printers, photocopiers, fax machine and scanner. Teen Tech Help is offered Saturdays 12 noon to 2 p.m. for 30-minute appointments. To sign up, patrons can either come to the Information Desk or call (510) 284-0675 during library open hours.

Women in Technology Summit

SUBMITTED BY AMANDA COOLONG

Women in Technology International’s (WITI) “24th Annual Women in Technology Summit” will be held Sunday, June 10 – Monday, June 12 at the DoubleTree Hotel in San Jose. Themed “Visionaries Designing Tomorrow’s Tech Markets & Cultures Today,” the summit will feature visionaries working in the hottest technologies, including but not limited to, autonomous vehicles, AI, AR/VR, robotics, Space/Mars exploration, SmartX, and blockchain. And, of course, networking and relationship building opportunities are priorities throughout the WITI Summit.

WITI’s popular Coaching Track is returning, featuring one-hour coaching circles, tech tables, and one-on-one mentoring sessions. The WITI Industry Networks (WINs) panels will dive deeply into vertical market topics, while Summit Workshops will provide 60-minute intensives on skill building, including business plans for tech startups, making your pitch worthy of your ideas, and breaking biased habits.

The Business and Technology Expo features 30+ companies with a demonstrated interest in empowering women in technology. Monday evening June 11 brings the 23rd Annual Women in Technology Hall of Fame Awards Induction Ceremony. Tuesday, June 12 the Women in Tech Career Fair returns by popular demand.

“Opportunities begin when relationships are built between colleagues,” said Carolyn Leighton, Founder and CEO of WITI. “The Women in Technology Summit has been a long-standing platform to evangelize the contributions of women advancing technology.”

Learning: It’s music to Warwick Elementary ears

SUBMITTED BY VICKILYN HUSSEY

Music is a delicious sonic treat that makes kids feel good while learning. Music at the Mission believes that is reason enough to bring live classical music into local schools. Educators understand and studies show that music has emotional, developmental, and educational benefits, particularly for students. “Music builds and strengthens connections between brain cells” (PBS), and music education helps students with language, reasoning, critical thinking, creativity, discipline, study skills, motor capacities, and much more.

Since 2006, Music at the Mission has brought members of the Music at the Mission Chamber Players, among the finest musicians in the Bay Area, to perform and speak at elementary, junior high, and high schools in the Tri-City area. This school year (2017-2018) Music at the Mission brought live chamber music to 1,600 students at John F. Kennedy High School, St. Joseph’s School, Walters Junior High School, Horner Junior High School, and Warwick Elementary School, all in Fremont.

Music at the Mission Chamber Players musicians visited Warwick Elementary School on Thursday, May 17, 2018. Teaching artists Aileen Chanco (piano), Bill Everett (double bass), and Matt Szemela

“Music builds and strengthens connections between brain cells”

(violin) gave two music education presentations to approximately 900 young students. The program focused on how music is a means of communication, not locked in styles or genres. The trio performed music by Haydn and Piazzolla, and Szemela wowed the students with his improvisations on rock, jazz, and country tunes.

Outreach Programs, underwritten by the Niles Rotary Club, Cargill, and Mission Masquerade Ball Fund the Passion Donors, provide immersive and engaging classical chamber music programs for students in the Tri-City Area, a free community Traffic Jam concert for all ages, senior outreach programs for Alzheimer’s Services of the East Bay adult day care participants, and free access to concerts through the Music at the Mission Free Tickets for Kids program.

For more information about Music at the Mission, visit www.musicatmsj.org and check out current events at www.facebook.com/musicatthemissionsj.

Summer camps build STEAM skills

SUBMITTED BY CHILDREN'S INNOVATION CENTER

Equip students with the knowledge and skills required to lead the 21st century. You're invited to join us for our free open house and information sessions. Stop by Fridays 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. or Saturdays 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and learn about the transformative education offered at the Children's Innovation Center; or call (510) 894-1497 for an appointment. Camps offered on the following dates:

- Session 1 - June 18 to July 6, 2018 (3 weeks)
- Session 2 - July 16 to Aug 3, 2018 (3 weeks)

(3 weeks)

- Session 3 - Aug 6 to Aug 24, 2018 (3 weeks)

Our courses are structured to offer experiential and project-based learning with focus on social responsibility. Courses are also customized by age: Upper Elementary, Middle School, and High School. We also offer Extended Care 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Our Workshops:
Building a Robotic Hand

Students will explore the anatomy and biomechanics of the human hand. They will build a Robotic Hand and visualize data in MS Excel to generate new ideas for improving its performance.

Digital Storytelling

This workshop offers lets students use professional media software to explore, observe, and research social issues and then share their findings in a multimedia project. Exceptional digital stories created will be uploaded to our 'GreenKidsNow' YouTube channel.

Naturalist Designer

Students will learn what designing is and understand the difference between design, science, and art. Students will learn design concepts by observing nature's forms through mathematical lenses.

Analytical Writer

In this workshop students will develop and exercise analytical reasoning. The argumentation session in this course teaches that the outcome is not about winning, but inspiring curiosity. Exceptional blogs will be published online.

Public Speaking & Communications

We want to train and equip the next generation of socially responsible leaders and change-makers. After making observations and conducting relevant research, students will share their findings through writing speeches and delivering presentations.

Music, meditation programs at the library

SUBMITTED BY UNION CITY AND NEWARK LIBRARIES

Books aren't the only entertainment you'll find at your local library. For example, the Union City Library is hosting a "Never Too Late" musical revue program on Thursday, May 31. The program will feature songs, outrageous skits and a hilarious musical stroll down memory lane. Produced by Stagebridge, a senior theatre company, showcases the rich and varied experiences of multigenerational audiences. Never Too Late will be led by Artistic Director Joanne Grimm and Musical Director Scrumby Koldwyn on the piano. Admission is free.

Meanwhile, over at the Newark Library an introductory meditation program with Dr. Manish Sagar is set for Saturday, June 2. Sagar is an assistant professor in the department of Psychiatry at Stanford University School of Medicine, and long-time meditator. During the program, Sagar will explore why downtime is important not just for the brain, but all the way down to individual cells. He will also discuss the role of downtime in everyday life and its ability to enhance our happiness. There will be a short meditation sitting. The program, called "Meditation: The Secret of Happiness, Health & Harmony," will meet noon to 1:30 p.m. Advance registration is required.

Bicycle skills classes

SUBMITTED BY THE CITY OF FREMONT

Bike East Bay will be hosting two free Bicycle Safety Education classes in June at the Fremont Main Library. The two-hour classes are intended for bicyclists of any skill level. Participants will learn basic rules of the road, how to equip their bicycle, fit a helmet, take a bike on transit, and avoid crashes by riding predictably, visibly, and communicating with other road users using signals. No bike is required during the class instruction, and all participants will receive a free reflective vest to wear while riding their bicycle.

Both classes will meet in the Fremont Main Library's Fukaya Room A, 2400 Stevenson Blvd. A morning class will meet 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 9, and an evening class will meet 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 19.

Advance registrations are needed and can be made by visiting the Bike East Bay website at www.bikeeastbay.org, and then clicking on the "Classes" link. Next, look for the "Urban Cycling 101 for Adults and Teens" link and scroll to the Fremont classes and follow the registration prompts. For details, call (510) 845-7433, extension 2.

Safety First!

Republic Services' collection drivers are trained to be conscious of more children out and about this time of year. Conversely, we need you and your family to be aware of our drivers! Remember to wave, make eye contact and wait for the driver to acknowledge you before you cross the street in front of a Republic truck. Keep out of the "danger zone" – at least a 15 foot area around the truck.

Here are some kid-friendly tips to ensure a safe and fun summer:

- 1. Always Cross at the Crosswalk. It's never safe to cross in the middle of the street or between parked cars. Drivers will have a difficult time seeing you and may not have enough time to react. When there isn't a marked crosswalk, everyone should cross at the corner. Make sure you always look both ways before crossing any street.
- 2. Trucks Take Time. Garbage and recycling trucks take much longer to stop than cars. Play it safe and let a truck go past before crossing the street.
- 3. Watch for Right Turns. Before stepping off the curb look over your shoulder to make sure there isn't a vehicle behind you about to make a right turn directly in your path.
- 4. Always Stay on the Sidewalk! Where there isn't a sidewalk available, walk facing traffic and stay alert.
- 5. Pay Attention in parking lots, driveways, and other non-traffic areas. Garbage and recycling trucks that are backing up or servicing dumpsters, or any vehicle looking for a parking spot may not see you walking around them. Remember, never play in a parking lot.

Take a Trip to the Museum!

There are many different kinds of museums: art museums, history museums, nature museums and more. It can be fun to go to a museum, but sometimes that is just not possible.

This week, Kid Scoop takes you on a pretend visit to a few different kinds of museums. Grab your imagination and let's go!

Museum Maze

There are many museums devoted to food! In Vermont there is a Maple Syrup Museum. In California, there is a Banana Museum. In Wisconsin there is a museum dedicated to this food product. Take a guess, then gather the letters along the correct path of the maze to spell the name of the food.

