SRINI VEERARAGHAVAN

Stardust awardee and IFAB (Fashion, Food, Arts, Academics, Beauty and Business) USA awardee for Best Female Singer, Aditi Sri is a 17-year-old pop singer from Fremont who has made a name for herself in both the Hollywood and Bollywood scene. Singing since she was five years old, Sri was put on this earth to deliver music to the world. Trained in both Hindustani classical and Western vocals, she comes with versatility jam-packed into her repertoire, which includes her two current singles, "On Your Own" and "Shine."

Both tracks showcase the tenacity this generation has, while still being a great set of modern pop songs. Released in October 2017, "On Your Own" is vocally and stylistically comparable to Demi Lovato's 2013 eponymous release with its vibrant sound that delivers the message of finding your own way through this world. Listeners get another side of the pop songstress with "Shine," an up-tempo track that gives way to confidence and embracing one's personal shine.

Sri has performed over 100 fundraising concerts since her first at the tender age of 12 at the Preity Zinta Show. Just a year later she was performing alongside the likes of

How to Stay Healthy While Aging

As we age, we may be facing some common senior health challenges. It is imperative to make healthy lifestyle choices, such as remaining physically active, maintaining a healthy weight, quitting smoking, getting proper nutrition—and just as importantly, to be aware of chronic diseases and managing them effectively.

Learn about effective tools and strategies for healthy aging at a free seminar sponsored by Washington Hospital on Wednesday, October 3, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) Newark Clinic conference room, 6236 Thornton Ave., Newark. Physician Assistant, Marc Lanuza will share valuable information about how to make healthy choices to maintain, protect and improve aspects of your health as you age.

According to the National Council on Aging (NCOA), about 80 percent of older adults have at least one chronic disease, and 68 percent have at least two. The good news is, people with chronic diseases, who learn how to manage their symptoms, can improve their quality of life and reduce their health care costs.

“One of the most important things you can do to give yourself the gift of health is to get your annual wellness checkups,” says Lanuza. He notes that as we age, it is vital to be aware of our blood pressure, body mass index, and blood sugar and cholesterol levels—and to use that information to manage any chronic conditions.

“These screenings will help you be more aware of your risks for certain chronic diseases, so the earlier you get screened, the earlier you can begin to manage or seek treatment for these conditions,” Lanuza notes. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the leading causes of death in the U.S. include heart disease, diabetes, cancer, stroke, Alzheimer’s and kidney disease.

Remaining physically active and eating a healthy diet can help manage or even prevent some of these conditions. In addition to exercise and diet, getting your regular checkups on time is key to maintaining your health—so you shouldn't put off seeing your doctor. Lanuza advises, "These days, many of us have a busy, stressful life, but we need to take

October is Breast Health Awareness Month

What happens following a questionable mammogram?

You felt something suspicious in your breast during your monthly self-exam. Or your mammogram came back concerning. Now your physician has referred you to a surgeon who specializes in breast cancer.

Why a surgeon at this early stage, you wonder. Do the doctors know more than they are telling me?

No, reassures Dr. William Wood, surgeon, Washington Township Medical Foundation, and breast cancer specialist. “The breast cancer surgeon is usually the first point of contact in the process of determining whether your issue is cancer and, if so, what the best course for treatment should be.”

Before any decisions can be made as to how to proceed medically, the lump or mammogram spot must be identified. Is it cancer or a benign finding? That leads to a biopsy, usually a core needle biopsy, to examine the growth’s cell structure to determine if the problem is cancer or some other issue that is benign, Dr. Wood explains. The surgeon or radiologist performs the biopsy and, once the results are known, he or she works with the other members of Washington Hospital’s cancer treatment team to develop a treatment plan.

Treatment options include radiation and/or chemotherapy, with or without surgery to remove the growth. “Most patients, however, will have some form of surgery, either a lumpectomy which is a breast-conserving surgery, or a mastectomy where the entire breast is removed. The decision on which type of surgery to have usually depends on the type of cancer and its size, as well as the patient’s preference,” Dr. Wood says.

Having a lumpectomy for early breast cancer doesn’t mean the patient has less of a chance for survival than if she had a mastectomy. This decision is one that a patient and the surgeon will make together. Generally, lumpectomy surgery patients will have radiation as the follow-up treatment. The type of breast cancer, and if lymph nodes are involved, will determine if chemotherapy is needed.

Even after successful surgery and follow-up treatment, the surgeon may remain the “cogwheel” for the patient’s care. “I often see patients for years following their initial treatment. Here at Washington Hospital, cancer patients have the advantage of having all the various specialists under one roof, so to speak — in one community,” Dr. Wood explains.

The patient doesn’t have to travel outside the community for oncology or radiation treatments, a biopsy, or follow-up care in the years after the initial medical treatments. It’s all here in the UCSF - Washington Cancer Center. Every cancer patient’s case and proposed treatment regimen is reviewed by the cancer center’s tumor board. “Our approach is a multidisciplinary treatment program that takes advantage of the cutting-edge developments that are changing cancer treatment daily,” he adds.

Not all general surgeons elect to undertake breast cancer surgery as part of their practice, but Dr. Wood explains why it is important to him. “My mother died from breast cancer so I decided I’d take it on as part of my medical practice. For me, it’s a privilege and an honor to help treat breast cancer patients.”

Washington Hospital will celebrate the 10th annual Think Pink Breast Cancer Awareness Day on Thursday, October 18, at Washington West, 2500 Mowry Ave., Fremont. The free event will be held from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Call (510) 818-7301 to register.

The Think Pink event will feature a health fair and information booths. Speakers will include:

spotlights local artistic skill

Orozco Teen Workshop has offered to help community members work on individual bike projects or repairs. In addition, the show will spotlight a mixed martial arts demonstration by the Dragon's Den Kajukenbo Club of Union City.

iBike Union City was started in 2015 to increase awareness of the Union City Youth & Family Services Division (YFS), as well as the Larry Orozco Teen Workshop. "The Youth & Family Services Division provides resources to help families in need. We also try to find the children that fall through the cracks, so to speak," said Maynard Estrellado, along with the Youth & Family Services platform," said Estrellado. The show is typically attended by bike builders and enthusiasts but is targeted towards the entire Union City community.

iBike customarily features around 200 bike entries spanning 11 categories: Vintage, Lowrider, Custom, Stretched, Girls, Kids, Fixie, BMX (bicycles designed for racing on a dirt track), Trikes (tricycles), WTFrankenstien, and Best in Show. There is a $5 entry fee for each bike; proceeds are used to support the YFS and Larry Orozco Teen programs. Estrellado commented on the a Program Coordinator for the Union City Community & Protection Services Department. YFS also provides youth violence prevention and intervention services to young adults through counseling, employment help, case management, and street outreach. While the iBike event was initially a YFS event, the Community & Protection Services Department soon joined in, morphing the show from a concert series to a bicycle-centric swap meet.

"We wanted to use bikes and the custom [bike] culture to bring the crowd out, and that's going to help raise awareness of what we do for the city. It brings out the custom culture of actually creating a bike. Our bike workshop – we have kids that go out there and help fix bikes. We get a lot of bikes donated as well, so it's a good community program and we wanted to inaugurate that with this event unique flavor the community brings to the bike show, saying, "It's very colorful, with a lot of airbrushing on the bicycles. Last year, we got a bike that was made out of the parts of a drum set – cymbals, bass drums. There are bikes that look like motorcycles. There's a lot of local talented artists out there that like to create bicycles."

Estrellado remarked on the creative flair inherent in the bicycle community. "There's an artistic component to this," he said. "It's not just for bikes – it's to have artwork. It's different, not a typical city event that you attend. It's almost like an art gallery."

Latest Housing News and Updates

After a lull in housing development activity, several new proposals are now moving forward. And just last week, a Fremont landmark got a boost towards being recognized as a historic resource.

Community of Christ

Allied Housing has submitted a preliminary proposal to build 54 affordable housing units in a three-story building at 34320 Fremont Boulevard at the corner of Paseo Padre Parkway in the North Fremont Community Plan Area. The site is currently an empty lot in front of the Community of Christ Church.

According to the plans, a total of 41 units would be designated as affordable, and 13 units would be designated as permanent supportive for residents who need additional services. Vehicle entrances would be from Fremont and Paseo Padre, and parking would be at ground level on the north side.

This proposal is undergoing a Preliminary Review Procedure in the Fremont Planning Department. It has not been submitted as a Formal Application yet.

Residents may send their comments and questions about this preliminary proposal to City Staff Planner Mark Hungerford at mhungerford@fremont.gov

Fremont Habitat

Triple E Homz LLC is proposing to build a mixed-use, three-story building at 36551 Fremont Boulevard in the Centerville Community Plan Area. The building would contain 1,978 square feet of commercial retail space and parking on the ground floor with 9 two-level condos on the upper floors. There would also be 9 three-story townhouses at the rear of the property. Vehicle access would be from a driveway on Fremont Boulevard, and all parking would be on site.

This proposal is a Formal Application and is being reviewed by the Fremont Planning Department. It is not a Habitat for Humanity project.

Residents may send their questions and comments about this proposal to City Staff Planner David Wage at dwage@fremont.gov

Mission Paradise

A developer has submitted a formal application to build 20 residential units and 5,470 square feet of commercial space in 3 three-story buildings at the southwest corner of Washington Boulevard and Ellsworth Street in the Mission San Jose Community Plan Area. Two existing structures on the property would be demolished.

The commercial space would be on the ground floor of the building facing Washington. The residential units would consist of 6 flats on the ground floors of the other two buildings, and 14 two-level townhouses on the upper floors of all three buildings. Vehicle entrance would be from Washington. All parking would be in an underground garage.

This site is within the Mission San Jose Historic District and is subject to specific restrictions on architecture, building height, and other design details. The proposed project would have a maximum height of 40 feet, which exceeds the 30 feet height limit of the historic district and would require review by the Historical Architectural Review Board and the Planning Commission.

Residents may send their comments and questions about this proposal to City Staff Planner Mark Hungerford at mhungerford@fremont.gov

Cloverleaf Bowl

The Cloverleaf Family Bowl in Irvington, and all the other buildings in the old Fremont Center, were slated to be demolished as part of a developer's proposal to build 272 housing units on the site. That proposal has not been submitted as a Formal Application yet, but public concern over losing the landmark building, which has also been a source of recreational and social activities for decades, prompted the community to ask for action now.

During the City Council meeting on September 18, the council accepted a report from a consulting firm hired by the City of Fremont which stated that the Cloverleaf Bowl building was potentially eligible for listing on the Fremont Register of Historic Resources. That means that any future plans to demolish or make changes to the exterior of the building, or to construct other buildings in close proximity to the building, would have a significant impact on its historical significance and would require the City Council to vote on the matter before any work could proceed.

The Council further directed staff to submit the topic to the Historical Architectural Review Board for their determination if the Cloverleaf Bowl building should be listed in the Fremont Register of Historic Resources.

Particle accelerators have been revolutionizing discoveries in science, medicine, industry and national security for over a century. An estimated 30,000 particle accelerators are currently active around the world. In these machines, electromagnetic fields accelerate charged particles to velocities nearing the speed of light. Although their scientific appeal will remain evident for many decades, one limitation of the current generation of machines is their tremendous size and expense. In "Laser-Plasma Accelerators: Riding the Wave to the Next Generation X-Ray Light Sources," scientists will explore how the use of plasma may serve as a more sustainable way to reduce the size of accelerators and revolutionize applications in medicine, industry, and basic sciences.

