CHARLIE CHAPLIN DAYS

SUBMITTED BY NILES ESSANAY

At the beginning of 1915, Charlie Chaplin came to Niles to work on his contract at the Chicago-based Essanay Film Manufacturing Company's western division headquarters. It was a township of 1,400 people—not exactly the mystique held by metropolitan places like San Francisco or New York. Chaplin had seen Niles a few weeks earlier, had been a bit underwhelmed and traveled on the Chicago headquarters. But he quickly realized George Spoor (the S of Essanay / S&A) wasn't going to give him the creative freedom he desired—nor pay any overtime if the production ran past regular working hours. So back Chaplin came to Niles after making one film, aptly titled His New Job.

And here he made five short films that are still seen today, some with locations still present in the East Bay, South Bay and San Francisco. Niles Essanay Silent Film Museum will be focusing on Mr. Chaplin all weekend from May 18 to 21. We will have walking tours, film screenings, a lookalike contest, and all things Charlie!

This weekend-long event is co-sponsored with Niles Main Street Association.

Rowell Ranch Rodeo and Parade

By JACK ALCORN

More than 43 million Americans identify themselves as fans of professional rodeo, and rodeo is seventh in overall attendance for major sporting events, ahead of golf and tennis. Each Spring for the past 100 years, locals have enjoyed the rodeo at Castro Valley's Rowell Ranch, first started by Harry Rowell. The rodeo partners with many local non-profit organizations to help raise funds for a wide range of local charitable causes.

The entire rodeo is a series of diverse activities spanning two weeks. Bring the whole family out to see the annual Rowell Ranch Rodeo Parade in downtown Castro Valley! The parade starts at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 13, and includes over 100 local participants celebrating Rowell Ranch Rodeo.

Cowgirl Picnic is a ladies only luncheon at Rowell Ranch's Earl Dawes Picnic Area on Thursday, May 18, that honors the cowgirls in our community. Enjoy being served by professional local cowboys, ranchers and firefighters.

The classic sport rodeo begins Friday, May 19 with Rowell Ranch Rodeo's Rockin' Bull Bash! Watch expert cowboys ride some of the toughest Know the Signs, BE FAST and Call 911!

Washington Hospital's Stroke Team is Ready 24/7/365

Most people know to go to a hospital's emergency department (ED) when a medical crisis arises, but not everyone knows how important it is to call 911 at the first signs of a stroke, or even what those signs are. May is National Stroke Awareness Month and the award-winning Stroke Team at Washington Hospital has a lifesaving message for everyone living in the Tri-City Area. The team wants you to be able to recognize the signs of a stroke and to know that when you call 911 they are on duty, ready to help.

A stroke occurs when blood flow to an area of the brain is cut off. When this happens, brain cells don't get enough oxygen and begin to die. When brain cells die during a stroke, abilities controlled by that area of the brain, such as speaking, memory, or muscle control are lost. That's why, at the first sign of stroke it is said, "time is brain," and every minute counts. Quite often it is a family member, not the stroke victim, who recognizes a stroke and calls 911. So it's important for everyone to know the signs.

The acronym "BE FAST" is a good way to recognize the signs of stroke and remember what to do if you think a person is having one.

Balance: Is the person experiencing a sudden loss of balance or coordination?

Eyes: Are they having a sudden change in vision or trouble seeing?

Face: Ask them to smile. Does one side of the face droop?

Arms: Ask them to raise both arms. Does one arm drift downward?

Speech: Ask them to repeat a simple phrase. Is their speech slurred or strange?

Time: If you observe any of these signs, call 911 immediately.

TIME TO CALL FOR AMBULANCE IMMEDIATELY

Washington Hospital is the designated receiving center for strokes in Southern Alameda County and a certified Primary Stroke Center. This means stroke patients receive the best and fastest possible testing and treatment from the moment they arrive in the ED to the time they leave the Hospital to continue their rehabilitation.

"When a stroke patient arrives by ambulance, our team is waiting and prepared to help, no matter what level of stroke they are experiencing," said the Stroke Program's Co-medical Director, Prabhjot Singh Khalsa, MD, a neurosurgeon at Washington Hospital. "Our stroke team includes an ED physician, neurologist, dedicated stroke nurse and ED nurses, CT scan tech, radiologist, pharmacist, and phlebotomist who have all been alerted and are ready to assess, test, diagnose and treat each stroke patient upon arrival."

A Stroke Story:

It was around bedtime when a local 83-year-old man suddenly became unable to speak or sit up. His wife saw that his right side seemed to be paralyzed. She recognized the signs of stroke and immediately called 911. On their way to Washington Hospital, the paramedics called ahead, "Code Neuro!" which means a stroke victim is en route. When he arrived, the Stroke Team was waiting.

Right away, the man was assessed as an 11 on the National Institutes of Health Stroke Scale (NIHSS) which is dangerously high. His CT imaging studies confirmed he had suffered an acute ischemic stroke, which means a blood vessel carrying blood to his brain was blocked by a blood clot. Within 37 minutes of arrival, he was administered a clot-busting medicine called tPA, which likely saved him from debilitating disabilities, or even death (the national goal "from door to needle" for tPA delivery is 60 minutes). Upon receiving tPA, his score lowered to a NIHSS of 3 as he regained his ability to speak and sit up.

Three days later, the patient was talking and laughing as he left the Hospital to continue his rehabilitation. He had 75% of his original functionality and was discharged with a good prognosis for further improvement.

Stroke is a leading cause of death and disability in the U.S. and it has been identified as a top health care need in our community. The message is simple. Know the signs of stroke and if you think someone is having one, call 911. For more on the signs of stroke, knowing your risk, and how to prevent it, go to www.stroke.org. “Offering Comfort and Connecting with Patients is an Important Part of Medicine”

New Physician Joins Washington Hospital Palliative Care Team

When Dr. Krishna Suri was in the middle of his residency, COVID-19 gripped the country. Patients were sick and dying every day at the hospital where he worked without the comfort of loved ones. It changed the trajectory of his career.

“Up until that point, I had a myopic view of my career,” said Dr. Suri, who recently joined the Palliative Care Team at Washington Hospital. “I was doing my residency in internal medicine and my goal was to rise to the top of my field. But when COVID hit, it demonstrated that there were some things beyond the scope of academic medicine. I realized that offering comfort and connecting with patients is an important part of medicine. That was the turning point for me to specialize in palliative care.”

Palliative care is focused on supporting patients – and their families – who are living with a chronic illness or life-threatening disease. It focuses on the physical, emotional and spiritual needs of the patient to ensure comfort, dignity and quality of life.

“Palliative care is holistic, patient-centered care,” Dr. Suri added. “It’s provided with or without curative therapies and it reflects the individual so they can achieve reasonable outcomes that work with their world view. It is about the patient and what they need to live the best quality of life.”

Born in India, Raised in Texas

Dr. Suri was born in India and moved to Texas with his family when he was a young boy. “Most of my life, I really enjoyed conversing with people and listening to their stories,” he said. “That naturally led me to medicine.”

He did his undergraduate work at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas, and earned his master’s degree in Biomedical Sciences at the University of North Texas Health Science Center in Fort Worth, Texas.

Dr. Suri went to medical school in Florida, earning his Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine at Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale in 2018.

“I went back to Texas for my residency,” he adds. “When COVID-19 started, we didn’t really know how to treat it. People were intubated and sedated. They were isolated. Human contact, care and compassion in that moment was often as powerful as the medicines we were administering. I was on track to get a hospitalist job, but then I had an epiphany and started looking for a fellowship in palliative care.”

After completing his residency in 2021 at the University of Texas-RGV in McAllen, Texas, Dr. Suri joined the fellowship program in Hospice and Palliative Medicine at Western-University Hospitals in Cleveland, Ohio.

‘Humanistic Medicine’

At Washington Hospital, Dr. Suri joins a multidisciplinary team of doctors, nurses, social workers, nurse practitioner, spiritual care coordinator, palliative care coordinator, and other specialists. The Palliative Care Team works with patients, their families, and their primary care doctor to develop a plan that best meets their needs.

Palliative care is not the same as hospice care, which is for people who are in their final weeks or months of life. Palliative care is extra care for people with serious medical conditions like advanced cancer, congestive heart failure, kidney failure, dementia and many others.

“I call it humanistic medicine,” Dr. Suri added. “It reflects the patient’s goals and how they want to live their life. I talk to patients about what brings them joy. I ask them what in their lives is crucial to them being them. We look at what we can provide that will help the patient, whether it’s a medical intervention or an emotional or spiritual need.”

Flash Fiction Results: A Day in the life of a Creative Artist

SUBMITTED BY ARATHI SATISH

The 2023 Flash Fiction Contest, co-sponsored by Fremont Cultural Arts Council (FCAC) and Half-Price Books, was held on Saturday, April 29 at Half-Price Books, Fremont Hub. This year's theme, A Day in the Life of a Creative Artist, either real or imaginary, was in conjunction with Fremont Creates, a month-long celebration in April as Arts, Culture and Creativity month.

Visitors who came to Half-Price Books that day were able to read the one-page entries posted on the pillars and vote for their five favorite entries, which included poetry as well as prose. Al Minard, who has organized this event for over ten years, said, "We had very interesting entries submitted and nearly 200 ballots cast. It was a busy day at Half-Price Books. Several FCAC board members were interviewed about the various events of FCAC by Ohlone College Students which will air on Ohlone Television soon...It could not have happened with this amount of success without the support of FCAC, Half-Price Books and especially the writers who submit stories year after year."

The event was ably conducted by FCAC board members and interns, and supported by Infinity Care LLC, an organization that provides caring heart and quality service. Three of their members - Adelaide Mapa, Pauline de Leon, and Marie Tobias - helped conduct the event and provided refreshments. Half-Price Books provided the space, made frequent announcements of the event, and gave gift cards of $25 to each of the winners. FCAC handed out cash awards to each of the winners too.

First prize went to "A Day in the Life of a Jar of Peanut Butter During COVID -19 Lockdown" by Jill M. Buono, second prize to "The Riddle Of A Writer" by Nitika Sathiya, third place to "Michelangelo #1" by Elaine Rodgers, fourth place to "Dear President Lincoln" by Pat Doyne and fifth place to "Fan Mail" by Tish Davidson.

Nitika Sathiya, a junior at Washington High School who won second prize, said, "I took part in this contest because I truly loved the theme this year. There is this endless cycle of creativity that flows between all artists and we constantly fuel one another to create bigger and more daring pieces. Our art allows us to grow past the boundaries of reality and the more we create, the more we are able to explore past the ordinary. My piece that won second place was a poem about how as a writer, I can travel through the lines of paper to different worlds where I can fight villains and reform corrupt governments through words. My craft gives me the chance to contribute to something greater than just me; art is full of inexplicable magic that we can share every day."

For more details and to read the winning entries, visit Fremont Cultural Arts Council website at www.fremontculturalartscouncil.org.

Protecting homes in wildfire-prone areas

SUBMITTED BY
CASTRO VALLEY LIBRARY

Our properties can be exposed to wind-blown embers and radiant heat and flames during wildfires. In order to survive a wildfire, homes must be "hardened" by using fire-resistant building materials and removing combustible vegetation. In neighborhoods with closer home-to-home spacing, a community-wide effort will be necessary to keep homes safe.

Hawaiian May Day highlights culture and diversity in Hayward

SUBMITTED BY
DEANIE LUM-VILLIADOS

Kumu Hula Association of Northern California, are pleased to announce that we will present the Hawaiian May Day Festival Saturday, May 13. The purpose of the event is to enrich the Hayward community economically and culturally, with a variety of arts and crafts vendors, live music, and entertainment.