Nature Museums

Nature museums are full of amazing things to observe. Test your observation skills by seeing how many squirrels you can find here:

Look Closely!

A museum has lots of things to look at. Draw squares on the picture above to show where each of these photos was taken.

Extra! Extra! Scavenger Hunt

- Look through the newspaper to find:
- A number greater than 100
 - A three-syllable word
 - A happy person
 - Something that is man-made
 - Something made by nature

Jazz Festival

SUBMITTED BY JOHN SOULIS

Support the talents of local student musicians at East Bay Traditional Jazz Society's 18th annual "School Jazz Festival." Held at the Macy's Court in NewPark Mall on Saturday, June 2, six jazz bands will perform under the direction of their school instructors. Participants include the Horner Hornets (director Paul Lorigan), Jazz Pickles (Aaron Parihar), Kennedy Titans (Bob Sterling), Thornton Thunderbolts (Ross Gershenson), American Eagles (Richard Wong), and the House Band, Jazzinators (John Soulis). Donations are appreciated; a hat will be passed for each band after their scheduled performance. These funds will provide each group with a stipend to purchase needed equipment. These student/musicians rehearse their music/improvisational skills before or after school as an extra-curricular activity. Each director also donates their time towards this endeavor.

We hope you can make plans in your busy Saturday schedule to come by and listen to some fine student musicians demonstrating their musical talents for the Tri-City area.

Broadway West to go dark after 22 seasons

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY
VICTOR CARVELLAS

Broadway West Theater Company occupies the top floor of the historic Clark Building in Irvington at the corner of Fremont and Washington Boulevards. For 22 seasons, the venue provided some of the best regularly scheduled live theater in the East Bay. After the final June 9 performance of "All in the Timing," Broadway West will close its curtain for good.

Owners Paula Chenoweth and Mary Galde have been partners in the theater company since the beginning. The first season opened in January 1997 with "A Few Good Men." Chenoweth had majored in theater at SF State and was running the non-profit North Valley Players out of Milpitas when she met Galde. After Galde's son graduated high school, "I just missed the theater people," she says. At age 40 she landed a role in a North Valley Players production. The two became friends, but Chenoweth left to run a theater company without a board of directors calling the financial shots. After Chenoweth found the Clark Building, Galde soon followed and the two became business partners.

The pair have formed a strong bond navigating the complexities of entertaining. "There isn't a day gone by," says Chenoweth, "that Mary and I haven't discussed the theater."

That closeness is apparent each time they finish each others' sentences, or simultaneously express the same thought. Chenoweth acts, directs, and manages the finances; Galde also directs, paints signs, builds sets, designs the programs, writes press releases, and handles the marketing and social media. "It's very time consuming, says Chenoweth. "We started this theater when we were 50 and now its 21-and-a-half years later; and that's on top of us both having full time jobs—it's a lot of time and no break." "You don't get a weekend," echoes Galde.

"Our original plan," says Chenoweth, "was to have a permanent company of theater people who would act, direct, run the lights, and do everything, but you have more people who want act more than anything else. We can audition actors. Finding the people to set up the lights and run the booth has been the challenge." "We've had a lot of high school kids through here," says Galde, but they do it for a couple of years then they move on."

Running the business has been surprisingly drama-free. "The only hiccup we had," recalls Chenoweth, "was when we were doing 'Born Yesterday,' and right in the middle of rehearsal the City decided to retrofit the building; it was three weeks before the opening and the place was a catastrophe. You'd think a bomb went off. I remember walking in and the director was sitting in the middle of the floor, muttering 'it's OK, it's OK, it's OK.'"

Broadway West is unique, with a great reputation—why close it?

"Money," says Chenoweth. "Our only problem has been money and making sure we can pay the bills." But two years ago, "we started to get behind," says Galde.

"That's why we are closing—at least the main reason," Chenoweth says. "Mary and I have had to subsidize the theater the last two years." The rent has gone up a thousand dollars a month over the last two years. "When the rent was a thousand dollars lower it was tight but it was doable; at least we broke even."

Royalties cost money, and of course everyone who gets hired has to be paid. There's the director, the lighting designer, sound designer, set director, technicians, and pretty soon, "It's about six to eight thousand dollars cost for each show," says Chenoweth.

And what of the actors? "We give the actors, you know—it's not much," says Galde. "A little gas money."

"The second reason," says Chenoweth, "is that we are tired. The wonderful part is when we're here and the show is up and going, and the audience is enjoying it—that's the great part, it's the heartwarming part; but the bad part is when we're getting ready and we can't pay the bills and I'm getting phone calls from this person and that person; that's too much stress."

"In the early days," recalls Galde, "I just loved working on sets. A couple of times there were birds chirping outside and I'd been here all night! Now by the time it's six o'clock I'm tired." "You just don't have the same energy," adds Chenoweth.

The theater's closing brought emotional outpouring. Most of the season ticket holders have been with Broadway West since the beginning, and when Galde greeted them with the news, some of them "started crying and hugging me, and just breaking down," she says. Asked if they would do it again, "Oh yeah," says Galde, "if I was fifty again, you better believe it." "And won the lottery," laughs Chenoweth.

Red Cross calls for summer blood donations

SUBMITTED BY CHRISTINE WELCH

The American Red Cross is counting on volunteer donors to give blood and help ensure patient needs can be met this summer. Around Memorial Day, the Red Cross sees a steep decline in blood donations. Busy summer schedules, vacations and school breaks also cause a drop in donations. Accidents and medical emergencies don't take a summer break—patients need blood every minute, every day.

The public is asked to schedule an appointment to help ensure that hospitals and patients have the blood they need this summer. Make an appointment to donate blood by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

In thanks, all those who come to donate blood or platelets now through June 10, 2018, will receive a $5 Amazon.com Gift Card via email, courtesy of Suburban Propane. (Restrictions apply; see amazon.com/gc-legal. More information and details are available at RedCrossBlood.org/Together.)

LGBTQ Pride Celebration

SUBMITTED BY RUBY GENERAL

The City of Milpitas is hosting its first LGBTQ Pride Celebration! The LGBTQ Pride flag will be raised and fly for the whole month of June (June 1-14 and 16-30). The event will celebrate the Milpitas community's diversity and openness with live performances by Desi Arnaz and music from DJ LuNa.M. Attendees can visit resource tables hosted by the Billy DeFrank Center, Planned Parenthood, LGBTQ Youth Space, Bill Wilson Center, Silicon Valley Pride, Santa Clara County LGBTQ Affairs, Rainbow Chamber of Commerce, BAYMEC, and Project More Foundation.

It's not a proper celebration without food, so Cielito Lindo Food Truck and Fish Taco Wabo Food Truck, Cookies N Cream SJ Food Truck will be there to serve up some delicious bites. For more information, call Ruby General at (408) 586-3206.

Volunteerism alive and well

Since 1985, officials of the City of Newark have gathered to honor the large cadre of volunteers who work in a variety of capacities to augment efforts of city employees. With no compensation except the grateful thanks of fellow citizens, these people staff facilities, perform administrative functions, patrol streets, erase graffiti, maintain parklands and assist in emergency situations.

A large group of residents attended a recognition ceremony at the Fremont/Newark Doubletree Hotel on May 23 to recognize their accomplishments. One hundred eleven volunteers were recognized by Mayor Alan Nagy (a long-time volunteer as well) and councilmembers; each received a thank you gift. To demonstrate the continuing commitment of these volunteers, when those who had previously volunteered were asked to stand, almost everyone in the room was on their feet.

The highlight of the evening was recognition of those nominated for the coveted Youth Award, Senior Award, Group Award and Viola Blythe Volunteer of the Year. All nominees' accomplishments were extraordinary and presented a difficult decision for independent judges. (* indicates winner)

Childcare available for Tri-City parents at Discovery Cove

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

Discovery Cove is a drop-in, hourly childcare center at the Fremont Family Resource Center (FRC) for well children aged 2 to 10 years. It's a great alternative when a regular provider is sick, school is closed for teacher prep days, or when parents need to run errands without their kids. Discovery Cove is operated by the City's Recreation Services Division - Tiny Tot Program which has offered quality services to Tri-City children for many years. They provide a warm, inviting atmosphere and stimulating, age-appropriate activities.

The childcare center is open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and children can visit up to 12 hours a week. The fee is $7 per hour per child and a sibling discount is available.

For convenient drop-off and pick-up, there are reserved parking spaces in front of Discovery Cove.

Overdue library materials? There's forgiveness

SUBMITTED BY ALICIA REYES

A new "Summer of Library Love: Fine Forgiveness" campaign from the Alameda County Library will kick off on Friday, June 1. During the program, which continues through July 31, Alameda County residents can return overdue books, CDs, and DVDs to the library circulation desk or book drop at any library location to have their late fees cleared, no matter how long they have been overdue.