An eye-opening Rotary project – Sight Now

BY MARGARET THORNBERRY
DR. GEETA KADAMBI

If you had happened to find yourself in South India near the sacred city of Kanchi this past August, you may have seen two gleaming white buses roll into a rural area and noticed the Rotary insignia displayed on the sides. You might have wondered what was going on, particularly when you saw the tables, chairs, and shade canopies set up, and the many people gathered there. Perhaps you already knew that Rotary International has partnered with the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and worked with the UN's World Health Organization to eliminate polio and, thanks to these efforts, this horrible disease has nearly been eradicated - from a peak of approximately 350,000 cases worldwide in 1988 to 22 cases in 2017. That same year, India was declared free from this disease. So, you might well wonder what are those people gathered here for?

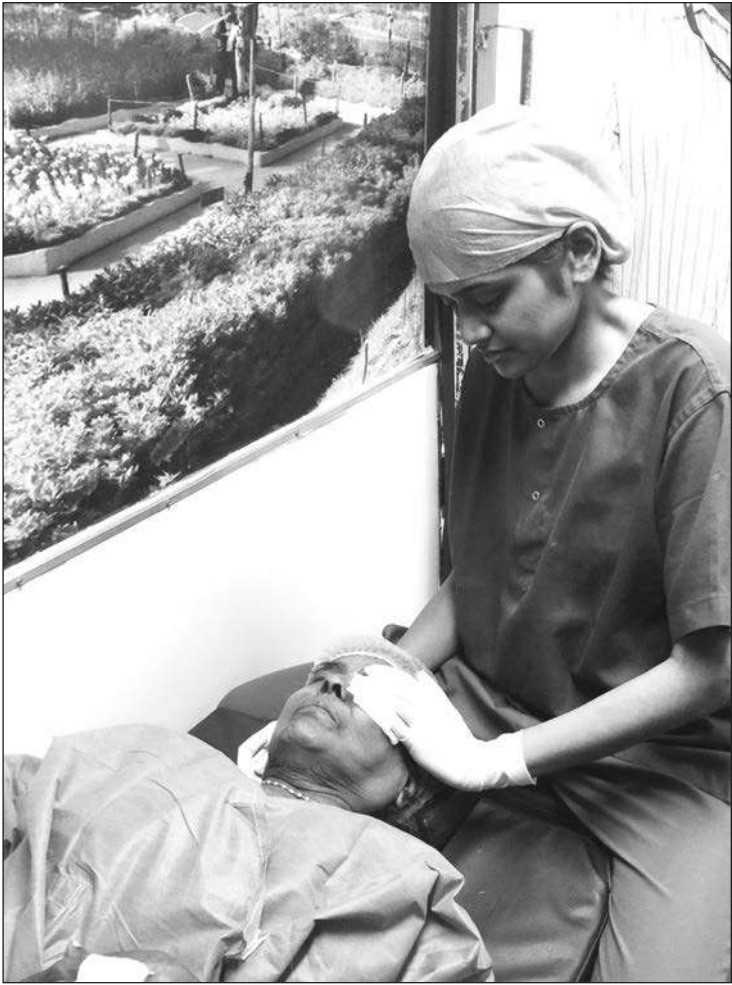

While Rotary is best known for their work to eradicate polio and the treatment of preventable blindness. This is a severe problem in rural India where, due to malnutrition, strong UV rays and little in the way of eye protection, children often need glasses, and adults develop cataracts. "When children are unable to see well, they drop out of school. If there is no education, poverty lingers," says Dr. Kadambi. Older people with cataracts are unable to contribute to the well-being of the family; surgery could be provided on site, all with the most up-to-date equipment?

India's Rotary Club of Guindy has partnered with Dr. Kadambi's home Rotary Area 3 clubs – Niles, Fremont, Newark, Mission San Jose, the Morning Club and the Fremont Union City – and the Mobile Eye Surgical Unit by Sankara Nethralaya Eye Hospital to do just that. Buses travel to makes critical measurements such as eye curvature and astigmatism, as well as an ophthalmic microscope to carefully monitor progress during surgery.

One bus serves as a preparation bus in which patients are evaluated, and cataract patients are prepared for surgery. Buses are connected via an airlock to maintain sterility in the mobile operating unit. It takes three days for the staff to completely clean this second bus at each eye camp after traveling the dusty roads of India, but it is time well spent, as the incidence of post-op infection is very low.

Dr. Kadambi's efforts with the support of local Rotary Area 3 clubs in cooperation with the Rotary Club of Guindy, has secured a sizeable grant for this project through the International Rotary Foundation, providing enough funding for five Sight Now eye camps this year. Dr. Kadambi says, "Giving is good for the soul. There's such a peaceful feeling to give vision to people who are so thankful. In future we will expand to other countries, such as Guatemala and Myanmar, with the help of Rotarians there."

To learn more about this outstanding project and others and about the Rotary organization, local Rotary clubs welcome guests to their meetings. globally, there are many other Rotary projects that work to bring clean water, education, medical care and more across the globe; these buses are here to bring top quality eye care to the rural people of Tamil Nadu through the Sight Now project.

Dr. Geeta Kadambi is founder and CEO of Riddhi IP LLC, a boutique patent services firm in Fremont. As a native of India with a PhD in clinical biochemistry, Dr. Kadambi has long had an interest in eye health instead, their care becomes a burden.

Sankara Nethralaya Eye Hospital in Chennai brings patients to their facility, a process that requires up to three days for preliminary evaluation, travel time and treatment without charge. Since family members are not allowed to accompany the patient, it can be a frightening experience, particularly for children. But, what if a careful evaluation, professional quality glasses and even cataract Patients come to be evaluated, lenses are ground and an aggressive schedule of cataract surgeries are performed each day the camp is held, changing the lives of up to 800 people in the course of a year.

Due to Dr. Kadambi's enthusiastic support and fundraising talent, the mobile eye care buses are now equipped with a Topcon refractor that accurately

Aviation Institute of Maintenance launches an impressive campus

By ASOK CHATTERGEE

Most travelers hardly think twice about flying. The confidence they have in the aircraft is a tribute to mechanics who maintain airplanes in an optimal operating condition.

Aviation Institute of Maintenance (AIM) is a network of aviation maintenance schools with campuses coast-to-coast across the United States, headquartered in Virginia Beach, Va. AIM students are trained to meet the increasing global demands of commercial, cargo, corporate and private aviation employers. AIM graduates are eligible to take FAA exams necessary to obtain their mechanic's certificate with ratings in both Airframe and Powerplant. These schools are qualified by the Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges (ACCSC) and approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

The California campus of AIM had been operating a facility at Oakland International Airport since 2010. However, with success of the program, AIM needed to look for options to expand their campus; they chose a spanking new facility in Fremont. Their new home in the Warm Springs district boasts a huge 65000 sq. ft. facility that includes an impressive 41000 sq. ft. of hangar space, and 21 classrooms. Operations of the Institute to Fremont moved to the new facility a couple of months ago. "While being at capacity (in Oakland) is a good problem to have, we are extremely excited to move to our new location," says Josh Smith, Campus Executive Director of AIM Fremont. "The relocation from Oakland to Fremont is an opportunity for us to expand, with a larger and more modern facility."

On Wednesday, September 19th, AIM hosted a formal ribbon cutting ceremony, attended by local and State of California dignitaries. Among those present were Lily Mei, Mayor of Fremont, Fremont City Council Members Rick Jones and Raj Salwan, State Senator Bob Wieckowski, State Assemblyman Kansen Chu, and Swapanthi Mandalika, Field Representative of US Congressman Ro Khanna.

During the formal ceremony, dignitaries noted the importance of AIM's move to Fremont with its close proximity to three major airports: San Francisco, San Jose, and Oakland. AIM will create immediate employment opportunities for graduates of the 21-month program.

Tours of the facility included a peek of classes in session, extensive hardware (electrical, mechanical, aeronautical) and software training laboratories, and library facilities on campus. At a celebratory luncheon, AIM students spoke about their excitement to be part of the training program and their future career prospects.

The day before the formal launch, AIM held a career fair, attended by potential employers. It is very clear that Fremont now can boast of an additional dynamic vocational training institution of a very high caliber.

Given an anticipated wave of experienced, long-time aviation experts' retirements coming soon, AIM is well positioned to keep airlines, big and small, flying the skies safely.

Will flying cars take off? Japan's government hopes so

By YURI KAGEYAMA
AP BUSINESS WRITER

Electric drones booked through smartphones pick people up from office rooftops, shortening travel time by hours, reducing the need for parking and clearing smog from the air.

This vision of the future is driving the Japanese government's "flying car" project. Major carrier All Nippon Airways, electronics company NEC Corp. and more than a dozen other companies and academic experts hope to have a road map ready by the year's end.

"This is such a totally new sector Japan has a good chance for not falling behind," said Fumiaki Ebihara, the government official in charge of the project.

Nobody believes people are going to be zipping around in flying cars any time soon. Many hurdles remain, such as battery life, the need for regulations and, of course, safety concerns. But dozens of similar projects are popping up around the world. The prototypes so far are less like traditional cars and more like drones big enough to hold people.

A flying car is defined as an aircraft that's electric, or hybrid electric, with driverless capabilities, that can land and takeoff vertically. They are often called EVtol, which stands for "electric vertical takeoff and landing" aircraft.

The flying car concepts promise to be better than helicopters, which are expensive to maintain, noisy to fly and require trained pilots, Ebihara and other proponents say.

"You may think of 'Back to the Future,' 'Gundam,' or 'Doraemon,'" Ebihara said, referring to vehicles of flight in a Hollywood film and in Japanese cartoons featuring robots. "Up to now, it was just a dream, but with innovations in motors and batteries, it's time for it to become real."

Google, drone company Ehang and car manufacturer Geely in China, and Volkswagen AG of Germany have invested in flying car technology.

Nissan Motor Co. and Honda Motor Co. said they had nothing to say about flying cars, but Toyota Motor Corp. recently invested $500 million in working with Uber on self-driving technology for the ride-hailing service. Toyota group companies have also invested 42.5 million yen ($375,000) in a Japanese startup, Cartivator, that is working on a flying car.

The hope is to fly up and light the torch at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics, but it's unclear it will meet that goal: At a demonstration last year, the device crashed after it rose to slightly higher than eye level. A video of a more recent demonstration suggests it's now flying more stably, though it's being tested indoors, unmanned and chained so it won't fly away.

There are plenty of skeptics.

Elon Musk, chief executive of electric car maker Tesla Inc., says even toy drones are noisy and blow a lot of air, which means anything that would be "1,000 times heavier" isn't practical.

"If you want a flying car, just put wheels on a helicopter," he said in a recent interview with podcast host and comedian Joe Rogan on YouTube. "Your neighbors are not going to be happy if you land a flying car in your backyard or on your rooftop."

Though the Japanese government has resisted Uber's efforts to offer ride-hailing services in Japan, limiting it to partnerships with taxi companies, it has eagerly embraced the U.S. company's work on EVtol machines.

Uber says it is considering Tokyo as its first launch city for affordable flights via its UberAir service. It says Los Angeles and Dallas, Texas, and locations in Australia, Brazil, France and India are other possible locations.

Unlike regular airplanes, with their aerodynamic design and two wings, Uber's "Elevate" structures look like small jets with several propellers on top. The company says it plans flight demonstrations as soon as 2020 and a commercial service by 2023.

Uber's vision calls for using heliports on rooftops, but new multi-floored construction similar to parking lots for cars will likely be needed to accommodate EVtol aircraft if the service takes off.

Unmanned drones are legal in Japan, the U.S. and other countries, but there are restrictions on where they can be flown and requirements for getting approval in advance. In Japan, drone flyers can be licensed if they take classes. There is no requirement like drivers licenses for cars.

Flying passengers over populated areas would take a quantum leap in technology, overhauling aviation regulations and air traffic safety controls, along with major efforts both to ensure safety and convince people it's safe.

Uber said at a recent presentation in Tokyo that it envisions a route between the city's two international airports, among others.

"This is not a rich person's toy. This is a mass market solution," said Adam Warmoth, product manager at Uber Elevate.

Concepts for flying cars vary greatly. Some resemble vehicles with several propellers on top while others look more like a boat with a seat over the propellers.