Our Hawaiian May Day Festival was originally held as a two-day event with admission charge at the Alameda County Fairgrounds every May since the 1980s. However, in the wake of the pandemic, we wanted to be more community oriented as a nonprofit and decided to make this event a free admission street festival starting in 2022. Hayward is a diversified city with many cultures and ethnicities. We are committed to bringing various benefits of economic, health, education, not only to Hawaiians, but to the entire Hayward community.

With our rich experiences and know-how of hosting ethnic events, we are committed to provide opportunities to not only Hawaiians/Polynesians but also all community members so that they can find any opportunities to their dreams through our event. However, this new Hawaiian May Day Festival on the streets of Downtown Hayward is also encouraging local businesses, artists and shops to be part of it so that we can all bring benefits together to the area socially, economically and culturally.

Visit our website www.kumuhulaassociation.com to know more about the event including venue map, Q&A and sponsors.

Kumu Hula Association of Northern California is a California 501(c) 3 nonprofit organization whose missions are: to revive, preserve and advance the culture of Hawai'i such as hula, oli, music and language through programs and activities that educate and enable the public to experience the various culture of Hawai'i, and to create a "Home away from Home" for Hawaiians and Hawaiians at heart in Northern California.

Calling All Creative Writers

SUBMITTED BY
TISH DAVIDSON

Do you write stories in secret but are afraid to share them? Worried about how your writing might be judged? Put those worries away. This is a chance to let your creative writer run free by joining the fun, free, nonjudgmental "Zoom Write-In" on Saturday, May 13. This event is sponsored by Fremont Area Writers, and it is for everyone from complete beginners to established writers. It is not a writing critique session. Your writing will not be judged, just enjoyed by your fellow writers.

How the Write-In works:

At the Write-In, the computer will randomly assign four writers to each Zoom room. Writers will be given several word or photo prompts. The prompts are designed to help you get to know other writers in the room. They may be something like "fire" or "a thing I found." Choose one prompt and write for 10 minutes. When the writing time ends, each person in the room will read their response to the prompt and socialize in a relaxed, supportive atmosphere. Writers will then be reassigned a different Zoom room with different challenge. After a writing period, the stories will be shared with others in the room.

The Write-In is sponsored by Fremont Area Writers, a branch of the California Writers Club. In addition to the Write-In, FAW meets on Zoom the fourth Saturday of each month. At meetings, guest speakers discuss various aspects of writing and the publishing industry. The guest speaker for the May 27 meeting is Robert Bonwell Parker, an attorney who will speak on copyright and other laws that impact creative artists. More information is available at <https://cwc-fremontareawriters.org>.

Park It: Mother's Day on the Farm

BY NED MACKAY

There are several programs from which to choose if you'd like to celebrate Mother's Day in the East Bay Regional Parks. For instance, Mother's Day will be observed with a variety of activities on Sunday, May 14, at Ardenwood Historic Farm in Fremont.

Festivities will be continuous from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Visitors can create a flower crown, enjoy live music, and play a game of croquet or bocce ball. There's a buffet brunch available with advance reservations (www.ardenwoodevents.com/mothersday) or you can purchase food from a special a-la-carte menu at the farm's café.

Ardenwood is located at 34600 Ardenwood Boulevard, just north of Highway 84. Farm programs recreate life on a prosperous 19th century estate, whose centerpiece is the beautifully restored Patterson House. Admission fees apply; parking is free. For information, call (510) 544-2797.

Or you can celebrate Mother's Day and learn about nature's moms, during a two-mile hike at Del Valle Regional Park south of Livermore. The hike is from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Sunday, May 14, with naturalist Alex Collins. The whole family is welcome. Some of the walk is on paved paths and there is a short hill. Registration is not required. Meet at the School House Flats picnic area.

Del Valle Regional Park is at the end of Del Valle Road off Mines Road about nine miles south of Livermore. There is a parking fee of $6 per vehicle. For information, call (510) 544-3146.

And there's more. "Mothers of Big Break" is the theme of a community campfire from 6:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Sunday, May 14, at Big Break Regional Shoreline in Oakley, with supervising naturalist Wyatt Moore.

Gather the family for an evening in the park. Meet at the park amphitheater. Bring a picnic dinner to enjoy before the program. The group will explore the wonder of Big Break through nature-themed activities. The campfire will include s'mores, those gooey but delicious campfire treats.

Big Break is at 69 Big Break Road off Oakley's Main Street. For information, call (510) 544-3050.

The Ohlone Peoples have called the area that includes Sunol Regional Wilderness their homeland for millennia. Their rich cultural history will be on display at the park during a program from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 13, with naturalist Kristina Parkison. This is a drop-in program; registration is not required. Parents must participate. Meet at the visitor center.

Sunol Regional Wilderness is at the end of Geary Road off Calaveras Road, about five miles south of I-680 and the town of Sunol. There's a parking fee of $5 per vehicle. Before you go, check "Alerts and Closures" on the Park District website, www.ebparks.org, to be sure there is access. Geary Road has been blocked by rockslides several times as the result of winter storms. For general information about the park, call (510) 544-3249.

A naturalist-led stroll on the marsh boardwalk, with stories, songs and movement keyed to a nature-themed book is on the agenda from 3:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 13 at Coyote Hills Regional Park in Fremont. Registration is not necessary. All ages are welcome; parent participation is required. The program is wheelchair-accessible. Meet at the visitor center.

Coyote Hills is at 8000 Patterson Ranch Road off Paseo Padre Parkway. There's a parking fee of $5 per vehicle; the program is free. For information, call (510) 544-3220. Note also that Coyote Hills can be very crowded on weekends, leading to temporary park closure until vehicle parking is available. There is additional parking at nearby Dumbarton Quarry Campground.

Low tide exploration is the plan during Family Nature Fun Hour, from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 13, at the Doug Siden Visitor Center at Crab Cove in Alameda. Find out what low tide reveals about bay creatures. This is a drop-in program; registration is not needed. The center is at 1252 McKay Ave. off Alameda's Central Avenue. For information, call (510) 544-3187.

This is just a partial list of activities and programs available in your Regional Parks in coming days. For a full list, visit www.ebparks.org/things-to-do. And as mentioned above, it's wise to check "Alerts and Closures" at the website to be sure the park you wish to visit has not been affected by weather or other factors.

'Cohousing University' to Provide Crash Course

SUBMITTED BY JANE MUELLER AND
EVELYN LATORRE

Members of Mission Peak Village, the cohousing community planned for Fremont, have been getting so many inquiries recently that the group has put together an event they are calling Cohousing University. This "crash course" in how cohousing will work in Fremont has been planned for May 12-15. Most sessions will be held online, but the Sunday afternoon tour of Mountain View Cohousing will be in person.

"Many have remarked about the information they would like before deciding whether to pursue membership," says Kelli Soika, who organized the event. "We assembled that information into four sessions and recruited people with a depth of experience to present them."

Cohousing University begins with a get-acquainted hour on Friday evening, during which attendees can meet the current members of Mission Peak Village. It continues Saturday morning with three classes, a panel discussion among current residents of three existing communities about what it's like to live in cohousing, a look at how buying a home in cohousing solves some issues with real estate transactions, and a demonstration of how decisions are made in cohousing groups.

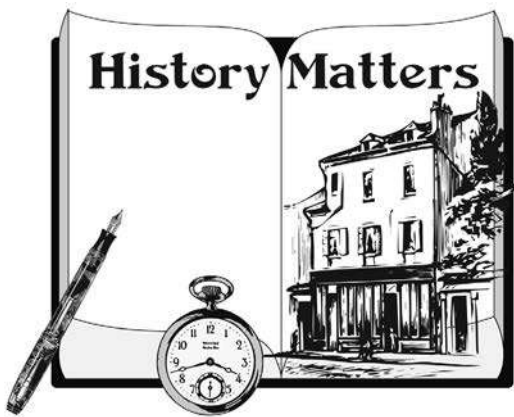

Sunday afternoon will be a rarely-available in-person tour of Mountain View Cohousing, the most recently completed Bay Area cohousing community. On Monday morning, attendees will get an online look at the Fremont plans and a discussion by Mission Peak Village's development partner about how the project is financed.

"We think this is exactly what people need to know in order to decide whether to take the next step with us," says Doug Ford, a current member of the group. The next step is to become an "Explorer" and spend 30-90 days getting better acquainted with the project and its operations and plans.

This article is part of an ongoing series on cohousing. To register for Cohousing University, visit www.missionpeakcohousing.org/events.

Mission Peak Village is a group of friends forming Fremont's first cohousing community. Explorers are welcome and memberships are still available. Call Kelli at (510) 413-8446 or visit Mission Peak Village on Facebook, Instagram, or the www.missionpeakcohousing.org website, where you can register for a monthly walk to explore the neighborhood around the future site in the Irvington district of Fremont.

Independent Rhode Island

One year after the start of the American Revolution, Rhode Island ramped up its status and became the first colony to declare its independence from England. According to History.com, Rhode Island’s seaside access allowed it to develop a “lucrative” maritime shipping business with the West Indies and Africa, trading rum and slaves. Thus “because it had independent wealth and trade coming through the two vibrant ports of Providence and Newport, Rhode Island was the only small state that could theoretically survive independent of the proposed federal union in 1787. The state had no desire to lose income in the form of import duties to the new federal government. As a result, Rhode Island was the last state to ratify the Constitution in 1790, when it was finally confronted with the prospect of the greater financial impositions it would suffer from being treated as a foreign country from the United States.”

For more information, the Grateful American Book Prize recommends William McLoughlin’s Rhode Island: A History.

North America’s
First Transcontinental
Railroad

For decades after the Revolution, horses were the only method of bicoastal mobility; then in the 19th century that relationship was eclipsed by the Civil War, and progress was stymied until the conflict ended in 1865. By 1869 the Central Pacific Railroad traveling out of Sacramento, California on May 10, 1869, joined with the Union Pacific coming from Omaha, Nebraska at Promontory, Utah. “For all the adversity they suffered,” says History.com, “the Union Pacific and Central Pacific workers were able to finish the railroad—laying nearly 2,000 miles of track by 1869, ahead of schedule and under budget. Journeys that had taken months by wagon train or weeks by boat now took only days. Their work had an immediate impact: The years following the construction of the railway were years of rapid growth and expansion for the United States, due in large part to the speed and ease of travel that the railroad provided.”

The Grateful American Book Prize suggests David Haward Bain’s Empire Express: Building the First Transcontinental Railroad.

First Residents of the White House

America’s second President John Adams, and his First Lady, Abigail, were the first inhabitants of the White House. Although President Adams demanded that federal employees relocate from Philadelphia to Washington D.C. by May 15, 1800, he and Abigail didn’t occupy the presidential mansion until November; they stayed four months—through the inauguration of Thomas Jefferson in March of 1801. In a November 21, 1800, letter to her daughter, “Nabby,” Abigail wrote: “You must keep all this to yourself, and, when asked how I like it, say that I write you the situation is beautiful, which is true. The house is made habitable, but there is not a single apartment finished, and all withinside, except the plastering, has been done since [White House steward John] Briesler came. We have not the least fence, yard, or other convenience, without, and the great unfinished audience room I made a drying room of, to hang up the clothes in ... Upstairs there is the oval room, which is designed for the drawing room, and has the crimson furniture in it. It is a very handsome room now; but when completed, it will be beautiful. If the twelve years, in which this place has been considered as the future seat of government, had been improved, as they would have been if in New England, very many of the present inconveniences would have been removed.”

