Broadway star helps bring The Lightning Thief musical to life at StarStruck Theatre

Cast with Kristin Stokes (middle)

SUBMITTED BY STARSTRUCK

Broadway's Kristin Stokes was back at StarStruck for a week of rehearsals for their Summer MainStage: The Lightning Thief: The Percy Jackson Musical! Kristin played Annabeth in the Original Broadway Cast of Lightning Thief and is also a Fremont native/StarStruck Alum! StarStruck was so thankful for their time with her and are excited to share this hilarious, moving, and action-packed rock musical with audiences.

The Lightning Thief: The Percy Jackson Musical is the "thoroughly endearing family-friendly musical" (Charles Isherwood, Broadway News) with "one foot in Harry Potter and another in Dear Evan Hansen" (Chicago Tribune) this winning adaptation of Rick Riordan's bestselling Disney-Hyperion novel is "compelling for fans and new audiences alike!" (TheaterMania)

As the half-blood son of a Greek god, Percy Jackson has newly-discovered powers he can't control, a destiny he doesn't want, and a mythology textbook's worth of monsters on his trail. When Zeus's master lightning bolt is stolen and Percy becomes the prime suspect, he has to find and return the bolt to prove his innocence and prevent a war between the gods. But to succeed on his quest, Percy will have to do more than catch the thief. He must travel to the Underworld and back; solve the riddle of the Oracle, which warns him of betrayal by a friend; and come to terms with the father who

Charles Sasaki Named Next President of Ohlone College

BY DAVID R. NEWMAN

In a special meeting held on Monday, March 13, the Ohlone College Board of Trustees unanimously selected Charles Sasaki to be the next college President. He will be the eighth President since the school opened in 1966, and the first of Asian American ancestry.

The Tri-City Voice recently sat down with President Sasaki to get to know him a little better. Here are his responses from that interview:

TCV: Maybe we could start out by talking about how you became interested in education?

President Sasaki: I kind of just stumbled into it, to be honest. Like so many others, I went into college not really knowing exactly what I wanted to do. But I always loved the idea of helping people. I was a history major, and I did ethnic studies work, which I really liked. I ended up going to grad school, and then I started teaching. That was the beginning. I loved the intellectual part of the job and I realized that I really want people to understand themselves better, understand their neighbors better, understand their communities better. So, you can see how that kind of work might lead to being [a university] president.

TCV: Had you been to Fremont before?

President Sasaki: I grew up in Southern California, but most of my friends are from the Bay Area. I had visited before, but I never thought I would live here. I'm in temporary housing right now in Milpitas, so I'm learning about the different communities. Everything is tightly packed together, yet each city has its own personality. There's an interesting complexity to it all and a real opportunity for a place like Ohlone College, which can act as a hub for all of these ethnic communities that are so radically different. It's also very beautiful here, but the weather is a bit wacky.

TCV: Can you talk little about your own cultural background and your journey here?

Beach Safety Tips for Enjoying California Beaches this Summer

Make Safety a Shore Thing!

Summer weather took its sweet time to arrive in the Bay Area this year. But now that we are well into the season, beach plans are on the rise and so are sunburns, dehydration, and water accidents. The good news is that by following a few simple guidelines, you can have your fun in the sun while staying safe in the sand and surf.

Washington Township Medical Foundation (WTMF) family medicine and sports medicine physician, Steven Zonner, DO, an expert on concussions and other sports-related injuries, relishes spending the day at the beach with his family. Dr. Zonner has always loved swimming and has fond memories from his youth of swimming at Jones Beach in New York, Lake Michigan, Lake Tahoe, Donner Lake, and all along the California coast.

“I love swimming and wherever we lived when I was growing up, I would find the best beaches for swimming,” says Dr. Zonner. “The pleasure for me comes from being outdoors and being active. Whether you swim, play Frisbee, or build sandcastles, fresh air and physical activity in the company of family and friends is good for you.”

Northern California has some of the most beautiful beaches in the world, but many are not safe for swimming. High tides, rip currents, and sneaker waves can be deadly. These beautiful beaches are wonderful for enjoying scenic vistas, tidepool exploration, hiking, birding, picnics, and beach games.

California ocean bathers need to be on the lookout for rip currents. Rip currents are narrow channels of water on the surface of the sea that rapidly flow offshore. The National Ocean Service reports rip currents can flow at speeds of up to 8 feet per second. The currents can look deceptively calm, almost flat, between wave systems. They usually start at the shoreline and cut through the surf, pulling along anything or anyone in their path. It is almost impossible for even the strongest swimmers to swim against a rip current. Experts advise you to allow the current to take you out while you reserve your strength, floating on your back as needed. People who have survived rip currents were able to reserve their energy long enough to be rescued or were able to slowly swim back to land farther down the shore.

Sneaker waves are just as dangerous. Sneaker waves get their name from the fact that they are unpredictable. These large and powerful waves can surge far up a beach. The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) in California explains that sneaker waves seem to come out of nowhere and catch beachgoers off guard with enough force to pull a person into the sea. Once in the surf, the BLM warns that survival is unlikely because strong currents, turbulent waves, and icy cold water are difficult to overcome.

The trick to successful beach outings, explains Dr. Zonner, is to be informed about the risks and to take precautions. “Before you even head out to the beach, check the weather forecast and make sure there haven’t been any safety warnings issued by authorities. If the weather is cold and windy, there is a good chance that rough water and high waves will make it too dangerous to go near the surf. And even on the calmest, clearest days, never ever turn your back to the waves.”

Before you go

It is important to choose a beach that is appropriate for your plans and the individuals you are with. The safest beaches have a wide swath of sand where there is plenty of room for setting up towels and beach gear far back from where any waves can reach. Beaches with cell coverage mean you can reach authorities in an emergency, so make sure your phone is fully charged when you head for the shore. If you plan to swim, choose a beach where a lifeguard is stationed.

“When we plan a trip to the beach, the first thing we do is check the weather and wind advisory. We only venture out to swim if the temperature is at least in the 70s,” emphasizes Dr. Zonner.

“Another pro tip,” says the doctor, “is to head out to the beach well-hydrated.” Drinking water in advance can lower your risk of heat exhaustion, an illness that can catch you unaware when you are spending hours active in the sun and ocean. “It is easy not to notice that you are thirsty when you are playing in and around water. But the combination of not having an adequate intake of water and external high temperatures can make you sick. Arriving at the beach well-hydrated can help you avoid the nausea and tiredness that comes with heat exhaustion.”

Dr. Zonner’s tips for beach safety

- When you first arrive at the beach, read posted signs and heed the instructions from park authorities. Observing the rules can keep you safe and protect marine animals and the environment.
- Protect yourself from the sun’s rays. You should apply sunscreen at least half an hour before you go into the water to give it time to be absorbed. The American Academy of Dermatology recommends that everyone use a water-resistant sunscreen that is broad-spectrum (protects against UVA and UVB rays) and has an SPF of 30 or higher. Sunburns aren’t just painful. They can damage skin, leading to premature wrinkles and a higher risk of skin cancer.

Wearing a hat and sunglasses will give you additional protection. It is also a good idea to bring a beach umbrella or set up a beach tent where you can shelter in the shade while the sun is at its hottest.

Vaccines: a Safe, Reliable Path to Children's Health

Local Pediatrician Recommends Following Regular Immunization Schedule

More parents are recognizing the vitally important benefits of pediatric vaccinations as an essential safeguard for their children's health.

The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) strongly advocates the timely, routine immunization of children and adolescents that follow a recommended scheduling.

"As a pediatrician, I strongly believe vaccines are important to protect children's health and the health of the community," said Dr. Bhaskari Peela, a Washington Township Medical Foundation pediatrics specialist.

"Vaccines have helped reduce the incidence of many diseases around the world. One example is smallpox, a once-common disease that could be disfiguring and even deadly, has been completely eradicated because of vaccination. The last case of smallpox on earth was in 1977."

Dr. Peela, who earned her medical degree at Andhra Medical College in her birthplace of Visakhapatnam, India, developed a passion for children's health in her hometown where the cost of health care was out of reach for many families. She earned her American Board of Pediatrics certification in 2010 and is known for her skill, expertise and warm personal touch.

During patient appointments, Dr. Peela introduces specific information about what vaccines should be given and the kind of schedule that should be followed. "We find that a few families want to space them out and we're OK with that, as long as the vaccines are administered within the age recommended by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention," she explained. "It's simple and easy to keep people healthy."

Immunization protects your child against 14 diseases that were once common in the U.S. The schedule is approved by the AAP, the CDC and other health organizations. It is based on review of the most recent scientific data for each vaccine. To be included in the recommended schedule, the vaccines must be licensed by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

A child's typical immunization schedule starts at birth with a vaccination for Pediatrician Bhaskari Peela, MD, enjoys building relationships with each patient.

Hepatitis B. At 2, 4 and 6 months of age, there are vaccinations for diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (called DTaP); bacterial illness Haemophilus B (called Hib); pneumococcal bacteria; and also rotavirus.

The schedule continues with vaccinations called for at 4 months, 6 months, 12 months, 15 months and 18 months. Vaccinations for MMR, Varicella and Hepatitis A occur at 12 months. The kindergarten booster is scheduled between 4 and 5 years of age. There are vaccinations for DTaP, meningococcal bacteria and HPV for older kids.

"Making sure children and teens are up to date on vaccinations for diseases will protect the health of infants who are not old enough to be vaccinated," she noted. "Adults also need to make sure their vaccines are current."

Most parents who are making their first visit to her office arrive with questions about vaccinations that she is accustomed to hearing. "Questions about the vaccine ingredients, safety and if they have side effects are most common," Dr. Peela said. "We know the body often reacts in very common ways. There could be fever, body aches and pain, swelling or redness at the injection site. These are all typical. The benefits outweigh the risks."

The CDC agrees, terming the most common side effects as very mild. Dr. Peela pointed to a large study published in the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) in 2015 that encompassed 95,727 children and concluded there is no association between MMR and autism.

The Mayo Clinic also agrees that vaccines do not cause autism. The clinic notes that the 1998 study that raised the issue of this connection was removed from the scientific record and later deemed retracted. In fact, childhood vaccines protect kids from serious illnesses and diseases and their complications, while cutting back on the chances of spreading a disease.

Vaccines are also more effective in preventing illness than simply getting infected to build immunity, according to the Mayo Clinic. Those who become infected and are unvaccinated may have a longer lasting immune response, but they are also at a higher risk of contracting a serious disease. Health care experts agree the foundation of children's physical well-being is to build for a healthy future and that vaccines play a big part in achieving such a goal.

Dr. Peela said scientific research has been so thorough that children's health is demonstrably advanced through secure and reliable pediatric vaccines. "Vaccines are safe and effective for kids," she stressed. Many vaccinations are required by the state of California for children entering public school and many private schools also require proof of vaccination.

For more information about pediatric vaccinations, visit the CDC.gov website. To learn more about Dr. Peela or to schedule an appointment, see mywtmf.com/find-a-doctor/bhaskari-peela-md/.

Classics and Coffee

BY JACK ALCORN

If you like vintage vehicles, spend a Sunday morning at Classics and Coffee at the iconic Flying A Garage in Niles. Gather for coffee and donuts and check out scores of beautifully restored cars and trucks. Swap stories with local car enthusiasts or get ideas for customizing your classic.