Ebihara, the flying-car chief at the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry, says Japan is on board for "Blade Runner" style travel — despite its plentiful, efficient and well developed public transportation.

Japan's auto and electronics industries have the technology and ability to produce super-light materials that could give the nation an edge in the flying car business, he said.

Just as the automobile vanquished horse-drawn carriages, moving short-distance transport into the air could in theory bring a sea change in how people live, Ebihara said, pointing to the sky outside the ministry building to stress how empty it was compared to the streets below.

Flying also has the allure of a bird's eye view, the stuff of drone videos increasingly used in filmmaking, tourism promotion and journalism.

Atsushi Taguchi, a "drone grapher," as specialists in drone video are called, expects test flights can be carried out even if flying cars won't become a reality for years since the basic technology for stable flying already exists with recent advances in sensors, robotics and digital cameras.

A growing labor shortage in deliveries in Japan is adding to the pressures to realize such technology, though there are risks, said Taguchi, who teaches at the Tokyo film school Digital Hollywood.

The propellers on commercially sold drones today are dangerous, and some of his students have lost fingers with improper flying. The bigger propellers needed for vertical flight would increase the hazards and might need to be covered.

The devices might need parachutes to soften crash landings, or might have to explode into small bits to ensure pieces hitting the ground would be smaller.

"I think one of the biggest hurdles is safety," said Taguchi. "And anything that flies will by definition crash."

California governor vetoes bill to ban per-signature payment

AP WIRE SERVICE

California Gov. Jerry Brown has once again vetoed a bill that would have banned paying people based on the number of signatures they collect for ballot initiatives.

In the veto message he released Tuesday, Brown quoted his previous veto message from 2011, when he rejected a similar bill.

“Per-signature payment is often the most cost-effective method for collecting the hundreds of thousands of signatures needed to qualify a ballot measure,” he wrote. “Eliminating this option will drive up the cost of circulating ballot measures, thereby further favoring the wealthiest interests.”

Initiative proponents must collect a certain number of signatures to place a measure on the ballot in California. It can cost millions to collect enough to qualify a measure.

Supporters of the bill, AB1947, argued paying per-signature creates an incentive for signature gatherers to deceive voters about what they are signing. It would have applied to initiative, referendum and recall petitions.

AB1947 was one of dozens Brown acted on Tuesday. He also vetoed legislation that aimed to eliminate conflicts of interests by sheriffs who serve dually as county coroners.

That bill, SB1303, was sparked after San Joaquin County’s medical examiner alleged the sheriff interfered in death investigations. The medical examiner was Dr. Bennet Omalu, the pathologist made famous by the movie “Concussion.” Omalu accused Sheriff Steve Moore of interfering with investigations to protect law enforcement.

The sheriff serves as the coroner in most of California’s 58 counties.

The bill would have required large counties to hire independent examiners or send investigations to other counties when sheriffs had conflicts of interest.

Brown said decisions about how to structure coroner services are best left to local elected officials.

Brown also signed dozens of bills, including two targeting the opioid epidemic. One would help California share prescribing information with other states and another aims to make it easier to identify prescription pad fraud.

Seismic retrofit program to benefit homeowners

SUBMITTED BY ALICE KIM

Much of California is vulnerable to earthquakes. And many older homes in urban centers like the San Francisco Bay Area are especially at risk because they don’t meet current seismic safety standards.

With that in mind, the City of San Leandro is offering eligible homeowners a chance to receive up to $3,000 to help strengthen their homes in the event of a major earthquake through its 2019 Earthquake Brace + Bolt program.

To be eligible for the program, the houses must meet certain criteria, including being built on a level or low-slope site and sit on a raised foundation with a four-foot (or less) cripple wall under the first floor. Qualifying dwellings are typically pre-1979 houses that are not bolted to foundations, are built atop a crawl space, and have unbraced “cripple walls” surrounding the crawl space.

Homeowners in the 94577, 94578 and 94579 zip codes are eligible to apply for the program from Oct. 9 through Nov. 13 at www.earthquakebracebolt.com.

Qualifying registered homeowners will be selected by a random drawing. If funds are not available to all eligible homeowners, participants will be placed on a wait-list. In the last Brace and Bolt program, 185 San Leandro homeowners were awarded or in the process of receiving up to $3,000 to retrofit their homes in 2018.

For more information about this program, call the Community Development Department, Building Division at (510) 577-3420.

California
scraps helmet mandate for motorized scooters

BY KATHLEEN RONAYNE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Californians soon won’t have to wear helmets while zipping around on motorized scooters.

Gov. Jerry Brown signed legislation Wednesday requiring helmets only for people under age 18. It’s a win for companies such as Bird and Lime that operate the popular scooters in major cities across California and the country.

The scooters, which the law says can’t go faster than 15 miles per hour, have delighted riders but rankled motorists, pedestrians and city officials.

San Francisco earlier this year banned the scooters because of concerns about riders not wearing helmets, riding on sidewalks and violating other laws. In August it awarded permits for a pilot program to several scooter companies but shunned companies Bird, Lime and Spin, which had previously operated in the city. Bird backed the no-helmet law.

Bird operates in more than a dozen California cities, including Berkeley, San Diego and San Jose.

The law takes effect Jan. 1.

Republican Assemblyman Heath Flora of Ripon, the bill’s author, said standup scooters can alleviate congestion on California’s roads and will help the state meet its climate change goals by reducing car emissions.

He argued adults should be free to choose whether or not they want to wear a helmet when riding the scooters, even though companies highly recommend them and they are proven to enhance safety, according to the bill analysis.

Flora’s bill also lets cities authorize the scooters on roadways with speed limits up to 35 mph (56 kph). That’s up from 25 mph (40 kph) under current law.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: SEPTEMBER 25 - OCTOBER 2, 2018

For All Signs: The planet Mars (ancient god of war) is parallel Saturn (ruler of limits and boundaries). Their coming together represents a debate between polarities: action vs. stasis, hot vs. cold, spontaneity vs. containment, individual needs vs. the collective. This aspect urges us to develop the self-discipline and groundwork needed to become a courageous warrior for our personal or collective causes. Less positively, when the energies are right for war in the world or strife within a relationship, this conjunction can augur the spark. Overall, people will be less patient than normal and may be open to a fight if you step on their toes. Mars is also conjunct to the South Node of the Moon, which represents the past, and old history. Avoid the slide into old arguments and quarrels. This would use your energy in a negative way and drag you backward on your path.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20): This is a seriously hard-working period. You may be packing and moving your personal goods. Whatever the project, it involves considerable lifting, pushing, pulling, and grunt work. Be very conscious of good body posture. The emotional pressure may set you up for an accident. Take your time and ask for help rather than forcing your limits.

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20): You are in a period of juggling your time and energy. You want to follow your own plan and you wish others would go into suspension until you have time to complete the project. Communicate your needs clearly and often for best results.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20): Relationships are a little rocky now. There are elements of obsessive thinking and criticism involved. Be intentional about keeping an open mind and don't insist on a black and white answer. It is possible someone is doing this to you, but you can resist falling into that trap.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21): An issue concerning your estate matters or other shared resources may open up for one more discussion. This is something that seems to go away, only to surface later in another form. The issue is over values. You and the other have differing attitudes. Consider discussing how you and the Other assign worth. Maybe that will change the conversation enough to arrive at the conflict differently.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22): Your significant other may be acting like a horse's patootie right now, but you don't have to follow suit and play in the same court. Neither of you is being served by sharp words and irritable behavior. "Prove it if you love me" is a game left over from the cave people. Leave it alone.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22): This is a week in which you will tend to be thinking obsessively. It is an opportunity to learn how to better control your mind. Shift your attention to something less dramatic, such as whatever is happening this moment, rather than worrying over what might happen in the future.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22): It is time to dig deeply into yourself, so you can be as fully honest as possible within important relationships. Speak from your heart and do not allow your ego, which wants only to look good, to take your words hostage. Think carefully about what is truly important to you now, at this time in your life. Don't allow old habits or rules from the past to make your decision for you.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21): Give attention to the lead paragraph. If you are angry with someone in the present, it is more related to your childhood and adolescent history than it is in the now. Notch your passionate response down a couple of pegs and you might be more in the ball park of reality.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21): Don't allow yourself to be tempted into grandiosity. You'll be inclined to spend more than you have, take ill-conceived risks, lecture others about your belief systems, and present your viewpoint as the final word. It is an attitude that keeps you overly excited and causes difficulty sleeping.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19): Prepare for a period of scarcity between now and the end of October. This could be due to limited income and energy. Make every effort to not add to your debt load. You will need your savings for back up. Otherwise you must work extra hours to manage your resources. Many of you have seen this time coming and have already prepared.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18): Please read the lead paragraph. Mars is traversing your sign and making the message more imperative for the Waterbearers. You could become involved in a drama with a significant other. Your ego may be a bit bruised, but the real wound happened many years ago.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20): There is an old saying: "Don't believe everything you think." Take this one to heart this week. Your feelings and thoughts may be only projections of what you want to think. You might identify a piece of information as a truth, when indeed, it is merely your opinion.

Anniversary of “Great Quake”

This year marks the 150th anniversary of the “Great Quake” on the Hayward Fault when a 6-foot offset was ripped from Milpitas to San Leandro. On Sunday, October 21, the City of Fremont will co-sponsor an earthquake awareness event with local nonprofit Math Science Nucleus (MSN) and various geological organizations in Central Park from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This free event aims to educate families and the public on earthquake science, history, and preparedness. Featuring the grand opening of the Earthquake Walk, a new series of signs throughout Central Park, attendees will be guided and educated by volunteer scientists and docents. Walking tours will begin at the Performance Pavilion starting at noon and continuing until 3 p.m., on demand.

Fun, informative activities will be offered at three focus zones: Kids Earthquake Zone, Earthquake Science Zone, and Earthquake Preparedness Zone. Families can see a simulated earthquake in action, build houses of blocks and watch them tumble down, and participate in hands-on experiments. Participants will also learn about how to prepare for earthquakes, what to take with them in case of an earthquake emergency, how earthquake insurance works, and more. Live music will be performed at the Performance Pavilion throughout the day.

For more information about the event, please visit <http://msnucleus.org/haywardfault/shake.html>.

Leveraging Technology
for Public Safety

Staff will provide an overview of several programs, both public and private, that are impacting the Department’s ability to solve crime. The one-hour program will include general information, case studies, best practices, and information about Department policies on the following topics:

- Citywide community camera program
- Use of private video at retail centers
- License plate reader (LPR) cameras
- Residential camera registration program
- Unmanned aerial vehicle program (drones)
- Future projects

The meeting will be held in the Fremont City Council Chambers, located at 3300 Capitol Ave., Building A. Community members unable to attend can watch the meeting live on September 25 from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on the Fremont Government Channel 27 or on the City’s website at www.Fremont.gov/LiveStreaming. A recording of the meeting will also be posted to the City website and on Channel 27 to watch at a later date.

Promote Clean Energy

Fremont households are invited to participate in a smart home energy research project with Pecan Street Inc., a non-profit energy and water research organization partnering with the City of Fremont. Participants will receive eGauge devices that collect and display one-second interval energy data in real-time on a secure online platform. Each eGauge device, provided at no charge to participants, will be mounted inside or adjacent to the home’s electrical panel by a licensed electrician. Pecan Street will prioritize owner-occupied households that already have rooftop solar, plug-in electric vehicles, and/or home energy storage systems in place.

Participation in the program is completely free and voluntary. Interested households will go through a preliminary screening process to determine eligibility, and those chosen to participate will sign agreements to protect their data privacy and confidentiality. The data collected by Pecan Street will be shared with university researchers and industry-leading companies to help cities like Fremont develop and expand upon their clean energy policies and programs.

Visit the Pecan Street Resources webpage at www.PecanStreet.org/Resources for more information, including volunteer stories and an online participant agreement.