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends John & Abigail Adams: America’s First Political Couple by Charles River Editors.

Hayward

SUBMITTED BY
HECTOR M. VILLASEÑOR

On Thursday, May 18, the VA Palo Alto Mobile Medical Outreach Team will come to Hayward Veterans Memorial Hall. The Outreach Team will facilitate examinations, consultations, and referrals for veterans who are enrolled in VA healthcare system onsite. VA resource information will be available. Veterans uncertain of their benefit eligibility are encouraged to visit as requirements have changed, and VA health care may complement current medical coverage. VA representatives will also provide information or assistance with questions and enrollment for VA healthcare. Veterans should bring military discharge papers (Form DD-214) and a list of current medications. If veterans, family members, and/or caregivers have any questions, or need more information about the event, reach out to Hector Villaseñor at hector.villaseñor@hayward-ca.gov or (510) 881-7974.

Scotch broom

By PAT KITE

A friend asked about Scotch broom (also known as English broom, Irish broom and common broom), which appeared in her pristine garden courtesy of a traveling bird. Reflexively, I told her to get rid of it. But in case I was wrong, I did some research.

The last time I saw Scotch broom was in my garden, trying to dig it up and out, again and again and again. A mature plant will spew out over 20,000 seeds. Seeds pop out of the golden yellow-flowers, and each seed can survive for at least thirty years in soil. Seeds also distribute via rain, passersby, tractors, etc. If you cut the plant, but leave the root, it comes back. If your dog or cat nibbles on it, animal will vomit and possibly have tummy and heart problems. Munching horses can die. And those of us with allergies will wheeze.

So where did Scotch broom originate? Scotch broom is native to North Africa and Europe. Over there, it has natural insect predators. But not here. In the 1850s, it was imported for its pretty yellow flowers. By the early 1900’s Scotch broom (Cytisus scoparius) was being used extensively to prevent soil erosion along our highways. It thrived. This broom contains a chemical alkaloid and nitrogen-fixing bacteria. When it lands on poor soil, these bacteria help it survive and outcompete other plants. (Remember those 20,000 seeds.) Growth is rapid.

Within two years, each plant can be eight feet tall. At this point it is shading out other greenery. By now, Scotch broom is referred to as a “noxious weed.” With this cheery description, how do you eliminate it? Hand yanking the seedlings for starters, trying to get the roots out. Check the site for two years and every two years thereafter. Should you have larger broom, check the internet or your local garden center for removal methods. My big garden book mentions several types of broom beside Cytisus scoparius, or Scotch broom. These don’t seem to have the noxious weed problem, but because plants and seeds are often mislabeled, caution is advised.

Got Wildlife? We Can Help!

SUBMITTED BY ANGELA HARTMAN –
DIRECTOR, OHSWRC

The Ohlone Humane Society Wildlife Rehabilitation Center (OHSWRC) in Newark is now open for caring people like you to bring us injured, orphaned and ill wildlife from the Tri-Cities. Thanks to the Boy Scouts, community members, OHS members, volunteers, and a generous grant from Fremont Bank, we are happy to report we are now open for business Tuesday – Saturday, 11:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

As some of you may know, we had to close temporarily in the winter of 2022 due to the HPAI bird flu outbreak in the U.S. In 2022 over 55 million birds, many poultry, died or had to be euthanized due to the bird flu outbreak. This situation is heartbreaking and there is no vaccine or cure for this virus. Mammals like opossums and raccoons who consume dead birds as part of their diet can also be infected.

The bird flu virus is so contagious it forced us to rethink how we intake new animals. The USDA recommended that all wildlife rehabilitation facilities have a separate area away from the animals in house to avoid cross contamination. We collaborated with local wildlife centers on how they are managing this situation and what modifications they made to keep incoming animals safe from the virus. Since the winter of 2022, we have been modifying our facility to make way for a new animal intake and quarantine area. We are happy to report we are open for business.

If you need advice on wildlife in distress, please call us at (510) 797-9449 so we can offer advice on how to move forward. If you have an injured or orphaned wild animal that needs care outside of our operating hours, please contact our partners at The Wildlife Center of Silicon Valley or Lindsay Wildlife.

Thank you to the OHSWRC volunteers and staff for all their hard work so we can once again serve our community and urban wildlife in need.

Eat or be eaten

The Vollmer family was on the lookout for elephants when they visited the Addo Elephant National Park in South Africa recently. But, instead, they wound up watching a venomous cape cobra swallowing another snake. They returned from their vacation with quite a story. However, it's not as uncommon as one might think. The Smithsonian Institution reports that the King Cobra, which can grow to a length of 12 feet, is also known for devouring weaker snakes when they get hungry, swallowing them whole after dosing them with neurotoxic venom via its fangs. A 'fog of bees'

Golf is a sport that comes with a variety of "hazards" such as lakes, trees and thick vegetation. But golfers at the PGA Tour's Mexico Open in Vallarta, Mexico recently encountered an unexpected hazard that one observer tagged as a "fog of bees." Players wasted no time ducking and hugging the ground as the buzzing got closer and louder. Watch the bees buzz the pro golfers on Twitter: twitter.com/PGATOUR/status/1651701264172953601

The worth of knowledge

As the end of the school year approaches, high school seniors look forward to the challenges of college life. Many of them may be concerned with the high cost of the next phase of their academic lives. But not Dennis Barnes, a senior at International High School of New Orleans with a cumulative grade point average of 4.98. He applied to 200 colleges and has been accepted by 125 of them, thus far. In addition, much to the delight of his parents, he has been offered more than $9 million in scholarships. See the story on YouTube: www.youtube.com/watch?v=2N1MEkr5it4

4th Grade Tours at Rancho

SUBMITTED BY
KELSEY CAMELLO

Attention all 4th grade students & families! Rancho del Agua Caliente will be open to all 4th grade families for $5 per family on Saturday, May 13.

The rancho once belonged to Fulgencio Higuera during the rancho period of California's history. It is now owned by the City of Fremont. Come see an adobe building built in 1840 and learn about the hide and tallow trade. Dip candles, design a brand, form an adobe brick, make a corn husk doll, and brand a cow using paint, felt and authentic brands. You can even try your hand at roping the steer!

This event is great for students either exiting and entering 4th grade, plus their families! Come one, come all. Bring a picnic lunch.

The tour is hosted by Washington Township Museum of Local History. Need more information? Call Dianne at (510) 673-4813 or email info@museumoflocalhistory.org.

All About Asparagus

By JOHN SCHINKEL

As you drive past certain farms in the East Bay this time of year, you might see pointy green spears of asparagus shooting out of the ground waiting to be picked. This tasty and versatile vegetable, though widely available, is a particularly difficult crop given the lengthy grow time and intensive labor required to harvest. Rich in fiber, folate, potassium, and vitamins A, C, and K, Asparagus is a healthy addition to any diet. With its fibrous but tender texture, it's a satiating snack, side dish, or even meal.

From my experience, it seems that buying asparagus off-season can be a hit-or-miss task when visiting my local grocery store and farmers' markets. The supply is usually limited, with the quality lacking at times. This is not to say you should only consume asparagus in-season, but rather that it is important to know what you are looking for before you shop.

Grocers have an arduous task ahead of them if they wish to properly merchandise bunches of asparagus. The plants need similar treatment to cut flowers: placed in water standing upright with the root end submerged, ensuring a crisp spear with well-preserved color. If your grocer does not use this method, ensure the spears you choose are firm and stand out straight when placed on their side and held from the bottom. Try to find spears that are green (or purple/white if shopping for those varieties) throughout. To ensure even cooking, choose bunches with uniform sizes. Thicker spears tend to have a fibrous and unpalatable root end. That being said, nearly all spears have a fibrous root end that will require some trimming—about 1-2 inches.

So how should you cook asparagus? The answer varies mostly by size. Thin, long asparagus spears should be steamed or blanched as when these are roasted, they become floppy and shriveled. Thicker spears, however, can easily withstand roasting or even grilling, while taking on a beautiful new flavor.

One way I love to prepare asparagus is a simple, refreshing, recipe-free, citrus & parmesan blanched method. Bring a pot of salted water to a boil, and have an ice bath ready. Zest a lemon or two and set aside, then boil asparagus until it is bright, crisp, and tender (about 3 minutes). Then, immediately plunge the spears in the ice bath. Once spears are cold, place them in a large bowl and add fresh lemon juice, and toss in salt and pepper. Remove your spears from the bowl with the lemon juice and arrange on a nice plate and top with good parmesan cheese, lemon zest, and lemon slices. Shaved parmesan is my favorite for this dish, but shredded and grated are also fine. For something extra, add sliced prosciutto.

Asparagus plays nice with other in-season vegetables, including my all-time favorite: Mexican gray squash. Some time back, I put together a recipe for a rich spring vegetable risotto. The two together are a match made in culinary heaven. Enjoy!

Vegetable Risotto

Serves 3-4 | 25 minutes | Intermediate

- 6 cups low-sodium vegetable broth
- 1 ½ cups Arborio rice
- ¾ cups white wine
- 1 cup freshly shredded parmesan
- 1 Mexican gray squash, chopped
- 1 bunch asparagus, cut into 1" sections
- 1 lb. mushrooms
- 1 cup leek, white part, washed and chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 tbsp. olive oil-divided
- 1 tbsp. unsalted butter
- Red chili flakes (optional)

Heat vegetable broth in a saucepan until almost boiling. Hold at hot temperature. Heat a heavy-bottomed stainless steel pan with 1 tbsp. of olive oil and sauté asparagus and gray squash until asparagus is tender, but not fully cooked (al dente). Meanwhile, in a second pan, sauté mushrooms until most liquid is evaporated, and mushrooms have greatly reduced in size. Once done, place vegetables together in a bowl and set aside. In the pan that the asparagus and squash were sautéed, add 1 tbsp. of butter and a touch of olive oil. Once melted, sauté leek until translucent and fragrant, about 3 minutes. Add Arborio rice, stir until each grain appears to be coated. Add white wine, and stir until almost entirely absorbed.

Add one ladle (or ¾-1 cup) of broth to the rice. Stir repeatedly until almost fully absorbed. Repeat one ladle at a time until all broth is used. Once creamy and plump, add parmesan cheese, stir, and return vegetables (with any liquids in bowl) to the risotto. Stir well, let sit for 5 minutes before serving. Top with extra parmesan cheese and red chili flakes.

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: MAY 9, 2023

All Signs: This week our self-esteem is stronger and we're pumped with confidence. Fresh opportunities blossom along with the promise of romance. Singles will have calloused fingers from swiping their phones; and committed partners will feel happier and reassured. At the beginning of the week, a demand for freedom will be the rallying cry. Routines will change. People want to be free to do their own thing! I read somewhere that a large part of happiness is letting go of what you think life is supposed to look like. Be open minded.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20):

This week holds exciting financial opportunities for you. Something unexpected might impact your earnings, cash flow or possessions at the beginning of the week. It could be a new job, income stream, or moneymaking ideas. You will see ways to make lovely improvements at home. You're keen to solidify a financial situation. Whatever this is might be secretive. Certainly, home improvements you make now will have a long-lasting benefit. Remember that your finances will improve because this year, you're getting richer!