The Flying A was originally purchased from the railroad in 1938. This was the Solon Brothers Gas Station and Diner. Known as the entrance to Niles, the garage is being restored to a destination dedicated to the history and car culture of Niles.

Longtime Niles shop owner Frank Williamson says, "I'm an old car guy so I just love to come out and see this coffee and car thing." The Flying A Classics and Coffee is a truly worthy event.

Tons of cars show up - all kinds of cars, motorcycles, antique cars, fire engines - they've got everything you could think of. "This coffee and cars out here is a great event," said Bob Stefano, showing his 69 rally sport Z28.

Niles Main Street Association President Kristen Lane is one of the people behind the restoration of the Niles Flying A in the historic district of Niles. Sunday was Firefighter Appreciation Day at Classics and Coffee. "We realize our firefighters over the past few years have really put their service into place where they go out and help Cal Fire, they help across state boundaries, they've helped with the unhoused, they helped with everything and really have been put to the test so today we are showing our guys a little bit of appreciation so thanks to everybody for coming out," said Kristen Lane.

Beach Safety Tips for Enjoying California Beaches this Summer

• If you bring food, make sure you are keeping cold foods cold and hot foods hot to avoid spoilage. Refrigerated foods that have been in the sun for an hour or more can become a breeding ground for bacteria. Likewise, foods that should be served hot can also harbor bacteria if left to cool for too long.

• Most California beaches forbid alcohol. If you are at a beach where the consumption of alcohol is legal, it is prudent to consume it in moderation. Alcohol can exacerbate dehydration and lower a person's inhibitions. Intoxication impairs your ability to evaluate hazards and can contribute to your disorientation in an emergency, increasing your risk of injury or death in a coastal setting.

Dr. Zonner also notes, "You need to be aware that if you have a few drinks, your judgment will decline. In that situation you might engage in greater risk-taking than you would normally, while you are less equipped to deal with danger."

• Only swim at beaches where swimming is permitted. If you can, swim with a buddy or near other swimmers who can help you watch for big waves, changes in weather, or any other hazard that might come along.

• If you go into the sea, pay attention to the temperature. Ocean water in California is cold year round, even on very sunny days. The California Department of Parks and Recreation warns that even a short swim can cause cramps or hypothermia (a life-threatening condition where your body loses heat very quickly) leading to confusion, exhaustion, and loss of coordination.

• If you are at the beach with children, avoid distractions so you can focus on where they are and keeping them safe. If possible, have every child paired with an adult who is responsible for watching them. Assigning adults to specific children helps with keeping track of their location and what they are doing.

Taking these precautions can make all the difference in assuring a happy beach excursion. "Fresh air, sun, and waves are a wonderful break from everyday challenges as long as you are careful," says Dr. Zonner. "Days at the beach can bring people and families together, creating lifelong memories."

For additional information on beach safety, visit the California Parks and Recreation website at Parks.ca.gov/ and the California Bureau of Land Management website at BLM.gov/california. Lions Clubs Youth Exchange Program fosters global understanding and cultural exchange

SUBMITTED BY JAMES VARGHESE

To promote cultural exchange and international understanding among young people, the Lions of California has successfully held its annual Youth Exchange Program for 2023. The program, which has been running for several years, continues to be a resounding success, connecting youths from different countries and fostering lifelong friendships.

Lions Clubs in California have been sending as many students as possible to countries around the world (and receiving students in turn). In doing so, we hope that young students experiencing another culture will bring about a better understanding of people and lead to more peaceful relations worldwide.

This year California Lions hosted students from various countries such as Finland, Belgium, France, Poland, Israel, Czech Republic, Hungary, Switzerland, Italy and Germany. We are sending students to Italy and Germany this year for a three-week exchange program. Currently, additional host families are being sought for 2024, according to Lions Youth

Exchange Coordinator PDG Thelma Batilo.

During the program, participants spend a few weeks living with host families in their respective countries. They are immersed in the local culture, attending schools, participating in community service projects, and engaging in recreational activities. This immersive experience allows them to develop a deeper understanding of the host country's customs, traditions, and way of life.

One of the program's highlights is the Lions Clubs youth camps, where all participants gathered for a week-long event filled with workshops, cultural performances, and networking opportunities. These youth camps provide a platform for participants to share their experiences, showcase their culture, and strengthen their connections with fellow program participants.

Lions Clubs International, in collaboration with local Lions Clubs chapters, provided extensive support and supervision throughout the 2023 program. Trained volunteers and staff ensured the safety and well-being of the participants and facilitated the smooth operation of the program.

The impact of the Lions Clubs Youth Exchange Program goes beyond the immediate cultural exchange experience. Many participants have reported significant personal growth, increased self-confidence, and improved communication skills. The program has also inspired participants to become actively involved in their local communities, driving positive change and service initiatives.

"The Lions Clubs Youth Exchange Program has been a life-changing experience for many students," Past District Governor James Varghese stated.

The success of the Program underscores the organization's commitment to youth development and global understanding. By providing young people with the opportunity to connect with their peers from diverse backgrounds, the program contributes to building a more inclusive and interconnected world.

Alameda County Supervisor Haubert joins flag raising

SUBMITTED BY
KATHY KIMBERLIN

Flag Day 2023 was celebrated recently in front of a home in the Sundale neighborhood. Thirty-year Fremont resident Tejinder Dhani and his family had over 200 guests witness this momentous flag raising ceremony. Neighbors, esteemed elected officials and dignitaries were treated to lunch afterward.

Dhani is a prominent community leader who serves as a Fremont Mobility Commissioner, Fremont P.D. community volunteer, organizer of Sikh community food drives, helper for new immigrants with visa needs, and civic engagement advocate. His role as an Assembly 24 delegate gives him an active role in the political world. His most important role may be serving as a loving husband to his supportive wife, and father to his two civic-minded teenage sons.

Fremont Councilmember Raj Salwan guided the guests through a patriotic ceremony that opened with the National Anthem, sung by the granddaughter of Eileen McDonald (of Alameda County Office of Education).

The American flag was raised by Alameda County Supervisor D1, David Haubert. Supervisor Haubert takes every opportunity to support and embrace the multicultural communities he serves. The Supervisor presented Tejinder with a commendation and shared, “TJ, your regional civic leadership, dedication to your local community, and your unwavering effort to ensure American values are alive and well is to be applauded. Thank you for serving as a great example for your children and for your work that leaves a positive footprint in Fremont.”

The Dhani family were also joined by CA State Treasurer

Fiona Ma; Supervisor’s Elisa Marquez and Nate Miley; Mayors Lily Mei, Michael Hannon, Melissa Hernandez; former District Attorney Nancy O’Malley; ACOE Trustee Eileen McDonald; Assemblymember Alex Lee; and representatives from Congressman Swalwell, County Assessor Phong La, CA Attorney General Rob Bonta; and many more local officials.

The flag flies daily in the yard of the Dhani family who are proud Americans, and thankful for the bounty and opportunity for their family here in Fremont!

10 must-dos for new grads and job seekers in 2023

By ANNE CHAN, PhD, MFT

Congratulations to all our 2023 Tri-City high school and college graduates! After years of hard work and perseverance, you are ready to take on the world of work. Now that graduation parties and July 4th are over, many of you are on the job hunt. These 10 must-dos are gleaned from my many years of experience as a career counselor. I have observed common errors when people search for jobs, and have put together a list of things to do to save time, energy, and frustration in your job search.

1. Identify companies/industries you would like to work in. Which industries are you passionate about? For example, high tech, biotech, education, nonprofit, healthcare, etc. Once you’ve identified the sector you want to be in, do a deeper dive and identify which companies you would love to work for. Employers want to see that you have interest in and commitment to their companies, so be clear about your passion first.

2. Be focused in your job search. New graduates are often unsure of what jobs they want. A person with a liberal arts degree could conceivably be an editor, marketing assistant, preschool teacher, or administrative assistant. Some apply for a wide variety of jobs with the exact same resume. The result is a diluted resume that looks unfocused and indecisive. My advice would be to pin down your job of interest and craft a resume that fits that job description.

3. Do informational interviewing – one fantastic way to narrow down your job possibilities is to ask people what it is really like working a particular job. Doing informational interviews will give you valuable insights and insider tips. It can even lead to job openings.

4. In your resume, be clear about your job objective. Once you have determined the job title you’d like to have, create a resume that reflects your experience doing the responsibilities of that job. Leave out irrelevant details. For instance, if you are going for a teaching job, include anything relevant to education and leave out skills that don’t strengthen you as a teaching candidate.

5. Plan to customize your resume for each job you apply to. Sending the same resume to a hundred employers without any customization is a common mistake new grads make. Use tips #2 and #4 to show each employer why you would like to work for them and not for some generic entity. Take a close look at each job ad and tailor your resume to reflect the skills being sought.

6. Fill in gaps in your experience by taking relevant coursework. I know that you just graduated, and taking courses is likely the last thing on your mind. However, there’s a huge difference between academic coursework and courses that pertain to actual work skills. For instance, the LinkedIn 2023 Most In-Demand Skills list include soft skills like management, communication, customer service, leadership, sales, project management, research, marketing, analytical skills, and teamwork. LinkedIn identifies the following as the top 10 hard skills sought by employers: software development, SQL, finance, python, java, data analysis, JavaScript, cloud computing, operations, customer relationship management. Fill in the gaps in your resume by taking free, quality courses from Coursera, Google, Alison, or LinkedIn Learning.

7. Networking. If you were to ask someone how they got their job, chances are, they would say, “A friend told me about the job opening,” or “I met someone who told me their company was hiring.” Do not spend all your time sending your resume into internet portals—make the time to meet people and go to professional events.

8. Clean up your social media. Be thoughtful of who you follow and what you post. Steer clear of posting images of yourself with alcohol, drugs, and tobacco.

9. Be flexible. Sometimes people get too focused on achieving one goal, and they ignore other opportunities. It’s great to be focused, but it is also good to be flexible and open to different possibilities.

10. Start practicing for interviews. Interviewing well is not a skill that is taught comprehensively in most colleges and schools. Yet, it is imperative that you learn how to conduct yourself at a professional interview. Practice virtual and in-person interviewing with trusted friends and family who are able to give you quality feedback. A relatively new online tool that you could check out is Google’s interview warmup: <https://grow.google/certificates/in-interview-warmup/>

Getting a job is not easy, but with the right attitude, preparation, and effort, I am confident that you can land that job of your dreams!

Chanticleers Summer Camp presents Schoolhouse Rock Live! Jr.

SUBMITTED BY DAVID NEWMAN

Chanticleers Musical Theatre Summer Camp is excited to announce the upcoming performance of Schoolhouse Rock Live! Jr. on Saturday, July 22 and Sunday, July 23 at 6 p.m. The show is based on the 1970’s Emmy Award-winning Saturday morning educational cartoon series and pop culture phenomenon, and promises to be a fun time for all ages!

This fast-paced musical follows Carlotta (played by Carlotta Dillon), a young teacher, who is nervous about her first day of teaching. She tries to relax by watching TV, when various characters representing different parts of her personality emerge from the set and show her how to win over the students with imagination and music. Memorable songs like “Just A Bill,” “Interplanat Janet,” and “Conjunction Junction” bring her lesson plans vividly to life!