College
readiness programs

SUBMITTED BY DIONICIA RAMOS

A new partnership between the Koret Foundation, a San Francisco-based philanthropic foundation, and the National Math and Science Initiative (NMSI) will help fund various college readiness programs at several schools in Hayward.

The College Readiness Program represents a total investment by the Koret Foundation of $2 million over three years and includes intensive teacher trainings to ensure educators have the content knowledge and teaching strategies necessary to prepare students for AP-level coursework, including Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) coursework that is vital for today’s job market. The program is being implemented at Mt. Eden High School, Tennyson High School and Hayward High School.

“Koret looks for innovative models that increase access to quality education for all students,” said Jeffrey Farber, chief executive officer of the Koret Foundation. “NSMI’s track record of success is what the Bay Area community needs and we are proud to partner with NMSI to expand their proven College Readiness Program in the region.”

Hayward Unified School District (HUSD) serves more than 20,000 students from pre-kindergarten through high school. Approximately 72 percent of the student population is socioeconomically disadvantaged, and one-third are English learners. The district recently passed a Sanctuary Schools resolution and a resolution in support of African-American student achievement; both focus on improving academic achievement outcomes for students facing additional barriers to learning.

Educators whose schools have benefited from NMSI’s teacher training have seen the differences it makes in the classroom. Kelly Bellard, an AP calculus teacher at Mt. Eden High School in Hayward, said, “NMSI has been a vehicle for us to offer AP chemistry and AP computer science principles as two new AP courses for this upcoming school year. Teachers now have access to a lot of new resources to use with their students, which is very valuable for both students and teachers.”

This College Readiness Program will also help cover the cost of AP exams, which represents an outsized burden for families from disadvantaged socioeconomic backgrounds. Dave Seymour, principal of Hayward High School, said, “We’re very excited to begin this partnership with NMSI and the Koret Foundation, which will encourage students to enroll and succeed in college-level AP courses. I’ve seen the data on what the College Readiness Program has achieved around the state and country, and I’m proud to use that proven model at Hayward High.”

The 7 Elements of Interior Design

in a rectangular dining room fits well. A similarly rectangular light fixture can provide nice repetition of lines, but a trio of round pendant fixtures above the table instead will provide an interesting contrast and sense of balance. Either would be an appropriate choice; the key is to combine and balance the elements.

4) LIGHT

Light is absolutely key in interior design. Generally speaking, a room needs three types of lighting: Ambient, task, and accent. Ambient lighting illuminates the entire space (think recessed can lighting); task lighting could be a bedside or desk lamp; and accent lighting is the “dazzle” in the room that provides the beauty and character. Examples: a crystal

Anna Jacoby is a local Certified Interior Designer. Contact her at 510-378-6989 or info@annajacobyinteriors.com You could also visit her website at www.annajacobyinteriors.com

Interior design is an art as well as a science, encompassing so much more than the visible, tangible items in the room, such as the sofa, the lamp and the drapes. Those items are important components to the finished room, of course, but there is so much more to it. Before the designer can get to selecting those items, he or she must step back, evaluate the entire space, and consider the seven guiding interior design elements to create a cohesive, harmonious space that is both functional and beautiful. Let's look at each of the seven elements in a little more detail.

SPACE

Space refers to the physical boundaries of a room. The designer must be very aware of the space available, both the two-dimensional floor space, but also the three-dimensional volume in the room. The designer must find a way to use existing space to his or her advantage. In a long, rectangular room, for example, the best use of space might be to divide it into two distinct living areas: one for TV watching and another for working from home. An area containing furniture and décor items is a “positive space,” while an empty spot is referred to as a “negative space.” The negative space can often be as important as the positive space, as it gives the eye a place to rest, and brings other elements into focus.

LINE

Lines are generally categorized into three types – horizontal, vertical and dynamic. Think table tops, shelves for horizontal lines; windows, doorways and tall fireplace chimneys for vertical lines. Dynamic lines might be an angled ceiling, a curved wall, or an arched doorway. Interior designers know to use a combination of lines is when selecting the selecting the items, or “forms” that will adorn the space.

3) FORM

The term “form” is used interchangeably with “shape” (and is also closely related to line). A form can have straight, angular lines, or be more “organic” or curvy. Forms can also be categorized as open (think of a birdcage light fixture that you can see through) or closed (for example, a solid ceramic table lamp base). Designers combine forms and lines to maximum effect in a space. For example, a long table chandelier, or pendant lights above your kitchen island.

5) COLOR

Color has the power to create many desired effects in a space. It can make a small room look larger and a large room look more cozy. It can create a sense of calm, or inject some drama into the space. Colors have values and intensities, and color schemes can be monochromatic, harmonious, or complementary. Designers combine colors to achieve their desired goals.

6) TEXTURE

Texture describes how typical surface looks and feels. Think of polished granite versus concrete; velvet versus silk. Texture adds depth and dimension into a space, and a variety of textures makes a room more interesting. A sleek glass-topped table, atop a shaggy area rug, combined with a velvet chair will look more interesting than a room where everything is the same.

7) PATTERN

A room always needs a bit of pattern to add interest. Pattern can be linear/geometric (think about a subway tile backsplash, or a striped wallpaper) or curvy/organic (think paisley or florals, or even animal print). Patterns can be subtle or dramatic, and often a little goes a long way. A mixture of geometric and organic patterns is best for creating a cohesive interior design.

Successful interior designs are achieved because of careful consideration of these seven elements.

OneChild: Making children a priority

BY JOHNNA M. LAIRD

TONY DUTRA

An award-winning, Fremont non-profit serving more than 400 children annually –born from one woman’s remembrance of her own painful, childhood experience – is, after 17 years of operation, opening a second center. OneChild will make the formal announcement at its 17th annual fundraiser on Friday, October 5 at Spin-A-Yarn Restaurant in Fremont.

Guy Zakrevsky, Director of Alternative Education for Hayward Unified School District, and Davida Scott, Teacher on Special Assignment with Youth Engagement and Work-based Learning, have led the effort to open the second center in Cherryland’s adult school, adjacent to a new elementary school under construction. Expected to open near the end of October, OneChild will feature a large room to display clothing plus school and health supplies for children in need. Just as in Fremont, families will have a one-hour shopping window where children can browse and try on clothes without any other shoppers present.

“There’s an abundant need for our services in Hayward,” says OneChild CEO Tony Dutra, whose mother is the prime mover-shaker behind the organization and remains its president. “This new center will allow OneChild to not only serve more children but also create a model that we can take into other school districts and cities.”

Tony’s mother, Bernadine Dutra, was raised in a household with three brothers. Her father supported the family on a bus driver’s salary. “They didn’t have much. As a consequence, my mother did not have appropriate clothing or school supplies. Because of this, she was taunted and bullied. At one point, she was even surrounded, and someone spat on my mother!” he explains. This kind of behavior toward children, he notes, “can destroy self-esteem, make them feel worthless and lead to serious consequences in later years and life.”

In Bernadine, the experience fostered compassion for children in need. At a time when her own five children had reached adulthood and she was in the midst of dealing with breast cancer, she decided to form OneChild, empowering the nonprofit with a vision: “I am only one, but I am someone. I can’t do everything, but I can do something. Recognizing that we cannot save the world, we choose not to walk away, but to help one child at a time.”

In its first year, OneChild served 47 children. Tony’s wife, Dianna, who taught kindergarten and first grade at Brier Elementary, helped with the launch, drawing on her knowledge and that of her teaching colleagues who knew which students could benefit from back-to-school shopping for a self-esteem boost. After transforming a room at Brier, the program later moved to Marshall School and then to Washington Hospital. At its current Washington Hospital headquarters, OneChild offers open-area clothes shopping with three dressing rooms and a bathroom. There is room for backpacks, books, and school and dental supplies as well as an office.

Children come with their families on a Saturday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at appointment times. Only one family shops at a time to allow privacy and avoid stigma. Fremont Resource Center vets children recommended by several agencies, including Abode Services, to ensure that children served are those in need. OneChild’s only staff member, operational manager and part-timer Georgina Fernandez, shops for new clothes in the sizes provided and adds these clothes to racks of existing new clothes. At the end of the hour, children leave with two new outfits, usually two pairs of pants and three shirts or blouses. Additionally, their bags include several pairs of underwear and socks, and a sweatshirt and sweat pants. A gift card provides money for shoes. Children also fill a bag with school supplies—a binder, paper, pencils, pens, erasers, glue, scissors, a new supply case, highlighters, and a new backpack.

On OneChild’s website Bernadine describes the experience as “reminiscent of ‘back-to-school’ shopping that is a tradition for many other children in their school. Thus, these children feel the same sense of pride in their school clothes and supplies.”

OneChild serves children in kindergarten through twelfth grade, but Tony admits “we cheat a little and have some clothing for toddlers. I can’t help it, we love children!”

To date, OneChild has served more than 6,000 children in the East Bay. For 2018, the organization handed out 437 backpacks. Although children served come primarily from the East Bay, there are exceptions, like the time a refugee family from Uganda was served.

OneChild also relies on about 25 volunteers; Tony admits they could use a few more. “It’s one three-hour shift a month. That’s it. No more demands on them than that. Volunteers love it and take great pride and enjoyment from serving these children.”

How has the nonprofit succeeded? Tony says success stems from a commitment by his mother, the Dutra family, OneChild’s board of directors, its operational manager, volunteers and supporters who attend and contribute at the annual fundraiser, which last year generated about $60,000. Dutra is hoping for similar success this year. The fundraiser will include hors d’oeuvres and drinks, a slideshow recognizing donors, and information on the new Hayward expansion.

“We serve good people,” says Dutra, “who have just had a bad break in one way or another. Our family can relate to this very well.”

Milpitas Recreation and Community Services is hosting its second "Oktoberfest" celebration on Saturday, September 29 at the Milpitas Civic Center Plaza. Join us for live music, traditional German contests, food and drinks... and it wouldn't be Oktoberfest without some great German beer!

This is a fun event for the whole family! While the adults are enjoying their beer and wine, the kids can score a free root beer float served by Dave & Buster's (free for kids only).

You can also fill up on some great food from the Crepe 'em Coming food truck, Little Red Riding food truck, Nava Sausage, and Esther's German Bakery.

Event admission is free. Must be 21+ years of age to purchase and/or consume alcohol. By attending this event, you assume responsibility for minors under your care. No outside alcoholic beverages allowed at this event.

CONSTITUTION DAY IS SEPT. 17, 2018

U.S. Constitution Protects Free Speech

Ask your school librarian to set up a display of books on free speech and the free press. Use the space here to design a poster. Make a larger version of it to display in your school library!

"Congress shall make no law ... abridging the freedom of speech"

This year, Kid Scoop celebrates Constitution Day with a look at the reasons why freedom of speech is one of the freedoms the Founding Fathers protected in the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Jason has written a letter, on the right, to the editor of his newspaper, but something is wrong. The words are out of order. Can you put them back into the right order? Rewrite his letter on another sheet of paper.

Standards Link: Revision: Revise drafts to improve logical progression of ideas.

Kyle is about to give an important speech at his school. But he got so nervous, he dropped some pages. Can you find all 12 pages of his speech on today's Kid Scoop page?

Dear Editor,
Scoop! Thank you
your paper.
I like to read Kid
for putting it in

Sincerely,
Jason

Lively Discussions

The topic of free speech always sparks a lively discussion. Some say there should be limits on free speech. Others say people should be allowed to express whatever they want, even if it hurts or offends someone else.

What do YOU think?

Should students be allowed to wear t-shirts to school that say rude things?

Write a sentence in favor of allowing any kind of t-shirt in one of the speech bubbles at left. Then write why it shouldn't be allowed in the other bubble.

Standards Link: Civics: Understand freedoms guaranteed under the Bill of Rights.