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20):

This is a powerful week. Admittedly, at the beginning, you will feel impulsive, even rash. Guard against accidents. But you will also feel freer and ready to explore new horizons. Listen to the advice of someone older or more experienced. Conversations with others will be warm and friendly because Mercury is in your sign dancing with fair Venus, which makes your words smooth and sweet. This week it pleases you to make your everyday surroundings more attractive. Whatever you do will have a long-term benefit.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20):

You feel restless this week because lots of activity is taking place in a hidden part of your chart. You want to do something, but it's not manifesting yet. The good news is you can attract money and favors this week. Someone older will help; listen to their advice. You've been spending money lately; some of it will come back your way. This is the most powerful time for you in a 30-year cycle. Since 2008, you've been building towards this time of fruition. Now you see clearly what's working in your life and what isn't.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21):

Your popularity is strong this week, particularly with younger people. Everyone finds you charming because fair Venus in your sign. However, with Mars in your sign as well, you're ready for action. Those involved in group efforts will shake things up this week. Discussions might lead you to change your future goals. Someone older or more experienced has advice for you, especially related to philosophy, religion or politics. Listen to what is offered because it might benefit you. After all, you don't have to reinvent the wheel.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22):

This continues to be a powerful time for you because the Sun is at the top of your chart casting you in a flattering spotlight. Something might happen, especially in the beginning of the week, that causes you to change your life direction. It's sudden, but you are certain now about what you want to do. You might get advice from someone about financial matters. You might also be attracted to someone in authority; however, this attraction is secret. In fact, this is the perfect week for a hidden love affair.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22):

Grab every opportunity to travel. Having said this, at the beginning of the week, travel opportunities might suddenly change or be cancelled. Or you suddenly have to travel when you didn't expect. Exciting breakthroughs will come through study, politics, or writing an important paper or a manuscript. You might have an epiphany. Romance with someone different or from another culture might begin. Conversations with long-term partners about future travel plans will be encouraging. The bottom line for you right now is you want to feel free to be who you are!

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22):

You might encounter a surprise regarding shared property, taxes, debt or inheritances at the beginning of the week. Nevertheless, most of this week is about warm relations with others, especially people from your past, long-term friends or someone older or more established. Romance with a boss is likely. You can get a lot done if you have to deal with "red-tape" details regarding shared property and inheritances. With Mars high in your chart, you're ambitious. This means you can accomplish a lot if you choose.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21):

This week has a different vibe! A partner or close friend might surprise you. They might demand more freedom or a different arrangement in the relationship. You might meet someone new who is unusual. Discussions with someone older might yield helpful advice. You might also discuss future plans to travel for pleasure. Life is starting to feel that it holds the promise of an exciting future. And you're right! Very soon, Jupiter will sit opposite your sign for the first time in 12 years, encouraging you to go after everything that you want.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21):

This is an exciting, productive week! At the beginning, be careful. Accidents might happen, especially to a pet. Pay attention to everything you say and do. Something unexpected might also impact your job or health. Fortunately, a discussion with someone older, especially in the family, will help to solidify your home base. This is a romantic, passionate week for you as well. Use money and assets that come to you now to solidify your home base because that is your number one priority. Your second priority is to escape on a marvelous vacation.

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19):

This is an exciting time for you! You feel like you are suddenly breaking free from a chrysalis and being reborn. You are a hard-working sign; nevertheless, this is the perfect time to party, take a vacation, enjoy the arts, see theatre, and and delight in playful activities with children. Meanwhile, romance is full of all kinds of possibilities. Many of you might begin a relationship with someone of an age difference. (This is your style.) Remember that you are in a two-year window where residential moves and job changes are likely.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18):

Home and family continue to be a primary focus. Expect some sudden changes on the home front at the beginning of the week. It could even be a family mutiny. Something will happen this week that makes you feel freer and younger. It will be an unexpected change – possibly minor, possibly major. As a result, discussions with older family members or parents will ensue. These discussions could have financial repercussions. They might also affect your job. However, in the long-range, they will benefit you and clarify things for your long-term future.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20):

A busy, fast-paced week! Please be mindful of the beginning of the week to avoid an accident. Sudden changes and accidents are likely. New ideas, new places, new faces, new trips, new ways of learning – it could be anything. One thing is certain – your daily world will be stimulated or suddenly changed. As a result, you will have discussions with someone older and more experienced, which will ultimately benefit you. New love is highly likely for your sign! Accept invitations to socialize.

EARTHTALK

Show Me The Proof: Is Climate Change Definitively Causing Extreme Weather?

BY ANNIE GRAY

Dear EarthTalk: Have scientists been able to definitively prove links between global warming and more extreme weather phenomena in recent years, or is this still just a theory?

– T.C., Chicago, Illinois

The question of whether science has been able to prove, let alone prove definitively, the connection between climate change and extreme weather is a very tricky one. This is because science is always reluctant to deal in certainty. “You can never have 100 percent proof of anything. There will always be doubt,” reports Jack Fraser, an Oxford-trained astrophysics Ph.D. at the Wellcome Sanger Institute. “Proof can only exist when there is no doubt, and there is always doubt. You could be a brain in a vat, living in a crazy simulation. You could be hallucinating everything. You cannot prove anything.” Despite this embedded doubt in all things scientific, researchers have opened up a new branch of science called ‘Extreme Event Attribution’ in an attempt to work out the extent of man-made climate change’s culpability. To discern this, scientists begin by setting criteria for what made the event extreme. They then turn to historical climate records and make comparisons with other similar events, checking them against the same criteria. They are looking for a change in the intensity or frequency of a certain extreme event. If they find a change, they then work out what caused it. To do this, they use models. There are many different types of models; one example is creating two virtual worlds with exactly the same conditions, except one is pumped full of greenhouse gasses. These simulations then create thousands of weather scenarios allowing a direct comparison between the polluted world and the non-polluted world. The difference between the two suggests man-made climate change’s culpability in certain weather events. Although new, this form of science has already gone as far as science permits into proving the role of climate change in certain extreme weather events. “The vast majority of extreme weather events reviewed by researchers since 2011 – 70 percent – were shown to be more likely to occur, or were made more severe, because of global warming,” Eric Roston and Brian Sullivan report in The Washington Post. Take the floods in Pakistan in 2020, for instance. The World Weather Attribution scientists say that their “evidence suggests that climate change played an important role in the event, although our analysis doesn’t allow us to quantify how big the role was.” And Frederike Otto, a climatologist from Imperial College London, said that “the fingerprints of global warming [were] evident” in the disaster. Extreme Event Attribution is a particular science that works on a case-by-case basis, but the trend is clear. Seventy percent of extreme weather events were made more likely or more damaging by man-made issues. Definitive proof will never be offered by science, but most studies point in the same direction: towards global warming.

BART unveils state-of-the-art tool that will improve rider experience

SUBMITTED BY BART COMMUNICATIONS

On May 3, BART unveiled its newly acquired geometry car, known as the Rail Inspection Vehicle or RIV for short, which will enhance the rider experience by enabling a smoother ride, improving the system's reliability, and cutting costs. The vehicle has highly advanced track inspection capabilities that will transform BART's rail operations, helping to facilitate more efficient maintenance as well as fewer system interruptions for repairs during normal service hours.

The state-of-the-art vehicle, which was created for BART, identifies potential problems along the track with very high accuracy and without obstructing regular railroad operations.

One of only two such vehicles in the U.S., the RIV utilizes hi-tech lasers, sensors, cameras, measuring systems, and data management systems to create a comprehensive profile of the track, all while traveling at speeds of up to 70 mph. The RIV can measure the track's position, curvature, smoothness, and alignment, as well as wear and corrugation, which contribute to train noise.

Among its many capabilities, the RIV can also create 3D surface scans of the area around the track and capture hi-definition images that detect abnormalities in components such as concrete ties and fasteners, which hold the rail in place. The RIV can also identify potential issues by capturing video in both normal and low-light conditions, including in tunnels, as well as infrared thermal imagery. GPS, axle counters, and radio-frequency identification (RFID) tags pinpoint the locations of problem areas.

The RIV measures 63 feet by 9.5 feet and weighs 110,000 pounds. It will serve as an important asset to BART for the next forty to fifty years.

Lamentations, Meditations, and Celebrations

SUBMITTED BY SF BAY AREA
CHAMBER CHOIR

An exploration of the human spirit in choral song.
We lament the pain in our lives.
We reflect on the meaning of life.
We celebrate our joys and accomplishments.

This concert from SF Bay Area Chamber Choir explores these three conditions of the human spirit through diverse musical lenses in their upcoming concert on May 19.

The concert opens with Adolphus Hailstork's Crucifixion, a modern and dramatic setting of the pained spiritual He never said a mumblin' word. The remainder of the first half is Thomas Tallis' Renaissance masterpiece The Lamentations of Jeremiah. Tallis sets verses one through five of the prophet Jeremiah's eyewitness account of the siege of the city of Jerusalem that began in 589 BC and concluded with its destruction around 586 BC. Each of the two parts of the lamentations concludes with the words, "Jerusalem, Jerusalem, return to the Lord your God."

The second half of the concert begins with two introspective and meditative works. Williametta Spencer's At the round earth's imagined corners is a dramatic setting of one of John Donne's Holy Sonnets, followed by Caroline Shaw's

And the swallow, a stunning setting of Psalm 84 from 2017.

The concert concludes with three selections of celebration. Eric Whitacre's epic Leonardo Dreams of his Flying Machine, which tells of DaVinci's dream of taking flight, is followed by Leo Brouwer's Cántico De Celebración. The program concludes with Alice Parker's immortal Hark, I hear the harps eternal.

Tickets for the Friday, May 19 performance are available online, at the door, and from choir members.

PG&E Incentive Program provides customers bill credits while supporting the grid

SUBMITTED BY PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

The 2023 season for the Power Saver Rewards Program has launched, and Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) residential electric customers are encouraged to register now. The program rewards participants for temporarily reducing energy use when demand for electricity is high. Last year, PG&E customers received over $55 million in bill credits.

Power Saver Rewards Program event days are triggered by the state's grid operator, the California Independent System Operator, calling a Flex Alert and/or an Energy Emergency Alert Watch between May 1 and October 31. Notifications to customers to reduce energy use as part of the program are sent out the day before an event. Over the ten event days in 2022, the average customer bill credit for program participants was $35.

Currently, more than 1.7 million customers are enrolled in the program. Customers who reduce energy use between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. on event days will receive an automatic credit on their energy statement after the program season ends. Customers receive $2 per kilowatt hour (kWh) for decreasing electricity use during events. There is no penalty for not reducing energy.

A kWh is a measure of how much electricity is used. One kWh equals the amount of energy consumed if a 1,000-watt appliance is used for an hour.

The program, initiated by California Public Utilities Commission, encourages energy conservation during extreme heat waves to lessen the overall strain on the grid and prevent the need for rotating outages. Customers successfully shifted energy usage away from peak demand times on event days. During peak hours, customers temporarily reduced usage by taking actions such as turning their thermostat to 78 degrees or higher (health permitting), turning off lights not in use, unplugging electric vehicles, and waiting until after peak hours to use large appliances such as washers, dryers and electric ovens.

PG&E electric customers with a SmartMeter not enrolled in a conflicting peak hour program are eligible to participate. Most customers enrolled in a Community Choice Aggregator can also join. Customers can disenroll from the program at any time through the program website.

Local Author Writes Lotta Pedal, An Adventurous Children's Book

to life through Lotta Pedal, a young girl whose curiosity and determined nature lead her to learn about not only her coastal hometown, but herself.