The show is the culmination of lots of hard work and play by the young campers (ages 7-15) in Chanticleers Theatre’s first ever Musical Theatre Camp, a five-week summer program that began on June 12.

Campers, known as Peeps, learn all about putting on a show, from acting to dancing to costumes, set design, sound, and lighting.

Says Camp Director Christine Plowright, “The strength of our theatre lies in its intimacy. Many of the programs available to young theatre artists put together groups of 30+ kids with the primary goal of putting on a big musical. They get the fantastic experience of putting on a big show, but they don’t get the experience of a small group of people coming together to create an acting company and building a show based on their own individual skills and abilities. Five weeks ago, we were a company of strangers. Today we are the inaugural company of the Chanticleers Theatre Peeps!”

There is also time for clowning around, literally. Professional clown and performance artist Dalia Vidor visited the camp to give the children a special workshop on the art of clowning. There have also been lessons on theatre history, stage combat and make-up.

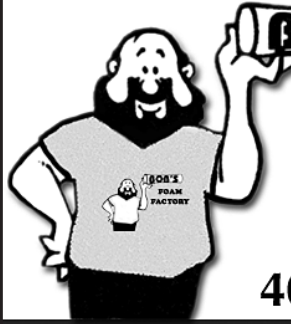

Craft making is another activity that keeps the campers busy, challenging their creative thinking skills. In one session, the children make masks based on the Greek Myth of Arachne and Athena. They also brainstorm ideas and help create set pieces for the musical performance. Says

Plowright, “With the exception of some of the props, everything you will see on our stage has been created by our Peeps. Even the younger peeps from our one week Storytelling Camp got involved and painted a few of our set pieces. Our stage manager is a recent graduate of Castro Valley High School, and our light and sound operator is an 11-year-old student at Canyon Middle School.”

As part of the acting process, campers were introduced to the art of auditioning, presenting a monologue, and a vocal selection to a panel of auditors. It’s a way to give them confidence and helps build camaraderie. After several rehearsals, the company of 12 aspiring actors are ready to present their production to the public!

Join two special performances at “the little theatre in the park!” Tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for kids. Patrons can make purchases at the door, on our website at chanticleers.org, or call (510) 733-5483.

The Bleak Future for Electric Aircraft

BY KAILASH KALIDOSS,
AEROSPACE ENTHUSIAST

Electric aircraft propulsion holds the promise of a greener future for aviation, with the potential to reduce the environmental impact of this industry. However, the current technology faces significant challenges that could hinder its widespread adoption. In this article, we will explore the obstacles that electric aircraft encounter and the possible alternatives for greener aviation.

Electric aircraft work by using batteries to power an electric motor, which converts electric power into mechanical energy. This motor drives the plane's propellers or rotors, generating thrust or lift. The potential benefits of electric planes are evident—the aviation industry is responsible for about 2% of global CO2 emissions and 12% of transport emissions. By transitioning to electric aircraft, we have the opportunity to make a substantial positive impact on the environment.

Earlier this year, NASA made a difficult decision that casts doubt on the future of electric aircraft. They decided to terminate the X-57 Maxwell test aircraft, stating that electric aircraft technology is not yet ready for mainstream adoption. The X-57 Maxwell, NASA's first all-electric experimental aircraft, aimed to showcase the efficiency, quietness, and environmental friendliness of electric planes compared to traditional gas piston-engine powered airplanes. Unfortunately, the X-57 Maxwell will never take flight, unraveling hopes for a breakthrough.

The primary challenge in electric aircraft propulsion lies in energy storage. Present-day batteries have a significantly lower energy density compared to aviation fuels. These batteries are heavy and bulky, and do not deliver enough energy for efficient sustained travel. For instance, jet fuel boasts an energy density of about 12,000 Wh/kg, whereas commercially available lithium-ion batteries only provide an energy density of approximately 250 Wh/kg. This limited energy storage capacity severely restricts the range and payload capabilities of electric and hybrid aircraft. To give an example, fully electrifying a 737 with current batteries would require removing passengers and cargo to accommodate the necessary batteries and would still provide a flight duration of less than an hour.

X-57 Concept Source: NASA.gov

The future of electric planes hinges on advancements in battery technology. At present, electric power is only suitable for small aircraft. For larger passenger planes, a drastic improvement in energy density by a factor of 20 compared to lithium-ion batteries would be required. Achieving such a leap could prove to be a monumental task.

Despite the challenges faced by electric aircraft, there may still be hope for greener aviation through alternative approaches. Hydrogen or synthetic jet fuel are potential substitutes that could offer more practical and sustainable solutions for larger aircraft. These alternatives might bypass the limitations of energy storage in batteries and allow for more extended range and larger payloads. However, further research and development are needed to assess the feasibility and scalability of these alternatives.

Kailash first fell in love with aerospace as a teenager when he learned about aviation from his father's role as a Ground Operations Manager. Kailash has since spent his efforts sharing knowledge about aerospace, astronautics, aviation, science, technology, and of course, the night sky. Kailash also represents the Civil Air Patrol and NASA as a volunteer.

And the winner is???

It doesn't get more exciting than the race that took place in England recently. There they were, no less than 150 contestants going as fast as they could in hopes of bringing home the winner's cup in The Snail Racing World Championships in the U.K. town of Congham. Making the event more rousing is that the 50-year-old race was suspended for three years due to the outbreak of the COVID pandemic in 2020. And the winner was Larry the snail who finished the 13-inch race in just two minutes and forty-seven seconds, 47 seconds shy of a mollusk by the name of Archie who covered the course in two minutes flat in 1996 and who remains the world record holder. See the thrilling snail race on YouTube at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dm7VIEF4u9w>

A feat without feet

And the winner of the Guinness World Record for walking down 75 stairs in just 25.03 seconds is 29-year-old Hari Chandra Giri who hails from Nepal and who did it the hard way-- on his hands. Hari had the edge, though; he's been walking on his hands since he was eight years old. In fact, over the years he accrued a number of records for walking on his hands, sometimes with a soccer ball between his legs. See the video of the incredible descent at <https://www.ndtv.com/feature/video-nepal-man-climbs-down-75-stairs-on-hand-in-25-seconds-creates-world-record-4179755>

Is it a car or is it a plane

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has given the green light to a unique California-based car company, Alef Aeronautics, for its modern-day version of the "Model A" automobile, one that doubles as an airplane. Alef CEO Jim Dukhovny says "We're excited to receive this certification from the FAA. It allows us to move closer to bringing people an environmentally friendly and faster commute, saving individuals and companies hours each week. This is a one small step for planes, one giant step for cars." It'll be a while before flying hot rods will be spreading their wings on the nation's highways. The FAA says the "special airworthiness certificate" granted to Alef is for limited purposes such as exhibition, research and development. Irvington Library to change hours of service

SUBMITTED BY
ALICIA REYES

The Irvington Library will be changing its hours of service. Beginning July 23, 2023, the Library will be open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Libraries are more than places to borrow books or study. They are creative and engaging spaces where people can collaborate and develop their skills and passions. The Irvington Library is expanding on this idea as it transitions away from the traditional library model to become a Makerspace with a library inside.

The Makerspace has 3D printers, sewing machines, a die cutter, a robotics field, and more to use inside the space. Besides a traditional children's book collection, the Library includes Tool Lending for projects that can be completed at home. The makerspace is open Tuesday through Friday, 3 p.m. – 6 p.m. (and by appointment).

Visit the Irvington Library to learn more about what it has to offer.

Kid Scoop Together:
Wet Work

CHILL OUT!

Would you like to splash around in some water on these hot summer days? Try this activity and tell your mom you are doing a science experiment!

How many drops will stay on a penny?

Stuff you'll need:

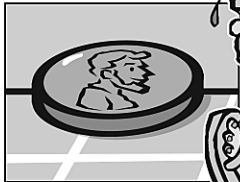

- a penny
- an eyedropper
- liquid detergent
- tap water
- paper towel
- a place to work that your parents won't mind getting wet!

Follow these steps:

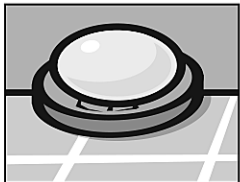

Wash your penny. Rinse it and dry it well.

Place the penny on a flat surface that's okay to get wet.

Fill the eyedropper with water and slowly drop water onto the penny, one drop at a time. Count how many drops you can add.

What shape does the water take? Repeat three times and find the average number of drops the penny can hold.

Repeat this experiment with cold water and then with hot water. Does the temperature of the water change the number of drops that fit on the penny?

Add a drop of soap to the water. Does this change the number of drops that fit on the penny?

Try this same activity with different liquids such as cooking oil, rubbing alcohol, liquid detergent, salad dressing, etc. Compare how many drops of each liquid fit on the top of a penny.

Frosty Find-It

Look closely and find:

- ☐ toothbrush
- ☐ paper airplane
- ☐ baseball
- ☐ strawberry
- ☐ apple
- ☐ envelope
- ☐ watch
- ☐ sunglasses

What's up?

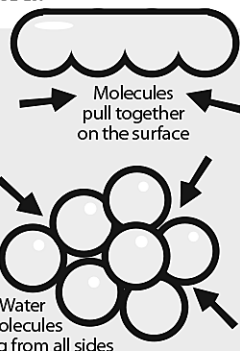

As drops are added, they gradually mound into a dome instead of just flowing off the penny. Each drop raises the surface of the dome, until it gets too big and breaks.

The dome shape is caused by surface tension.

Surface what?

Surface tension is caused by the grouping of molecules. Under the surface of the water, each water molecule attracts and is attracted to molecules on all sides of it.

The surface molecules are attracted to the molecules below and to the sides. But there is nothing above the surface molecules to pull upward. The surface molecules pull together and act like a "skin" on the surface of the water.

Standards Link: Physical Science: Students know that matter has different states (i.e., solid, liquid, gas) and that each state has distinct physical properties.

FRIGID FACTS!

The largest hailstone ever recovered in the United States, a seven-inch (17.8-centimeter) wide chunk of ice almost as large as a soccer ball, was found in Aurora, Nebraska.

- a measurement
- a date
- a time
- a number that tells how many
- a weight

Learn the History of Centerville in Saturday Walking Tour!

SUBMITTED BY
WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP MUSEUM OF
LOCAL HISTORY

Join local historian Timothy Swenson of the Washington Township Museum of Local History as he delves into the history of the Centerville area. The one and a half hour walking tour will take place on Saturday, July 22 beginning at 10 a.m.

The tour will begin in front of Holy Spirit Church, before heading down Fremont Boulevard to Thornton Avenue, and returning on the other side of Fremont Boulevard. Participants will learn historical information on a number of buildings, (some of which are no longer standing), in the historic downtown/business area of Centerville. Ask your questions about days gone by!

This event is free, with donations gladly accepted, and is open to all interested citizens and visitors of Fremont. Children and students are welcome. Tour booklets will be available on the tour. You can also download one from the museum website at www.museumoflocalhistory.org. Click on Resources > Historical Papers > Centerville Walking Tour.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Junior Rodeos & The Law

California Education Code 60042 mandates that, “Humane education and kindness to animals shall be taught in the public schools, K-12.” All animal welfare organizations condemn rodeo for its inherent cruelty.