Extra! Extra! Many Forms of Speech

Imagine you have a message you want to get out. Look through today's newspaper. Find and clip examples of ways people communicate. Paste them in the bubbles below.

Standards Link: Research: Use the newspaper to locate information.

What is Free Speech?

Imagine being put into jail for 26 years because you _____ your government. That happened to Nelson Mandela when he criticized his country's _____ for its policy of apartheid (separating black and white people).

When the _____ colonies were under British rule in the 1700s, a man by the name of John Peter Zenger was brought to trial for _____ a newspaper that criticized the British government.

The leaders that started the United States of America created the Constitution to _____ people from these kinds of _____. With the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, they established the _____ of both speech and _____, as well as three other freedoms.

Standards Link: Civics: Understand the purpose of the Constitution.

Letter to the Editor

The Constitution of the United States guarantees freedom of speech. This freedom makes it possible for all Americans to have their voices heard. It makes it possible for newspapers to report the news without worrying about the government telling them what they can and cannot say.

Look through today's newspaper for information about something in the community that interests you. Write a letter to the editor of this paper. Use the following as a guide for your letter. Rewrite your letter on another sheet of paper and send it to the editor.

Dear Editor,

On _____ (date)
I read in your newspaper

I am glad you reported this story because

I think that

It is important for a newspaper to have the freedom to print this report because

Fee Adjustment for Public Electric Vehicle Chargers in Fremont

The City of Fremont currently operates 17 publicly accessible electric vehicle (EV) charging stations at City facilities and along Capitol Avenue in Downtown. On Tuesday, September 11, 2018, the Fremont City Council approved to adjust the fee for these stations from an hourly rate of $1.50 to a $0.35 per kilowatt-hour rate. The adjustment creates a more equitable fee structure as it allows drivers to charge their vehicles at a consistent price for the amount of power dispensed, regardless of the speed at which their vehicles are able to charge. The new $0.35 per kilowatt-hour rate is now in effect for the 15 charging stations (supporting 30 parking spaces) along Capitol Avenue between Paseo Padre Parkway and Fremont Boulevard. It is also in effect for the charging stations at the Central Park Boathouse and the City's Development Services Center. The City remains committed to providing opportunities for residents to charge their vehicles throughout Fremont, further encouraging the transition to electric vehicles and decreasing community greenhouse gas emissions.

Free Home Energy Workshop in Fremont

Did you know your monthly energy bill will look different starting in November? To find out how it's changing, attend the Future of Your Energy Bill workshop on Sunday, September 30 from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Fremont Main Library, 2400 Stevenson Blvd. You'll learn the answers to the following questions:

- Who is East Bay Community Energy (EBCE) and why will they be providing electricity instead of PG&E?
- What is a Time-of-Use (TOU) rate and why does it matter?
- How can I reduce my environmental impact while still saving money?
- What programs are available to help make my home healthier and cozier?

Attendees will learn about EBCE, Fremont's new community choice energy program that will supply cleaner, greener electricity to residents starting in November. They will also learn about home rebate programs, City of Fremont sustainability initiatives, and Bay Area SunShares, a limited-time discount program for installing rooftop solar panels and purchasing a zero emission vehicle.

All attendees will receive a canvas tote bag and a LED bulb. The workshop is free, but space is limited. Register today at www.Fremont.gov/HomeEnergyWorkshop. This workshop is sponsored by StopWaste.

Join Fremont's Upcoming Fixit Clinic

troubleshooting and discovery workshop and is a great opportunity for anyone who has never tried troubleshooting or fixing something on their own before. Attendees will participate in each stage of the repair so they leave with new skills and a sense that reuse and repair beats the landfill any day.

Event founder Peter Mui and the volunteer Fixit Clinic coaches generously donate their time and tools to the program, and more volunteers are always needed. Those who are interested can sign up at <https://goo.gl/kwVNIv>.

Fixit Clinics rotate through the branch libraries of the Alameda County Library System (www.aclibrary.org). Information on upcoming Northern California and San Francisco Bay Area Fixit Clinics is typically posted to Facebook at www.facebook.com/pg/FixitClinic/events.

The City of Fremont Requests Community Input on Prospective Minimum Wage Ordinance

The Fremont City Council is currently considering whether or not to establish a citywide ordinance that would increase the minimum wage to $15 per hour at a faster rate than the State mandates. The current statewide minimum wage is $10.50 per hour for small businesses and $11 per hour for large businesses.

In April 2016, Governor Jerry Brown signed legislation that introduced a phased increase in the minimum wage from $10 per hour to $15 per hour over the course of seven years. According to this mandate, small employers with 25 or less employees and large employers with over 25 employees are required to pay their minimum wage employees $15 per hour by 2023 and 2022 respectively.

Following the signing of the State's minimum wage legislation, the Cities Association of Santa Clara County recommended to its members that they adopt local minimum wage ordinances that would fast-track the minimum wage increase to $15 per hour by 2019. To date, eight of the 15 cities in Santa Clara County have adopted local ordinances, targeting 2018 or 2019 for the $15 hourly minimum wage. Among Alameda County's 13 cities, three have adopted minimum wage ordinances targeting $15 per hour by 2018 or 2020.

In Fremont, the proposed minimum wage ordinance would most directly affect employees in occupations such as security guards, food service and retail positions, building and ground cleaning positions, child care workers, and personal care positions. In addition, the 2018 Silicon Valley Index estimates that jobs paying at or close to the minimum wage constitute almost a third of total employment in Silicon Valley.

While adoption of this minimum wage ordinance could help some families remain housed and achieve a higher level of economic self-sufficiency, it also may impact the City's efforts to attract new retail establishments and cause some businesses to increase product prices and decrease hours for minimum wage employees.

The City of Fremont requests input from residents and community stakeholders via an online survey on Fremont Open City Hall, the City's online civic engagement forum. Please visit www.Fremont.gov/OpenCityHallMinWage to take the survey and provide your feedback by mid-October. The survey is also available in Spanish at www.Fremont.gov/OpenCityHallMinWageSpanish and in Chinese at www.Fremont.gov/OpenCityHallMinWageChinese.

Important Information about the Upcoming Fremont City Council Elections

This November, four Fremont City Council seats will be up for election on the General Municipal Ballot. Under Fremont's new district-based election system, voters may elect candidates only from the district that they live in. Voters residing in District 1 (Northwest Fremont), District 2 (Central North Fremont), District 3 (Central Fremont), and District 4 (Eastern Fremont) will elect a City Councilmember to represent their district in the upcoming election.

Fremont residents can identify the district they live in by visiting the Council District Locator tool at www.Fremont.gov/CouncilDistrictLocator and plugging in a home address. This tool includes mapping layers of City and public safety facilities, public schools, shopping centers, and Alameda County voter precincts as reference points. In addition, the locator includes a link to designated polling places.

To vote in the election, you must be a U.S. citizen, at least 18 years old, a resident of Fremont, and neither in prison nor on parole for a felony conviction. Make sure you are registered at least 15 days before the election. Re-registration is required if you have moved since you last registered, changed your name, or changed your political party affiliation. Polls open at 7 a.m. on Tuesday, November 6 and close at 8 p.m.

Those interested in learning more about how Fremont launched the process to convert elections from the at-large voting system to a district-based process can read more at www.Fremont.gov/DistrictElectionsBackground.

For more information contact the City Clerk's Office at 510-284-4060 or cclerk@fremont.gov.

SUBMITTED BY COACH MATT GUZMAN

To be included in the Durango Fall Classic, held this year in Las Vegas September 14-15, is an honor. A gathering of the top teams in the nation, the Lady Colts proved that their presence was no accident, finishing in the top third of the competition. With a 20th place finish out of 64 teams, Colts victories included wins over Flintridge Sacred Heart, Arbor View, O'Connor, and Skyridge of Utah.

Notable players during the tournament included Senior Taumafa Tuinauvai (#9), Junior Abigail Viado (#3) and Junior Ruby Santos (#15). Congratulations to all Colts players for their success at the tournament.

Cross Country

Cougars shine in dual meet

SUBMITTED BY TIMOTHY HESS

The Newark Memorial Cougars opened Mission Valley Athletic League cross country action on September 20th at Quarry Lakes against the John F. Kennedy Titans. Both the varsity boys and girls teams opened the season with convincing wins, putting their record at 1-0. Jessica Novak won the girls race helping lead Newark to an 18-45 win and Cole Kendall won the boys race to help the boys notch a 22-39 victory.

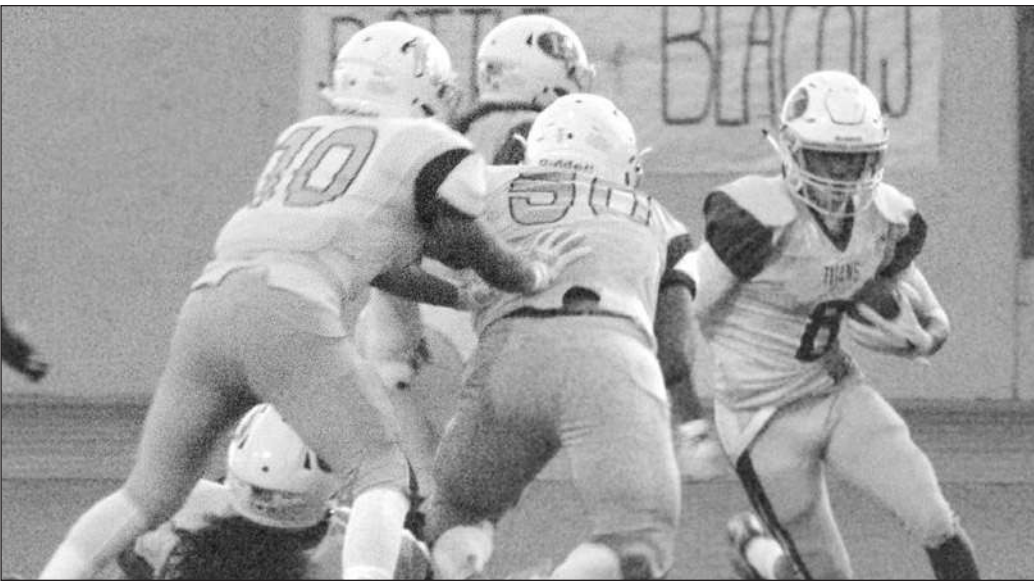

Battle of Blacow

SUBMITTED AND PHOTOS BY MIKE HEIGHTCHEW

The talk all over the south end of Fremont this week centered on who would win the annual "Battle of Blacow." In a rivalry that pits the Irvington Vikings against John F. Kennedy Titans who share a street name address, there is plenty of adrenalin flowing when they meet on the field. This is a contest to determine bragging rights; for this game, team statistics and lineups are unreliable indicators of the outcome. Each year, all players of both squads spend every ounce of their energy as they battle for a favorable outcome.

On Friday, September 21st of this year, the Titans began to mark this as their year in the first quarter with an early scoring drive. They continued their scoring blitz in every quarter thereafter although the Vikings defense was not easily moved. Although the Vikings offense created several scoring opportunities and moved down the field, they were unable to put the points on the scoreboard. The Titans dominated the third quarter, sealing the victory, coming off the field with a 44-8 victory and bragging rights for the 2018-19 school year.

Cougars senior wins 2018 Newark Mile

SUBMITTED BY TIMOTHY HESS

Newark Memorial High School senior Angel Martinez won the 34th annual running of the Newark Mile, finishing the 2.5-mile course in 13:02. Martinez defended his 2017 title, improving his previous winning time by 58 seconds, to win the Newark Mile 4K for the second year in a row. The Newark Mile is part of the Newark Days celebration honoring the founding of the City of Newark.