From a young age, Cudmore was no stranger to nature. Her childhood was filled with outdoor escapades. This has carried into her present-day lifestyle, as she states, “I love mountain biking, cruising down Highway 1, photographing wildlife, and helping rescue neighborhood cats. I’m a total advocate that adventure can be found in the most unexpected places.” Cudmore graduated from Queen’s University with a degree in Film Studies and has since had a successful career in marketing and advertising. However, her interest in writing never dwindled, which ignited the creation of Lotta Pedal.

Lotta Pedal was conceived at a time when Cudmore was in between jobs. She explains, “I was thinking about a new career path. I thought I might try photography or painting, but ultimately I decided to pursue writing.” Once the first draft of Lotta Pedal was complete, Cudmore purchased the web domain, lottapedal.com. “I resumed a marketing role a few weeks later, so I placed Lotta on hold,” she explains. “However, I kept renewing that web domain address every year with the vision to finalize the book.” The name is a unique and literal take on the character itself: a spunky girl pedaling on her bike through her West Coast town. Lotta has a strong spirit and juggles several passions—biking, surfing, baking, fashion and even promoting environmental awareness. After virtually reconnecting with an old friend who was working on his own writing projects during COVID, Cudmore was inspired to revisit her story and commit to getting it published.

What followed was a lengthy process that began with thoroughly reviewing her original draft. Cudmore states, “I still loved the adventurous nature of Lotta Pedal, but I revisited the themes to ensure it was relevant and meaningful for today’s audience.” The storyline evolved into an empowering tale about a feisty, independent girl who tackles a day of adventure and learns about ways to protect the planet. This time around, Cudmore established a detailed development process. She studied the children’s book market and attended writing workshops, learning everything she could about the publishing industry. With this in mind, she decided to change Lotta Pedal from a stand-alone story to a series that young readers could follow.

After evaluating the pros and cons of working with larger publishers, Cudmore opted for self-publishing in order to retain creative control over the characters and stories. She states, “I had a clear vision about the look and feel of the book. I knew I needed to build my own dream team.” Cudmore hired a former colleague and layout artist, who was well-versed in publishing, as a graphic designer. A group of proofreaders and content editors were also onboarded. Working with a well-respected book printer enabled Cudmore to be hands-on in selecting the paper type, assessing the binding, and reviewing color proofs. Award-winning illustrator Antonio Caparo was captivated by the stories and signed onto the project immediately. Caparo brought Lotta Pedal to life by referencing Cudmore’s mood boards, color swatches, fabric patterns, location scenes, and so forth. Furthermore, local bookstores such as Banter Bookshop in Fremont have been supportive in stocking Lotta Pedal on shelves as well as hosting an upcoming event for the author’s debut.

Chapter one of Lotta Pedal Catches Her Wave, the first book in the series, throws Lotta into her first challenge – getting to the beach on Surf Day with her self-decorated board after her brothers leave without her in their unreliable but awesome surf van. She shows creativity and positive attitude, which carries through the rest of the book as she and her friends navigate how to save their local beach and sea mammals, in addition to handling a nasty school bully. Cudmore says, “I think it’s essential for kids to have a determined role model and hope about the outdoors, especially since so many of them were stuck inside during COVID.” Additionally, since Lotta enjoys baking, the book includes an easy-to-follow beach sugar cookie recipe. “I wanted the book to be extra special, so I hired a recipe developer to create a recipe just for Lotta,” Vanessa states. With an educational twist, Lotta encourages adventure while rallying and finding effective ways to protect the planet.

In many ways, Lotta Pedal mirrors Cudmore’s own courage in pursuing this creative project. Fifteen years in the making for any body of work is a complex yet fulfilling task to take on. “I hope Lotta Pedal can be my legacy project in inspiring kids to find things they love to do and enjoy life,” she says. As for advice for fellow writers, she adds, “Find a mentor or support system. It’s great to find someone who understands what you’re going through. Everyone has a story to tell so if you’re up for the challenge, go for it!”

To purchase Lotta Pedal, please visit lottapedal.com/shop. Copies are also available at Banter Bookshop in Fremont. (www.banterbookshop.com)

Urban Libraries Council honors Alameda County Library

SUBMITTED BY ALICIA REYES,
COMMUNICATIONS
MANAGER

The Urban Libraries Council (ULC) announced Alameda County Library as one of eight Honorable Mentions during the 2023 Innovations Celebration held virtually on April 27. ULC’s annual Innovation Awards recognize transformative programs from ULC’s member library systems across the U.S. and Canada that enhance the library field to further advocacy, anti-racism and digital equity, democracy, education, health and wellness and workforce development.

Alameda County Library’s Every Month is Pride Month program was selected by expert judges from over 150 submissions in 8 categories that showcase creative thinking and out-of-the-box application of library resources. Alameda County Library was honored in the category of Advocacy & Awareness, with honorees being recognized for their level of inventiveness, the outcomes achieved and the ability for other libraries to adapt and implement their work.

“It is clear from this year’s selected 2023 Innovations that ULC member libraries are at the forefront of industry creativity, leading far-reaching efforts, and developing original programming,” said ULC President and CEO Brooks Rainwater. “These winners illustrate the exceptional leadership, dedication and perseverance demonstrated by our libraries amidst ongoing change and pressure. We applaud Alameda County Library for their visionary program, which will revolutionize their library and community and serve as a template for public libraries across North America.”

Alameda County Library launched Every Month is Pride Month in response to an incident at a Drag Storytime held at the San Lorenzo Library last summer. Members of a local chapter of the Proud Boys stormed the Library, disrupted the event, and shouted hateful slurs at the event’s performer while families and children were in attendance. With the support of former Alameda County Supervisor Dave Brown, library staff created a year of LGBTQIA+ programming to reaffirm the County’s support for and inclusiveness of LGBTQIA+ communities.

“We are so proud to be awarded with an Honorable Mention for ULC’s 2023 Innovation Awards in the Advocacy & Awareness category. My team took a hateful act and transformed it into kindness, connection, and community pride. Supported by our community, we transformed the way Alameda County responds to hate,” said County Librarian Cindy Chadwick.

All 2023 ULC Innovations entries can be viewed at urbanlibraries.org.

Pauline Saine-Julian

January 17, 1950 – April 16, 2023

Resident of Fremont

Pauline Saine-Julian, also known as Paula, passed away April 16 at the age of 73. She was born on January 17, 1950 in Maywood. The family later moved to Whittier, where she grew up and graduated from Whittier High School.

Paula married in 1970 and gave birth to her only son, Paul. In 1973, she moved to Fremont where she lived until her passing. She worked at the Veteran Hospital until she retired.

Paula was predeceased by her husband, John Julian, and her parents, Baylus and Berniece Vinson. She is survived by her son, Paul and sister, Joan.

Anyone who knew Paula remembers her independence, strength, energy, playfulness and happy spirit. She was always in a good mood. We will miss her contagious smile.

At this time, no memorial service has been planned.

The end of her life here on earth is just the beginning of her joyous, eternal life in Heaven.

Gail Kerns Dabis

Burney, California

January 27, 1946 – March 13 2023

Loving wife of Richard Davis(deceased), daughter of Dick and Virginia Medley Kerns (deceased). Loving mother to daughters Chelsea, Nikki, Son John, eight Grandchildren and six Great- Great Grandchildren. Loving sister to Walter Kerns of Henderson Nevada.

In her Freshman year, Gail attended James Logan High School in Union City where she met her future husband from Niles, Senior student Richard Davis, Class of 1960. After his graduation, Richard enlisted in the California National Guard. Gail attended Washington Union High School in Fremont during her Sophomore and Junior years, eventually transitioning to Irvington High School, for her Senior Year, Graduating Class of 1963. Gail participated in many school events. Her vibrant and enthusiastic personality as an Irvington Varsity Cheerleader immensely contributed to school spirit. She loved competing with her girl-friend teammates and rivals in both the Fremont and Cloverleaf Bowling alley leagues.

After her graduation, Gail and Richard were wed, settling into a modest home the Niles District of Fremont to begin their family. Eventually the Davis Family pulled up stakes leaving the busy Bay Area urban life for the serenity and the inviting small-town culture in Burney California and her family as Richard leaned on his life-long skills in mechanics and metallurgy where they successfully owned and operated several small businesses in the Burney-Shasta County community. The Davis home was always an open-home gathering place for many joyous occasions, celebrating holidays, birthdays, neighborhood get-togethers and parties. Besides a busy family and business life, Gail and Richard also found time to serve their community as Certified EMT’s with Hospital Emergency Services in the Burney area.

Through the years Gail lovingly supported her husband

Providing comfort and solace throughout his long illness, Gail lost her beloved Richard in February of 2020. In the months following Richard’s passing, many friends and families of the surrounding Burney-Shasta County communities offered loyal and loving support to Gail and to her family.

Now it is with heartfelt sadness we grieve the passing of Gail Lynette Kerns Davis. In her honor, in her memory and in her legacy, an uplifting Celebration of Life attended by her loving family and many community members was held on Saturday April 29, 2023 at The World of Life Assembly in Burney California.

Gail and Richard Together again. Rest in Peace.

SOCIAL SECURITY MATTERS

Survivor Benefits vs. Spousal Benefits

BY RUSSELL GLOOR, NATIONAL
SOCIAL SECURITY ADVISOR,
AMAC FOUNDATION

Ask Rusty – About “Survivor”
Benefits vs. “Spousal” Benefits

Dear Rusty: I will be 70 in August and will file my application for benefits in May. I know I'll get my maximum possible amount at age 70, but I need you to clarify things I have read. Per an award-winning TV host, author, and host of a money podcast, “If the higher-earning spouse delays until age 70 to claim Social Security, that guarantees the survivor the biggest possible benefit.” But then I read in a different article that if a person delays beyond their full retirement age to obtain a higher personal benefit (like I have), my spouse's benefit would still be based on my FRA benefit amount. I am confused about which statement is the correct version.

Signed: Confused About My Spouse's Benefit

Dear Confused: I'm not surprised that you are confused about these seemingly contradictory statements. It is, indeed, quite logical (and common) for a widow or widower to think they must apply for a “spousal benefit” from their deceased spouse. And while that's technically true, those of us who live in this often-confusing world of Social Security jargon would say the widow or widower is applying for a survivor benefit, not a spousal benefit. What's the difference? Well, when you're speaking with a Social Security representative or an advisor, the term “spousal benefit” means something entirely different than the term “survivor benefit.”

The two articles you mention are, I believe, referring to two different types of Social Security benefit. The term “survivor benefit” is typically used to describe benefits available to a surviving spouse when the higher earner dies, but the term “spousal benefit” is typically used to denote benefits available to a lower earning spouse when both partners are still living. I agree this is confusing, and that distinction was apparently not clear in the articles you read. Therefore, to clear your confusion:

- If the higher earning spouse dies and has delayed claiming until age 70, that does, indeed, “guarantee the surviving spouse the biggest possible benefit.” The survivor's benefit is based on the full amount the deceased was receiving at death.

- If both spouses are living and the higher-earning spouse delayed until age 70 to claim, their living spouse's benefit, when the higher-earning spouse claims, will be a maximum of 50% of the higher-earning spouse's full retirement age (FRA) amount. A living spouse's benefit is based on their partner's FRA amount, regardless of when their partner actually claimed.

So, in your case, your wife's spousal benefit from you while you are both living will be based on your FRA entitlement, even though you waited longer to claim. But if you die first, your wife's survivor benefit as your widow will be based on 100% of the amount you were receiving at your death. In effect, both statements you referred to in your question are true considering that they refer to two different benefit types. It is a terminology distinction which frequently causes misunderstanding.