How then to account for the growing number of junior rodeos (kids K-12) throughout California, especially during the summer months? Junior rodeos feature many blatantly cruel events, dangerous for kids and animals alike: mutton busting, calf & steer riding, calf roping, goat tying, chute dogging, pig “scrambles” and more.

These events send a terrible message to impressionable young children about the humane and proper treatment of animals—some would call it child abuse. They also serve as a breeding ground for future rodeo cowboys.

Local Boards of Education, school principals, teachers and Humane Educators everywhere need to hear from parents and the general public. Junior rodeos need to end. Obeying Education Code 60042 would be a good start.

Sincerely,
Eric Mills, coordinator

On June 20, 2023 Milpitas City Council voted to appoint Ned Thomas, AICP, as Acting City Manager. This action took effect Monday June 26, 2023, and will continue on an interim or temporary basis until Council takes subsequent action.

The City Council, on Tuesday, May 2, 2023, formed a Subcommittee to oversee the selection of a new permanent City Manager. The Sub-committee is actively working to launch a competitive nationwide search. "The City Council is pleased to appoint Ned Thomas as Acting City Manager," said Mayor Carmen Montano. "His deep experience, strong leadership, and dedication to the City will serve us well. I am confident that Ned will do an excellent job of serving the Milpitas community and carrying out the Council's vision for the City."

Thomas has served as Planning Director for the City of Milpitas since August 2018. In this capacity, he has directed work on a broad range of matters related to land use planning, zoning code enforcement, urban design, economic development, and environmental review. Recent work includes updates to the Milpitas General Plan and Transit Area Specific Plan as well as ongoing updates to the Midtown Specific Plan and Zoning Ordinance. Under his direction, the Planning Department has also received more than $3.5 million in state and local grants to fund long-range planning initiatives, establish a local on-demand transit service, and create innovative online tools to help Milpitas residents navigate the development review process or locate a new business in Milpitas.

Thomas brings more than twenty-five years of experience in local government and public administration to the role of Interim City Manager. Prior to joining the City of Milpitas, Thomas served as a Division

Acting City Manager Ned Thomas

Manager and Supervising Planner in the Department of Planning, Building, and Code Enforcement at the City of San Jose. Prior to joining the City of San Jose, Thomas served as Community Development Director for the Town of Windsor in Sonoma County, where he directed work on the Windsor 2040 General Plan Update and oversaw development of major new residential and mixed-use projects in the historic downtown area.

"I am deeply humbled and grateful for the confidence and trust placed in me by the City Council," said Thomas. "I look forward to continuing my service in the community and working closely with Mayor Montano, members of the City Council, executive team, and dedicated City staff in this new capacity."

Thomas holds a master's degree in Urban Planning from the Graduate School of Design at Harvard University and a bachelor's degree in geography from Brigham Young University. He also studied urban and regional planning as a Fulbright Scholar at Kyushu University in Fukuoka, Japan. He and his wife, Cheryl Lynn, are the parents of four children. Thomas will serve in the acting role until Council takes further action, such as the selection of a permanent City Manager.

Flood the garden with 5 uncommon watermelons

Throughout history, there have been questions that people have pondered knowing there may or may not be answers. Astronomers have wondered if we are alone in the universe. Religious scholars question the existence of freewill. And at summer BBQs all across America people question where seedless watermelons come from. Unfortunately, people are not also asking where the white, yellow, orange, pink, and green flesh watermelons come from as well. These are uncommon varieties not usually sold in stores.

Seedless watermelons were created in the 1940s by crossing watermelons that have 22 chromosomes with ones that have 44 chromosomes. The differing number of chromosomes results in a sterile and mostly seedless watermelon offspring. However, it was not until the 1990s that seedless watermelons became popular. Not only for being seedless, but because they taste just as sweet or even sweeter than the common red fleshed seeded watermelons. There are many other types of watermelons that have the potential to become popular with Americans, although their introduction to consumers probably will not start in grocery stores, but from home gardens.

There are over 1,000 different types of watermelons. Wild watermelon seeds have been found in North African archaeological sites dating back to 3,500 B.C., and domesticated watermelons were being grown around 2,000 B.C. in ancient Egypt. Today they are grown throughout the world where the climate is conducive, with China producing two-thirds of the world's

watermelons. The large fruits are actually a modified berry called a pepo.

If you want to try growing unusual watermelon types, you will probably need to purchase seeds, as you can't usually find the unique varieties at the grocery stores. Seeds can be started indoors in early spring, or planted in the ground in late spring and early summer. Watermelons are a type of vine and thrive in locations with plenty of sunlight. Each watermelon needs about 20 square feet per plant. They also need regular watering and a rich, well-draining soil. The average watermelon plant will produce harvestable fruits 60 to 90 days after sowing.

Listed below are 5 types of exciting uncommon watermelons. Their seeds can be purchased from Baker Creek Heirloom Seed Company (www.rareseeds.com), or from visiting their Petaluma Seed Bank (rareseeds.com/petaluma-seed-bank) at 110 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma. Ordering seeds or visiting the store early in spring is recommended as there is the risk of them selling out of certain varieties. However, watermelon seeds can remain viable for up to five years if stored in an airtight container placed in a dark location, so they can be purchased any time of the year if available.

Orangeglo - produces high yields of foot-long light and dark green striped watermelons with deep orange flesh. The vine, which is highly resistant to wilt and insects, produces watermelons in about 85 days after sprouting that are crisp and super sweet.

Royal Golden - produces 10-to-20-pound heirloom watermelons that turn golden-yellow when ripe. It has a pinkish-red flesh that is crisp and sweet. It is possibly the most attractive watermelon!

Lemon Drop - bears small, round to slightly oblong-shaped 1-to-2-pound snacking watermelons in just 70 days after sprouting. The sweet and crisp yellow flesh can be eaten all the way down to the thin golden rind.

Yamato Silver - is a productive heirloom from Japan, that produces vibrant green 6-to-10-pound watermelons. The snowy-silver colored flesh is creamy and has hints of sweet Asian pear and notes of citrus.

Blacktail Mountain - produces a very dark green, almost black, rind with a sweet

red flesh. It is a good alternative to the rare Japanese true black rind Densuke watermelon that can cost as much as $250 and is seedless, negating any chances of growing it at home. Besides being attractive and delicious, it grows well in hot and drought conditions and will ripen in cooler temperatures.

Seedless watermelons make up over 90% of watermelon sales in the United States, according to watermelon.org. Although the five types of watermelons listed above, like many other heirloom and cultivars, may never have the same sales potential, they still have value. Unlike many philosophical questions that do not have an answer, the question "Why grow these different types of watermelons?" has an easy answer. It is because you can, they are attractive, and they are delicious!

Tri-City Stargazer FOR WEEK: JULY 18, 2023

All Signs: Jupiter is called the Great Benefic because it brings good fortune and magnifies things – generally wealth. Jupiter also has a social component: It represents jurisprudence and the laws that determine how we relate to each other. It is associated with travel, foreign countries, religion, philosophy and idealism. It has a 12-year cycle and generally is in one sign for a year. In May, Jupiter entered Taurus to stay until June 2024. This is interesting because both the planet Jupiter and sign Taurus are associated with wealth.

Aries the Ram (March 21-April 20):

This is a productive week because your ruler Mars is giving you the energy to work at your job, or any task you set yourself. However, difficulties with family members and coworkers are likely. Fortunately, opportunities to play, socialize, and enjoy fun times with kids are solid. Meanwhile, lucky Jupiter is in one of your Money Houses. This means you will get richer this year! (And next.) You might make money on the side or inherit. (Wait till Sept. to launch beautification projects.) Something might make you “feel” richer. New home? New car?

Taurus the Bull (April 21-May 20):

Expect power struggles this week. They might happen with a family member on Monday. On Thursday, challenges with kids and romantic partners are likely. Meanwhile you're busy with home repairs and redecorating projects; plus, you're on the go with short trips, errands, and appointments. You have a lot of enthusiasm because for the first time in 12 years, lucky Jupiter is in your sign! This is a major blessing! Jupiter gives you the feeling that you can do anything. Plus, it will attract people and resources to you. Your confidence level is high.

Gemini the Twins (May 21-June 20):

This week your eyes are on the prize and the prize is money! In fact, power struggles about personal wealth might happen on Monday. On Thursday you might face friction at home. Fortunately, both chatty Mercury and fair Venus are in your House of Communication, polishing your words and making you charming. (After all, you are the wordsmith of the zodiac.) These diplomatic skills are timely because increased action on the home front might cause you angst. In the next 11 months, your ability to connect with your spiritual side is enhanced.

Cancer the Crab (June 21-July 21):

This is a powerful time for you because the Sun is in your sign, something that happens for four weeks once a year. This boosts your energy and drive. It's one reason you might have power struggles with someone on Monday. Ditto for Thursday when you might be determined to win an argument about politics, religion, or racial issues. Meanwhile, respect your moneymaking ideas. (Wait until September for projects related to beauty and art.) This year Jupiter will boost your popularity. You might be more involved with friends or groups.

Leo the Lion (July 22-August 22):

Because the Sun is hiding in your chart now, you're happy to take a backseat. Nevertheless, with Mercury and Venus in your sign, you'll be smooth talking others. Be patient on Monday because you might feel put off by someone. Likewise on Thursday, money disputes or arguments about possessions might upset you. Don't get involved. Until the middle of next year, lucky Jupiter is at the top of your chart making you look successful and affluent. Probably, there's a reason – but maybe not. Either way, enjoy your good press and take a bow.

Virgo the Virgin (August 23-September 22):

You're popular this week. However, relations with a friend might be dicey on Monday. Ask yourself is it really worth it to win? Think about this on Thursday when clashes with partners, spouses and close friends occur. Again, the choice is yours. This year Jupiter will bring you many opportunities to expand your world through travel, further education, and exploring other cultures. You will broaden your experience of the world by learning, seeing new places, and meeting new faces.

Libra the Scales (September 23-October 22):

The Sun is at the top of your chart casting you in a flattering spotlight. (Happens once a year for only four weeks.) Make the best of this! Because you look so good to authority figures, now is the time to go after what you want. Avoid power struggles on Monday, especially with parents, the boss, or police. Likewise, on Thursday, be gracious when dealing with challenges. Meanwhile this year, Jupiter is in one of your Money Houses attracting favors. You might inherit or get richer indirectly through a partner.

Scorpio the Scorpion (October 23-November 21):

You're curious. Travel, exploring new places, meeting new people and learning new things appeal! Because you might embrace politics more fervently, avoid power struggles on Monday. Likewise, on Thursday, steer clear of clashes of opinions with friends. Maintain your peace of mind. Meanwhile, for the first time in 12 years, Jupiter is sitting opposite your sign, bringing good fortune to your closest relationships. This will improve existing partnerships. It will also attract meaningful relationships. In fact, until the middle of 2024, this is the best window to get married.

Sagittarius the Archer (November 22-December 21):

As the traveler of the zodiac, right now you want to experience the stimulation of change. Meanwhile, you're ambitious this week. That ambition might be challenged on Thursday. Stay mellow when dealing with others. Meanwhile, Jupiter is in the part of your chart that stimulates chances to improve your existing job or get a better one. Not only that, Jupiter will improve your health this year. It might also promote increased joy through pets and animals. And who loves animals more than you? (Well, maybe an Aries.)