Best Kept Secret

Many places have gyms but this is the only one in the United States that is an Olympic size, fully marked, permanent Team Handball court and one of the longest in California – 30 yards longer than a regulation basketball court. Most teams in this country spend more than two hours taping lines on a makeshift court in order to play this fast paced, high scoring game with similarities of basketball and soccer. Two teams of seven players each (six court players and a goalkeeper) pass a ball using their hands with the aim of throwing it into the goal of the other team. Even for the 1984 and 1996 Summer Olympic Games, the United States had to overlay and install a fully marked indoor carpet for competition.

With the support and guidance of Principal Dr. Garo Mirigian in 1995, after winning a second North American Junior Championship in Winnipeg, Canada, a one of a kind, regulation size Team Handball court was installed in a gym built for the students at Centerville Junior High School. That same year, as a grand opening, the school hosted an adult international match between Team Dicken of Finland and the former USA Olympic and current national champions of Colorado Springs. Between 1979 and 2008, this junior high school has had the largest youth club and top program in the country, earning one state and five western regional championships.

Because the United States is one of three host nations for the 2028 Summer Olympic Games, the International Handball Federation recently sent their vice president, Jean Brihault, to Fremont to tour the facility and witness a junior clinic for Bay Area youth players. Also present was Mark Wright, Nor Cal director and former national team handball player from the San Francisco Bay Area. The IHF is formulating plans to promote the growth of the sport in the United States beginning at the youth and collegiate level. Currently, under the direction of Bernward Schwarte, the Cal Heat adult team of men and women call Centerville their home and support the school with instruction and equipment in exchange for use of the facility. The Cal Heat men are 4-time national US Champions and the women have won two titles.

Mr. Brihault was impressed with the facility and the youth clinic and has committed the IHF to donate goals and balls to schools willing to start a new program. Any organization interested in learning more about this sport with the potential in ten years of participating the 2028 Olympic Games is encouraged to use the link bernward@calheat.com to contact the Cal Heat.

Diablo Valley College Classic Tournament
September 7, 2018
Ohlone College Defeats Marin (25-17, 25-13, 25-22)
• Katie Souza led in service aces (6), assists (25), and hitting percentage (.500) to go with 5 digs
• Sabrina Quilalang led in kills (14) to go with a .310 hitting percentage.
• Malia Silva led in digs (12)
Ohlone College Defeats Diablo Valley College (25-16, 25-18, 25-16)
• Katie Souza led in service aces (3) and in assists (23)
• Sabrina Quilalang led in kills (11) to go along with 4 digs
• Hailey Amaral led in hitting percentage (.312) to go with 8 kills
• Malia Silva led in digs (11)

Coach Penaflor's comments:
Although the scores between the two matches looked similar, I thought we played our best match of the season against Diablo Valley College. We stayed in control of our play and our emotions; it was nice to see confidence reflected in our athletes' demeanor and play. Fremont Hills Classic Tournament September 12, 2018

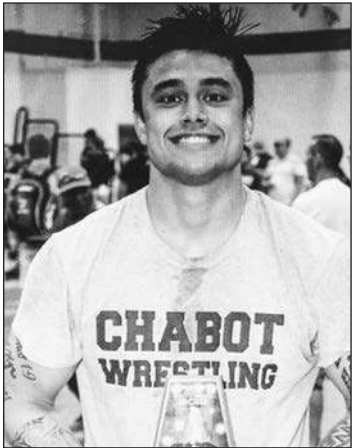

Ohlone defeats Shasta (21-25, 26-24, 25-22, 19-25, 15-13)
• Sabrina Quilalang led in kills (24) and passing (2.30)
• Katie Souza led in assists (45) and kill percentage (.455) to go with 13 digs
• Carly Bond led in blocks (2)
• Malia Silva led in digs (26)
Ohlone Defeats CCSF (25-15, 25-14, 25-18)
• Hailey Amaral led in kills (10) to go with 2 blocks and 7 digs
• Daisy Armerding led in hitting percentage (.625) to go with 2 blocks
• Malia Silva led in digs (22)
Coach Penaflor's comments:
Our win versus Shasta College was the first match we had go the distance this season. We were able to get it together and earn a quality win. Our win versus City College of San Francisco was a little less nerve wrecking. I think the biggest story for this match (and maybe for the tournament) is the return of starting sophomore middle blocker Carly Bond, who has been sidelined for almost a month due to a back injury.
Ohlone vs Modesto September 13, 2018
Ohlone defeats Modesto Junior College (15-25, 25-20, 25-13, 25-27, 15-12)
• Katie Souza led in assists (43) to go with 12 digs, 5 kills, and a hitting percentage of .364 • Kylie Jacobs led in hitting percentage (.571)

• Sabrina Quilalang led in kills (14) to go with 14 digs and 2 aces
• Malia Silva led in digs (22)
• Hailey Amaral led in service aces (6) to go with 12 kills
Coach Penaflor's comments:
We were just a bit slow to move to the ball both on offense and defense, specifically in our hitting and blocking. I want to recognize sophomore libero Malia Silva for her consistent play and leadership in the back row. It was a wonderful, emotional win tonight, and I am very proud of our team.
Ohlone vs West Valley September 19, 2018

West Valley defeats Ohlone (25-22, 25-19, 25-17)
• Sabrina Quilalang leg in kills (11) to go with 5 digs
• Katie Souza let in assists (18) to go with 8 digs
• Malia Silva led in digs (13)
• Maggie Del Grande led in service aces (3) to go with 7 digs
• Maddy McCallister led in hitting percentage (.300)
Coach Penaflor's comments:
I never felt we had full control of the match. Live and learn. Onward.
Tri City Classic September 21, 2018
Ohlone defeats Siskiyou (25-22, 25-20, 25-20)

• Maddy McCallister led with 7 kills
• Katie Souza led with 28 assists, to go with 5 digs
• Malia Silva led in digs with 16
• Carly Bond led in hitting percentage with .400
Ohlone defeats Lassen (21-25, 25-15, 25-19, 25-14)
• Malia Silva led with 19 digs
• Hailey Amaral led with 7 serving aces to go along with 9 kills and 12 digs
• Katie Souza led in assists with 36, to go along with 9 digs and a .333 hitting average
• Cameron French led with a hitting percentage of .500
• Maddy McCallister led in kills with 11
Coach Penaflor's comments:
There were many highs and lows in our matches today. Opposite hitter Maddy McCallister being a kill leader in both matches was awesome. Setter Katie Souza was her same solid setter self as she moved the ball around while trying to get our middles more involved in the offense. Libero Malia Silva held our backrow together with another solid defensive performance. The unfortunate low that I can't get out of my head is starting sophomore outside hitter and team captain Sabrina Quilalang suffering another season ending knee injury for the second straight season.

Chabot wrestler wins tournament championship

SUBMITTED BY CHABOT ATHLETICS

Paced by Anthony (AJ) Cress who won a showdown against fellow state champion Adrian Godinez of Bakersfield, the Chabot College men's wrestling team took third place in the KLS Air Express Wrestling Tournament at Sacramento City on September 15.
Cress, the reigning 174-pound California Community College Athletic Association (CCCAA) state champion, took a thrilling 8-4 decision victory over Godinez in the 197-pound championship match. Godinez won the 184-pound state title last year.

With his victory in the marquee matchup, Cress, a former Antioch High School star, was named Most Outstanding Wrestler of the Tournament.
In the battle with Godinez, Cress scored the first takedown to lead 2-0. Godinez escaped to end the first round trailing 2-1. In the second round, Godinez tied the match with another escape and pulled ahead 4-2 with a takedown. In the third round, Cress escaped and trailed 4-3. With about 20 seconds left, Cress seized the victory with a 2-point takedown and 2-point near fall. He also was awarded a point for riding time.
Other Chabot wrestlers that placed were Brandon Julien (133), Isaiah Palomino (133), Eric Murdoch (157) and Michael Barajas (174), all taking fourth place. Aidan Milligan (133) and Kevin Garcia (165) both placed fifth.

New plan will guide expansion of city’s fiber network

SUBMITTED BY ALICE KIM

San Leandro Mayor Pauline Russo and the City Council recently voted to approve a Fiber Optics Master Plan to guide expansion and increased utilization of the city’s fiber network.

The plan, approved by the council on September 17, was developed over the last year with the assistance of Magellan Advisors, a leading broadband and Smart City consulting firm. The study included four community engagement meetings and two online surveys together with input from all city departments, several community groups, and the City Council.

The Fiber Optics Master Plan provides a detailed roadmap for future fiber optics expansion routes, building on the partnership with Lit San Leandro to continue expanding broadband service. It also provides a strategy for deploying Smart City solutions that can enhance the city’s services and improve the quality of life for its residents, focusing on the areas of public safety, digital inclusion, transportation, and digital services.

The plan also includes policy recommendations that will help drive broadband and innovation, including the implementation of broadband friendly policies and wireless policies to govern the roll out of enhanced wireless service.

More information about the Fiber Optic Master Plan & Smart City Strategy and a downloadable full report is available on the City of San Leandro website at www.sanleandro.org/depts/it/fibe r.asp. For details about the city’s Fiber Optic and Smart City initiative, call Tony Batalla, Information Technology Manager at (510) 577-3385 or send an email to tbatalla@sanleandro.org.

High-tech ferry backdrop for 16 California clean energy laws

AP WIRE SERVICE

California Gov. Jerry Brown used a high-tech battery-operated San Francisco Bay sightseeing ferry as the backdrop for approving 16 new laws Thursday aimed at easing global warming.

The bills he signed into law aim to increase the number of zero-emission vehicles and charging stations and reduce the number of heavily polluting cars and trucks.

The effort is key to California’s goal of reducing greenhouse gas emissions because pollution from vehicles has risen even as emissions from other sources drop.

Transportation is the largest contributor to California’s greenhouse gas emissions at about 50 percent and accounts for about 80 percent of smog-causing pollution. While other sectors have declined over time, especially emissions from power plants, the California Air Resources Board said transportation emissions rose 4 percent between 2014 and 2016.

“Whether we travel by car, bus, or boat the need to move to zero-emission transportation is urgent,” Brown said in a statement. “These bills will help get more clean cars on the road and reduce harmful emissions.”

Among them are measures encouraging consumers to purchase used zero-emission vehicles; encouraging van pools for agricultural workers; targeting low-income residents and heavy-duty vehicles including school buses for clean-vehicle incentives; and developing emissions reduction targets for ride-hailing services.

The Democratic governor signed the measures as he hosts a summit in San Francisco of climate change leaders from around the world. It comes days after Brown approved California’s new goal of phasing out electricity produced by fossil fuels by 2045.

He signed the bills during the maiden voyage of the San Francisco Bay Area’s first plug-in hybrid electric ferry, dubbed the Enhydra after the Latin name for the sea otter. The 128-foot-long Red and White Fleet sightseeing ferry can carry 600 passengers on its three decks.

Brown said eight of the bills he signed would aid lower income areas affected by pollution, promote buildings that generate as much energy as they use, encourage the use of less harmful gases in refrigerants, and boost penalties for new trucks equipped with older, higher-polluting engines.

Brown, who leaves office next year, is promoting California as a global leader in combating climate change, but some critics say he has not been doing enough particularly to curb the extraction of fossil fuels.

The nonprofit groups Consumer Watchdog and Food & Water Watch earlier this week aired a 30-second television advertisement featuring a 9-year old girl chastising Brown for not blocking oil drilling near homes.

Testing shows school drinking water is safe

SUBMITTED BY BRIAN KILLGORE

Fremont Unified School District (FUSD) students, parents and staff can rest assured that the drinking water in district schools and facilities is safe after recent test results show the water at all sites are under the acceptable level for lead.

“When parents drop their children off at school each day, we want them to be confident that the school environment is safe in every way,” said FUSD Superintendent, Dr. Kim Wallace. “Our commitment to health and safety extends to the drinking water available to our students and staff. These results are a significant part of providing that welcoming environment.”

Unacceptable levels of lead in drinking water — over 15 parts/billion — remains an ongoing public health concern in the US, particularly for children. While rarely occurring naturally, lead may become present when water passes through older plumbing fixtures or through solder containing lead that connects plumbing components.