Late fees also can be cleared for materials already returned by making a request at the circulation desk of any branch library or online by visiting the library's Ask Us! webpage at <http://answers.aclibrary.org>.

Reconnecting with children, teens, adults, and families is at the heart of the Summer of Love: Fine Forgiveness" campaign.

More than 77,000 library patrons have outstanding fines that prevent them from checking out materials; of these patrons, more than 13,000 are children and teens. "Patrons will have a chance to clear their accounts and restore their library card privileges so that they can enjoy everything the Library offers," said Cindy Chadwick, County Librarian.

Another benefit for students and families who reunite with the library this summer is that they can also participate in its Summer Reading Game that runs from June 1 thru August 31.

Titans advance to semifinals

Baseball

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS
BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The John F. Kennedy Titans baseball team has advanced in the Division 3 North Coast Section Tournament with a 3-2 win over the Piner Prospectors (Santa Rosa) on May 22nd. Close to the last inning of play, a Titans rally to tie the score at two runs after spotting the Prospectors to an early two-run lead. This led to a defensive battle until the seventh inning when the Titans found just enough offense to score the winning run.

A few days later, on May 25th, the Titans followed their close victory with a blowout 9-1 win over the Encinal Jets (Alameda), scoring early and often. The sixth-ranked Titans scored in each of the first four innings and finished with a parting shot of four runs in the seventh.

This Titans victory leads to a showdown with the Campolindo Cougars (Moraga), ranked #2, on May 29th who they faced once before in a 4-0 losing effort in April. The winner of this game will advance to the Division 3 championship game against the winner of the contest between the San Marin Mustangs (ranked #9) and Bishop O'Dowd Dragons (ranked #5).

County’s proposed budget reflects investment in services and saving for the future

By Santa Clara County Supervisor Dave Cortese

It’s that time of the year again, when I invite you to be a part of the annual Budget process and let you know how the County plans to invest your tax dollars in the next fiscal year, 2018-2019. And to remind you that now is the time to speak up.

The Budget document — 3,182 pages — was made public on Friday, May 4. It’s posted on the Santa Clara County website. (Visit www.sccgov.org and scroll to Hot Topics, and then click on Fiscal Year 2018-2019 Budget Information.)

The budget is a planning document, but also an educational tool. You can learn a lot about the services the County provides through the Santa Clara Valley Medical Center, the County Jails and Courts, the Sheriff’s Office and Fire Departments, our County Parks and the Social Services Agency. More specifically, the county provides services related to early childhood development, behavioral health, climate and sustainability, immigration, affordable housing and homelessness, roads and airports and agricultural preservation.

For the fifth year in a row, we won’t have to trim our $6.98 billion budget, of which about $3.5 billion is the general fund, thanks to a strong local economy and action we took five years ago to cut our costs and increase our cash flow. Over a decade ago, we had to make $1.8 billion in cuts. So, the county has been working to rebuild its workforce, which is now approximately 20,000.

However, we need to be prepared for the unexpected and the economic downturn that we know will happen. Also, like last year, we face uncertain funding from state proposals and threatened cuts from the federal government. County Executive Jeff Smith has given the 2018-19 budget this theme: “Prudent spending for an uncertain world with ongoing and expanding client needs.”

In short, the county will spend more on some areas, including community outreach, employee support, inmate support, healthcare and social work services and the park system. The county also needs to make a bigger investment in new technology and facilities and will continue to build our reserves for unknown expenses or cuts in revenue.

When you locate the budget document online, an index to the left will take you to the section you might be most interested in.

The first item under Contents is the County Executive’s Budget Message, which is a good place to start. County Executive Jeff Smith gives an assessment of the county’s priorities and the challenges we are likely to face in the year ahead. There also is a Budget Users Guide toward the end of the Contents list, which explains how the budget is put together, timelines used in the process, a glossary of terms and much more.

The Board of Supervisors conducted budget workshops on May 21, 23 and 24. These were public sessions that allow them to delve deeper into an area, ask questions and hear from residents. Workshop recordings can be seen online by going to www.sccgov.org.

In June, the board will begin the budget hearings, scheduled for June 11, 12, 13 and 15. The hearings will begin at 1:30 p.m. on June 11, 12 and 13, and at 9:30 a.m. on June 15, when the board will vote on the budget.

If you have questions during or after the budget process, please feel free to call my office at (408) 299-5030 or email me at dave.cortese@bos.sccgov.org.

Sand Castle Contest

There are always lots of fun things for kids to do in the East Bay Regional Parks, but some real crowd pleasers are on the books for Saturday and Sunday, June 2 and 3.

Children and adults alike will enjoy the annual sand castle and sculpture contest at Crown Beach in Alameda. It’s a free event, cosponsored by the Park District, Alameda Recreation and Parks, and the Bay View Women’s Club.

Registration starts at 9 a.m. on Saturday, June 2, with competition in categories of youth, families, and adults for either castle or sculpture construction. Viewing and judging are at noon, and awards are presented at 1 p.m. This event is as much fun to observe as it is to participate.

The location is on Crown Beach in front of the beach house. Entrance is at the intersection of Shore Line and Otis Drives. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

While we’re at Crown Beach, mark Friday, June 8 on your calendar for the first of three free Concerts at the Cove. From 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. there will be food for sale and family programs by Crab Cove naturalists. The music is from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., featuring Long Train Runnin’, a Doobie Brothers tribute band.

Crab Cove is at 1252 McKay Ave. off Alameda’s Central Avenue. Parking is limited; there’s additional space at the Crown Beach lot a short walk away. Sponsors are the Park District and Alameda Rotary Club. For information, call (510) 544-3185.

The other June 2 event especially for kids is Katie Train Activities Day at Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont. Katie is the park’s little green locomotive, and the event is especially designed for children ages 2 through 6. From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. activities will include train rides, playing engineer and operating wooden model train layouts, coloring pictures of Katie, reading from the collection of train books, and building using child-sized tools. All the regular Ardenwood farm activities also will be available.

Fee for the event is $7 for ages 2 and older, free for ages one and younger. Parking is free. Ardenwood is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard, just north of Highway 84 in Fremont. For information, call (510) 544-2797.

And there’s more. Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont stages its 19th annual Butterfly & Bird Festival from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 3, a celebration of all our winged friends. Visitors can meet the birds and butterflies up close, learn to create a wildlife-friendly backyard, and join in hands-on naturalist-led activities. Live music and butterfly garden tours are also planned.

Coyote Hills is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. Parking is $5 per vehicle. The festival is free. For information, call (510) 544-3214.

Speaking of wings, dragonflies and other insects will be the focus of a program from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, June 2 at Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley, led by naturalist Anthony Fisher. And from 7 to 9 p.m. on Sunday, June 3 and again on June 24, naturalist Trent Pearce plans a twilight walk in search of nocturnal creatures in the Nature Area.

Both programs meet at the Environmental Education Center, which is at the north end of Tilden’s Central Park Drive. Call (510) 544-2233.

Another evening program is from 6 to 10 p.m. on Saturday, June 2 at Black Diamond Mines Regional Preserve in Antioch, led by naturalist Kevin Dixon. The group will listen for sounds of waking owls on the park’s west side. This hike is a bit strenuous; six steep and rugged miles. So, it’s for ages 12 and up.

And naturalist Eddie Willis will lead a hike in search of late blooming spring wildflowers at Black Diamond mines, from 10 a.m. to noon on Sunday, June 3.

For either hike, meet the naturalist in the parking lot at the end of Somersville Road, 3.5 miles south of Highway 4. Call (888) 327-2757, ext. 2750 for information.

This is just a sample. For a list of all programs planned in the parks, visit the district website, www.ebparks.org

Warriors out of tournament

Baseball

Submitted and photos by Mike Heightchew

After a highly successful season, the Fremont Christian Warriors were eliminated from contention in Division 5 North Coast Section tournament play on May 25th. The Warriors were on the scoreboard early and held a 2-0 lead until the Athenian Owls (Danville) tied it up in the fifth inning. Both teams were unable to score again until extra innings when the Owls broke the game wide open with five runs in the ninth inning and ended the Warriors bid for advancement in the tournament. Final score: Owls 7, Warriors 2.

Park district recognized for innovation

Submitted by Dave Mason

The East Bay Regional Park District has been named the 2018 Legacy Award Winner by East Bay Economic Development Alliance (East Bay EDA). The award recognizes organizations with a history of groundbreaking innovation in the East Bay.

As the largest regional park agency in the United States, East Bay Regional Park District leaders have been innovating since its founding in 1934 during the depths of the Great Depression. In fact, it was during this tumultuous time that community leaders in Oakland and Berkeley initiated a campaign to tax themselves to create the park system — the very first of many innovations by the East Bay Regional Park District.

Today, the Park District is a national model of park management and environmental conservation consisting of 73 parks and more than 121,000 acres across Alameda and Contra Costa counties. Combined, the parks generate about 25 million visits annually.