Capricorn the Goat (December 22-January 19):

You need more rest this week. Nevertheless, this is the best time all year to focus on partnerships and friendships because this month you have more objectivity in seeing your closest relationships. Use this temporary blessing. This is your best chance to improve the way you relate to others because you see everything more clearly. Meanwhile, you have lovely opportunities to slip away on a vacation because this is how lucky Jupiter blesses you this year and most of next year. It's good to be reminded to take timeout to have some fun.

Aquarius the Water Bearer (January 20-February 18):

Despite the promise of summer barbecues, days at the beach and fun socializing, you are work oriented this week. Go gently on Monday because you might find yourself at odds with someone. Fortunately, with Mercury and Venus opposite your sign, you can reason with others and handle situations with grace. Be skillful on Thursday if you encounter squabbles about finances. Meanwhile, this year and next, Jupiter is bringing you fabulous opportunities to improve your home life. Family relations will be excellent. You might also change residences.

Pisces the Fish (February 19-March 20):

Astrologically, many things are bringing you good fortune. This week offers lovely opportunities to party, socialize with others, and enjoy fun diversions including activities with kids, or sports events. The arts, musical performances, hobbies and arts and crafts will be a rewarding choice. Stay calm on Thursday when someone might be difficult to deal with. Remember that this year and half of next, you have the good fortune of improving your attitude to life. Look at your ability to appreciate the power of positive thinking.

EARTHTALK

Dear EarthTalk: Is putting out birdhouses and/or bird feeders good or bad for the local ecosystem?

— Mary B., Bowie, MD

RODDY SCHEER AND DOUG MOSS

While putting up a bird house or bird feeder is a great way to attract birds to your property, the jury is out as to whether such attractions help or harm local biodiversity and overall ecosystem health.

On the plus side, birdhouses provide much-needed shelter for birds, especially in areas where natural nesting sites are scarce. They can also help to attract birds to your yard, which can be a fun and educational experience for children and adults alike. Bird feeders can provide a valuable source of food for birds, especially during the winter months when natural food sources are scarce. This can help to boost bird populations and reduce the risk of starvation.

However, there are also some potential downsides to providing artificial nesting and feeding sites for birds. One concern is that it can lead to overpopulation of certain bird species. When birds have an abundance of food and nesting sites, they can reproduce more quickly, which can lead to an overpopulation of their species. This can have negative consequences for the ecosystem, such as competition for food and habitat with other species.

And while hosting a birdhouse or feeder may be fun and educational, the birds you would attract aren't the ones struggling in regard to conservation status. "The species most in trouble are seabirds, shorebirds and tropical forest dwellers," reports Emma Greig of the Cornell Lab of Ornithology. "This means that although feeding birds may not be harmful to the species that use feeders the most, it also isn't helpful to the species that most need our help."

Another concern is that bird feeders can attract pests and diseases. Birds can carry diseases that can be harmful to humans, such as salmonella. They can also attract rodents, such as mice and rats, which can also carry diseases. Finally, bird feeders sometimes attract predators, such as cats, raccoons and hawks, which can prey on the birds that are attracted to the feeders, which can reduce the bird population.

Overall, whether or not putting out birdhouses and bird feeders is good or bad for the local ecosystem depends on a number of factors, such as the type of birds that are being attracted, the location of the feeders, and the overall health of the ecosystem. If you are considering putting out birdhouses or bird feeders, it's important to do your research and make sure that you are doing it in a way that is beneficial to the birds and the environment.

For starters, choose the right type of birdhouse for the birds you want to attract, and place it in a safe and sheltered location. Also make sure it is somewhere you can access it safely, as it can use regular cleanings to prevent the spread of disease. And be sure to not overfeed the birds, as you don't want to make them dependent on your handouts for sustenance. Monitor the bird population and remove any feeders if they are attracting pests or predators or causing other problems.

Community: Be Aware: Scams, Fraud, and Financial Crimes Targeting Our Community

SUBMITTED BY
FREMONT PD

Over the last several years, we have seen a rise in identity theft, scams, and financial crimes targeting our community. These scams are constantly evolving:

- Fremont Police Personnel does not call to solicit money. If you receive a call from someone claiming to be from Fremont Police and they are asking for payment - it's a scam!
- Criminals may fake a caller ID to display "Fremont Police Department" and may possibly use a name of a real Fremont Police personnel. They may state that you missed a subpoena, a fine for a ticket, a tax payment, or other fees and that you must pay them to avoid being arrested or being sued - it's a scam!
- Do not provide cash payment or any type of money transfer to anyone calling and claiming to be from the Police Department, the City, the County, the Courts, or some type of government entity - it's a scam!

Below are some of the common ID theft or fraud scams we see. While the scams have all varied in origin, many commonly require the victim to buy gift cards, transfer funds, or provide a payment method to avoid a penalty. If you or someone you know receives a call where you are instructed to make a payment and threatened with arrest, deportation or something similar, it is likely false. Almost all government agencies communicate by mail and do not collect debt payments via the phone.

Examples of Fraudulent Scams include:

- Fraudulent use of your credit card
- Suspects open new accounts or take over your credit or bank accounts
- Work at home/employment scams
- Classified Ads and check overpayment scams
- Relative, friend or business associate needs you to wire money
- Romance Scams
- Sweepstakes and lottery scams
- IRS/Law Enforcement Impersonation scams
- Scams directed at the elderly
- Offering fake gold jewelry as an exchange for real jewelry or for cash

How to Protect Yourself:

Be skeptical. These scams constantly evolve. By the time you read this, there will be new stories and new lies to persuade you to wire money. However, what you should do to protect yourself stays the same:

- Resist the pressure to act quickly.
- Try to contact the agency, company or family member to determine whether or not the call is legitimate.
- Never purchase money cards to pay a debt. Call the agency directly and obtain proof of the debt before making a payment. No official agencies will accept a money card.
- Do not meet with anyone in person to deliver cash payment.
- Never wire money based on a request made over the phone or in an e-mail...local or overseas. Wiring money is like giving cash—once you send it, you can't get it back.

Why California might not be the first choice for work

SUBMITTED BY
KILO HEALTH

California has secured the second-best position as one of the best places to work among the 50 states in the recently published 2023 Healthy Workplace Index, a report that assesses workplace health levels in the US. The 2023 Healthy Workplace Index study aims to highlight the need for greater workplace parity based on location and suggest actionable improvements for workplaces in each state.

According to research, California shines as the leading state in the work-life balance category due to several key factors, such as high percentage of workplaces holding the Great Place To Work certification, offering a favorable average employee share of the premium, facilitating on-site work arrangements, providing paid family leave, and implementing robust Employee Assistance Programs (EAPs).

Simultaneously, the state exhibited concerning outcomes regarding high annual child/elder care costs and low flu vaccination rates.

The report assesses four fundamental categories of a healthy workplace: workplace policies and regulations, work-life balance, health and wellness, and environmental factors. These areas consist of 20 individual elements, all of which add up to an overall score for each state's Healthy Workplace Index. Each indicator's highest score is 5, and the lowest is 0. The highest possible final score is 100; However, none of the states have scored 100 in every category.

Although California shines as the leading state in the work-life balance category, securing a perfect score of 100, the health and wellness category has contributed to a decrease in the overall ranking of California in the final results. The indicators causing the greatest concerns were: high annual child/elder care costs and low flu vaccination rates. This resulted in California scoring 34 points out of 100 in the health and wellness category. Despite being known as the place for pursuing a healthy lifestyle, California still has room for improvement.

Ilona Bernotaite, Chief People Officer at Kilo Health and Forbes Human Resources Council member, commented, "I want to highlight the importance of addressing workplace condition inequality, as it profoundly affects every individual of working age. When considering this issue, it becomes evident that there are significant disparities between states. In light of this, I believe it is essential to prioritize a 'people-first' approach to working conditions and recognize that fostering happiness and fair treatment among employees paves the way for a thriving and successful business."

On average, individuals dedicate approximately 90,000 hours to their work throughout their lifetime, which corresponds to roughly 3,750 days or approximately 10 years. Nevertheless, according to the Healthy Workplace Index, workers in certain states in the US endure working conditions that are 50% more challenging compared to their counterparts in other states.

This inequality is a pervasive problem. Areas of concern most frequently discussed involve health, income, and social inequality. However, there is an often-overlooked form of inequality relating to location based workplace conditions, which has a substantial impact on every American. This issue warrants attention and action, particularly considering that the geographic location of a workplace can either exacerbate or alleviate the problem.

These challenges can be confronted and resolved through various avenues, including personal efforts, labor initiatives, and governmental actions.

Alameda County Fire Log

SUBMITTED BY ACFD

Thursday, July 6

• Alameda County Fire Department responded to a house fire on Lorenzo Avenue in San Lorenzo. Crews were dispatched to reports of smoke coming from the second-story unit of a duplex. Firefighters discovered a fire in the attic space over the living room area and had to pull all the ceiling to extinguish the fire. There were no reported injuries to firefighters or community members.

Milpitas Fire Log

SUBMITTED BY MILPITAS FD

Friday, July 14

• Milpitas Fire Department responded to a structure fire at the 1100 block of Sunrise Way. At 3:48 p.m., engines were dispatched to the residence. Upon arrival, smoke and flames were located to the rear of the structure. Due to the quick response time and efficient fireground tactics the fire was quickly extinguished. Damage to the exterior, kitchen and garage required extensive overhaul to check for hidden fire. No injuries were reported and cause of the fire is under investigation. Red Cross, PG&E and San Jose Fire Units also assisted during this operation.

Gus Anastole

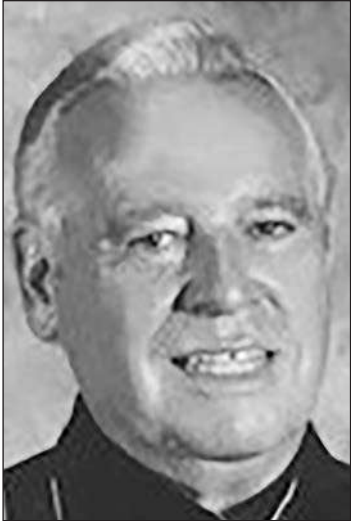

Gus Anastole, loving father, husband, and beloved family patriarch, passed away on June 16th, 2023. He was 97. He was born on March 25, 1926, to Peter and Sophia Anastole, both Greek immigrants. He was born and raised in San Francisco along with his 3 sisters and one brother. Gus was preceded in death by his wife, Barbara, in 2003.

He is survived by his two sisters; Chrissie Kuno of Burlingame, and Bess Kerhoulas of Sacramento. He was preceded in death by his sister Mary Wilcox and his brother Anthony. Gus is survived by his 8 children, Kally Anastole (Rose), Dennis (Melissa), Debbie Cole, Linda Webb, Christopher, Vicky Jones, Karen Lopez (Tim) and Joni Clark (Rich). He leaves behind an enduring legacy of 14 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren. He was a veteran of World War II, and served as a Marine in the Battle of Iwo Jima. He was a 61 year Master Mason, and was also a Shriner and a Scottish Rite Mason. Loved by all who knew him, he will be dearly missed. Memorial services held at the Masonic Home, 34400 Mission Blvd, Union City, July 23rd, 2PM.