County of Santa Clara to use drones to Reduce Mosquito Population

SUBMITTED BY
SANTA CLARA COUNTY
PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICE

The County of Santa Clara Vector Control District this week will begin using unmanned aircraft systems, or drones, to control mosquito larvae along San Francisco Bay and help prevent West Nile virus and other vector-borne diseases.

The district received approval from Santa Clara Board of Supervisors Tuesday, April 18, to use the drones for applying larvicide in non-residential areas. Controlling larval mosquitoes is vital for reducing the mosquito population in the surrounding region.

The primary goal of developing a drone program is to protect public health. It is critical for the district to access and treat marshland and other remote, non-residential areas in Santa Clara County that serve as breeding habitat for mosquitoes, which can transmit West Nile virus and other diseases once they mature. Some mosquitoes found in the Bay Area can fly up to 25 miles once they become adults.

The county's move to drones for eliminating larval mosquitoes is part of a trend among California vector control agencies.

“The Vector Control District's new drone program will protect not only public health but also our staff and the surrounding environment,” said Edgar Nolasco, Director of the County's Consumer and Environmental Protection Agency. “Applying larvicide with drones is precise and effective and minimizes disruption to the ecosystem along the Bay.”

The use of drones for mosquito control provides many benefits, including:

- Reducing the need for District staff to access difficult terrain and improving employee safety.
- Minimizing impacts on the local ecosystem.
- Precise application of larvicides.

Winter rains create mosquito-breeding habitat. After an exceptionally rainy winter, Santa Clara County has a surplus of stagnant water, creating ample breeding sources for mosquitoes. As a result, the district strongly encourages county residents to eliminate any sources of stagnant water on their properties.

Here are some things you can do to eliminate mosquito-breeding sources on your property:

- Inspect for standing water on a weekly basis.

- Drain or turn over anything that can hold water, such as flowerpots, planter bases, pet dishes, buckets and old tires.

- Clean items like bird baths and pet bowls once a week to remove mosquito eggs.

- Clear debris from rain gutters on a regular basis to allow water to flow.

- Properly screen rain barrels, cisterns and irrigation drains to prevent mosquito access.

- Fix leaky water faucets and broken sprinkler heads and avoid overwatering lawns and plants.

- Ensure swimming pool water levels are adequate for proper circulation and filtration.

- Contact the district if you are being bothered by mosquitoes or know of a potential mosquito-breeding source.

Residents can also request free mosquitofish, which eat mosquito larvae, to place in neglected pools or spas, ornamental ponds, water troughs and other artificial bodies of water. For more information on the County's mosquitofish program, visit www.sccvector.org/mosquitofish.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF UNION CITY
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Union City will hold a public hearing on the following matter:

General Plan Amendment (AG-23-001) for the 2023-2031 Housing Element and Safety Element Update

The City of Union City is proposing to adopt the 2023-2031 Housing Element and Safety Element Update, amending the 2040 General Plan in conformance with State regulations.

For more information and to review the draft Housing Element and Safety Element update, visit the project website at: <https://www.unioncity.org/604/Housing-and-Safety-Element-Update>

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN that pursuant to California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines Section 15164, an Addendum has been prepared to the 2040 General Plan Environmental Impact Report (EIR) (State Clearinghouse No. 2018102057), dated November 2019, and certified by the City Council on December 10, 2019. The Addendum affirms the proposed changes to the project are within the scope of the EIR. The Addendum is available on the City's website at <https://www.unioncity.org/347/Planning-Documents>.

The Planning Commission reviewed the project at its April 20, 2023 meeting and voted 4-0 to adopt resolutions recommending adoption of an Addendum to the 2040 General Plan EIR and adoption the 2023-2031 Housing Element and Safety Element Update (AG 23-001) to the City Council.

This item will be heard at a public hearing by the City Council at the meeting listed below. Comments may be submitted in writing prior to the hearing or at the hearing consistent with the Teleconference Guidelines. The Project Manager, Coleman Fick, can be reached by email at colemanf@unioncity.org or by phone at 510-675-5426.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

Thursday, May 25, 2023

7:00 p.m.

Publication Date: May 9, 2023

The meeting will be held in the City Hall Council Chambers at 37101 Newark Boulevard, Newark, CA 94560. Members of the public may attend the meeting in person, virtually, or watch it via YouTube or Cable Channel 26.

Details on how to participate in the meeting virtually will be set forth in the meeting agenda which is anticipated to be posted by 5 p.m. on May 18, 2023, at <https://www.newark.org/departments/city-manager-s-office/agendas-minutes>.

If you have any questions regarding viewing or participating in the meeting, after reviewing the posted agenda, please contact the Community Development Department at planning@newark.org.

Pursuant to California Government Code §6061, §65090, §65091, §65094, §65095, §65905, and Newark Municipal Code (NMC) §17.31.020, §17.35.050, and §17.39.050, on May 25, 2023, at or after 7:00 p.m., the City Council will hold a public hearing to consider approval of the entitlements and regulatory approvals listed below as requested by the applicant for a proposed residential development project located at 38288-38524 Cedar Boulevard (APNs 92A-2375-002-06, 92A-2375-022-01).

- Ordinance Establishing a Planned Development Overlay District to allow the proposed development;

- Design Review which is required for all projects that require a permit for new construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, alteration, or other improvements to the exterior of a structure, site, or a parking area;

- Minor Use Permit to allow a proposed sound wall up to 18 feet tall along the rear and side property lines;

- Vesting Tentative Map to create 124 lots including six common and 118 residential lots; and

- Adopt a Mitigated Negative Declaration (MND) supported by an Initial Study for the proposed project in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). The Initial Study is posted on the following website: <https://www.newark.org/departments/community-development/planning-division/projects-under-environmental-review>

The Applicant, Robson Homes LLC, is proposing to demolish the existing buildings and improvements, replace the trees along the site frontage facing Cedar Boulevard, and construct a 118-unit residential development comprised of single-family residences and two-unit attached townhouses (duets), new landscaping, open space areas, and other associated improvements, including utility upgrades and offsite improvements. The property is owned by the Robson Family Trusts. The site is zoned RM Residential Medium Density with a General Plan designation of Medium Density Residential. The site is bounded by a personal storage facility to the northwest, Interstate 880 (I-880) to the northeast, an Alameda County Flood Control & Water Conservation District (ACFCD) channel to the southeast, and Cedar Boulevard to the southwest. The site is surrounded by commercial, industrial, church, school, and single-family residential uses.

The Planning Commission considered the proposed project on March 14, 2023 and voted 4-0 (1 absent) to recommend City Council approval of the proposed project.

A May 11, 2023 City Council public hearing notice was published in The Tri City Voice on April 25, 2023 for the proposed project. Staff then determined further review of the proposed project was required. The public hearing was rescheduled to May 25, 2023.

Any interested person or authorized agent, or interested members of the public may appear at the public hearing to be heard and may submit written comments or request to view project details and information, including the complete application and project file (including any environmental impact assessment prepared in connection with the application) by contacting the project manager, Carmelisa Lopez via email at: carmelisa.lopez@newark.org.

If you challenge a City action in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice or in written correspondence delivered to the City of Newark at, or prior to, the public hearing.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

FY 2022-2023 RUBBERIZED CAPE SEAL AND SLURRY SEAL PROGRAM, PROJECT 1301

The City Council of the City of Newark invites sealed bids for the construction of public improvements for the 2022-2023 Rubberized Cape Seal and Slurry Seal Program, Project 1301, City of Newark, Alameda County, California. Bids shall be enclosed in a sealed opaque envelope. The envelope shall be sealed and clearly marked on its face with the Bidder's name, address and the notation "SEALED BID ENCLOSED, CITY OF NEWARK" with an identification of the PROJECT NAME, PROJECT NUMBER and BID DATE as identified on this Notice to Bidders.

If the Bidders intend to be sealed by mail, the sealed bid envelope shall be enclosed in a separate mailing envelope/box. The mailing envelope/box shall also be clearly marked on its face with the notation "SEALED BID ENCLOSED, CITY OF NEWARK" with an identification of the PROJECT NAME, PROJECT NUMBER and BID DATE as identified on this Notice to Bidders. Sealed bids must be delivered to the City Clerk of the City of Newark at 37101 Newark Boulevard, Second Floor Administration Office, Newark, California 94560, before 11:00 a.m. on Tuesday, May 23, 2023. The bid opening will be held using a hybrid format. At that time, all bids will be publicly opened, examined, and opened in the City Council Chamber at the City of Newark David W. Smith City Hall, 37101 Newark Boulevard, First Floor.

To attend the bid opening by web browser, please use the Zoom link below for video and audio:

From a PC, Mac, iPad, iPhone or Android device: <https://us06web.zoom.us/j/87626118634?pwd=VjR0aUJpYVZkdjR1bGZkdz09TGZkdz09>

Temporary open days and hours for City of Newark David W. Smith City Hall on Mondays through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The City will continue to comply with the Orders for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), and local health agencies to provide a safe workplace for City staff and customers. In the event a new or updated COVID-19 Health Order is issued preventing the delivery or opening of bids as prescribed above in this Notice to Contractors, alternative provisions will be made for bid submittals at the same time and location. Any such provisions will be made available to all plan holders with an Addendum.

The improvements are generally described as follows:

Place approximately 79,355 square yards of asphalt rubber cape seal and 310,665 square feet of type II polymer modified asphalt emulsion slurry seal on various streets as indicated in the Specifications. Project includes weed removal, applying herbicide, crack sealing, traffic stripping and surface grinding, and the removal of thermoplastic re-striping, and other related items of work necessary to complete improvements. The City reserves the right to add/delete certain streets from the project, if necessary, to stay within funding limitations at the sole discretion of the City Engineer.

Slurry seal work on this project shall not start earlier than Monday, July 10, 2023. It is the City's intent to award the contract for this work by Thursday, June 22, 2023.

Plans and Specifications for the work may be obtained in electronic (PDF) format from the City of Newark Public Works Department, free of charge, via e-mail delivery by calling Ms. Helen Gordon at (510) 578-4452 or by e-mail to helen.gordon@newark.org.

Information regarding obtaining Plans and Specifications or a list of plan holders is available by calling Ms. Helen Gordon at (510) 578-4452 or by e-mail to helen.gordon@newark.org. All technical questions should be directed to Mr. Michael Carmen, Assistant Engineer at (510) 578-4320 or by E-mail to michael.carmen@newark.org.

No pre-bid meeting is scheduled for this project. However, Bidders are strongly urged to visit the job site before submitting bids. Submission of a bid shall be considered as an acknowledgement of site investigation.

The Contractor shall possess a valid Class A, Class C-12 or Class C-32 California Contractors license at the time bids are opened. The successful Bidder shall furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond. Items of work in conjunction with this project are included in the Proposal.

As of July 1, 2014, all Contractors bidding on this project are required to register with the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) and to pay the required annual fee. Under California Labor Code section 1771.1, as amended by SB 854, unless registered with the DIR, a Contractor may not bid or be listed as a Subcontractor for any bid proposal submitted for public works projects on or after March 1, 2015.

The City of Newark reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any minor informalities, irregularities and/or bid non-responsiveness that does not influence the competitive nature of the bid. This project has Additive Alternate Bids which may or may not be included in any contract to be awarded.