“East Bay Regional Park District is a leader in so many areas among Special Districts and Park/Recreation sectors. We are always looking for ways to innovate. The Board of Directors is very proud to receive this Legacy award distinction,” said Park District Board President Dennis Waespi.

Some of the Park District’s innovative management lauded by the East Bay EDA include:

- Regional planning: ensuring that corridors for wildlife and access to recreation are connected and park access is available within a 15-minute drive to all East Bay residents

- Green transportation: trail system helps kids and commuters get to school and work and out of their cars
- Adaptive land management: focusing on healthy ecologically diverse habitats to thrive
- Quantification of the economic impact to the communities provided by parks and trails and its connections
- Connections to health and nature through partnerships with hospitals and healthcare providers
- Continued investment in preparing the regional parks for changing climate and sea level rise along the shoreline

AC Transit achieves ‘Best of the Best’

Submitted by Robert Lyles

The Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District (AC Transit) is proud to announce that the American Public Transportation Association (APTA) awarded 3rd Place in Overall Excellence (Best of the Best) honors to our combined Bus Operator and Maintenance Team during the 2018 Bus & Paratransit Conference and International Bus Roadeo, held in Tampa, Florida, on May 6.

However, achieving top marks for our intrepid team was no easy task. AC Transit’s ‘Fantastic Four’ vied against 87 Bus Operators, 43 Maintenance Teams, and another 41 combination teams from around North America.

Thirty-eight-year veteran Bus Operator, Jesse Dela Cruz of our Hayward Division, navigated a 40-foot bus through a narrow entry gate, followed by a serpentine cone course that ended through yet another narrow gate. Other competitive tasks included reversing between obstacles to master a Right-hand Reverse Turn or stopping within just six inches of a fixed object in what judges call a Judgment Stop.

Simultaneously, Journey Level Mechanics Miguel Lopez, Jose Oseguera-Garcia and Ricardo Vega, all from our East Oakland Division, became the mechanical equivalent of physicians in Tampa. In addition to a timed written exam, our Maintenance team was required to diagnosis eight bus defects—using symptoms only—and uncover a planted security hazard in just eight minutes.

Superior training, commitment to safety and teamwork have been the underpinnings of what now amounts to six APTA Overall Excellence (Best of the Best) honors for AC Transit. In fact, our success behind the wheel and under the coach makes it a challenge to stifle beaming smiles, now that our International Roadeo leaderboard represents wins every decade spanning the past 30 years.

TAKES FROM SILICON VALLEY EAST

The Steam Innovation Exchange

SUBMITTED BY PARKER THOMAS

Over last few years, I’ve watched Remake Learning Pittsburgh unlock the capacity of the entire city to support children’s education. Remake Learning is a 10-year-old network with 533 member organizations all sharing a common mission, success metrics, and beliefs about educating for today. Recently a delegation of 14 people flew to Pittsburgh from Fremont Unified School District, Mission Valley ROP, Alameda County Library, and the City of Fremont. We visited three school districts, the Pittsburgh Children’s Museum, the Carnegie Library, two makerspaces, and the Manchester Craftsmen’s Guild, a national model for arts education, apprenticeship training, and out-of-school learning.

Here are some take-aways from our trip:

It Starts with ‘Why?’

As Gregg Behr tells the story, Remake Learning started with a common observation from teachers, librarians, museum educators, and youth workers: “I’m not connecting with kids the way that I used to.” They find that “youth in the digital age are pursuing knowledge, developing their identities and interests, and seeking support differently.”

The community they created is now a network “that ignites engaging, relevant, and equitable learning practices in support of young people navigating rapid social and technological change.”

Todd Kerskin’s goal at the Elizabeth Forward School District was to teach creative problem-solving and STEM skills. Aileen Owen at South Fayette wanted to “embed the design problem-solving process into the K-12 curriculum and to empower students to be the innovators of tomorrow.” The Pittsburgh Children’s Museum believes making things creates rich and powerful learning experiences; their maker space enables and studies this process. The Manchester Craftsmen’s Guild is a testament that world-class facilities, mentoring, and expectations can change outcomes for everyone. TransformED’s mission is to enable teachers to incorporate hands-on projects and creative problem solving into their classrooms.

Each organization believes that the process of making leads to powerful learning opportunities about not just school subjects, but also life after school. This deeper learning about one’s own ability to shape the world around them prepares students for careers and adult life.

Start Small and Dream Big

Seeing hundreds of thousands of dollars of equipment, it’s hard to believe that the South Fayette FabLab started small. The Pittsburgh Children’s Museum’s makerspace started in a small garage before becoming the 5,000-square-foot space greeting museum visitors today. Elizabeth Forward’s space started with some bright paint and a declaration.

Each place that we visited started with a “little bet,” a low-cost and low-resource experiment to see what would happen. Fremont has many little bets created by MVRDP, but we don’t yet have a system to learn from them.

The Power of the Network

Each organization in the network had carved out its own role in the broader goal of “igniting engaging, relevant, and equitable learning practices.” The Children’s Museum studied why and how hands-on projects can create powerful learning experiences and frameworks that made it easy for other organizations to get started. The Carnegie Library focused on after-school time with a badging program, dedicated team space, and kits that teens can check out for button making, digital imaging, and dozens of other topics. The schools adapted their practices, schedules, assessments, and language to support hands-on projects during the day. The Manchester Craftsman’s Guild offered fine arts programs and job training programs. TransformED offered kits and professional development training so that teachers could learn to do hands-on projects in their own classrooms. The network has become an ecosystem in which children are surrounded by opportunities to explore and own their personal learning journeys.

We all came back with partnership ideas and a vision of what success would look like. We have what we need to get started. We just need to create our own little bets and the process to learn from them.

WILLIAM MARSHAK

Of all the acronyms in local government lexicon, the term CEQA (pronounced “See-Kwaa”) is often found when examining developments reviewed by planning commissions, city councils and other regulatory bodies. The California Environmental Quality Act was signed by Governor Ronald Reagan in 1970 as a corollary to the National Environmental Policy Act that passed Congress in 1969. The idea behind these regulations is to analyze and determine if projects subject to discretionary approval should be approved, denied or subject to mitigation requirements due to direct or indirect environmental impacts. Environment is not a touchy-feely word reserved for tree-huggers. It describes what happens around us to influence the quality of our lives – the roads we drive on, the air we breathe, access to parks and clean, open spaces and much more. CEQA guidelines are constantly reviewed and revised by the California Secretary of Resources due to its complex nature. Governor Jerry Brown appointed John Laird, former Santa Cruz councilmember and member of the California Assembly to this position in 2011.

An initial review of a project may lead to a more substantial examination, resulting in a report called an Environmental Impact Report (EIR). For developers, the costs involved in creating this document are significant and may lead to requirements that add mitigation costs to the project. Because adherence to CEQA is mandatory and complex for developments subject to these regulations, this is often a major provision of approval for projects. An environmental analysis covers a gamut of factors from aesthetics, air quality, biological and agricultural impact to geological issues. Opinions of experts and management organizations in a variety of fields are required to complete the analysis, if required. It's easy to understand why this type of stringent oversight is avoided by developers, if possible. It is also understandable that some projects with potential significant environmental impacts are required to reveal such effects publicly.

Even with such disclosures, there is a potentially major flaw that occurs when CEQA requirements require an EIR. Generally, oversight and compliance are enforced by public agencies that may benefit from a development under scrutiny. For example, one city may diminish or waive mitigation since its overriding interest is tax income from the project. A neighboring city may suffer the consequences and have little or no say in the outcome. When Cupertino approved the enormous $5 billion, 175-acre Apple “Spaceship” Park, the impact of employees required for the campus was considered for that city. However, what about the impact on neighboring cities? This compound effect can also be seen within a city. As an example, at the intersection of Mission Boulevard and Stevenson Boulevard in Fremont, a multitude of housing projects are under construction. While each can satisfy an environmental analysis, what about the collective effect? In a corridor already impacted by daily traffic jams and housing projects along Mission Boulevard, does each analysis consider the cumulative effect?

If a new, relatively small development of 15 homes in a congested area adds 10 percent load to traffic and congestion, this, on its own, may represent an acceptable impact. Fifteen or twenty additional cars staggered over a period of an hour or two may be permissible. However, what happens when multiple small developments of this type are combined and the effect is not only increased but can create a geometric impact? If three such developments are approved in a near simultaneous timeframe, an analysis may simply look at each independently and conclude the effect is only a ten percent increase over current conditions. But what of the cumulative effect of multiple developments when stacked one on top of another or on a larger, more massive scale? While an EIR may require limited mitigation in a restricted, defined area, what of shock waves that ripple outward toward a larger area? We already see the impact on housing costs, traffic and quality of life. Will there be a response to the collective impact? Or will we simply depend on more gadgets, automated traffic and skyscrapers filled with 400 square foot living units? Will CEQA respond to what is really happening?