Ronald J. Rebello, Sr.

September 22, 1942 - June 21, 2023
Resident of Fremont

After multiple years of battling illness, Ron passed away at home on June 21, 2023. He was 80 years old. Ron was born September 22, 1942, to his parents Jerry and Sylvia and was the 5th of 6 children. He was born, raised, and lived his entire life in the Niles district of Fremont. He loved Niles and told countless stories throughout his life about growing up there with friends and family. Ron attended Washington High School in Fremont for three years and finished at James Logan High School from where he graduated in 1960. He played high school football and baseball, and was the MVP on the baseball team his senior year. In February 1965, Ron married his high school sweetheart and fellow Niles resident, Christine Burgess. They bought a house in Niles where they remained for the last 56 years raising their children and doting on their grandchildren. Ron along with his brothers, Stan and Bill, went into business together and bought their first grocery store in Niles named Rebello’s Market in 1973. The Rebello brothers opened five more locations over the next 10 years. In 1986, they sold the neighborhood stores and opened a Food 4 Less in Newark. When they retired in 1999, they sold their business which included a total of eight Food 4 Less stores in multiple locations across Northern and Central California. Ron loved classic 50’s cars, Elvis Presley, and was a huge sports fan who supported the 49ers, SF Giants, and Warriors. He was on his high school reunion committee for 30 years and cherished catching up with classmates and friends. More than anything, Ron loved to be with his family. He was a devoted son and brother who valued family traditions and gatherings. He was happiest when he was with his children and grandchildren. The family often gathered for a day of swimming and BBQ in his backyard followed by card games and dominos. An annual summer vacation in Hawaii with his wife, children, and grandchildren showcased his funny, loving, and generous spirit. These Hawaiian vacations created memories that will be treasured forever. Ron was preceded in death by his father Jerry, his mother Sylvia, brothers Stan and Bill, and sisters Elaine and Geri. He is survived by wife Chris, children Ron Jr. along with his wife Krista, Cassie and her partner Mark, and Ryan and his partner Brittanie. He is also survived by his grandchildren Alex, Lucas, Hannah, Natalie, and Lilia, his sister Joyce, and many nieces and nephews. Dad and Grandad, you were loved deeply and will be greatly missed.

Robert Greenhouse

July 7, 1947 – July 8, 2023

Resident of Newark

A longtime resident of Newark, CA, Robert (known to some as Bob) passed after a long battle with cancer. He is survived by his wife of 38 years, Carolina, and his two daughters, Natasha and Paulette.

Robert spent 49 years as a medicinal chemist and is listed as Inventor for 34 patents and co-author on 35 scientific publications. Most notably, he served as one of the Principal Research Scientists on a team at Syntex, S.A., that led to the production of ketorolac (Toradol), a powerful non-opiate analgesic which has been in worldwide clinical use since 1990. He loved to work in the lab and served on the safety committee. He eventually became a consultant and Adjunct Professor at Stanford University and Medicinal Chemistry Advisor for Nanosyn.

He spent his life dedicated to music and songwriting, composing over 200 songs of his own. He participated in the choir at the First Congregational Church of Palo Alto for many years and eventually joined a network of local singer/songwriters, attending classes, house concerts, open mics, and more.

At the age of 50, he began running weekly and participating in at least 25 marathons, even completing some at the top of his age bracket. Don Edwards San Francisco Bay Wildlife Refuge, the Dumbarton Bridge Levee Trail, and Coyote Hills became favorite sites for running, which led to a passion in photography.

Not only was he smart and giving, but Robert was a loving and dedicated husband and father that believed in the importance of kindness. He will forever remain in our hearts.

We will hold a Celebration of Life service at Don Edwards San Francisco Bay Wildlife Refuge (2 Marshlands Rd. Fremont, CA) on Saturday, July 22 at 11AM.

First over-the-counter birth control pill gets FDA approval

BY MATHEW PERRONE
ASSOCIATED PRESS
HEALTH WRITER

Federal regulators approved the nation’s first over-the-counter birth control pill in a landmark decision that will soon allow American women and girls to obtain contraceptive medication as easily as they buy aspirin and eyedrops.

The Food and Drug Administration cleared once-a-day Opill to be sold without a prescription, making it the first such medication to be moved out from behind the pharmacy counter. The manufacturer, Ireland-based Perrigo, won’t start shipping the pill until early next year, and there will be no age restrictions on sales.

Hormone-based pills have long been the most common form of birth control in the U.S., used by tens of millions of women since the 1960s. Until now, all of them required a prescription.

Medical societies and women’s health groups have pushed for wider access for decades, noting that an estimated 45% of the 6 million annual pregnancies in the U.S. are unintended. Teens and girls, women of color and those with low incomes report greater hurdles in getting prescriptions and picking them up. The challenges can include paying for a doctor’s visit, getting time off from work and finding child care.

"This is really a transformation in access to contraceptive care," said Kelly Blanchard, president of Ibis Reproductive Health, a nonprofit group that supported the approval. "Hopefully this will help people overcome those barriers that exist now."

Perrigo says Opill could be an important new option for the estimated 15 million U.S. women who currently use no birth control or less effective methods, such as condoms. They are a fifth of women who are child-bearing age.

But how many women will actually gain access depends on the medication’s price, which Perrigo plans to announce later this year. "The reason why so many of us worked tirelessly for years to get over-the-counter birth control pills is to improve access ... cost shouldn't be one of those barriers," said Dr. Pratima Gupta of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

THE ROBOT REPORT

Why NASA is testing its Valkyrie humanoid in Australia

BY BRIANNA WESSLING

NASA’s humanoid robot, Valkyrie, is starting a new mission in Australia. The robot will put its skills to the test as part of a reimbursable Space Act Agreement with Woodside Energy in Perth, Western Australia.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) dexterous robotics team from the Johnson Space Center (JSC) in Houston traveled to the Woodside headquarters to deliver the robot. There, NASA will use Valkyrie to develop remote dexterous manipulation capabilities to accommodate remote caretaking of uncrewed and offshore energy facilities. Woodside Energy will then test the resulting software and provide data and feedback to NASA.

Valkyrie is designed to be a robust, rugged, and entirely electric humanoid robot that can operate in degraded or damaged human-engineered environments. It weighs around 300 lbs and is about 6 ft 2 in tall.

The Woodside Energy team received training on the Valkyrie robot.

In the future, remotely-operated mobile robots on the Moon or Mars could allow Earth-based operators to conduct important activities when astronauts aren’t physically present. These activities could include inspection or maintenance of infrastructure and plans that leverage resources and materials to produce new items, enabling astronauts to live off the land.

NASA said Valkyrie and other advanced mobile robots could someday be vital tools that allow humans to supervise dangerous work remotely and offload dull and repetitive tasks. These capabilities can be used both on Earth and in space.

California man paralyzed from run-in with police gets $20 million settlement

BY TRAN NGUYEN, ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Northern California man who was left paralyzed after he was slammed to the ground during a traffic stop won a $20 million settlement, one of the largest in the state’s history, officials announced Tuesday. Gregory Gross, an Army veteran who lives in Yuba City, sued the police department in 2022 after police officers used "pain compliance" techniques and expressed disbelief when he repeatedly cried out, "I can't feel my legs." Police officers also dismissed Gross when he said, "I can't breathe," while being held face down on the lawn outside a hospital, shown in a video released by Gross’s lawyers.

Gross was accused of driving drunk and causing a slow-speed collision in April 2020. Gross was left with a broken neck, and he underwent two surgeries to fuse his spine. He said the officers’ use of force left him unable to walk or care for himself, and he now needs round-the-clock nursing care for the rest of his life. "We are not against the police," said Attorney Moseley Collins, who represents Gross. "We are for the police, but we are against police brutality when it occurs."

The settlement is among one of the largest police misconduct settlements in California history. In May, the state agreed to pay $24 million to the family of a man who died in police custody after screaming, "I can't breathe," as multiple officers restrained him while trying to take a blood sample. As part of the settlement, Yuba City will also start randomly auditing officers’ bodycam footage and reviewing use of force incidents, police Chief Brian Baker said. He apologized to Gross at a news conference Tuesday.

"You've been in my thoughts since this tragedy was brought to my attention," Baker said to Gross. "On April 12th, 2020, we missed the mark. And for that, Mr. Gross, I'm sorry."

Gross said the police reforms are important to make sure what happened to him isn’t repeated. He’s donating $20,000 to California Peace Officers' Memorial Foundation. "I'm glad that they did something and took it serious," Gross said Tuesday. "I couldn't understand how someone could be in a position of authority and was acting like that and treating another human being like that."

Deronda Harris, Gross’ partner of 13 years, said she’s grateful to see the settlement finalized. "It’s nice to finally have closure," Harris told The Associated Press. Gross also filed separate lawsuits in 2021 against Rideout Memorial Hospital in Marysville, along with the University of California, Davis Medical Center, alleging their actions contributed to his condition. Collins declined to comment on the status of the lawsuits, citing confidentiality.

In the police body camera video supplied by Gross’ lawyers, an officer is seen twisting Gross’ already handcuffed arms and forcibly seating him on a lawn. At one point, officers slammed him on the ground and held him facedown as Gross repeatedly cried out that he couldn’t feel his legs and he couldn’t breathe. "Mr. Gross, we are done with your silly little games," an officer tells him. In September 2021, Democratic Governor Gavin Newsom signed a law barring police from using certain facedown holds that have led to multiple unintended deaths. The bill was aimed at expanding on the state’s ban on chokeholds in the wake of George Floyd’s murder.

Most older birth control pills cost $15 to $30 for a month’s supply without insurance coverage. Over-the-counter medicines are generally much cheaper than prescriptions, but they typically aren’t covered by insurance. Forcing insurers to cover over-the-counter birth control would require a regulatory change by the federal government, which women’s advocates are urging the Biden administration to implement.

The FDA approval gives U.S. women another birth control option amid the legal and political battles over reproductive health, including last year’s reversal of Roe v. Wade, which has upended abortion access across the U.S.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: RAE KAVERT AKA RAE E. KAVERT AKA RAE EARL KAVERT
A Petition for Probate has been filed by GAYLE A. KAVERT in the Superior Court of California, County of ALAMEDA.
The Petition for Probate requests that GAYLE A. KAVERT be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on AUGUST 2, 2023 at 9:45 A.M. in Dept. 202 Room N/A located at 2120 MARTIN LUTHER KING JR WAY, BERKELEY, CA 94704.
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
ALLEN LILIENTHAL AKA ALLEN
A. LILIENTHAL, JR.
CASE NO. RP23144279

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: ALLEN LILIENTHAL AKA ALLEN A. LILIENTHAL, JR.
A Petition for Probate has been filed by NANCY J. LILIENTHAL in the Superior Court of California, County of ALAMEDA. The Petition for Probate requests that NANCY J. LILIENTHAL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on JULY 31, 2023 at 9:45 A.M. in Dept. 201 Room N/A located at 2120 MARTIN LUTHER KING JR WAY, BERKELEY, CA 94704.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. You may examine the file kept by the court.