Additive Alternate Bid No. 1 for the substitution of black aggregate and other related items of work as needed to complete said improvements will be considered in determining the basis of the lowest bid. The City Council will award the project, if it is awarded, to the lowest responsible Bidder as determined by the Total Base Bid plus Alternate Bid No. 1.

The City of Newark hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively ensure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, disadvantaged business and women owned business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, religious creed, color, national origin, ancestry, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic information, marital status, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, age, sexual orientation, including a perception that the person has any of those characteristics or that the person is associated with a person who has, or is perceived to have, any of those characteristics in consideration for an award.

Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done has been determined by the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations of the State of California. These wages are set forth in the General Prevailing Wage Rates for this project. The Contractor and all subcontractors shall pay all their employees performing labor under this Contract salaries or wages at least equal to the general prevailing wage rates for the particular crafts, classifications or types of work employed in this project. These wage rates appear in the latest Department of Industrial Relations publication. Future effective wage rates which have been predetermined and are on file with the Department of Industrial Relations are referenced but not printed in said publication, and are available on the internet at www.dir.ca.gov.

PROBATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
SHUM YEE

CASE NO. RP23141278

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: SHUM YEE

A Petition for Probate has been filed by PETER YU in the Superior Court of California, County of ALAMEDA.

The Petition for Probate requests that PETER YU (IDENTIFIED IN THE WILL AS KIN WHA YU) be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on JUNE 7, 2023 at 9:45 A.M. in Dept. 202 Room N/A located at 2120 MARTIN LUTHER KING JR WAY, BERKELEY, CA 94704.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either

(1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

TRUSTEE SALES

T.S. No.: 22-6816 Loan No.: 8891 APN: 543-0442-016 NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 11/23/2007. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE FORECLOSURE, CONTACT: YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the California Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state will be held by the duly appointed trustee as shown below, of all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described below. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. Trustor: ANDRE F SAGAYARADJ AND SAGAYAMARY SAGAYARADJ, HUSBAND AND WIFE Duly Appointed Trustee: Prestige Default Services, LLC Recorded 12/14/2007 as Instrument No. 2007421995 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of Alameda County, California, Date of Sale: 6/1/2023 at 9:00 AM Place of Sale: Fallon Street Steps, Alameda County Courthouse, 1225 Fallon Street, Oakland, CA 94612 Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $448,239.38 Street Address or other location of the property to be sold: 4601 AMIENS AVE FREMONT, California 94555 A.P.N.: 543-0442-016 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property to be sold are provided in a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Nationwide Posting & Publication at 916.939.0772 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website www.nationwideposting.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA08001348-22-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Notice to Tenant NOTICE TO TENANT FOR FORECLOSURES AFTER JANUARY 1, 2021 You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. 4 dangers that most worry AI pioneer Geoffrey Hinton

By DAVID HAMILTON,
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Geoffrey Hinton, an award-winning computer scientist known as the "godfather of artificial intelligence," is having some serious second thoughts about the fruits of his labors. Hinton helped pioneer AI technologies critical to a new generation of highly capable chatbots such as ChatGPT. But in recent interviews, he says that he recently resigned a high-profile job at Google specifically to share his concerns that unchecked AI development could pose danger to humanity. "I have suddenly switched my views on whether these things are going to be more intelligent than us," he said in an interview with MIT Technology Review. "I think they're very close to it now and they will be much more intelligent than us in the future.... How do we survive that?" Hinton is not alone in his concerns. Shortly after the Microsoft-backed startup OpenAI released its latest AI model called GPT-4 in March, more than 1,000 researchers and technologists signed a letter calling for a six-month pause on AI development because, they said, it poses "profound risks to society and humanity." Here's a look at Hinton's biggest concerns about the future of AI ... and humanity.

IT'S ALL ABOUT THE NEURAL NETWORKS

Our human brains can solve calculus equations, drive cars and keep track of the characters in "Succession" thanks to their native talent for organizing and storing information and reasoning out solutions to thorny problems. The roughly 86 billion neurons packed into our skulls - and, more important, the 100 trillion connections those neurons forge among themselves - make that possible. By contrast, the technology underlying ChatGPT features between 500 billion and a trillion connections, Hinton said in the interview. While that would seem to put it at a major disadvantage relative to us, Hinton notes that GPT-4, the latest AI model from OpenAI, knows "hundreds of times more" than any single human. Maybe, he suggests, it has a "much better learning algorithm" than we do, making it more efficient at cognitive tasks.

AI MAY ALREADY BE SMARTER THAN US

Researchers have long noted that artificial neural networks take much more time to absorb and apply new knowledge than people do, since training them requires tremendous amounts of both energy and data. That's no longer the case, Hinton argues, noting that systems like GPT-4 can learn new things very quickly once properly trained by researchers. That's not unlike the way a trained professional physicist can wrap her brain around new experimental findings much more quickly than a typical high school science student could. That leads Hinton to the conclusion that AI systems might already be outsmarting us. Not only can AI systems learn things faster, he notes, they can also share copies of their knowledge with each other almost instantly. "It's a completely different form of intelligence," he told the publication. "A new and better form of intelligence."

WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS

What would smarter-than-human AI systems do? One unnerving possibility is that malicious individuals, groups or nation-states might simply co-opt them to further their own ends. Hinton is particularly concerned that these tools could be trained to sway elections and even to wage wars. Election misinformation spread via AI chatbots, for instance, could be the future version of election misinformation spread via Facebook and other social media platforms. And that might just be the beginning. "Don't think for a moment that Putin wouldn't make hyper-intelligent robots with the goal of killing Ukrainians," Hinton said in the article. "He wouldn't hesitate."

A SHORTAGE OF SOLUTIONS

What's not clear is how anyone would stop a power like Russia from using AI technology to dominate its neighbors or its own citizens. Hinton suggests that a global agreement similar to the 1997 Chemical Weapons Convention might be a good first step toward establishing international rules against weaponized AI. Though it's also worth noting that the chemical weapons compact did not stop what investigators found were likely Syrian attacks using chlorine gas and the nerve agent sarin against civilians in 2017 and 2018 during the nation's bloody civil war.

Hate passwords? You're in luck - Google is sidelining them

By DAVID HAMILTON,
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Good news for all the password-haters out there: Google has taken a big step toward making them an afterthought by adding "passkeys" as a more straightforward and secure way to log into its services. Here's what you need to know:

WHAT ARE PASSKEYS?

Passkeys offer a safer alternative to passwords and texted confirmation codes. Users won't ever see them directly; instead, an online service like Gmail will use them to communicate directly with a trusted device such as your phone or computer to log you in. All you'll have to do is verify your identity on the device using a PIN unlock code, biometrics such as your fingerprint or a face scan or a more sophisticated physical security dongle. Google designed its passkeys to work with a variety of devices, so you can use them on iPhones, Macs and Windows computers as well as Google's own Android phones.

WHY ARE PASSKEYS NECESSARY?

Thanks to clever hackers and human fallibility, passwords are just too easy to steal or defeat. And making them more complex just opens the door to users defeating themselves. For starters, many people choose passwords they can remember - and easy-to- recall passwords are also easy to hack. For years, analysis of hacked password caches found that the most common password in use was "password123." A more recent study by the password manager

NordPass found that it's now just "password. " This isn't fooling anyone. Passwords are also frequently compromised in security breaches. Stronger passwords are more secure, but only if you choose ones that are unique, complex and non-obvious. And once you've settled on "erVex4111$" as your password, good luck remembering it. In short, passwords put security and ease of use directly at odds. Software- based password managers, which can create and store complex passwords for you, are valuable tools that can improve security. But even password managers have a master password you need to protect, and that plunges you back into the swamp. In addition to sidestepping all those problems, passkeys have one additional advantage over passwords. They're specific to particular websites, so scammer sites can't steal a passkey from a dating site and use it to raid your bank account.

HOW DO I START USING PASSKEYS?

First step is to enable them for your Google account. On any trusted phone or computer, open the browser and sign into your Google account. Then visit the page g.co/passkeys and click the option to "start using passkeys." Voila! The passkey feature is now activated for that account. If you're on an Apple device, you'll first be prompted to set up the Keychain app if you're not already using it; it securely stores passwords and now passkeys as well. Next step is to create the actual passkeys that will connect your trusted device. If you're using an Android phone that's already logged into your Google account, you're most of the way there; Android phones are automatically ready to use passkeys, though you still have to enable the function first. On the same Google account page noted above, look for the "Create a passkey" button. Pressing it will open a window and let you create a passkey either on your current device or on another device. There's no wrong choice; the system will simply notify you if that passkey already exists. If you're on a PC that can't create a passkey, it will open a QR code that you can scan with the ordinary cameras on iPhones and Android devices. You may have to move the phone closer until the message "Set up passkey" appears on the image. Tap that and you're on your way.

AND THEN WHAT?

From that point on, signing into Google will only require you to enter your email address. If you've gotten passkeys set up properly, you'll simply get a message on your phone or other device asking you for your fingerprint, your face or a PIN. Of course, your password is still there. But if passkeys take off, odds are good you won't be needing it very much. You may even choose to delete it from your account someday.

YouTube prankster testifies about video that got him shot

By MATTHEW BARAKAT,
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tanner Cook's prank videos were known to security guards at Dulles Town Center, a mall in northern Virginia where Cook sometimes found his unsuspecting targets. And the content creator was known to law enforcement. The sheriff's deputy who found Cook shot and bleeding outside the mall last month said he recognized Cook immediately. But Cook's pranks were unfamiliar, confusing and frustrating to Alan Colie, the man charged with shooting Cook while he and his team surrounded Colie last month for their latest joke.

Cook, who has more than 50,000 subscribers to his "Classified Goons" prank channel on YouTube, testified for the first time Wednesday about the shooting inside the mall, which prompted a massive police response and panic from callers reporting an active shooter. Cook, 21, acknowledged that he and a cohort approached Colie at the mall's food court while two others filmed the prank from a short distance away. Cook described the prank as playing "funny words" on a Google translate app and watching Colie's confused reaction. On cross-examination, he acknowledged that he stuck his phone about six inches (15 centimeters) from Colie's face while the translate app repeated the phrase "Hey dips--", stop thinking about my sparkle" in English and Spanish.

Colie backed away from the 6-foot-5 Cook (196 cm), who kept advancing toward Colie even as Colie said "no" and "stop" and pushed Cook's arm away.

Then, Cook said, when the two were separated by a small distance, Colie pulled out a handgun and shot him in the abdomen. "I was kind of in shock," Cook testified Wednesday at Colie's preliminary hearing in Loudoun County General District Court. "I had to double check I was shot because I didn't feel anything at first." Cook fled the food court, and eventually collapsed outside a Cheesecake Factory when he thought he'd reached safety. That's where sheriff's deputies found him and took him to the hospital. Cook said the shooting ruptured his liver and left him scarred.

Deputies found Colie in the food court, where he surrendered peacefully. The charges against him include aggravated malicious wounding and use of a firearm in the commission of a felony. He is in jail as he awaits trial. His lawyer, Adam Pouilliard, argued Wednesday that Colie's actions were reasonable under the circumstances. Cook "is making money by causing fear" in those he targets, Pouilliard said. "We know these pranks are designed to generate confusion and frustration. And they do just that."

Prosecutor Eden Holmes said there was nothing reasonable about Colie's response to the prank. "They were holding cellphones, not weapons," she said of Cook and his associates. Cook said he's been posting pranks online for about a year. He said he was trying to avoid mall security while he filmed the prank on Colie because they had confronted him in the past. A survey of his YouTube channel finds a series of off-putting stunts, like pretending to vomit on Uber drivers and following unsuspecting customers through department stores.