Honorary doctorate slated for artist, activist Justin Dillon

SUBMITTED BY KIMBERLY HAWKINS

This year, Cal State East Bay's honorary degree recipient is a driving force in the effort to disrupt the multibillion-dollar business of human trafficking. Through his work over the last decade, Justin Dillon has awakened a global movement, improved laws on slavery and helped thousands of people gain freedom.

“Mr. Dillon has been an extraordinary global, civic, and humanitarian leader whose distinguished contributions have enriched everyone at California State University, East Bay, the broader East Bay region, California, and indeed, the world,” said Cal State East Bay President Leroy M. Morishita. “An East Bay native, Mr. Dillon is a model of citizenship, professional achievement, and personal excellence.”

The professional artist turned social activist, public speaker, and entrepreneur will receive an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters at Cal State East Bay's College of Letters, Arts and Social Sciences commencement ceremony June 9 at 10 a.m.

While pursuing his dream of being a professional musician, Dillon became aware of the power of storytelling and engagement. In 2008, he directed a documentary called ‘Call + Response’ which shared stories about the invisible aspects of the global slave trade and featured musical performances and interviews with New York Times journalist Nicholas Kristof and former Secretary of State Madeleine Albright. He created the Slavery Footprint, a nonprofit which supports a website and app that allows individuals to see how the modern slave trade is connected to goods used in their everyday lives.

In addition to the app and films, Dillon created a software company called Made in a Free World, which allows businesses to run risk-analysis reports that determine the likelihood of slavery practices existing in a supply chain. Most recently, he published a book called ‘A Selfish Plan to Change the World,’ which outlines his philosophy of how connecting to your values is the first step to creating change.

Obituary

M. Gladys Gallegos
Dec. 29, 1931 May 12, 2018

We are saddened to announce the passing of our dear Gladi Gallegos.

Gladi was born in Longmont Co. and moved to California with her husband Al. They eventually moved to Fremont Ca. to raise their 4 sons.

Innovation in East Bay bus travel needs public input

SUBMITTED BY AC TRANSIT

A new and innovative bus service is coming to the East Bay: Bus Rapid Transit (BRT). BRT is often called 'light rail on wheels' because it brings the frequency, safety and reliability of light rail to the bus rider. BRT will run the 9.5-mile corridor from downtown Oakland to San Leandro BART. Bringing the best of transit experiences from around the globe, BRT will revolutionize public transit in the East Bay.

This fleet of brand new hybrid-electric buses will arrive at least every 7 minutes during peak times, reducing wait times! Traveling mostly through a bus-only lane will result in improved transit speed. The bus floor and the station platform are at the same level to ease the boarding experience for people in wheelchairs or with strollers. Median stations will reduce street crossing distance.

Transit signal technology helps buses and traffic flow. Clipper Card readers installed on the platforms will quicken the boarding process. Buses are hybrid- electric and low emission. Bicyclists will enjoy new bike lanes along the corridor bike racks at bus stations and on-board bike storage. BRT riders and pedestrians along the corridor will enjoy the added features of improved lighting, state-of-the-art camera systems, new landscaped medians, side-walks, high visibility crosswalks and new pavement.

On Thursday, May 31, AC Transit is having a BRT Steering Committee meeting where the public can give its input. Be a part of this exciting innovation in public transportation! Find out more about BRT at <https://brt.actransit.org/aboutbrt/>

Settlement agreement provides millions for lead paint remediation

SUBMITTED BY
MARÍA LETICIA GÓMEZ
AND LAUREL ANDERSON

After 18 years of litigation, NL Industries, Inc. (NL) and the People of the State of California, represented by the County Counsels and City Attorneys of ten California jurisdictions, have reached a historic settlement agreement to fund remediation of lead paint in cities and counties across California. Under the agreement, which is conditioned (among other things) on the court's certification of the settlement as being in good faith, NL will provide $60.18M to the Counties of Santa Clara, Los Angeles, Alameda, Monterey, San Mateo, Solano, and Ventura; the City and County of San Francisco; and the Cities of Oakland and San Diego to address lead paint in homes.

“For nearly two decades, we have been fighting to protect vulnerable young children from the very serious harms caused by lead paint. We are pleased that NL has decided to resolve this matter and that millions of dollars can now go to address the harms to children resulting from toxic lead paint in homes,” said Santa Clara County Counsel James R. Williams.

“The hazards of lead paint have created a public health crisis for communities in California and across our nation,” said San Francisco City Attorney Dennis J. Herrera. “This agreement ensures that significant resources go to address that crisis and protect children from this toxic environmental hazard.”

“Although NL does not agree with the ruling in the courts, and by settling does not admit to any of the claims in the case, NL would prefer that its limited financial resources be used to fund public health programs rather than be spent on continued litigation,” said Andre Pauka, counsel for NL. “Subject to the court's approval, NL will be able to put this litigation behind it and provide funds for the jurisdictions to address lead paint in the manner they believe is most effective to protect health.”

The settlement arises out of County of Santa Clara, et al. v. Atlantic Richfield Company, et al., Santa Clara County Superior Court, Case No. 1-00-CV-788657. The public nuisance lawsuit was filed in 2000 by then-Santa Clara County Counsel Ann Ravel on behalf of the People of the State of California (People). Other cities and counties joined the litigation, including the City and County of San Francisco; the Cities of Oakland and San Diego; and the Counties of Alameda, Los Angeles, Monterey, San Mateo, Solano, and Ventura.

In 2014, the Santa Clara County Superior Court ruled that three former lead paint manufacturers —The Sherwin-Williams Company, ConAgra Grocery Products, and NL—were liable for marketing lead paint. Although lead paint was banned for residential use in 1978, it remains present in millions of homes in California.

In 2017, the Court of Appeal upheld the Superior Court's decision to hold the former lead paint manufacturers liable for creating a public nuisance in the ten cities and counties but limited the scope of the remedy to pre-1951 homes in the ten cities and counties and remanded the case to the Superior Court for a hearing on the appointment of a receiver to administer the abatement fund. The California Supreme Court declined to review the Court of Appeal's decision.

The defendants in the case are sponsoring a ballot initiative for the November 2018 election that would invalidate the judgment and ask taxpayers to pay $3.9 billion, through the issuance of State bonds, for the remediation of lead paint and other environmental hazards in homes throughout California. As part of the settlement, NL has agreed to immediately withdraw its support from the initiative.

Following this settlement, the remaining defendants are: (1) ConAgra Grocery Products Company; and (2) The Sherwin-Williams Company. The case is now before the trial court to determine the amount of funding sufficient to address the problems lead paint poses in pre-1951 housing.

The case is being litigated on behalf of the People by the County of Santa Clara, the County of Alameda, the City of Oakland, the City and County of San Francisco, the City of San Diego, the County of Los Angeles, the County of Monterey, the County of San Mateo, the County of Solano, and the County of Ventura. The People are represented by their own County Counsel and City Attorney's Offices, working in collaboration with the law firms of Cotchett Pitre & McCarthy LLP, Motley Rice LLC, Mary Alexander and Associates, and the Law Office of Peter Earle.

Counties support California Values Act

SUBMITTED BY
MARIA LETICIA GOMEZ

Joined by 22 other cities, counties, and local officials from across the state, the County of Santa Clara, County of Los Angeles, and City of Oakland are filing an amicus curiae (“friend of the court”) brief May 18th, urging the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California to uphold the California Values Act (SB 54) and two related state laws against an attack by the federal government.

The brief, co-authored by the Santa Clara County Counsel's Office with counsel for the City of Oakland and the County of Los Angeles, is being filed in United States of America v. State of California. The brief supports the State of California's defense of three laws enacted in 2017 that protect public safety across the state, and the health and welfare of all Californians, by prioritizing state and local resources on law enforcement rather than federal civil immigration compliance.

“Experience shows that communities are safest when all residents feel secure calling their local police officers and visiting government offices for help in their most vulnerable moments,” said County of Santa Clara Supervisor Dave Cortese. “That's why the County of Santa Clara crafted policies almost a decade ago that put local safety first, and it's also why we support the California Values Act. This is not about preventing the federal government from doing its job, but about making sure our local police officers can do their jobs, too.”

“The Trump Administration continues to attempt to dictate how state and local governments can use their own resources, but our Constitution grants this power to our communities,” added Santa Clara County Counsel James R. Williams. “We've stopped them from defunding cities and counties, and now we'll stop them from trying to deny California its right to decide how best to protect the health and safety of all Californians.”

The California Values Act (SB 54) echoes countless local officials' judgment that limiting their involvement in federal immigration enforcement makes their communities safer by empowering everyone, regardless of their immigration status, to report crimes and serve as witnesses. The brief argues that communities in which the public does not fear that seeking out government services will lead to deportation—or as the brief puts it, those areas where “diverse communities can participate equally in civic life”—are not only safer, but also healthier and more prosperous. By filing the brief, localities and officials from all corners of California—from the largest counties to the smallest cities—are demonstrating their support for the California Values Act's sound public policy.