If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

TRUSTEE SALES

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE TS No. CA-14-650701-RY Order No.: 150057878 YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 5/17/2005. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 to the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state, will be held by duly appointed trustee. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. BENEFICIARY MAY ELECT TO BID LESS THAN THE TOTAL AMOUNT DUE. Trustor(s): FREDERICK E. TINSLEY; AN UNMARRIED MAN AND SENORA GLAUDE; AN UNMARRIED WOMAN Recorded: 5/25/2005 as Instrument No. 2005214752 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of ALAMEDA County, California; Date of Sale: 8/22/2023 at 12:00PM Place of Sale: At the Fallon Street emergency exit to the Alameda County Courthouse, located at 1225 Fallon St., Oakland, CA 94612 Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $666,686.12 The purported property address is: 8096 JUNIPER AVE, NEWARK, CA 94560 Assessor's Parcel No.: 092-0119-023-00 NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee or a court, pursuant to Section 2924a of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-14-650701-RY. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924a of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction.

There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916-939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-14-650701-RY to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE OWNER-OCCUPANT: Any prospective owner-occupant as defined in Section 2924m of the California Civil Code who is the last and highest bidder at the trustee's sale shall provide the required affidavit or declaration of eligibility to the auctioneer at the trustee's sale or shall have it delivered to QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION by 5 p.m. on the next business day following the trustee's sale at the address set forth in the below signature block. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, direct mail to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders' right against the real property only. Draft Report on
Alameda LAFCO's
Initial Feasibility Analysis

SUBMITTED BY
ALAMEDA LOCAL AGENCY
FORMATION COMMISSION

The Alameda Local Agency Formation Commission's (LAFCO) draft report on its Initial Feasibility Analysis for the potential incorporation of the unincorporated communities of Castro Valley, Ashland, Cherryland, San Lorenzo, Fairview, and Hayward Acres is now available for public comment and review.

The purpose of the report is to provide LAFCO, affected agencies, and residents with quantitative understanding of the pros and cons of cityhood to help decide whether to move forward with incorporation and to understand its financial service implications.

The draft report on the Initial Feasibility Analysis can be viewed on the Alameda LAFCO website at www.alamedalafco.org.

Written comments may be submitted online on the LAFCO website or directly to Rachel Jones, LAFCO Executive Officer, at rachel.jones@acgov.org or via US Mail at:

224 West Winton Avenue,
Suite 110, Oakland, CA 94544.

Comments submitted by Friday, August 11 will be considered in the development of the final report. Alameda LAFCO will hold a public hearing to consider adoption of the report and any specific actions in September or November 2023.

Contact Rachel Jones at rachel.jones@acgov.org or (510) 670-6267 if you have any questions.

Fremont Accessory Dwelling Unit
Ordinance Update

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF FREMONT

The City of Fremont is nearing completion of updating Fremont's accessory dwelling unit (ADU) ordinance. ADUs are independent living units attached or detached to a single-family home or established within a multi-family development. An update to Fremont's ordinance is necessary for consistency with recently adopted state laws and to simplify local development standards, consistent with the City's General Plan and Housing Element.

On July 11, 2023, Fremont City Council adopted the City's 2023 ADU ordinance updates. The new ordinance will go into effect August 11, 2023. As a next step, the City will submit the recently-adopted ADU ordinance to the State Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) for review. HCD is responsible for reviewing locally adopted ADU ordinances to determine whether the ordinance complies with the requirements of state law.

For more information about the ordinance, including a list of the ordinance updates, please visit fremont.gov/Home/Components/News/News/544/

For more information about Accessory Dwelling Units, search fremont.gov for ADUs.

New Excise Tax on Guns Clears Final Policy Committee in California Legislature

SUBMITTED BY
OFFICE OF ASSEMBLYMEMBER
JESSE GABRIEL

In July, legislation that would impose a new excise tax on firearm manufacturers, firearm dealers, and ammunition vendors in the state of California passed out of the Senate Public Safety Committee, clearing its final policy committee. The proceeds from these taxes would be directed towards efforts to better protect Californians from mass shootings and gun violence, including enhanced school safety measures as well as violence intervention and prevention programs.

Authored by Assemblymember Jesse Gabriel (D - Encino), Chair of the Legislature's Gun Violence Prevention Working Group, Assembly Bill (AB) 28 has now been approved by all relevant policy committees and is one step closer to Governor Newsom's desk.

"It's shameful that gun manufacturers are reaping record profits at the same time that gun violence has become the leading cause of death for kids in the United States," said Assemblymember Jesse Gabriel. "This bill will fund critical school safety measures and proven violence prevention programs that will save lives and protect communities across California."

The tax, which is estimated to raise over $160 million annually, will generate funds for the California Violence Intervention and Prevention Grant Program (commonly known as CalVIP) as well as programs and initiatives to improve school safety, bolster firearm investigations, remove guns from domestic abusers and other prohibited persons, and provide trauma-informed services for victims of gun violence, among others.

"This bill is a transformative approach in tackling gun violence and a crucial step to improve the safety of all California families," said Renia Webb, a volunteer with the California chapter of Moms Demand Action. "We are grateful for our gun sense champions and community partners who worked so hard to pass this comprehensive bill that seeks to make our communities safer and target the root causes of gun violence. We urge the Senate to do the same so we can prevent senseless acts of gun violence from tearing our communities apart."

"This is a time of crisis and challenges—with surging gun sales and violence nationwide—and also opportunity and progress as California leaders continue to lead the way on gun safety reform that is driven by evidence and real impact," said Mike McLively, Policy Director for Giffords.

Since AB 28 was introduced at the beginning of the current legislative session, the United States has experienced hundreds of mass shootings, including horrific incidents in Monterey Park and Half Moon Bay. The surge in gun violence comes as firearm purchases rose to record levels in 2020 and 2021, with more than 43 million guns estimated to have been purchased. At the same time, gun manufacturers have reaped record-breaking profits, boasting that the growth they have experienced in recent years has been "nothing short of remarkable."

AB 28 is expected to be considered in the Senate Appropriations Committee in August following the Legislature's summer recess.

New State Budget Expands California Climate Action Corps

SUBMITTED BY
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

Reaffirming the State's commitment to build a more climate ready and safe California, Governor Gavin Newsom and the Legislature approved an additional $4.6 million in annual, ongoing funding to double the amount of paid service opportunities for California Climate Action Corps in the 2023-2024 State Budget.

The ongoing, increased funding will allow more California Climate Action Corps Fellows to serve in communities across the state to engage volunteers, educate the public and participate in urban greening, wildfire resiliency and organic waste and edible food recovery activities.

"Tackling the climate crisis takes partners at all levels, and the California Climate Action Corps is mobilizing energized Californians all across our state to drive climate action in ways never seen before," said Governor Gavin Newsom.

Governor Newsom launched California Climate Action Corps as the nation's first state-level climate service corps with the mission of empowering Californians to take meaningful action to protect their homes, health and communities against the harshest impacts of climate change. The program is led by California Volunteers, Office of the Governor.

"This budget is a statement about Californian's values and their passion to take action against this existential threat," said California Chief Service Officer Josh Fryday.

As AmeriCorps California members, fellows earn up to $43,000 in living stipends and money for school for successful completion of 1,700 hours of service between September 18, 2023, and August 15, 2024.

California Volunteers, Office of the Governor is currently seeking applicants with a passion for climate action to apply for the 2023- 2024 California Climate Action Corps paid service program. Learn more and apply at ClimateActionCorps.ca.gov.

California Volunteers also administers CaliforniansForAll Youth Corps, AmeriCorps California and CaliforniansForAll College Corps. In the coming years, California Volunteers will deploy a force larger than the Peace Corps to serve in California communities.

For those unable to commit to a year of service, hundreds of volunteer opportunities throughout the state are posted on the California Volunteers website. Visit californiavolunteers.ca.gov to learn more about paid service opportunities, or search the site for volunteer opportunities.

California Climate Action Corp Fellowship Achievements:

- 10,441,177 pounds food or organic waste diverted from landfills
- 2,339,677 pounds of recovered food distributed to people in need
- 21,817 volunteers engaged for 73,411 hours of climate action
- 7,071 trees planted, 164,898 trees maintained, and 15,189 trees donated

Alameda County approves jail time and fines for sideshow attendance

By JACK ALCORN

Tuesday, July 11
Alameda County Supervisors enacted an ordinance prohibiting spectators at sideshows, street races, and reckless driving exhibitions.

Sideshows have become violent and dangerous. The daredevil events shut down intersections, neighborhood streets, parking lots and even bridges to host dangerous driving acts. Social media often encourages popularity and attendance of these affairs.

The ordinance states, "Sideshows create an unsafe environment for the communities in which they occur because participants and spectators drive recklessly before, during, and after the sideshow event. In addition, both participant drivers and spectators are often under the influence of drugs and alcohol, and have often been associated with the discharge of firearms."

Throngs of youth at these gatherings leave empty bottles, food waste and other trash everywhere. Squealing tires form spinning cars increases noise pollution. The smoke released by burning rubber reduces air quality.

Sideshows cause significant damage to county infrastructure such as pavement, street signs, poles and utility equipment. And sideshows require a law enforcement response that diverts Alameda County Sheriff Office personnel from responding to other emergencies.

The risky exhibitions also cause high numbers of emergency calls. Crime data shows that violent crime and property crime rates are typically high in unincorporated areas when and where sideshows occur.

In Alameda County, vehicles at sideshows have caused great bodily injury and death to spectators. On the Fourth of July, in Hayward, three people were shot, and two victims were injured by a vehicle engaging in a sideshow-related incident in the area of Miami Ave. and Florida St. One of the shooting victims died at the hospital.

California law prohibits drivers and passengers from engaging in sideshow events by criminalizing illegal street racing and illegal exhibitions of reckless driving. Police officers may arrest drivers and seize their vehicles.

The new county legislation includes a fine of up to $1,000 for sideshow spectators; up to six months in jail or both. A spectator is defined by the ordinance as anyone present within two hundred (200) feet of the location of a sideshow event.

County Supervisors hope the new law will deter attendance and participation at sideshows.

• Officers responded to the area of Onondaga Dr. and Paseo Padre Pkwy. after multiple witnesses reported a single-vehicle crash. The involved vehicle flipped onto its roof and caught fire. Several bystanders helped the driver and sole occupant out of his vehicle before it became fully engulfed. Officers arrived and determined the driver to be under the influence. The driver was transported to a regional medical center. This case remains under investigation.

• Officers responded to a male subject exposing himself on the 39000 block of Argonaut Way. The subject was specifically performing this lewd act in front of a waxing salon and a sandwich shop. The subject was also riding an electric bicycle. A short time later, a nearby resident called to report a similar subject pulling his pants down and exposing himself in the area. Officers arrived on the scene and contacted the subject. A warrant check revealed the subject to be on parole. Officers arrested the subject, an adult out of Fremont, who was highly intoxicated.

FREMONT FIRE DEPARTMENT

Please join the Fremont Fire Department (FFD) and Fremont Police Department (FPD) in a community meeting to discuss our Drone First Responders (DFR) Program.