He said his goal in posting the videos is "to bring people who are watching some kind of relief" and that many of his viewers "like when people get frustrated on camera." The judge at Wednesday's hearing found probable cause to send the case to a grand jury for an indictment. He acknowledged that the evidence shows Cook was "perhaps acting in an obnoxious manner" but said that fact alone "does not justify the use of deadly force."

BART
Public Information Office and VTA Customer Service
Center opening soon

SUBMITTED BY VTA BART

VTA's BART Silicon Valley Phase II Extension Project (BSV) will be opening a new Public Information Office later this year at 2 North Market Street, next to where the future Downtown San José BART Station will be. Members of the BSV Outreach Team will use this office for education and updates to the local community and stakeholders about the progress of the BSV Project and be available to respond to questions and concerns during project construction.

VTA's Downtown Service center team will move into the same building first in mid-June ultimately relocating with the BSV Information Office at 2 North Market Street. Customer Service representatives will continue to assist transit riders and the community with transit pass sales, including the Regional Transit Connection Discount Card, provide maps and schedules and trip planning and schedule information, return of lost & found items, as well as provide other assistance as needed. VTA selected and leased this location in a regular commercial leasing transaction after the landlord made the space available. Additional BSV offices in Santa Clara and San José near the future 28th St/Little Portugal BART Station are expected to open in the coming years as construction ramps up.

BSV will also implement a local small Business Resource Program (BRP) to help prepare for and respond to major construction. The BRP includes working with the cities and businesses to ensure visibility and access during construction. The program includes signage and wayfinding, a campaign to shop locally, business resource connections and support, and additional assistance for small businesses that meet specific criteria.

Project Background

VTA's BART Silicon Valley Phase II Extension (Phase II Project) is a six-mile, four-station extension of BART from Berryessa / North San José Station through downtown San José to the City of Santa Clara. The Phase II Project is planned to include an approximately five-mile subway, three stations with underground platforms one ground-level station, a train maintenance and storage facility, and additional facilities.

Hayward inviting commission and task force applications

SUBMITTED BY
CITY OF HAYWARD

- The City of Hayward has opened its annual recruitment period for applicants to serve on City commissions and Keep Hayward Clean and Green Task Force (KHCGTF) — with service on these City Council-appointed bodies now open to all residents.

In November 2020, Hayward voters expanded the opportunity to serve through passage of ballot Measure OO. Measure OO amended the City Charter to eliminate wording that had restricted commission and task force appointments to people registered or eligible to be registered to vote — a requirement that had the effect of making non-citizens ineligible.

The application period for appointment in 2023 to city commissions and KHCGTF is

Mission Valley Athletic League Track and Field Final

BY ERIC DONATO

James Logan High School hosted the Mission Valley Athletic League (MVAL) Track and Field Championship in Union City Saturday, May 6. The MVAL is one of the three subdivisions that roll up to the North Coast-Bayshore Division, the other two leagues include Tri-County Athletic and West Alameda County Conference.

Despite the overcast and intermittent rain, the MVAL track meet was an exciting all-day final covering 17 men's and women's track and field events, with the competitions at both the varsity and freshman-sophomore levels. The MVAL participating schools at the weekend final were American, Irvington, John F. Kennedy, Mission San Jose, and Washington, all of Fremont, James Logan (Union City), Moreau Catholic (Hayward), Newark Memorial.

James Logan ranked first in the MVAL finals at the varsity level with an aggregate score of 37 points. Moreau Catholic earned second place with 21 points. Irvington and Washington shared the third position, both winning 18 points. The freshman-sophomore men's top scores went to Moreau Catholic, 35 pts, followed by Newark Memorial, 22 pts and Mission San Jose, 18 pts.

Mission San Jose did exceptionally well, placing first in both the women's varsity and freshman-sophomore events, winning 36 and 28 points, respectively. Rounding out the second and third places for women's varsity were James Logan, 33 pts and Washington, 25 pts. The freshman-sophomore second place was shared by Newark Memorial and James Logan, 20 pts, while Moreau Catholic took third, 16 pts.

Notable first-place individual performances were:

100 Meters Finals:

Men's Varsity: Bryce Thomas, Moreau Catholic (11.11)

Women's Varsity: Nyarah Anderson-Brown, James Logan (12.53)

Men's Frosh/Soph: Darren Chu, Moreau Catholic (11.89)

Women's Frosh/Soph: Ava Wiggins, Newark Memorial (13.38)

3200 Meters Finals:

Men's Varsity: Jacob Hupke, Moreau Catholic (9:54.42)

Women's Varsity: Ava Irwin, Newark Memorial (12:00.94)

Men's Frosh/Soph: Kenji Kawabata, Newark Memorial (10:46.88)

Women's Frosh/Soph: Rahwa Fekadu, Newark Memorial (13:08.15)

The MVAL finals event winners advance to the North Coast Section Bayshore Championships Saturday, May 13 at Hayward High School.

Cal State East Bay (CSUEB) women's water polo played in the third-place match at the WWPA Championship as they took on Fresno Pacific. In the second overtime, the Pioneers broke a 10-10 tie with two goals en route to a 12-10 victory to cap off the season.

At the conclusion of the tournament, Daniela Passoni and Hope Grantham received WWPA 1st Team All-Tournament honors while Rachel Heredia received WWPA All-Tournament 2nd Team recognition.

The Pioneers had two goals in the opening quarter with one each Rachel Heredia and Luna Sarmiento as CSUEB and the Sunbirds were tied at 2-2.

FPU scored the first two goals of the second quarter, but the Pioneers responded with three consecutive goals. Two were from Jordan Jarandson and one was from Grantham. The Sunbirds scored a goal before the end of the quarter and sent the teams into halftime even at 5-5.

While FPU took a lead early in the third quarter, the Pioneers scored four of the next five goals to take a 9-7 lead into the fourth quarter. Sarmiento scored two of the goals, Grantham had one and Hannah Peercy scored a goal in the third quarter.

FPU came back to tie the match at 9-9 in the fourth quarter. While Grantham scored to put the Pioneers ahead 10-9 with 2:30 remaining in regulation, the Sunbirds tied the game with 1:58 left on a goal from Rosemary Chapman.

The first overtime session was scoreless. In the second overtime frame, Elise Whitworth broke the tie with a strike with 2:13 left. Sarmiento added the insurance goal with 1:19 left for the final tally of the season toward a 12-10 victory for third place.

Castro Valley Volleyball defeated in NCS Playoffs

BY ANDREW JOSEPH

The Castro Valley Trojans boys' volleyball team ends their momentous season falling to the Granada Matadors 3-2 at home on Thursday, May 4 in the quarterfinals of the Division 1 North Coast Section (NCS) playoffs.

This heartbreaking loss ends a five-game winning streak by the Trojans, who beat Granada twice earlier during the regular season. Castro Valley finishes the season at second place in the Western Alameda County Conference (WACC) league and first place, at 14-1, in the NCS Division 1 league standings. Their 31-4 final overall record this season is a huge improvement from last year's 19-8 finish.

"I told our team to play with joy today and be thankful to be playing in this position," said Castro Valley head coach Eric Unti. "It's hard in these moments to feel successful because our goal is to go all the way to the finals and win NCS, but we've come farther than we did last season."

In the first set, the Trojans had a 12-7 lead but Granada fought back and tied at 17-17 later in the set. The Matadors went on an 8-4 run to end the first set and won 25-21 to lead the game 1-0. Castro Valley fought hard in the second set going through multiple lead changes towards the end of the set. The score was tied at 25, but the Trojans went on a 4-2 run capped off by a strong hit from Michael Ly to win the set 29-27 to tie the game at 1-1.

"Our serve receive was good all game, but the reason there were so many lead changes was that we were off and on with finishing," said Trojans senior Nathan Yee.

Castro Valley jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the third set, but Granada tied it up at 6-6. There were a total of five tie scores during the set including a 5-0 run by the Trojans to make it a 25-25 score. Granada capitalized off of mistakes made by Castro Valley in the clutch as the Trojans hit a serve out of bounds with a 29-28 lead and the opportunity to win the set. Castro Valley did not score again after that lead change and Granada won the third set 31-29 to take a 2-1 lead in the game.

On the brink of elimination, the Trojans got their first lead in the fourth set by going up 6-5. There were a total of six lead changes during that set, and after a great power hit by Trojans' Lukas Winn to tie the set at 10-10, they never looked back going on a 15-10 run win the fourth set by a score of 25-20 to tie the game at 2-2.

"We thought we were going to win this game for sure, but it didn't turn out that way," said Winn. "During the fifth set Granada had an early lead and we continued to fight back. As a team I think we left it all on the floor tonight and everyone gave it all they had."

Granada opened the final set with a 4-1 lead, but Castro Valley came back and tied the set at 15-15 when Alexander Cmelak struck a great hit. The Trojans never took a lead and the Matadors won the set 18-16 with a clutch performance to win the game 3-2.

Castro Valley's loss to Granada marks just their second defeat at home this year and this one came at the wrong time, ending their aspirations of winning the NCS title and heading to the state playoffs. They have won and placed in multiple tournaments this season making this a memorable year. Granada advances to play Foothill in the NCS semifinals in Pleasanton on Tuesday, May 9. The Trojans hope to build off their momentum from this season to come back next year bigger and better.

"We have a lot of young talent coming up and some players coming in through the transfer portal," said Winn. "I think we're going to have a lot of potential next year and we are going to do really good and surpass what we did this year."

Newark Symphonic Winds Free Summer Concert

SUBMITTED BY JIM CARTER

On May 20, Newark Symphonic Winds will have their free summer concert, held at Newark Memorial High School theatre.

The evening's performance will begin with "Enchanted Spaces" composed by Samuel R. Hazo—a balanced piece that represents all the instruments in the symphony. Next will be a three-part composition by Gustave Holst, arranged by Colin Matthews—"First Suite in E-flat." Following Holst's piece will be "Harlem Nocturne" by Earle Hagen—one of the most well-known standards in the jazz repertoire. The first half will end with the audience encouraged to stand up and dance to the music from "The Lord of the Dance."

The second half will begin with the music of extremely talented Montecito Brass Ensemble, comprised of Mike Peterson—Trumpet & Cornet, Alan Osofsky—Trumpet & Flugelhorn, Blossom Santiago—Horn, Doug Brown—Trombone, and Raul Dingle—Tuba. They will be performing "Autumn Leaves" by Jacques Prévert and Joseph Kosma, "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair" by Claude Debussy, arranged by Drew R. Fennell, and "Salute to the Armed Forces" arranged by Drew R. Fennell.

Once Montecito Brass completes their performance, the symphony will return to the stage with music from "Cirque du Soleil" arranged by Victor Lopez, followed by "Legends of Jazz" arranged by Stephen Bulla. Next will be a challenging Celtic piece by Jeremy Bell—"Celtic Wedding." The performance will conclude with an arrangement by James Christensen, "The Good Old USA."

The symphony is fortunate to have this performance sponsored by the Fremont Bank Foundation. As always, the concert is free of charge; no tickets are necessary. Simply enjoy the evening with all of your local musicians, and bring your family and friends.

There is often a full house; plan on arriving early to get the seating you prefer.

You can find more information at <https://newarksymphonic.org>. There you will find a map of Newark Memorial High School, the theatre, and convenient parking. On the home page, click on "Performances" and scroll down and click on the annotated map.