The County of Santa Clara, County of Los Angeles, and City of Oakland's amicus brief is joined by 22 other cities, counties, and local officials from across the state: the County of Alameda, City of Albany, City of Arvin, City of Berkeley, City of Culver City, City of Davis, City of East Palo Alto, County of Marin, County of Monterey, City of Morgan Hill, City of Mountain View, City of Palm Springs, City of Richmond, City of Sacramento, City of San Diego, City of San José, City of Santa Ana, County of Santa Cruz, City of Santa Monica, County of Sonoma, City of Stockton Mayor Michael Tubbs, and City of West Hollywood.

The case is United States of America v. State of California, No. 18-490 (in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California).

Chain snatch robber identified

SUBMITTED BY FREMONT PD

A suspect in an early May chain snatch robbery in Fremont has been identified and charged by the Alameda County District Attorney.

Efforts to catch the suspect behind a strong-arm robbery made at a Fremont gas station started May 6 when Fremont Police officers responded to a 911 call about 4:35 p.m. Upon their arrival, officers determined a female victim had been assaulted, thrown to the ground, and robbed of her gold necklace. The victim also sustained injuries to her person based on the severity of the assault.

Detectives from the Fremont Police Department’s Investigations Unit, Street Crimes Unit and Special Investigations Unit coordinated efforts to locate the suspect. On May 9, video surveillance was obtained from the business which provided detectives with a good description of the suspect and related vehicle.

Based upon the surveillance video detectives identified the male suspect as Jermaine Smith, 22. Shortly after identifying Smith, Fremont Police detectives learned Smith had been arrested on May 11 by the Oakland Police Department for felony evading and was in custody.

On May 18, the case was submitted to the Alameda County District Attorney for review and charging. Smith was charged with one felony count of PC 211 — robbery. He is also on two separate felony probations in Alameda County, one of which is for robbery.

Anyone with information about this case is asked to contact Fremont Detective Brent Butcher at (510) 790-6800 or send an email to bbutcher@fremont.gov. Anonymous tips can be sent via text to TIP FREMONT PD followed by your message to 888-777.

Officer DeStefano and Officer Kwok were dispatched to Irvington Baptist Church on the report of a male passed out in a truck with visible drugs on the console. On arrival, officers found a 44-year-old man in a truck and determined he had an active arrest warrant. The vehicle was also determined to be stolen, so the suspect also was jailed on suspicion of possessing a stolen vehicle.

A victim was approached by an unknown suspect who asked him for a cigarette around Camden Avenue. The suspect then punched the victim in the face and took his wallet and then fled on a skateboard southbound on Camden Avenue. The suspect was described at a black man, between 25 and 30-years-old, about 6-feet-tall with a medium build and a birthmark on his forehead. He was wearing a black hoodie. The case was investigated by Officer Stiers.

1:55 p.m. After spotting officers, the suspect re-entered the house and tried to exit through another door but was met by more officers. A police K9 was deployed and was dragged into the house by the suspect. Eventually the suspect reemerged at the back door with a dark object in his hand and pointing it at officers. Officers determined the object was not firearm and continued to order the suspect to surrender. At about 2:08 p.m. the suspect gave up and was taken into custody. He was identified by police as Robert Lomack, 23, of San Leandro. He was taken to a hospital for treatment of a dog bite before being booked on charges of residential burglary, resisting arrest and a previous residential burglary warrant.

Swalwell revives bill on STEM

SUBMITTED BY JOSH RICHMAN

WASHINGTON, DC — Rep. Eric Swalwell, D-Dublin, has re-introduced a bill aimed at creating a ladder to success for Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM) students and professionals across the country. The legislation, called the “STEM K to Career Act,” would offer federal student loan relief to STEM teachers, provide tax credits to certain employers that provide internships or apprenticeships in the STEM field, and amend the federal Work Study program to offer more STEM opportunities. “Every American — children and adults — should be equipped with the tools they need to succeed in the innovation economy,” said Swalwell. “As students across the nation graduate from high school and college, we must consider the steps we must take to ensure such success. The STEM K to Career Act takes one significant step in that direction. It gives students, teachers, and small businesses a needed boost to help tackle the digital divide and ensure all have access to the STEM fields that are driving the 21st century economy.”

Specifically, the legislation makes five important changes to federal STEM policy:

- Provides federal loan forgiveness to STEM elementary and secondary education teachers. To qualify, the teacher must work in a not-for-profit low-income school as defined by the Department of Education.

- Permanently extends the $250 tax credit for teachers’ school supplies and adds an additional tax credit for STEM education supplies for teachers of up to $250, adjusted for inflation.

Provides employers with fewer than 500 employees a tax credit of up to $2,000 for each paid STEM intern employed.

- Provides employers with fewer than 500 employees a tax credit of up to $2,000 for each new STEM apprentice, $3,000 for a STEM mid-career or unemployed apprentice, and $5,000 in the case that a STEM apprentice is hired by the company for at least a year following the Department of Labor approved apprenticeship.

- Requires schools participating in the Federal Work Study program to use at least seven percent of work study funds to compensate students working in STEM jobs.

Original co-sponsors of this legislation, HR 5962, include Reps. Jerry McNerney (CA-09), Marc Veasey (TX-33), Ruben Gallego (AZ-07), and Dina Titus (NV-01). Swalwell previously had introduced this legislation in the 114th Congress.

standing water where mosquitoes may breed including but not limited to catch basins, storm drain systems, and swimming pools. Neglected swimming pools continue to be a mosquito breeding issue in Alameda County. Residents who have or know someone that has an unmaintained swimming pool is asked to inform the district, so the proper treatment can be made.

“This is a much earlier start to the West Nile virus season in Alameda County than we have seen in several years,” said General Manager Ryan Clausnitzer. “We will continue to eliminate mosquitoes that spread the virus, but we need the public to help by reducing mosquito breeding sites. Dump and drain or tightly cover containers that have standing water to reduce mosquitoes around your house and workplace.” As of May 18, California has had five dead birds and one mosquito sample test positive for West Nile virus.

Residents can reduce the risk of contracting mosquito-borne diseases by following these guidelines:

- Dump or drain standing water on your property because that is where mosquitoes develop.
- Know that dawn and dusk is when mosquito activity peaks, so limit outdoor activities during this time.
- Defend yourself from mosquito bites by wearing long pants and long-sleeved shirts and apply insect repellent containing EPA-registered active ingredients such as DEET, Picaridin, IR3535, or Oil of lemon eucalyptus.

- Door and window screens should be in good repair with no tears or holes.

West Nile virus is transmitted to people and animals through the bite of an infected mosquito. There is no cure for West Nile virus. Approximately one in five people who are infected with West Nile virus will develop symptoms such as fever, headache, body aches, joint pains, vomiting, or rash. Fewer than one percent will develop a serious neurological illness such as encephalitis or meningitis. Adults older than 50 and people with compromised immune systems are at increased risk of serious complications. Anyone who develops symptoms should seek medical care immediately.

For information about mosquitoes, West Nile virus, or to request any of the district services, go online and visit www.mosquitoes.org or call (510) 783-7744. County residents can also request mosquitofish for their fish ponds, horse troughs, or neglected swimming pools at the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District office at 23187 Connecticut St., Hayward. For information concerning West Nile virus symptoms, prevention or testing contact the Alameda County Public Health Department at (510) 267-8001.

CITY OF FREMONT

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE

As Introduced May 15, 2018

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF FREMONT APPROVING A PLANNED DISTRICT AMENDMENT REZONING 33650 BEART COURT FROM PLANNED DISTRICT P-78-3 TO PRELIMINARY AND PRECISE PLANNED DISTRICT P-2016-392, TO ALLOW DEVELOPMENT OF FIVE DETACHED SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENCES ON AN APPROXIMATELY 0.6-ACRE SITE

On May 15, 2018, the Fremont City Council introduced the above ordinance. It would approve a planned district amendment rezoning 33650 Beart Court from Planned District P-78-3 to Preliminary and Precise Planned District P-2016-392, to allow development of five detached single family residences on an approximately 0.6-acre site.

A certified copy of the full text of the ordinance is posted in the office of the City Clerk, 3300 Capitol Avenue, Fremont, and is available for review upon request. The second reading for adoption is currently scheduled for June 5, 2018, at 7:00 pm, at City Hall, 3300 Capitol Avenue, Fremont.

CITY OF FREMONT

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE

As Introduced May 15, 2018

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF FREMONT, CALIFORNIA, REPEALING AND REPLACING FREMONT MUNICIPAL CODE TITLE 6, ANIMALS

On May 15, 2018, the Fremont City Council introduced the above ordinance repealing and replacing Title 6 Animals, which regulates the care and keeping of animals in the City of Fremont. The new ordinance creates chapters to reorganize subjects and clarifies definitions and the appeal and hearing procedures for permits and impoundments, simplifies animal limits, and addresses current issues with care and keeping of animals. In addition, the proposed changes replace dangerous dog with vicious dog to mirror state law and prohibits livestock and exotic animals in parcels zoned residential. The changes also prohibit owning more than six small animals and require an animal fancier's permit for owning more than six chickens, pigeons, doves and rabbits. The amendments also include new requirements for stray animals. If an unaltered dog or cat is found stray and brought to the shelter for a second or subsequent impoundment, the animal will be spayed or neutered and microchipped before release to the owner. In addition, a new section mandates that any person finding a stray or lost animal to report such animal to the shelter. The provision that allows an animal to take back an animal from the peace officer within thirty days after the adoption has been removed.