A California law that went into effect in 2018 requires community water systems to test the lead levels of drinking water at all state public K-12 schools, as well as preschools and child day care facilities located on public school property. In all, 46 FUSD schools and sites were tested with each one easily surpassing the standard. The tests were done in spring 2018 and included multiple water sources at each site.

Results from a selection of FUSD school water samples, as well as results of schools from around the state, including FUSD, are available by visiting the school district’s website at www.fremont.k12.ca.us/Page/33923.

State relinquishes part of State Route 84 to local government

SUBMITTED BY JEFF BARBOSA

Governor Jerry Brown recently signed legislation by State Senator Bob Wieckowski (D-Fremont) to relinquish a stretch of State Route (SR) 84 between Interstate 880 and Mission Boulevard to the city of Fremont, which has plans to make a variety of improvements to the route.

“I am thrilled that this relinquishment, which has been in the works for some time, has finally occurred. Now, Fremont can get to work and make road improvements that will benefit drivers, pedestrians and enhance safety,” said Wieckowski, who authored SB 989 and is a member of the Senate Transportation and Housing Committee. “I applaud the Governor for signing this bill.”

This is part of a longstanding agreement with Fremont, the Alameda County Transportation Commission (Alameda CTC), Caltrans and Union City. In 2006, the four parties entered into a Memorandum of Understanding to have the route relinquished through legislation. The relinquishment process was underway in 2011 in conjunction with a redevelopment project but ended when redevelopment agencies were eliminated by the state.

Fremont obtained a grant from the Alameda CTC in 2017 to upgrade sections of SR 84 and wants to integrate the relinquishment with the related project improvements.

“The City of Fremont looks forward to transforming this old state highway into a new modern street that better serves the needs of our local community,” said Fremont Mayor Lily Mei, as the bill was moving through the Legislature. Mei said the planned improvements include rebuilt pavement surfaces, safer walking routes to school, ADA curb ramps and more efficient traffic signals.

Wieckowski represents the 10th Senate District, which includes southern Alameda County and parts of northeast Santa Clara County.

Finally

However, now, after years of negotiations, Caltrans has been ordered through SB989, authored by hometown State Senator Bob Wieckowski (D-Fremont), to relinquish State control between I-880 and SR 238. Behind the scenes, efforts by Fremont staff including current Public Works Director Hans Larsen and his predecessors, have worked arduously to accomplish this feat; they probably have many anecdotes to confirm the difficulty of the effort.

A question of whether the road is required to be in "a state of good repair" at relinquishment has been a sticking point, but when done through legislation, the State maneuvers around this using Section 73 of the State and Highways Code. The Project Development Procedures Manual states: "Section 73 of the S&H Code does not require that a state highway be relinquished in a state of good repair when it is deleted by legislation. The state of good repair requirement only applies to those routes that are relinquished when being superseded by relocation. The specific legislation that authorizes relinquishment of a given portion of a state highway typically requires that the relinquishment be in the best interest of the state."

Well, we finally have control... now, what are we going to do with it?

The days of big bucks available through redevelopment agencies has passed, but there are remnants of past efforts to confront the SR 84 problem plus grant money to initiate long overdue changes. Although a bit outdated, there is value in reviewing what has been previously proposed by citizen groups. Recently, a Mobility Task Force was formed "to guide development of a Mobility Action Plan addressing Citywide traffic congestion issues, the safety of all travel modes, and future transportation trends, such as autonomous vehicles." Originally designed with a limited tenure, this mobility is an ongoing problem and should be addressed through a standing commission, but to see how it could operate as such, Centerville presents a prime opportunity to demonstrate how local control can shine

At one time, Centerville was a vibrant community with an active main street. In decline, it reflected a shadow of what it was and obscured what it can be. Now, with a fresh chance to transform its streetscape, a new canvas has been mounted on our easel. Let's paint a new and better picture!

William Marshak
PUBLISHER

The California state highway system can be confusing. An example in our area is State Route 84 (SR 84) that has caused headaches for the past decade or two. It was designed as a connector that, in part, bisects Fremont and intrudes into Newark, running concurrently at times with I-880 and SR 238 (Mission Boulevard). This portion represents neither a beginning or end, simply a slice of the southern segment of a two-part, disconnected road, often narrow and poorly maintained. It is a remnant of road construction when automobile traffic was just beginning to blossom.

The problem with roads controlled and maintained by the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) is that all are subject to a long list of state priorities and limited resources that respond to the loudest and most influential voices in Sacramento. For SR 84, the portion on Peralta Boulevard never reached a high priority ranking; its condition is abominable. Niles Canyon received some attention but changes to this scenic road were problematic at best.

Gunman arrested after parking lot shooting

SUBMITTED BY SAN LEANDRO PD

A recent quiet Sunday turned violent when gunshots were fired in the parking lot of a Walmart store on the San Leandro/San Lorenzo border.

Around 12:35 p.m. on September 16, San Leandro Police officers responded to numerous reports about the shooting at the store, located at 15555 Hesperian Blvd. Arriving officers found a man who had been shot once in the neck. The man, whose identity has not been released, was conscious and alert and transported to Eden Medical Center in Castro Valley for further treatment.

Meanwhile, a portion of the Walmart parking lot was closed off while officers began their initial investigation into the crime. Officers obtained limited information, learning that the victim was shot while walking in the parking lot by a gunman in a passing vehicle.

Soon, San Leandro Police detectives arrived and took over the investigation. Surveillance video from Walmart assisted the investigators in learning the events leading up to the incident and provided information on the suspect’s vehicle, which helped detectives identify the suspect and his whereabouts.

At around 6 p.m., just hours after the shooting, San Leandro Police detectives located and arrested Israel Jaquez, 29, in San Jose. Jaquez’ vehicle, the one seen in the video and used in the crime, was also located. A search of the vehicle revealed a stolen handgun which is believed to be the weapon used to shoot the victim.

Jaquez was taken to the San Leandro Police Department where he was booked on suspicion of attempted attempt homicide and on several weapon charges. Investigators later learned that Jaquez and the victim knew each other; but the motive for the shooting was still unclear. The victim’s injuries were not life-threatening, and he has since been released from the hospital.

“This was a violent and deliberate crime that occurred in the middle of the day, in one of the busiest shopping locations in town,” said San Leandro Police

Lieutenant Isaac Benabou. “Not only did the suspect intend to shoot the victim, but he also had no concern for the other people in the parking lot. Fortunately, no bystander was harmed, and the victim in the case escape serious injury. Our officers and detectives conducted a swift investigation, leading to the arrest of a dangerous person and the recovery of a stolen handgun.”

Jaquez was taken to Santa Rita Jail in Dublin and his case presented to the Alameda County District Attorney.

Longtime beat cop and neighborhood fixture retires

SUBMITTED BY ISAAC BENABOU, SAN LEANDRO PD

One of San Leandro’s finest and most respected police officers retired Sept. 20 after serving the city and its residents for nearly three decades. Officer Patrick “Pj” Kyle worked his final day on patrol in San Leandro’s Washington Manor neighborhood also known as “Beat 6.”

Kyle was hired by the San Leandro Police Department on September 23, 1991 and immediately attended the Oakland Police Academy. Upon graduation, Kyle completed his field training and was assigned to the Washington Manor area of San Leandro.

A native of Hayward, Kyle grew fond of the mostly residential neighborhood located on the southern edge of San Leandro and became a staple in the community, getting to know residents and business owners and providing the quality service SLPD is known for.

With the exception of a special assignment as a School Resource Officer between 1996 and 1998, Kyle served all his years as a police officer known as “3L26,” SLPD’s radio call sign for the Washington Manor beat.

In addition to Kyle’s beat responsibilities, he was also a Field Evidence Technician, a team leader for the Evidence Response Team and played a critical role in implementing new public safety software for the agency.

In a message to Kyle from Chief Jeff Tudor, he wrote; “Pat’s experience and understanding of how to police the San Leandro community, specifically Beat 6, will be missed.”

Kyle has left his mark with SLPD; his legacy will carry on through the next generation of officers who diligently patrol our streets, keeping San Leandro a safe community.

Plumber arrested in bathroom video case

SUBMITTED BY UNION CITY PD

A 35-year-old Hayward man is in custody after police investigators linked him to a case where people may have been surreptitiously videotaped in a public restroom in Union City.
The case started on August 22 when Union City Police Department officers were dispatched to a Starbucks coffee shop on Dyer Street in Union City on the report of a hidden camera found in a restroom. The case was turned over to the Union City Police Department Investigations Unit where detectives were able to identify the person who placed the camera in the bathroom as

David Lista

David Lista, 35, of Hayward.
An arrest warrant was issued and Lista was arrested at home on August 30. A search of Lista's residence uncovered evidence of additional crimes including illegal videotaping of subjects in restrooms, child pornography, possession of methamphetamine and possession of drug paraphernalia. Lista faces various charges related to these crimes.

Police said that Lista is plumber by trade and may have illegally videotaped unsuspecting victims who contracted his services and are asking anyone who may have hired him to do plumbing work in their home to call Det. Angela Fonseca a (510) 675-5283 or send an email to afonseca@unioncity.org. Additionally, inquiries or information about Lista or the case can be directed to Det. Steven Fong at (510) 675-5259 or sent via email to sfong@unionciy.org.

CITY OF HAYWARD

While it’s not as famous as the R2-D2 robot from the “Star Wars” movies, a new security robot that recently began patrolling downtown Hayward is making a splash of its own. It’s the newest tool city officials are using to address potential crime

Hayward’s robot moves on wheels up to three miles per hour, stands 62.5 inches high, 33.5 inches wide and weighs 398 pounds. It autonomously recharges for continuous 24-hour-a-day operation and is equipped with artificial intelligence, video- and audio-surveillance and recording technology, two-way intercom and broadcast capability. And, if that’s not enough, the robot can

California: Drugmaker paid doctors to overprescribe Humira

AP WIRE SERVICE

California has filed a lawsuit accusing pharmaceutical giant AbbVie of illegally plying doctors with cash, gifts and services to prescribe one of the world’s best-selling drugs.
The lawsuit filed Tuesday says the kickbacks led doctors in the state to write more prescriptions for Humira despite its potentially deadly complications.
The injectable drug is widely advertised as a treatment for rheumatoid arthritis and other inflammatory conditions. It comes with a warning for cancer and serious infections that can turn deadly.
AbbVie says the allegations are without merit.
The lawsuit by California Insurance Commissioner Dave Jones says insurers paid more than $1.2 billion for Humira for California patients between 2013 and August 2018.
Jones’ office says that figure makes the lawsuit the largest health care fraud case in the state insurance department’s history.

'Show must go on:' Stranded in Europe, orchestra improvises

BY WILLIAM J. KOLE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Symphony Orchestra might want to consider naming its next album “Songs in the Key of A” – as in airport, abandoned and Amsterdam.

The renowned orchestra very nearly missed the last stop on its 12-concert, eight-city European tour when it got stuck in Paris en route to the Dutch capital.

Symphony spokeswoman Bernadette Horgan said the Grammy Award-winning orchestra arrived midmorning Monday at Paris' Charles de Gaulle Airport for a noon Luxair charter flight to Amsterdam for its final performance of the tour.

As musicians lined up to board, they were told the flight was delayed because of a mechanical problem. A short time later, they learned the aircraft needed more extensive repairs and the flight was canceled. Staff looked into other flights as well as trains and buses, “but there was no viable solution as to how to transport a group of about 145 people,” Horgan said.

Complicating matters, the full orchestra was needed that evening at Amsterdam's Concertgebouw hall to perform Shostakovich's “Symphony No. 4,” one of the largest works for orchestra. And the only flight available to Amsterdam – a plane in Luxembourg – could take only half of them.