FFD and FPD completed a pilot phase for the DFR Program from December 21, 2022 - January 20, 2023. Results from the pilot program suggest DFR is a valuable tool in providing first responders with realtime information to assist with decision-making, tactics, tools, and resources to mitigate a problem safely. The DFR program assists first responders in being proactive when responding to emergencies instead of waiting until firefighters or officers arrive on the scene to deploy a UAV (unmanned aerial vehicle).

DFR further provides aerial support for public safety incidents, decreases response times, and increases community safety.

Please join our community meeting as we share the results of the DFR pilot phase and present the proposal to establish DFR as a permanent program. To learn more about DFR, please visit: fremontpolice.gov/DFR or <http://fremont.gov/.../about-us/drone-first-responders-dfr>

SOCIAL SECURITY MATTERS

Ask Rusty – My State Pension eliminated My Social Security survivor benefit

BY RUSSELL GLOOR,
NATIONAL SOCIAL SECURITY ADVISOR,
AMAC FOUNDATION

Dear Rusty: My husband of 21 years died in January 2022 at the age of 70. We were both retired at the time of his death, and his Social Security payments immediately stopped. After many calls to Social Security asking why I was not receiving his benefits, I was finally told that since I have my own pension from the State of Ohio that I would receive none of my husband’s Social Security.

I cannot see why my OH retirement has anything to do with my husband’s Social Security. I do get a small payment from SS based on my past earnings before I worked for the State of Ohio. Is there any chance of fighting this, since we were married when they took money from his earnings for SS? If I wanted to write to an elected official to see if these rules could be changed, who would I write to or call? Signed: Upset Widow

Dear Upset Widow: Unfortunately, your entitlement to a Social Security survivor benefit from your husband is affected by a provision known as the Government Pension Offset, or “GPO,” which affects any surviving spouse with a federal, state, or local government pension earned without contributing to the Social Security program. Ohio is one of 26 states which have opted not to participate in Social Security, thus exempting state employees from paying Social Security taxes on their earnings. The OH state pension which resulted from your state employment means that any Social Security benefits earned outside of your state employment are reduced. The GPO reduction to your survivor benefit is severe: a reduction by 2/3rds of the amount of your Ohio state pension, which can—and often does—completely eliminate any SS survivor benefit you might otherwise be entitled to.

For clarity, the monthly SS payment your husband was receiving at his death stops automatically. At that point, your eligibility for additional SS benefits from your husband was assessed and, because of the GPO, Social Security offset your potential survivor benefit from your husband by 2/3rds of your Ohio state pension, which apparently eliminated your survivor benefit. As unfair as this may seem to you, note that the same thing happens to any surviving spouse who also has their own earned SS retirement benefit – their personal SS retirement benefit offsets their SS survivor benefit, so a spouse with a regular SS retirement benefit higher than their deceased spouse’s benefit gets no surviving spouse benefit.

FYI, the State of Ohio has an obligation to make clear that by not paying into Social Security your future SS spousal/survivor benefits are affected. Without knowing how that was presented to you during your OH state employment, here’s a quote from Ohio’s Public Employee Retirement System (OPERS) website: “If you are eligible for Social Security benefits and are receiving a retirement benefit from OPERS, your Social Security benefits may be affected by the Government Pension Offset or the Windfall Elimination Provision. The Government Pension Offset may also affect you if you are eligible for Social Security benefits through your spouse. The Windfall Elimination Provision may affect you if you qualify for Social Security benefits due to your own work history.”

In any case, you are certainly not alone in your feelings about how your Social Security benefits have been affected by the GPO. This provision was enacted in 1983 and has been challenged in just about every Congressional session since that time, without success. In fact, there is a legislative bill active in the current Congress – H.R. 82 – The Social Security Fairness Act—which was introduced on the House floor in January and “referred to committee” for consideration. Like all preceding WEP/GPO reform bills, this one sits idle in Committee. If you wish to add your voice to those who oppose the GPO, you should contact your Congressional Representative to solicit action on H.R. 82.

Charles Sasaki Named Next President of Ohlone College

President Sasaki: Actually, my family is from Hawaii, going back five generations. My parents both left and met in college in Los Angeles, which was where I was born. So I’m the exception. I went to high school in Cerritos in Orange County, then college at UC Riverside and UC Irvine. I worked as a part-time faculty member for a short time at some community colleges down there, but my first full-time job was in Washington in 1994. Then I moved to Hawaii in 2002. My last role there was as Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Accreditation Liaison Officer at the University of Hawaii - Windward Community College. And now I’m back in California, which my mom is over the moon about, especially since I’m an only child. She’s still in Southern California, so it’s nice that I’ll be able to spend more time with her.

TCV: What are your impressions of Ohlone College?

President Sasaki: I had known about Ohlone College for a long time. There are actually a lot of overlaps between Windward and Ohlone - really strong visual and performing arts programs, heavily transfer oriented, a lot of very good health science programs, and a large deaf and hard of hearing community. The main difference is that Hawaii just has one college system, but here there are several - community colleges, CSU, and UC—so it’s a little more complex. Also, I now have my own board of trustees—seven elected leaders who are super engaged, connected, and grounded in the places where they live and serve. And the campus is amazing. It’s state of the art and gorgeous and an inspiring place to learn.

TCV: Any hobbies? What do you do for fun?

President Sasaki: I have two hobbies, and they are kind of connected: swimming and eating. I love to swim. I am probably more graceful in water than I am on land. And I am 100% a foodie. My father used to take us on road trips that were built around food. This was before Yelp and the Internet. He would talk to people working in stores and ask them where they took their families to eat on Sundays. I love this idea of getting insight into other people’s lives and cultures. And obviously I just love to eat. It’s delicious. And you couldn’t ask for a better place than the Bay Area.

TCV: What are your goals as President?

President Sasaki: First off, I am planning to stay for more than my initial three-year term. You don’t move from Hawaii to take a temporary job. I’m in this for the long haul. I’m committed to this community. They are doing great work, and it will be my honor to gather all the success stories together and share them with you. I’d also like to include Newark and Union City more in what we do, to help us diversify an already diverse student body. Ohlone College is a humble place just waiting for an ambassador. I’m really excited.

Hattie Hyman Hughes, 1943-2023

In the community room at Rotary Bridgeway Apartments – an Abode supportive housing site – there is a testament to the kind and generous legacy of Hattie Marie Hyman Hughes.

Hughes wanted to ensure that children would have access to educational materials at the development she helped create, so she donated an entire shelf of books and regularly visited to read to young students living at Bridgeway.

“Hattie wanted to encourage the children to embrace learning,” said Jean Morgan, Abode’s director of community outreach. “It was so important to her to have that space there for the kids.”

Decades after Bridgeway’s construction, a plaque still hangs in the community room. It reads: “Hattie’s Corner.”

That simple but poignant tribute is fitting – for Hughes was a passionate advocate for the community’s most vulnerable people, especially those served by the Fremont Bank Foundation’s mission to support local nonprofit groups that improve the region’s quality of life.

In that sense, many Bay Area locales where people need help can be called “Hattie’s Corner,” as her warm and joyful spirit and the community organization she led has touched the lives of so many.

“Hattie was always generous of heart and she really cared about people,” said Abode Chief Executive Officer Louis Chicoine. “It was not a business to her, she was always about community and personal relationships.”

Hughes passed away on June 29, 2023. She was 79.

At Abode, we join Hughes’ family and many friends in grieving her passing. We also marvel at her many accomplishments and seek to celebrate her wonderful life, which was full of compassion, joy, humility, and unselfish giving. Those positive traits fueled her achievements and the years she so ably spent in the service of others.

Hughes led the Fremont Bank Foundation from its inception in 1994 when her father, Morris Hyman, recruited her to lead it.

It was a natural fit. She quickly became an instrumental leader in the field of philanthropy, steering the Foundation’s funding toward nonprofit groups that were doing important work in the community.

“Her work started in Fremont and the Tri-City area, but in time it broadened to other parts of the Bay Area,” Chicoine said.

Hughes’ abilities and efforts helped create the Hyman Hall at Ohlone College; Alvirda Hyman Adult Education Center at the Fremont Adult and Continuing Education campus; Conrad Anderson Auditorium and Morris Hyman Critical Care Pavilion at Washington Hospital; California Trail Grizzly Exhibit at the Oakland Zoo; and many other projects in the areas of health and human services, education, and the arts.

Her sharp eye for like-minded leaders such as Chicoine led her to Abode, with whom she and the Foundation partnered on fundraising projects and housing sites.

Chicoine praised Hughes and the Foundation for playing an invaluable role in Abode’s growth at a critical juncture in the early years of both organizations. She led Abode’s first capital campaign, raising $1 million to help the nonprofit group’s mission to end homelessness.

“She was the bridge between the banking and business community and the people Abode helps – those who didn’t have much at all,” Chicoine said.

Hughes served a term on Abode’s Board of Directors and she was an eloquent featured speaker at our annual Journey Home Breakfast fundraiser in 2012.

She and Chicoine forged a years-long friendship based on their shared goals and values.

“For Hattie, there was no debate as to whether people deserve to live with dignity and have a right to a home,” Chicoine said. “That was a settled question for her.”

People also admired her vision and enthusiasm for new ventures.

“If you’re doing something right, why sit on your laurels?” Chicoine said. “She always understood that concept, and she supported our interest in expanding our impact.”

While community members respected Hughes’ work ethic, they also appreciated her sociable, fun-loving side that sought to reward hard work and bring people together for a common cause.

“She wanted to make sure achievements were celebrated,” Chicoine said. “She always looked for an opportunity to bring the community together and to make those moments available to everyone.”

Carol Arata, Abode’s development officer, remembers Hughes as someone who led with respect, remaining humble and modest despite enjoying great success.

“Hattie had a big heart for people who were struggling,” Arata said.

Hughes was preceded in death by husband Dennis Hughes, and son Paul Hughes. She is survived by son, Brian Hughes, who now leads the Fremont Bank Foundation, serving as its president and executive director.

Brian Hughes noted the intersection of values that connected the Foundation with Abode, forming a partnership that continues to benefit the region.

“Whether my mother was serving on the Abode board or spearheading a campaign to raise money, she always deeply valued Abode and its dedication to helping our community’s most vulnerable people,” he said. “She shared the same commitment to that mission as that of Abode’s leaders, including her dear friend Louis Chicoine. And helping those who are less fortunate was one of her longtime personal goals.”

For those who knew her, a celebration of life was held for Hughes on Monday, July 17, at Harbor Light Church, 4760 Thornton Ave, Fremont. The family requests that contributions in her memory are made to Abode or the Oakland Zoo’s elephant conservation program.

Hughes led the Fremont Bank Foundation for nearly 30 years before taking a new role as President Emeritus in 2021. Under her stewardship, the Foundation won numerous awards and was recognized as one of the region’s top philanthropic organizations.

As we grieve Hughes’ passing, we also aim to commemorate her successes. Those achievements improved the lives of innumerable people, and significant parts of the Bay Area – its many “Hattie’s Corners,” if you will – are now in a much stronger position because of her big-hearted contributions.

“Hattie leaves a wonderful legacy,” Chicoine said. “A great way to honor her memory is to stay committed to the idea that everyone deserves to live in this community. Furthering that work – and doing it with dignity, which really mattered to her – that would be the best way to honor her.”