A new chapter has been created to consolidate and clarify behaviors related to animals that are unlawful in the City, which include abandonment, feeding of animals on posted public and private property, animals in vehicles, and animals disturbing the peace. If the animal owner repeatedly allows these behaviors to continue, the animal control officer may impound the violating animal and seek other remedies. In addition, the proposed amendments declare certain actions by animals and their owners to be public nuisances and allow a citizen to file suit to enforce against the public nuisance.

The proposed amendments give the Animal Services Manager and the Administrative Hearing Officer more discretion for the classification of a dog. The changes clarify the hearing procedures for disputing the impoundment of a vicious or potentially dangerous dog, classification of a dog as vicious or potentially dangerous and denial or revocation of a potentially dangerous dog permit. The new code prohibits keeping a potentially dangerous dog in a vehicle and requires the residential location where the dog will reside. In addition, the proposed changes require written permission from the property owner to be provided to the Animal Services Manager if the dog owner is not the property owner.

A certified copy of the full text of the ordinance is posted in the office of the City Clerk, 3300 Capitol Avenue, Fremont, and is available for review upon request. The second reading for adoption is currently scheduled for June 5, 2018, at 7:00 pm, at City Hall, 3300 Capitol Avenue, Fremont.

Bidders can provide their UPS or Fed Ex account number for any overnight shipping but the charge will not be discounted. However, all bidders submitting a bid must purchase and receive a paper copy of the Project Manual of Cast Iron/Piping Lining Project – Phase VII, Project No. 800-507 from the District prior to the bid opening date. All submitted bids must be on bid forms included in the purchased project manual. Addenda shall be considered responsive and shall be rejected by the District. Each bid must conform and be responsive to the invitation, the Plans and Specifications, and all documents comprising the Contract Documents. Each bid shall be presented under sealed cover and shall be accompanied by a certified check or bidder's bond, made payable to the District, in an amount not less than ten percent (10%) of the bid. The said check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the successful bidder will execute the contract in conformity with the form of agreement contained within the contract documents, and will furnish bonds and insurance policies as specified within ten (10) days after notification of the award of the Contract to the successful bidder. Cost for work described in each addenda issued during the time of bidding shall be included in the Bid and the addenda shall become a part of the Contract documents. Bidders shall develop and submit bids at their own expense. The District will not reimburse any costs associated with the development and submittal of any and all Bids. The District reserves the sole right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informality in a bid. No bidder may withdraw its bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof. At the successful Contractor's option, securities may be substituted for the required retention, in accordance with the provisions of Section 22300 of the State of California Public Contract Code. In accordance with the provisions of California Public Contract Code Section 3300, the District has determined that the Contractor shall possess, as a minimum, a valid Class A License. In accordance with the provisions of California Business and Professions Code Section 7028.15, a bid submitted to the District by a Contractor who is not licensed in accordance with Chapter 9 of the California Business and Professions Code shall be considered non-responsive and shall be rejected by the District. NOTICE OF FILING REPORT AND PUBLIC HEARING IN CONNECTION WITH THE COLLECTION OF FISCAL YEAR 2019 SEWER SERVICE CHARGES ON THE PROPERTY TAX ROLL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to Sections 5471 and 5473, et seq. of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California and Union Sanitary District Ordinance No. 31, the Board of Directors of Union Sanitary District will consider whether to collect its charges for sewer services for fiscal year 2019 on the tax roll, in the same manner as general taxes, consistent with past practices. The District has filed a written report with the Secretary of the Board of Directors describing each parcel of real property subject to the charges and the amount of the charges assessed for fiscal year 2019. The District's report is on file and available for public inspection at the District Offices. For reference, the charges for a single family home owner (the majority of USD's customers) are based on the adopted rate of $407.12 for Fiscal Year 2019. All other rates for individual customers can be found by contacting the District at (510) 477-7500 or on the District's website www.unionsanitary.ca.gov/sewerservice.htm

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that on Monday, the 25th day of June 2018, at the hour of 7:00 p.m. or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, at the Union Sanitary District Boardroom, 5072 Benson Road, Union City, California, in said District, the Board will hold a hearing to consider the report and whether to collect the sewer service charges for fiscal year 2019 on the property tax roll. At the hearing, the Board of Directors will hear and consider all objections or protests, if any, to the District's report. Any questions regarding the charges may be directed to Finance & Acquisition Services Coach, Laurie Brenner.

Proposed Flood Hazard Determinations for Alameda County, California and Incorporated Areas

The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency has issued a preliminary Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), and where applicable, Flood Insurance Study (FIS) report and/or proposed flood hazard determinations within Alameda County, California and Incorporated Areas. These flood hazard determinations may include the addition or modification of Base Flood Elevations, base flood depths, Special Flood Hazard Area boundaries or zone designations, or the regulatory floodway. Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed flood hazard determinations shown on the preliminary FIRM and/or FIS report for Alameda County, California and Incorporated Areas. These flood hazard determinations are the basis for the floodplain management measures that your community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program. However, before these determinations are effective for floodplain management purposes, you will be provided an opportunity to appeal the proposed information. For information on the statutory 30-day period for filing an appeal, as well as a complete listing of the communities affected and the locations where copies of the FIRM are available for review, please visit FEMA's website at www.fema.gov/plan/prevent/fhm/bfe, or call the FEMA Map Information eXchange (FIMIX) toll free at 1-877-FEMA MAP (1-877-336-2627).

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
SORIN CHEREJI

CASE NO. RP18904981

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Sorin Chereji

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Juliana Chereji in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda.

The Petition for Probate requests that Juliana Chereji, Petitioner be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on 06-25-18 at 9:31 A.M. in Dept. 201 located at 2120 Martin Luther King Blvd., Berkeley, CA 94714.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

Water district seeks customer input on budget

SUBMITTED BY LAURA HIDAS

Alameda County Water District (ACWD) customers are invited to attend the second of a series of financial workshops focusing future water rate structure concepts, on Tuesday, June 5 in Fremont. Topics covered during the meeting will include meter charges, different types of rate structures, property tax collections and a review of the District's financial planning model with the ACWD Board of Directors

The workshop is part of a series of financial workshops that began on April 26 and will continue through 2018.

The purpose is for staff to provide alternatives and receive feedback from the board, and for the board and staff to receive input from the community. Video recordings of each workshop will also be posted to ACWD's website at www.acwd.org for later viewing.

Scholarship program to honor new high school graduates

SUBMITTED BY A. RIC RICARD

Six students graduating from East Bay high schools will be honored June 3 when the Afro-American Cultural & Historical Society, Tri-City & Hayward (AACHS) holds its 42nd Annual Scholarship Awards Program in Union City.

Students being honored with $1,000 scholarships are:

- Julie-Ann Aryee, Kennedy High School, Fremont
- Brianna Baugh, Hayward High School
- Isaac Davis, Hayward High School
- Yvette Enoru, American High School, Fremont
- Jordan Fobbs, James Logan High School, Union City
- Sara Sanford, Washington High School, Fremont

Since 1976, the AACHS has been honoring high school African American/black graduates with scholarships to further their education. With these current honorees, the non-profit organization, based in Newark, will have recognized 173 students with more than $180,000. in scholarships.

“With the Lord’s blessings, and the financial support of community members, we will continue to acknowledge distinguished graduates and aspiring scholars,” said Jean Ficklin, retired educator and the organization’s founder.

New exhibit features unique paintings

SUBMITTED BY GAIL NOETH

An innovative art exhibit featuring old and new works by local artists opens Friday, June 1 at the Milpitas Public Library. Sponsored by Golden Hills Art Association (GHAA), the exhibit will be on display throughout the month.

Installing an exhibit with both old and new paintings from the same artists is simply not done, according to Nancy Tindle, a GHAA committee member. But that’s exactly what the group is doing in their 17th Annual Art Exhibit at the library. “It’s a unique approach to exhibiting pictures,” Tindle said. The idea is to give exhibit attendees not only pretty pictures to look at, but also to help them understand how an artist progresses over time to improve his or her work and master the painting process. The exhibit will be installed in the main library lobby adjacent to the auditorium.

About half of the exhibit focuses on new work exclusively and highlights the artists’ current skill and vision. A separate section of the display features “prologue” paintings selected by each participating artist as representative of what they consider their “personal best” work from the past. By comparing new and old pieces, the viewer can understand the effort and technique development necessary to master painting — or any art or craft. The show will include 52 pieces of art, featuring landscapes, flowers, still life, and portraits. GHAA painters work in all media including oils, acrylics, scratchboard, collage, watercolor, and colored pencil.