“It wasn’t the day we planned. But everyone hung in there,” Mark Volpe, the symphony's president and CEO, told The Associated Press in a telephone interview Tuesday from Paris. “At that point, it was a ‘show must go on’ kind of mindset.”

That set the BSO’s music director, Andris Nelsons, and key players on a mad scramble to revise the repertoire and find a substitution for the Shostakovich piece. They decided on Beethoven's “Symphony No. 7” – even though they hadn't performed it in more than a year.

“Tensions were high,” Horgan noted drily.

Dutch organizers delayed the concert's start from 8:15 p.m. to 9 p.m., and a group of 76 arrived with barely enough time to change into black tie and wolf down sandwiches, let alone rehearse. Fortunately, the orchestra's $38 million worth of instruments had been sent ahead via climate-controlled trucks, and symphony librarians back in Boston were able to hastily retrieve, scan and email musical scores to be printed in Amsterdam.

It all ended on a high note: Nelsons and his orchestra received what Volpe described as “an unbelievable standing ovation” – a musical high-five and a welcome coda to a challenging day.

“A delayed flight threw a monkey wrench into the works,” the Dutch newspaper NRC Handelsblad noted Tuesday in a review, but it praised the BSO for “a daringly temperamental rendition of the replacement piece.”

As for the musicians left behind in Paris? They had a picnic on the concourse, noshing on wines and cheeses from the duty-free shop.

Most eventually made it to Amsterdam after midnight for a party celebrating the end of the tour, which began Sept. 1 and included stops in London, Hamburg, Berlin, Leipzig, Vienna, Lucerne and Paris.

“Even after 21 years, the character and spirit of this orchestra continue to astound me,” Volpe said.

Park It More Tarantulas

SUBMITTED BY
NED MACKAY

The annual march of the tarantulas (and other spiders) continues in the regional parks, with programs scheduled at Black Diamond Mines in Antioch and Del Valle Regional Park near Livermore.

At Black Diamond Mines, naturalist Virginia Delgado will lead a “spider senses” program from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, September 29.

Learn how the tiniest arachnids defy gravity with their webs, and how much venom a black widow spider carries. Virginia's program is for ages four and up.

Then from 1 to 3 p.m. on Sunday, September 30, naturalist Eddie Willis will tell some tales about how and why tarantulas are now roaming the hills.

Both programs meet in Black Diamond Mines’ upper parking lot at the end of Somersville Road, 3½ miles south of Highway 4. For information, call 888-327-2757, ext. 2750.

At Del Valle Regional Park, naturalist Ashley Grenier will introduce visitors to a tarantula in a program from 2 to 3 p.m. on Sunday, September 30 at the park visitor center. Del Valle is located on Del Valle Road off Mines Road, about nine miles south of downtown Livermore. For information, call 510-544-3249.

By the way, if you do encounter a tarantula in the wild, please do not attempt to pick it up or collect it for your home terrarium. Tarantulas can bite; it’s about like a bee sting. Besides, it’s illegal to remove any plant or animal life from the regional parks. The goal is to allow the natural world to remain as undisturbed as possible.

An “All Abilities Day” is planned from 12 noon to 3 p.m. on Saturday, September 29 at Shadow Cliffs Regional Recreation Area in Pleasanton. It’s intended to be inclusive for people with all levels of abilities. Travel along wheelchair-friendly trails to stations and activities.

Shadow Cliffs is on Stanley Boulevard just east of downtown Pleasanton. For information on the event, call 510-544-3249.

Mark your calendar for Sunday, October 7. That’s when the 25th Annual Gathering of the Ohlone Peoples will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont. Ohlones from several tribes will share their culture through music, song, dance and stories. They will discuss their contemporary cultural involvements and demonstrate skills including basketry, jewelry, soaproot brush and dogbane string making.

Visitors will be able to play an Ohlone game, try fire making without matches, make a miniature boat of tule reeds, and taste traditional Ohlone foods. Parent participation is required. Coyote Hills preserves the site of an Ohlone village that was inhabited for more than 2,000 years before the arrival of Europeans in California.

The park is at the end of Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There’s a parking fee of $5 per vehicle; the gathering is free of charge. For information, call 510-544-3220.

Three programs for all ages are on the agenda at the Tilden Nature Area near Berkeley.

There’s a sensory hike from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, September 29 with naturalist “Trail Gail” Broesder. Gail will help visitors awaken their five senses and imagination while exploring the Nature Area.

“Felting Fun” is the objective from 1 to 2 p.m. on Sunday, September 30 with naturalist Jenna Scimeca. With Jenna's guidance, you can turn sheep's wool into cloth and make your own felted creation.

Then from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. the same day, you can join Jenna on an easy walk with the Little Farm goats.

For the sensory hike and felting program, meet at Tilden’s Environmental Education Center at the north end of Central Park Drive. The goat walk starts and ends next door at the Little Farm. For information on all these programs, call 510-544-2233.

Round Valley Regional Preserve is a secluded and beautiful parkland on Marsh Creek Road south of Brentwood, a Native American gathering place for thousands of years. Naturalist Kevin Dixon will lead a picnic walk into the valley for ages eight and older, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, September 29. Bring lunch for a picnic. For information, call 888-327-2757, ext. 2750.

There’s always something fun and interesting going on in the regional parks. For a complete calendar of events, visit the website, www.ebparks.org.

It’s important to get a flu vaccination

SUBMITTED BY
SANTA CLARA COUNTY

Fall and winter is the time of year when the flu virus starts to spread. In an effort to slow the virus and keep people healthy, officials from the Santa Clara County Public Health Department are urging everyone six months and older to get a flu shot.

It’s important to get a flu shot early in the season because the spread of the virus is unpredictable and the vaccine takes two weeks to become fully effective. Vaccines are available at doctors’ offices, and many pharmacies provide free and low-cost flu vaccinations to the public.

“Public Health focuses on prevention,” said Dr. Sara Cody, Public Health Department Director and County Health Officer. Flu shots are the best way to protect yourself, your family, and the community from becoming seriously ill with the flu.”

It is important to get the flu vaccine every year because flu strains change over time. Timely flu shots help prevent a disease that hospitalizes hundreds of thousands and kills tens of thousands of Americans every year.

Free and reduced-priced flu vaccines will soon be available at many locations throughout the South Bay including the Santa Clara Valley Medical Center Hospital and Clinics. Vaccines will be offered through the 2018 Adult Flu Fair from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Valley Health Center Milpitas: October 20 and November 17.

The Public Health Department’s website and social media pages at www.sccphd.org/flu for flu resources that are available to Santa Clara County residents. Data about the flu in the South Bay can be found on the Public Health Department’s Open Data Portal at www.sccphd.org/healthdata.

California gun restraining order law

AP WIRE SERVICE

A California law allowing certain people to ask judges to bar individuals who are believed to be dangerous from having guns is rarely being used.

The law allows family members, roommates and police officers to seek gun restraining orders that can remain in effect for up to a year.

But the Los Angeles Times reports there have been fewer than 200 orders issued in the first two years of the law, which went into effect in January 2016.

Los Angeles City Attorney Mike Feuer has supported the law as a life-saving tool. He says the lack of many restraining orders in Los Angeles County indicates more training about the law would be helpful.

Santa Clara County Supervising Deputy District Attorney Marisa McKeown agrees that awareness of the law is key.

Champagne Celebration

SUBMITTED BY GLORIA LARA

In celebration of its 30th anniversary, the St. Rose Hospital Foundation is inviting the public to attend its upcoming fundraising charity gala in Hayward. The event, “Cheers to 30 Years! Spectacular 30 – The Champagne Edition” is set for Saturday, October 6 under a grand white tent on the hospital grounds in Hayward. This is the group’s signature black tie event and will include an evening of gourmet dining, live music, entertaining and fundraising auctions.

St. Rose Hospital serves as a “safety-net hospital” for the city of Hayward and surrounding communities, providing quality healthcare to people who need it regardless of income or insurance status. The hospital, accredited by The Joint Commission and designated as the Cardiac STEMI Receiving Center for Southern Alameda County, has built a strong reputation for outstanding cardiology, emergency, diagnostics and women’s services. Through innovative and strategic partnerships, St. Rose Hospital has helped create a healthier community.

Single reservations start at $250 and can be purchased online by visiting the St. Rose Hospital Foundation website at www.strosehospital.org/giving_foundation_events. Net proceeds from the gala event will support the renovation of the hospital’s clinical laboratory.

For more information or questions about the event, call (510) 264-4007 or send an email to srhfoundation@srhca.org.

Raspberry Pi? Forget the bakery, come to the library

SUBMITTED BY NATHAN SILVA

Are you interested in computer coding and want to know what a Raspberry Pi is? Then mark Saturday, October 6 on your calendar and make time to attend the Raspberry Jam program at the Castro Valley Library. A Raspberry Jam is a gathering of individuals that have a common interest — learning more about the Raspberry Pi, a powerful “micro-computer” that is used for digital-making and coding. The Castro Valley Library gathering will involve tinkering, coding, electronics and all-around fun!

Whether participants want to try out computer programming for the first time, hack some electronics or just generally have some fun inventing, there is something for everyone to enjoy. Some equipment will be provided by the library, but attendees should feel free to bring their own Pi or project to use or share. No experience is necessary.

Admission is free, but because space is limited advance registrations are required and can be made by calling (510) 667-7900.

Seniors’ Night Out

SUBMITTED BY TRI-CITY ELDER COALITION

For elders in the Tri-Cities, aging often means becoming disconnected from daily social networks with growing social isolation. “Seniors’ Night Out” offers an opportunity for many elders to re-engage with others for a night of entertainment, music, and companionship. The evening presents an opportunity for younger members of our community to meet and escort an older adult to dinner, and to share in lively conversation and dancing. Many of our elders have interesting stories to share and dance moves you won’t soon forget!

Come celebrate our 25th Seniors’ Night Out and our Silver Legacy honorees, Patricia Danielson (Washington Hospital Board of Directors) and Ray Grimm (Senior Project Coordinator, Aging and Family Services, City of Fremont), at this year’s Seniors’ Night Out on Friday, October 5.

Help us provide a special evening and warm memories for our elderly guests: sponsor a table; serve as a volunteer escort, we’ll find you a senior date (English, Spanish, Mandarin, Farsi and other languages needed); buy a ticket so an elderly friend, neighbor, family member or associate can participate; or provide a raffle prize or gift basket.

Funds generated during the evening will become part of the Tri-City Elder Coalition’s Personal Urgent Need Fund, so seniors can be assisted with the purchase of items or services they urgently need but may not be able to afford on their own.

So, put on your dancing shoes and loosen up your hips! Come join us on October 5 as we celebrate a Silver Legacy!

For more information, visit <http://tceconline.org/> or contact Linette Young, SNO Chair, at SeniorsNightOut@comcast.net or (510) 818-9888.

MY CHOICE IS WTMF,

because my doctor makes me feel like I'm her only patient.

People choose Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) for lots of reasons. When Jessica Rivas was pregnant with twins, she was looking for a great obstetrician close to her home in Fremont. Jessica's mom, a nurse at Washington Hospital, knew that Dr. Stacey Barrie, a WTMF OB/GYN, would be the perfect choice for her daughter. Jessica took her mom's advice, and couldn't be happier. "Not only do I get attentive, individualized care from Dr. Barrie," said Jessica, "she's incredibly knowledgeable and experienced – and hilarious! You can tell that she really loves what she does." Since the twins' birth, Jessica continues to see Dr. Barrie and has recommended her to friends. And because Jessica's experience with the rest of the staff has been so positive, she has recommended other physicians in the group to friends and family as well.

Part of Washington Hospital

Because WTMF is an integral part of the Washington Hospital Healthcare System, we have immediate access to the system's wide array of advanced healthcare services, whenever you need them. This includes their highly awarded inpatient and outpatient facilities and specialty centers.

You can also send a message to your doctor's office, schedule an appointment, or request a referral.