A gala reception, open to the public, is set for 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, June 10 to honor the artists. Light refreshments will be available while attendees vote for their favorite paintings. Ribbons will be awarded to the top three vote-getters. Public officials and GHAA officers will welcome attendees and express appreciation to the artists for their paintings. A special recognition to GHAA for its long-term commitment to promoting Milpitas as an art enclave in Silicon Valley is planned.

Golden Hills Art Association is one of the leading art clubs in Santa Clara Valley and the longest-established art group in GHAA members Nancy Tindle and Jerry Epps review paintings for the Golden Hills Art Association’s June exhibit.

Milpitas. Club members include artists from Milpitas, Fremont, San Jose and Alviso. The group’s regular meetings are held the first Thursday of each month at the Milpitas Police Station, 1275 N. Milpitas Blvd.

Fremont library automates check-in service

SUBMITTED BY ALICIA REYES

Thanks to new technology, returned books and other materials at the Fremont Main Library are now being sorted more efficiently and returned to library shelves more quickly. Library officials recently announced the deployment of a new Automated Materials Handling System (AMHS) that automates the check in and sorting of library materials. With this automation, library staff members have more time to interact with patrons and better serve their communities. “This is just one of the ways that the Alameda County Library is leveraging technology to enhance the customer experience for patrons,” said Cindy Chadwick, County Librarian.

For patrons’ convenience there are three book return chutes; two located outside of the library, and one inside. Upon returning items patrons have the option of receiving a receipt by email, text, or paper. With the expedited check-in of materials, patrons’ library accounts are updated with greater speed and accuracy. As re-shelving of books happens more quickly, it’s anticipated that circulation of library materials will increase. “This technology reduces repetitive tasks that can lead to injuries among staff and frees up staff time to focus on the evolving needs of our communities,” said Brian Edwards, Principal Librarian of the Fremont Main Library.

Located at 2400 Stevenson Blvd., the Fremont Main Library has an annual circulation of more than 1.2 million items. To continue to keep pace with library circulation, the new AMHS is expandable to process a 10 percent annual growth. It is capable of processing 2,000 check-ins per hour and handling an annual circulation of 1.5 million materials.

ARTICLE AND PHOTOS BY RHODA J. SHAPIRO

On Tuesday, May 15, 2018 at their monthly meeting, the Tri-City Women’s Club presented a $5,500 check to Safe Alternatives to Violent Environments (SAVE). Every year, club members host an annual Spring Fling event, which includes lunch and entertainment. Proceeds from that event go to a new charity, which is chosen by members.

“Our group voted for SAVE to be the recipient this year. There are women in our club who’ve had situations where they’ve had to rely upon that organization,” said Kathy Coon, current Tri-City Women’s Club President.

Since its inception in 1976, SAVE has impacted the lives of countless individuals and families, providing them with support and resources to end the cycle of domestic violence and create a stronger, healthier foundation for their lives. “We’re so grateful to have such strong community support,” said Paula Manczuk, SAVE’s Director of Development, who received the check.

Fremont Mayor Lily Mei was a guest speaker at the meeting; her talk touched upon topics like schools, new housing developments, public transportation, and her work as a public servant.

The Tri-City Women’s Club has been a force in the community since 1963. In addition to being a social club where they gather for activities like bocce ball, bridge, and Rummikub, the club’s main focus is in supporting charities. Along with picking one new charity to support each year, the club also spends the months of November and December raising money for the League of Volunteers (LOV) in Newark.

Doris Westbrook, 96, has been part of the club for a few decades now, and is the oldest of its 87 members. She is chairman of the book club and served as president from 1994-1995. “I used to plan mini-tours,” said Westbrook, who is referred to as “the matriarch” by other members. “Special days where we went to places like Reno, Las Vegas, or San Francisco. And even now, I’m still very active. And I’m still running the book club.”

The Tri-City Women’s Club holds a meeting every third Tuesday of the month. Those interested in learning more or joining, please call (510) 656-0162.

Flag retirement ceremony

Pictured along with the girls and Knights is Pastor Father Michael Hendrickson of St. Francis Cabrini who held the opening prayer.

SUBMITTED BY LOU HORYZA

On April 28 the American Heritage Girls assisted by the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus St. Joseph Assembly 2246 of Milpitas held a retirement ceremony to ceremoniously dispose of flags from around the area. Of the 75 flags retired, the City of Milpitas, through Recreation and Community Services Department staff Renee Lorentzen and Dale Flunoy, retired six Flags at the request of Lou Horyza, another Fourth Degree Knight and Korean War Veteran who officiated at the ceremony.

The ceremony was held at St. Francis Cabrini Catholic Church in San Jose with the singing of the National Anthem and then the Pledge of Allegiance. It took almost two hours to complete the ceremony. The Heritage Girls of America hold this Honorable Ceremony at least once a year but sometimes twice depending on how many flags are acquired.

Thank you to the Milpitas Parks and Recreation Dept. for their contribution to this very solemn event.

Fremont high schools among California’s best

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

In its annual rankings of high schools across the United States, U.S. News & World Report has listed four high schools from the Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) as among the best in California. According to U.S. News, Mission San Jose High School was the 8th-highest rated school in California, earning a ‘Gold’ medal. In addition, Irvington, American, and Washington High Schools were also recognized with ‘Silver’ medals.

“We take great pride that all five of our comprehensive high schools have been designated as California Gold Ribbon Schools in recent years,” said FUSD Superintendent, Dr. Kim Wallace. “For a national publication to also recognize the great work being done across our District is also rewarding and a great testament to the efforts of our students and staff.”

New director to oversee community development

SUBMITTED BY TERESA MEYER

San Leandro officials recently announced that Tom Liao has been appointed as the city’s newest Community Development Director. Liao has more than 23 years of experience in planning, community development, and affordable housing finance and development in various sectors and has served as the city’s Acting Community Development Director since March.

“Tom is an incredibly dedicated public servant,” said San Leandro Interim City Manager Jeff Kay. “He approaches his work with compassion and focuses on the best interests of the community. These are exciting times in San Leandro, and Tom is the right person to ensure that we implement our plans and vision in a way that provides maximum benefit to our residents.”

In his previous role as San Leandro as Deputy Community Development Director, Liao was project manager for the 2035 General Plan Update and the Bay Fair Transit Oriented Development Strategy.

“I am honored to be appointed the City’s Community Development Director and have enjoyed my time working here since 2004,” said Liao. “The City has been moving forward in very exciting directions in terms of development, new businesses and affordable housing in my time here, and I am excited to help play an active role in these ongoing transformative changes in San Leandro.”

In his new job, Liao will oversee economic development, housing services, planning services, and building and safety services.

Tri-City youths earn Eagle Scout awards

Joseph Robinson

Nicholas Pierce

SUBMITTED BY DONNA CUMMING

Moreau Catholic High School seniors Joseph Robinson of Union City and Nicholas Pierce of Fremont recently received their Eagle Scout Awards from the Boy Scouts of America. Eagle Scout is the highest rank in the Boy Scouts of America and requires years of hard work, camping, community service, leadership and dedication. Only four percent of all boys who become scouts earn the rank of Eagle Scout.

Robinson’s Eagle project consisted of building cubbies for Union City American Little League’s (UCALL) baseball field dugouts. Robinson played baseball in UCALL for seven years and wanted to give back to the organization that he enjoyed so much. The cubbies will help players keep their gear organized during games and practices, and includes shelves, hooks to hold bags and dividers to help players keep their gloves, batting helmets and other items arranged.

Pierce’s Eagle project was building two benches and four shadow boxes for Kitayama Elementary School in Union City. One bench was needed for a newly developed garden to allow the children to sit and read along with their teacher. Another was placed inside the school between classrooms. The shadow boxes were strategically placed near classrooms for teachers to securely post pertinent information for parents to view. It took several volunteers over the course of four weeks to complete the project.

Notable Eagle Scouts over the years have included President Gerald Ford, several astronauts, including Neil Armstrong, Supreme Court Justice Stephen Breyer, and movie director Steven Spielberg.

MY CHOICE IS WTMF,

because not only does my doctor really listen to me,
he understands the things that are important to me too.

For Newark neighbor Kathryn Elkins, choosing Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) was how she met Dr. Prasad Katta, and the beginning of finding excellent, individualized care for her diabetes. Kathryn wanted a patient-oriented doctor who had great credentials, was close to her home with convenient office hours. At WTMF, Katie Vigano, a Certified Physician's Assistant, talked to Kathryn about seeing an endocrinologist and referred her to Dr. Katta. Kathryn said she felt an instant connection with Dr. Katta. "He was very thorough; he listened to everything I had to say, answered my questions in detail and never rushed me. He's encouraging, optimistic, up on all the new medications—and his treatments are working!" As for Dr. Katta, he says he gets "great pleasure treating patients like Kathryn who are motivated to get better," and wants his patients to think of him as their guide to reaching their health goals.
